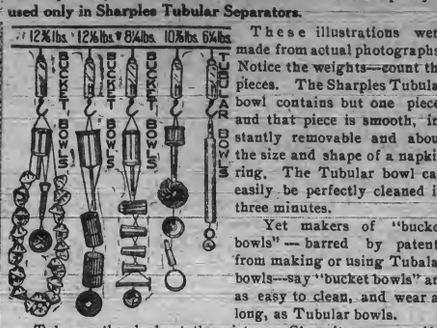
Experiments have proved that a hen in good condition will eat, on an average, three ounces of mash in the morning, two onnces of grain at noon, and four onnces of grain at night.

• • •

The laying hen is not apt to become overfat. Nevertheless, it is a mistake to keep her on a diet of corn expecting her to manufacture eggs from that article. Corn is no egg food.

• • •

Pigs should never be fed on the ground in a yard or pen where their own excrement abounds. Changing from place to place in the pasture does very well in summer, but in the winter a good feeding floor should be provided.



• • •

Horses are just as liable to sunstroke as men. A sunbonnet can be bought for 25 cents, which will go a long way toward protecting them. A bucket of water and a big sponge should always be kept in the field during the excessively hot weather.

Which Shall Wife Wash?

Which cream separator bowl does the wife prefer to wash?

On the left are four styles of common "bucket bowls" used in ordinary cream separators. On the right is a light, simple, sanitary Sharples Dairy Tubular bowl of the same capacity—used only in Sharples Tubular Separators.

These illustrations were made from actual photographs. Notice the weights—count the pieces. The Sharples Tubular bowl contains but one piece, and that piece is smooth, instantly removable and about the size and shape of a napkin ring. The Tubular bowl can easily be perfectly cleaned in three minutes.

Yet makers of "bucket bowls"—barred by patents from making or using Tubular bowls—say "bucket bowls" are as easy to clean, and wear as long, as Tubular bowls.

Take another look at the picture. Show it to your wife. Which had she rather wash? Which do you think will wear the longest. We sell Sharples Tubular—the finest cream separators and surest money makers made. Bring your wife and look at one.

QUIGLEY & BEEMON
LIMABURG, KY.

Shoe Sale.

Having decided to keep only three makes of Shoes we will sell all our other makes of shoes at cost and below until they are all gone.

$3.50 SHOES Pair, for.....$2.60
$3.00 SHOES Pair, for.....$2.00
$2.50 SHOES Pair, for.....$1.60
$1.50 SHOES Pair, for.....98c
And a lot of broken sizes which sold for $2.50, $1.50 and $1, a pair.....50c

These are all good shoes worth now what they were selling for. Come and See.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.,
UNION, KENTUCKY.

H. G. BLANTON, Funeral Director & Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.

First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.
I Have a Nice White Funeral Car and Ambulance,

Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.
Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,
Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.
Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.
Office and Wareroom:
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
IRA POPE Agent, - - - Grant, Ky

J. L. HAMILTON
(Successor to M. T. WILSON)

FUNERAL DIRECTOR,
Verona, Ky.

Telephone calls day or night given prompt attention. Mrs. M. T. Wilson is my assistant and solicits the patronage of the friends of her late husband. dec-1 12

FOR SALE

Complete threshing outfit, including Russell engine, belts, separator, also pony saw mill outfit. This is a good outfit and will be sold cheap. For terms apply to N. B. RIDDELL, Burlington, Ky.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

A Splendid Clubbing Bargain
WE OFFER
The Boone Co. Recorder
AND
The Cincinnati Weekly Enquirer
Both One Year For Only $1.85
Subscriptions may be new or renewal.

What the Weekly Enquirer is.

It is issued every Thursday, subscription price $1 per year, and it is one of the best home metropolitan weeklies of to-day. It has all the facilities of the great DAILY ENQUIRER for obtaining the world's events, and for that reason can give you all the leading news. It carries a great amount of valuable farm matter, crisp editorials and reliable up-to-date market reports. Its numerous departments make it a home farm or business man.

This grand offer is limited and we advise you to take advantage by subscribing for the above combination right now. Call or mail orders to
BOONE CO. RECORDER,
Burlington, Ky.

DR. F. W. BRATTEN,
VETERINARY SURGEON
AND DENTIST
RISING SUN, - INDIANA.
Office:—Hanna & Dilts Livery Barn
Phone 85-L. Calls Day or Night.

CHAS. E. GARNETT.
AUCTIONEER.
Will go to any part of the county
Address.
R. D. 2, Ludlow, Ky.

COMFORT IN AMERICAN HOTEL

Caravansaries Surpass Those of Any Other Nation of the Earth, Is Opinion of One Writer.

I remember somebody onse saying to me a long time ago that the Americans had attained luxury by jumping over comfort. I think there is a certain amount of truth in this, and yet it would be foolish to call American hotels uncomfortable. They are not uncomfortable. Only there is this to be said: That to some people all hotel life is uncomfortable. They hate living in a crowd. They hate bustle, confusion, noise, the arrival and departure of people, etc. And there is certainly more hotel life in America than in other countries. And yet what a saving to the nerves, and to the temper, are so many of the devices and the arrangements in American hotels. The telephone, for instance. If you want a nice test of temper, try to get a number at the Hotel Cecil in London; or, better still, spend a happy morning in ringing up people on the telephone in Paris. In America it is either done for you at once or you know it cannot be done, and the matter is settled. Hotel life in America seems to me infinitely better organized than in any other country in the world, with the possible exception of China. Because when you order a room at a Chinese hotel, in a small Chinese town, the room is built for you while you wait; you choose the style of room, and the paper, the carpeting and all the furniture are put in during the day.—Metropolitan Magazine.

STREWN WITH WAR MUNITIONS

Parts of Colon Found Liberally "Salted" With Ancient Make of Bombs and Grapeshot.

If what engineers and others interested in the additional reclamation work on filled fields in Colon report is true, parts of the city are fairly well salted with bombs and grapeshot. A number of these have been dug up by a suction dredge, which is now excavating near the end of the slip, to the west of the pier at Cristobal.

About half a dozen of the larger projectiles and a peck of smaller balls were found in the stone box of the dredge recently, and it is estimated that a greater quantity went through the discharge pipe into the reclamation fill east of East street, Colon. The projectiles were incrusted with a kind of natural concrete, made up of coral deposits, sand and shells, to the thickness of two inches. Below this was a coating of rust; beneath the steel was clean and well preserved.

The mark, "O. R. D. D. 1862," was found in the interior of some of the largest projectiles. One, when it was opened, contained black powder in a state of fair preservation.—From the Lima (Peru) West Coast Leader.

Golf Ballistics.

I do not see why all the inventions which have been applied to other projectiles should not be utilized for the purpose of persuading the golf ball to go where it is wanted to go. There ought to be a sight on every golf club as there is on every rifle, so that one might take aim properly. Every golfer ought to carry a range finder, which would enable him to calculate the length of his approach shot, of his chip shot on the edge of the green, and of his approach putt. I think it would also be well if the golfer could be provided with a little instrument for measuring the strength of the wind, the destiny of the air, the stiffness of the blades of grass on the green, and the gradient of its slopes. It would be well if some great mathematician were to compile a series of tables giving the amount of borrow in the case of every imaginable combination of slopes, wrinkles, undulations and crow's feet. What we want in golf is a stream of facts instead of a stream of guesses. For instance, we want to know whether the green is fast or slow, and how fast and how slow. Surely it would be possible to invent a speedometer for greens!—London Opinion.

Unmannerly Tourists.

The Laplander is annoyed with the tourist who visits him. The nature of his complaint may be gathered from the notice posted in the districts of Lapland most visited by travelers, which in several languages runs as follows:

"Dear Tourist: What would you say if an unknown individual without asking your permission or even knocking at your door pushed his way into your home, made himself comfortable on your sofa, peered at everything, rummaged everywhere, laughed at your domestic arrangements, asked how much money you have, wished to interest himself in your love affairs and seized hold of your children to photograph them?

"What would you do with such an unmannerly intruder?"

Interesting Origin.

In England money is characterised by the word "sterling," because in the time of Richard Coeur de Lion money coined in the eastern part of Germany became, on account of its purity, in especial request in England, and was called Easterling money, as all the inhabitants of that part of Germany were called Easterlings.

Soon after that time some of those people who were skilled in coining were sent for and went to London to bring the coin to perfection.

That was the foundation of the practice of designating English amounts "sterling."

APART FROM THE REAL WORLD

Dunkers Preserve the Primitiveness of Dress and Quietude of Living of the Founders.

The dress and customs of the Dunkers are as primitive as their creed. The men let their beard grow and part their flowing hair in the middle and wear slouch hats and the plainest of clothes. The garb of the women is equally plain and severe. There are no milliners among them, for each women makes her own hat, a simple matter, since no feathers or other ornamentation is allowed, while the wearing of jewelry is strictly forbidden.

However, the Dunker women are seldom wanting in comeliness. Their faces are nearly always sweet and gentle, while an air of almost saintly simplicity is given them by the clear, starched cap, the handkerchief crossed on the breast, the white apron and the plain gray or drab stuff of their dresses. The Dunkers live in peace one with another, and never have recourse to law to redress an injury done to them. Disputes among themselves are settled by the elders, whose decision is final, and only in exceptional cases do they institute lawsuits against the people of the world. They are averse to accepting public office, and rarely, if ever, exercise the right of franchise. However, the Dunker ideal of personal conduct is a high one. They are temperate to abstemiousness, industrious and economical, and Carlyle's gospel work is theirs.—From Wilson's Rambles in Colonial Byways.

MONARCH'S ONE GOOD WORK

Founding of Greenwich, Still the World's Greatest Observatory, Stands to Credit of Charles II.

The first English observatory, and still the greatest, is that at Greenwich, which was founded 238 years ago by Charles II. It was erected on the summit of Flamsteed hill, so called in honor of the first astronomer-royal, John Flamsteed. The longitude of all English charts and maps is reckoned from this observatory, and the captains of ships take their time as given at one p. m. Longitude is also reckoned from the meridians of Paris, Washington, etc., but the reckoning from the meridian of Greenwich is most general. The first real observatory in the world was erected at Alexandria by Ptolemy Soter about 300 B. C. The first observatory in Europe was founded at Nuremburg in 1472 by Bernard Walther. Tycho Brahe's celebrated observatory was built in 1576. The French Royal observatory at Paris was established in 1667, eight years before the erection of the English Royal observatory at Greenwich, Kent. The first American observatory was established at Williams college in 1836, and that at Harvard four years later.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

"Horse Sense."

Was the sojourn of Gulliver among the Houyhnhnms a fable, after all? The Society of Psychical Research listened to a remarkable report recently upon the education of horses, as conducted at Elberfeld, in Germany. Mr. Krall, who acts as "coach" to a select number of the species, brings his pupils to a remarkable proficiency, both in literature and mathematics. Their spelling shows a tendency to eliminate vowels, and they have not yet extracted the square root of anything beyond 144. But they are able to "write from dictation," and they have the multiplication table and more abstruse branches of arithmetic at what, in other circumstances, would be their fingers-end. The delegates of the Psychical Research society have seen these things for themselves, and find that they are "not in a position to give any definite solution of the problem." They seem to have found at Elberfeld that the "thinking horse" is not such a strange variety, after all. And in these days, when he only lags superfluous upon the stage of traffic, the leisure that he will enjoy for an intellectual career should enable his buried talents to be uncovered to the fullest advantage.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Sorry He Spoke.

Captain McTweed, a Scotsman to the backbone, and, moreover, a distinguished officer in a distinguished Highland regiment, had an unbounded admiration for his countrymen, and never lost an opportunity of extolling their virtues.

One evening at mess he was entertaining several guests, and at the conclusion of the meal, as he and his party were leaving the room, he happened to notice a magnificent specimen of a piper, clad in full Highland costume, standing by the doorway.

Wishing to draw attention to the man's splendid proportions, he stopped, and:

"From what part of Scotland do you come?" he inquired.

"Tipperary, sor!" replied the man, with a punctilious salute.

Gifted Composer of "Faust."

Gounod was one of the most fascinating men I have ever spoken with. His manner had a charm that was irresistible, and his kindly eyes, soft and melting as a woman's, would light up with a smile, now tender, now humorous, that fixed itself indelibly upon the memory. He could speak English fairly well, but preferred his own language, in which he was a brilliant conversationalist; and he could use to advantage a fund of keen, ready wit.—Klein: "Thirty Years of Musical Life in London."

EXCHANGE ECHOES.

The State Fair is one of the big institutions of which every Kentuckian should be proud. Better than in any other way, it shows to the world the wonderful resources and possibilities of our great Commonwealth, and it should be given encouragement in every way possible.—Stanford Interior Journal.

** **

More ensilage will be put away in Henderson county this fall than ever before in the country's history. The farmers seem now thoroughly awake to this necessary adjunct of modern farming. W. J. Marshall is among the silo disciples. Last week he filled one on the Dr. Hodge Yeaman farm and one on his own farm. Monday he began filling one on Sterling Marshall's farm.—Henderson Journal.

** **

Clarence Cochran, who lives in the Celeste section, has a box of rattlesnakes now on exhibition. He recently encountered a large one in his yard and captured it. He had it in a box for safe keeping. Two days later he found another near it and straightway put it into captivity. He captures one every week and now has five large ones on exhibition. He contemplates starting a snake farm. —Liberty News.

** **

Ballard county, not to be outdone by her neighbors, Graves, Marshall and McCracken, has launched a good roads movement to complete graveling the pike from Bandana to Wickliffe, a high way that will mean an improved artery all the way from Paducah to the capital of Ballard, Wickliffe, a distance of 33 miles. Editor James V. Wear, of La Center Advance, Ballard's best road booster, initiated the campaign.—Paducah Sun.

Spelling. Arithmetic, Grammar.

The vacation is over and the boys and girls should by this time have settled down to hard study. We hope that they by this time have made up their minds to get more spelling arithmetic and grammar. The teacher who has had any college education knows the weakness of the schools generally in these studies. Almost every student who leaves the common schools and high schools are short in these branches. Who is to blame? This is a question all should be interested in. It should be sung from one end of Kentucky to the other. Who is to blame?

The parent who thinks his children because they are regular in attendance and because he feels that he is doing a great work by straining a point to send these children to school had better investigate ere it is too late. He may find that his children are getting nothing thorough, in fact are neglecting their studies and are throwing away time with which they should be building a solid foundation. The common branches are more important in the work of getting an education than any other and they are most sadly neglected. Give more children good educations in the common branches and we will have fewer quitting school later and more taking a high school and college course.—Owen Democrat.

Automobile Don'ts.

Don't open the cut-out in the city.

** **

Don't permit your motor to smoke.

** **

Don't see how close you can run to a pedestrian—you may make a mistake.

** **

Don't assume you have rights; you'll avoid accidents even if your temper does become ruffled.

** **

Don't pass a street car that is stopped to take on or let off passengers; this is a serious offense.

** **

Don't argue with an officer—it will do no good, and besides in all probability he will be in the right.

** **

Don't take chances when children are playing in the street or hitching on wagons—slow down and sound your horn.

** **

Sometimes an engine is harder to start after it has been running for some time and then stopped than it is at the beginning when the motor is cold. The heat makes the lubricating oil thin, with the result that some of the compression passes the piston. Thicker oil will help overcome the trouble.

After trying in vain for several years to stamp out the wild sweet clover which grew in abundance in the pastures and the fields of Kansas, the farmers have given it up. Instead of eradicating it they are now harvesting and threshing the seed of the wild clover, selling it for $12.50 a bushel. It is worth more than alfalfa. It was by sheer accident that the discovery was made that sweet clover is good for something instead of being a noxious weed.

A patch of it appeared a few years ago in some meadow hay land in Finley county on the Shull farm, two miles east of Garden City. When the cattle were turned on the hay the farmer, a Mr. Shull, was surprised to find that they finished the stack, eating the sweet clover in it first. This plant started the next year in several places along the river. Neighbors of Mr. Shull tried the same scheme with like results. From the beginning it has continued to grow in favor for pasture, hay and seed.—Ex.

Take your County Paper.

Notice Taxpayers.

The Taxpayers of Boone County are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the places and on the dates named below to collect the 1913 taxes:

Beaver, July 8th and Oct. 1.
Verona, July 9th, and Oct. 2d.
Walton, July 10, and Oct. 3d.
Bullittsville, July 11 and Oct 18.
Constance, July 14th and Oct. 8.
Union, July 15 and Oct. 9th.
Big Bone, July 16 and Oct. 10.
Petersburg, July 17 and Oct. 13.
Belleview, July 18 and Oct. 14.
Florence, July 21 and Oct. 15.
Rabbit Hash, July 22 and Oct. 16.
Hebron, October 17th.
Gunpowder, October 20th.
Richwood, October 21st.

RATES—State 50c; County 25c; School 20c on the $100. Poll-tax County $1.50; School $1; Dog tax $1.00.

All unpaid taxes become delinquent after Nov. 30th. Six per cent penalty, due County and State, added Dec. 1st on all delinquent taxes; six per cent commission in addition to penalty is allowed Sheriff for collecting delinquent taxes. Cost of levy 50c, advertising $1.00. Delinquent taxes bear Six per cent interest from Nov. 30th until paid.

On account of retiring from office January 1st, 1914, the delinquent list will be advertised in December instead of January.

B. B. HUME, S. B. C.

B. S. O'NEAL,
AUCTIONEER,
VERONA, - KENTUCKY.
Your Order is Solicited.

For Sale.

Duroc Boar Pigs.
Edgar C. Riley,
Burlington, Ky.

For Sale or Rent.

One Hundred and Eight and Two-Third Acres of Land, at the mouth of Gunpowder creek in this county; the best hog farm in Northern Kentucky. For further particulars call on or address Erastus Rice, Rising Sun, Indiana, or S. D. Rice, Grant. Ky., R. D. 1.

Eggs and Baby Chicks For Sale

Single Comb Rhode Island Reds.
Single Comb Black Minorcas—fine layers. Best selected Stock, pure Strain.
Eggs $1.00 for 15.
Baby Chicks 10 cents each.
Address
Mrs. JOSEPH A. HUEY,
Richwood, Ky.
Phone—Beaver 163. meh27tf

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN,
DENTIST
will be at Burlington on the first and second Monday, and in Union on the third and fourth Monday of each month, prepared and qualified to practice according to the latest methods extracting teeth painless.
All work guaranteed.

Rogers Bros.
General Merchants,
BELLEVUE, KY.
Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade.

DR. B. W. STALLARD
with DR. SHOBER'S
QUEEN CITY DENTISTS;
Nos. 43-49 W. Fifth Ave.,
CINCINNATI, - - OHIO.

F. J. HENN. M. M. HUSCHART.
LAWRENCEBURG
Granite and Marble Works
Manufacturers of and Dealers in
Fine American and Imported Monuments.
Cemetery Work of Every Description Promptly and Carefully Attended to.
Lawrenceburg, Indiana.
D. M. SNYDER, Agt., Burlington, Ky.

For Sale.

65 Acres one and one-half miles from Burlington on the Burlington and Florence pike. New two story house, good barn and out buildings. All under good fence and all in grass except about 10 acres. I also have several other Boone County farms for sale.
A. B. RENAKER,
Burlington, Ky.

For Sale.

Store property in Burlington.
Mrs. Dudley Rouse.

Holstein Cows for Sale

Some fresh and others to be fresh soon. Will take thin cattle or dry cows in on them. O. P. SPARR, Burlington, Ky., R. D. 3, opp. Addyston Pipe Works—on old Chambers farm.

FIFTY-SECOND SEMI-ANNUAL STATEMENT OF THE
Boone County Deposit Bank
Burlington, Kentucky
At Close of Business December 31, 1912.

RESOURCES.		LIABILITIES.
Loans, Bonds, &c.	$170,858.50	Capital Stock	$ 30,000.00
Overdrafts	52.81	Surplus	45,000.00
Due from Banks	38,391.04	Undivided Profits, &c	7,581.49
Cash	7,711.80	Deposits	136,591.35
Banking House, &c	3,000.00	Due Banks	841.31
Total	$220,014.15	Total	$220,014.15

A Bank that is going after business, and going in the right way.

HOW? By promptness in serving its customers.
By courteous attention to their banking needs.
By readiness in meeting their requirements, and, above all
By perfect security of the funds intrusted to its care, having over $100,000.00 to secure depositors.

We have the largest Capital and Surplus of any Bank in this county, and are amply able to accommodate our patrons, and are willing at all times to afford them every accommodation justified by the rules of good and safe banking, whether their accounts are large or small.

N. E. RIDDELL, President. J. C. REVILL, Cashier.

J. F. KIESWETTER,
RUGS MADE of OLD CARPETS
Compressed Air Carpet Cleaning.
TELEPHONE SOUTH 21.
250 PIKE STREET,
Covington, - - - Ky.
M. RIDDELL, Agent, Burlington, Ky.

ADAMS
A New Victrola $75
A Cabinet Style Victrola combining a record cabinet for only $75.00. Same perfect, mellow tone quality of the most expensive Victrola, same elegant finish.
Easy Monthly Payments.
A. ADAMS,
15 Pike Street,
Covington, - - Ky.

The Cincinnati Grain Co.
HAVE OPENED THEIR NEW HOUSE
AT ERLANGER, KY.
FREE PHONE ERLANGER 49
Handle Hay, Grain, Flour and Feed of all Kinds.
Will Also Buy Your Wheat, Rye, Etc.
Special Notice—We are selling at city prices, consequently can save you the long haul from Covington and Cincinnati.
GIVE US A TRIAL.

FARM MOTORS
For Pumping, Operating Churns, Saws, Corn Shredders, Filling Silos, Etc.
Last a Lifetime. From 1¼ to 25 h. p. $33 and up.
Ready To Run.
Direct Factory Representatives
SPENCER-HARTLIEB CO.
316-318 MAIN STREET
CINCINNATI, OHIO
Phone 1610 Main

Read Our Big Combination Offer

WALTON DEPARTMENT.

D. B. WALLACE, Manager.

Hand your news items to Mr. D. B. Wallace at the Walton Equitable Bank and Trust Co.'s building. He is also authorized to receive subscriptions and collect other accounts.

Died—Infant son of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Lucas, at Banklick, Oct. 2nd.

A. B. Tompkins has been at home the past week on the sick list.

A. W. Smith spent last Thursday in Cincinnati on business and pleasure.

David Miller, of near Visalia, Ky., was here on business last Saturday.

E. T. Klipp, of Cincinnati, spent Saturday and Sunday here the guest of friends.

Miss Lutie Miller spent last week at Ludlow the guest of relatives and friends.

Judge J. T Simon, of Cynthiana, spent part of last week here with his niece Mrs. W. M. Hudson.

Mrs. T. J. Curley spent last Friday in Covington visiting her daughter Mrs. B. W. Stallard.

George Henry Montgomery, of Warsaw, spent Saturday here the guest of Judge J. G. Tomlin.

Miss Queen Tillman spent Sunday at Ludlow the guest of friends and attending tabernacle union services.

H. M. Herndon, a prominent farmer of near Ellston Station, was a visitor here last Thursday, the guest of W. Lee Gaines.

For Sale—Jersey cow and calf—extra good ones; also good farm mare in foal—weight 1200 pounds. G. W. Winters, Kensington, Ky.

Sheriff B. B. Hume spent the day here Friday collecting taxes. Quite a number from here and surrounding country settled with the sheriff.

Rev. C. J. Nugent, the newly appointed pastor of the Methodist church, has moved here from New Castle and taken a room at the residence of Hayes Abernathy.

E. M. Johnson spent part of last week in Lexington attending the session of the Grand Lodge of Knights of Pythias as the representative of Walton Lodge, and reported a splendid session with a large attendance.

A. M. Edwards sold the Phoenix Hotel to Harry R. Dixon and wife last Friday for $3,350.00, who will continue to operate the same good hotel they have in the past, pleasing the public generally and giving satisfaction to all of their patrons.

Mrs. Nancy C. Snelling died at her home near Independence, on Sept. 29th, aged 63 years from intestinal nephritis. She was the wife of Franklin Snelling who survives her and is greatly prostrated by her death. They had no children. The remains were taken to Lexington for interment.

Rev. and Mrs. J. B. Harris arrived here last week from Lexington, where they have been located the past four years. Rev. Harris being the pastor of the Epworth church, and has now been assigned as pastor of the Scott street M. E. church at Covington, going there Saturday after an enjoyable visit here the guests of Mrs. Harris' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Rouse.

E. M. Yelton, of Walton, met with an excruciating painful accident last Friday in Cincinnati while working at his trade of carpenter. He fell from an elevation astride a timber and was taken from the structure in an unconscious condition. Mr. Yelton was brought here the same evening and is still confined to his home, though somewhat improved.

The Queen and Crescent Railroad officials have a crew of laborers and bridge builders here working on the construction of a bridge to be erected at the High street crossing to supplant the old iron bridge there now. It was necessary to remove the old structure as it had a middle pier support that interfered with the laying of the double tract that is being laid from Cincinnati to Williamstown. The new bridge will be built of wood with iron girders, and the north pier will be enlarged with extra pierage made of concrete.

At a call meeting a few nights ago the school board of Walton voted that Manual Training and Domestic Science should hereafter be considered a part of the regular scheduled course of study. A neat outfit of woodwork tools have been bought, and soon our boys are to begin to use their hands in school life as well as their heads. The manual training work will be under the care of Supt. Chambers who has had much experience doing woodwork in school, and as a practical carpenter. The Supt. together with Mrs. Julia Rouse, who is one of the faculty in our school, are planning elaborate work in Domestic Science for the girls. The people of Walton are desirous to see the Walton school take lead with the best schools in the State of Kentucky.

Road Meetings.

The schedule for steropticon road lectures by E. L. Dix is given below. Other speakers will be present at all these meetings. It is realized that whatever is done on this or any other question in Boone county will be done upon the good judgment and not upon coercion of the voters of the county. These meetings will be conducted on the high plain of education and investigation. All are invited to attend and to take part in the discussions:

Hebron, October 8.
Petersburg, October 11.
Pleasant Valley, October 15
Verona, October 18.
Bullittsville, October 22.
Big Bone, October 25.
Mt. Zion, October 29.
Belleview, November 1st.

Committee.

Less Veal and More Beef.

Considerable interest will no doubt be aroused by the bill introduced by Representative Britton, of Illinois, recently, as mentioned in the Washington dispatches, to conserve calf life and thereby reduce the cost of beef. Certainly it should, and doubtless will, receive respectful attention, for there is common sense in it. He would discourage the killing of calves under two years of age by an interstate commerce statute prohibiting transportation of such, either on the hoof or dressed. He mentions that in 1911 eight million calves were slaughtered in our country, and that if these had been allowed to live to the age of two years they would have added eleven billion two hundred million pounds of beef to the country's supply.

This bill should not arouse any considerable hostility. If the farmer wants to eat veal and supply it to others thru the village butcher he can do so, of course, as there will be no law of his state to prevent him, although at the last convention of the National Live Stock Exchange the idea was promulgated that the various State Legislatures could be induced to unite in passing laws against the killing of calves, the age mentioned then and there being three years. Such laws might, however, run against constitutional objections.

The Indianapolis Abattoir Co. gave that convention some very convincing figures to show that prolongation of calf life would greatly increase our supply of beef, citing the instance of 199 head of steers of an aggregate weight of 218,420 pounds and of a total value, at $7 86 per cwt. on the hoof, of $17,169.37. Compared with these steers was a lot of calves at an average price of $7.60 per cwt. It required 1,192 of these calves to equal the weight of the 199 steers and 1,600 to equal their value.

The United States census tells us that whereas cattle on the farms and ranches numbered 73,533,969 on January 1, 1907, four years later the number was reduced to 57,959,000. Also, that while in ten years our population increased fifteen million, the decrease in cattle was two per every man, woman and child of increase. Eight years ago this country only 16,056 head of cattle, while it exported 593,409, but in 1912 the importation was 318,372 and the exportation only 165,506.

Certainly no objection to Mr. Britton's bill can be urged on account of quality of food. Those who depend much on animal food will be found quite generally preferring their roast of beef to that of veal. A veal cutlet is at times quite toothsome if properly served, with the right kind of sauce just to the taste, but how much superior is a juicy beefsteak! We can get along with less of the immature animal food if we can reduce the cost of beef, and certainly here is one way to that reduction.

GOOD ROADS MEETING

Attended by Good Sized Crowd At the Court House Monday

A fairly good sized crowd of representative citizens from various neighborhoods in the county attended the good roads meeting held at the court house last Monday afternoon. Mr. J. F. Grimes, member of the State Road Department, delivered the first address which was along lines showing that good roads and free turnpikes are much cheaper to the farmers than are the system of roads that prevail in this county. Mr. Grimes had a very attentive audience, but towards the close of his address considerable amusement was created by questions that were propounded by some of his hearers, and the ready answers he gave.

Mr. Grimes was followed by Attorney J. G. Tomlin, of Walton, who made an earnest appeal for the improvement of the roads in this county. He explained that there is no way to reach a bond issue for the building of pikes and otherwise improving the public highways of the county except by a majority voting in favor of "free turnpikes and gravel roads" at the next election, and in the event that proposition carries, one year hence a vote can be taken on a proposition to bond the county for road purposes, which latter proposition will have to receive two thirds of the votes cast on the proposition. Mr. Tomlin is one of the large tax payers of the county and truly a progressive citizen hence his speech carried considerable weight with it.

The third speaker was Edgar C. Riley another large tax payer and an enthusiastic good roads advocate. His speech, condensed, will be found in an article published in another column in this issue, and was along about the same lines as that of Attorney Tomlin.

Those in charge of the good roads campaign were well pleased with the result of last Monday's meeting, and they will keep up a vigorous campaign until the vote is taken next month.

For Sale—One thoroughbred Short horn bull calf, seven months old, weighs about 450 pounds, solid red; also two good three year old bucks. Apply to R. D. Hughes, Richwood, Ky.

Several of the lady teachers called in Wednesday to witness the printing of the RECORDER

FORTY YEARS AGO.

Some Information and Experiences From an Old Diary.

For years your most excellent paper has published articles bearing upon the early history of Boone county in general and its several towns in particular. The writer is inclined to believe that reminiscent reading has a charm and interest to it that draws and holds the reader in a way peculiar to itself. With his permission the diary of one Mr. John Koaler, who lived many years in Union, will be used as a source of information and his experience and observations written as he wrote them. The diary consists of about 100 pages and it will take quite a while to relate all the incidents but with your permission the writer hopes to land Mr. Koaler in the lime light within the next five years if not sooner.

Forty years ago John Koaler was only an unsophisticated youth living in the highlands of Kenton county where charcoal abounded and Sunday schools were few.

John tells of his first coming to Boone county in the following manner: The morning was a typical September morn, the birds were twittering soft notes of song, the first evidences of day were visible in the east in the Mount Zion road leading to Union was rough, but I had heard of the rich fields for adventure and better living in Boone county, and was determined to go on, passing rapidly along the Mt. Zion church was passed and Gunpowder creek crossed. At the top of the hill rising west of the creek was sighted the first man or woman seen after leaving the Lexington pike. Coming nearer I was face to face with a kindly featured Kentucky gentleman, who bid me good morning and seemed to be wondering where I had come from so early and where I was going. In reply to an inquiry as to how far, &c., to Union, he graciously told me the distance and direction. In this conversation the writer will quote the words of John 19 years later. "The man who so kindly directed me to Union 19 years ago, has proven a loyal, faithful friend and adviser during these many years and is today gentle and considerate enough enough to forget my faults. Strong and determined enough to tell me of my virtues, such a citizen, such a friend, such a consistent christian gentleman is Esq. M. C. Norman."

Walking with rapid strides I soon came to the corner of Main and High streets in Union. The sun was bursting forth from the east in all its autumnal glory, shedding its golden light upon the tree tops, house tops and all other points of interest in the village.

MISCELLANEOUS FOR SALE.

For Sale—100 barrels nice apples. Apply to Ed. Berkshire, near Burlington.

For Sale—Four Cannon stoves. Apply to Samuel Adams, Burlington, Ky.

For Sale—Fresh cow with calf by her side. Apply to L. A. Tanner, Burlington R. D. 2.

For Sale—Two nice gentle Angora goats. Apply to Arnold and Carl Connelly, Union, Ky.

For Sale—Ten shoats will weigh about 50 pounds each. J. W. Goodridge, Burlington, Ky.

For Sale—Good, young 17 hand work horse, safe and sound. Apply to H. O. Adams, near Hathaway.

For Sale—21 extra good stock ewes, high grade Oxfordowns, and a full blood Oxford premium ram. Apply to C. L. Griffith, Walton.

For Sale—Good saddle and buggy horse—5 years old, safe; also buggy and runabout—each are good as new. Apply to D. E. Castleman, Erlanger.

For Sale—Bay two and one half year old saddle and harness colt. Perfectly gentle, child can ride him. Apply to R. O. Smith, Union, Ky.

For Sale—Two shares Burlington Creamery stock; one share No. 2 Waterloo and Woofer telephone stock—will sell cheap. Apply to W. E. Connelly, Union, Ky.

For Sale—Good 4-year old work mule, yearling mule, 7 year old work and driving horse, about three tons clover hay and some cowpea hay. Apply to J. E. Botts, Bullittsville, Ky. tf.

NOTICE.

Free Pikes and Good Roads Speaking.

There will be one or more speakers to discuss this subject at places and dates given below:

Union, Oct. 11th, 7:30 p. m.
Beaver, Oct. 15th, 7:30 p. m.
Constance, Oct. 15th, 7:30 p. m.
Petersburg, Oct. 18, 7:30 p. m.
Big Bone, Oct. 18th, afternoon.
Rabbit Hash, Oct. 22d.
Hebron, Oct. 25th, afternoon.

Other dates and special speakers announced later.

M. J. Crouch, Chairman,
W. Robinson, Secty.

WANTED.

Good, reliable man as salesman and collector for our Erlanger branch house. Must be a man of good standing, well liked and knows the country.

CINCINNATI GRAIN CO.,
Cincinnati, Ohio.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

A. M. EDWARDS

WALTON, KY.

-DEALER IN-

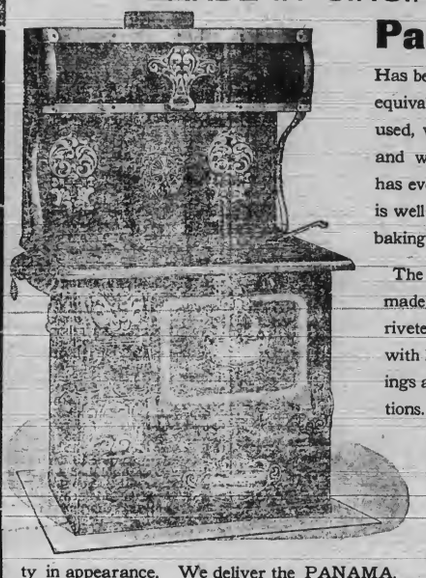
The Best Quality Coal

—THE CELEBRATED—

Campbell's Greek and Pluto Gannel Coal.

JUST ARRIVED! Car load of Buggies which we are selling cheap with guarantee. Buggies Re-rubbered guaranteed, $12.00.

Complete Livery Stable. Funeral Director. All calls answered at any time by Auto.



Also Dealer in Real Estate A. M. EDWARDS, Walton, Ky.

HERE IS THE CELEBRATED

PANAMA RANGE! $24.75

Handsomer and Better This Year - - - - -

MADE IN CINCINNATI.

Panama Range

Has been pronounced by many to be equivalent to other ranges which they used, which cost a great deal more, and we claim that no better range has ever been offered at this price. It is well known for its splendid cooking, baking and fuel-saving qualities.

The body of the PANAMA is made of heavy blue steel, securely riveted and braced and re-enforced with heavy metal plates. The castings are heavy and are made in sections. The bottom grate is the new duplex style, which can be adjusted for coal and wood burning.

Besides its excellent qualities, the PANAMA is a beauty in appearance. We deliver the PANAMA, set up, for..... $24.75

Special Discount on All Goods During Carnival Week.

518-520 York Street, Newport, Ky.

DINE'S

"QUALITY FURNITURE"

530-532 Madison Av. Covington, Ky

CAMPING ON THE GROUND.

And my horse and buggy are waiting at Walton to take you to see thousands of dollars worth of Old Kentucky farms and town property that I have listed to sell. My list will convince you that this ad. is correct. Send for it. Come to Walton and locate. All kinds of property advancing.

THE G. B. POWERS
Cooperative Realeste Agency.
Walton, Ky.

Poland China Hogs.

I have for sale thirty-five spring pigs—both sexes, sired by the celebrated Money Maker No. 84771, King-to-Be 82908, Onward 81571.

THOMAS POWERS,
oct-2 2m Crittenden, Ky.

Posted Against Hunters.

The undersigned hereby give notive that their land is posted against trespassing of all kinds and especially by hunting with dogs or guns and trapping thereon:

B. C. Graddy, Bullitteville.
J. S. Eggleston, Francesville.
Mary V. Gaines, Bullitteville.

For Sale—Two No. 1 Jersey cows, giving milk, will be fresh in February. These cows last spring, when fresh each give about six gallons of milk a day that tested above 5 per cent. They give milk the year round. Also two high grade Jersey heifers that will be fresh in the spring. These are as fine prospects as there are in the county. Call on or address Bert Smith, Burlington, Ky. Call in the afternoon.

M-O-O-R-E-'S Spells Stove Satisfaction

When Moore's Stoves heat your home, you'll forget you ever had stove troubles of any kind. They're dependable—always. Better still—they're wonderful fuel-savers.

Moore's Air-Tight Heater

Furnace would be a better name—for it works like a hot-air furnace—circulates air instead of merely radiating it like a common stove. Cold air comes in from below, passes over the hot surface of the egg shaped dome and comes out through the beautifully nickeled open work shell in a constant stream. Dust Flue carries all dust up the chimney—none can escape to soil carpets and walls. Air-Tight Draft Control forces fire quick when you want heat—checks it in a minute if you wish, or holds a "slow" fire for 24 to 48 hours. You owe it to yourself to see this stove before you buy—also the rest of Moore's line. And remember—Moore's stoves chop your fuel bills in two.

Moore's Range

With the Glass Oven Door

Will prove a revelation of convenience and economy to you. Saves work—saves fuel—will make you a better cook. Ask to see it.

CROUCH & ROUSE

ERLANGER, KENTUCKY

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXXVIIII. Established 1876. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1913. $1.50 Per Year. NO. 3.

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

VERONA.

Cutting corn and sowing small grain is the order of the day.

Mrs. Maranda Cotton is having her residence in Verona painted.

Rev. Picket filled Rev. H. C. Wayman's appointment at New Bethel last Saturday and Sunday.

We are very much in need of a good rain here—water is scarce for drinking and cooking purposes.

The date of the Verona road meeting has been changed from Saturday to Friday night of this week.

A. C. Roberts, local coal merchant, will have on hand a new brand of coal known as the Logan lump coal. See him before buying.

Card of Thanks.—I wish to extend my sincere and heartfelt thanks to my relatives and many friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy shown me at the death of my dearly beloved husband, J. M. Bagby. Especially do I wish to thank Rev. Meing for his consoling words, also Jesse L. Hamilton for the prompt and efficient manner in which he conducted the funeral.

Bereaved wife, Mercy Bagby.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Small grain that was sown early has come up nice

J M. Eddins has erected a new barn on his farm south of Burlington

Jas Beemon has purchased the farm of Miss Leola Clore now occupied by Asa McMullen

Andy Cook has rented Thomas Rouse's farm two miles north of Burlington, and will move there next spring

Hubert McMullen and wife, of Pleasant Ridge, were shopping and visiting r.M. ...r in Covington, one day last week

John Portwood and Wm Wilson, of Waterloo, have recently put a new roof on Hon J. G. Tomlin's barn south of Gunpowder

T C. Adams, who resides on Henry Clore's farm down on Gunpowder, has one of the best fields of corn in his neighborhood

Lewis Clore, after spending the summer with his son, H. H. Clore and Owen Presser, in the Grange Hall neighborhood, has returned to his farm in the Waterloo neighborhood, where he will devote his time to necessary repairs

Do not let a day pass between now and election day without trying to learn something more about the good roads proposition upon which you should cast your vote Do not listen to the arguments either for or against it without listening to, and studying the other side equally as well All great propositions have two sides Vote intelligently and you will vote wisely

FLICKERTOWN.

Clyde Akin and family are residents of our burg

Willie White is sporting a new rubber tire buggy.

Ira Theegee and family visited on Ashby, Sunday.

J W. White and family dined at B F. Akin's, Sunday.

Mrs. Lonaker is visiting her daughter in Indiana.

F. M. Voshell and family visited on Gunpowder, Sunday.

Leslie Nichols and family spent Sunday at Henry Smith's.

Jas Minor fell out of a wagon, Thursday, and sprained his back.

Allie Grant took first premium on his tobacco at Aurora

Mrs Ben Hensley was somewhat indisposed several days last week

Henry Smith's child that was scalded last week is improving slowly

Geo. Hewett and Edward Easton moved their saw mill from here to Double Lick.

Mrs Laura Sebree is visiting her daughter, Mrs Ethel Wafford, in Norwood, Ohio

Chas. Akin and sister, Eva, Sundayed with Miss Goldie Romines and brother Clifford.

Miss Ethel Snelling is visiting her sister, Mrs. Lee Mendell, on North Hogan, Indiana.

Miss Katie White, of Williamstown, visited J. W. White and family several days last week.

All those interested in building a church at Woolper are requested to meet at Woolper school house, Saturday afternoon, Oct. 18.

BIG BONE

Chas. Burrow sold a cow and calf last week for $75.

Miss Emmer Snow spent last Saturday and Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Omer Black.

Chas. Burrows has built a new fence in front of C. A. Slater's lot, which is a great improvement.

Mrs. Reva Smith and sister, Miss Dean Smith, were visiting relatives in Covington, the latter part of last week.

The young folks were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Jones with a social, at which an Epworth League was reorganized. Every one enjoyed a nice time.

GRANT R. D. 1.

Capt. Ed. Maurer is home for a short vacation.

Geo. Cook, of Patriot, is a guest of relatives here.

Mrs. Annie Clore has a 2-year old mare colt for sale.

Cal Young, of Ludlow, is visiting relatives in East Bend.

Clarence McMurray and family have moved to Rising Sun.

Work on J. J. Stephens tenant house is progressing nicely.

Mrs. O. K. Hodges, who has been quite sick, is much better.

Chas. Rue and family spent Sunday with his parents near town.

Al Rogers and son, Edward, spent last Thursday in Cincinnati.

This writer is troubled with a very sore hand caused by a spider bite.

Jack Stucky and family have moved back to winter quarters at McVille.

Hester Ryle has returned to California to spend the winter at Fresno.

Clarence Long and wife, of Sekitan, Ohio, are guests of relatives in East Bend.

Mrs. Annie Rice has been visiting her sister Mrs. U. W. Ryle at Seymour, Ind.

Mrs. Kirby Conner, of Buffalo, N. Y., is a guest of Mrs. J. M. Conner, this week.

G. S. Walrath and Stanley Clore are each putting some new roofing on their barns.

Mrs. G. L. Walrath purchased a nice driving horse of Mrs. Benj. Brown, last week.

A protracted meeting will begin at East Bend M. E. church the first Sunday in November.

Geo. Riggs, of East Bend, spent Saturday night and Sunday here with Elmer Deck and wife.

Kenneth Berkshire and wife spent Sunday with Albert Clore and wife near Rabbit Hash.

D. G. Rice, of Petersburg, installed a fine new piano for Miss Laura and Marion Rogers the past week.

Miss Annie Dolph, of East Bend, died suddenly last Friday night. Funeral services and burial at Rising Sun today.

Four young people, two boys and two girls, who from their actions seemed to be joy riders, were in town Sunday.

The E. A. Woodruff, U. S. Snagboat has been doing considerable work taking snags from the river near the landing here.

Chas. Maurer spent Sunday here with his parents having accompanied John Maurer and wife home from Burlington.

Mrs. Mary Klopp, of Petersburg, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Joe Maurer, whom we are glad to report improving.

The Rising Sun whistles all gave a toot last Friday evening at the hour the Panama Canal was finished by the blowing up of Gamboa dike.

Those who attended the Farmers Fair at Aurora say there was a very large crowd and a nice display of live stock and farm products.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Benson, of Jacksonville, Ill., were called to this place Saturday by the death of the latters sister, Miss Anna Dolph.

From the number of chickens that have been stolen from residents of our town the "Chicken Scokers Klub" must have reorganized.

Mrs. Laura Clore entertained the following guests at dinner last Thursday: Mesdames Lizzie Smith, Jeanette Clore, and Sophia Clore and daughter, Aline.

The threatening weather last Saturday morning kept a number of our citizens at home, as the ball game with Lawrenceburg at Petersburg was called off.

The Rural carrier wishes to thank the following for their remembrance last week: Colin Kelly, Pete Hager, Mrs. Robert Piatt and Mrs. Frank Hager.

Kirby Conner purchased of Sam Pope his farm near Gunpowder creek. Ray Conner has moved there and Sam has moved in with his father-in-law, Robt. Aylor.

One more big game with Hebron, who has received reenforcements from several other county teams will be played at the park here Saturday, and then the season will close.

Chas. Dolph and wife have been at the former home below Rabbit Hash the past several days, owing to the severe illness and death of the former's sister, Mrs. Anna Dolph, of Rabbit Hash.

Willard Clore played with Petersburg ball club against Lawrenceburg Saturday at Pete. Petersburg came off victorious by a score of 6 to 3. Pete got their six runs off Justis in five innings. Boehler held Petersburg runless the rest of the game.

This writer is from Missouri on this road proposition. It seems that if this vote carries for free turnpikes there will be about enough money available for the Fiscal court to buy up the toll pikes of the county and let us poor devils down on the dirt roads flounder around in the mud for seven or eight years longer. What we need and are sighing for is immediate relief from the high cost of travel, and if they will first pike the mud roads of the county, then free the pikes, as people down here in the mud-riden district will say amen with a vengeance. There has not been enough work done on the roads on R. D. 1 this year to open up the ditches properly. How can you expect to have roads when the water is allowed to run into the middle of the road and stand there until it soaks in and makes the roads a sea of mud?

IDLEWILD.

Mrs. Geo. Kreylich was shopping in Cincinnati, Thursday.

Mrs. B. C. Graddy charmingly entertained a number of friends at dinner, Tuesday.

Courtney Walton and V. W. Gaines took in the street fair in Aurora, Saturday.

Scott Chambers came down from Walton, Saturday, to conduct the funeral of Mrs. Al Nixon.

Dr. Carl Grant and Mrs. Grant, of Winchester, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Grant.

Mrs. Ben S. Houston and Miss Maude Asbury attended the teachers' Institute in Burlington, Wednesday.

Mrs. Courtney Walton was in Petersburg, Wednesday, to see her father, Col. G. C. Graddy, who has been indisposed.

Wm. Gray, the accommodating clerk at L. C. Scothorn's store, has bought a farm on Garrison heights and will move there in a short time.

On account of the low stage of the river there is no coal at Petersburg and a number of our citizens are hauling from the bar at the mouth of Garrison creek.

Miss Flossie Campbell, Idlewild's sole representative at the Institute is home and reports a very interesting session under the efficient leadership of Supt. W. L. Jayne, of Boyd county.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Huey, Miss Nannie Huey and Mrs. Lizzie Huey drove over from Union, Tuesday in Mr. Huey's handsome new Hupmobile and spent several days with their kinswoman, Mrs. W. L. Cropper.

DEVON

B. F. Linsow has for sale five 90 pound shoats.

Chas. Miller was calling on his friends at Walton, Monday.

The bridge across the pike here is completed and ready for travel.

Mrs. Cove Carpenter is improving slowly from a recent illness.

Hal Blanton is hauling the Peterson building, which he purchased.

Mrs. Alfred Rivard was the guest of Mrs. Ben Bristow and Mrs. Chas. Miller, Thursday.

Mrs. H. E. Miller, of Big Bone, was the guest of Chas. Miller and wife, Thursday, on her way to the city.

Mrs. W. A. Rice and Mrs. Caroline Senlour were guests of Mrs. Ben Bristow and Mrs. Chas. Miller, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Bristow and little daughter, Susie Katherine, of Union, were visitors Sunday at Ben Bristow's.

Elmer Groger, who had the misfortune to be shot in the leg, Saturday, while handling an old gun, is doing nicely.

B. C. Surface had for his guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Will Graves, of Bullittsville; Eli Surface and sons Elmer and Joseph and Miss Ella Glass.

Mrs. Sallie Brown Willis, of Virginia, who has been the guest of her niece, Mrs. Theo. Grogan, left Monday for a visit with her brother, Joseph Brown and family, of near Florence.

Mr. Ben L. Shaw, of Schoolcraft, Michigan, came out Saturday afternoon and remained until Monday morning, guest of friends here, and had a fox chase with the boys, Saturday night.

GUNPOWDER.

Robt. Robbins bought a horse of Geo. Lucas last week. Price private.

Mrs. Mallie Beemon is located in her new home and is having a new cellar built.

Rev. Wallace is attending the meeting of the Olive Branch Synod at Jacksville.

Mrs. W. H. Smith and son, Emerson, were guests of Mrs. Floyd on Thursday of last week.

W. H. Graves and wife of Bullittsville and E. H. Surface and family were Sunday with H. F. Utz and wife.

A nice shower of rain fell here last Saturday, but not enough to replenish the cisterns very much and water is getting very scarce with a great many.

Mrs. E. O. Rouse reports quite an interesting meeting of the Missionary convention which she attended at Springfield, Ohio. She visited Wittenberg College and various other places of interest.

William Utz and wife entertained the following guests last Sunday: E. L. Rouse and daughter, Miss Nettie, Harry Wilson and family, H. L. Tanner and wife, Miss Anna Crigler and this scribe and wife.

(Lawrenceburg Register.)

The digger boat Central has completed its work at this place and has been ordered to New Albany.

Thomas McGuire and Lulu Baxter of Burlington, Ky., whom we mentioned last week as being in jail at this place for passing them selves off as man and wife were duly married Friday and were discharged from custody.

WALTON.

Found—Gold Masonic cuff button. Owner call at Equitable Bank.

John C. Miller spent Tuesday in Cincinnati on business for his store at Landing.

Miss Edna Allen of Lexington, was the guest of Miss Wilella Hances last week.

Hugh McCormick and son Chas of Sparta, were here on business last Wednesday

Mrs. Laura Rankins of Washington, D. C., was the guest of Mrs. Eva Hudson last week.

Miss Rowena Conrad, of Dry Ridge, spent last week here the guest of Miss Eva Cram.

Rev. Wayne Byland of Leitchfield, Grayson county, spent last week here with friends.

Jas. R. Wallace spent the week in Grant county in the interest of his life insurance business.

W. P. Kinman, of Independence, was a visitor here last Monday enroute from Williamstown.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Tomlin spent Sunday and Monday with friends in Covington and Cincinnati.

Mrs. Mary Ryan and daughter, Mrs. Tiny Hume, of Hume, spent Tuesday here with friends.

J. Waite Cross, of Union, spent Tuesday here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Cross.

Miss Dunham, of Ludlow, spent last week here with her aunt, Mrs. H. C. Wayman and family.

Dawson Chambers, one of Kenton county's prosperous farmers, was here on business last week.

Miss Jennie Lindsey, of Cincinnati, formerly of Gallatin county, spent Thursday here with friends.

Mrs. Bettie Conrad spent last week at Erlanger the guest of her sister Mrs. Arthur Farquharson.

Raymond Roberts, who has been in the corn belt in Ill., for some time, returned home here last week

Mrs Mollie Ford has returned from a delightful visit to friends and relatives in Warsaw, Carrollton and Verona.

Dr B. K. Menefee attended the annual meeting of the Eagle Valley Medical Society at Sanders, last Wednesday

Mrs. Ed. Sullidove left Sunday for Louisville to spend a couple of weeks with her sister and other relatives there.

W. Lee Gaines, A. R. Edwards Nicholas Sanning and Fred Waylandspent Monday at Williamstown attending county court

Mrs. Edith Jones, of South Covington, has returned home from a pleasant visit with the family of her cousin Mrs. G. F. James.

Dr. C. C. Metcalfe who has been in Cincinnati taking treatment for several weeks returned home here Monday much improved in health.

Mrs. G. C. Rankins went to Mason county last week to attend the wedding of her sister, Miss Cecil Arthur to C. S. Tandy, of New Castle.

S W. Beverly, the clever L. N station agent, spent Wednesday in Cincinnati Jas. Samuels, of Sparta, filled his position during his absence

Clifford Youell spent part of last week and this at Williamstown visiting his sister Mrs M. V. Cline whose husband is employed by a construction company at that point

The L & N. Railroad Co. has employes excavating for a large cistern near the depot The cistern will supply drinking water, etc., for the patrons and employes of the depot

J E. Mountjoy, of Warsaw, and Judge Frank Sebree, of Carrollton, passed thru here Wednesday morning enroute to Lexington to attend the Burley Tobacco Growers' meeting.

Miss Elizabeth Bedinger, who has been attending the State University at Lexington and was a guest of relatives and friends here left last week for her home at Bakersfield, California

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Stone, of Latonia, and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McManama of Verona, spent last Monday here on business. Mr. Stone sold a house and lot at Verona to Mrs. McManama for $750.

R. C. Green, the clever cashier of The Walton Bank and Trust Co spent last Wednesday at Lexington attending the Burley Tobacco Growers meeting as member of the Burley Society from this county

Walton Lodge Odd-Fellows will give the first oyster supper of the season at their hall Saturday evening Nov. 1st, and a very pleasing program has been arranged for the occasion. Everybody invited.

Rev A. K. Johnson who has been holding a protracted meeting at Glencoe the past two weeks has aroused a great deal of interest in the Baptist church circles and the membership will be materially increased

Forest Kruts, a clever young gentleman of Petersburg, spent part of Wednesday here calling on friends. He had been making a visit in the Blue Grass section and left on a visit to Gallatin county before returning home

Mr and Mrs. Stanley Crouch and pretty little daughter, of Erlanger, passed thru here last Friday enroute home They were returning from a visit to her parents, Mr and Mrs. J. W. Lancaster, at Ghent, Carroll county

J. Mosby Allen and daughter Miss Sallie, Mrs. Fannie Adams, of Walton, and Robert W. Allen and son Merle Allen and wife, of Landing, enjoyed a pleasant tour of the Blue Grass section last week in their automobile and visiting friends at Georgetown and Lexington.

Undertaker Scott Chambers was called to Cincinnati last week to take charge of the remains of Mrs. Daisy Nixon, aged 31 years, who died at the Deaconness hospital following a surgical operation, and brought the remains to her home near Idlewild for interment.

Thomas Embers, one of the oldest pioneers, died at his home near Banklick, last Saturday in the 80th year of his age. He leaves three grown children. The remains were shipped to Williamstown by the Edwards undertaking establishment, and the funeral was conducted from the Baptist church there Monday.

Revival services were begun at the Walton Methodist church last Saturday evening, being conducted by Rev. W. A. Swift, of Lexington, assisting the pastor, Rev. W. P. Nugent. Services are being held every day at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. The meetings promise to be very interesting and instructive and everybody is most cordially invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sturgeon had as their guest last week the latter's father and brother J. N. Vaughn, of Cowan, Fleming county, and C. E. Vaughn, of Frankfort, Indiana. Mrs. Sturgeon left Monday for a two weeks visit at Cowan, and will also visit her sister Mrs. Mattie Parsons at Carlisle.

Rev. A. Kirtley Johnson who has been conducting a protracted meeting at Glencoe in the interest of the Baptist church, returned home here Monday, having closed a very successful meeting with twenty-four additions. He began a protracted meeting at Beaver Lick Baptist church Wednesday night, and is being assisted by Rev. Ellis, of Latonia.

Dr Will Sleet who has been located here for the past several months will open an office in Covington this week where he will practice medicine and make his future residence. It is regret to lose Dr Sleet and his estimable wife from our midst as during their short stay here made a host of friends Dr. Sleet stands well in the medical profession and will no doubt make a success in his new location

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Northcutt, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Arnold, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bridges of Panama, came out from Covington Monday and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. F. Curley and visiting other friends here. Mr. Bridges is connected with the engineering department of the construction of the Panama Canal, and he and his wife and family have been there for five years and are now home on a vacation.

Wednesday night the residence of Carl Neumeister was entered by a burglar Mr. Neumeister was in Cincinnati on business and only Mrs. Neumeister and the small children were at home. The burglar effected an entrance in the back yard of the residence by a window. Mrs. Neumeister was sleeping in the family room with the children and was awakened by the burglar entering her room. She had a light and got a good view of the intruder, whom she described as a tall, slim white man. She screamed and the burglar fled precipitably the way he came with out securing any booty.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Covington District held a Circle Meeting here Friday, October 10th, at 9:30 a. m., and closed with an evening service. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. F. A. Cosgrove, District Secretary, of Covington. Her assistants were Miss Anna Lewis, First Vice-President of Lexington, Miss Tina Durham, of Danville, and Mrs. David Davis, of Ft. Thomas. These good ladies made splendid and instructive talks on Missionary Work, which were enjoyed very much by all present. There were delegates from Ft. Thomas, Erlanger, Scott Street M. E. Church and St. Luke's M. E. Church, Covington, Dr. J. A. Vaught, Presiding Elder; Bro. J. E. Roberts, California, Campbell county; Mrs. Robert Hughes, District Secretary of the Frankfort District and Rev. C. J. Nugent. There were also a number of delegates present from the above named points. The Walton Auxiliary was well represented, and with their friends served lunch on the church lawn. Taken all in all it was a day very pleasantly and profitably spent.

John L. Vest, who represented Frank Houston, of Gatun, Panama, before the U. S. Department, at Washington, D. C., and was very helpful in securing his pardon for the killing of a man in Panama, was the recipient last week of a handsome Masonic watch fob and charm from Mr. Houston as a token of his appreciation of the services rendered. The fob is a black silk ribbon on which is fatened a large Florida Sea Bean, a product of the West Indies. A handsome gold staff is through the center and on its surface is the square and compass and the letter "G", made from gold, and all the workmanship of the jewelers at Colon. Mr. Houston who is a member of the Masonic fraternity shot and killed a man for despoiling his home, and under the antiquated trial by a native judge on the Isthmus, was sentenced to the penitentiary. Mr. Houston formerly resided near Verona and repeated tohis Vest to help him, who secured the services of Congressman Arthur B. Rouse and a pardon was obtained last week.

Personal Mention.

Ezekiel Rice, of Waterloo neighborhood, transacted business in Burlington, last Friday.

P. T. Fall, of Alexandria, Ind., is the guest of friends and relatives in Union neighborhood.

R. C. Green, cashier of the Walton Bank and Trust Co., was a caller at this office last Tuesday.

Mrs. H. W. Shearer, of Newport, spent from Saturday until Wednesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hall.

Walton Dempsey, who has been employed at the Capitol in Washington, D. C., for several months, arrived home last Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Clay Browning, of Jacksonville, Florida, and Miss Mary Downard, of Bracken county, are guests of Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Yelton.

Mr. J. W. Mills, of Erlanger, was in Burlington a few hours last Tuesday. He represents the Engineering and Appliances Company of Covington.

Miss Ada McAtee, of Ludlow, Dr. Fitzpatrick, of Cincinnati, and Mr. Lloyd Crissinger, of Xenia, Ohio, were guests of Miss Alice Carver, last Sunday.

Mrs. J. E. Stephens, of Bullittsville neighborhood, made this office a pleasant call last Friday afternoon, and moved her subscription up to the 1914 group

Mr. and Mrs. William Frost and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frost, of Ludlow, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard White out on the Belleview pike.

Capt. John Maurer and wife, of Belleview, spent the past week with her sisters, Mrs. Andy Cook and Thomas Rice, and his brother, Circuit Clerk Charles Maurer, of Burlington.

Reuben Hager, of East Bend, having recovered from an attack of typhoid fever, returned to Burlington last Saturday to resume his studies in the Boone county High School.

Edward Clegg, of Union neighborhood, was a caller at this office last Monday. It is always refreshing to meet Mr. Clegg as he is of that sunny disposition that makes dull care take a back seat every time.

Jeff Williamson, of Waterloo neighborhood, was in Burlington Tuesday. He and S. H. Marshall will leave for Arkansas in a few days to spend the winter hunting. They have spent a winter or two there in the past.

Richard Perkins, of Nebraska, who has been visiting relatives here for several weeks, left for his home, University Place, Nebraska, yesterday. His friends here were sorry that his stay could be no longer and hope to have him with them again in a few years.

Congressman A. B. Rouse and wife arrived home from Washington, D. C., last Monday evening. Mr. Rouse looks like his official duties agree with him. A few days before he left Washington he was chosen as Kentucky's member of the Congressional Committee in place of Congressman Ben Johnson, who resigned.

Squire O'Neal, of Verona, called on the Recorder when in town one day last week. He is equipping himself for great sport with his dogs the coming winter, and was very much disappointed by not being met in Burlington by Edward Botts, who had promised to deliver to him that day a dog which he claimed is faster than an excellent quality of gressed lightening.

GASBURG.

Though we have a very fine crop of corn there is fewer hogs to eat it than usual.

Doc House sold a calf 5 weeks and five days old on the Cincinnati market that netted him nearly $17.

There was a large attendance at the Aurora street fair Saturday from this side of the river. Billy Reed succeeded to get a premium. He took first on sweet potatoes and second on tomatoes.

Mrs. Al Nixon, who died in a hospital in Cincinnati last week spent many years of her life in this immediate vicinity where she was held in the highest esteem for her many admirable traits of character. She died at the age of 30 years and leaves a husband and five children, a girl the oldest and four boys the youngest only two years old, to mourn her departure.

HATHAWAY.

Mrs. Grace Moore made a business trip to the city last week.

Several from here attended the fiscal court at Burlington, Tuesday.

Hal Presser, of Latonia, is visiting relatives in this neighborhood.

Miss Eva Sebree spent from Friday until Sunday with Charles Kelly.

Mrs. W. L. Presser and children spent Tuesday with her sister, Mrs. Walter Craddock.

Mrs. Julia Dickerson spent several days with her sister, Mrs. Mary Ryle, last week.

Misses Jeanette and Anna Huey spent from Friday until Sunday with relatives in Burlington.

Miss Edith Kelly and Jno. Jones were Saturday night guests of Miss Ruth and Courtney Kelly and Sunday with Misses Pauline and Alberta Kelly, of Burlington.

UNJUST TAX LAW IN KENTUCKY

How Unsatisfactory the Present Tax System Works in This State

Most Unequal System Ever Devised and Most of the Progressive States Have Abolished the Plan Used in Kentucky.

The present state constitution of Kentucky provides that "Taxes shall be uniform on all kinds of property," and on the surface this seems to be so fair the average thinker can find no fault with it.

In practice, however, it has been found to be the most unequal tax system ever devised, and most of the progressive states have abolished the plan.

Its inequalities and unfairness may be seen from the way it discriminates in certain classes of property and explains why Kentucky seems to have so little intangible wealth as compared with other states.

For instance, cash in savings banks draws only three per cent interest, gilt-edge bonds pay four per cent, real estate notes six per cent, stock in some foreign corporations ten per cent, while the tax on all is the same for state purposes, but varies for county and city purposes according to the location.

Thus where the income is only 3 per cent and the taxes 2½ per cent it leaves the owner only ½ per cent interest, and where the income is 10 per cent and the taxes 2½ per cent the interest is 7½ per cent. In this uniform?

In some counties land is assessed at 30 per cent of its value, in others 50 per cent, and in others 70 per cent. The state tax is the same in all the counties. Is this uniform?

If an honest farmer lists his property at its fair value and his unscrupulous neighbor puts a lower value on his property the former pays more than his share, while the latter pays less.

If the state board of equalization raises the entire list for that county, the honest man pays on property he doesn't own, and yet our law is supposed to be uniform.

That the personalty owned by citizens of Kentucky is vastly more than is listed for taxation is a well-established fact; but the tax receipts don't show it. In fact, certain classes of property, such as stocks, bonds, notes and cash have almost disappeared from the tax rolls, and these evidences of wealth apparently grow less each year.

If the present system is allowed to remain in force, it will result, as it has in other states, in almost all kinds of personalty disappearing from the assessors' books, and lands and houses which can not be hid or moved will have to bear the chief burden.

It has been so in every state where the "general property tax" has been the plan on which property was taxed, and most of the states have been wise enough to get rid of such an unequal and unfair system.

The Ohio state tax commission, in its 1908 report on the operation of the "general property tax," says:

"It is a failure for purposes of revenue or equality. Perhaps not 5 per cent of intangible property is listed. It punishes the honest. It rewards the dishonest. It frequently results in double taxation and lowers the standard of integrity."

The entire revenue of the state of Kentucky is about $7,000,000, while Michigan, with about the same area and population, receives $14,000,000 from taxes, only a small proportion of which is paid on land.

In Pennsylvania there is no state tax on farms or homes.

There are 7,000,000 acres of unimproved farm lands in Kentucky and yet vast quantities of farm products have to be imported.

There are about twenty-five thousand square miles of coal lands in Kentucky, and yet we buy millions of tons of coal from Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Indiana and Tennessee.

Kentucky raises thirty-eight per cent of the tobacco crop of the United States and manufactures only three per cent of it.

These are significant facts and our people should consider them.

There may be other causes for our lack of progress but it is an established fact that no state has ever prospered under the general property tax and it is also known that this deplorable system of taxation has always driven out capital, retarded development and caused untold losses in population.

The last general assembly passed an act amending the state constitution so as to permit future legislation on taxation which will go far towards remedying the evils and it is the duty of every citizen in the state to vote for the amendment at the November election. If it is not ratified at that time it will be impossible to vote on the question for another five years and it has been delayed too long already. It is time for us to wake up and get in line with other prosperous states. Vote for the constitutional amendment at the November election.

PEOPLE OF CURIOUS CUSTOMS

Lapianders Live in Primitive Style, Following Their Own Ideas of Comfort and Recreation.

While civilized man suffers intensely from cold feet every winter, the Laplander, living in the far north of Europe, has no such trouble. A traveler writes: "Their boots are also made of reindeer skin, and are worn very large and the toes are pointed and curve upward, so as to be easily slipped into their ski. The Lapp usually fills his boots half full with a peculiar green grass, into which he thrusts his naked foot; he then packs the boots full with more grass, tucks the ends of his trousers inside and binds them tightly round with many turns of a brightly woven braid. With these precautions they never suffer from cold feet, and chilblains, corns or such like civilized complaints are an unknown horror to them."

Concerning other customs the same writer says: "The Lapps are essentially a nomadic race, and spend most of their lives wandering fancy free among the wild and glorious scenery of their nothern home. However, at times no doubt the stillness of the frozen mountains becomes too still and they turn their herds and start toward their nearest meeting place. Twice a year they hold these general gatherings—at Easter and midsummer—when they congregate and hold a general fair. It is on these occasions that they celebrate their weddings and funerals. The reveiries last only about ten days, but many marriages take place between couples who perhaps have never met previously.

"As soon as a Lapp can afford to buy enough reindeer for himself he leaves the parental tent, takes a wife and roams away wherever his heart or reindeer dictates. There are no social distinctions in Lapland. Should a man have no reindeer, or possibly have lost what he had, he travels with a rich man and helps him tend the herd, but he lives and feeds with them in the same tent, and is quite on a social equality, until he can afford to start off with his own herd."

ALREADY HAD MAXIMUM LOAD

Trooper Had Good Reason for Allowing Horse to Go Without Regular Equipment.

There were few horses left in the livery stable of a certain middle Jersey town when the local cavalry company went out for maneuvers. In fact, a number of cabmen had gone out of business for the time being in order that the cavalrymen might have mounts.

Trooper Bright was on a steed which readily captured the prize for the most gaunt, tired-looking, and moth-eaten creature ever seen on a parade ground.

"Say, Bright," said a companion, after he had recovered from the first shock, "what is that you're on?"

"That's a horse," said Bright not at all brightly.

"Well, I'll take your word for it," replied the other. "Did you know that he'd cast a shoe?"

"Yep."

"Why didn't you stop off at the garage and get him shod?"

"Would have, but I didn't think he could carry more than three shoes."—New York Evening Post.

Persian Farmer.

In Persia one of the chief occupations is farming, but it is carried on in such a manner that it can hardly be called such. If the Persian would follow the example of our western farmer his country might be very fertile, but he pays little attention to irrigation and cultivates the soil in the crudest way imaginable.

This crudity comes from two causes—poor implements and natural indolence. The Persian plow is a crooked beam of wood with a bit of iron at the end. It is just such a plow, doubtless, as the ancestors of Abraham used in the plains of Mesopotamia. It stirs the soil to the depth of only an inch or two. Persian indolence is well illustrated by the fact that in hoeing one man holds the hoe while another pulls it up and down by means of a rope.

Got His Answer.

When the Rev. John McNeil was holding revival services at Cardiff a young man one night, thinking to perplex the preacher, sent up a note to the platform with the request that the following question be publicly answered:

"Dear Mr. McNeil: If you are seeking to enlighten young men kindly tell me who was Cain's wife."

Mr. McNeil read the note, and then, amid breathless silence, said:

"I love young men—inquirers for truth especially—and should like to give this young man a word of advice. It is this: Don't lose your soul's salvation looking after other people's wives."

Proving Daughter's Innocence.

Ida Black had retired from the most select colored circles for a brief space on account of a slight difficulty connected with a gentleman's poultry yard. Her mother was being consoled by a white friend.

"Why, Aunt Esther, I was mighty sorry to hear about Ida—"

"Marse John, Ida ain't nuvver tuk dem chickens. Ida wouldn't do sich a thing! Ida wouldn't demeange herse'f to rob nobody's hen roost—and, anyway, dem old chickens warn't nothing 't all but feathers when we picked 'em."—Lippincott's.

For You and Your Wife

A cheerful, pretty bedroom will help you to start your day in a cheerful, pleasant mood. Its a haven of rest for you to come back to at night. And all day long its a pleasure to your wife.

To make a pretty bedroom it is more important to have tasteful furniture that harmonizes, than furniture that merely costs a lot. A brass bed, or a pretty iron bed if you prefer, dresser and chiffonier, a low rocking chair and one or two straight back chairs to match, a shirtwaist box, light colored rug on the floor,—all this does not cost vrey much, IF YOU BUY FROM US, and makes a truly pretty room. Come in and talk it over.

Don't forget to get a STEARNS & FOSTER mattress. That is what makes your bedroom a haven of rest. No other mattress is so comfortable.

Made in all grades of superiority; $9.00 upward. Windsor Grade at $13.50 is guaranteed SUPERIOR TO ANY OTHER ADVERTISED MATTRESS. We sell it on 60 nights trial. If you CAN part with it at the end of that time we will return your money without question or comment.

We Pay the Freight

LOUIS MARX & BRO

EVERYTHING FOR THE HOME

516-522 Madison Ave. Covington, Ky.

840 Monmouth St., Newport, Ky.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of Execution No. 41722 directed to me, which issued from the Clerk's Office of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky, in favor of Virginia Buckner, &c., by their guardian John C. Buckner against Ben Kelly, M. Kelly and Cherry Kelly Nary, I or one of my deputies, will, on Monday, the 3d day of November, 1913, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m., and 2 o'clock p. m., at the Court house door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., expose to public sale, to the highest bidder, the following described property (or so much thereof, as may be necessary to satisfy plaintiff's debt, interest and costs) to wit:

Situated in the town of Florence, Boone county, Ky.; Beginning at the Northwest side of the Covington and Lexington Turnpike at the corner of the P. Hampton grocery; thence along the edge of the sidewalk n 41½ e 127½ feet to the southwest corner of Zollcoffer's lot; thence with the line of said lot n 45½ w 17 poles and 17½ links to a stone; thence s 51½ e 42½ feet to a stone Zolicoffer's corner in Linville Souther's line; thence with Souther's line n 45½ w 13 poles and 25 links to a stone near abranch; thence n 71 w 72-3 to a stone and a Beech tree; thence 45½ w 4 poles and two links to a post in Aaron Yeager's line corner of Sam Lindsay; thence with his line s 45½ e 31½ poles to a stone; thence s 47 e 10½ feet to a locust post in Lindsay's line a corner of P. A. Hampton's lot; thence with the line of said lot n 64 e 32 feet to a stone; thence s 46 e 80½ feet to the beginning, levied upon as the property of Ben Kelly, M. Kelly and Carrie Kelly Nary.

Terms — Sale will be made on a credit of three months, bonds with approved secuaity required, bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, from day of sale and having the force and effect of a Judgment. Amount to be made by sale, $50.40.

B. B. HUME, S. B. C.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of Execution No. 2654 directed to me, which issued from the Clerk's Office of the Kenton Circuit Court, in favor of the Florence Deposit Bank against Morris Judge, I or one of my deputies, will, on Monday, the 3d day of Nov, 1913, between the hours of 1 o'clock p. m. and 2 o'clock p. m., at the Court house door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., expose to public sale, to the highest bidder, the following described property, (or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy plaintiff's debt, interest and costs) to-wit: The undivided one-fourth interest of Morris Judge in the following described tract of land lying and being in Boone county, Ky., and bounded as follows to-wit: On the west by the Union & Beaver Lick Turnpike, on the north by White Haven and L. W. Lassing's land, on the south by the lands of D. L. Hicks and containing forty-four (44) acres and being the same land which descended to said Morris Judge upon the death of his father, Batty Judge, and which was owned by said Batty Judge at time of his death, levied upon as the property of Morris Judge.

Terms—Sale will be made on a credit of 6 months, bonds with approved security required, bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, from day of sale and having the force and effect of a Judgment. Amount to be made by sale, $214.94.

B. B. HUME, S. B. C.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.

Persons indebted to the estate of the late W. L. Pope, deceased, will please come forward and settle, and those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned proven according to law.

W. H. POPE, Admr.

Election Notice.

BOONE COUNTY COURT.

Regular Term, 1 day September, 1913

M. J. Crouch and others on petition.

It appearing that at the last regular term of this Court, held August 4th, 1913, M. J. Crouch and five hundred and thirty-four (534) others filed their petition herein asking that a vote be taken upon the proposition to have free turnpikes and gravel roads in Boone County; and it further appearing upon proof heard in open Court, that said petition is signed by a number of legal voters in this county equal to fifteen (15) per cent of the total vote cast in this county at the last preceding general election held in Boone County for the year 1912, and no exceptions, protests or objections having been made, taken or filed herein against said petition, it is now ordered and directed that B. B. Hume, Sheriff, cause a poll to be opened in each and all of the regular voting precincts in Boone County, at the next regular County Election to be held on November 4th, 1913, to take the sense of the qualified voters of Boone Co. upon the proposition to have free turnpikes and gravel roads in said county. Said election will be held by the same officers that hold said regular November Election for said year 1913, and in all respects in accordance with the provisions of the general election laws of this State; and the question "Are you in favor of free turnpikes and gravel roads" shall be printed on the ballots, as provided by section 1459 Kentucky Statutes; and the Clerk of this Court will cause said question to be printed on the official ballots for said general election.

Said Sheriff will cause this order to be published in the Boone County Recorder, a weekly newspaper published in this county for at least thirty days prior to said election; and he will also advertise said election by written or printed hand-bills, posted in at least four conspicuous places in each voting precinct in this county for the same length of time.

The Clerk of this court will, within five (5) days after the entry of this order, certify same to B. B. Hume, a sheriff of Boone Co. Kentucky.

State of Kentucky
County of Boone

I, W. R. Rogers Clerk of the County Court in and for the County aforesaid, do certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of an order made this day in the Boone County Court in the matter of Election of Free Turnpikes &c., as appears of record in my office.

Given under my hand this 1st day of September 1913.

W. R ROGERS, Clerk.

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the above order an election will be held at the time, places and for the purpose mentioned in said order.

Witness my hand this the 2d day of September 1913.

B. B. HUME, Sheriff
Boone County Kentucky.

All persons indebted to the estate of J. J. Tanner, deceased, must call and settle with the undersigned, and those having claims against said estate will present them to him proven according to law.

CLARENCE TANNER.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

All persons indebted to the firm of J. Ernst & Son, Hebron, Ky., are requested to call and settle, and those having clams against the same will present them to the undersigned proven as by law required.

ED ERNST, Surviving Partner.

Take your County paper.

Wont you Let

MY CLOTHING DO THE TALKING FOR THEMSELVES?

Kindly come in and see them. I will do business with you without argument You will find Quality and Workmenship.

MENS SUITS and OVERCOATS.....$5.00 to $18.00

YOUNG MEN'S SUITS AND OVERCOATS.....$3.00 to $15.00

Young Men, you must see these suits and Overcoats to appreciate their value.

Children's Norfolk Knickerbocker Suits well made and Durable $2.75, $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00.

Mothers you must see these to realize the bargains I am offering. A complete line of Corderoy and Duck Coats and Pants, the clothing out door workers need when disagreeable weather comes ou insures health and comfort.

Selmar Wachs

Successor to

Rolfes & Wachs,

NO. 1 Pike Street, Near Madison Ave.,

COVINGTON, KY.

Look Here!

The Best Offer Ever.

The Boone County Recorder	All One Year For
The Weekly Enquirer
Farm & Fireside, semi-month
Poultry Success, monthly	$2.10
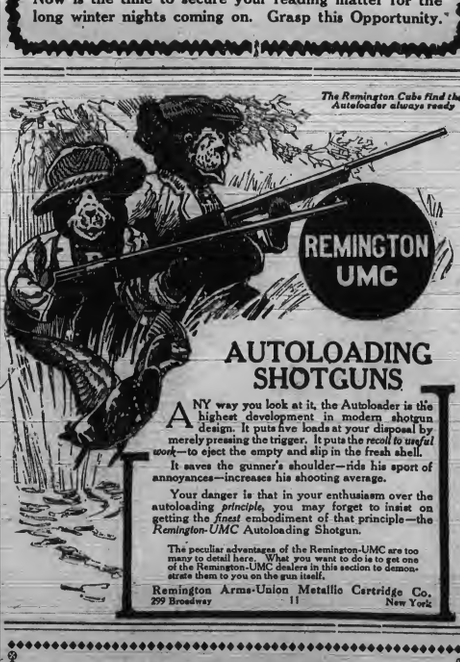
Woman's World, monthly
Farm News, monthly



By Ordering the above separately the cost would be $4.25 for the Six Publications each one year.

Th s Big Proposition

is open to all New Subscribers to The Recorder and to those whose renewals will extend into 1914.

Those who have renewed up to or beyond Jany. 1, 1914 will be given the benefit of the above combination by sending to this office Sixty Cents.

Now is the time to secure your reading matter for the long winter nights coming on. Grasp this Opportunity.

AUTOLOADING SHOTGUNS

ANY way you look at it, the Autoloader is the highest development in modern shotgun design. It puts five loads at your disposal by merely pressing the trigger. It puts the recoil to useful work—to eject the empty and slip in the fresh shell.

It saves the gunner's shoulder—rids his sport of annoyances—increases his shooting average.

Your danger is that in your enthusiasm over the autoloading principle, you may forget to insist on getting the finest embodiment of that principle—the Remington-UMC Autoloading Shotgun.

The peculiar advantages of the Remington-UMC are too many to detail here. What you want to do is to get one of the Remington-UMC dealers in this section to demonstrate them to you on the gun itself.

Remington Arms-Union Metallic Cartridge Co.
299 Broadway New York

B. B. ALLPHIN

WITH THE

L. J. BUDDE & CO.

Live Stock Commission Merchants

Union Stock Yards, CINCINNATI. Phone W. 4296.

Subscribe for Your County Paper.

INSECTS HAVE NO NOSTRILS

Nature Seemingly Concluded Small Creatures Could Get Along Without That Convenience.

All insects need air, even those that live in water, but no insect has nostrils, or any opening in the head through which it breaths. Instead, there is a row of small openings called spiracles, down each side of its body, one on each segment, beginning with the second or third of the thorax or chest, and extending back to the tip of the abdomen. The spiracles open into two air-tubes that extend the length of the insect, one on each side, just within the wall of the body. These tubes are connected in the thorax by two cross-tubes, and from them smaller tubes diverge. These, in turn, divide and redivide, growing constantly smaller, until the finest tubes permeate every part of the insect, even the tops of the artennae and the joints of the feet. The tubes are known as trachease, and serve the same purpose that the lungs serve in the vertebrates; to carry oxygen to the blood and tissues. The outer openings or spiracles, are protected in various ways—as for example, by a circlet of hairs—in order to prevent the admission of anything except air. If they become clogged by any such substances as oil or grease the insect suffocates. The humming of gnats, the buzzing of flies, and similar sounds, are produced by the vibration of the air in the spiracles and treachae.—Youth's Companion.

NEW IDEA OF FAMOUS STATUE

Surely the Most Original of All Put Forward Concerning the Venus De Medici.

Aunt Judy had been brought up from the plantation on the coast for a visit to the "big fam'ly" house in Savannah. There she learned, to her indignant and outspoken disapproval, that one of her granddaughters, whom she had never seen, had been allowed to go north to study for the operatic stage. Aunt Judy had once been a spectator of as much of a musical comedy as one could see between the time of the curtain rising upon a ballet and chorus and the time of Judy's outraged exit from the theater. To the old woman the expedition of the mistress' granddaughter was much as if the girl had elected to go off in the company of Satan, Caligula and Henry VIII.

Also, there was a marble Venus de Medici in one corner of the drawing room of the "big fam'ly" house. Judy had her own ideas about this statue, too.

"I ain't sho'," Judy said one day in confidence to a friend of the family, who had asked to see the girl, "I ain't sho'—ol' missis ain't never tole me—but I t'ink dat w'ite rock girls a po'trait er dat gran'chile whut run off in bad comp'ny."—New York Evening Post.

Ants Walk on Water.

It may not be new to observers of animal life, but I have been much interested in watching the common house ant here in Rio de Janiero, says a writer in Nature.

We have an American fly trap; the sugar was one day covered with ants, so I placed the trap on a finger bowl standing in a plate of water. The ants, when they came to the edge of the water, ran around the bowl until convinced there was no way across, and then calmly took to the water, and ran across it by aid of surface tension without getting their feet wet.

Having presumably been home to the nest, they returned for more sugar, crossing in the same way, and this went on regularly, a steady procession crossing the water.

Test of Sanity.

The ability to remain both sober and gracious under high reward or great responsibility is a quality that we greatly admire in others. To retain a simple and open mind after doing something that is acknowledged to be of merit is one of the rarest accomplishments of sanity. It makes for pleasantness in abundant measure.

Indeed it does more than this, it makes living possible, paves the way to success, begets good will, conquers hatred and uncharitableness—in short, it is the substance of comity, the evidence of grace, and the proof of a large mind that is sane.—Atlantic.

To Purify Musty Places.

Charcoal and quicklime are the best purifiers. To use charcoal, for instance, suspend it in net bags. Make a number of bags to hold several large lumps of charcoal. These will absorb all sorts of bad odors and mustiness and leave the atmosphere pure and sweet. The power of charcoal is according to its freshness, and this is restored by heating. Once a week take the bags down, empty them in a fire pot and heat very hot. The freshened lumps will then serve a new period of usefulness.

Uses Time Well.

The young business woman who works downtown until four o'clock each afternoon passes one afternoon a week from four until six at a public library reading the current magazines and "keeping posted," as she puts it. Nothing is allowed to interfere with this standing engagement and the girl who has tried declares that it is really quite remarkable what a lot of reading one can get into two hours a week when it is done regularly.—Chicago News.

KEEP HUNTERS FROM BIRDS

One Good Thing, and About All, That Can Be Said for the Pestilent Mosquito.

In the north of Canada the mosquito reigns supreme. The swarms that rise from streams, lakes and marshes, as each comes to the urface and emerge, dry, from the skin he wore when a wiggler in the water, cannot be checked or resisted. Though weakly blown aside by the wind or driven off by smoke, they triumph by the force of numbers.

There is compensation for their virulent annoyance, and even for their transmission of the germs of malaria, compensations more important than the feeding of trout and bass fry. They protect our feathered game during the nesting season and insure immunity to the flocks of migrants that rear their broods in the northern woods. The egg collector, the skin collector and all the inquisitive, curious and destructive who would otherwise invade the woods and marshes during the nesting season, are warned off by that ominous and persistent hum. It is more effective than all the game-preserving and bird-protecting statutes. It insures safety during that helpless time when the mother bird can only flutter along the ground in paralyzed terror, drawing the invader away from her treasured but helpless offspring. While the mosquito reigns supreme the bird life that ranges the continent will nest unmolested in its varied northern retreats.

SEEK FOR THE "SUNNY SIDE"

To Look Always for the Best Is One of the Main Secrets of Life's Happiness.

One who boards a train on a hot day is usually careful to choose a seat on the shady side. If we took as much care to look on the sunny side as we do to sit on the shady side this would be a far more contented and peaceful world.

The best of good habits to cultivate is that of seeing things as a radiant and glorious flood of daylight shows them, not as shapes dimly descried in the gloom of a pestilential cavern. Upturn a stone in the field—and on the under side, the side away from the sun, you will find a damp and mouldy foulness, with all manner of crawling, many-legged creatures that run away from the light because they do not love it. How different it is from the beauty of the flowers and the verdure of the greensward living in the open, and looking toward the sky! In life it is like that. We have not ascertained the secret of happiness until we have learned to look, to work, and to live, forever on the sunny side.—Philadelphia Ledger.

To Convert Gypsies.

In a never-ending, restless tide, a million gypsies surge to and fro across Europe. From east to west they migrate at the beginning of summer, and west to east in the fall. Nowhere are they wanted, everywhere are they eyed with suspicion, but still every year they wander, and the authorities of the countries they cross dread their coming and are relieved when they go.

There is always trouble at the frontiers. Here the wanderers are stopped, questioned and often imprisoned as vagrants. But there is nothing to do but finally let them go, and they invariably return the next year.

An effort to aid and protect these gypsies is being made by a Swiss clergyman, Rev. H. Ecuyer. He has organized a society one of the purposes of which is to instruct the gypsies in the Christian religion, for these nomads are all pagans.

Who We Are.

There are many people who think that the term "American embassy" should be changed to "United States embassy" because the latter sounds more dignified and befitting this great country. They do not realize, however, that the "United States" may mean the United States of Colombia or the United States of Brazil. As a matter of fact, we are Americans because we live in the United States of America. In Spain, however "American" means a person who lives in South America. The Spaniards call the people of this country "North Americans" or "Yankees." The latter term was most popular just before the late disturbance between the United States and Spain—with the addition of "pig."—Troy Record.

He Knew the Type.

Little Bobby, who had been taken for a Sunday walk in the park, was much interested in watching the swans while a keeper was feeding them.

"Papa," he asked, "is that a papa swan or a mamma swan?"

"Which one do you mean, Bobby?"

"That tired looking one over there with the feathers all pecked off the top of its head and the one the others won't let get any of the bread."

"That, my son," replied his father sadly, without even troubling to look, "is the papa swan."

What a Child Needs Most.

It is not, after all, a smattering of chemistry, or an acquaintance with the habits of bees which will carry our children through life, but a capacity for doing what they do not want to do, if it be a thing which needs to be done. They will have to do many things they do not want to do later on, if their lives are going to be worth the living, and the sooner they learn to stand to their guns the better for them, and for all those whose welfare will lie in their hands.—Agnes Repplier in Atlantic Monthly.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

The Boone County Teacher's Institute convened at Burlington Monday, Oct 6th, 1913, at the Universalist church

After devotional exercises conducted by Prof Elbert Ryle, the roll was called showing sixty-four teachers present

Prof W. L. Jayne, Supt., of the Boyd county schools, was introduced by Supt Riley as Instructor of the Institute Prof Jayne spoke to the teachers on the importance of the Course of Study and the very great importance of keeping up with the times and being a live wire in the cause of education

A greater part of the day was given to Prof Smith, of the Eastern State Normal school, who addressed the meeting on Horticulture, and gave some interesting and instructive demonstrations on budding and grafting fruit

In the afternoon, at the wish of the teachers, the Institute adjourned to go the court house to hear the speeches on Good Roads

TUESDAY

The devotional exercises were conducted by Prof Jayne. Supt. Riley spoke on the available high schools of the county, stating that with the establishment of one more high school, Boone county will have a high school within five miles of every pupil

Prof Jayne made an interesting speech on the developments along all lines in the last century, again urging development and up-to-date methods in teaching

Prof Dix assigned topics from the Course of Study to the following teachers: Home Geography, H L. Harrison, Elbert Ryle and Miss Mattie May, Reading—first grade, J L. Chambers, Misses Anna Cleek, Elma Allen and Jean Chambers Spelling—Misses Anna Hudson and Flora Youell These subjects were ably discussed by the teachers and further commented on by Prof Jayne.

Representative elect W T. Stott, in a short speech, made a strong protest in favor of having Mental Arithmetic taught in the schools

Supt Riley had several weeks ago given subjects to the High School teachers to prepare papers for the Institute Miss Nannie Hamilton, Principal of the Verona High School responded with an address on "The Common School Graduate," in which she dwelt extensively on the value of the common school studies Miss Hamilton claims the honor of sending forth from the Verona school in 1889 the first common school graduate in this county

Domestic Science was taken up, and the advantages and disadvantages of having it taught in the school here thoroughly discussed by Misses Wilella Hance, Lorena Hafer and Mary Roberts Nature Study by Miss Ruth Kelly, Mrs Kennedy and Elijah Stephens was the last subject taken up for the day, and after assignment of topics for further discussion, the Institute adjourned

WEDNESDAY

After song and devotional exercises, the teachers of the High Schools were dismissed to go to Supt Riley's office for conference

Prof Jayne gave an instructive talk on "Details in School management"

Elementary Geography, by Mrs Anna Hogan, Misses Mariam Morris and Jean Chambers, and the purpose of teaching Agriculture by Prof Elbert Ryle, Misses Elizabeth McGlasson and Mamie Haley were followed by able remarks on Agriculture and Manuel Training by Prof Jayne.

In the afternoon Mr J. L. Chambers, of the Walton school, in an address on "The Normal School in Kentucky's Educational Development" and Miss Nannie Chambers on "Popularizing the High School" were much appreciated

The Instructor dealt with the subject of Child Study from six to eight, and from nine to twelve, in a way that was instructive to the teachers

In a call meeting, the delegates to the K E. A. decided that the $5 prize they received for attendance, will be given to the library of the school having the highest grade common school graduate

"Advantage of Latin" was the subject of a well prepared paper by Miss Lulu Edwards, principal of the Petersburg school

"As Is the Teacher, So is the School," an address by the Instructor was a masterpiece of learning and wit

THURSDAY

Opening exercises consisted of song by the Institute, and familiar quotations from all of the teachers

Necessary preparation for class work was taken up by Prof Jayne and some valuable ideas were given to the teachers on this important subject

Supt Riley appointed Misses Lorena Hafer, Jeanette Chambers and Mariam Morris committee on resolutions, and J L. Chambers, Mrs Melvin, Misses Mamie Haley, Lula Edwards and H L. Harrison committee on teachers meetings

Mr J. H. Muntz principal of the Belleview school, who was a student of Berea College for six years, gave a history of "Berea College and Its relation to our School System."

Mr Jayne told a number of short stories, such as are useful in teaching primary work

FRIDAY

Morning session opened with responsive reading by the Instructor and Institute

"High School English" by Miss N E. Hamilton, "Advantages of Practical Education" by E L. Dix, and "Are We Forgetting the Classics?" by Edna M Riley were papers that showed much deep thought and study in preparation

The committee on teachers meetings arranged the following places and dates:

Petersburg, Nov 8th.
Beaver Lick, Nov 22d.
Big Bone, Nov 29.
Pt Pleasant, Dec. 6th.
Hebron, Dec 20th.
Walton, Jan 17th, 1914.

Committee on resolutions report as follows:

We, the teachers of Boone Co in an organized Institute body, after discussion of educational subjects in relation to teaching convention

Whereas, we believe these conventions are for the benefit of the county and state, and, whereas, we truly believe the teachers to be an agent of the county and state, be it

Resolved, That we, as a body, pledge ourselves to uphold the following resolutions adopted at the Kentucky Educational Association held at Louisville last spring:

1—That the expenses of the Institute be paid with the state and county funds

2—That Agriculture be added to the course of study in our schools

3—That the County Board be empowered to levy an additional tax of ten cents for extending the school terms

Be it further resolved:

1—That we thank our Supt. for arranging this most profitable and enjoyable Institute

2—That we express our deep appreciation of our Instructors beneficial leadership and further that we look forward to his instruction in some future Institute

3—That the Institute thank the community for the use of its buildings, for the interest manifested and for kindness to the teachers in general

4—That a copy of these resolutions be published in our county paper

Jeannette Chambers,
Mariam Morriss,
Lorena Hafer
Committee

After the adoption of this report, a majority of teachers went on record in favor of having a Tri-County Institute, to be held at Walton next year, together with Grant and Kenton counties

Institute adjourned

Edgar C Riley Supt.
Bessie D Goodridge Secty.

Luke McLuke Says.

A skinny girl thinks it is perfectly scandalous the way a corn fed girl exhibits her curves when she sits down in a tight skirt

••

Living down a bad reputation may seem difficult, but living up to a good reputation is almost as hard

••

What has become of the old-fashioned man who used to play the accordion?

••

Women and whisky get the blame But most of the trouble is caused by relatives

••

The world may be growing better, but there are too many three-cent men riding around in $3,000 autos

••

You may not believe it, but a man who has a set of whiskers like a Scotch terrier imagines he is as good looking as anyone else

••

Most women could trim their hats, but they prefer to trim their husbands

••

If we all got what we prayed for, there wouldn't be enough money to go around

••

The most conservative thing in the world is a thermometer

••

When a woman looks as though she had a Great Sorrow and sighs in a dejected manner, you can bet that her corset is too tight

••

Consistency is the only jewel a woman hasn't any use for

••

When Father wants a winter overcoat, and Mother wants a winter hat, you can always place a nice little bet on Mother

••

After you get used to a homely girl, she doesn't look so homely

••

A woman never can understand why it is that the fater her husband "works" down town at night the less money he has on pay day.—Enquirer.

Reports of the great aoundance of game come from all sections of the county and the hunters can hardly wait for the law to expire. Molly Cottontails are as thick as weeds, while the quail crop is a whopper, and it will be a poor shot indeed who does not return with a full bag.—Harrodsburg Herald.

WANTED.

Reliable, energetic man to sell Lubricating oils, grease and paints in Boone and adjoining counties. Salary or commission.
DOAN OIL & PAINT CO.,
Cleveland, Ohio.

For Sale

FOUR ROOM COTTAGE

In Erlanger, Lawn, 2 story Barn, Chicken House and Run, Truck Garden. All in perfect repair. 8 minutes walk to depot. Address MRS. VERRANDA BEEMON, Erlanger, Ky.

Wanted—A good farm hand, married man, house and garden furnished and good wages to the right parties. Call on or address H. W. Snyder, Burlington, Ky., R. D. 3, Phone 181.

GO THERE

AND SAVE THE DIFFERENCE
When you want a Davenport, Parlor Suit, Couch Rocker, Morris Chairs, Dining Room Chairs.

Fred W. Bremenkamp
Manufacturer of
Upholstered Furniture

Factory and Sample Room
157 PIKE STREET,
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

We Also Do Repairing and Refinishing.

IF YOU WANT A GOOD
AUTOMOBILE
—CALL ON—
B. B. HUME, - Burlington, Ky.

FOR 1913 MODEL FORD

5 Passenger Car, $570. 2 Passenger Car, $520

These prices are for fall delivery complete and delivered at your door. If desired a man will be furnished without charge to teach you how to operate your car.

SCOTT CHAMBERS,
WALTON, KY.
Embalmer & Funeral Director,
LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.
First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.
Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.
Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

Believe Me.

By trading at Thomann's you can save the Middleman's profit on Harness, Trunks and Blankets.

Wm. Thomann,
56 Pike Street,
Covington, Ky.

WALTON GARAGE

C. S. Vallandingham, Prop.
Walton, Ky.
Repairing and Vulcanizing a Specialty.
Repairs and Fixtures.
Telephone Calls Given Prompt Attention.

NOTICE.

The annual election of the Boone County Farmers Insurance Co., will be held at the office in Burlington, Ky., Monday, October 1st, 1913. Anyone wishing his name on the ballots will please notify the Secretary at once.

R. B. HUEY, Secretary.
Burlington, Ky.

NOTICE.

Persons indebted to the estate of Noah Clore, deceased, are notified to come forward and settle, and those having claims against same must present the same to the undersigned proven as by law required.

Mrs. Mollie Clore,
Mrs. Effie Nichols.

WANTED.

Toll-gate keeper for gate on Petersburg pike near Burlington.
J. E. SMITH,
Sept 18-tf Burlington, Ky.

FOR SALE.

Good general purpose mare with colt by her side. Mare in foal by a good horse; also for sale gasoline range good as new, will sell at a bargain. Apply to BOBT. E. GRANT, Petersburg, Ky., R. D. tf

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS

For Sale, stock from the flock scoring most points at State Fair last fall. Cockerels, $1.00 each; eggs in season. (dec 18)
MRS. B. C. GRADDY,
Bullittsville, Ky.

Backache

Miss Myrtle Cothrum, of Russellville, Ala., says: "For nearly a year, I suffered with terrible backache, pains in my limbs, and my head ached nearly all the time. Our family doctor treated me, but only gave me temporary relief. I was certainly in bad health. My school teacher advised me to

TAKE

Cardui

The Woman's Tonic

I took two bottles, in all, and was cured. I shall always praise Cardui to sick and suffering women." If you suffer from pains peculiar to weak women, such as headache, backache, or other symptoms of womanly trouble, or if you merely need a tonic for that tired, nervous, worn-out feeling, try Cardui. E-65

Take your County Paper.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

BOONE CO. RECORDER

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

Election, Tuesday, November 4, 1913

For Representative,
W. T. STOTT.
For Commonwealth's Attorney,
JOHN J. HOWE.
For Circuit Clerk,
CHARLES MAURER.
For County Judge,
P. E. CASON.
For County Attorney,
N. E. RIDDELL.
For County Clerk,
W. R. ROGERS.
For Sheriff.
W. D. CROPPER.
For Assessor,
W. P. BEEMON.
For Supt. of Schools,
EDGAR C. RILEY.
For Jailer,
J. S. ADAMS.
For Surveyor,
J. W. CONLEY.
For Coroner,
A. A. MURAT.
For Magistrate.
First District—E. J. AYLOR.
Second District—WM. STEPHENS
Third District—CHAS. WILSON.
Fourth District—N. C. TANNER.
Sixth District—R. H. TANNER.

For Good Roads.

The following have reported to the RECORDER that they will take part in the road exercises on the 24th and 25th inst:

W. P. Sullivan, aged 75, will be there with his shovel
Bert Sullivan, with his team
Albert Conner and Kirb Tanner, with their teams
W. R. Rogers, with any old thing that will make dirt fly
C. E. Stephens, of Bullittsville, with his team
A. W. Winston, of Bullittsville, with shovel
Ransom Ryle, of Locust Grove, with the necessary tools
The RECORDER force, F. A. Hall, Howard Kirkpatrick and W. L. Riddell, with shovels
Circuit Clerk Maurer, properly equipped
W. D. Cropper, with shovel.
Prof E. L. Dix, with shovel.
William Clore, of Locust Grove, will be on hand to work for two days.
W. W. Grimsley, of Hamilton, says he will work two days with his team whether anyone else works or not.

Every county in the State will have a large force of men working on the roads on the above dates and Boone should, if possible, make the best showing

Some one in each voting precinct in the county ought to take charge of the matter, and have the hands report to him at an early hour on the 24th inst., when they should be divided into companys after which each company should elect its captain and proceed to work under his direction at such places as he may indicate

A great deal can be done for the roads of the county in two days if all the able bodied men will go out and work

Good Roads Meetings.

There will be speaking at the following places by one or more good roads men. The question before the people seems to be misunderstood by many. Come out and hear it explained:

Verona, Oct. 17th, 7 p. m.
Petersburg, Oct. 18th, 7 p. m.
Beaver Lick, Oct. 21, 7 p. m.
Bullittsville, Oct. 22, 7 p. m.
Rabbit Hash, Oct. 23, 7 p. m.
Big Bone, Oct. 25, 3 p. m.
Grange Hall, Oct. 27, 7 p. m.
Constance, Oct. 28, 7 p. m.
Mt. Zion, Oct. 29, 7 p. m.
Woolper, Oct. 30, 1 p. m.
Union, Oct. 31, 7 p. m.
Belleview, Nov. 1st, 7 p. m.

Bought Out His Partner.

B. B. Hume has bought the interest of his partner, Eris Rouse, in the automobile business, and is now going it alone. Besides the Ford, Mr. Hume is also agent for the Oakland, one of the most popular machines on the market, the price of which, fully equipped, is roadsters $1,150; touring car$ 1,200. If you are in the market for an automobile it is to your interest to see Mr. Hume before you buy.

Base Ball.

Petersburg, 6; Lawrenceburg, 2, at Petersburg, last Saturday afternoon.

Erlanger, 8; Elsmere, 6, at Erlanger, last Sunday afternoon.

Hebron will journey to Belleview next Saturday afternoon, and tackle the strong team at that place.

The season is about the close among the amateurs.

Beginning with next Saturday W. L. Kirkpatrick will make a trip every Saturday with his meat wagon over the following route: To Limaburg, Florence, Gunpowder, Thence to Burlington via Pleasant Valley school house.

Mont Slayback is arranging to move to Walton, where he will be employed by Scott Chambers, undertaker and liveryman. Mont will make Mr. Chambers an excellent man.

Henry and Charles Clore went to the city yesterday to dispose of a bunch of nice hogs.

Several Walton people were in Burlington, Tuesday having business in Judge Cason's court.

Old Negress Honored.

Hundreds of residents of Oldham county, whites and blacks, gathered at the colored Baptist church at Brownsboro at 11 o'clock Monday morning to attend the funeral of "Aunt" Anna McMeekin, a highly respected negro woman, who was probably the oldest native of Kentucky at the time of her death Saturday. The funeral was probably the largest ever held in the community. Burial was in the private cemetery of the family of Isaac Clay Smith.

The interesting and beloved old character was credited with having attained the unusual age of 117 years, while she herself claimed to be 121 years of age. Just three months ago she joined the colored Baptist church at Brownsboro, being baptised in a horse trough on her own farm. A large crowd of her neighbors were present on the occasion. At that time she announced that she was prepared for death and that she didn't care to live any longer.

Despite her age and the fact that ever since she could remember she smoked a pipe and was in good health until a month ago, when she began failing. A week ago she was stricken with paralysis. She was a native of Oldham county and was born a slave. As a girl she belonged to the late Col. William Ingram. T. W. Ingram, now fifty-six years of age, whose father formerly owned her, figured her age at 117 years.

She had never known sickness until this year; had never been attended by a doctor or taken medicine, except such teas as she herself prepared from roots and herbs. She has never been on a steamboat or railroad. For more than half a century she lived on the five-acre farm she owned, and where she died. She had not wandered from the premises for two-score years. She told interesting stories of the pioneer days and often her white friends called to see her.

A most peculiar fact is that her hair never turned gray, remaining a light brown. Her husband's death occurred 25 years ago. Three daughters and fifty-two grandchildren survive her.—Oldham Era

CARE OF COLTS IN WINTER.

Liberal Feeding Needed to Develop the Young Animals.

There is a great tendency on the part of many to neglect the colts on the farm during the winter. It too often happens that there is an apparent shortage of feed, and the result is that colts are slighted. One way of ruining a young colt is to have his growth stunted during the first year or two. Most of the colts on the farm get a good start the first six months of their lives from the fact that they are allowed to suckle the dam during that time. Early fall provides them with good pasture, and possibly they have been receiving some oats or shared a part of the feed of the mare. Such treatment puts them in good shape for the winter. But liberal feeding must be kept up if a strong, well developed and matured horse is expected. The colt's system requires a considerable amount of bone and muscle building material and this can only be had by feeding nitrogenous feeds, such as oats, a little bran, oilmeal and if obtainable, some clover hay. The feeding of corn, so often practiced is not desirable for the growing colt, but had better be confined to the matured horses. Access to the straw pile will not hurt a growing colt, but he should not be compelled to rely on the straw pile for a livelihood.

The question is often asked, Why do we find so many promising colts at the county fairs during the fall and such poor yearlings? The foregoing statement is in part explanatory of such a condition of affairs.

One of the best forms of investment on the farm is the liberal feeding of farm animals of all kinds, and the colt is no exception. A well bred colt if properly taken care of and fed the right kind of feed during his first three years of life will bring from $75 to $100 more when three years old than the one that is neglected and poorly fed. Good young horses are always in demand on the market and can only be supplied from the farms where colts receive the proper care and treatment.—W. H. Tomhave, Extension Division Minnesota Agricultural College.

Feeding Cows and Calves.

The Kentucky Station has just completed some experiments in feeding dairy cows and calves. Eighty calves were employed in tests to determine the advisability of using calf nipples for feeding the young calf. "It required on an average for all the calves, 39½ seconds for the bucket fed calves to drink their milk, while the calves sucking their milk through the nipple required an average of two minutes and 21 seconds to drink the same quantity of milk. It was shown conclusively that during the first 7 to 10 weeks of the calf's life they were more thrifty when fed through the nipple, which was due to the fact as they suck the milk they mix it thoroughly with saliva and take it slowly. After the seventieth day the nipple was no more effective than bucket feeding.'

An experiment was made with 18 grade and pure-bred Jersey calves to test the relative efficiency of corn, flaxseed, and whole milk. The average daily gains for the three lots were, respectively 1.44 pounds 1.26 pounds, and 1.38 pounds, and indicate that it is unnecessary to use high priced whole milk, or to purchase expensive oilbearing seeds such as flaxseed, to supplement skim milk for calves that are 2 months old.

New Parcel Post Ruling.

Postmaster Hutcheson has received the following from the First Assistant Postmaster:

"Postmasters must refuse to receive for mailing parcels not properly indorsed or packed for safe shipment. Postmasters and clerks will be responsible for packages providing they receive them improperly packed or wrapped. Umbrellas, canes, etc., must not be accepted unless strapped to strips or wood of the same length. Oils, paints, fruits, etc., must be denied admission unless the regulations with reference to packing is strictly observed."

Wilson Wants Larger Navy.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Three new battleships and a proportionate number of submarine and torpedo boat destroyers is the aim of the Wilson administration in shaping its naval policy for the Democratic session of Congress, it is believed here.

It became known yesterday that in all probability Secretary Daniels, of the Navy Department, would put into effect his principle of "less money ashore and more afloat," and advocate using the greater portion of an appropriation of $148,000,000 to build three powerful warships—one more than the usual annual quota, though only a single battleship was obtained after a stormy fight in the last Congress.

With the addition of three first-class battleships, naval officials hope the United States will resume its place next to Great Britain in naval fighting strength passing Germany, which took second place when the United States dropped to third

Poultry Notes.

Remember that most cases of colds and roup are incurred in the fall because birds are not housed as early as they should be. Fowls are timid in new quarters and are prone to crowd and huddle together on the roosts and drop boards. In this way they become overheated at night only to be chilled when they separate in the morning. It is an excellent plan, therefore, to house a few at first and as soon as they feel at home, add a few more until the pen has received its capacity.

It is an accepted fact that any change in location affects the lay ing stock, therefore in order to induce early laying the pullets should be put in permanent winter quarters two or three weeks before they are expected to mature.—A. C. Smith, Poultryman, Minnesota University.

SALE AT COST.

As I expect to quit business, will sell my entire stock of Millinery and Notions, before christmas.

Hats, Felt and Velvet shapes.....75c-$100
Trimmed Hats..$1.50-$3
Ladie's all-wool sweaters were $2. 50 now...$2.00
$1.00 Corsets now....85c
75c Corsets now.....60c
50c Corsets now.....35c
5c Kerchiefs 3 for....10c
White and Black Shoe Polish.....08c
50c Silk Scarfs.....35c
Gloves, Belts, Veils, Ties, Collars, D. M. C. Cotton, Ribbons, Pins, Etc.

Mrs. B. L. Cleek,
Union, Kentucky.

MISCELLANEOUS FOR SALE.

For Sale—Nice boar hog. Apply to F. H. Rouse, Burlington, Ky.

For Sale—Fresh cow and calf and a good bull. Apply to J. E. Smith, Burlington.

For Sale—600 or 700 bushels good oats. Call or write to Mrs. Ida Balsly, Bullittsville, Ky.

For Sale—Fresh cow with calf by her side; also some nice Wyandotte cockerels. Apply to Geo. Blyth, Burlington, Ky.

PUBLIC SALE.

I will sell on Wednesday, Nov. 12th, beginning at nine o'clock a. m., at the S. C. Johnson farm 2½ miles west of Walton, Ky., a large amount of farming property consisting of six horses, four mules, six fine milk cows, Jersey bull eligible to registry, three heifer calves, three sows and 27 pigs, three gilts, 400 bushels of corn, ten tons of timothy and clover hay, about 2,000 pounds of tobacco, large lot of farming implements, saddles, harness, poultry supplies, household furniture, and a large number of articles too numerous to mention. Terms Nine months without interest. The Ladies Aid of Walton M. E. church will serve dinner.

A. R. JOHNSON.
V. S. Motsinger, Auctioneer.

Bert Berkshire and F. H. Rouse are picking a nice crop of partnership apples.

A. M. EDWARDS
WALTON, KY.
—DEALER IN—
The Best Quality Coal
—THE CELEBRATED—
Gampbell's Creek and Pluto Cannel Coal.

JUST ARRIVED! Car load of Buggies which we are selling cheap with guarantee. Buggies Re-rubbered guaranteed, $12.00.

Complete Livery Stable. Funeral Director. All calls answered at any time by Auto.
Also Dealer in Real Estate A. M. EDWARDS, Walton, Ky.

Goode & Dunkie
Have bought out the entire business and good will of the
Covington Seed Company
are able to offer you everytning in the Seed Line at the same low prices that we sell Graceries. We want all our friends and customers to see us before they buy as we will sell nothing but the very best grades of tested seed.
We carry a full line of Poultry feeds and remedies such as Pratt's, Hess', Conkey's, Bourbon Poultry Cure, Rex, Germozone, Scratch Feen, Wheat Scraps, &c.
Fall Bulbs now in—plant early and have early flower bed in Spring.

Write For Prices
on anothing you want. We can saue you money.

ARCADE FLOUR
Costs a little more than othsome other brands but is a Great Deal Better.
$5.50
Barrel
Freight Paid.

Golden Blend Coffee
Used in more home than any other brand.
25c.
A POUND.

New Oat Meal and Roll-Oats, 3 pounds.....10c
New Can Peas, 2 lbs.....5c
New Sorghum, very fine.
New Asparagus Tips,...12c
New Seeded Raisins, lb.10c
New Argo Red Salmon, can.....15c
See us for Seed Potatoes.
We have all kinds coming in each week.

Goode & Dunkie,
19 and 21 Pike street and 18 and 20 W. 7th St.,
Covington, Kentucky.
Groceries, Flour, Seeds and Medicines.

The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO.
Erlanger, Ky.
Has come to stay and is ready for business and will keep on hand at all times a good supply of
Raymond City and Plymouth Coal
in yard and on car at the Lowest Prices Possible, and guarantee 80 lbs. to the bushel. Will also handle Cannel Coal, Kentucky Simi-Caudle and Worley Block, and Peidmont strictly blacksmithing Coal.
Your patronage solicited.
The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO
Erlanger, Kentucky.

Grasselli LIME SULPHUR SOLUTION
ORCHARD INSURANCE
Against Scale Insects.
Spray in the Fall—(after leaves have fallen) with GRASSELLI LIME-SULPHUR SOLUTION
For the Following Reasons:
First—The ground is in better condition for moving spray machinery, as it is often soft and mushy in the spring.
Second—The scale insects are more susceptible to the Lime-Sulphur Solution in the fall, as the waxy covering is soft. This covering hardens during the winter months.
Third—There is not so much work crowding at this time as in the spring.
For prices and further information call on or write
W. H. CLAYTON, Hebron, Ky., Distributor.
GRASSELLI-CHEMICAL CO., :-: Cincinnati, Ohio

Luncheon
AT
Neat Little Place
For Farmer, Workman, Merchant, Clerk and Professional Man.
R. J. DIBOWSKI'S CAFE
No. 6 Pike Street, - - Covington, Kentucky.
Commercial Plate Luncheon from 11 a. m. to 1:30 p. m.

DON'T EXPECT RELIEF

If you wear wrong glasses you need not expect relief from your eye troubles. Wrong glasses may be worse than none.
We fit them right and get results.
N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,
613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY
Phone, South 1746.

Union Creamery Company
UNION, KENTUCKY
Pays the highest possible price for Butter Fat in whole milk and hand separated cream. Honest tests and weights guaranteed.
A. L. Mallett, :: Manager.
Phone, Consolidated No. 40.

Subscribe for the Recorder.
Read all the ads. in this issue. It will pay you.

Local Happenings.

The schools in the county began again last Monday

The trees about town begin to have a nude appearance.

A much desired rain began falling here last Friday night

The local banks observed Columbus Day last Monday.

Born, on the 9th inst., to Clarence Mitchell and wife, a girl.

The base ball season has given way to the more dangerous sport of foot ball.

The growers are slow to accept the high prices that are being offered for tobacco

Keep that gun in the house until the hunting season opens and you will save trouble.

M. L. Riddell bought of Robert Gaines a nice young buggy animal a few days since.

Caddie Maurer caught a nice string of bass down on Gunpowder creek last Saturday.

Legrand Gaines is in the city to have an oculist remove a cataract from one of his eyes.

The protracted dry weather has reduced, materially, the supply of milk at the local creamery.

Sheriff Hume is advertising to do some real estate business at the court house door next county court day.

Ransom Ryle, of Locust Grove neighborhood, and wife, entertained the young people with a party last Thursday night.

Thomas Cason, who united with the Baptist church during the recent protracted meeting, was baptised last Sunday.

Virgil Gaines mixed up in a bicycle accident at Idlewild a few days ago, the result being an ugly gash in one of his arms.

Edgar Souther will have a sale on the 22d inst., of personal property at his home at the top of the river hill on the Bullittsville and Dry creek pike.

Jas. Mitchell and Owen McMullen visited the Cincinnati horse market last Friday and brought home with them a pair of handsome, black draft animals

Clinton and Joshua Beemon have purchased of W. T. Davis his nicely improved farm of 65 acres one and a half miles out on the Burlington and Florence pike.

The local telephone construction company is now engaged rebuilding the Consolidated line along the Lexington pike between Florence and Richwood.

It looks like quite a number of the men hereabout will turn out to work on the roads on the 24th and 25th inst. By so doing they will show, in a practical way their desire for better roads.

From the looks of the large quantities of stone that are being prepared for spreading on the pikes that lead out of Burlington the local autos will have to take a considerable vacation in the near future.

Clarence Easton, who owns a farm about two miles out on the Petersburg pike has finished gathering a crop of good corn. He says it is the first time he ever wore a straw hat from the start to the finish of his corn crop.

In another place in this paper will be found the advertisement of the Farmers' School to be held in Burlington October 20-23 This school cost the farmers nothing and it is hoped Boone county will show its appreciation of the school

The work on the Consolidated telephone line from Burlington to Belleview has been completed and that line is in fine condition as are all the lines in this part of the county operated by that system. President Crouch will not be long in getting the entire system in excellent condition.

The Boyd brothers, Jack, Garnett and Sam, and James Gorin, went gigging last Monday night and killed sixty-eight pounds in all. One large jack measured fifty-two inches and weighed 36 pounds, another measured forty-one inches and weighed 20 pounds. Several smaller ones were killed. —Hart County News.

M. F. Wingate, of Petersburg, H. J. Marshall, F. M. Cox and a Mr. Jackson, of Aurora, left last Sunday for Prescott, Arizona, to visit the Fortune gold mine near that city and in which quite a number of Burlington, Petersburg and Aurora people are considerably interested. They will be gone two or three weeks.

When everybody is saying "I am in favor of good roads," it does seem that some plan can be agreed upon by which to obtain them. Those who have investigated say there is no way to make a start in the direction of good roads other than by carrying the affirmative of the proposition that will be voted upon in this county, that being true the proposition has considerably more than even chances to carry.

Mason Minor, of Lawrenceburg, spent several days last week in Burlington and vicinity looking over the territory which was the scene of his boyhood. He had not been here for many years and saw but few persons, especially of the older class, who constituted the population when he resided here. He has a good position as a stationary engineer in Lawrenceburg. Mr. Minor has aged some but he has not changed much in appearance.

William Hughes, the popular carrier on rural route No. 1 out of Burlington, and Miss Pearl Underhill, daughter of Albert Underhill by his first wife, were married in Covington, last Saturday. They returned to the home of the groom's father, Mr. G. G. Hughes, last Sunday evening. The young people have a host of friends who extend congratulations and wish for them a full share of the prosperity and all the good things this life affords.

With only $18,000 road fund at its command annually the Fiscal Court will not embark in the purchase of turnpikes with a view to freeing them, consequently the proposition before the voters of this county will have to be followed by another vote providing for bonds for that purpose before the freeing of the turnpikes can properly become an issue. Then there is the fiscal court that will always be found guarding the interest of taxpayers, judging the court as it will be constituted after January 1, 1914, by the fiscal court of the present and those of the past.

Caddie Maurer, N. E. Riddell, Bert Berkshire, Jas. Smith and Hubert Brady spent last Thursday down on Woolper creek with poles and lines but did not catch fish enough to grease a skillet. Conditions were thught to be decidedly favorable but the fish declined to do any business with the tempting morsels, exposed in their vicinity. Luck seems to cut no ice with fishermen nor hunters and day after day they will sit on the banks of the creeks or travel over hills and valleys accompanied by dog and gun even though they get not a bite nor see a bird or rabbit.

Afraid of Freedom.

There are several citizens of Boone county, who have expressed themselves as favoring the improvement of the roads and the road system of Boone county, but they are afraid of the word "free" in the statement of the question which is to be voted on at the November election. It is feared that the passage of this vote will mean that the pikes are to be freed at once, thus throwing the county into debt and making no provisions for the building of new pikes on our dirt roads. This is impossible. Pikes can not be bought without money and no debt arising from the purchase or the building of roads can be incurred by the county without a two-thirds majority of the voters at an election not earlier than one year after the passage of the measure now before the people.

When you vote "I am in favor of free turnpikes and gravel roads," it means that you are in favor of making a begluning towards a system of better roads which shall ultimately be free roads. It means that you are in favor of placing the county road system under a different section of the statutes—a section under which all road progress in the State has been made. But that's not all. When you have placed the county under this section you are only then ready to make this beginning. It is like hooking up your horse to start on a journey. You can't start until you have hooked up. Once hooked up you can go where you please—and remember that you, the people, must decide in what direction that will be by a two-thirds majority, or two votes for, to one against. Surely you are not going to say, "I won't hitch up the horse for I'm afraid he'll get away from me," when you have two men to hold one gentle horse.

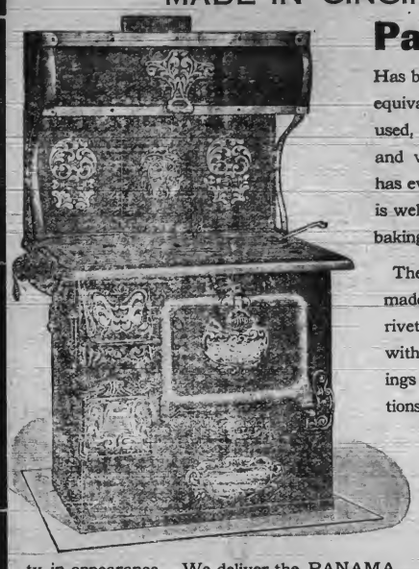
The word "free" in the question as the statutes say it must be put, means freedom, not of pikes at once, but freedom of the people of Boone county. Freedom from a system under which progress is impossible, freedom from a system which would leave us in the mud for a hundred years, freedom from the tyranny of shortsighted closeness which starves for the sake of hoarding.

There are three qualities which I believe the people of Boone county have in a majority sufficient to carry this question. One is a view broad enough to see that we'll never get anywhere as long as we stay where we are; one is faith enough in your neighbor to believe that he isn't going to knife you, especially since his interests are yours and he'll have to vote two to one against you to beat you; the third is the knowledge that you are not only the voters of the present generation, you are the trustees of posterity. When you vote "no" you bind the shackles of stagnancy upon your children, you wind mud roads around their necks and press the toll-gate yoke upon their shoulders. When you vote "yes" you free yourself and them from a condition that would otherwise make them strangers in a future age more progressive, no doubt, than the one in which we live.

EVERETT L. DIX.

(Lawrenceburg Press.)

Julius Schneider has in his possession a 50-cent piece that bears the date of 1806, and is said to be worth $250.



The News suggests that if it is possible to get a large enough appropriation from congress that a new levee be built from Mill street across the bottoms to connect with the fair grounds embankment, thereby dispensing with the maintenance of nearly two miles of levee extending to Hardentown.

HERE IS THE CELEBRATED

PANAMA RANGE! $24.75

Handsomer and Better This Year - - - -

MADE IN CINCINNATI.

Panama Range

Has been pronounced by many to be equivalent to other ranges which they used, which cost a great deal more, and we claim that no better range has ever been offered at this price. It is well known for its splendid cooking, baking and fuel-saving qualities.

The body of the PANAMA is made of heavy blue steel, securely riveted and braced and re-enforced with heavy metal plates. The castings are heavy and are made in sections. The bottom grate is the new duplex style, which can be adjusted for coal and wood burning.

Besides its excellent qualities, the PANAMA is a beauty in appearance. We deliver the PANAMA, set up, for..... $24.75

Special Discount on All Goods During Carnival Week.

518-520 York Street, Newport, Ky.

DINE'S

"QUALITY FURNITURE"

530-532 Madison Av. Covington, Ky

NOTICE.

I take this means to ask the help and cooperation of every able bodied man in this county to carry out the plan set forth in Governor McCreary's proclamation for working the roads October 24th and 25th.

It will be impossible for me to see all of the men who have charge of the various sections of road, but I hope that you will take enough interest in this matter to see your neighbors and to encourage them to come out these two days and do the work that is most needed in their respective neighborhoods.

I should suggest that we attend to cleaning out the ditches, cutting and trimming the objectionable trees, and gathering up all loose stone lying along the road, hauling same to some place where needed. Also to rock that mud hole that was so bad last winter. In regard to this last suggestion, I have a proposition to offer; I shall pay for breaking the stone that anyone may haul, provided, first, that the road is well ditched and raised where needed before the stone is broken; second, that all of this stone must be knapped, with the exception of the bottom course, which may be sledged. The above work is to be done under the management of the person in charge of that section.

Let me urge that all of us get behind this movement for better roads and come out October 24th and 25th and do what we can.

C. W. GOODRIDGE,
County Engineer.

Posted Against Hunters.

The undersigned hereby give notive that their land is posted against trespassing of all kinds and especially by hunting with dogs or guns and trapping thereon:

B. C. Graddy, Bullittsville.
J. S. Eggleston, Francesville.
Mary V. Gaines, Bullittsville.

Road Meetings.

The schedule for steropticon road lectures by E. L. Dix is given below. Other speakers will be present at all these meetings. It is realized that whatever is done on this or any other question in Boone county will be done upon the good judgment and not upon coercion of the voters of the county. These meetings will be conducted on the high plain of education and investigation. All are invited to attend and to take part in the discussions:

Verona, October 18.
Bullittsville, October 22.
Big Bone, October 25.
Mt. Zion, October 29.
Belleview, November 1st.

Committee.

FOR SALE

Five acres, six rooms, on pike, or will lease with privilege of purchasing. E. W. WALLINGFORD, Devon Sta., C. & O. Ry.

The county schools are all in progress again.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Kentucky.

Mary Ellen S. Snyder's heirs, Plaintiff Against
Mary Ellen Snyder's heirs, &c., Defendants.

Equity.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the August term thereof, 1913, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court House door in the town of Burlington, Boone county, Ky., to the highest bidder at public sale, on Monday, the 3d day of Nov., 1913, at 1 o'clock p. m., or thereabouts, being County Court day, upon a credit of six and twelve months, the following property, to-wit:

Situated in Boone county, Kentucky, near Gunpowder creek, south of Burlington, and described as follows; Bounded on the east by the lands of Thomas E. Summers and Kirb Crisler, on the west by the lands of Robert Rouse, Elizabeth Mullen, John D. Mitchell and Frank Mullen, on the north by the lands of Hubert Bachelor and Thomas E. Summers, on the South by the lands of Kirb Crisler and Add Robbins, containing about 74 acres.

Or sufficient thereof to produce the sums of money so ordered to be made. For the purchase price the purchaser, with approved security or securities, must execute bonds bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment, with a lien retained therein until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms. Amount to be raised by sale $697.09.

CHAS. MAURER,
Master Commissioner.

PUBLIC SALE.

I will sell at public sale to the highest bidder on my farm near Erlanger, on

SATURDAY, OCT., 25, 1913.

Following Property:

Draft mare,
Mule,
Two year old colt.
Six Cows,
Heifer, Seven hogs,
Cream Separator,
Reliable Incubator,
Novelty Churn,
Road Wagon,
Hay Bed,
Two Spring Wagons,
Set of Double Harness,
Two sets Single Harness,
Lot of chickens and ducks,
Mowing Machine,
Hay Rake,
Cider Mill,
Double and single plows,
Lot butter and milk crocks,
Corn and Fodder,
Numerous other articles.

I will also offer farm of 112 acres for sale or rent.

TERMS—All sums of $5.00 and under, cash; sums over $5.00 a credit of 12weive months will be given, payable at Erlanger Deposit Bank.

Sale to begin at 10 o'clock a. m.

JEFF STEPHENS.
George Burkitt, Auctioneer.

PUBLIC SALE.

I will offer for sale at public auction at my residence on Woolper Heights, two miles northwest of Burlington, Ky., on

Wednesday, Oct. 29, 1913

the following property:

Four big work Horses, 7 Jersey cows, 6 two year old heifers to be fresh soon, 4 heifers eight months old, three Holstine bull calves, 8 tons clover hay baled, 150 bushels corn, 150 shocks fodder, 4 dozen chickens, 2 double sets heavy work harness, set buggy harness, Sharpless separator, 10 gallon barrel churn, 5 milk cans, lot of farming tools, bedroom set, folding bed, Esty organ, kitchen table, chairs and Goodwill range, Top Buggy, Road Wagon with Boxbed.

Terms—Sums of $5 and under cash; on sums over $5 a credit of nine months will be given, the purchaser to give note with good security negotiable and payable at the Booue County Deposit Bank, Burlington, Ky. Terms of sale must be complied with before moving property.

Sale will begin at 12 o'clock.

B. E. AYLOR.
J. B. Crigler, Auctioneer.

CAMPING ON THE GROUND.

And my horse and buggy are waiting at Walton to take you to see thousands of dollars worth of Old Kentucky farms and town property that I have listed to sell. My list will convince you that this ad. is correct. Send for it. Come to Walton and locate. All kinds of property advancing.

THE G. B. POWERS
Cooperative Realeste Agency.
Walton, Ky.

Poland China Hogs.

I have for sale thirty-five spring pigs—both sexes, sired by the celebrated Money Maker No. 84771, King-to-Be 83903, Onward 81871.

THOMAS POWERS,
oct-2 2m Crittenden, Ky.

For Sale—Good 4-year old work mule, yearling mule, 7 year old work and driving horse, about three tons clover hay and some cowpea hay. Apply to J. E. Botts, Bullittsville, Ky. tf.

QUALITY AND SERVICE

With Lowest Possible Prices Has Been the Cause of Our Success.

WRITE TO US

The Best Flour Ground From Winter Wheat Is

RARUS
BEST WINTER PATENT
GEO. W. HILL & CO.
COVINGTON, KY.

(THE PERFECT)

$5.25 Per Bbl

You Can Pay More but You Will Never Buy Better. Freight Paid.

NOBETTER COFFEE

25c Per Lb.

More Sold Than All Other Brand in Northern Ky. Because It's Better. Try It. Freight paid on 20 pound lots or more.

Best Granulated

SUGAR

$4.65 Per 100 Lbs

F. O. B. Covington.

25 lb. box

Fancy New California Evaporated

Peaches $2

When You Buy Seeds

From Hill's You Reach Nearest the Grower.

WRITE FOR PRICES.

New Timothy.
New Red Clover.
New Ky. Blue Grass Seed
New Northwestern Seed
Wheat and Rye.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.

GROCERS & SEEDMEN,
27-29 Pike St. or 26 W. 7th,
Covington, Ky.

Established 1863.

Subscribe for the RECORDER

VACCINATION AGAINST HOG CHOLERA IS NECESSARY IN KENTUCKY

There Are Three Accepted Methods of Immunizing Hogs—Practical Methods of Destroying Carcass—Law Compels Owners to Burn or Bury Hogs That Die From Cholera

(By Robert Graham, D. V. M., Department of Animal Husbandry, Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.)

There are three methods of immunising hogs—the Serum-alone Method, the Serum-simultaneous Method, and the Combination Method.

The Serum-alone Method, as the name implies, consists in injecting only serum into the animal. This is usually injected into the thigh of the hog, or into the neck. This method will protect hogs from taking the disease for a period of from three weeks to three months. The average duration of immunity by this method is about eight weeks. This method should be employed on healthy animals where the disease of hog cholera is already in the herd. It is advisable, also, to use this method on hogs that are kept for short feeding periods, and during extremely warm weather.

The Serum-simultaneous Method consists in injecting the proper amount of serum into one side of the neck of the hog or into one of the hams, simultaneously with a small amount of virus (blood from a hog suffering from cholera) injected into the opposite side of the body. This method of vaccination will protect hogs from the disease of hog cholera for at least six months, and usually for life.—There is a certain amount of danger accompaning this method, for, if there is any infection in the herd in the incubative stage at the time of inoculation, irregular results are liable to follow. The average loss from this method is from one to two per cent. Pregnant sows should not be treated with the Simultaneous Method, if they are as far along as 80 days in pregnancy. They can, however, be given the Serum-alone Method with safety. Pregnant sows should never be thrown when being treated, but they should be held by a rope inserted in the mouth, and they should be vaccinated in the neck.

Method of vaccinating shoat and indicates points of inoculation.

The Combination Method consists in giving serum only, and, in ten or twelve days revaccinating the herd with the Serum-simultaneous Method. This treatment is used by breeders of pure-bred herds, and it diminishes the small loss incident to the Serum-simultaneous Method.

After hogs have been vaccinated they should be given dry, clean quarters in which to sleep. They should be fed a moderate amount of mill feed given in a slop, for a period of eight or ten days. Hogs should never be rung or castrated for at least 15 days after being inoculated.

The dosage of anti-hog cholera serum and virus for hogs of different size is as follows:

Serum.

10 c.c. up to 10 lbs.

15 c.c. for all sizes between 10 and 20 lbs.

20 c.c. for all sizes between 20 and 50 lbs.

30 c.c. for 75 lbs or more than 50 lbs.

40 c.c. for 100 lbs. or more than 75 lbs.

50 c.c. for 150 lgs or more than 100 lbs.

60 c.c. for 200 lbs. or more than 150 lbs.

70 c.c. for 250 lbs. or more than 200 lbs.

80 c.c. for 300 lbs. or more than 250 lbs.

90 c.c. for 400 lbs. or more than 300 lbs.

100 c.c. for more than 400 lbs.

Virus.

½ c.c. for pigs up to 4 weeks of age.

¾ c.c. for pigs 4 weeks to 50 lbs.

1½ c.c. for sizes 50 to 100 lbs.

1 c.c. for sizes 100 lbs and over.

From the above schedule of dosages, the cost of vaccinating any herd, as far as the serum and virus necessary for the inoculation is concerned, can be readily calculated. If a veterinarian is employed to do the work, his fee, of course, will have to be considered in addition to the cost of the serum and virus.

The serum treatment is the best method of combating hog cholera, but along with this, thorough disinfection and cleanliness of the premises is essential. No matter how much serum is used in a herd of hogs, unless the sheds and hog houses are properly disinfected the germs of hog cholera will remain, and thus the infection will be scattered through the surrounding country. One of the best methods of disinfection is by the use of a strong spray pump. All filth and litter should be cleaned away from the house and pens before the disinfectant is used. A five per cent solution of carbolic acid in water is effective in killing cholera germs.

A great many cholera carcasses are left exposed and the buzzards and dogs scatter the infection throughout the country. A law compelling owners to burn or bury all hogs that die from hog cholera is as follows:

"Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

"1. That in all cases where any pig, shoat or hog shall die of the disease commonly called 'hog cholera,' or any other disease, it shall be the duty of the owner or owners of such pig, shoat or hog, or the person or persons having the care or custody of the same having knowledge of the fact or upon receiving notice thereof, to cause the carcass of same to be burned within twelve hours or securely buried two and one-half feet deep.

"2. Any person or persons failing and refusing to comply with the above provisions shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon the conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars.

"Approved by the Governor, March 14, 1912."

Practical method of destroying a carcass.

During the outbreak of cholera some farmers pay little attention to this law, and as none of their neighbors complain to the proper authorities, the law is not enforced. Hogs which die from cholera and are allowed to remain on the ground, will infect a whole community. The above law should be complied with, in order to protect the interests of others.

Burning is the best method of destroying cholera carcass. Two trenches, 13 inches wide, should be dug so that they intersect at right angles. Across the intersection, place iron bars to support the carcass, and wood can be fired in the trench beneath the carcass. To facilitate the destruction of the carcass, coal oil can be poured into the abdominal cavities of the carcasses. This method is much preferred to burying, for there is always danger that the carcass will be removed and brought to the ground surface. When hogs that die from cholera are buried on a farm, there is constant danger of an outbreak of the disease for years after. The great loss from hog cholera in this state will not be checked until these precautions are observed.

CARE OF FARM MACHINERY.

(T. R. Bryant, Superintendent Extension Department, Kentucky Agricultural College.)

The money invested in implements and machinery on the average farm is a large item in the business, but it is astonishing how little attention is paid to its care. Plows are often left in the last furrow or beside it, binders and mowers are left under a tree for months at a time and the consequence is poor service, heavy draft and short life of the machine. For example, we would at least expect a binder to cut 1,000 acres of wheat without actually wearing out, if we had time to do it at one job, and yet the farmer who raises a 50 acre wheat crop rarely uses a binder 20 years. Its life should in reality be much greater. The same rule holds good for other implements.

The lesson to be learned is that machinery rusts out or becomes unsatisfactory more from neglect than from use. A good shed should be provided and all implements should be carefully cleaned, working parts greased and the machine stored after each period of use. During the winter or other convenient time all implements should be gone over and put in perfect repair to avoid vexation when they are to be used again.

Proper attention to such matters will stop a serious financial drain upon the farm and will prevent much worry.

FARMERS' SCHOOL!

—4--DAYS—4—

Burlington, Ky., October 20--23.

For Several years it has been customary to have a one week's Farmers' School at the State University at Lexington every winter. Now these Schools are to be carried to the farmers of those counties that will attend. The work given at the University is carried out with Apparatus, Charts and Lectures given by the best authorities in the country.

There Is No Cost to the Farmers

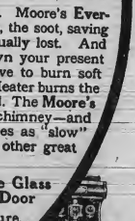
you have only to attend. Boone is one of eleven counties that are having these schools this year. Let us show our interest in progress by attending in hundreds both men and women.

Be There The First Day

Monday, Oct. 20th

At the High School Building.

Have Hard Coal Heat at Soft Coal Cost



No need of your buying hard coal when you heat with Moore stoves. But—it's a waste of money to burn soft coal in a common stove—for 38 per cent. of the heat from soft coal goes up the chimney in the form of smoke and gas, that are dead loss.

Moore's Air-Tight Heater

Gets all the heat value out of soft coal. Moore's Everlasting Firepot burns the gas, the smoke, the soot, saving the 38 per cent. of fuel value that is usually lost. And think of the difference in cost! Cuts down your present fuel bills fully a half. But you don't have to burn soft coal unless you wish—Moore's Air-Tight Heater burns the cheapest slack or best hard coal equally well. The Moore's Dust Flue, which carries all dust up the chimney—and the Air-Tight Draft Control which makes as "slow" or as "fast" a fire as you want—are two other great features you'll appreciate.

Moore's Range With the Glass Oven Door makes cooking and baking a pleasure. Saves work—keeps your kitchen clean—cuts your coal bills in half. We sell them—all styles and sizes.

CROUCH & ROUSE

ERLANGER, KENTUCKY

Our New Money.

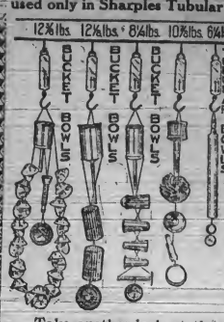
When the new bills that Uncle Sam is now preparing appear our citizens will witness the greatest volution that has ever been made in the size and appearance of paper money in the United States. Each of the 2,000,000,000 notes of that kind now in circulation will be supplemented by uniform pieces of currency about a quarter size smaller than that now used. If the comment occasioned by the establishment of parcel post, rural free delivery and every other innovation Uncle Sam has made in the last twenty years could be rolled into one, it would not bring forth a tenth part of the popular interest that will be manifested when the people realize that each and every piece of paper money is to be changed. That day will sound the doom of the counterfeiter who raises a 1 to a 10, a 10 to a 20, and a 20 to a $500 bill or in fact misrepresent any denomination. The value of the new bills will be apparent on sight.

Any note with Washington's portrait on it will be $1; Jefferson's $2; Lincoln's $5; Grover Cleveland's $10; Alexander Hamilton's $20; Andrew Jackson's $50 Franklin's $100; John Marshall's $500 and so on.

It would then be utterly impossible for a forger to boost a one dollar bill to a ten as is so frequently the case because in a few months after the system has been in vogue every man, woman and child will have learned that Geo. Washington's picture stands for $1 and not for $10.—Ex.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

How Much Seed Corn to Select



When you get into your own cornfield you may see so many good plants bearing good ears that you will just feel like keeping a-going. While you are selecting good seed corn for yourself, select some for your neighbors. They need it to help boost the average yield of corn to over forty bushels per acre. How many rows has an average ear of corn of the variety which you raise? How many kernels per row after tip and butt kernels have been shelled off? How many hills will one ear plant, using three kernels per hill? One acre of corn checked three feet eight inches contains 3,240 hills. If your ear has 600 good kernels, it will plant 200 hills, 3 kernels per hill. At that rate, it would require about 17 ears per acre. Remember, however, that in selecting the corn in the field, you go over it rather hurriedly. When winter comes, and you look the ears over carefully, you will find many that will not suit you. Of those that do suit, a number may not grow strong, unless the corn is properly dried and stored. A good rule is to select twice as many ears from good plants in the field as are needed to plant the required number of acres next year. This allows a very close selection to be made during the winter.—A. C. Arny, Assistant Agriculturist University of Minnesota.

For Sale—Six head of horses and colts Apply to J. D. Mayhugh, Walton, Ky 2-m.

Which Shall Wife Wash?

Which cream separator bowl does the wife prefer to wash?

On the left are four styles of common "bucket bowls" used in ordinary cream separators. On the right is a light, simple, sanitary Sharples Dairy Tubular bowl of the same capacity—used only in Sharples Tubular Separators.

These illustrations were made from actual photographs. Notice the weights—count the pieces. The Sharples Tubular bowl contains but one piece, and that piece is smooth, instantly removable and about the size and shape of a napkin ring. The Tubular bowl can easily be perfectly cleaned in three minutes.

Yet makers of "bucket bowls"—barred by patents from making or using Tubular bowls—say "bucket bowls" are as easy to clean, and wear as long, as Tubular bowls.

Take another look at the picture. Show it to your wife. Which had she rather wash? Which do you think will wear the longest. We sell Sharples Tubular—the finest cream separators and surest money makers made. Bring your wife and look at one.

QUIGLEY & BEEMON

LIMABURG, KY.

Shoe Sale.

Having decided to keep only three makes of Shoes we will sell all our other makes of shoes at cost and below until they are all gone.

$3.50 SHOES Pair, for	$2.60
$3.00 SHOES Pair, for	$2.00
$2.50 SHOES Pair, for	$1.60
$1.50 SHOES Pair, for	98c
And a lot of broken sizes which sold for $2.50, $1.50 and $1, a pair	50c

These are all good shoes worth now what they were selling for. Come and See.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.,

UNION, KENTUCKY.

H. G. BLANTON,

Funeral Director & Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.

First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.

I Have a Nice White Funeral Car and Ambulance,

Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.

Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,

GRANITE & MARBLE

MONUMENTS,

Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.

Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.

Office and Wareroom:

70 and 72 Main Street,

AURORA, IND.

EMA POPE Agent, - - Grant, Ky

J. L. HAMILTON

(Successor to M. T. WILSON)

FUNERAL DIRECTOR,

Verona, Ky.

Telephone calls day or night given prompt attention. Mrs. M. T. Wilson is my assistant and solicits the patronage of the friends of her late husband. dec-1 12

FOR SALE

Complete threshing outfit, including Russell engine, belts, separator, also pony saw mill outfit. This is a good outfit and will be sold cheap. For terms apply to N. E. RIDDELL, Burlington, Ky.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

A Splendid Clubbing Bargain WE OFFER

The Boone Co. Recorder AND The Cincinnati Weekly Enquirer

Both One Year For Only $1.85

Subscriptions may be new or renewal.

What the Weekly Enquirer Is.

It is issued every Thursday, subscription price $1 per year, and it is one of the best home metropolitan weeklies of to-day. It has all the facilities of the great DAILY ENQUIRER for obtaining the world's events, and for that reason can give you all the leading news. It carries a great amount of valuable farm matter, crisp editorials and reliable up-to-date market reports. Its numerous departments make it a home farm or business man.

This grand offer is limited and we advise you to take advantage by subscribing for the above combination right now. Call or mail orders to BOONE CO. RECORDER, Burlington, Ky.

S. Gaines,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

Burlington, Ky.

Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

CHAS. E. GARNETT.

AUCTIONEER.

Will go to any part of the county Address.

R. D. 2, Ludlow, Ky.

DISTRIBUTION OF FUNDS ORDERED

Suits Which Tied Up Burley Pool Proceeds Settled.

DISTRICT BOARD ACTS

More Loose Leaf Sales Houses To Be Established.

SMALL YIELD IS REPORTED

Insurgents Abandon Hope of Influencing Election.

SCHEME TO POOL BANKERS

LEXINGTON, KY.—(Special)—The most important business to be transacted by the District Board of the Burley Tobacco Society and the Burley Tobacco Company, in annual session here, was the adoption of a resolution directing distribution of pool funds remaining in the hands of the society just as soon as an order of court settling forty-five tax suits against the society had been entered. In a statement before the board, one of the attorneys for the organization said that an agreement for settlement of the million dollar litigation had been effected and that the matter would be finally disposed of in two weeks.

Order for Distribution.

Following is the resolution directing distribution of pool funds now in Lexington banks:

"Whereas, the attorneys for the Burley Tobacco Society have reported to the District Board that an agreement has been effected with the Auditor's agent for the State-at-Large, for the adjustment of the various tax proceedings against the Burley Tobacco Society, and that these various suits will be finally disposed of within the next ten days or two weeks, and,

"Whereas, said attorneys have also reported to the District Board that there are no other suits now pending in any court which interfers with a distribution to the poolers of the balance in the hands of the society to the credit of the poolers in the 1907 and 1909 pools.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, That the officers of the society be and they now are hereby directed to distribute the balance belonging to said poolers immediately upon the final adjustment of said tax suits."

New Loose Leaf Markets.

Another resolution to be adopted authorized the Executive Committee to improve warehouse properties at Georgetown, Harrodsburg, Mt. Sterling, Owenton, Falmouth, Brooksville, Augusta, Milton, Eminence and Pleasureville, and to establish loose leaf markets at such places as they might find to be advantageous.

The resolution follows:

"Whereas, the election of the board of the Burley Tobacco Company has by order of the Kenton Circuit Court been postponed from the 7th day of October, 1913, and fixed for the 6th day of November, 1913, and,

"Whereas, it is deemed absolutely essential for the welfare of the Burley Tobacco Company and the interests of the stockholders that certain warehouse properties of the company be improved and loose leaf markets established at new points, and it is further necessary to immediately make arrangements for the employment of managers to conduct these warehouse properties of the company for the ensuing year, and

"Whereas, in the written opinion handed down by that branch of the Kenton Circuit Court over which Judge B. F. Tracy presides, and the branch of the Kenton Circuit Court over which Judge M. Harbeson presides, both of said judges have held that the present acting board of the Burley Tobacco Company are the de facto officers of the Burley Tobacco Company.

Location of Properties.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, That in the judgment of the members of the District Board that the warehouse properties now owned by the Burley Tobacco Company at the following points, to-wit:

"Georgetown, Harrodsburg, Mt. Sterling, Owenton, Falmouth, Brooksville, Augusta, Milton, Eminence and Pleasureville should be improved and further developed, and that a loose leaf market should be established at said places and possibly at Elizabethtown and other points in Kentucky, and,

"Be it further resolved, That the Executive Committee of the Burley Tobacco Company are hereby authorized to improve and develop said properties and to establish such loose leaf market or markets."

A motion was passed directing the Executive Committee to revise the charter of the Burley Tobacco Company and also prepare by-laws, the same to be submitted to the District Board at a meeting to be called prior to the election, November 6th.

Sixty Per Cent. Yield.

The major part of the session was devoted to reports of the condition of the crop. An average yield of sixty per cent of normal for the thirty-four counties represented at the meeting was reported. As to quality, eight reported poor, four mixed, four fair, seventeen good and one, Trimble, excellent.

In their reports members also discussed the demand for proxies to be voted by committees at the election to be held here next month, and also activities of enemies.

A summary of reports showed the bulk of the stock to be represented in proxies that already have been signed, and the "Dissolutionists" active only in two counties. Fayette County was one of four which promised a solid vote in favor of the present administration. Harrison County and Montgomery County reported one grower each who refused to give proxies to the regularly constituted committee.

It was also predicted that Pendleton County would give a ninety per cent endorsement of the present management of the Burley Tobacco Company.

Kehoe Fails Appointment.

It was at Falmouth that Mr. J. N. Kehoe, titular head of the warring faction, failed to fill a widely advertised engagement to make the second speech of his campaign for president of the Burley Company, and a following claimed in that section is said to have forsaken the insurgent banner after a speech by President LeBus to the audience which his opponent had disappointed. The general opinion among members of the District Board was that the opposition had abandoned all pretense of influencing the coming election, but entertained hopes of secretly buying enough stock within the next year to control. It was reported that overtures had been made by insurgent leaders to numerous bankers to become covert stock buyers. In several instances it was said bankers were being condemned by farmers for giving sympathy to a program threatening the foundations of their organization.

Appeal to Loyalty.

Before the session adjourned President LeBus addressed the members briefly, urging them to be zealous in loyalty to the organization at a time when enemies were active, and to lose no opportunity to refute slanders and misrepresentations to which certain opponents had resorted. He said stockholders should be urged to hold on to their stock, which was bound to be valuable when hostile interests had been finally defeated. Remaining in the hands of the farmer meant much for the welfare of the organization. However, in case where stockholders were bent on disposing of their holdings, he said members of the District Board should appeal to them to sell to supporters of the cause and not to enemies.

EXCHANGE ECHOES.

The present low stage of Stoner creek, which is the lowest in thirty years, reveals an old dam which crosses the stream at a point below the cleaning plant of E. F. Spears & Son. Many citizens are taking advantage of the opportunity to view the remains of the ancient structure, which only once before in almost a century has been visible.—Paris News.

** **

One of the greatest nuisances of the fall season to people in town is the immense flocks of blackbirds that come every evening to roost in the trees. The campus of the Kentucky College for Women seems to be one of their favorite places and thousands of them gather there late every afternoon, keeping up a ceaseless chatter until dark.—Danville Advocate.

** **

If the people of the crowded districts of our large cities could see and drink the pure water from the seven springs at Whitley City, they would leave the smoky dirty districts in which they live and come here to live, where they could have pure water and breath the pure, free air among the pines —Whitley City Banner.

** **

Geo. Wilson, of near Burika, is the first grower in Robertson Co. to sell his 1913 crop of tobacco. Mike Berry, of Nicholas, is the purchaser, and the price paid was 20 cents. This is the highest price ever paid for a crop first sold in this county since the weed has been grown here. There are a number of farmers who want 25 cents for their crops.—Mt. Olivet Tribune Democrat.

Col. Roosevelt is going to South America and the animals in that part of the country may be expected to take to the woods.—Louisville Post.

—o—

One of these day Louisiana may discover as to cotton what Kentucky is learning about tobacco, that devotion to one crop is suicidal.—Louisville Times.

—o—

We are glad to learn that there is a large persimmon crop as we can with this fruit draw our stomachs to suit our short food supply.—Elizabethtown News.

—o—

An editor who started out twenty-five years ago with a capital of fifty-five cents is now worth $100,000. He accumulated this fortune by thrift, frugality, strict attention to business and the fact that an uncle died and left him $99,999.—Hodgensville Herald.

—o—

Secretary Bryan announced Saturday that his Chautauqua season had closed with $8,500 to the good for him. With this supplement to his $12,000 salary, which he said he could not only live on, he may be able to pull thru the winter, if it is not very long and cold.—Richmond Climax.

—o—

It is nearly a hunared and forty years since the umbrella first made its appearance. It takes only a few minutes for it to make its disappearance after a fellow stands it up in a corner somewhere. The umbrella is generally regarded as common property, to take which one is always at liberty and always excusable for failure to return it.—Maysville Public Ledger.

—o—

The poor old bachelor gets but little consideration from the world at large. No matter what the reasons of his bachelordom, the blame is always placed on him, and he is told that he ought to have married, no matter what the considerations were. Congress has taken a slap at him by making him pay an income tax on all income in excess of three thousand dollars per year, whereas a married man may enjoy a four thousand dollar income without dividing up with Uncle Sam.—Bowling Green Messenger.

It is natural for some women to act unnatural.

START OF POSTAL SERVICE

First Attempt at System Began in England as Far Back as the Year 1635.

How many of us know that the post office began to exist in the year 1635? Special messengers and the common carrier were till then the only means of communication.

After that date a horse post carried letters along the great roads into the different parts of England, those who lived near these roads hurrying out at the sound of the postman's horn. And the remote byways were not neglected.

If one desired to send a letter to some remote town in Yorkshire, one went to Ludgate, then to the Bell Savage in, close by, and there intrusted it to the carrier for the country in question. The messenger from London would not penetrate into byways. Each country had its system of footposts, which linked the outlying districts with its chief towns and with the great high roads. The London courier, pressing on to his terminus, was relieved of packets for remote regions by the local postman, who, in turn, passed them on from hand to hand to their destination. In somewhat similar fashion, though less regularly and smoothly, letters inland were carried over the long and tedious journey to the hands for which they were laboriously indited.

NAMES THAT REALLY SUITED

Child Found No Trick at All to Alter the Cognomens of Her Two Pets.

When little Dorothy's papa's friend presented to little Dorothy, on her birthday, two tiny, aristocratic, white, fluffy balls of angora kittens, she named them on the spot Duke and Duchess. Time passed and the kittens grew into cats and then there came an event. Duke became the mother of four new kittens.

"This will never do, my dear," said little Dorothy's mamma. "You must find other names for your cats. What will you call them?"

Little Dorothy did not answer at once. Instead she pondered over the matter all day. Just before bedtime she went to her mother with the air of one whose mind has been relieved of a great weight.

"I know what I'll call them, mamma," she said. "It's quite simple. I'll call the one that I first named Duke —the mother-cat—I'll call Marmaduke, and I'll call the one I first named Duchess—the papa-cat—I'll call him Ben Hur."

Biggest Pair of Tusks.

In the stables of the royal palace at Mandalay, in Burmah, there may be seen an elephant with a remarkable pair of tusks, which the Burmese declare are the largest in the world, says the Wide World Magazine. These gigantic tusks measure as much as seven feet nine inches on the outside curve, with a greatest circumference of no less than seventeen inches.

To naturalists the most extraordinary point about these tusks, which are still being carried by their owner, is that they virtually touch the ground and almost meet. Apparently, however, their owner experiences no inconvenience from these long and cumbrous appendages while taking exercise.

As a zoological curiosity the elephant has naturally attracted wide attention, and it is said that several offers have already been received for the tusks when the animal should see fit to depart this world.

That Uplifted Feeling.

One of the things which "every woman knows" is that feeling of elation produced by putting on beautiful clothes, or even some eccentricity, provided it is of the newest fashion. Probably men—who are singularly like women in these highly civilized days—are perked up by a new tie or exhilarated by a fancy waistcoat, only they do not talk about these mysteries as much as women do.

But love of finery has a deep psychic meaning, and according to one of our leading brain specialists there is "an emotional accompaniment of elation following the putting on of a pretty garment"—a rather pompous way of saying what every feminine thing, from the fat baby who rejoiced over her coral necklace to the grandmother who sticks a pink bow in her lace cap, is intensely aware of.

Clergymen as Playwrights.

In Garrick's time the church had a decided leaning toward the stage. The great actor suffered a plague of stage-struck clergymen. He read many of their plays and produced at least one. Rev. Edward Young of Welwyn parish and of "Night Thoughts" fame wrote the tragedy of "The Two Brothers," which Garrick produced. Its reception was a tragedy. It "was only fit to make an ice house of a theater." Young, however, had counted his chickens—he had promised £1,000—the expected proceeds of his author's rights—to the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. And here he shone. He dipped deeply into his private purse and made up the thousand.

Bad Judgment.

"There is one discordant note in your garden, my dear madam," remarked the esthetic landscape architect.

"What is that?" asked the lady, much alarmed.

"I notice," he replied, with a shudder, "that you have a dogwood planted near some puasy-willows."

Notice Taxpayers.

The Taxpayers of Boone County are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the places and on the dates named below to collect the 1913 taxes:

Beaver, July 8th and Oct. 1.
Verona, July 9th, and Oct. 2d.
Walton, July 10, and Oct. 3d.
Bullittsville, July 11 and Oct 18.
Constance, July 14th and Oct. 8.
Union, July 15 and Oct. 9th.
Big Bone, July 16 and Oct. 10.
Petersburg, July 17 and Oct. 13.
Belleview, July 18 and Oct. 14.
Florence, July 21 and Oct. 15.
Rabbit Hash, July 22 and Oct. 16.
Hebron, October 17th.
Gunpowder, October 20th.
Richwood, October 21st.

RATES—State 50c; County 25c; School 20c on the $100. Poll-tax County $1.50; School $1; Dog tax $1.00.

All unpaid taxes become delinquent after Nov. 30th. Six per cent penalty, due County and State, added Dec. 1st on all delinquent taxes; six per cent commission in addition to penalty is allowed Sheriff for collecting delinquent taxes. Cost of levy 60c, advertising $1.00. Delinquent taxes bear Six per cent interest from Nov. 30th until paid.

On account of retiring from office January 1st, 1914, the delinquent list will be advertised in December instead of January.

B. B. HUME, S. B. C.

B. S. O'NEAL,

AUCTIONEER,

VERONA, - KENTUCKY.

Your Order is Solicited.

For Sale or Rent.

One Hundred and Eight and Two-Third Acres of Land, at the mouth of Gunpowder creek in this county; the best hog farm in Northern Kentucky. For further particulars call on or address Erastus Rice, Rising Sun, Indiana, or S. D. Rice, Grant, Ky., R. D. 1.

Eggs and Baby Chicks For Sale

Single Comb Rhode Island Reds.
Single Comb Black Minorcas—fine layers. Best selected Stock, purest Strain.
Eggs $1.00 for 15.
Baby Chicks 10 cents each.
Address
Mrs. JOSEPH A. HUEY,
Richwood, Ky.
Phone—Beaver 163. mch27tf

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN,

DENTIST

will be at Burlington on the first and second Monday, and in Union on the third and fourth Monday of each month, prepared and qualified to practice according to the latest methods extracting teeth painless.

All work guaranteed.

Rogers Bros. General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade.

DR. B. W. STALLARD

with DR. SHOBER'S

QUEEN CITY DENTISTS,

Nos. 43-49 W. Fifth Ave.,

CINCINNATI, - - OHIO.

F. J. HENN. M. M. HUSCHART.

LAWRENCEBURG

Granite and Marble Works

Manufacturers of and Dealers in

Fine American and Imported Monuments.

Cemetery Work of Every Description Promptly and Carefully Attended to.

Lawrenceburg, Indiana.

D. M. SNYDER, Agt., Burlington, Ky.

For Sale.

Store property in Burlington.
Mrs. Dudley Rouse.

Starters of Good Roads.

If highways are an evolution from the primary paths made by animals and men the first road-makers did not make their paths straight certainly, and many a road today is a monument to the leaders in roadmaking of the long ago. Nevertheless it is said that some animals, the buffalo especially, were pretty fair engineers. They had an eye for grade, which cannot be said of some of their successors. In the west engineers hunting pathways for railroads are said to have largely followed buffalo trails.

Word has been received of the establishment of a new world's milk record for Jersey cows by Eminent's Boss, owned in Houghton County, Mich. Her yearly record under the supervision of the Michigan Agricultural College, shows a production of 18,783 lbs. of milk, tesing 1,32 pounds, nine ounces of butter fat. The former record held by Jacoba Irene, was 17,258 pounds of milk.

Take your County Paper.

FIFTY-SECOND SEMI-ANNUAL STATEMENT OF THE

Boone County Deposit Bank

Burlington, Kentucky

At Close of Business December 31, 1912.

RESOURCES.		LIABILITIES.
Loans, Bonds, &c.	$170,858.50	Capital Stock	$ 30,000.00
Overdrafts	52.81	Surplus	45,000.00
Due from Banks	38,391.04	Undivided Profits, &c	7,581.49
Cash	7,711.80	Deposits	136,591.35
Banking House, &c.	3,000.00	Due Banks	841.31
Total	$220,014.15	Total	$220,014.15

A Bank that is going after business, and going in the right way.

HOW? By promptness in serving its customers.
By courteous attention to their banking needs.
By readiness in meeting their requirements, and, above all
By perfect security of the funds intrusted to its care, having over $100.000.00 to secure depositors.

We have the largest Capital and Surplus of any Bank in this county, and are amply able to accommodate our patrons, and are willing at all times to afford them every accommodation justified by the rules of good and safe banking, whether their accounts are large or small.

N. E. RIDDELL, President. J. C. REVILL, Cashier.

J. F. KIESWETTER,

RUGS MADE of OLD CARPETS

Compressed Air Carpet Cleaning.
TELEPHONE SOUTH 21.
250 PIKE STREET,

Covington, - - - Ky.

M. RIDDELL, Agent, Burlington, Ky.

ADAMS

A New Victrola $75

A Cabinet Style Victrola combining a record cabinet for only $75.00. Same perfect, mellow tone quality of the most expensive Victrola, same elegant finish.

Easy Monthly Payments.

A. ADAMS,

15 Pike Street,
Covington, - - Ky.

The Cincinnati Grain Co.

HAVE OPENED THEIR NEW HOUSE AT ERLANGER, KY.

FREE PHONE ERLANGER 49

Handle Hay, Grain, Flour and Feed of all Kinds.
Will Also Buy Your Wheat, Rye, Etc.

Special Notice—We are selling at city prices, consequently can save you the long haul from Covington and Cincinnati.

GIVE US A TRIAL

FARM MOTORS

For Pumping, Operating Churns, Saws, Corn Shredders, Filling Silos, Etc.

Last a Lifetime. From 1½ to 25 h. p. $33 and up. Ready To Run.

Direct Factory Representatives

SPENCER-HARTLIEB CO.

316-318 MAIN STREET
CINCINNATI, OHIO.
Phone, 1810 Main

Read Our Big Combination Offer.

PUBLIC SALE $67,000

WORTH OF MEN'S AND BOYS' CLOTHING

Must Be Turned Into Cash at Once

Our ENTIRE STOCK of clothing in our COVINGTON AND NEWPORT STORES including our BEST, NEWEST and LATEST Styles all must be sold within the next 10 days.

AS HERE ADVERTISED. ◄► Sale Now Going On.

Be on time and bring this advertisement so you can easily check up what you want right here in our stores. We advise you to come early as some of these goods advertised in this sale are only small quantities and surely can't last long at these prices.

Levine Bros. & Co.

Men's and Boys' and New Up-to-Date Clothing Even Less Than Cost to Manufacture

Men's All Wool Suits—Worth $10.00. These suits would make you a good suit for Sunday and a dandy for every day, in this sale at.....$5.83

$7.50 Men's Suits only $3.95. Most of these suits are all wool and sizes to fit any man measuring from 35 to 42 breadth. You better get them while you can only.....$3.95

Men's High Grade Trousers—Made of cloth that cost up to $4 per yard. Think of that. This would make these trousers retail for about $8.00 per pair. For quick selling we have marked them down to $3.95

$3.50 Men's Corduroy Pants Only $1.95—We have on hand about 1000 pairs of men's corduroy pants cut extra large to the size in both dark and light colors. Our orders are to sell them at once; take your pick $1.95

Men's Trousers—Finest assortment of men's and young men's good working trousers ever shown, all $1 25 and $1.50 values, go into this ferocious price slaughter of only....95c

Men's All Wool Overcoats only $9.95—These overcoats are made of the very finest of all wool materials, made with the shawl collar and belt backs. The workmanship the best that can be had in ready made garments. These same overcoats are sold elsewhere from $18.00 up, while they last.....$9.95

Boys Suits at $1.98—That are made of extra fine material in all sizes from 4 to 17 sale price only.....$1.98

Men's Suits—Suits of the better kind of Suits that we bought to sell this fall for $12 all go into this sale at this ridiculously low price of only $7.83

Special Notice

Only the very latest 1913 and 1914 Fall and Winter Styles in Men's and Boys' Suits, Overcoats, Cravenettes, Hats, Caps and Furnishing Goods will be offered in this sale at such prices never before and perhaps never again heard of.

NOTICE Any purchase made in this sale that should prove unsatisfactory will be cheerfully exchanged or money refunded. Levine Bros, Covington & Newport.

All Goods Must be Sold as Advertised.
Your Money Back if Not Satisfactory
LEVINE BROS, Covington & Newport

Notice WE will have plenty of Extra Sales People on hand to handle the enormous crowds expected to handle in our stores.

Boys' Suits at $2.48—Boys' suits worth $4.00 and made in both Norfolk and doubtle-breast styles in sizes up to 18. Pants are made full peg top. Closing out price only.....$2.48

Boys' Suits at $1.48—All our $2.00 and $2.50 boys' suits including even our latest shipments all go into this sale at this low price of only...$1.48

Boys' Overcoats $3.98—Seven hundred boys' overcoats bought to sell for $6.00, $7.00, $8.00 and $10.00, all made with convertable colars and guaranteed all wool throughout. Get them while you can. Only...$3.98

Choice of the Finest Suits in Our Stores—Including our best they embody all the latest styles and are made of the best materials that can be had. Sizes to fit everybody all go in this sale at this ridiculously low price of only.....$15.98

Men's $20 Suits Only $12.73—We have in our two stores about 500 of these suits and everyone was bought to sell this fall and winter of 1913 and 1914. None carried over from last season. In this lot you will find the newest tan Chesterfield Diagonals, all wool, blue and fancy serges and many beautiful cassimeres all go in this sale. Nothing reserved, at your choice, only...$12.73

Suits $9.95—Just as good and better than those sold for $18 and up elsewhere. Our orders are to sell them at once. Take your pick of some of the latest fall styles made of high grade materials only.....$9.95

Men's Odd Coats $1.89—Left over from the suits sold up to $7.50. These coats are just the thing for everyday use, and only $1.89

$7.50 Men's Overcoats Only $3.95

In any size from 34 to 44. Now Mr. Man here is your chance to buy a fine Overcoat at even less than you could by the cloth to make it, only $3.95

$15.00 Men's Over'oats Only $7.83

These Overcoats are actually worth $15, they are made with the Shawl or Astrichain Collars, in size to fit everybody, from 34 to 44 breast, choice $7.83

Boys' Suits at $3.48—These suits were bought to sell this fall for $5 00 and $6.00 each. The lot consists mostly of Norfolk suits in all wool goods, only.....$3.48

Men's Overcoats at $5.95—These overcoats were bought to sell this winter for $10.00. We must sell them at once regardless of cost. We advise you to be on time and get the first pick, as these fine coats can't last long at this price $5.95

Notice—All merchandise in this sale is the very newest and latest styles. There are quite a number of items we have on our tables and are too numerous to mention in this advertisement Levine Bros.

$2.00 Men's Corduroy Pants Only 95 Cents—One lot of men's corduroy pants mostly all sizes sold the world over at $2.00 in this sale you can buy them for.....95c

$2.50 Men's Pants only $1.45—Just think of buying an extra good pair of working pants made good and strong at such a low price of only.....$1.45

Never Before

Was there ever such fine MERCHANDISE ever offered at these rediculously low prices as we have put on these goods for this SALE just think you can buy a Suit or Overcoat now for less than end of season prices.

Notice to Our Out of Town Patrons.

We will give mail orders prompt attention. We will deliver by parcel post any article purchased through this advertisement. LEVINE BROS.

Boys Overcoats only $4.98—Made with belts around the coat, all wool high grade materials. Sale price only..$4.98

Men's $20 Overcoats Only $12.75—In this lot you will find the finest grade of chinchilla coats in light and dark shades also a dandy selection of fine beaver cloth overcoats all go in this sale. Nothing reserved, only.....$12.75

Finest Overcoat in Our Stores Only $14.75—In order to turn these goods into cash at once our orders are to sell regardless of cost, any of the highest priced overcoats in our stores, reserve none, only.....$14.75

Men's Pants $1.95—These same pants are sold for $3 and up elsewhere. We have at our stores 1000 to select from and mostly all neat and dark shades Only.....$1.95

Men's All Wool Trousers at ..... $2.45, 2.95 & 3.45.

3.000 Pairs All-Wool Trousers Assorted Into Three Lots.

Lot No. 1---Consists of extra fine all-wool trousers, neatly tailored in peg top styles made with side buckles, tunnel belt loops and flaps on both hip pockets, take your choice at..... $2.45

Lot No. 2---In this lot you have the largest selection to pick from, all wool blue serges and fancy worsteds is what this list consists of mostly, making the very best that can be had in ready made trousers at a price even less than cost to manufacture, only..... $2.95

Lot No. 3---This is the greatest of them all, the product of America's finest pants makers you will find in this lot, all go into this ferocious slaughter at only..... $3.45

5c Men's White Hemstitched Handkerchiefs—Large size, positively no more than five to a customer, only.....1c Each

50c Heavy Fleeced Lined Underwear only 37c—Men's heavy fleeced underwear in any size from 34 to 46. Shirt or drawers, only.....35c

Men's Heavy Sweater Coats Only 39 cents---Men's heavy sweater coats in brown, blue, white and maroon, in sizes from 34 to 46. Sale price only 39c

Men's all Yarn Sox only 19c Men's heavy all wool sox, regularly priced at 25 cents per pair. Our price in this sale only 19c

15c Men's Bow Ties only 8c---Men's high grade bow ties in this sale only.....8c

50c Men's Suspenders only 29c—Men's extra fine quality suspenders, best made to retail for 50 cents. Sale price..29c

Men's Flannel Shirts 45 Cents---Men's flannel shirts, sizes from 14½ to 17. Sale price only 45c

Men's Extra Good Quality Suspenders---Made of fine elastic webing, sale price only..5c

50c Heavy Ribbed Underwear---Men's extra good quality ribbed underwear in cream, black and blue. Sale price only..39c

Boys' $1.00 Sweater Coats Only 59c---Boy's extra good quality sweater coats in many different colors, Sale price only 59c

25c Men's Merrine Wool Sox only 12½ Cents---Men's fine Merrine wool hose in sizes 9½ to 11½. Sale price only...12½c

25c Shield Teck Ties only 10c---One lot of fine silk Shield teck ties in sale. We have marked them at.....10c

10c Bandana Handkerchiefs---Men's extra large size red or blue bandana handkerchiefs, in this sale only.....5c

25c Men's Suspenders only 17c---Men's high grade suspendfine webs. Only.....15c

Men's $1.00 and $1.50 Shirts Only 79 Cents---Men's shirts, pleated or negligee, any size from 14 to 17. A large selection. Your choice, only..79c

$2.00 Hats Only 79 Cents---One lot of men's cloth hats, newest fall styles, take your choice, only.....79c

$1.00 Underwear only 69c---Wool texture underwear sold for $1.00 per garment the world over. Our price in this sale only.....69c

Men's High Grade Sweaters Coats only 98 cents---Men's sweater coats made with the shawl collar, all sizes, only 98c

15c Sox only 9 Cents---Men's extra heavy black sox just the thing for those who do not care to wear wool sox, only.....9c

50c Men's Negligee Shirts only 35 Cents---Men's shirts formerly sold at 50 cents, neat patterns to pick from, only 35c

50c Crocheted Ties Only 29c---Men's extra fins quality knitted fourinhand ties, beautiful patterns. Sale price only.29c

10c Bow Ties Only 5c---Boys' neat bow ties, made of pure silk. Take your choie in this sale at.....5c

5c Bordered Handkerchiefs—Men's hemstiched handker chiefs with fancy border effects only.....2½

10c Men's Sox---In black, blue tan, gray, purple, lavender, etc., in this sale per pair only 5c

$1.50 All Wool Underwear only 89 Cents---Men's all wool red or natural wool underwear, extra good quality shirts or drawers in all sizes, only..89c

$2.50 Men's All Wool Sweater Coats only $1.49---All wool men's sweater coats made with V neck or military collar, sale price.....$1.49

25c Men and Boys' Ear Lap Caps 19 Cents---25c men's and boys' ear lap caps, all wool and all sizes too, sale price only 19c

15c Men's Extra Good Quality Grey Mixed Work Sox---Only.....7c

$1.50 Men's Union Suits Only 89c---Men's Union Suits, fleeced lined or ribbed, in any size from 34 to 46, Sale price only.....89c

50c Boys' Sweater Coats Only 39 cents---Boys' sweater coats, extra heavy, you can use them in the place of a coat, only.39c

25c Boys' Waists Only 19c---Boys' Blouse waists in sizes 6 to 16, neat patterns. In this sale take your choice.....19c

25c Men's Mercerized Silk Sox---Mercerized high grade silk sox in black, brown, blue, navy and lavender. Sale price only.....19c

5c Bandana Handkerchiefs---Men's red or blue bandana handkerchiefs, fast colors. Only.....2½c

$3.50 Men's All Wool Sweaters Coats Only $1.98---With the V neck or the shawl collar. These coats come in many beautiful shades. Sale price only.....$1.98

Boys' Heavy Fleeced Underwear Only 19c---Boys' heavy fleeced underwear, shirts or drawers any size from 23 to 34 Sale price.....19c

50c Boys' Waists Only 39c---Boys' fine Neckband blouse waists in neat pin stripes, sale price only 39c

15c Boys' Suspenders Only 8c---Boys' fine suspenders, extra good quality, elastic. Sale price only.....8c

$2.00 Men's Pajamas only 98c---Men's high grade flannel pajamas. Sale price only..98c

Men's Canvas Gloves, Fleece Lined---Sale price only.....5c

Boys' Heavy Fleeced Union Suits, only 39c---Buy them now, you can't buy them at the end of the season for this price. Only.....39c

Men's All Wool Jersey Sweaters Only $1.39---They come blue, black and white. Sale price only.....$1.39

Men's All Wool Flannel Shirts--Sizes 14 to 18, blue, grey and brown. Only.....98c

In Our Covington Store Only

We place on sale our entire stock of Men's and Boys' Up-to-Date shoes and Oxfords, the well known brands we carry such as W. L. Douglas, The Knox and the St. Reges Shoe all go in this ferocious price slaughter POSITIVELY NOTHING RESERVED.

$2.50 Men's Heavy Work Shoes.....$1.99
$3.50 and $4 Douglas Shoes, only.....$2.99
$2.50 W. L. Douglas Shoes, only.....$1.99
Men's High Top Work Shoes.....$2.50
$3.50 and $4.00 Knox Shoes in black or tan, button or blucher. Sale Price Only.....$2.99
$2.50 Boys' Shoes, button or blucher. Only....$1.39
Here is the chance of your lifetime 150 pairs of mens shoes teat sold from $3.50 to $4. These are odd and ends, we guarantee them. Sale Price Only..... $1.49

LEVINE BROS

538 Madison Ave. Covington, Ky 807 Monmouth St., Newport, Ky

If you live miles away it will pay you Big to attend this Great Sale as the prices we have on this new and up-to-date clothing are reduced and torn to bits, be on time.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXXVIIII. Established 1876. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1913. $1.50 Per Year. NO. 4.

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

IDLEWILD.

B. B. Grant is having a model dairy barn built.

Jas. Brown and R. C. Gaines each lost a valuable horse, last week.

Berard Gaines and Mrs. Gaines are home from a pleasant visit to Oxford, Ohio.

Mrs. J. T. McWethy, of Petersburg, spent Sunday with her daughter, Mrs. T. E. Randall.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben H. Berkshire passed here Saturday in their machine enroute to Oxford, Ohio, to visit their daughter, Mrs. Stanley Barnes Palmer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Asbury went to Limaburg, Wednesday, to attend the wedding of Miss Rosalee Stephenson, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Stephenson, and Mr. Sidney Ambrose, of Gallatin county.

Mrs. N. S. Walton's dining, Wednesday, in honor of her house guest, Mrs. Laura Scott Chambers, of Petersburg, was a very pleasant affair. Mrs. J. T. Gaines and Mrs. Courtney Walton also entertained in Mrs. Chambers' honor.

LIMABURG.

Mrs. Effie Souther and daughter visited Mrs. Amanda Tanner, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stephenson entertained their daughter, from Beavery, last week.

Mrs. Della Utz left for her home in Lexington, Thursday after a visit with friends and relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Beemon entertained Mrs. Della Utz, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Tanner and little daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Conrad and sons with a dinner, last Sunday.

The prettiest event of the season was the wedding of Miss Rosylyee Stephenson and Mr. Sidney Ambrose. The wedding was a pretty home affair and a large number of friends and relatives of the bride were invited. The bride was arrayed in a beautiful blue silk dress, and carried an armful of roses. The groom was dressed in conventional black. They were joined in wedlock at 2 o'clock sharp and left immediately for Mr. Ambrose's home in Gallatin county. The many friends of the bride wish them a long and happy life.

NORTH BEND.

Mrs. Ora Ogden was shopping in North Bend, Saturday.

Miss Lizzie Bohman is improving slowly.

Mr. Jas. Wortford is the first in this neighborhood to husk any corn.

Mr. Walter Seaman has returned from Iowa, where he played ball this season.

Several from this neighborhood attended the fish fry at North Bend, Saturday night.

Mrs. Jas. Wortford and Mrs. Lewis Fogle visited relatives at Ashby Fork, last Wednesday.

Mrs. Cora Clayton and little son, Cecil, of Hebron, were guests of Mrs. Lewis Fogle, Saturday.

Miss Stella Brown and Mr. Russell Finn, were Sunday guests of Miss Lottie Brown, of Francesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Carr, of Cynthiana, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fogle, several days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Cropper spent several days last week with their daughter, Mrs. Carlton Crisler, of Walnut Hills.

Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Houston and little daughter, Neoma, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Wortford, Saturday night and Sunday.

GUNPOWDER.

J. W. Utz is numbered among the sick.

H. F. Utz, of Devon, was here on business on Thursday of last week.

W. H. Smith and wife visited at Erlanger last Monday, guests of P. O. Griffin and wife.

E. H. Blankenbeker is having several houses painted. Mr. Ryle, of Latonia, is doing the painting act.

Sheriff B. B. Hume met the tax payers here last Monday and quite a number respond ed to his call.

For Sale—A few black pure bred Minorca hens or pullets. Apply to Mrs. J. H. Aylor, near Gunpowder.

Some nice showers of rain fell here last Friday and Sunday, which were quite a relief to a great many who were out of water.

L. H. Busby is repairing his residence. The foundation gave way causing the wall to crack so badly it was necessary to tear a portion of it down and rebuild it. Mr. Mark, of Crescent Springs, is doing the work.

Ed. Bentham, who is attending college at Springfield, Ohio, visited friends here from Saturday until Monday. He is pleased with his surroundings and speaks highly of Wittenburg college as an institution of learning.

FLICKERTOWN.

Lewis Sullivan Sundayed with C. J. Hensley.

Alice White visited Lencetta Hensley, Sunday.

F. M. Voshell and family dined at B. F. Akins, Sunday.

James Gaines and family visited near the hub, Sunday.

Foster Hensley and family visited Ben Hensley and family, Sunday.

Clifford Cook and family, of Grant county, are visiting at Ben Hensley's.

C. L. Voshell and son, Pernal, of Indiana, called on F. M. Voshell, Wednesday night.

Henry North and a Mr. Weise, of Ohio, were here one day last week and bought several milch cows.

Mrs. Mary Lonaker lost her pocketbook, Sunday. It contained $2.00 and a key. Anyone finding same will kindly return same to her.

PLEASANT HILL.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Clore spent Sunday at Mr. Pink Neal's.

Mrs. J. T. Stamper spent Sunday with Mrs. Owen Blankenbeker.

Tom Bradford, wife and son, Russell, visited at Chas. Abdon's, Sunday.

Owen McMullen and wife spent Sunday with Newton York and mother.

Rev. C. E. Baker held services at Owen McMullen's, last Saturday night.

Owen McMullen went to the city, last Monday, and bought a good work horse.

Miss Bertha Mullens, of Burlington, spent Saturday night and Sunday with home folks.

Mrs. Grace McMullen spent from Friday until Sunday with her sister, Mrs. E. F. Baker, of Covington.

Harry Wilson and wife, Mr. Leonard Rouse and daughter, Miss Nettie, dined at R. O. Rouse's, Sunday.

A much needed rain fell here Sunday night, as some were out of both drinking water and water for stock.

Good roads will be a thing of the past, and everybody will have the turnpike fever from now until spring.

Harry Rouse, Miss Ella Adams and Miss Lucy Stephenson, of Union, attended services at Owen McMullen's, Saturday night.

Oscar Beemon, wife and daughters, of French, Ind., spent from Friday until Sunday with his sister, Mrs. E. Beemon and family.

Geo. Garrison and mother and brother, Alvin, returned from Lexington, last Tuesday, where they visited Mrs. Garrison's daughter, Mrs. Haden Young. They made the trip in their auto.

PETERSBURG.

Fine opening here for a good butcher.

Hon. J. W. Berkshire continues to improve.

The Odd-Fellows' new building is ready for the roof.

Henry Gordon and family, of Louisville, are visiting here.

C. L. Hensley, of Lincoln county, is here visiting his relatives.

Steve Burns and wife, of Buttsville, spent Sunday here with his father.

Marion Bruce will have a sale of livestock farm produce, etc., on the 30th.

Good prices prevailed at the sale of Mr. Calvert's household goods last Saturday.

The minister failed to arrive last Sunday and there were no services at the Christian church.

Mr. Furguerson and family will reside in what is known as the Loder property on Front street, he having purchased the same.

The trustees are adding much to the looks of the cemetery by having the driveways and aisles cleaned.

Hope that the rain falling at this writing will result in a coal rise for there are many bins without a lump.

Capt. Aiden has had the mail carried by a Lawrenceburg gasoline tug since the Pauline has been out of commission.

F. W. Kassabaum, of Aurora, Indiana, will erect a monument on Joseph Mahan's lot, and one at the head of Mrs. Mary Snyder's grave.

B. B. Hume was here on the 13th collecting taxes, and took about all the money out of town. We are always glad to meet him except on such occasion.

Chas. J. Sebree, about 60, died last Saturday afternoon after an illness of about ten months of dropsy and other diseases. He was born and raised on Woolper creek and was married twice, his first wife having been dead several years. He is survived by his last wife, who was Miss Ruth Lorrie, of Ghent. Five of his seven daughters by his first wife also survive him, two of them living in Colorado. The remains were taken to Cleves, Ohio, and interred by the side of his first wife.

HATHAWAY.

Glad to report Hubert Conley back at school.

M. W. Ryle and wife entertained the young folks with a party Saturday night.

Miss Emma Clements spent Wednesday with her aunt, Mrs. Emma Marshall, in Union.

Robert Green and wife, Miss Edith Kelly and J. P. Johnson dined at R. L. Huey's, Sunday.

Joe Green and wife spent Saturday night and Sunday with the latter's parents, J. H. Aylor and wife.

J. C. White and family, of Burlington, spent Saturday night with G. L. Smith and attended church at Big Bone, Sunday.

FLORENCE.

Miss Rene Bradford is quite ill.

Mrs. Sarah Willis is the guest of Mrs. D. H. Brown.

Mrs. Lee Whitson has recovered after several days illness.

Edward Baxter, of Hamilton, made his parents a visit last week.

Tom Corbin, of Hamilton, Ohio, was a guest of his sisters one night last week.

Mrs. Sawyer and son, Julius, of Middletown, Ohio, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Carpenter.

Mrs. Effie Sebree, of Gunpowder, was a guest of her aunt, Mrs. J. R. Whitson, several days past.

Elbert Roberts, wife and son, of Burlington, were guests of Harry Brown and wife, Saturday and Sunday.

Charles Fulton and wife and Albert Lucas and wife went to see "In Old Kentucky," at the Walnut, Saturday evening.

Mrs. J. R. Whitson had as her guests Sunday, Alonzo Plunket, of Walton; Mrs. Will Sebree, of Gunpowder; Chas. Whitson and family and Lee Whitson and family.

Ed. Corbin, who has been sick for months, died Sunday night. He left a wife, son and daughter and several brothers and sisters to mourn his death. Mr. Corbin was laid to rest in the cemetery here. Everyone extends sympathy to the bereaved family.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

The recent fine rains have been very beneficial to small grain.

Some tobacco was stripped fast Saturday, the first of the season.

Arthur Dean, of Richwood, purchased the cows that Bert Smith had advertised for sale.

Jas. Northcutt, of the Waterloo neighborhood, is visiting relatives and friends in Ohio.

A Mr. Lyons, of Covington, purchased two cows of Jacob Rouse and one of Bert Smith, one day last week.

Willis Smith has purchased of T. C. Masters the Let Nichols place on Ashby Fork, and will move there next spring.

If an old reliable sign does not tell the Middle creek neighborhood will hear the ringing of wedding bells before the end of the year.

Tobe McCarty moved, last week, from Elmer Kelly's place near Locust Grove school house, to Mrs Minnie Kelly's place on Middle creek.

Wm. Gaines, carrier on R. D. 3 out of Burlington, is spending his vacation seeing sights in Chicago, attending a convention of the Universalist churches.

Don't forget to drag the mud roads. If you will begin now and keep the good work up all the winter you will come through one winter without getting stuck in the mud. Take the section of mud road adjoining your farm and see if you can not keep it in better condition than your neighbor keeps the section adjoining his farm.

HUME

The sick are improving.

Arch Noell shipped some fine hogs last week.

Miss Bea Miller visited friends at this place last week.

John Finnell and this scribe visited Mrs. M. F. Howlett Sunday.

Rev. Yager is holding a protracted meeting at South Fork.

T. B. Roberts made a business trip to the city the first of the week.

Russell Taylor, wife and two children are visiting relatives here.

John Binder is remodeling his house. Geo. McIntyre is doing the work.

Miss Hazel Craven from Verona and Jas. Rust were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Noell, Sunday.

Mrs. Mary T. Hume has returned to her home in Burlington after a visit of ten days with relatives.

Mrs. J. T. Stephenson, of Limaburg, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Sidney Ambrose, near Berkshire.

Jerry Carr and Jerry Dempsey have returned from Lebanon, O., where they were visiting friends and relatives.

M. J. Crouch, president and general manager of the Consolidated Telephone Co., has repaired No. 5 line up-to-date.

John G. Finnell celebrated his 59th birthday Monday. About 25 were present and the occasion was very much enjoyed. A lovely dinner was served, followed by delightful music rendered by Mrs. Sallie Taylor. John has many friends who wish him many more happy anniversaries.

Snow enough fell last Monday night to give Tuesday morning very much of a winter appearance.

GRANT R. D. 1.

Some claim that snow fell at one time here Sunday.

Elbert Clore is here on a visit to his mother and brothers.

Pete Hager has some fine roasting ears as this writer can testify.

Z. T. Kelly had a force of hands busy the past week baling hay and straw.

Miss Allie Reed spent Sunday with Manly Ryle and family near Hathaway.

Miss Bettie Stephens, of Rabbit Hash, is visiting relatives at Frankfort.

John Hewitt will occupy the new tenant house being built by J. J. Stephens.

Chas. White and family, of Ferry Creek, were Sunday guests of home folks here.

Bluford Clore, who sold his tobacco to Aurora parties, is about half done stripping.

Mesdames Susie Walrath and Anna Arnold spent Friday with friends in Burlington.

Beymer Staley and lady friend, of Cincinnati, are guests of the former's parents here.

A. S. Burcham and wife spent Saturday night and Sunday with John Maurer and family.

Everyone on R. D. 1 is busy stripping tobacco, for which they expect fancy prices.

Henry Ranes is trapping on a large scale, having purchased a backload of traps last week.

Elmer Jarrell and family, of Woolper, spent last Sunday at Flave Louden's, near Waterloo.

Garnett Ryle was the Sunday guest of his cousins, Joseph and Angerean Walton, of Rabbit Hash.

On account of the inclement weather the game of ball billed for this place last Saturday was called off.

Clifford Sutton was called here from Cincinnati, Saturday, owing to the serious illness of his mother, Mrs. Jane Sutton.

An auto load of Masons passed here Saturday enroute to Burlington to attend a meeting of the lodge at that place.

Misses Pearl Ryle and Mary Craig, of East Bend, spent last Saturday and Sunday with Miss Carrie Hankinson, at Patriot.

J. M. Conner and several friends from Cincinnati came down Saturday and stayed until Sunday evening at Mr. Conner's home near Waterloo.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Bluford Wingate, of Rabbit Hash, and Miss Lottie Burns, of Woolper, here October 22d.

James Smith, Sr., and wife were surprised on the former's birthday by a large crowd of friends and relatives, who called to help them celebrate the event.

C. W. Goodridge has a force of hands at work putting in a new bridge at the washout on the Belleview and Petersburg road about one and one-half miles north of town.

Mrs. Henry Clore and daughter, Alline, started to Aurora, Saturday, and after numerous mishaps and by transfering to four different boats, they arrived home safely.

E. E. Parsons and Mrs. Laura Marshall were united in the holy bonds of matrimony last Wednesday at the parsonage here by Rev. Hensley. Their many friends extend congratulations.

B. B. Hume and Congressman A. B. Rouse passed thru here last Thursday evening in Mr. Hume's auto enroute to Rabbit Hash, where the former had an appointment with the taxpayers.

We would advise every voter to attend one of the road lectures between now and election day and get posted by hearing both sides of the question and then vote to the best interest of the roads.

November 1st will be the second anniversary of the establishment of Rural Route 1, and I would like to ask the patrons to celebrate by relocating and straightening up their boxes; also to fill up that wash in front of your box to gladden the carrier's heart.

Claude Edwards and Miss Ethel Nixon, a prominent young society couple of Petersburg, were married by Rev. Hensley at the parsonage here Saturday afternoon. They were accompanied by the bride's sister, Miss Mary Nixon, and Ernest Hodges, also of Petersburg.

DEVON

Farmers were much rejoiced to to see the rain, as many were driving their stock to the creek for water.

Eugene Northcutt, of Bank Lick, was the guest of friends at this place Saturday.

Wm. Hogan and wife, of Silver Lake, were guests of Theo. Grogher and family Sunday.

B. F. Bristow was in the city on business Friday.

Wm. Goedde, of Sandfordtown, was the guest of Hoba Watson and wife Sunday.

The Devon base ball team was booked for a game with the Roughnecks, of Independence, last Sunday afternoon, but the inclemency of the weather prevented the game.

Mrs. C. Carpenter and Mrs. Sara Rector were guests of Mrs. Chas. Miller, Thursday.

Card of Thanks—We desire to extend thanks to our many friends and neighbors for the kindness shown us at the death of our beloved father and husband, Mr. J. W. Brown; also to Bros. Baker and Tolle for their comforting words and to Mr. Bullock for their efficient service. The Family.

Personal Mention.

W. D. Cropper visited his sister, Mrs. John Walton, of Home City, last Sunday.

Mrs. V. O. Keys returned Thursday evening from a visit to her parents at Versailles.

Mrs. J. D. Cloud, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Drucilla Goodridge, one day the past week.

A. B. Renaker spent several days last week at Dry Ridge and Williamstown, Grant county.

W. T. Stott, Boone's next member of the legislature, spent one day the past week in Burlington.

Mrs. John Stewart, of Cynthiana, Harrison county, was the guest of Miss Shirley Tolin the past week.

W. C. Johnson, of Beaver, was the guest of his son, Samuel and family, last Saturday night and Sunday.

E. C. Gordon, of Francesville neighborhood, was a business visitor to Burlington one day the past week.

Mesdames G. S. Walrath and H. E. Arnold, of Belleview, were the guests of C. C. Roberts and family, last Thursday.

W. S. White and wife, of Hathaway neighborhood, were guests of their son John C. White and wife, one day last week.

Moses Scott and wife, of Rabbit Hash neighborhood, were Saturday night and Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Maurer.

Frank Craig, of East Bend, was transacting business in Burlington, last Friday. Mr. Craig's visits to the county seat are few and far between.

Jackson Lyons, of Covington, and A. F. Milner, of Pt. Pleasant neighborhood, were in Burlington and vicinity, last Thursday, buying fresh cows.

Lewis Aylor and B. C. Tanner, of Gunpowder neighborhood, were in Burlington one day the past week transacting business with county judge Cason.

L. A. Conner and wife entertained quite a number of their friends at dinner, last Thursday, at their hospitable home on the suburban hill tops south of town.

J. W. Sebree, of Locust Grove neighborhood, was in town last Friday, and like most everyone else said his corn is better than he expected it to be.

Miss Besse Hall, who has a position with the Bell Telephone Company in Cincinnati, spent from Saturday evening until Monday morning here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hall.

Jasper Beemon, of Pleasant Hill neighborhood, was in Burlington, last Friday to have his shooting iron repaired with a view to "laying" for chicken thieves and meat house burglars this fall and winter.

Miss Mary A. Thompson arrived home last Saturday from a visit of several days with friends at Norwood, Ohio. Her cousin, Miss May Baulch, of Old Point Comfort, accompanied her home for a week's visit.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Carpenter and Misses Inez and Kittie Gaines constituted a theater party that witnessed In Old Kentucky at the Walnut street theater, Cincinnati, last Thursday afternoon.

Dr. Yelton and wife and her sisters, Mrs. Clay Browning and Miss Mary Downard, attended the theatre in Cincinnati, last Friday night, witnessing "In Old Kentucky." Mrs. Browning left on Saturday morning for her home in Jacksonville, Florida.

William Gaines, carrier on R. D. No. 3, left, Tuesday night, for Chicago, where he will attend the convention of Universalist churches in session in that city. His brother, C. A. Gaines, is subbing for him during his absence.

A. Calvert and family have moved from Petersburg, this county, to Ft. Thomas, Campbell county, to make their future home. Mr. Calvert and family were very popular in Petersburg where their sojourn was not long, and all join in an expression of sorrow because of their departure, but wish them well in their new home.

RICHWOOD.

J. J. Tanner's sale was well attended and things brought good prices.

Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Hunter have returned from a business trip to St. Louis.

Walter and Wiley Grubbs and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Powers spent last Thursday in Covington.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rice's daughter who was operated on at Murphy's hospital for a throat trouble, is at home doing nicely.

Albert Tanner is batching at the old home place which he purchased from the other heirs.

Earl Carpenter received a handsome gold watch and chain as a present from his grandmother Carpenter.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Soden left Thursday night for their home in California, after a two months to friends and relatives here and in Covington.

Price Conner has returned from Idaho after a six weeks' visit. Price says it is a great country and when he left there a foot of snow covered the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Price Conner and son, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Armstrong, of Nicholson; C. E. Rector and family, of Burlington; Walter Grubbs and family, A. E. Tanner and Miss Rich were the Sunday guests at Clarence Tanner's.

A BIG TIME

The Masonic Meeting Saturday a Big Success.

Meubers From Far and Near Present and Participate In The Work.

FOUR RECEIVE THE DEGREES.

One of the most interesting meetings in the history of the Burlington Masonic Lodge was that held last Saturday beginning at 2 p. m., and continuing until nearly midnight before the work was completed. In the afternoon Albert Conner was given the Entered Apprentice degree, after which Jesse Kirkpatrick, Raymond Cropper and Chas. Riley were instructed in the first section of Master's degree, at the conclusion of which the lodge recessed for supper. The members present numbered about 60 and were conducted to the Boone House and to Mrs. Martin's where they enjoyed a nicely prepared and a well served supper, after which those who smoked regaled themselves with good cigars.

When the lodge recessed it being apparent that the crowd was so large that it would be impossible to put the second section on in a satisfactory manner in the hall which is not large the brethren were requested to reassemble at the court house at 7 o'clock, where the work would be completed in the circuit court room.

Promptly at 7 o'clock work was resumed, the Hebron team in charge, brother William Goodridge acting Master and Carl Bradford, Senior Warden. These brethren were ably assisted by other members of their lodge, and the section was exemplified in a most impressive manner, being instructive to both the candidates and the spectators. Their work was pronounced correct.

Bros. Wilber, as Master, and Powel, as Senior Warden, of Rising Sun, assisted by several of the Hebron team, conferred the second section on the second candidate, and they maintained fully their reputation of being perfect in their work, and these brethren were certainly at their best last Saturday night on which occasion they delighted their Kentucky brethren.

The third candidate was looked after by a mixed team composed of members from Walton, Hebron, Big Bone and Burlington lodges, Bros. John L. Vest, and B. K. Menefee, of Walton, acting as Master and Senior Warden, respectively. This work was done exceedingly well when it is considered that members from three lodges took part.

The meeting was closed by a most excellent lecture by Bro. John L. Vest, of Walton, the lecture being illustrated by a lantern and slides manipulated by Bro. Roy D. Stamler, of Walton.

The following lodges were represented in the meeting: Rising Sun, Erlanger, Belleview, Walton, Big Bone, Union and Hebron.

The attention given the work was intense throughout the meeting, and every Mason present appeared to be glad he was on hand to witness the excellent work.

CEDAR GROVE.

Hog cholera is getting a start in this neighborhood.

Miss Arta Ryle is home from Louisville for a visit.

Mrs. Mary Terrill spent Monday with her cousins, Ed. Botts and sisters.

Miss Katherine Sullivan has been somewhat indisposed for several days.

Frank Voshell sold two cows, one day last week, to be shipped to Michigan.

Mrs. Kate Martin has gone home after a two weeks visit with Mrs. William Walton.

Miss Martha Randall entertained two of Dillsboro's charming young ladies, Miss Ruth Mulford and Miss Elizabeth Randall, from Saturday morning until Sunday afternoon. The three young ladies attended Aurora, Ind., High school together. The Miss Randall is a cousin of the ex-President's wife.

HEBRON.

Emil Regenbogen has a new motorcycle.

Church services here next Sunday night at 7:30.

Jas. Conner sold his farm to Edward Ernst, last week.

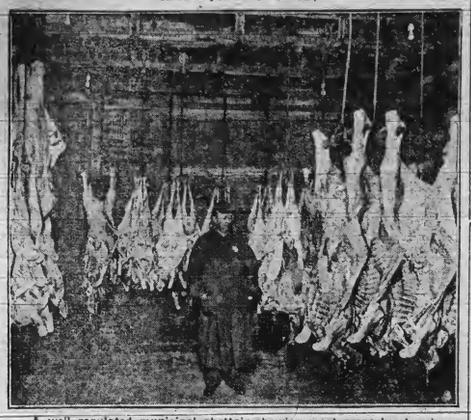
Mrs. Emma Tanner, of Erlanger, is the guest of relatives here.

Mrs. Gerker is entertaining her mother from Alexander, this state.

The members have had a cistern built at the Hebron church.

Vernon Tupman and family will move this week to a place about three miles beyond Latonia.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Hafer took their little son, Robert, to a hospital in Cincinnati, last week, to be operated on for a throat trouble.



Mesdames Elijah Tanner and Frank Hosseman and Miss Stella Getker were sent as delegates from the Missionary and Helper Circle societies to a Missionary convention held at Springfield, O. They reported a fine time while there.

Salmon fishing in the river has been very fine this month.

MEAT INSPECTION IMPORTANT PURE FOOD PROBLEM OF THE PEOPLE

Question of Local Versus Interstate Meat—Little Or No Inspection of Meats That Do Not Pass Interstate Commerce and Inspected By Federal Authorities

(By R. M. Allen, Head of Food and Drug Department, Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.)

A well regulated municipal abattoir showing meat properly stored.

Meat inspection is one of the chief pure food problems before the American people. Better inspection is needed of meat after it leaves the federal inspected abattoir, especially after it passes from the control of the federal government to the control of state and municipal authorities.

The question should be taken up from the standpoint of the needs of inspection, and not with respect to whether it will be more desirable to have local meats than interstate meats. Meat inspection has been well established in Europe for centuries past. The town of Aachen, in Germany, required its "special pig inspectors" to take oath as follows:

"You shall be pig inspector for foreigners as well as for native inhabitants and neither for love nor money, nor goods nor threats, nor from friendship nor enmity shall you declare otherwise, and as you find the pigs to be."

The application of this point is that inspection should not be directed so as to benefit one branch of the trade above the other, but to inspect all of the meats and allow all meat supplies equal opportunity in the market. Local meats, though, are in need of inspection to give them an equal chance before the consumer with federal inspected meats. The high cost of living demands both local and interstate meats.

A dirty local slaughter house.

The Pure Food Department of the Kentucky Experiment Station has been studying the local meat problem. Enough reports of diseased meats, insanitary slaughtering houses and stench from wasted offal has been accumulated to make, if published, even St. Clair's "Jungle" a tame piece of muckraking. It was found that the previous laws of the state and cities looked upon the slaughtering house as a hopeless nuisance and required it to be built away from the city, without sewerage, water, or inspection. The rule has been to kill any kind of an animal and get it out of the nuisance as soon as possible. Many animals, which the trade are afraid will not pass federal inspection, are killed by many local butchers. The chief means for disposing of the offal is in feeding to hogs. The infection from a diseased animal is passed on to infect another hog. This method of feeding hogs is probably one of the sources of hog cholera. Some of these hogs pass on for breeding and feeding. In most other instances, where not fed to hogs, the offal is scraped to the rear of the building to pollute surrounding air and streams. Such by-products of the animal are one of the chief sources of profit with the packer. Based on conservative estimates there is not less than $2,000,000 worth of such waste going on in Kentucky every year, and which, if saved and rendered into tankage, would soon build and equip model abattoirs throughout the whole of the state.

In many instances honest butchers were found with model plants, and with an integrity which exercises a certain amount of lay inspection over the animal slaughtered. In one of the Kentucky towns the state and city laws against the location of slaughtering houses within the city limits is being advantageously violated. In this town two German butchers maintain very clean meat markets within a block of the leading hotel. The meat markets have well-equipped and very clean slaughtering rooms at the rear, and slaughtering is conducted without odor or other nuisance. The fresh offal is hauled away after each killing. The example of these two plants shows that clean slaughtering is not necessarily a nuisance, and that it is best to locate the slaughtering house within the limits of the city, so as to secure not only an abundant water supply and sewerage facilities, but closer inspection on the part of both the officials and the consuming public.

Europe has found the municipal abattoir to be the remedy for local meat inspection. The plan is to erect one abattoir for the smaller cities and towns and more for the larger cities and towns, depending on the number of animals slaughtered. These abattoirs are either erected by the butchers through a joint stock company, or by the city itself. They are then declared to be the municipal abattoir, and all animals are required to be slaughtered therein. The abattoir is open to all who desire to slaughter.

A cholera hog, killed for meat. Note the hemorrhages on the skin.

After making the investigations, Kentucky started out to prosecute the operators of insanitary shops, but found that the enforcement of the law in this direction only served to cause the expenditure of more money in unsatisfactory individual plants and made the work of sanitary abattoirs all the more difficult. The next step, therefore, was to study a system for local meat inspections which had been tried out in Germany, and in such American cities as Cleveland, Nashville and Paris, Texas. After working out plans of a plant for a city of from five to ten thousand, and a city from fifty to several hundred thousand inhabitants, and the draft for a model municipal meat ordinance, the work is now being directed towards securing the establishment of this only practical meat control method throughout Kentucky cities. Plans for both the plants and the ordinance can be had from the Food Department of the Experiment Station free of charge, together with an inspection and report upon any city's meat supply. The establishment of municipal abattoirs will not come about, however, until the consuming public recognizes the grave danger of diseased and uninspected meat, and recognizes that this can all be done out of the rendering of the offal, now a wasted nuisance around most plants.

Here's Better, Cheaper Heating for Your Home

CUT the high cost of living—stop that unnecessary waste of fuel. You can burn just half as much coal and get twice as much heat by using Moore's stoves in your home.

Moore's Air-Tight Heater

Gives double the heat of any other heater—and does it on half the fuel. Works like a furnace—circulates warm air instead of merely radiating it—keeps a current of warm air constantly moving all over the house—warms upstairs as well as down. The Moore's Everlasting Firepot burns the fuel completely—converts all the gas, carbon and smoke of soft coal into heat—it saves where others waste—and works as well with cheapest slack as the best hard coal. No dust or light ashes can get out to soil carpets and walls—the Dust Flue carries them up the chimney. And the Air-Tight Draft Control keeps the fire "in hand" every minute—it will burn up quick or keep for 24 to 48 hours as you wish. In every way Moore's stoves mean better, cheaper heating for your home. Let us prove it to you.

Moore's Range

With the Glass Oven Door

Is just as great a fuel-saver and labor-saver in the kitchen as Moore's Heaters are for the rest of the house. They're the ideal of convenience. We have a size and style that will meet your needs exactly.

CROUCH & ROUSE

ERLANGER, KENTUCKY

Look Here!

The Best Offer Ever.

The Boone County Recorder ..... All One Year For
The Weekly Enquirer, ...
Farm & Fireside, semi-monthly .....
Poultry Success, monthly .....
Woman's World, monthly .....
Farm News, monthly .....

$2.10

By Ordering the above separately the cost would be $4.25 for the Six Publications each one year.

This Big Proposition

is open to all New Subscribers to The Recorder and to those whose renewals will extend into 1914.

Those who have renewed up to or beyond Jany. 1, 1914 will be given the benefit of the above combination by sending to this office Sixty Cents.

Now is the time to secure your reading matter for the long winter nights coming on. Grasp this Opportunity.

HAS NO RIGHT TO LEVY EXTRA TAX.

Appellate Court Affirms School Case From Kenton County.

The Court of Appeals affirmed the Kenton Circuit Court which enjoined the Board of Trustees of the Erlanger Graded Common School district from levying and collecting an ad valorem tax of 25 cents above the statutory limit for school purposes. The restraining order from the lower court was granted Zerah Tate, suing for himself and others, when the additional tax was levied. The trustees were acting under the section governing the maintenance of schools, the opinion declaring so much of the act as undertakes to authorize the trustees of graded schools, operating under the general laws of the State, to levy the tax enjoined is violative of section 51 of the constitution.

RAIL ROAD TO BE SOLD

It Runs Between Lawrenceburg and Aurora.

A legal notice in this issue of the Press announces that a meeting of the stockholders of Cincinnati and Southern Ohio River Railway company will be held in Lawrenceburg Dec. 15 for the purpose of authorizing a sale of said railroad to the Big Four. The Cincinnati and Southern Ohio River railroad is 3.9 miles long. Its eastern terminus is Lawrenceburg, and its western terminus is Aurora.

At the time the road was built, more than twenty-five years ago, it was generally supposed that this branch line, instead of being merely a feeder for the Big Four, was the beginning of a railroad intended to be extended down the river as far as Jeffersonville or New Albany, and thence to Louisville. This plan, however, is yet a dream of the future, although many persons are confident that before another quarter of a century rolls by the dream will have become a reality. —Lawrenceburg Press.

The Aurora Bulletin says the Farmers' Fair held there on the 11th inst, was a big success in every respect notwithstanding the rain during the morning.

WILL SOAR

Food Product Will Go Skyward This Winter According To Government Expert.

Mr. Harry E. Barnard, of Indiana, a Government Food and Drug Commissioner, gave out the statement at Louisville this week that the coming winter would witness the highest prices asked for food products the country has ever known. Wheat products, rice, sugar and canned salmon will be reasonably low.

Mr. Barnard has just returned from attending a number of meetings of food officials and manufacturers at Chicago. While there he made a study of conditions throughout the country. Flour will be cheap because of the immense wheat crop, he said. Sugar will be cheap because of the tariff. Rice will be comparatively cheap. Canned salmon will be the cheapest it has been for years. There is the largest pack in history, and Mr. Barnard said the price will drop in a few weeks. But right there the downward trend will stop this winter, Mr. Barnard said.

Meats are going up to the ceiling," he said. "The shortage in the supply of foods of all kinds and the shortage in the supply of meats will keep prices higher than ever before. Pork is going to be extremely high, principally because of the immense shortage in the corn crop. Butter prices are to hit the ceiling. I talked with the president of the Elgin Butter Board. He said the fall pasturage was good, but that there was none during the summer. Butter is already high, but the continued shortage will force it still higher, this man said."

Mr. Barnard said the egg situation in many states already is alarming. There is at present the smallest quantity of eggs on hand for many years at this season. By Christmas even storage eggs will be selling for five cents each, Mr. Barnard predicts. There are no eggs going into storage because of the shortage and few were placed in storage here earlier in the year, he says. Poultry will be moderately high until the winter months set in, then it will sail skyward in price. The shortage in corn will be the big reason for the increase in price.—Ex.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

Which Shall Wife Wash?

Which cream separator bowl does the wife prefer to wash?

On the left are four styles of common "bucket bowls" used in ordinary cream separators. On the right is a light, simple, sanitary Sharples Dairy Tubular bowl of the same capacity—used only in Sharples Tubular Separators.

These illustrations were made from actual photographs. Notice the weights—count the pieces. The Sharples Tubular bowl contains but one piece, and that piece is smooth, instantly removable and about the size and shape of a napkin ring. The Tubular bowl can easily be perfectly cleaned in three minutes.

Yet makers of "bucket bowls"—barred by patents from making or using Tubular bowls—say "bucket bowls" are as easy to clean, and wear as long, as Tubular bowls.

Take another look at the picture. Show it to your wife. Which had she rather wash? Which do you think will wear the longest. We sell Sharples Tubular—the finest cream separators and surest money makers made. Bring your wife and look at one.

QUIGLEY & BEEMON

LIMABURG, KY.

Shoe Sale.

Having decided to keep only three makes of Shoes we will sell all our other makes of shoes at cost and below until they are all gone.

$3.50 SHOES Pair, for	$2.60
$3.00 SHOES Pair, for	$2.00
$2.50 SHOES Pair, for	$1.60
$1.50 SHOES Pair, for	98c
And a lot of broken sizes which sold for $2.50, $1.50 and $1, a pair	50c

These are all good shoes worth now what they were selling for- Come and See.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.,

UNION, KENTUCKY.

H. G. BLANTON,

Funeral Director and Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.

First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.

I Have a Nice White Funeral Car and Ambulance,

Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.

Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,

GRANITE & MARBLE

MONUMENTS,

Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.

Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.

Office and Wareroom:

70 and 72 Main Street,

AURORA, IND.

IRA POPE Agent, - - Grant, Ky

J. L. HAMILTON

(Successor to M. T. WILSON)

FUNERAL DIRECTOR,

Verona, Ky.

Telephone calls day or night given prompt attention. Mrs. M. T. Wilson is my assistant and solicits the patronage of the friends of her late husband. dec-1 12

FOR SALE

Five acres, six rooms, on pike, or will lease with privilege of purchasing. E. W. WALLINGFORD, Devon Sta., Q. & C. Ry.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

A Splendid Clubbing Bargain

WE OFFER

The Boone Co. Recorder

AND

The Cincinnati Weekly Enquirer

Both One Year For Only $1.85

Subscriptions may be new or renewal.

What the Weekly Enquirer Is.

It is issued every Thursday, subscription price $1 per year, and it is one of the best home metropolitan weeklies of to-day. It has all the facilities of the great DAILY ENQUIRER for obtaining the world's events, and for that reason can give you all the leading news. It carries a great amount of valuable farm matter, crisp editorials and reliable up-to-date market reports. Its numerous departments make it a home farm or business man.

This grand offer is limited and we advise you to take advantage by subscribing for the above combination right now. Call or mail orders to

BOONE CO. RECORDER,
Burlington, Ky.

S. Gaines,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

Burlington, Ky.

Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

CHAS. E. GARNETT.

AUCTIONEER.

Will go to any part of the county Address.

R. D. 2, Ludlow, Ky.

DRUG REQUIRES MUCH WORK

Persians Are Expert in Getting Ready the Juice of the Poppy for Marketing.

Opium juice is sold in large copper vessels by the grower to the merchant, in whose hands it undergoes several processes in order to preserve it from fermentation and decay. On sunny, fine, hot days the Persian caravanseries where opium dealers have their magasines present an interesting picture. The juice is brought out to be prepared into cakes for export, says the Christian Herald.

On large wooden boards, two and a half feet long and one and a half feet broad, the sticky mass is spread out with spadelike tools to permit the water it contains to evaporate. Experienced workers move from board to board, turning over the layers every now and then, that the heat and sun may dry up the exposed surfaces and render the opium fit for making into cakes. In favorable weather this process takes only an hour or so, and the opium is ready for the next manipulation.

It is now scraped off and is rolled into stiff, dough like lumps and handed to a man who divides it into smaller portions weighing one pound each, which he passes on to molders, by whom they are pressed into the wooden forms and then laid on a large board for the final drying process. When this is completed the cakes are rolled up in red paper imported specially from China. One hundred and forty-four are put in tin lined wooden cases with poppy stem chaff as packing. The wooden cases are covered with strong hides and sacking. Two cases form a mule load. The percentage of morphia in Persian opium varies from nine to twelve per cent.

FIRST MILITANTS ON RECORD

Amazons Undoubtedly Were the Original Fighters of Their Sex In Warlike Bands.

The Amazons were fabled tribes or warlike communities of women in Scythia, Asia and Africa. They were said to be descendants of Scythians of Cappadocia, where their husbands, having made incursions, were all slain in ambuscades. The women formed a feminine state, declaring matrimony a shameful servitude. They were said to have been conquered by Theseus, about 1231 B. C. According to Homer, they were allies of the Trojans in the siege of Troy, where their queen, Penthesilia, was slain by Achilles. Theseus and Hyppolyta, queen of the Amazons, are characters in Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream." The Amazons were constantly at war; and for ease in handling their weapons, their right breasts were destroyed, from which they derived their name. They were supposed to have worshiped the moon. About 330 B. C. their queen, Thalestris, visited Alexander the Great, in Asia, with 300 women in her train.

When Rome Tried Socialism.

The old agrarian law in Rome decreed an equal division among the Roman people of all lands acquired by conquest, limiting the possessions of each person. It was first proposed by the consul Spurius Cassius, 486 B. C., and occasioned his judicial murder when he went out of office in 455. An agrarian law was passed by the tribune Licinius Stolo, 376; and for demanding extensions Tiberius Gracchus, in 133, and his brother Caius, in 121, were murdered. Livius Drusus, a tribune, was murdered for a like cause in 91. Julius Cæsar propitiated the plebeians by an agrarian law in 59.

Being Awake.

Moral reform and improvement are the effort to throw off sleep. Why is it that men give so poor an account of their day if they have not been slumbering? If they had not been overcome with drowsiness they would have performed something. The millions are awake enough for physical labor; but only one in a million is awake enough for effective intellectual exertion, only one in a hundred million to a poetic or divine life. To be awake is to be alive. I have never yet met a man who was quite awake. How could I have looked him in the face?—Thoreau.

Make Exemplary Patients.

A piece of bone jammed between the molars of a Bengal tiger made the great cat furious, but when the zoological physicians touched the tormenting object with their forceps she began to "relax completely, and the bone was removed with ridiculous ease." The Bulletin of the Zoological society records the case of several other animals that proved to be far more satisfactory patients than human beings. All the great apes, for example, are perfect patients. But the gentle deer, which are high-strung, nervous creatures, are the most difficult of all to handle when ill.

He and She.

"With a woman, it isn't what a man looks. It's what he says—and does."

"A woman doesn't care what a man looks like. They'd rather a man wouldn't be handsome, so he'll think about them instead of about himself. The way to please a woman is to help her to think of nothing but herself."

"A serious young woman is never in any circumstances so interesting to a man as a light and gay pretty woman, whatever men may pretend. It is unborn in the male to regard the female as the representative of the lighter side of life."—"George Helm," by David Graham Phillips.

ALWAYS A SIGN OF DEATH

Flag at "Half-Staff" Sure Indication That the Dread Visitor Has Been There.

Nearly every one speaks of a flag, when being flown at a distance from the top of the pole, as at "half-mast." This is not the correct expression. Such flags are at "half-staff" because they are flown in this manner whether on land or sea from the flag staff.

To see a flag at half-staff means death. It may mean, on an incoming ship, that one of the passengers or crew died at sea. Many a little fishing vessel comes into Gloucester and T wharf in Boston every season with a flag at half-staff, and this means one of the fishermen, or more, has met death, generally being swept overboard.

This custom of flying flags at half-staff originated first as a token of defeat. That is, when an army was defeated, its flag was lowered down the staff to give room for the victorious army to place its flag above that of the defeated army.

From this the custom grew into flying the flag at half-staff when an officer, army or navy, died. Later it was adopted by civilians as well, and today, when a man of prominence dies, regardless of whether he was sailor, soldier, or civilian, the flags are hung at half-staff. Whereas, in the olden days, when the custom started, the upper space was left to indicate that the victor could put his flag there, now it seems that death is the victor, and so the space is left. It is, of course, a mark of respect to the dead person to have flags at half-staff for him.

EMPLOYMENT FOR OLD CAR.

Gardener Has Found Really Ingenious Use for Automobile That Has Had Its Day.

"Where do all the old cars go?" is a question that is asked continually, and there are very few persons who can even approximate the answer with any degree of satisfaction either to themselves or to others. But it is certain where at least one of them has gone for it has been turned into a lawn mower. The reason for its fall from aristocratic to plebeian work is because its owner has a really tremendous lawn to keep in trim; he is head gardener for a large golf club and as every one knows putting greens must be kept "just so." There was an antiquated two-cylinder automobile on the premises that long had ceased to be of any practical value for pleasure purposes and the gardener conceived the bright idea of making it "die in the harness," so to speak. So with the help of some steel strips and some chains he attached no less than three lawn mowers to it—originally they were drawn by horses. The steering gear is intact except that the place of the front wheels is taken by a heavy roller; two rollers take the place of the driving wheels.—Scientific American.

Beautiful Bird of Paradise.

Women of fashion who wear the bird of paradise plumes do not realize how beautiful the bird is that surrenders to them its pride and glory. Its total length is about eight inches; its body, wings and tail are of a rich coffee color, which deepens on the breast to a blackish violet or purple brown.

The whole top of the head and neck is of a delicate straw color, the feathers being short enough to look like velvet. The lower part of the throat is covered with emerald green feathers which reach to the eye, and velvety plumes of a still deeper green extend in a band across the forehead and chin as far as the eye, which is bright yellow. From each side of the body beneath the wings springs a dense tuft of long and delicate plumes, sometimes two feet in length, of the most intense golden orange color and extremely glossy, but changing toward the tips into a pale brown.

The Best He'd Ever Known.

"I remember some years ago, traveling in a third-class carriage with two mechanics and a clergyman," says an English writer of note. "Presently the workmen began to discuss a mutual friend. 'Ah, he was a good man,' said the elder of the two, 'the best man I think I have ever known, and I am over fifty.' I saw the person prick up his ears. This eulogy of personal goodness appealed to him—it was in his line. 'Yes,' the workman continued, thoughtfully, 'the very best man I ever knew. The way he guarded with his right and got in with his left on the conk was a blooming revelation.'"

Dignifying the Oyster.

Mr. Justice Darling has defined a sherd as something which is half-way between an oyster and a lord mayor. But Thackeray anticipated the judge in attributing human intelligence to oysters. "I was walking with him one evening from the club," writes Edmund Yates, "and, passing a fish-shop in New street, he noticed two different tubs of oysters, one marked 'Is. a dozen,' the other 'Is. 3d. a dozen.' 'How they must hate each other!' said Thackeray, pointing them out."

Boon Indeed.

"At last," exclaimed the long-haired inventor, "I have evolved the greatest practical blessing of the age."

"Oh, tell me, Theophilus—tell me what it is!" begged his wife.

"A collar button with a little phonograph inside that will call out when it rolls into a dark corner under the dresser, 'Here I am! Here I am!'"

MANY USES OF THE OCEANS.

They Are Here Enumerated, and You May Accept or Reject the Facts as You Prefer.

Oceans are found in various parts of the world, where they spend their time in lapping shores, infringing upon the rights of continents, and swallowing up islands, ships and people.

Oceans are salty to the taste and are used by yachtsmen to get away from their wives, also to cover up cabled newspaper stories about kings and queens, and to float navies and other debts.

An ocean spends its time in having storms and making surf. It delights in making innocent people sick and in playing with children's legs. Without oceans there would be no steamships and gambling would decline.

Every ocean has a set of fish which do not even pay ground rent, but spend their time like people who live on land, namely, in devouring each other. Besides ordinary fish, oceans have whales, lobsters and mermaids. The mermaids live on rocks just as girls on dry land do. The lobsters also live selfish lives in lobster palaces. The whales lie around and wait for the happy time when they can perform useful work supplying bones for corsets or to oil the wheels of child labor factories.

Some oceans employ professional sea serpents, which they use during the summer for advertising purposes. Oceans also have zones, seaweed and sponges. When an ocean has been out all night it likes to take a sponge bath, hence it always keeps on hand a constant supply of these useful toilet articles.—Life.

Perry's Message 100 Years Ago

One hundred years ago Oliver Hazzard Perry aged 27, sailed into Lake Erie against the British fleet with vessels of a total tonnage of 1239, and after a magnificent victory sent his laconic message: "We have met the enemy and they are ours."

The raising the restoration of Perry's second flagship, the Niagara, recently accomplished, invites comparison with our warships of today. Placed alongside a dreadnought of the Wyoming type of 26,000 tons burthen, how insignificent appears the hastily built brig of 492 tons, how puny her two long twelve pounders and her eighteen short thirty-two pounders in the shadow of the giant twelve-inch guns of the modern sea fighter!

The strides in naval construction have kept pace with the amazing progress that has changed a world of wood into a world of electricity and steam but the spirit that animated Perry's men has remained constant.

As the memory of the valor of these Americans of a century ago rises before us it can send but one message that the one way to keep peace on the sea is to maintain a navy worthy of its mission and its flag.—Los Angeles Examiner.

More Practical Farmers Needed

Luther Burbank, by experience and accomplishment doubtless the best equipped man in the world today, says the great opportunity for our boys and young men is in agriculture, says Popular Mechanics. He points out that after the young man has spent eight years at hard study of medicine, the law or engineering, he has not made a success; he is only prepared to commence the battle for it. Whereas, to add but one kernel of corn in a single year would increase the supply 5,000,000 bushels. One improvement in the potato is already paying back $17,000,00 a year. Everything we eat and wear comes out of the ground. With less than half our population raising things, should there be any wonder that the cost of living has increased 58 per cent in fifteen years? To quote from Mr. Burbank:

"What the world needs, urgently and now, is men who can increase the forage from our present acreage so that 16 cents will buy a pound of the choicest sirloin, as of old, instead of a pound of rump, as now.

"What the world needs is not theory, or agitation, or college lore; there are plenty of these, and at a cost of $150,000,000 per annum in money, and who knows how much time, they have succeeded in increasing our crop yield only a bare 3 per cent.

"What the world needs is men who can do to agriculture and to horticulture what Edison did to electricity, Carnegie to steel and the Vanderbilts, Hills and Harrimans to transportations—develop efficiency.

Toads Are Worth $10 Each.

The common garden toad has a definite value among European farmers and gardeners, and is rapidly coming into his own in this country. In a bulletin recently issued by the Nebraska experiment station, the full measure of his worth is explained. It says: "Superstition and tradition have invested the toad with repulsive and venomous qualities. As a matter of fact, B. F. Swingle, a noted authority, declared the common toad has a cash value of $10 to the man with a garden. Examination of the stomachs of 149 toads proved that 98 per cent of their food was of the following character: Bugs, beetles, spiders, potato bugs, thousand legged worms, weevils, tent caterpillars and grasshoppers. These were eaten by thousands. Wire worms, army worms, crickets, cucumber bugs and rose bugs were relished just as well. In one stomach seventy-seven thousand legged worms were found. One toad in captivity a napped up eighty-six flies in ten minutes."

The State Gaines A Victory.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 17.—On condition that the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company pay taxes to the state and subordinate jurisdictions the amount due on $11,000,000 in addition to what it has paid already for 1912, and the money to be paid within 30 days from October 16, Federal Judge A. M. J. Cochran today granted the injunction prayed by the railroad company against the the members of the State Board of Valuation and Assessment to restrain them from making final its franchise assessment of 1912.

Judge Cochran has held already that the assessment is void because of the method used, but he holds to-day that the company undoubtedly has property in the state to the value of $74,000,000, the amount which the board assessed it, and is of the opinion that the board will arrive at the correct assessment by the method outlined by him.

In fixing the value of the franchise at $23,248,498 70 Judge Cochran makes the assessment on a basis of 70 per cent of the value of the property in the state, which, he says, should be done in view of the position taken by the board in assessing other property at 70 per cent of its value. His decision is an overwhelming victory for the state, and sustains the position taken by Justus Grosbel, of Covington, who furnished to the board the figures upon which the assessment was made. The assessment made by Judge Cochran will bring to the state alone $55,000 annually from this company and twice that amount to the subordinate jurisdiction.

Want Indictment Dismissed.

Henderson.—A petition signed by 450 farmers of Webster county, asking that the indictment against the Imperial Tobacco Company of Kentucky and the Imperial Tobacco Company of Great Britain, on the charge of combining in restraint of the tobacco trade, be dismissed. The petition was presented to Commonwealth Attorney Sam V. Dixon. These companies were indicted at the May term of the Henderson Circuit Court. A change of venue was granted and the case is to be tried in Union county on Nov. 16. Under the statute of Kentucky, if found guilty, a forfeit of their charter, is the penalty, and this would put the companies out of business in this state.

FIFTY-SECOND SEMI-ANNUAL STATEMENT OF THE

Boone County Deposit Bank

Burlington, Kentucky

At Close of Business December 31, 1912.

RESOURCES.		LIABILITIES.
Loans, Bonds, &c....	$170,858.50	Capital Stock.....	$ 30,000.00
Overdrafts.....	52.81	Surplus.....	45,000.00
Due from Banks.....	38,391.04	Undivided Profits, &c	7,581,49
Cash.....	7.711.80	Deposits.....	136,591.35
Banking House, &c..	3,000.00	Due Banks.....	841.31
Total.....	$220,014.15	Total.....	$220,014.15

A Bank that is going after business, and going in the right way.

HOW? By promptness in serving its customers.
By courteous attention to their banking needs.
By readiness in meeting their requirements, and, above all
By perfect security of the funds intrusted to its care, having over $100.000.00 to secure depositors.
We have the largest Capital and Surplus of any Bank in this county, and are amply able to accommodate our patrons, and are willing at all times to afford them every accommodation justified by the rules of good and safe banking, whether their accounts are large or small.

N. E. RIDDELL, President. J. C. REVILL, Cashier.

J. F. KIESWETTER,

RUGS MADE of OLD CARPETS

Compressed Air Carpet Cleaning.
TELEPHONE SOUTH 21.
250 PIKE STREET,

Covington, - - - Ky.

M. RIDDELL, Agent, Burlington, Ky.

Rogers Bros.

General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade.

B. S. O'NEAL,

AUCTIONEER,
VERONA, - KENTUCKY.
Your Order is Solicited.

For Sale or Rent.

One Hundred and Eight and Two-Third Acres of Land, at the mouth of Gunpowder creek in this county; the best hog farm in Northern Kentucky. For further particulars call on or address Erastus Rice, Rising Sun, Indiana, or S. D. Rice, Grant, Ky., R. D. 1.

Eggs and Baby Chicks For Sale

Single Comb Rhode Island Reds.
Single Comb Black Minorcas—fine layers. Best selected Stock, purest Strain.
Eggs $1.00 for 15.
Baby Chicks 10 cents each.
Address
Mrs. JOSEPH A. HUEY,
Richwood, Ky.
Phone—Beaver 163. mch22tf

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN,

DENTIST

will be at Burlington on the first and second Monday, and in Union on the third and fourth Monday of each month, prepared and qualified to practice according to the latest methods extracting teeth painless. All work guaranteed.

DR. B. W. STALLARD
with DR. SHOBER'S
QUEEN CITY DENTISTS
Nos. 43-49 W. Fifth Ave.,
CINCINNATI, - - OHIO.

F. J. HENN. M. M. HUSCHART.

LAWRENCEBURG

Granite and Marble Works

Manufacturers of and Dealers in Fine American and Imported Monuments.

Cemetery Work of Every Description Promptly and Carefully Attended to.
Lawrenceburg, - - Indiana.
D. M. SNYDER, Agt., Burlington, Ky.

For Sale.

Store Property in Burlington.
Mrs. Dudley Rouse.

Take your County Paper.

ADAMS

A New Victrola $75

A Cabinet Style Victrola combining a record cabinet for only $75.00. Same perfect, mellow tone quality of the most expensive Victrola, same elegant finish.

Easy Monthly Payments.

A. ADAMS,

15 Pike Street,
Covington, - - Ky.

The Cincinnati Grain Co.

HAVE OPENED THEIR NEW HOUSE
AT ERLANGER, KY.

FREE PHONE ERLANGER 49

Handle Hay, Grain, Flour and Feed of all Kinds.
Will Also Buy Your Wheat, Rye, Etc.

Special Notice—We are selling at city prices, consequently can save you the long haul from Covington and Cincinnati.

GIVE US A TRIAL

FARM MOTORS

For Pumping, Operating Churns, Saws, Corn Shredders, Filling Silos, Etc.
Last a Lifetime. From 1½ to 25 h. p. $33 and up.
Ready To Run.

Direct Factory Representatives
SPENCER-HARTLIEB CO.
316-318 MAIN STREET
CINCINNATI, OHIO
Phone, 1810 Main

Read Our Big Combination Offer.

BOONE CO. RECORDER
W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

Election, Tuesday, November 4, 1913

For Representative,
W. T. STOTT.
For Commonwealth's Attorney,
JOHN J. HOWE.
For Circuit Clerk,
CHARLES MAURER.
For County Judge,
P. E. CASON.
For County Attorney,
N. E. RIDDELL.
For County Clerk,
W. R. ROGERS.
For Sheriff,
W. D. CROPPER.
For Assessor,
W. P. BEEMON.
For Supt. of Schools,
EDGAR C. RILEY.
For Jailer,
J. S. ADAMS.
For Surveyor,
J. W. CONLEY.
For Coroner,
A. A. MURAT.
For Magistrate,
First District—E. J. AYLOR.
Second District—WM. STEPHENS
Third District—CHAS. WILSON.
Fourth District—N. C. TANNER.
Sixth District—R. H. TANNER.

Rural Improvement.

Among the many things that tend toward rural improvement may be mentioned the building and equipment of rural schools, the erecting of churches, and the building of good country roads and the establishing of rural telephone systems.

Obviously, one of the most important factors in building up a community is the establishing of good schools. A community without a good school is not making much progress intellectually, nor any other way; for the school is not only the place where learning is disseminated, but is the social center of the community—and the better the school of any community, the better the community. It is very gratifying to note what progress has been made along educational lines in the rural districts of our country within the past decade; but there is still much room for improvement. There should be a good high school in reach of every pupil of our grand old country. These bridge the hitherto impassable gulf between the country boy and college. Many communities are taking advantage of their opportunities and are establishing high schools that take a pupil through the tenth and eleventh grades. This is very commendable and every community should interest itself enough in educating its youth as to have such a school. Universal education is the need of the day, and our country can never reach its highest destiny until it realizes fully this need.

The church is also a very important factor in country life. Not only is this true because it is the religious center of the community, but also because it is a place where people can meet together socially once or more a week. Thus, as we all know the church is continuing largely to the pleasures of the country districts and is helping in its way to keep the young people in the country where they are needed.

Another factor of importance in country life is the building of good roads. Although much has been done along this line in some parts of the South, yet there is much still to be done before each community shall have the right kind of highways of travel and transportation. Good roads are indeed indispensable to any community and we should not be satisfied till we have them in every district; for not only do they enable the farmer to be a farmer in the true sense, but good roads make the community so much more attractive and enhance the value of the property of the community to a great extent.

Finally, but not the least of the things needed in the development of the rural districts, is the telephone system. No rural district is complete at the present day without a good system of telephones. With the telephone the farmer can sell his produce without going to town, the housewife can converse with her neighbor at all times of day, the doctor can be called in a few minutes; and the performing of these duties becomes a pleasure. If the telephone system were taken out of some communities where the people have been progressive enough to get it, those communities would be put back fifty years in their civilization.

So, if our boys and girls are to be kept on the farm, we must have not only schools, churches, good roads and other much needed things, but must also have good telephone systems, knitting the different parts of a country community together and making it one unified whole.—B. G. Shuler, in Our Country.

NOTICE.

W. L. Kirkpatrick's meat wagon will make a trip every Saturday morning from Burlington to Limaburg, Florence and Erlanger. Beginning next Saturday with a load of nice, fresh meat.

Burlington High School foot ball team is heavier than last year and has been strengthened considerably, and will put up a good game.

The 4th of November will soon be here, the day upon which the election will be held.

Better Farming.

With the best farm country in the world founded upon a lime stone and clay foundation for better results; only one thing is needed and that is better farming. A course in farming may be taken by mail in the University of Chicago and a resident course may be taken in our own State University. Information on how to grow any crop may be gotten by asking the U. S. Agricultural Department at Washington. The long winter nights may be spent in study and the days in getting ready to farm in the good year of 1914.

Make your plans now; save your manures and build your hot beds. We know of farmers who raised their early tobacco plants in a hot bed. Turn a piece of land where it will not bake for early potatoes and prepare to cut the high cost of living. Every thing the farmer grows is high and he is in a position to be well paid for better farming will pay.

The farms in this county need to be cut into smaller fields and to be better fenced. Soiling crops need to be sown and crops of rye, rape, cowpeas, etc., need be sown to hog down and to graze down so that the hogs and cattle may always be ready for market. The Owen county farmer does not go to market enough. He should have something to sell every month in the year and could have if he would learn better farming —Owen County Democrat.

Buttermilk Cheese.

In a recent bulletin of the Wisconsin station, J. L. Samuels calls attention to the unnecessary waste of buttermilk, and describes for the first time a method by which cheese can be made from pure buttermilk, which has about the same value, pound for pound, as lean beefsteak, which sells at twice the price. The cheese can be eaten alone like cottage cheese, or it can be seasoned with salt, pepper and mixed with chopped pickles, olives and nuts. It can also be used in salads. On account of its smooth texture it can be spread like butter. Bakers prefer buttermilk cheese on account of its smooth texture for the same purpose for which they formerly used cottage cheese. Because buttermilk can not be made into cheese by the same methods used in making cottage cheese, the utilization of pure buttermilk for cheese making has until recently been regarded as impossible. Mixtures of skimmilk and buttermilk are much easier to handle for making cheese than pure buttermilk, but the practical objection to the use of such a mixture is that every year fewer creameries have any skimmilk, the separating being done on the farm.

To Get Rid Of Insects.

Several troublesome insects of field and garden happen to be in such location in the late fall that we can reach them by stirring the soil. One or two of them can be fought in almost no other way. The pest that hits the mark most closely is the corn ear worm which has caused much damage in different sections of the country the past summer. When infesting corn it eats its way along within the husk, devouring the young and tender kernels and silk. As it works its way down into the ground the worm fills the hold behind it with soil. But once at depth of 3 or 4 inches it turns and makes a short open gallery, part way to the surface. Then it retires to the bottom of this and remains until it becomes a moth which does not come out again until next spring. Now, if you send a plow through the field in late fall you will accomplish very good results. This buries the pupa of the moth beneath solid earth, which later is compacted by winter and spring rains. The moths are thus effectually imprisoned, and never reach the surface to lay eggs and start the life round one more. Weather conditions or demands of crop rotation may make fall plowing out of the question, but if it can be done, there is much to be gained.

Don't Reduce Much.

New York, Oct. 19.—A Washington dispatch says:

According to the actual figures of the new tariff bill the high cost of living as estimated with respect to foodstuffs alone will not be greatly reduced, notwithstanding the promises of the Democratic party that the prices of these articles would take a tumble after the new law went into operation.

After free sugar becomes effective, basing the calculations upon the duties paid under the Payne-Aldrich law for the year 1912, the net saving in foodstuffs for the American people will amount to just about 66 cents a year for every man, woman and child in the United States.

The amount of duties paid on articles that have been transferred from the dutiable to the free list during the year 1912 amounted to $7,296,733. On items upon which reductions were made in rates of duty the saving annually will be based upon the 1912 figures $6,112,732. These two classifications bring about a lessening of duties on articles of food amounting to $13,409,465. To this must be added, after three years when sugar becomes free, $53,000,000. That makes a grand total of $66,409,465 in reduction of duties on table articles. Figure that out among 100,000,000 persons, and the personal effect upon each individual is easily ascertained.

The reason chickens go to bed at dark may be because they always choose daylight for their hen parties.

HOW TO MOVE WIRE FENCES.

Excellent Plan Given for Taking Down Wire and Placing in Some Other Location on Farm.

Pull the staples from the bottom wire, and proceed to move it by hitching end of wire to the hind axle of a wagon. If the wire is to be taken across the road or a corner is to be turned, get a large iron pulley and put a large bolt or crowbar thru it, driving the bolt or crowbar well into the ground and leaning slightly in the opposite direction from which wire is to be taken. Tie the top of the crowbar to a stake with a chain, wire or rope. With some one to watch the wire a little, a piece a half mile long may be easily and quickly drawn behind the wagon. After drawing the wire to its new location place the bottom wire on the ground as near as possible to the line of fence, as it should be the first one to be tightened. When there is left only one wire to be moved, begin at the further end of the fence, and bring the posts along. Have water along to wet the ground around the posts to make them pull easier.

Farmer Not to Blame For High Cost of Living.

Frank Johnson of Elmer, N. Y., in a recent communication to the Philadelphia Record, says:

"I notice the beef trust recently put the blame for the high prices of meats on the farmer. As a matter of fact, the large shippers of meat have been trying for years to make it illegal for meat to be sold without the stamp of the government on same. This may be all right but it simply means that the farmer must sell his meat to the large shippers, and they in turn have it stamped and sell to the butcher at whatever price they please. Calves are selling today in South Jersey at nine cents per pound. Twenty years ago calves were sold in the same territory for 7 cents per pound, making a difference of only two cents per lb. Any one fortunate enough to have books showing the price of veal twenty years ago and comparing it with what the butcher charges for the same today will find that some one is making considerably more than the difference between what the farmer is receiving for his calf today and what the calf was sold for twenty years ago.

"From a business standpoint, the farmer is a helpless creature he has no voice in the matter of what his products will sell for, and has to pay for everything he buys just whatever price is asked. This would not be so bad if only he could get a square deal.

"In South Jersey, where white potatoes are raised all over the country and place an inspector at the car door to pass on the stock. In all other lines of business when the inspector passes on the article his inspection is final yet in several instances this summer the farmers have been docked when they receive their checks for what the shippers claimed were rotten potatoes. It is not the farmer that causes the high price of farm products. It is the manipulator standing between the farmer and consumer."

The Bat Is Alright.

Superstition has invested the bat family with an air of mystery and repulsion, but the biological survey of the United States department of agriculture declares that the bat is a harmless creature and a distinctly valuable animal economically. The ordinary bat eats nothing but insects and consequently is ordinarily a benefit rather than a plague to a neighborhood, as they destroy mosquitoes, and a great number of other insects that harm crops and orchards. This, of course, does not apply to the vampire bat of the south.

At the election in November the citizens of Kentucky will have an opportunity to vote on an amendment to the constitution changing the system of taxation in this state. This is a very important measure and should carry by an overwhelming vote.

The Amendment carries the same provisions as the present Law so far as giving the Legislature the power to fix the annual Tax Rate to raise funds for Public Purposes.

It permits the Legislature to divide property into classes and determine what class or classes shall be subject to local Taxation. It requires that Taxes shall be uniform upon all property of the same class.

After the adoption of the Amendment, the Legislature must enact Laws in conformity therewith.

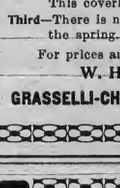
If the New Tax Laws are unsatisfactory, they may be submitted to the people of the State, whose votes will finally settle the method of Taxation.

Thus every safeguard has been thrown around the measure to protect the citizens of the State, and if the Legislature should pass an objectionable law the people will have the opportunity to repudiate it by the Power of Referendum.

Its chief purpose is to subject certain classes of property, now escaping taxation, to the payment of their proper share of revenue.—Blue Grass Clipper.

At the Democratic primary election held in Madison, Ind., on the 14th inst., A. H. McGlasson, son of the late Henry McGlasson, of Taylorsport neighborhood, was nominated for mayor by a plurality of 156 and a majority of 93. He carried each of the three wards in the city over his two opponents. Only two precincts in the city gave a plurality against him.

A. M. EDWARDS
WALTON, KY.



-DEALER IN-
The Best Quality Coal
—THE CELEBRATED—
Campbell's Creek and Pluto Cannel Coal.
JUST ARRIVED! Car load of Buggies which we are selling cheap with guarantee. Buggies Re-rubbered guaranteed, $12.00.
Complete Livery Stable. Funeral Director. All calls answered at any time by Auto.
Also Dealer in Real Estate A. M. EDWARDS, Walton, Ky.

Goode & Dunkie
Have bought out the entire business and good will of the
Covington Seed Company
are able to offer you everything in the Seed Line at the same low prices that we sell Graceries. We want all our friends and customers to see us before they buy as we will sell nothing but the very best grades of tested seed.
We carry a full line of Poultry feeds and remedies such as Pratt's, Hess', Conkey's, Bourbon Poultry Cure, Rex, Germozone, Scratch Feen, Wheat Scraps, &c.
Fall Bulbs now in—plant early and have early flower bed in Spring.
Write For Prices
on anothing you want. We can saue you money.
ARCADE FLOUR
Costs a little more than othsome other brands but is a Great Deal Better.
$5.50
Barrel
Freight Paid.
Golden Blend Coffee
Used in more home than any other brand.
25c.
A POUND.
New Oat Meal and Roll-Oats, 3 pounds.....10c
New Can Peas, 2 lbs.... 5c
New Sorghum, very fine.
New Asparagus Tips,...12c
New Seeded Raisins, lb.10c
New Argo Red Salmon, can.....15c
See us for Seed Potatoes.
We have all kinds coming in each week.
Goode & Dunkie,
19 and 21 Pike street and 18 and 20 W. 7th St.,
Covington, Kentucky.
Groceries, Flour, Seeds and Medicines.

The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO.
Erlanger, Ky.
Has come to stay and is ready for business and will keep on hand at all times a good supply of
Raymond City and Plymouth Coal
in yard and on car at the Lowest Prices Possible, and guarantee 80 lbs. to the bushel. Will also handle Cannel Coal, Kentucky Simi-Candle and Worley Block, and Peidmont strictly blacksmithing Coal.
Your patronage solicited.
The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO
Erlanger, Kentucky.

ORCHARD INSURANCE
Against Scale Insects.
Spray in the Fall—(after leaves have fallen) with GRASSELLI LIME-SULPHUR SOLUTION
For the Following Reasons:
First—The ground is in better condition for moving spray machinery, as it is often soft and mushy in the spring.
Second—The scale insects are more susceptible to the Lime-Sulphur Solution in the fall, as the waxy covering is soft. This covering hardens during the winter months.
Third—There is not so much work crowding at this time as in the spring.
For prices and further information call on or write
W. H. CLAYTON, Hebron, Ky., Distributor.
GRASSELLI CHEMICAL CO., :-: Cincinnati, Ohio

Luncheon
AT
Neat Little Place
For Farmer, Workman, Merchant, Clerk and Professional Man.
R. J. DIBOWSKI'S CAFE
No. 6 Pike Street, - - Covington, Kentucky.
Commercial Plate Luncheon from 11 a. m. to 1:30 p. m.

DON'T EXPECT RELIEF

If you wear wrong glasses you need not expect relief from your eye troubles. Wrong glasses may be worse than none.
We fit them right and get results.
N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,
613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY
Phone, South 1746.

Union Creamery Company
UNION, KENTUCKY
Pays the highest possible price for Butter Fat in whole milk and hand separated cream. Honest tests and weights guaranteed.
A. L. Mallett, :: Manager.
Phone, Consolidated No. 40.

Subscribe for the Recorder.
Read all the ads. in this issue. It will pay you.

Local Happenings.

The jail has been empty for some time.

Cold snaps are due now. Are you prepared for them?

Traveling on dirt roads was bad again following the recent rains.

Tobacco did not burn in the house this fall to amount to anything.

The "let-em do like we did" argument does not advance the country any.

A considerable change in the temperature followed the rain last Saturday.

A new floor has been put in the bridge that spans Woolper creek at Plattsburg.

There has been some very fine weather for shucking shock corn the past week.

The English sparrows have returned to town after an absence of several weeks.

The fly is getting stiff on wing and the screen door can be removed in a few days.

The Grant county circuit court handed out several pretty stiff fines at its October term.

So soon as the weather will permit some of the farmers will kill hogs for their winter's meat.

Small grain in some fields came up nicely, and the rain the past week will make it grow rapidly.

An automobile party from Petersburg passed thru Burlington early last Saturday enroute to the city.

The water courses and the springs have resumed business very much to the satisfaction of the farmers.

J. J. Duncan is hauling lumber for the construction of a large stock barn on his farm out on the Petersburg pike.

Since the base ball news has disappeared from the daily papers, to ball fans it does not look like much is doing.

Elmer Kirkpatrick made his first trip over his beef route last Saturday. He has an entirely new equipment which is swell.

A Rising Sun woman wrote "Trade with Harry" 914 times on the blank side of a government postcard of regulation size.

Walton is preparing for another lively town election. There are generally three tickets in the field there for town officers.

Some of the shade trees about town have about doffed their foliage while others of the same variety have lost but few of their leaves.

The roads campaign in this county is fast if not furious, and it will, doubtless, bring out a large vote at the approaching election.

A very fine rain fell in this part of the country the latter part of last week. It came down gently and all the water went into the ground.

Let the people of Burlington get busy and clean the streets on the two days designated by the Governor for road working—next Friday and Saturday.

J. M. Eddins is soliciting funds with which to pay the expenses of road campaign now on in this county. About everyone approached contributed to the cause.

F. H. Rouse is representing Burlington Masonic Lodge at the Grand Lodge in session in Louisville this week. Mr. Rouse is Junior Warden of the Burlington lodge.

Williamstown's effort to install a system of waterworks is another case of locking the stable after a horse has escaped. There are more horses in the stable, though, at Williamstown.

Ewing Flick, of Belleview, and his aunt, Mrs. Ella Smith, of Whitley, Ind., and his cousin, Miss Mary Wright, of North Manchester, Ind., were business visitors to Burlington, last Saturday.

There is no question but what three-fourths of the voters in this county are anxious to get to vote "yes" on a large bond issue with which to raise money for the improvement of the public roads.

Jailer Samuel Adams had several teams employed the latter part of last week putting in the court house basement and the coal bin at the jail, a car load of coal which he purchased for the use of the county this winter.

It is claimed that a natural gas field has been discovered in Grant county at one point near a creek the gas escapes from the ground in a volume so strong that when lighted flash have been cooked in a pan over it.

The rural tobacco buyers are some what tender footed about loading up with the 1913 crop at prevailing prices. They do not see where their profits are to come in if they pay from $15 to $20 per hundred for tobacco.

Cole's Hot Blast Heaters make a big reasuction in your coal bill—see their advertisement and guarantee.

The rain the past week has been the salvation of the small grain the sowing of which was completed only a few days before the rain came.

Bedford, Milton and Jennings are the only postoffices in Trimble county, and the probability is Jennings will be discontinued by December 1st, after which the county's mail will be delivered by rural carriers from Bedford and Milton.

Mont Slayback has reconsidered and will not go to Walton to work for Scott Chambers. Albert Conner has bought the Furnish propefty occupied by Sam Johnson, and Mr. Slayback will move to it and be furnished employment by Mr. Conner.

Rev. Harlan C. Runyan, of Latonia, will begin a series of meetings at Point Pleasant Christian church on Monday evening, Oct. 27th. Dr. J. Emil Sullivan will accompany him and have charge of music. Services will begin at usual hour. Everyone is invited to attend.

The Recorder has on its subscription list the names of several subscribers it will be compelled by the postal laws to cut off in the next few days if they are not paid up. Look at the printed address on your paper and send in the amount to have your table changed to January 1, 1914, at least.

On next Friday and Saturday you will be afforded a good opportunity to show by work your desire for the improvement of the public roads in this county. If fifteen hundred or two thousand men will go out and work next Friday and Saturday a large number of those last winter mud holes can be knocked out.

The speculators who have gone from the United States into Mexico may succeed yet in involving Uncle Sam in a war with that country. President Wilson will resort to every honorable means possible to avoid a conflict, but the army of crafty speculators may be able to evolve conditions that will ultimately force him to make war on Mexico.

We take this means of thanking the many friends of our son, Reuben, in Burlington for the kindness shown him for what time he was ill there with typhoid fever. He was gotten out sooner than was expected by the most skillful nursing of Miss Cora Aylor and good attentions of Dr. I. E. Carlyle.

P. HAGER AND WIFE.

Cecil L. Gaines has been chosen cashier of the Citizens Deposit Bank in Erlanger to succeed Mr. Smith, who has resigned that position, resignation to take effect Nov. 1. Mr. Gaines is the son of Atty. Sidney Gaines, of Burlington, and was cashier of the Erlanger Deposit Bank for some time, succeeding S. L. Webb, who resigned to enter business in the south.

Your dad used to drive a yoke of steers and linchpin wagon; you drove a pair of roadsters hitched to a top buggy; your son drives a six cylinder 40-horse power automobile. The steers ate buffalo grass and made three miles an hour, the roadsters ate 15 cent corn and four dollar prairie hay and made nine miles an hour, the motor eats 20 cent gasoline and makes twenty-five miles an hour. More speed costs more money.—Ex.

The dealers at Belleview have no coal in their yards and winter is so close at hand as to begin making nervous those persons who depend on them for their supply of winter's fuel. A large territory is supplied by Belleview, and it begins to look like the old time wood pile will be in evidence in that territory this winter, although some have a very limited supply of timber on their land. It looks chilly down in that section.

Animals are not like the machinery on the farm; they have a mind and sensibility that should be given more consideration by those who have to work with them. A machine can be neglected and misused, and the greatest harm that can come of it is that the owner will have to buy a new machine but an animal that is treated in a simular manner is made to suffer pain. Horses get tired and need good food water and rest. Don't treat them like mere machines.—Farmers' Guide.

JOHN J. PIATT DEAD

Expires at The Home of His Daughter At Ottawa, Kansas.

John J. Platt, for many years a well known resident of this county, died in Ottawa, Kan., Oct 14th, 1913, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. C. Floyd. He was born in this county in 1837, received a part of his education in Burlington, under the instruction of Miss Mary Ann Thompson, of whose memory he was ever fond. After his marriage, in 1857, to Ophelia Riddell, he lived at Burlington and later moved to East Bend, where he lived till 1889, when he moved with his family to Charlton county, Mo., where was a prosperous farmer and stockman for fourteen years. After the death of his wife he located in Pawnee county, Kansas, as a western ranchman. Though he was 76 years of age he contemplated a return to his county to greet his old friends once more, but ill health prevented him. He was buried at Brookfield, Missouri, October 16th.

If anyone who subscribed with me for the Menace, published at Aurora, Missouri, and has not received the paper, will please leave word with W. J. Rice or R. S. Cowen by November 18th, as I will be out there on my hunt then and will attend to it for them. The Menace received last week 52-945 yearly new subscribers.

M. S. RICE,
1126 Banklick St.,
Covington, Ky.

Nearly everyone has been talking about the wealth of the farmers and wondering at the rapidity with which they buy motor cars, build fine homes and improve their lands says the Nebraska Farm Journal. But after all we cannot be so very proud of the average farm income. Uncle Sam discovered recently that the average farm income was only $640 a year. That does not mean clear profits, but the whole income. Can you figure where the big profit would come in?

At the annual meeting of the district board of the Burley Tobacco Society and the Burley Tobacco Company, held in Lexington, it was ordered that a final distribution of all of the pool funds remaining in the hands of the society shall be made just as soon as an order of court, settling various tax suits against the society has been entered. This will be good news to the holders of receipts in Boone, as their patience are about worn out waiting for this distribution, which has been promised so often.

In writing to have his Recorder changed from Latonia to Thrall, Texas, where he is now located Dr. Y. F. Hopkins says: "I am now located at the above place and will welcome the Recorder once a week. Thrall is a new town on the L. & G. N. about 40 miles from Austin and 100 miles from San Antonio. The country is fine. Land sells from $175 to $250 an acre. Have not started to make much "stir" yet, but prospects look good. Better take a winter vacation and run down where the sun will shine on you. Kindest regards to all Burlingtonites."

Against an old Georgia negro, charged with stealing a pig, the evidence was absolutely conclusive and the judge, who knew the old darky well, said reproachfully: "Now, uncle, why did you steal that pig?"

"Bekase mah yooh family wuz starvin' yo' honoh," whimpered the old man.

"Family starving" cried the judge. "But they told me you keep five dogs. How is that, uncle?"

"Why, yo' honoh," said uncle, reprovingly, "you wouldn't spect mah family to eat dem dogs!"—Harper's Weekly.

Phillip Ryan, who was brought from Walton to the county infirmary by Scott Chambers, one evening last week, left that institution the next morning for parts unknown. Ryan had been knocked or thrown from a freight train near Walton on the Q. & C. Railroad, and was considerably bruised. He was in somewhat of a dazed condition when he arrived at the infirmary, but was able to say that he was returning from Lexington, this State, where he went to secure a job as a plasterer. He had credentials showing that he belonged to the Union in Cincinnati, and other papers showed that he had boarded at the Burlington hotel in that city. He had $1.00 in money.

Stephenson-Ambrose Marriage.

Miss Rosylee Stephenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Stephenson, of Limaburg, and Mr. Sidney Ambrose, of Rabbit Hash, were united in marriage by Rev. Edgar C. Riley, at the home of the bride's parents, last Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The ceremony was witnessed by a large number of the friends of the contracting parties, many coming from quite a distance. The young couple have the best wishes of numerous friends.

Following is a list of the wedding presents received: Rev. E. C. Riley, spoons; Clar Anderson, pickle dish; Cora Aylor, bowl; C. H. Youell, berry spoon; Mrs. P. Tanner, lamp; Corine Stevens, fancy bowl; Mrs. Clark Beemon, cake plate; Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Tanner, salt and pepper; Mae Farrel, cracker jar; Annie Crigler, salad bowl; Mrs. Pearl Kelly, salad bowl; Jesse Stephenson, set plates; Louis Beemon, salt and pepper; J. W. Rouse, butter knife and sugar spoon; Mrs. M. A. Rouse, set tea spoons; Mrs. W. Wolfe, set tea cups and saucers; Mr. and Mrs. Oatney Ross, tea spoons; Mr. and Mrs. John Ambrose, table spoons; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stahl, butter knife, tea spoons and set plates; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Edwards, table cloth; Mrs. F. Easton, glass dish; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Quigley, table cloth; Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Tanner, water set; Katie Lee Stewart, set glasses; W. R. Rogers and sisters, tea spoons; Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Renaker, bread tray; Fannie Rainer, sugar and cream set; Maud Asberry, salt and pepper; Mrs. E. Crigler, salad bowl; Mr. and Mrs. C. Stephenson, lamp; Mrs. Bettie Davis, butter dish; Mrs. F. Clutterbuck, butter knife; Mrs. J. W. Chiter, tea pot; Mr. and Mrs. D. Houston, bowl; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Roberts, coffee pot; Leola Clore, bowl; Ina and Isabella Jewels; Bert Rouse and wife, water set; Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Fisher, berry set; F. Easton, dark glass bowl; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Conner, dozen tea spoons; Mrs. J. S. Asberry, card tray; Mr. and Mrs. James Feilt, cups and saucers; Mrs. Baker, 6 cotton; L. S. Beemon, 9 yds. gingham; Ben Houston and wife, fancy dish; Mrs. James Asberry, dessert dishes; Jerry Beemon, pair blankets; Mr. and Mrs. Garnett, table cover; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. B. Rouse, $2; Oliver Russ, $2; John Aylor, $1.

The position of keeper of the first toll-gate out on the Petersburg pike seems hard to fill.

W. W. GAINES

A Former Boone County Boy Elected Moderator of The Atlanta Association of Baptists.

Atty. W. W. Gaines, of Atlanta, Georgia, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Gaines, of Bullittsville, this county was elected Moderator of the Atlanta, Georgia, Association of Baptists at a recent session of that body. In the association are 115 ordained ministers. An Atlanta paper says:

"Upon assuming the chair, the new moderator, Mr. Gaines, thanked the body for the honor they had conferred upon him. He said that when he was a boy he attended an association in the country, and he thought what a big thing it must be to be moderator. And now that he had been made moderator of an association greater many times in every way than that little country association he deeply appreciated the honor. He also recommended to the association the appointment of a committee on efficiency, to make report to the association and suggest improvements, if they could, in the conduct of the association. He stated that the fact that the association had been conducted in a given way for the last hundred years was no reason why it should continue in the same way; that it occurred to him if there could be fewer formal reports and more of inspiration, it might be better; that this association is the biggest religious gathering that most of its members ever attend; that it is to them what the Georgia Baptist convention is to those who attend it and what the southern Baptist convention is to the comparative few who attend it; that the Atlanta association is really a sort of state convention, anyway that there are more Baptists in the Atlanta association than in many of the individual states of the union, and that, this being the case, association should be planned accordingly."

Fifty-two churches constitute the Association, and the total membership of which is 15,967.

"I can cut more corn with my feet than most men can with their hands," said Ira Rinehart, northwest of Fulton, Monday.

Then he explained. "I fasten a specially made knife to my right foot, strapping the brace to my leg, and as I walk down the corn row I raise my right foot to the right height and with a downward sep motion cut the stalk. It gives me both hands with which to handle the corn, while cutting the stalks is simply of keeping my steps right. Checked corn is easier to cut than drilled corn, because it is distanced just about as a man steps, and every step I take off comes a hill. I cut my shocks ten hills square—five up and 5 down which brings me right back to my shock with an armful of fodder."

Mr. Rinehart used to live in Wisconsin, and he says the plan is used generally in the Badger State.—Fulton, Mo., Gazette.

Card of Thanks—I desire to extend thanks to our many friends, neighbors and relatives for their sympathy during the illness of our dear sister, Daisy May Nixon; also to Bro. Edgar Riley for his comforting words, and Mr. Scott Chambers for his efficient service.

Jessie Bondurant.

The following Burlington young people attended the theater last Saturday night: Misses Frances Riddell, Eunie Stephens, Ruth Kelly, Margaret Hughes, Courtney Kelly, Reuben Hager, Robert Gaines, Walton Dempsey, Jack Eddins, Roll Dix, Walter Brown, Hubert White, E. E. Kelly.

Joseph Clements and family of Erlanger, will move to a farm near Chicago, Illinois, this week. They are most excellent people and they leave many friends in this neighborhood who are sorry to have them leave their midst.

An auto in which some of the Masons were coming to Burlington, last Saturday afternoon, went out of commission out on the Petersburg pike, and Bernard Gaines brought them the remainder of the trip in his machine.

Dear Editor of the Recorder—I will be on hand with team to work the road Oct. 21 and 25th, and hope all others on my section of the road will be out to help.

H. S. Tanner.

As road workers the Recorder force is very much in demand and its presence has been requested in every direction, but it will not compromise the matter by not going anywhere.

Chas. Clore, who resides out on the East Bend road, added to the stant supplies in this writer's larder, a few days ago, a nice hog jole, cured as only Mr. Clore knows ow.

There are several very fine flocks of turkeys in this part of the county, for which the owners expect to realize considerable sums of money.

Elmer Kirkpatrick is delighted with the reception he was given last Satu day, on which day he made the first trip over his beef route.

The damp chilly weather the past week has been very unpleasent, but the rain that came was needed very much.

Next Friday and Saturday are road-working days. Be sure and go out and participate in the exercises.

Master Milton Revill, of Frankfort, who was critically ill for several days, is very much improved.

SALE AT COST.

As I expect to quit buisness, will sell my entire stock of Millinery and Notions, before christmas.

Hats, Felt and Velvet shapes.....75c-$100
Trimmed Hats..$1.50-$3
Ladie's all-wool sweaters were $2. 50 now...$2.00
$1.00 Corsets now....85c
75c Corsets now.....60c
50c Corsets now.....35c
5c Kerchiefs 3 for....10c
White and Black Shoe Polish.....08c
50c Silk Scarfs.....35c
Gloves, Belts, Veils, Ties, Collars, D. M. C. Cotton, Ribbons, Pins, Etc.

Mrs. B. L. Cleek,
Union, Kentucky.

PUBLIC SALE.

I will sell on Wednesday, Nov. 12th, beginning at nine o'clock a. m., at the S. C. Johnson farm 2½ miles west of Walton, Ky., a large amount of farming property consisting of six horses, four mules, six fine milk cows, Jersey bull eligible to registry, three heifer calves, three sows and 27 pigs, three gilts, 400 bushels of corn, ten tons of timothy and clover hay, about 2,000 pounds of tobacco, large lot of farming implements, saddles, harness, poultry supplies, household furniture, and a large number of articles too numberous to mention. Terms Nine months without interest. The Ladies Aid of Walton M. E. church will serve dinner.

A. R. JOHNSON,
V. S. Metcalfe, Auctioneer.

MISCELLANEOUS FOR SALE.

For Sale—Good 4-year old work mule, yearling mule, 7 year old work and driving horse, about three tons clover hay and some cowpea hay. Apply to J. E. Botts, Bullittsville, Ky. tf.

Wanted—A good farm hand, married man, house and garden furnished and good wages to the right parties. Call on or address H. W. Snyder, Burlington, Ky., R. D. 3, Phone 194.

For Sale—Six head of horses and colts Apply to J. D. Mayhugh, Walton, Ky 2-m.

For Sale—Four Duroc boars, eligible to register. Apply to R. O. Hughes, Richwood.

For Sale—Three sows with twenty-four pigs. Apply to Joe Myers, near Union.

For Sale—Two suckling mules. Apply to C. H. Bristow, Union.

WANTED

Man and family to take charge of farm on the Bellevue pike about 11 miles from Burlington, Ky. Good house, cow and chickens furnished—must state salary expected. Address this office.

A Live Wire in Congress.

While general regret is expressed over the voluntary resignation of Congressman Ben Johnson, of the First District, as the Kentucky member of the Democratic Congressional Committee, there is a genuine joy over the fact that he is succeeded by Congressman A. B. Rouse, of the Sixth District. Mr. Rouse is one of the real "live wires" not only in the Kentucky delegation in Congress, but in the entire membership of the House. He is a pastmaster in the art of conducting a political campaign and he will be found by his associates on the important Congressional Campaign Committee to be splendidly equipped for his new duties. His many friends sincerely congratulate the Sixth district Congressman on the new honor conferred upon him and know he'll "make good."—Louisville Times.

Road Meetings.

The schedule for steropticon road lectures by E. L. Dix is given below. Other speakers will be present at all these meetings. It is realized that whatever is done on this or any other question in Boone county will be done upon the good judgment and not upon coercion of the voters of the county. These meetings will be conducted on the high plain of education and investigation. All are invited to attend and to take part in the discussions:

Verona, October 18.
Bullittsville, October 22.
Big Bone, October 25.
Mt. Zion, October 29.
Belleview, November 1st.

Committee.

The Belleview and Hebron base ball teams will play a game at Burlington next Saturday afternoon. Batteries—Black and Zimmer for Hebron, Sandford and Clore for Belleview.

The turkey crop in the State is said to be below the average.

WeLead

The Grocery and Seed business and our 50 years success is due to Honest Advertising, giving Best Quality at Lowest Prices.

Thousands of Satisfied Customers

WILL VOUCH FOR THIS. SEND YOUR ORDER.

Write For Prices. YOU'LL BE CONVINCED

For Better and Whiter Bread, Use

RARUS
BEST WINTER PATENT
GEO. W. HILL & CO.
COVINGTON, KY.

(THE PERFECT)
$5.25 Per Bbl
Freight Paid to your Station

Drink
NOBETTER
COFFEE
It's the Best on Earth.
Freight paid on 20 lbs or More.

BLEND
COFFEE
A GOOD DRINK
20c Per Lb.

Best Granulated
SUGAR
$4.50 Per 100 Lbs

25 lb. box
Fancy California
Evaporated Peaches
$2.00

POTATOES
ON TRACK.
WRITE FOR PRICES.

Tell Us What You Want.
Write for Prices.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.
GROCERS & SEEDMEN,
27-29 Pike St. or 26 W. 7th,
Covington, Ky.

Established 1863.

TAX LAWS IN KY. CAUSES EVASION

Present Unsatisfactory Laws Responsible for Small Returns

Retard Development and Lower Standard of Integrity—Efforts To Secure a Better System of Taxation Has Been Persistent for Fifteen Years.

Frankfort, Ky.—(Special)—The efforts to secure a better system of taxation for Kentucky have been persistent for fifteen years but owing to the ironclad restrictions in the state constitution it is exceedingly difficult to secure any change.

Tax commissions have repeatedly been appointed by authority of the legislatures and these commissions have unanimously condemned the general property tax which was adopted by the last constitutional convention and as the law is constitutional it has been impossible for the legislature alone to repeal it.

However, the last general assembly undertook to amend the constitution as provided by law and this amendment will have to be ratified by the people at the November election and if it fails to carry it cannot be voted on again for another five years.

The effect of the present law is to drive people and money from the state and to prevent other people and money from coming in and building up our industries.

This is how the general property tax is regarded by outsiders as indicated in a report of a commission appointed in another state and it applies in all respects to our present tax system.

"The personal property tax is a farce. It falls inevitably upon the comparatively few who are caught. The burden it imposes upon production is out of all proportion to the revenue it produces.

"Year after year state and local assessing boards have denounced it as impracticable in its workings and unjust in its results. These recommendations have for the most part passed unheeded or have led to ineffectual attempts to bolster up the law. It is time the situation was faced squarely, and the tax in its present form abolished.

"So far as the personal property tax attempts to reach intangible forms of wealth, its administration is so comical as to have become a byword.

"Such a method of collecting revenue would be a serious menace to democratic institutions were it not so generally recognized as a howling farce.

"But it is not a farce to those who are fully assessed. These are chiefly the widows and orphans who are caught when their property is listed in the probate court, farmers, retail merchants and others, incorporated or unincorporated, with stocks of goods, and the small investors who are not skilful enough to make non-taxable investments."

The state referred to has changed its tax system and already the receipts from taxation have increased enormously and the peculiar effect of it has been to lower the taxes on lands and improvements by securing a greater revenue from personal property which had formerly produced little or no returns.

Kentucky must increase its revenues to keep up its schools and public institutions and it would be manifestly unfair to make the property at present paying taxes sustain this added burden, but under the present law there is no other recourse.

If the amendment carries and the legislature is empowered to classify property so as to bring under the assessor's scrutiny the vast amount of personal property now escaping taxation the revenues can be increased and taxes on lands and houses diminished and what is more important than all we will be able to develop our resources, maintain our population and attract capital and people who will help to build up the state.

Ohio has recently changed its tax laws and has already been benefited and Tennessee is about to renounce the general property tax. Other states have either long since abolished it or are preparing to do so.

The present system in Kentucky was popular when the country was young and wealth largely confined to real estate which could not be hidden.

Wealth is now largely in personal securities which the assessor can not locate and in consequence this class of property escapes almost entirely.

Can we afford to neglect this great question and yet hope to compete with neighboring states which are less favored than ours naturally but have the advantage of cheap money and low taxes?

If the amendment fails to carry the next census will show that Kentucky has moved down another peg or so in its standing among the states and those at present paying taxes will inevitably have to pay more on the same property while others will escape by hiding their personal property from the assessors.

BREEDING PLACE OF MICROBE

French Bacteriologist Gives Salt the First Place as an Infection Ground.

Salt has always been regarded as a pretty safe thing, but M. Andouard, a French bacteriologist, has been making a study of it, and has come to the conclusion that it is a veritable hotbed of microbes of all kinds, and a possible source of more or less severe infections.

Sea water near the shore, and consequently in the immediate vicinity of the saltbeds, contains, we are told by the Paris correspondent of the Lancet, considerable quantities of bacteria, of which the preliminary clarification beds favor the multiplication. This naturally is augmented by the raking of the beds with unclean instruments and the feet of the waders.

The gray salt used for cooking and baking is of this kind. The fine salt is less rich in harmful germs, though not entirely exempt. In spite of the redissolving and clarification of the fresh liquid and the action of heat to induce a recrystallization, there still remain about 2,400 microbic colonies to the grain of white salt. On a ham cured in salt liquor, M. VanErmengem found the very poisonous bacillus botulinus.

M. Andouard concludes from his observations that salt is a substance more or less impure from both the chemical and bacteriological point of view, and that serious measures are called for refining, sterilization and clean packing—to put an end to the disorders that may be caused by this product.

TURN FROM MEDICAL STUDY

Past Year Has Witnessed a Marked Decrease in the Number of Students Enrolled.

During the past year there were 640 women studying medicine, or 39 less than last year, a decrease of 40 below 1911 and a decrease of 367 below 1910. The percentage of women students to the total number of medical students was 3.8, as compared with 3.2 last year. There were 154 women graduates this year, or 3.8 per cent of all graduates.

There has been a very marked decrease, says the Journal of the American Medical association, in the number of women in medicine since 1910, when there were 907 women students and 157 graduates, and in 1909, when there were 921 women students and 162 graduates. Of all the women matriculants, 138 (21.6 per cent.) were in attendance at the two medical colleges for women, as compared with 143 (21.1 per cent.) in 1912, 134 (19.7 per cent.) in 1911, and 155 (17.1 per cent.) in 1910. The remaining 502 (78.4 per cent.) were matriculated in the 55 coeducational colleges. From the two women's colleges there were 33, or 21.4 per cent. of all women graduates, while 121, or 78.6 per cent., secured their degrees from coeducational colleges.

Interesting Legal Opinion.

A decision by the supreme court of Minnesota is not supported by many authorities but is regarded by the New York Law Journal as "of much interest and essentially just." It is the case of the city of Minneapolis versus Canterbury, in which it not only applies to an officer of a municipal corporation the obligation of absolute faith in dealing on behalf of the city, but similarly, as with an agent in behalf of a private principal, holds him liable in a direct action to recover the proceeds of the breach of his public trust inuring to his public benefit. The court laid down the rule that "where a city officer, while acting in an advisory capacity to a committee of the council charged with the selection of a site for a building to be used in connection with his department, purchased certain land with the view of selling it to the city for such purpose, and conveyed it to a third person, who, pursuant to the plan, sold it to the city at an advanced price, the officer became a trustee for and liable to the city to the extent of the difference between the price paid by him and that paid by the city."

Couldn't Afford to Laugh.

Hickory Wood, the pantomime writer, used to tell an amusing story of a theatrical manager who once shared his box at a provincial pantomime. When the principal comedian entered and did his best, the manager, with a scowl on his brow, leant over to Mr. Wood, and remarked: "I want to engage that man for next Christmas in my production."

"Do you think he is funny?" Mr. Wood asked.

"Screamingly funny," returned the manager.

"Then why don't you laugh?" asked Mr. Wood.

"Laugh, when he's got his eyes on me?" replied the manager. "And every smile means that he'll ask another fiver a week."

Oldtime Bearded Women.

A bearded woman was taken by the Russians at the battle of Pultowa. She was such a curiosity that she was given to Czar Peter I. Her beard measured 1½ yards. Margaret of Savoy, daughter of Maximilian I, emperor of Germany, and governor of the Netherlands 1507 to 1530, had a very long, stiff beard. In Bavaria at the time of Wolfius there lived a woman with a great long beard, Mlle. Bois de Chene, born at Geneva, it was said, in 1834, was exhibited in London when she was eighteen years old. She had a profuse head of hair and strong black beard.

Take your County paper.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of Execution No. 2654 directed to me, which issued from the Clerk's Office of the Kenton Circuit Court, in favor of the Florence Deposit Bank against Morris Judge, I or one of my deputies, will, on Monday, the 3d day of Nov. 1913, between the hours of 1 o'clock p. m. and 2 o'clock p. m., at the Court house door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., expose to public sale, to the highest bidder, the following described property, (or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy plaintiff's debt, interest and costs) to-wit: The undivided one-fourth interest of Morris Judge in the following described tract of land lying and being in Boone county, Ky., and bounded as follows to-wit: On the west by the Union & Beaver Lick Turnpike, on the north by White Haven and L. W. Lassing's land, on the south by the lands of D. L. Hicks and containing forty-four (44) acres and being the same land which descended to said Morris Judge upon the death of his father, Batty Judge, and which was owned by said Batty Judge at time of his death, levied upon as the property of Morris Judge.

Terms—Sale will be made on a credit of 6 months, bonds with approved security required, bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from day of said sale and having the force and effect of a Judgment. Amount to be made by sale, $214.94.

B. B. HUME, S. B. C.

Election Notice.

BOONE COUNTY COURT.

Regular Term, 1 day September, 1913
M. J. Crouch and others on petition.

It appearing that at the last regular term of this Court, held August 4th, 1913, M. J. Crouch and five hundred and thirty-four (534) others filed their petition herein asking that a vote be taken upon the proposition to have free turnpikes and gravel roads in Boone County; and it further appearing upon proof heard in open Court, that said petition is signed by a number of legal voters in this county equal to fifteen (15) per cent of the total vote cast in this county at the last preceding general election held in Boone County for the year 1912, and no exceptions, protests or objections having been made, taken or filed herein against said petition, it is now ordered and directed that B. B. Hume, Sheriff, cause a poll to be opened in each and all of the regular voting precincts in Boone County, at the next regular County Election to be held on November 4th, 1913, to take the sense of the qualified voters of Boone Co. upon the proposition to have free turnpikes and gravel roads in said county. Said election will be held by the same officers that hold said regular November Election for said year 1913, and in all respects in accordance with the provisions of the general election laws of this State; and the question "Are you in favor of free turnpikes and gravel roads" shall be printed on the ballots, as provided by section 1459 Kentucky Statutes; and the Clerk of this Court will cause said question to be printed on the official ballots for said general election.

Said Sheriff will cause this order to be published in the Boone County Recorder, a weekly newspaper published in this county for at least thirty days prior to said election; and he will also advertise said election by written or printed hand-bills, posted in at least four conspicuous places in each voting precinct in this county for the same length of time.

The Clerk of this court will, within five (5) days after the entry of this order, certify same to B. B. Hume, a sheriff of Boone Co. Kentucky.

State of Kentucky
County of Boone

I, W. R. Rogers Clerk of the County Court in and for the County aforesaid, do certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of an order made this day in the Boone County Court in the matter of Election of Free Turnpikes &c., as appears of record in my office.

Given under my hand this 1st day of September 1913.

W. R ROGERS, Clerk.

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the above order an election will be held at the time, places and for the purpose mentioned in said order.

Witness my hand this the 2d day of September 1913.

B. B. HUME, Sheriff
Boone County Kentucky.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

All persons indebted to the firm of J. Ernst & Son, Hebron, Ky., are requested to call and settle, and those having claims against the same will present them to the undersigned proven as by law required.

ED ERNST, Surviving Partner.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.

Persons Indebted to the estate o the late W. L. Pope, deceased, will please come forward and settle, and those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned proven according to law.

W. H. POPE, Admr.

Going Some.

Uhlan, the most wonderful trotting horse the world has ever known, the holder of more world's records than any horse, either trotter or pacer, added another world's mark to his already long list at Lexington, when hitched to a pole with the Billing's runner, Slats, he made the circuit in 1:59 1-2, the fastest mile ever covered by a light harness horse. A more wonderful mile was never trotted and it is expected that if this big black gelding is started against the world's record of 1:58 (his own) for a trotter in the open, he will lower that mark to a point where it will remain years to come.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of Execution No. 41722 directed to me, which issued from the Clerk's Office of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky, in favor of Virginia Buckner, &c., by their guardian John C. Buckner against Ben Kelly, M. Kelly and Carry Kelly Nary, I or one of my deputies, will, on Monday, the 3d day of November, 1913, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m., and 2 o'clock p. m., at the Courthouse door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., expose to public sale, to the highest bidder, the following described property (or so much thereof, as may be necessary to satisfy plaintiff's debt, interest and costs) to wit:

Situated in the town of Florence, Boone county, Ky.; Beginning at the Northwest side of the Covington and Lexington Turnpike at the corner of the P. Hampton grocery; thence along the edge of the sidewalk n 41¼ e 127½ feet to the southwest corner of Zollooffer's lot; thence with the line of said lot n 45¾ w 17 poles and 17½ links to a stone; thence s 51½ e 42½ feet to a stone Zollooffer's corner in Linville Souther's line; thence with Souther's line n 45¼ w 13 poles and 25 links to a stone near a branch; thence n 71 w 7 2-3 to a stone and a Beech tree; thence 45¼ w 4 poles and two links to a post in Aaron Yeager's line corner of Sam Lindsay; thence with his line s 45¾ e 31½ poles to a stone; thence s 47 e 10¼ feet to a locust post in Lindsay's line a corner of P. A. Hampton's lot; thence with the line of said lot n 54 e 32 feet to a stone; thence s 46 e 80½ feet to the beginning, levied upon as the property of Ben Kelly, M. Kelly and Carrie Kelly Nary.

Terms—Sale will be made on a credit of three months, bonds with approved secuaity required, bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, from day of sale and having the force and effect of a Judgment. Amount to be made by sale, $50.40.

B. B. HUME, S. B. C.

All persons indebted to the estate of J. J. Tanner, deceased, must call and settle with the undersigned, and those having claims against said estate will present them to him proven according to law.

CLARENCE TANNER.

Wont you Let

MY CLOTHING DO THE TALKING FOR THEMSELVES?

Kindly come in and see them. I will do business with you without argument You will find Quality and Workmenship.

MENS SUITS and OVERCOATS.....$5.00 to $18.00

YOUNG MEN'S SUITS AND OVERCOATS.....$3.00 to $15.00

Young Men, you must see these suits and Overcoats to appreciate their value.

Children's Norfolk Knickerbocker Suits well made and Durable $2.75, $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00.

Mothers you must see these to realize the bargains I am offering. A complete line of Corderoy and Duck Coats and Pants, the clothing out door workers need when disagreeable weather comes ou insures health and comfort.

Selmar Wachs

Successor to

Rolfes & Wachs,

NO. 1 Pike Street, Near Madison Ave.,

COVINGTON, KY.

Do Your Dollars Fly up the Flue?

Coal costs money. You know it. The winter's coal costs BIG money. You know that also. Yet, half of it is wasted by poor management. Oh, yes it is! Listen and be convinced.

Ordinary soft coal is half gas. An average ton of $3.00 coal contains about 14,000 cubic feet of gas—common illuminating gas. A gas which will, if properly mixed with air, burn with an intensely hot blue flame. This gas represents the best half of your ton of coal.

This unburned gas and a large portion of the heat IS CARRIED UP THE CHIMNEY by the air leaking cracks in stoves of ORDINARY construction.

There is only one way to save this wasted gas and heat and that is with a

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater

which is so constructed that it has no air leaking cracks. In this wonderful heater and fuel-saver the gas is kept under perfect control until oxidized and burned.

It is the only stove that is made tight—holds tight—stays tight.

It is the only stove that saves the wasted chimney heat.

It's the only stove that gives you a constant, steady heat with soft coal, hard coal or lignite.

It will give you all the heat that is in your coal.

It will hold your fire 36 hours without attention.

It will burn all kinds of fuel.

It is guaranteed to consume one-third less fuel than any lower draft stove of the same size, using soft coal, lignite or slack.

AND—It is sold you under a guarantee to fill all these claims.

Back of this guarantee is the credit and capital of an immense factory and it is worth to you 100 cents on the dollar.

COME IN AND SEE IT. IT MEANS DOLLARS IN YOUR POCKET AND A PLEASED CUSTOMER FOR US.

LOUIS MARX & BRO

516-522 Madison Avenue, Covington, Ky

840 Monmouth Street, Newport, Ky

HOT BLAST STOVES & RANGES

111

See the name "Cole's" on the feed door of each stove. None genuine without it

ANCIENT AND MODERN WAR

Idle to Make Comparison as to the Courage Required by the Soldiers of the Period.

Much is written of the terrors of modern war. Little is written of the terrors of the wars of old. Yet it is doubtful if war today makes greater demands on human courage than war in the time of Grant, of Washington, of Turenne, of Caesar, of Alexander.

Consider a stand-up infantry fight in the days of the revolution. After the preliminary cannonade and long-distance musketry practice, the two regiments marched toward each other in close ranks. At a given distance, frequently at thirty yards, there was a halt, a smashing volley, and then a bayonet charge through the smoke. Bullets those days were large and of soft lead, and the man who was hit went down. Over him tramped his comrades or the enemy, shooting and stabbing.

That was the type of infantry battles for 150 years. To minimize the courage needed to make a good soldier under such circumstances is to fly in the face of common sense.

Modern war requires a different type of courage from that needed of old. The old touch of elbows is lacking. The old feeling of companionship is gone. The modern soldier must be more alert, better taught, keener witted than the olden soldier of equal value. But it does not follow that the modern soldier is the braver man.

The man who fought at the "bloody angles" of Chickamauga and Spottsylvania, at Bunker Hill and Oriskany, at Rivoli, Zorndorf and Miliplaquet, had no need to learn heroism in any modern school. It was there already.

HELPLESS WITHOUT THE DOG

Seemingly Owner of Cows Had Not Thought That He Himself Might Go After Them.

An Atlanta man tells of an amusing experience he had in a mountainous region in a southwestern state, where the inhabitants are notoriously shiftless. Arriving at a dilapidated shanty at the noon hour, he inquired as to the prospect for getting dinner.

The head of the family, who had been "resting" on a fallen tree in front of his dwelling, made reply to the effect that he "guessed ma'd hev suthin' onto the table putty soon."

With this encouragement the traveler dismounted. To his chagrin, however, he soon discovered that the food set before him was such that he could not possibly "make a meal." He made such excuses as he could for his lack of appetite, and finally bethought himself of a kind of nourishment which he might venture to take and which was sure to be found in any locality. He asked for some milk.

"Don't have milk no more," said the head of the place. "The dawg's dead."

"The dog!" cried the stranger. "What on earth has the dog to do with it?"

"Well," explained his host meditatively, "them cows don't seem to know 'nough to come up an' be milked their selves. The dog, he used to go for 'em an' fetch 'em up."—Lippincott's.

American Style.

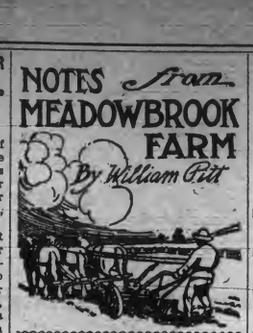
New Yorkers are so accustomed to seeing things done in their own way that they never stop to think how they are done until somebody else makes a virtue of doing them that way. Two American women who had always accepted everything at home as a universal custom were astonished to see in a London drug store window this notice:

"American drugs and drinks. Parcels fastened American style."

They were sufficiently interested to step in and inquire what the American style was?

"With rubber bands," said the clerk, and deftly snapped a band around a bottle in the familiar way.

"But how else would you fasten it?" they asked.



"With sealing wax," he said. "No conservative English firm would dream of using anything else. It is only the stores that make a bid for the American trade that will use rubber bands."

Urgent Need of More Water.

If a reason is sought for the hold which beer drinking has on people it may be found in part in the difficulty of getting water to drink. That also gives the soda fountains business. The New York Tribune has published a letter from a citizen of New Jersey who complained that he could not get a drink of water in New York city. His complaint is just, and it applies to every town and city. The person who wishes a cooling draft must pay money, five cents at least, for it, and he can rarely get water even then. Various attempts to meet the lack have failed, and the discovery of the germ theory has contrived to render the failure apparently final.

Profanity Once Indispensable.

Swearing was at one time regarded as an indispensable accomplishment. Evelyn Ashley once told Sir Algernon West that on his father becoming Lord Shaftesbury, Lady Caroline Neeid, his sister, said to him, in all seriousness, "Now that you have come into the title, you must learn to swear. Your father always did, and gained great respect by it in the county." Those were the days when the archbishop of Canterbury, calling upon Lord Melbourne to discuss some business, said: "Now, my lord, it will save time if, before we begin, we assume that everybody and everything is damned."—London Chronicle.

Have a cement floor.

• • •

A sheep is a good grub-hoe.

• • •

Crowding hens invite disease.

• • •

Keep the sheep uniform in type and size.

• • •

Quick profits from hogs are usually greatest.

• • •

The pen of pigs that is uneven in size needs assorting.

• • •

About fifteen different breeds of sheep are now recognized.

• • •

The root cellar needs ventilation in order to prevent mold and decay.

• • •

Have you cut out and burned those old raspberry canes that have fruited?

• • •

Hens are supposed to be honest, but they are frequently caught stealing a nest.

• • •

Weed seeds, shrunken grain, and bits of earth and stone never will grow wheat.

• • •

Reliable statistics show that sheep are relatively free from disease dangerous to man.

• • •

The foundation of all successful dairying must be the education of the individual dairyman.

• • •

If the little colts are slow to shed their coats, feed a little oil meal or use the horse clippers.

• • •

A steer that can get it when he wants it will consume about one-fifth of a pound of salt per week.

• • •

Feed your horse clean food; if your oats are dusty, clean them, and don't feed hay full of dust or dirt.

• • •

The type of the sheep that combines a large body with a good fleece is the one for the small flock owner.

• • •

The United States government looks upon the poultry industry as one of the greatest industries in the country.

• • •

One mistake in hen culture is not to feed the hen well when she is "dry." A molting hen is doing hard work.

• • •

As young pigs grow their rations should be gradually increased, as quick growth is necessary for the best profit.

• • •

The cow with the biggest appetite, other things being equal, is the one which will give the most milk and butterfat.

• • •

Corn silage and alfalfa hay make an ideal ration for the dairy cow which requires little, if any, grain to balance it.

• • •

The main reliance of the poultry breeder is the certainty that he will always have a fairly profitable market for his meat and eggs.

• • •

It isn't necessary to be without a job just because there isn't much field work to do. Fall is a good time to slick up a bit around the place.

• • •

Some poultrymen in order to obtain the best prices for their broilers hatch from October 1 to February 1, and have all the stock marketed by July 1.

• • •

When hens become too fat the result is apt to be egg bound, soft and irregular shaped eggs, dizziness, apoplexy, liver complaint and kindred diseases.

• • •

The folks that eat eggs are more and more demanding good fresh eggs. That is just what they will get from the nests of the up-to-date poultry farmer.

• • •

The finest remedy for scaly legs is to dip the parts affected in a solution of equal parts of sweet oil and coal oil, in which has been mixed one or two handfuls of sulphur.

• • •

In selecting ducks for breeding purposes size of frame, length of body and general activity should be looked for. Without size of body we cannot expect to obtain large ducklings.

• • •

There are profits in raising good horses and mules as one of the features of farming. Get a few good mares and let them bring you a good income raising horses and mules.

• • •

The skin of the Langshan is a pure white, and not a dark or bluish white. The meat is fine grained, tender and juicy, thin skin and small bone, and while possibly not so much admired in the market as the yellow skinned breeds, none surpass it for tenderness and flavor when served on the table.

Never keep a scrub hen.

• • •

Keep the hens scratching.

• • •

Get rid of surplus cockerels.

• • •

Skim milk is best for growth.

• • •

Whips do not improve horses.

• • •

Keep salt and charcoal before the hogs.

• • •

A long whip never made a man a good driver.

• • •

Very beneficial to the farmer is the woodpecker.

• • •

Feed floors save feed and keep it clean and wholesome.

• • •

Allowing unnecessary limbs to grow is a waste of plant energy.

• • •

Draining butter well before salting will help its keeping qualities.

• • •

Birds are worth dollars and cents to the farmer and the orchardist.

• • •

A dull plow-lay is one of the most rapid money-wasters on the farm.

• • •

Have regular hours for feeding your horse and give him sufficient time to eat.

• • •

Good breed, good feed and good care are essential in producing good dairy cows.

• • •

It would be a patriotic act to sow that weedy roadside to alfalfa or sweet clover.

• • •

A pound of mutton can be produced at less cost than any other kind of meat.

• • •

Hot bed sashes are usually 3 by 6 feet in dimensions, but smaller sizes may be used.

• • •

Sacrificing good mothers and breeders has put many a farmer out of the hog business.

• • •

Exercise is a better laying stimulant for the hens than heat-producing condiments.

• • •

Handle the brood sows so that the young pigs will begin to grow from the time of their birth.

• • •

Hogs running on alfalfa should receive grain rich in carbohydrates, for alfalfa is rich in protein.

• • •

The irritation caused by a poor driver lessens the ability of a good horse to do its best work.

• • •

If you are buying a horse, get him on a slow trot. Then, if ever, he will show any lameness he may have.

• • •

The worst thing about it is that the man "who has better birds at home" really believes what he says.

• • •

A weekly coal oil bath for nest boxes and roosts will not give lice and mites much of a chance to spread.

• • •

Be so careful in the choice of a blacksmith that it is not necessary for your horse to wear an interfering boot.

• • •

It is entirely possible that you may be able to double the income from your cows by selling half of them.

• • •

It pays to let the flock have plenty of nourishing food during the moult. Moulting is quite a strain on a bird's vitality.

• • •

There is nothing that produces stiffness, inflammation and unsoundness faster than standing still in a stall day after day.

• • •

The Houdan is a small-boned fowl, having a thick breast, and the flesh is tender and juicy. They make fine broilers and the best roasters.

• • •

All indications point to high beef and pork this winter. That being the case we may expect to see eggs soar too. Don't sell off too many pullets.

• • •

Keep your horses well groomed, as a well kept animal not only appears better but keeps easier, feels better (like a man after a bath) than one neglected.

• • •

So construct your poultry house that every piece of its contents is easily shifted and moved. By doing so you will greatly facilitate the inevitable war against parasites.

• • •

The cow-born turnip, when left in the ground, is a great soil improver, the decaying of which adds humus to the soil, and puts the land in the best possible condition for future crop production.

• • •

Do not sell the horse that has grown old in your service to a huckster or a junk dealer, to be beaten, starved and abused. It is too much like sending one's wornout father to the poor farm.

• • •

The trap nest is a regular detective. It tells the facts of the case, it tames the hens, it gives accurate reports, it arrests the robber hens, it gives an honest count and it exposes the fraudulent hens.

• • •

The following formula for roup pills is recommended: Half a dram each of cayenne pepper, ginger and mustard, half ounce of plain vaseline or clear lard, mix thoroughly and add enough flour to make a stiff dough. Make into pills the size of pea. Dose, one night and morning.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Kentucky.
Mary Ellen Snyder's heirs, Plaintiff
Against | Equity.
Mary Ellen Snyder's heirs, &c., Defendants.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the August term thereof, 1913, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court House door in the town of Burlington, Boone county, Ky., to the highest bidder at public sale, on Monday, the 3d day of Nov., 1913, at 1 o'clock p. m., or thereabouts, being County Court day, upon a credit of six and twelve months, the following property, to-wit:

Situated in Boone county, Kentucky, near Gunpowder creek, south of Burlington, and described as follows; Bounded on the east by the lands of Thomas E. Summers and Kirb Crisler, on the west by the lands of Robert Rouse, Elizabeth Mullen, John D. Mitchell and Frank Mullen, on the north by the lands of Hubert Bachelor and Thomas E. Summers, on the South by the lands of Kirb Crisler and Add Robbins, containing about 74 acres.

Or sufficient thereof to produce the sums of money so ordered to be made. For the purchase price the purchaser, with approved security or securities, must execute bonds bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment, with a lien retained therein until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these erms. Amount to be raised by sale $697.09.

CHAS. MAURER,
Master Commissioner.

PUBLIC SALE.

I will offer for sale at public auction at my residence on Woolper Heights, two miles northwest of Burlington, Ky., on

Wednesday, Oct. 29, 1913

the following property:

Four big work Horses, 7 Jersey cows, 6 two year old heifers to be fresh soon, 4 heifers eight months old, three Holstine bull calves, 8 tons clover hay baled, 150 bushels corn, 150 shocks fodder, 4 dozen chickens, 2 double sets heavy work harness, set buggy harness, Sharpless separator, 10 gallon barrel churn, 5 milk cans, lot of farming tools, bedroom set, folding bed, Esty organ, kitchen table, chairs and Goodwill range, Top Buggy, Road Wagon with Boxbed.

Terms—Sums of $5 and under cash; on sums over $5 a credit of nine months will be given, the purchaser to give note with good security negotiable and payable at the Boone County Deposit Bank, Burlington, Ky. Terms of sale must be complied with before moving property.

Sale will begin at 12 o'clock.

B. E. AYLOR.
J. B. Crigler, Auctioneer.

PUBLIC SALE.

I will sell at public sale to the highest bidder on my farm near Erlanger, on

SATURDAY, OCT., 25, 1913.

Following Property:
Draft mare,
Mule,
Two year old colt.
Six Cows,
Heifer, Seven hogs,
Cream Separator,
Reliable Incubator,
Novelty Churn,
Road Wagon,
Hay Bed,
Two Spring Wagons,
Set of Double Harness,
Two sets Single Harness,
Lot of chickens and ducks,
Mowing Machine,
Hay Rake,
Cider Mill,
Double and single plows,
Lot butter and milk crocks,
Corn and Fodder,
Numerous other articles.

I will also offer farm of 112 acres for sale or rent.

TERMS—All sums of $5.00 and under, cash; sums over $5.00 a credit of Twelve months will be given, payable at Erlanger Deposit Bank.

Sale to begin at 10 o'clock a. m.

JEFF STEPHENS.
George Burkitt, Auctioneer.

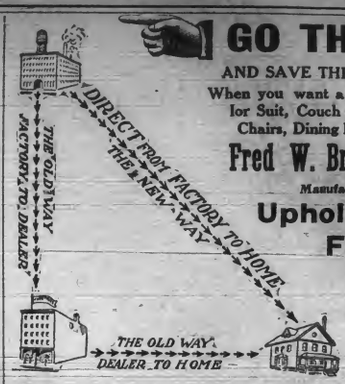
WANTED.

Reliable, energetic man to sell Lubricating oils, grease and paints in Boone and adjoining counties. Salary or commission.

DOAN OIL & PAINT CO.,
Cleveland, Ohio.

For Sale
FOUR ROOM COTTAGE

In Erlanger, Lawn, 2 story Barn, Chicken House and Run, Truck Garden. All in perfect repair. 3 minutes walk to depot. Address MRS. VERRANDA BEEMON, Erlanger, Ky.



CAMPING ON THE GROUND.

And my horse and buggy are waiting at Walton to take you to see thousands of dollars worth of Old Kentucky Farms and town property that I have listed to sell. My list will convince you that this ad. is correct. Send for it. Come to Walton and locate. All kinds of property advancing.

THE G. B. POWERS
Cooperative Realeste Agency.
Walton, Ky.

There are lots of society rabbits posing as lions.

Take your County Paper

GO THERE

AND SAVE THE DIFFERENCE

When you want a Davenport, Parlor Suit, Couch Rocker, Morris Chairs, Dining Room Chairs.

Fred W. Bremenkamp

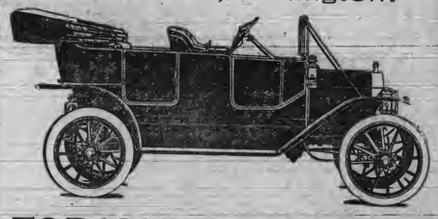
Manufacturer of

Upholstered Furniture

Factory and Sample Room

157 PIKE STREET,

COVINGTON, KENTUCKY



We Also Do Repairing and Refinishing.

IF YOU WANT A GOOD

AUTOMOBILE

—CALL ON—

B. B. HUME, Burlington.

FOR 1913 MODEL FORD

5 Passenger Car, $570. 2 Passenger Car, $520

These prices are for fall delivery complete and delivered at your door. If desired a man will be furnished without charge to teach you how to operate your car.

—ALSO AGENT FOR THE—

Oakland, Roadster, $1,150 Touring Car, $1,200 Fully Equipped

SCOTT CHAMBERS,

WALTON, KY.

Embalmer & Funeral Director,

LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.

First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.

Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.

Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

Believe Me.

By trading at Thomann's you can save the Middleman's profit on Harness, Trunks and Blankets.

Wm. Thomann,
56 Pike Street,
Covington, Ky.

NOTICE.

The annual election of the Boone County Farmers Insurance Co., will be held at the office in Burlington, Ky., Monday, October 1st, 1913. Anyone wishing his name on the ballots will please notify the Secretary at once.

R. B. HUEY, Secretary.
Burlington, Ky.

NOTICE.

Persons indebted to the estate of Noah Clore, deceased, are notified to come forward and settle, and those having claims against same must present the same to the undersigned proven as by law required.

Mrs. Mollie Clore,
Mrs. Effie Nichols.

WANTED.

Toll-gate keeper for gate on Petersburg pike near Burlington.

J. E. SMITH,
Sept 18-tf Burlington, Ky.

FOR SALE.

Good general purpose mare with colt by her side. Mare in foal by a good horse; also for sale gasoline range good as new, will sell at a bargain. Apply to BOBT. E. GRANT, Petersburg, Ky., R. D. tf

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS

For Sale, stock from the flock scoring most points at State Fair last fall. Cockerels, $1.00 each; eggs in season. (dec 18)

MRS. B. C. GRADDY,
Bullittsville, Ky.

WALTON GARAGE

C. S. Vallandingham, Prop.
Walton, Ky.

Repairing and Vulcanizing a Specialty.

Repairs and Fixtures.

Telephone Calls Given Prompt Attention.

Colds

should be "nipped in the bud", for if allowed to run unchecked, serious results may follow. Numerous cases of consumption, pneumonia, and other fatal diseases, can be traced back to a cold. At the first sign of a cold, protect yourself by thoroughly cleansing your system with a few doses of the old reliable, vegetable liver powder.

THEDFORD'S

BLACK-DRAUGHT

Mr. Chas. A. Ragland, of Madison Heights, Va., says: "I have been using Thedford's Black-Draught for stomach troubles, indigestion and colds, and find it to be the very best medicine I ever used. It makes an old man feel like a young one."

Insist on Thedford's, the original and genuine. E-67

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

WALTON DEPARTMENT.

D. B. WALLACE, Manager.

Hand your news items to Mr. D. B. Wallace at the Walton Equitable Bank and Trust Co.'s building. He is also authorized to receive subscriptions and collect other accounts.

Mrs. Sarah Glenn spent Sunday at Sparta, the guest of her sister Miss Ella Crisler.

Mrs. Susie Watson of Covington, spent part of the past week here with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Harry Warren and Mrs. J. P. Vanleuven of Cincinnati, spent part of last week here with their sister, Mrs. Wm. C. Moxley.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dudgeon, of Verona, spent Saturday here with their son W. T. Dudgeon and family.

Dr. and Mrs. Jos. Baker, of LaGrange, spent part of the week here with her parents Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Curley.

Mrs. J. L. Vest and son Walter spent Sunday and Monday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Loomis in Kenton county.

Harry R. Dixon has been beautifying the interior of the Phoenix hotel which he recently purchased from A. M. Edwards.

Fred Miller, John Ingram and Prof. Chas. Chambers, who are employed in Cincinnati, spent last Sunday here with home folks.

Mrs. Fannie Edwards left Monday for Louisville to spend a couple of weeks with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Lina T. Buck, of Carrollton, spent Saturday and Sunday here at her old home, the guest of friends.

Miss Fannie Best, of Brooksville, spent the past week here the guest of her brother Charles T. Best and family.

Mrs. Anna Bedinger and son, Edward, and Miss Lora Diers, of Cincinnati, were guests of Mrs. H. C. Diers, Sunday.

Judge J. G. Tomlin and C. Scott Chambers were at Petersburg last Saturday night where Judge Tomlin made an address on good roads.

Clarence LeBus, president of the Burley Tobacco Society, Lexington, spent Friday night here, enroute from Louisville to Lexington.

Miss Graham Roberts, the popular operator, spent the past week with Mr. and Mrs. John E. Williams at their country home near Verona.

Mrs. Robert Baker slightly cut her thumb last week while attending to some household duties and is now suffering from a severe attack of blood poisoning.

Chas. L. Griffith spent Sunday at Sadieville, the guest of his daughter, Mrs. O. F. Peterson whose husband is located there doing railroad contracting work.

Joseph Schulker and wife were called to Covington last week on account of the serious illness of their sisterinlaw, who formerly resided near them in Kenton county.

A. R. Johnson, who recently sold his farm between here and Beaver Lick, to Jas. Code, has arranged to have a big sale of personal property Wednesday, Nov. 12th, and will then move back to Walton.

Mrs. R. B. Brown and children, Miss Nannie and Harold, and Mrs. Robert H. Brown, of Warsaw, were here Friday enroute from Cincinnati to Georgetown on a visit to friends, making the journey in their auto.

J. Clifton Mayhugh, who is employed on the clerical force of the Burley Tobacco Society at Lexington, spent Suhday at this place with home folks. He says the work of compiling the books will be completed in three weeks.

G. M. Allen, Nicholas Sanning, D. B. Wallace, and A. M. Edwards accompanied the remains of J. D. Doubman to Williamstown, Monday, where the interment took place. They returned by automobile, A .R. Edwards going after them.

Henry C. Diers and son Harvey spent the past week at Troy, Ohio, getting their fall delivery of nursery stock ready for shipment, and it comprised six carloads. Their business this year has been the best they have ever been favored with.

Judge T. J. Crowe and family moved to Covington last Monday where they will make their home for the winter. Judge Crowe's time as police judge of Walton expires Jan. 1st, and as G. Mosby Allen is the only candidate for the position, he will be his successor.

The protracted meeting at the Walton Methodist church closed Monday night after ten days continuous services, the preaching being by Rev. Swift, of Lexington, and assisted by the pastor, Rev. C. J. Nugent. The church was greatly revived and strengthened by the meetings. There were a number of additions to the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curley, of Tucson, Arizona, spent the past week here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. F. Curley, returning home Tuesday, taking his little daughter, Miss Marie, back with them. The little girl has recently recovered from a serious attack of typhoid fever.

Jno. L. Vest, Roy D. Stamler, Dr. B. K. Menefee, Edwin M. Johnson, C. Scott Chambers, J. G. Tomlin, Chas. S. Boles and D. B. Wallace enjoyed a most delightful visit to Burlington last Saturday night, attending the Masonic lodge where the third degree was conferred on three candidates.

Edward F. Neumeister, A. M. M. Edwards and Geo. W. Maines left Thursday for an extended trip to the sunny Southland, expecting to make particular visits to Meridian, Mississippi, and New Orleans. Mr. Neumeister has been selling some fine cattle in Mississippi, and went to visit some of his customers, and the others went to enjoy the pleasures of the trip.

John L. Vest, Rev. A. K. Johnson and D. B. Wallace attended the annual session of the Masonic Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter at Louisville this week, Mr. Vest representing Walton Lodge and Mr. Wallace being the High Priest of McClure Chapter. It is stated on good authority that the incoming Grand Master Orie S. Ware of Covington, intends appointing Rev. A. Kirtley Johnson Grand Chaplain of the State, a position that would be most worthily bestowed.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Walton Christian church held their annual meeting and dinner at the brick property recently purchased by the church for a parsonage. There was a very large attendance and many invited guests who partook of the excellent dinner prepared for the occasion. The Society is in excellent working condition, and the contributions of the day of the annual meeting amounted to nearly one hundred dollars. The church is preparing to erect a handsome building for worship on the lot recently purchased, and expects to begin building next year.

The witches, ghosts and goblins of class No. 5 of the Christian Sunday school will think you wise, if at half past six on Halloween night you appear at the old red brick before they take flight, and learn of the future that holds your fate. So please come and see them and don't be late. Now, if you will come I am sure you will see things and persons that have been and are to be. You and everyone are invited to attend, so please come and bring one friend. Twenty cents and the witch will open the door. Come and eat of her food till you can't eat more. Come masked and in costume to suit your taste. A prize will be given to the tackiest in haste.

Sunday morning the body of an unknown man was found on the track of the L. & N. Railway a short distance north of town. The body was in a badly mutilated condition, the arms one foot and a leg having been cut off, evidently by having been run over by the railway cars. It is presumed that he had been riding on the "bumpers" and fell off to his death. He had the appearance of a man of about twenty-five years of age and was dressed in coarse clothing. A small bag of coffee, a couple bars of soap and thirty cents in money were found on his person, but nothing by which he could be identified. The remains were brought to town by one of the train crews and turned over to the Edwards Bros. undertaking establishment, where Squire Ben O'Neal, of Verona, held an inquest and rendered a verdict in accordance with the above. The remains were interred in the cemetery here.

Jacob D. Doubman, who has been confined to his bed for the past thirteen months, died at his home here last Friday night. He was taken ill with a stomach affection and it was thought that he had cancer of the stomach, but this opinion was erroneous. His physician states that he died from progressive atrothy. Mr. Doubman was a first class citizen and his death is universally deplored. He was a man of most kindly instincts, charitable, generous, and public spirited, and his efforts were always enlisted in the uplift of the community and the advancement of its welfare. He was born in Bourbon county, Ky., Jan. 23d, 1856, and was the son of J. F. Doubman a native of the state of New York. The deceased spent all of his life in Kentucky, in the counties of Bourbon, Harrison, Grant and Boone. He was married twice, his first wife being Miss Mollie Horton, of Bourbon county, who died many years ago. He then married Miss Mattie Caldwell of Grant county, who survives him. There were no children by either marriage. For many years he was a consistent member of the Christian church, and took an active part in the advancement of the Master's cause. In all the walks of life he endeavored to do his part with justice to all. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity for many years. During his long illness he bore his suffering and trials with the patient fortitude of a christian soldier, and with the same uncomplaining spirit his devoted wife ministered to his sufferings with a devotion that is seldom equaled. The host of friends sorrow over his death yet they know it was only relief that could be afforded him. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon from his late residence, Rev. L. A. Kohler, pastor of Walton Christian church conducting the religious services after which the Masonic fraternity rendered their beautiful ritualistic service to the memory of their departed brother. The remains were taken to Williamstown Monday morning and laid to rest in the cemetery there.

At a meeting of the directors of the Florence fair held one day the past week it was decided to set aside $50 to divide into premiums to be awarded the schools in the county on exhibits to be made by them at the next fair.

It may get so some time that a man will be considered cruel to his wife if he insists on eating breakfast before he goes to work.

Clifford Norman, of Gunpowder, was a caller at this office yesterday.

FARMERS SCHOOL

A Grand Success In Every Particular Except Attendance.

The Farmers' School which began in the Boone County High School building at Burlington, last Monday, has been an eminent success in every particular except attendance on the part of the farmers and their wives for whom these schools are especially designed by the State. Topics of interest to the farmers are discussed and much valuable information is imparted, and at no cost whatever to them, but an interest in these schools can not be worked up in this county.

The lecturers, by one lady and three gentlemen, have been entirely along practical lines and have been enjoyed by all who have heard them. The fact that the farmers in this county do not appreciate the efforts of the U. S. Government and the State in behalf of their interests is certainly to be deplored.

The lecturers are Dr. W. H. Dexter, of Washington, D. C., and Miss Aubry Chin, J. C. Brayant, and J. H. Hendrix and C. W. Carmody. The first named is employed by the U. S. and the other four by the State of Kentucky, and each is a very able speaker.

Dr. Dexter looked over several cows yesterday at noon and explained their deficiencies and pointed out their good points. Of the dairy business he makes a speciality.

Stealing a River.

There is an old phrase used to describe a successful thief. It is said that "he could steal a red-hot stove." But it seems that someone has appeared in Nebraska who is far more efficient than that. He has stolen a river and hidden it where no one can find it. At first the farmers in the western part of the State said the government stole it, and they were going to sue the government or bring claims in Congress for the full value of the river. Lately that plan seems to have been abandoned and they are calling on the geologists and hydraulic engineers to find the thief.

The river has disappeared. There is no doubt about that. Any man who has traveled west from Omaha over the railroads during the last few weeks will bear testimony that there are many miles of the channel of the Platte river where there is no sign of water, while further up the stream the waters are rolling along in large volume. Somebody has stolen the river and what has been done with it "is one of those things that no fellow can find out."—Omaha World-Herald.

Tributes of Respect.

Hall of Walton Lodge, No. 719, F. and A. M., Saturday, October 18, 191.

Whereas, Death has taken from our fraternal circle another of our valued members in the calling of Bro. J. D. Doubman to the celestial lodge above, and appreciating his merits as a brother, we desire to express our sorrow over the loss we have sustained. Therefore be it

Resolved. That in the death of Bro. Doubman the lodge has lost one of its most esteemed members the community a worthy citizen, and the widow a devoted husband.

Resolved. That while death has taken him from us, we will treasure his memory for his many excellent qualities and endeavor to emulate the example of one whose practice of the principles of masonry are worthy of imitation.

Resolved, That we tender to the bereaved widow our heartfelt sympathy in this sad hour; that the usual badge of mourning be worn by the members; that these resolutions be spread on the lodge minutes, printed in the Boone County Recorder and Grant County News, and a copy be presented to the bereaved widow.

Committee.—D. B. Wallace, E. M. Johnson, J. G. Tomlin.

The officers of election are requested to return the keys and seals they have forthwith.

W. R. ROGERS,
County Clerk.

Robt. Wilson, Ray Conner and others from the East Bend country passed thru Burlington, Tuesday with about two car loads of cattle.

Mr. Downard, of Bracken county, was the guest of his daughter, Mrs. M. A. Yelton a few days the past week.

Lewis Clore, of Waterloo, was a caller at this office yesterday.

DUROC JERSEY

"Florence Fair Prize Winners." Extra good BOARS at farmers prices.

J. F. CLEEK,
Richwood, Ky.

Poland China Hogs.

I have for sale thirty-five spring pigs—both sexes, sired by the celebrated Money Maker No. 84771, King-to-Be 82068, Onward 81871.

THOMAS POWERS,
oct-2 2m Crittenden, Ky.

We Have The Newest Coats, Suits Dresses and Skirts.

You Can Buy More For Less!

THIS BIG SPECIALTY SHOP

Prepared for the Greatest Suit SALE WEEK 1913

If we were to go into details about the styles, material and tailoring, we could weave a wonderful story. We won't. We have put forward some of the best $18.00 suits for---

$12.75

We are also selling exceptional Suit Values up to $25.00. SPORT COATS, Latest Models, just in.

WE HAVE THE NEWEST TRIMMED HATS

Bon Ton Cloak & Suit Company.

626-628 Madison Avenue, - - - Covington, Ky.

We Extend Courtesy of Charge Accounts to Responsible Parties.

Good Furniture

At Reasonable Prices

A few words with a big meaning. Furniture, to be good, does not end with its pretty looks, but what is much more important is for it to have the proper construction and the best sort of materials. To buy cheaply-made, flashy furniture at a low price is far from buying reasonable, as this kind proves the highest priced in the end. Good furniture costs very little more here, and whatever the difference, it will more than justify you, considering how much more service this class of furniture will give you. When you need home furnishings come to Dine's, the home of Quality Furniture for 28 years. Commencing Saturday and for all of next week, we have made reductions, such as the following items will indicate. Expectant housekeepers should come to us, if only to see our beautiful Furniture Exhibit.

$175 Circassian Walnut Bedroom Suite—Large pieces, Colonial design.....$150	$50 Round Table—Golden Oak, Early-English; large top, massive pedestal scroll or claw foot.....$42
$125 Bedroom Suite—Mahogany or Circassian walnut, Colonial design....$120	$25 Round Table.....$18.50
$100 Bedroom Suite—Quartered oak, mahogany; Carved or Colonial.....$85	$60 China Closet.....$50
$75 Bedroom Suite—Quartered oak; Colonial or carved.....$65	$45 China Closet.....$38
$85 Buffet—Early English, golden oak; 60 in. long, massive posts and standards, large mirror: Colonial design..$70	$30 China Closet.....$24
$50 Buffet—Early English, golden oak..$40	$25 China Closet.....$20
$35 Buffet—Colonial design.....$28.50	$45 Kitchen Cabinets.....$38
	$30 Kitchen Cabinets.....$25
	$20 Kitchen Cabinets.....$16.50

518-520 York Street, Newport, Ky.

DINE'S

"QUALITY FURNITURE"

530-532 Madison Av. Covington, Ky

1123-25 Main St. Cincinnati.

Posted Against Hunters.

The undersigned hereby give notice that their land is posted against trespassing of all kinds and especially by hunting with dogs or guns and trapping thereon:

B. C. Graddy, Bullitteville.
J. S. Eggleston, Francesville.
Mary V. Gaines, Bullitteville.

B. B. ALLPHIN
WITH THE
L. J. BUDDE & CO.
Live Stock Commission Merchants
Union Stock Yards, CINCINNATI. Phone W. 4296.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXXVIIII. Established 1875. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1913. $1.50 Per Year. NO. 5.

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

IDLEWILD.

Green's big Cloak Opening, Rising Sun, Nov. 4th and 5th.

Eric Martin, of Harrodsburg, Ky., is the guest of Rev. J. W. Campbell and family.

Miss Maud Norman Asbury attended a delightful dance in Petersburg, Friday night.

W. Lee Cropper and sons, Carrol and Kirtley, made a business trip to Cincinnati, Saturday.

L. C. Scothorn took 48 sheep to Cincinnati, Monday, in his big motor truck, for J. T. Gaines and Geo. Kreylich.

Mrs. V. W. Gaines gave a delightful dinner, Tuesday, that was immensely enjoyed by a number of friends and relatives.

Misses Alice Walton, Virginia Gaines and Mary Bess Cropper spent Tuesday very pleasantly with Miss Carrie Graves.

The ladies of Bullittsburg Baptist church met at the parsonage last Wednesday and organized a joint Missionary and Aid Society.

The pupils of Bullittsburg school enjoyed a vacation while their teacher, Miss Lorena Hafer, attended State Grange at Cynthiana.

Wm. Graves, painter and paper hanger, came down from Hebron, Thursday, and did some very artistic work for Mrs. Courtney Walton.

FLICKERTOWN.

Lewis Hensley and family Sundayed at Geo. Hensley's.

Clyde Akin and wife were shopping in Aurora, Saturday.

Green's big Cloak Opening, Rising Sun, Nov. 4th and 5th.

Some corn was sold here last week at 880 cents per bushel.

There were two land deals on last week but failed to materialize.

Mrs. Chas. Shinkle is visiting her sister and brother at Dayton and Newport.

Grant Williamson and family and Willis Smith visited at Mr. Lyster Smith's, Sunday.

John Weisickle and family and Elbert Sullivan and wife dined at L. P. Sullivan's, Sunday.

Miss Lottie Burns, daughter of Jas. Burns, and Bluford Wingate, were married Wednesday.

Tip Hensley, of Lincoln county, will leave for home Monday after a month's visit with relatives here.

Harry Voshell, of Indianapolis, and C. L. Voshell, of Sparta, Ind., visited at F. M. Voshell's, Friday night.

Miss Goldie Romines and Herman Rucia were married at Petersburg Methodist parsonage, last Sunday.

Mrs. Laura Sebree returned Saturday from Norwood, where she was visiting her daughter, Ethel Wafford.

F. M. Voshell has 8 shoats that will weigh 50 pounds for sale, and several full blood brown Leghorn cockerels.

RABBIT HASH.

Hodges & Riggs have started their saw mill again.

Green's big Cloak Opening, Rising Sun, Nov. 4th and 5th.

T. G. Riddell visited his nephews, Rice Bros., near Idlewild, several days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Omer Adams, of Hathaway, left last Thursday to visit relatives at Gothenberg, Nebraska.

The Pythian sisters had an all day meeting with a basket dinner at the hall, last Thursday to celebrate their anniversary.

Geo. Greenup, of Elizabethtown, is here making extensive repairs on his ferry boat. The boat will be out of commission for several days.

Mrs. Fred Benson, of Jacksonville, Illinois, who was called here by the death of her sister, Miss Annie Dolph about two weeks ago, returned home Saturday.

John McConnell, of Danville, was here several days last week and sold his farm in East Bend known as the Hastings place, to Emmons Cofield, of Rising Sun, for $10,000. The farm contains about 120 acres.

Mrs. Will Craig and two of her children and Miss Katie Scott were driving down the pike near Rabbit Hash, last Saturday afternoon, when their buggy collided with Paul Aylor's wagon, completely wrecking one wheel of the buggy. Fortunately no one was hurt.

LIMABURG.

Green's big Cloak Opening, Rising Sun, Nov. 4th and 5th.

Mrs. Harriet Utz visited Mrs. J. B. Conrad one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Farrell spent last Sunday with friends near Florence.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Craddock spent Sunday with their uncle J. B. Conrad.

Little James Louis Tanner is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Popham.

Miss Una and Parker Tanner attended the theater "In Old Kentucky" last Saturday night.

Green's big Cloak Opening, Rising Sun, Nov. 4th and 5th.

PETERSBURG.

Green's big Cloak Opening, Rising Sun, Nov. 4th and 5th.

Miss Louise Blyth, of Lawrenceburg, visited Miss Pauline Aiden, Saturday.

The steamer Pauline is in working condition after being overhauled in Cincinnati.

Miss Louisa Howze has been confined to her bed about two weeks with acute indigestion.

M. F. Wingate and son, Gaines, ents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Berkshire, have returned from a two weeks' stay in Phoenix, Arizona.

Mrs. Stanley B. Palmer has returned to her home in Oxford, after a week's visit with her parents.

The Epworth League will give a Hallow'een social at Krutz's Hall Thursday evening. An entertainment and lunch will be the chief feature. All are invited to attend.

The Lord has again seen fit to send Death into our community and call home the life of one of our worthiest citizens to bloom in Paradise eternally. Thomas Henry Howard was born at Bullittsville, this county, May 6th, 1865, and died at his home here Oct. 23d, 1913, aged 48 years, five months and seventeen days. Mr. Howard was married to Miss Linnie Acra, Feb. 11, 1886, by Rev. R. E. Kirtley. To this union were born two sons, John Burgess and Tom Willis, both of whom, with the mother, survive to mourn the loss of a devoted father and husband. Mr. Howard was well known all over the county and the large number of friends who followed his mortal remains to the cemetery testify to the high estimation in which he was held. The qualities of his disposition and temper were most attractive. He was universally kind in conduct. As Tennyson wrote of Albert the Good he "wore the white flower of a blameless life." He joined the Sand Run Baptist church in 1885 and moved his membership to Bullittsburg Baptist church about ten years later. He was a consistent member and in all the walks of life he endeavored to do his part with justice to all. Mr. Howard's death was due to blood poison from a bruised finger sustained while at work about two weeks ago. He had been an Odd Fellow since May 15, 1901. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon from his late residence, Rev. Campbell of Bullittsburg, conducting the religious services. The remains were taken to the vault at the cemetery where they will be laid to rest. The Odd-Fellows of the local lodge and many visiting members from Burlington, Hebron, Lawrenceburg, Belleview and Aurora rendered their beautiful ritualistic service to their departed brother at the cemetery. In the death of Mr. Howard the community loses one of its best citizens, but for his sake we are glad that our loss is Heaven's gain. The writer extends heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved ones yet we realize that our efforts to comfort are of little avail in this hour of supreme sorrow and we would direct them to Him, the great comforter, their acknowledged friend and Saviour, who we know will some day illuminate the mystery for He has said, "I am the Light of the world the risen and glorified Christ."

C. E. S.

Card of Thanks—We wish to thank our friends, neighbors and relatives for the kindness and sympathy shown us in the loss of our dearly loved husband and father, Thomas H. Howard. We feel especially grateful to all for the beautiful floral offerings, to Rev. Campbell, Drs. Emmerich and Grant, the Odd-Fellows lodge and to Mr. Stier undertaker for the efficient manner in which they conducted the funeral.

The Family.

**

Ed. Black was the guest of his sister, Mrs. Perry Mahan, Sunday.

The ladies of the Christian church will serve lunch on election day.

Mrs. Geo. Bohanan, of Aurora, was visiting friends here last Saturday.

Miss Irene Fisher, of Lawrenceburg, was visiting here last Friday night.

Mrs. Adam Vessenmire, of Lawrenceburg, was calling on Mrs. Eg. Keim, Saturday.

Miss Goldie Romines and Herman Ruscie were married at the parsonage, Sunday, by Rev. Nelson.

Miss Lucile Cropper and Miss Marietta Stephens, of Bullittsville, were guests of Miss Lucile Berkshire one or two days last week.

Word has been received at this place from Newhope, Dakota, that the stork has visited David Jarrell and wife, leaving them twins a boy and a girl.

One day last week Master James Riley, second son of Rev. Edgar Riley, was playing in the shed where his father's machine is kept, when he released a jack under one of the wheels, the lever hitting him on the side of the face, hurting him considerably.

UNION.

W. W. Conner is very much indisposed.

Mrs. H. C. Lassing is the guest of friends in Crittenden.

Green's big Cloak Opening, Rising Sun, Nov. 4th and 5th.

Mrs. Charles Hann has rturned from a visit with relatives in Ohio

Mrs. J. G. Tomlin, of Walton, was the guest of Mrs. F. H. Dickey last week.

Miss Edna Barlow, of Pleasant Valley, was the guest of friends here last Saturday.

Miss Edith Feldhaus is at home from a visit to her aunt, Mrs. M. M. Black at Erlanger.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Huey spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives in Richmond, Ky.

Mrs. James A. Huey spent last week with her sister, Mrs. Nelson Quisenberry, in Richmond.

Mrs. Warren Senour entertained her brother, F. B. Youell and family, of Richwood, one day last week.

J. Q. Elstun headed a party that left last Tuesday for a prospecting tour of Arkansas and Louisiana.

Price Conner, of Covington, came out Sunday to see his mother, Mrs. Lida Conner, who has been very ill for many weeks.

Mrs. L. H. Voshell has had as her guests for two weeks, Mrs. H. A. Hicks, of Richwood, and Mrs. W. A. Smith, of Gunpowder.

N. C. Tanner, L. H. Voshell and J. W. Conner spent last week in Cynthiana attending the 33d annual session at the State Grange.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Gadd were called to Petersburg last Saturday by the lamentable death of their brother-in-law, Thos. Howard.

Miss Gladys Rouse is ill at her home here, and the many friends of this popular young lady are wishing her a speedy return to health.

The rains of last week relieved our water famine in a great degree but interfered sadly with the road working on Friday and Saturday.

A. L. Mallett is in Chicago attending the National Dairy Association session, and will go from there to North Dakota to visit his relatives.

J. W. Kennedy received word last Saturday that his estimable wife has been parlyzed at the home of her sister in Owen county, where she is visiting.

Union and Richwood Presbyterian churches have secured, as pastor, Rev. Mr. Potter, of Covington Tenn. He is expected to arrive about the middle of Nov.

The Improvement League will meet in called session at the school house Friday, Oct. 31, at 2 p. m. At recent meeting the following officers were elected: Mrs. W. H. Smith, president; Mrs. Jas. A. Huey, vice-president, and Miss Mariam Morriss Treas., and Secretary.

Golden Grange will give a social at Odd-Fellows Hall, Friday evening, Nov. 7th, at 7 o'clock. Among other amusements an old fashioned spelling bee will be indulged in. Everyone is cordially invited to come and help provide an evening of pleasure for little people, big people and middle sized people.

The ladies of the Baptist church will give a supper and bazaar at the Odd-Fellows Hall on Friday evening, Nov. 14. They are famous for their good suppers and this one will be well worth the price—25 cents. Many useful and beautiful articles have been made for the bazaar and a delightful social evening may be expected.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Mrs. Cora Strouse and children spent last Saturday night and Sunday with her brother, Wm. Wilson and family, at Waterloo.

Mrs. Olivette Wimberly after spending the past month visiting her aunt, Mrs. W. Carpenter, and her grandmother, Mrs. W. C. Goodridge, has returned to her home in Jacksonville, Florida.

Do not give up your intention to work two days on the road because providence interfered with the proclamation of the Gov. in regard thereto. This writer will suggest that the county judge or road engineer name two days in which this work may yet be done.

When you go to the polls next Tuesday to vote on the good roads proposition there are two questions for you to consider. The first is the one that you will find on your ballot, are you in favor of free turnpikes and gravel roads; the second is are you satisfied with the present system and conditions. Study these two questions and vote the way your conscience dictates.

R. D. No. 3.

Mrs. Jas. Worrford spent Sunday at Chas. Utzinger's.

Miss Alice Reitmann visited relatives in the city last week.

Mrs. J. W. Brown is suffering with a badly sprained ankle.

Clinton Riddell is erecting a five room bungalo on his farm.

Rev. Baker, sister and brother, of Butler, spent Sunday at Jerry Estes.'

Miss Stella Brown was shopping in the city one day last week.

Abe Moore and Geo. Vomer, of near Cheviot, Ohio, spent one day last week at Chas. Muntz's.

Wm. Gaines, our rural carrier, has returned from a trip to Chicago and is on duty again.

Carl Beacon and wife, of Taylorsport, spent Saturday night and Sunday with Manlius Goodridge and family.

GRANT R. D. 1.

Walter Ryle has been seriously ill for a week.

Elmer Jarrel and family Sundayed at Eddie Kelly's.

Len Stewart and wife are visiting relatives at Union.

Robt. Aylor has purchased the Platt place in East Bend.

Al Rogers purchased 20 feeding cattle in Cincinnati last week.

Wild ducks and wild geese are going south in large numbers.

Miss Robert Wright, of Ind., is the guest of Mr. I Flick and family.

Mrs. Jane Sutton, who was reported sick last week, is no better.

S. B. Ryle and family left California last Friday enroute to Kentucky.

Prof. Muntz's father and mother arrived Saturday to spend a few days with him.

Mrs. Laura Clore has had a fine monument erected on her lot in the new cemetery.

Robt. Rice and wife are visiting the latter's parents, Joshua Rice and wife, in Illinois.

Jas. Smith, Sr., and wife have gone to Lawrenceburg to make their home this winter.

E. L. Stephens is hauling lumber to build a commodious new residence on his farm in East Bend.

Wm. Cook and wife are here on a visit to Joseph Maurer and wife.

Mrs. Maurer is still improving.

Miss Carrie May Rice was the guest of her cousin, Miss Neva Rice, here several days last week.

Jesse Kelly and daughter, Kitty, have gone to housekeeping on Wm. Stotts place near Petersburg.

Otis Scott and wife and Xen Scott and mother were the Sunday guests at S. B. Scott's near McVille.

The East Bend road is in an awful condition caused by the farmers hauling coal from Rising Sun.

Al Rogers has put concrete floors in his slaughter house, as rats were about to demolish the building.

Supt. Edgar C. Riley spoke to a good crowd at Rabbit Hash, last Saturday evening, on the road question.

Mosby Hodges, of East Bend, presented the writer four Keifer pears that weighed in the aggregate 3-4 lbs.—the largest one weighed one pound and 2 ounces.

Ephriam Clore, Pepper Smith, T. W. Cook, Henry Clore, Frank Scott and Cad Berkshire went to Petersburg in Spinny Smith's boat, Sunday, to attend Tom Howard's funeral.

Dr. Richmond was called to McVille Sunday to see Mrs. Kirb Ryle, who swallowed a fish bone which lodged in her throat, causing a bad scare but no serious results.

With Lee Maurer, Captain, L. A. Combies engineer and E. O. Bellefleur Cook, the handsome gasoline yacht, Sunbeam, tied up here Friday night and remained until next morning. They left Norwich, Conn., June 18, entering the Hudson river by way of Long Island Sound, thence thru Erie Canal. It is their intention to reach San Francisco by the exposition there in 1915. They have to ship their boat occasionally by rail as they did when they came to the Ohio river, but will go by water as much of the journey as possible. Elbert Clore, young pilot, who lives here, was with them, having engaged to take them as far as Louisville. Elbert and one of the crew spent Friday night with the former's mother near town. They are a fine bunch and are having a great time.

Anna daughter of A. J. and J. A. Shoemaker Dolph, was born January 5th, 1868, in the old home in which she lived. In early life, under the pastorate of Bro. Froh, she united with the East Bend M. E. church and lived a consistent christian life, ever attendant to her church when health would permit. From childhood she was an invalid, never knowing the enjoyment and blessings of perfect health, but in the midst of intense suffering she was never heard to complain. She lived a life of self sacrifice, always thinking of the welfare and happiness of others. Her devotion and kindness to her aged parents was most commendable. She had been in very poor health for several years, but on Thursday of last week it was evident that the time was near when she would be called to meet the one whom she has loved to know as a promising Saviour. She departed this life at the age of 45 years, 9 months and six days. She is survived by her aged parents, three sisters, two brothers, other relatives and many good friends, who sincerely mourn with her loved ones in their great loss. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Hensley at the home after which the remains were interred in Cedar Hedge cemetery at Rising Sun.

Card of Thanks—We wish to extend our sincere and heartfelt thanks to all the neighbors and friends who so nobly assisted us during the illness and death of our daughter and sister, Miss Anna Dolph. Especially do we wish to thank Rev. Hensley for his consoling words, also those who so kindly expressed sympathy in the way of flowers.

The Family.

Card of Thanks—We hereby express our thanks to all for services rendered and expressions of sympathy and interest manifested in our recent bereavement.

S. GAINES.
C. L. Gaines and Family.

GUNPOWDER.

J. W. Utz, reported sick in our last, is improving slowly.

Gus Freitman made this scribe a business call last Saturday.

J. W. Hogan and wife, of Union, neighborhood, attended church at Hopeful last Sunday.

H. F. Utz and wife, of Devon, were Sunday guests of Bert Clore and wife on Long Branch.

L. E. Tanner received a three ton load of mill feed from a Covington firm one day last week.

On account of the rains the latter part of the week there was no work done on the roads last Friday and Saturday.

L. T. Utz, a student at Wittenburg college, Springfield, Ohio, spent from Saturday until Monday here with his parents, W. P. Utz and wife.

Rev. Wallace attended the meeting of Miami Synod which convened at Springfield, Ohio, last week. He reports an intercsting meeting and great progress among the churches within the bounds of that Synod.

Miss Violetta Rouse, accomplished daughter of E. O. Rouse and wife, presented this writer with a nice new hymnal last Sunday. Miss Rouse is one of our best girls and is noted for her generosity. The gift is a highly appreciated birthday present and we extend our heartfelt thanks and best wishes to the giver.

HEBRON.

Milton Aylor bought a young horse at Edgar Souther's sale.

Green's big Cloak Opening, Rising Sun, Nov. 4th and 5th.

Henry J. Aylor and family entertained Moses Aylor and wife, Sunday.

J. S. Lodge and wife spent Sunday in Florence, guests of Mrs. Nannie Sayre.

Edgar Aylor and wife, of Florence, were Sunday guests of his parents, John Aylor and wife.

Mrs. Mary Clouse went to a hospital last week to have one of her eyes operated on. She is doing nicely.

Mrs. Howard Banker and little daughter from Chicago, who have been visiting her sister, Mrs. H. L. Harrison, returned home last Saturday accompanied by her niece, Miss Irene Harrison.

Clifford Tanner purchased a piece of land from Wm. Crigler and is having a new house erected. Edward Baker purchased the property that Clifford owned. Both parties will move soon.

Henry Getker, wife, and son, Albert, and daughters Misses Eva, Alma and Stella and Elmer Goodridge, John Dye and Luther Rouse spent Sunday with Henry Barlow and wife, in Covington, it being their wedding anniversary.

PT. PLEASANT.

John Morris, of Indianapolis, is here visiting his mother.

Green's big Cloak Opening, Rising Sun, Nov. 4th and 5th.

Fred Gross has about completed a new basement barn on his farm.

Mrs. Mamie Crigler is having some concreting done in her new barn.

The Sunday school is progressing nicely with Thos. Kenyon Superintendent.

Miss Clementine Walton entertained several friends at dinner last Thursday.

Geo. Darby is making various improvements on his premises in the way of buildings.

Geo. Kottmyer and wife returned last Thursday after a three weeks' wedding tour.

The following were guests at the hospitable home of Mrs. Amanda Tanner and daughter last Sunday: B. H. Tanner and wife, Alonzo Beemon and family, Clem Kendall and family, G. J. Allen and family, H. L. Tanner and family, Mrs. Irma Popham and children, Ira Walton and wife and F. J. Allen and wife.

CEDAR GROVE.

Corn husking and tobacco stripping are the main work of the day.

Stock water as well as drinking water is more plentiful since the recent rains.

Raymond Botts has about the finest crop of tobacco in this neighborhood.

Mrs. Mamie Sullivan and daughter, Miss Katherine, were shopping in Aurora, Saturday.

Blufford Terrill of near Aurora, Ind., spent last Monday night with his uncle, A. E. Grant.

Mrs. Eliza Voshell and son Leroy and Miss Martha Randall were shopping in Aurora one day last week.

Rev. Geo. Smith will preach at Woolper school house morning and night on the first Sunday in November.

Harry Voshell, of Indianapolis, and Chas. Voshell, of near Sparta, Ind., visited their brother Frank Voshell last week.

The Woolper team played a very interesting game of ball with the Middle creek boys last Saturday afternoon. The game ended a series, Woolper winning two out of the three games. Good for Woolper.

Miss Lottie Burns, one of Woolper's charming young ladies and Blufford Wingate were united in the holy bonds of matrimony last Wednesday afternoon at the parsonage in Belleview. Their many friends wish them a long, happy and prosperous life.

The weather the past week has been fine for husking corn and stripping tobacco.

AN IMPORTANT ARREST.

Sheriff B. B. Hume and Deputy Sheriff L. A. Conner Capture George Rice, The Shanty Boat Murderer.

He Is Now In Jail In Newport

Sheriff B. B. Hume and his deputy, L. A. Conner, performed a very neat piece of official work last Sunday, when they captured George Rice, who is charged with the murder of a man named Davis, whose dead body was discovered in a box floating in the river at Newport, several days ago. The officers had Rice's photograph and a good description of him, and information that he was with a shanty boat crowd near Constance, this county. They soon located the boat but Rice was not to be found, when they resorted to their detective skill and were not long in ascertaining that he was on the Ohio side of the river. They crossed the river and it was not long till they surprised their man and disarmed him before he had scarcely time to realize that he was in custody. Rice denied being guilty of the murder of Davis and consented to return to this State with the officers. He does not deny having been with Davis on the boat in which he was living, but claims to have bought the boat after which Davis left him. Rice was brought to Burlington and lodged in jail Sunday night where he remained an hour or so when he was delivered to Newport officials who came for him in an automobile. The Boone county officers are entitled to all the credit for the capture of Rice.

Will Make A Good Witiness.

A tramp by the name of Griffin, who has been a patient at Lakeland asylum came into Burlington Monday evening and was given lodging in the jail for the night. He soon began to talk and tell what he knew about George Rice, the shanty boat murderer, and so impressed Sheriff Hume that he detained him and took him to Newport, Wednesday, to testify at Rice's examining trial. Some think Griffin is a fraud but say the sheriff was justifiable in holding him and taking him to Newport. Ed. Hawes, who was employed at Lakeland several years, recognized Griffin as soon as he saw him, and says he ran away from that institution several times. If Griffin is not a fraud he will be a star witness at the trial of Rice.

Personal Mention.

Chas. McKim has been quite ill the past week.

Harry Roberts, of Erlanger, was transacting business in Burlington, Monday.

Everett Souther, of Pt. Pleasant neighborhood, was a caller at this office Tuesday.

Miss Julia Dinsmore, of Belleview, was the guest of Mrs. Belle Brady last Tuesday.

B. H. Berkshire and Lloyd Norris, of Petersburg, were business visitors to Burlington, Tuesday.

Mrs. Corrine Riley, of Bullittsville, was the guest of her son, Rev. E. C. Riley and family, Sunday.

Earl Walton and wife, of Petersburg, were the guests of Mrs. Walton's father, G. G. Hughes, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Brady, of Belleview, spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Emma Brown near town.

Mrs. J. M. Lassing and sons, Warren and John, of Newport, were Sunday guests of her sister, Mrs. Emma Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Riddell spent Sunday with his father and mother, J. A. Riddell and wife, in Hebron neighborhood.

Mrs. F. A. Hall visited her daughters, Mrs. H. W. Shearer and Miss Fesse in Newport, from Saturday until Tuesday.

Bascom Fenton and wife and his father W. H. Fenton, of Cincinnati, passed thru Burlington, Sunday, enroute to Petersburg.

Miss Mary Roberts, who is teaching in the Petersburg Graded school, spent Saturday night and Sunday with her parents here.

Mrs. Woods and little daughter, of St. Bernard, Ohio, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Lambert, near Belleview.

Mrs. F. P. Walton, of Covington, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Eliza Rouse. Mr. Walton came out Saturday night and remained over until Monday morning.

Miss May Poulch, who spent last week with her cousin, Miss Mary Thompson here, left Friday morning for a visit with friends at Springfield, Ohio. Miss Thompson accompanying her as far as Cincinnati.

Congressman Arthur B. Rouse was in Trimble Tuesday and Wednesday, looking after the needs of the county and his constituents. Mr. Rouse is always interested in the welfare of his district. He is making an excellent record in Congress, Trimble is always glad to have him.—Trimble Democrat.

EXPERIMENT OF SEED TESTING RECOGNIZED AS MOST IMPORTANT

Poor Seeds Means Poor Stands—Poor Stands Means Small Crops—The Inspection of Seeds Is Necessary in Obtaining Desirable Results

(By H. Garman, Head of the Division of Entomology and Botany.)

Directions for Taking Seed Samples for Testing.

In order to get fair tests of samples it is necessary that seeds be taken from different parts of the bulk lots they represent. A seed sampler is a convenience when samples are taken from sacks. The bulks should be thoroughly mixed before samples are taken.

Samples of the following seeds should in each case weigh two ounces: Red clover, sapling clover, alsike clover, crimson clover, sweet clover, alfalfa, orchard grass, English bluegrass and rye grass.

Samples of the following should weigh one ounce in each case: Kentucky bluegrass, Canada bluegrass, red top and timothy.

Put all samples in stout paper envelopes. Ordinary envelopes when filled with seeds are often broken by the stamps used in postoffices and let the seeds escape. Put your complete address on each envelope sent us, and address it to us as follows:

Division of Entomology and Botany,
Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, Lexington, Ky.

In writing to us, state whether you want a purity test, a germination test, or both.

Tests are made free of charge, and are given attention in the order of their receipt. Only purity tests are made for people living outside of Kentucky, except by special request.

Inspection.

The subject of seed inspection is so closely associated with seed testing that it is difficult to treat them separately. We have an imperfect law in Kentucky applying only to certain forage seeds, which provides for inspections to be made by the station. The forage seeds to be inspected are the following, given together with the adulterants specified in the law.

Red clover: Adulterants, 5 per cent or more by weight of trefoil (Medicago lupulina) or sweet clover (Melilotus alba and M. officinale).

Alfalfa: Adulterants, same as for red clover.

Kentucky bluegrass: Adulterants, 5 per cent or more by weight of Canada bluegrass, red top chaff or seed, or any other seed or foreign substance.

Orchard grass: Adulterants, 5 per cent or more by weight of meadow fescue (Festuca elatior pratensis), English rye grass (Lolium perenne) or Italian rye grass (L. Italicum).

Timothy: Adulterants, 5 per cent or more by weight of any other seed or foreign substance.

The adulterants actually named, it will be noted, are not calculated to do the farmer any harm, except as they defraud him by substituting a cheap seed for a more valuable one. And this mere substitution of one seed for another would not be so bad were it not that these adulterants are generally obtained from abroad and are likely not to be first rate seeds of their kind. Yet if they germinate well they furnish some forage and then die out, leaving the farmers no worse off except that he has lost some time and money.

Large percentages of noxious weed seeds are often sold with forage seeds and would pass inspection under this law excepting as they may be found in Kentucky bluegrass, or timothy, where the addition of the words, "or any other seed or foreign substance" cuts out all foreign seeds above 5 per cent. Below this percentage, however, quantities of dodder and buckhorn seeds may be sold in our markets without challenge. A law permitting the sale of dodder seeds up to 4½ per cent is all that the most careless or indifferent seedsman need ask as a legal guaranty that he will not be molested. Our experience in seed analysis constantly suggests the importance to our farmers of absolutely prohibiting the sale of seeds with which dodder, broom-rape seeds, or wild onion bulbs are mixed in any percentage.

No samples are tested under the law except such as have been taken by authorized agents of the station. As already stated, we test any seeds sent to us, but this is solely with the object of helping those sending the samples. They may be properly taken or not. We assume no responsibility excepting as to the correctness of the analysis. In other words, while we test any seeds sent to us, our inspections of seeds apply only to stock of which we have personal knowledge. For this purpose samples are taken by us from stock offered for sale, and are subsequently tested in the seed laboratory of the station. We can thus certify as to who offered the seeds for sale and to all other details necessary to secure conviction in case the pure seed law has been violated. Any one familiar with legal procedure in our courts will understand that the necessary proof cannot readily be secured from samples taken by people who are strangers to us and who have a personal, perhaps, a financial, interest in proving some one else in the wrong.

We must know the history, as far as this is practicable, of the stock from which every analyzed sample is taken.

Testing.

The importance of seed testing is recognized in the law establishing the Agricultural Experiment stations and provision for it has been made in many of the great agricultural states. Poor seeds mean poor stands. Poor stands mean small crops. Every farmer knows this, and only poor farmers fail to act on the knowledge. Yet there is no part of agricultural practice in which the farmer is more likely to make mistakes or be deceived. He has learned to pick out a good animal. He does not always pick out a good seed. This is due in part to the difficulty of determining the quality of seeds by ordinary methods of examination. A seed of fine appearance and well cleaned may germinate 50 per cent or lower; or on the other hand, it may germinate 98 per cent and have with it enough dodder seeds to sow a farm so thickly with the pest that profitable crops of clover can not be sown on the land for years afterward.

The Kentucky Experiment Station stands ready, so far as its resources will permit, to help either farmer or seedsman in this important matter. Seeds are tested here both for purity and germination at the request of citizens of this state. This brief note is simply to call attention to two or three features of the work, which experience shows are likely to be misunderstood by those sending us samples.

1. The percentage of purity of samples is determined quickly and is reported as soon as determined, often on the same day the sample is received, though this depends on the number of samples received ahead of it.

2. When germination tests are wanted also, this should be stated in the letter accompanying samples. It requires a week at least to get a germination test of seeds, and grass seeds such as those of blue-grass require a month. A letter received recently with a sample requests a "germination test by return mail," a feat of which no station on earth is capable at present. Such tests are reported as soon as they can be completed. A preliminary report can be made if desired, and though incomplete sometimes indicates the quality of a sample, because fresh seeds germinate more promptly than old ones.

The following list taken from the "rules" followed by seed analysts will show about how long one must wait to get a satisfactory germination test. I am adding to it the instructions we are accustomed to furnish those who propose to send us samples of forage seeds for analysis.

Kind of Seed.	Day for making germinating report.
Field crops.	Preliminary.	Final.
Barley	3	6
Beans	3	6
Beets	5	8
Buckwheat	4	8
Corn	3	6
Cotton	4	8
Flax	3	6
Hemp	3	6
Oats	3	6
Peas	3	6
Rice	4	8
Rye	3	6
Tobacco	6	14
Turnips	3	6
Wheat	3	6
Grasses, Clovers and Forage Plants.
Alfalfa	3	6
Bermuda gross	10	21
Bluegrass	14	28
Brome grass	5	10
Clover, alsike	3	6
Clover, crimson	2	4
Clover, mammoth red	3	6
Clover, common red	3	6
Clover, white	3	6
Cowpeas	4	8
Meadow fescue	5	10
Millet	3	6
Orchard grass	6	14
Rape	3	6
Redtop	5	8
Rye grass	6	14
Sorghum	4	8
Soy beans	4	8
Teosinte	4	8
Timothy	5	8
Turnips	3	6
Vetch	4	8
Vegetables.
Asparagus	6	14
Beans	3	6
Beets	5	8
Cabbage	3	6
Carrots	6	14
Cauliflower	3	6
Celery	6	14
Cucumbers	3	6
Kale	3	6
Lettuce	2	4
Muskmelons	3	6
Okra	4	8
Onions	4	8
Parsley	14	28
Parsnips	6	14
Peas	3	6
Peppers	4	8
Pumpkins	3	6
Radishes	2	4
Salsify	5	10
Spinach	5	10
Squashes	3	6
Sweet corn	3	6
Tomatoes	4	8
Turnips	3	6
Watermelons	4	8

Moore's Stoves Save and Satisfy

One reason why you should have Moore's Stoves is the unequalled satisfaction they give. But—a better reason—and one you can't afford to overlook—is the big saving of fuel Moore's Stoves mean to you.

Moore's Air-Tight Heater

Cuts down your present fuel bills fully a half. Gets all the value out of the coal—nothing goes to waste. Moore's Everlasting Firepot burns the gas, the smoke, the soot—converts them into heat instead of letting them vanish up the chimney. Use any fuel you like—best hard coal or cheapest slack—all work equally well in Moore's Air-Tight Heater. The Moore's Dust Flue and Air-Tight Draft Control are two other big features that put Moore's Stoves in a class by themselves. When will you call?

Moore's Range With the Glass Oven Door Will also interest you. One glance will make you want it. Steel or cast—in all sizes—prices to fit your purse.

CROUCH & ROUSE
ERLANGER, KENTUCKY

Look Here!

The Best Offer Ever.

The Boone County Recorder.....
The Weekly Enquirer,.....
Farm & Fireside, semi-monthly.....
Poultry Success, monthly.....
Woman's World, monthly.....
Farm News, monthly.....

All One Year For $2.10

By Ordering the above separately the cost would be $4.25 for the Six Publications each one year.

This Big Proposition

is open to all New Subscribers to The Recorder and to those whose renewals will extend into 1914.

Those who have renewed up to or beyond Jany. 1, 1914 will be given the benefit of the above combination by sending to this office Sixty Cents.

Now is the time to secure your reading matter for the long winter nights coming on. Grasp this Opportunity.

nrgentine Beef.

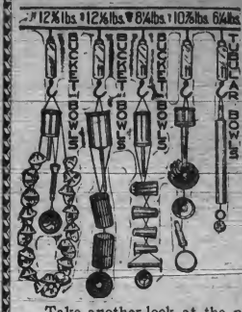
With the new tariff in effect and beef free there will be much interest in observing the market price for the roast and steak and even the soup bone. The first shipment of Argentine beef is reported to have undersold ours at four cents per pound in the retail market of New York. Reports of inspection of this importation tell us it is of "high standard." While there is a prospect that we may eventually have cheaper beef and that shipments from Argentina may help and that there will be a revival of the production at home we must not hope for a marked reduction very soon. Although the Government of Argentina is encouraging the business of raising cattle and shipping frozen beef, there must be great growth of it before we shall feel the result of reduction to any considerable extent. While it is true that our production of cattle has fallen from seventy million head in 1893 to an estimated fifty-six millions this year, the latest statistics do not give Argentina credit for production of every thirty-five million head.

The export of Argentina frozen beef to the United Kingdom in 1911 reached a value of $30,000,000, the product of eight plants operated with British and American capital. Probably there will be immediate increase of this industry if we shall show appreciation of the beef. But there must be considerable deterioration in fiber and flavor of that product in comparison with American beef, because it has to be frozen to reach England; and there is a difference to the taste between frozen beef and that merely chilled, to the considerable disadvantage of the former. While England and other markets may continue to use most of the supply from Argentina for a long time and our Eastern cities may be benefitted by its lower prices there is no doubt that it is inferior to our beef, and must continue so. Also, there is no doubt that in our country there will be speedy revival of the business and that through our own increase in production more than the influence of the importation we may look for some lowering of the cost.—Enquirer.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

Will Long be Remembered.

The summer of 1913 will be remembered in future years as one of the most unfavorable perious for growing tobacco that was ever experienced in the United States, especially in certain sections where the long, dry and exceedingly hot season was unbroken by little or no rain. The Central States were probably the hardest hit in this respect, the burley belt of Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia suffering most. Altho the area planted in this section was somewhat curtailed as compared with 1912, the yield would not have been far short of last year had favorable conditions prevailed throughout the growing season. The New England States, however, had a more favorable summer, and with splendid conditions prevailing in North and South Carolina, where large quantities of the export types of leaf are grown, the losses in production sustained in other sections of the country were partially counterbalanced, so that the total tobacco production of the country for the past summer does not fall as far short of last year as was feared a month or two ago.—Ex.



Messrs. Teddy Caldwell and Winston Wiseman killed a monster snake Tuesday. The young men were walking along the plank walk near the college building when the reptile fell from off the main building of the college immediately in front of them. They killed it and placed it in alcohol to preserve it. Those who saw the snake state that it was one of the most beautiful specimens ever seen in this city and that it was about four feet long. Despite the fact that its head was very small, about the size of a man's thumb. It had swallowed a young squab. When the recent street fair was in this city three of their serpents escaped and this has been identified as one of the fugitives.—Danville Advocate.

J. J. Richardson has had over $100 worth of sheep killed by dogs within the last year. If half of the dogs in Jessamine county were listed for taxes it would keep a big surplus in the treasury to meet the demands of farmers whose sheep are killed by dogs.—Nicholasville News.

Which Shall Wife Wash?

Which cream separator bowl does the wife prefer to wash?

On the left are four styles of common "bucket bowls" used in ordinary cream separators. On the right is a light, simple, sanitary Sharples Dairy Tubular bowl of the same capacity—used only in Sharples Tubular Separators.

These illustrations were made from actual photographs. Notice the weights—count the pieces. The Sharples Tubular bowl contains but one piece, and that piece is smooth, instantly removable and about the size and shape of a napkin ring. The Tubular bowl can easily be perfectly cleaned in three minutes.

Yet makers of "bucket bowls"—barred by patents from making or using Tubular bowls—say "bucket bowls" are as easy to clean, and wear as long, as Tubular bowls.

Take another look at the picture. Show it to your wife. Which had she rather wash? Which do you think will wear the lougest. We sell Sharples Tubular—the finest cream separators and surest money makers made. Bring your wife and look at one.

QUIGLEY & BEEMON
LIMABURG, KY.

Peters "ALL-FOR-WEAR"

THE BEST WORK SHOE IN THE WORLD

FOR SALE BY
W. M. RACHAL & CO.
UNION, KENTUCKY.

H. G. BLANTON,
Funeral Director & Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.

First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.

I Have a Nice White Funeral Car and Ambulance,

Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.

Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,
Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.
Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.
Office and Wareroom:
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
IRA POPE Agent, - - Grant, Ky

J. L. HAMILTON
(Successor to M. T. WILSON)

FUNERAL DIRECTOR,
Verona, Ky.

Telephone calls day or night given prompt attention. Mrs. M. T. Wilson is my assistant and solicits the patronage of the friends of her late husband. dec-1 12

WANTED

Man and family to take charge of farm on the Bellevue pike about 1½ miles from Burlington, Ky. Good house, cow and chickens furnished—must state salary expected. Address this office.

A Splendid Clubbing Bargain
WE OFFER
The Boone Co. Recorder
AND
The Cincinnati Weekly Enquirer
Both One Year For Only $1.85
Subscriptions may be new or renewal.

What the Weekly Enquirer is.

It is issued every Thursday, subscription price $1 per year, and it is one of the best home metropolitan weeklies of to-day. It has all the facilities of the great DAILY ENQUIRER for obtaining the world's events, and for that reason can give you all the leading news. It carries a great amount of valuable farm matter, crisp editorials and reliable up-to-date market reports. Its numerous departments make it a home farm or business man.

This grand offer is limited and we advise you to take advantage by subscribing for the above combination right now. Call or mail orders to
BOONE CO. RECORDER,
Burlington, Ky.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections.
Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

CHAS. E. GARNETT.
AUCTIONEER.
Will go to any part of the county
Address.
R. D. 2, Ludlow, Ky.

Subscribe for Your County Paper.

IS KENTUCKY IN NEED OF THE TAX REFORM?

What Happened in "THE COW COUNTIES" in California and Why "THE DOG TAX COUNTIES" in Kentucky Should Emulate Their Example

Until a few years ago the State of California was suffering under the same system of taxation which prevails in Kentucky although many efforts had been made to change it.

The average citizen is opposed to innovations as a general proposition and while the state suffered and the burden of taxation fell heavily on the small property owner, as it does in Kentucky, it was hard to arouse the people and capitallatic classes managed to keep the old law in effect and went on hiding their personal property and escaping taxation, as they do in Kentucky.

"Why is this man working so hard?"
"To get more land to pay MORE taxes."

A simple careless expression in a San Francisco newspaper caused a revolution of feeling and brought about the change which all Californians are now proud of.

The newspaper referred to printed an article to the effect that the same old Constitutional Amendment would be voted on at the November election and added facetiously that "the Cow Counties" would probably vote for it, and treated it as a joke.

The newspaper evidently underestimated the power of "the Cow Counties" as this little attempt at witticism made "the Cow Counties" sit up and take notice.

The people in "the Cow Counties" commenced to ask themselves: Why is it that farm lands and town property pay the bulk of taxes? Why are the owners of stocks, bonds, notes and other personal property able to get off scott free?

Have we a uniform system of taxation in practice as well as in name? And such like questions.

Well, the result was "the Cow Counties" in California determined to throw off the yoke and the amendment was overwhelmingly carried.

"Why is this man working so hard?"
"To hide his property and pay NO taxes."

The same conditions exist in Kentucky to-day and the same opportunity for a change presents itself and it is time for "the Cow Counties" in Kentucky to show their power and force a fair division of taxation.

By subjecting the millions of dollars of personal property to the payment of taxes, farms and town lots would be relieved as in other states with modern tax laws. In Pennsylvania there is no state tax on farm lands and town lots because the revenue from stocks, bonds and notes is sufficient for the purpose.

The dog tax in Kentucky produced more revenue in 1912 ($127,651) than all the taxes from bonds ($32,425), cash in banks ($64,240), and stocks in corporations ($14,000); total $110,665, while farm lands and town lots and improvements paid $3,177,360.

"The Dog Tax" Counties in Kentucky are in the same fix as "the Cow Counties" were in California and it is high time to quit barking and commence biting. A vote for the tax amendment at the November election will make the other fellow do some howling, if "the Dog Tax" counties will only do their duty and vote for the amendment and enable the legislature to frame laws to make all classes of property pay their legitimate share of taxation.

Extract From Report of State Tax Commission.

"We recommend, that the proposed Constitutional Amendment should be adopted by the voters of the state.

"This Amendment has been carefully drawn, its provisions are clear and plain.

"It follows precedents which have been tried and proved successful in other states.

"It authorizes practical changes, which, in our judgment, if adopted, will increase revenue, remove restrictions now handicapping valuable enterprises, and place Kentucky upon a fair plane with other states which have shown marked progress and prosperity, as a result of sane and sound revenue laws.

"It provides that any and all changes made thereunder in our tax laws up to 1917 must be approved by the people themselves after passage by the legislature and their approval may be made a condition after that time, so that the whole matter rests in the hands of the people.

"We consider the amendment necessary in order to enable the legislature to take the initiative in any effective revision of the revenue laws of the state, which have been condemned by the then State Tax Commissions and criticised annually by the State Equalization Board.

W. O. DAVIS, Chairman,
Woodford County.
ELWOOD HAMILTON, Sec'y,
Franklin County.
W. B. MOODY,
Henry County.
W. A. FROST,
Graves County.
L. C. OWINGS,
Jefferson County.

"GLORIOUS" RIOTS IN DUBLIN

London Newspaper Thus Describes Popular Ebullitions in Ireland's Ancient Capital.

One of the jolliest Dublin riots of recent years celebrated the relief of Ladysmith. Dublin was pro-Boer, but Trinity college was on the side of the government. From their stronghold on College Green the Trinity "boys" descended in their fury upon the town. It was a glorious half hour. Dublin was spoiling for a fight. But the arrival upon the scene of the royal Irish constabulary brought about a change in the disposition of forces. The contending armies joined in a vigorous and effective onslaught against the common enemy. For every Irishman—whether he labels himself Unionist or Nationalist—is at heart a rebel.

There was a Dublin riot which broke out on the mere rumor of a scheme for the union of Ireland with England. The mob on December 3, 1759, descended upon the houses of parliament and testified to their scorn of politicians by seating upon the throne a decrepit old woman, in whose mouth they placed a pipe and invited her to smoke. In the house of commons they proposed to make a bonfire of the journals, but were diverted by a more enticing proposal to hang Rigby, the newly appointed master of the rolls. Off the grim revolutionaries sailed, the necessary gallows ready, to seize their lawyer. Rigby, however, had scented mischief, and had "prudently gone into the country."—London Chronicle.

TEST MAKES SURE OF DEATH

Injection of Fluoresein Will Tell Absolutely Whether Any Life Remains in Body.

A remarkable new method of testing absolutely whether a person is really dead and thus avoiding the possibility of premature burial, just announced by Doctor Icard, of Marseilles, has been received with great interest by his colleagues in Paris.

Doctor Icard's system depends on the question whether the blood is still in circluation or not, and consists of a subcutaneous injection of a small quantity of fluoresein, which is quite harmless, but one of the most violent coloring matters known.

If there be the slightest motion of the blood the fluoresein, carried around the body, stains it a vivid golden yellow, while the eyes become a deep emerald green. If, on the other hand, there is no movement of the blood the coloring matter is not dispersed, and produces no effect. Half an hour is stated to be enough to make this test.

The laity, while duly impressed by this neat method, are asking whether persons who are alive and undergo the dyeing process, and who later recover, will lose the golden yellow tint and the green eyes, which, as Doctor Icard describes them, "are transformed into superb emeralds, set like jewels in their sockets."

It may be added, however, that fluoresein is one of the most transitory dyes known.

TEACHING PUPILS TO SPELL

New York Newspaper Thinks That Possibly There is an Error in the Present Process.

So much has been said and printed about the very independent way pupils in school now spell—of course, there were always bad spellers—that the reason for it should be known. A dozen or more years ago a new method of teaching spelling was devised and from one end of our education-ridden country to the other was practiced and favorably reported on. It was called "visualization," and meant that a mental picture was certainly impressed on "the child's" mind by merely looking at the word. It never occurred to the visualizers that "the child" had always looked at the word, and that the drill they proposed to do away with was all there was to the spelling lesson.

Many a learned-sounding word has been of service to expert educators in this way. Interallis, laboratory, efficient, to function, to sense, vital, progress, apperceive, and correlate; 'twas a good game and then began the division of words like eggs, into right, partly right, and strictly right, and rating 25 per cent. children 55 per cent., as in Leslie county, Kentucky, and some places nearer home, where all these new devices were practiced and "reported favorably on regardless of facts," as one may see who reads Page 251, Eleventh Report of Schools, which condemns these practices.

To encourage pupils is laudable, but to tell them they are right when they are wrong, even though we may recognize degrees of wrongness in words as in eggs, is certainly not commendable. The action of educator Sweetman in accepting "bad" for "bade" should be no model for others to follow, nor for himself to continue. There have been many like him; he's but a type.—New York Times.

FLY DESERVES NO FRIENDS

Kill Him Without Mercy Wherever You Find Him, is Edict That Has Gone Forth.

The true cussedness of the fly seldom shows forth till about this time in the fall. He is more numerous now than before, and seems many times a greater nuisance.

He haunts doors and windows, watching for a chance to slip inside. He promenades over your face while you are trying to get a beauty sleep in the morning. He comes from garbage can and stable to walk over every uncovered bit of food, and he seems to take a fiendish pleasure in drowning himself in the milk pitcher.

The Chinaman who hates you had enough will kill himself on your doorstep, so that his ghost may haunt you. The fly loads himself with typhoid germs and plunges to a milky grave that he may start an inflammation in your Feyer's patches.

Fly swatting now is necessary, but palliative. The buzzing pest is of too well growth to be destroyed. All that can be done is to hold him in check, starve him by covering all garbage and stable litter, catch and kill him when possible—and resolve to make a more effective campaign against this murderer of babies next spring.

Find the Harbor of Pompeii.

The ancient harbor of the buried city of Pompeii, which was filled with lava when the great eruption of Vesuvius destroyed the city, has been discovered by the sculptor Cozza. It is expected that many interesting objects will be laid bare during the excavation, as it is recalled that at the time of the eruption a large number of the inhabitants fled toward the harbor, carrying valuable jewelry and money with them, but their escape was cut off by the rush of lava and they perished there, the Roman fleet under Pliny being unable to give them any assistance.

The harbor is 2,225 feet beyond Marine Gate and 4,050 feet from the present shore line. Twenty-four feet of lava, and ashes cover the site. Cozza has uncovered a portion of a deeply rutted paved road leading from Marine Gate to the harbor and portions of stone landing stages and quays as well as a breakwater.

Decidedly Curt.

A Sydney Bulletin man claims to have discovered the briefest correspondence on record, fixing up an engagement. His letter to her ran:

May 1.

Dear Doll,
May one?

DICK.

Her reply to him was in the same frugal spirit:

May 1.

Dear Dick,
One may.

DOLL.

The sub-editor recollects an even shorter correspondence. He wrote his girl:

Dear Flo,
↑

BILL.

She wrote:
Dear Bill,
↓

FLO.

Mark Twain in Sarcastic Mood.

"Even the cleverest and most perfect circumstantial evidence is likely to be at fault, after all, and therefore ought to be received with great caution," said the late Mark Twain.

"Take the case of any pencil sharpened by any woman. If you have witnesses, you will find she did it with a knife; but if you simply take the aspect of the pencil, you will say she did it with her teeth."

COD LIVER OIL AND IRON

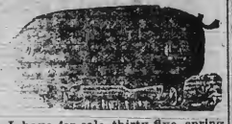
Two Most World-Famed Tonics Combined in Vinol.

Cod Liver oil and Iron have proved to be the two most successful tonics the world has ever known—iron for the blood and the medicinal curative elements of cod liver oil as a strength and tissue builder for body and nerves, and for the successful treatment of throat and lung troubles.

Two eminent French chemists discovered a method of separating the curative medicinal elements of the cods' livers from the oil or grease which is thrown away, but to these medicinal elements tonic iron is now added, thus combining in Vinol the two most world famed tonics.

As a body-builder and strength creator for weak, run-down people, for feeble old people, delicate children, to restore strength after sickness; and for chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis or pulmonary troubles we ask you to try Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

P. S. For pimples and blotches try our Saxo Salve. We guarantee it.



Robert W. Jones, Druggist, Walton

DUROC JERSEY

"Florence Fair Prize Winners." Extra good BOARS at farmers prices.

J. F. CLEEK,
Richwood, Ky.

Poland China Hogs.

I have for sale thirty-five spring pigs—both sexes, sired by the celebrated Money Maker No. 84771, King-to-Be 82903, Onward 81371.

THOMAS POWERS,
oct-2 2m Crittenden, Ky.

Rogers Bros.
General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade.

B. S. O'NEAL,
AUCTIONEER,
VERONA, - KENTUCKY.
Your Order is Solicited.

For Sale or Rent.

One Hundred and Eight and Two-Third Acres of Land, at the mouth of Gunpowder creek in this county; the best hog farm in Northern Kentucky. For further particulars call on or address Erastus Rice, Rising Sun, Indiana, or S. D. Rice, Grant, Ky., R. D. 1.

Eggs and Baby Chicks For Sale

Single Comb Rhode Island Reds.
Single Comb Black Minorcas—fine layers. Best selected Stock, purest Strain.
Eggs $1.00 for 15.
Baby Chicks 10 cents each.
Address
Mrs. JOSEPH A. HUEY,
Richwood, Ky.
Phone—Beaver 163. mch27tf

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN,
DENTIST
will be at Burlington on the first and second Monday, and in Union on the third and fourth Monday of each month, prepared and qualified to practice according to the latest methods extracting teeth painless. All work guaranteed.

DR. B. W. STALLARD
with DR. SHOBER'S
QUEEN CITY DENTISTS
Nos. 43-49 W. Fifth Ave.,
CINCINNATI, - - OHIO.

F. J. HENN. M. M. HUSCHART.
LAWRENCEBURG
Granite and Marble Works
Manufacturers of and Dealers in
Fine American and Imported Monuments.
Cemetery Work of Every Description Promptly and Carefully Attended to.
Lawrenceburg, : : Indiana.
D. M. SNYDER, Agt., Burlington, Ky.

For Sale.

Store property in Burlington.
Mrs. Dudley Rouse.

Take your County Paper.

FIFTY-SECOND SEMI-ANNUAL STATEMENT OF THE
Boone County Deposit Bank
Burlington, Kentucky
At Close of Business December 31, 1912.

RESOURCES.		LIABILITIES.
Loans, Bonds, &c....	$170,858.50	Capital Stock.....	$ 30,000.00
Overdrafts.....	52.81	Surplus.....	45,000.00
Due from Banks.....	38,391.04	Undivided Profits, &c	7,581.49
Cash.....	7,711.80	Deposits.....	136,591.35
Banking House, &c..	3,000.00	Due Banks.....	841.31
Total.....	$220,014.15	Total.....	$220,014.15

A Bank that is going after business, and going in the right way.

HOW? By promptness in serving its customers.
By courteous attention to their banking needs.
By readiness in meeting their requirements, and, above all
By perfect security of the funds intrusted to its care, having over $100.000.00 to secure depositors.
We have the largest Capital and Surplus of any Bank in this county, and are amply able to accommodate our patrons, and are willing at all times to afford them every accommodation justified by the rules of good and safe banking, whether their accounts are large or small.

N. E. RIDDELL, President. J. C. REVILL, Cashier.

J. F. KIESWETTER,
RUGS MADE of OLD CARPETS
Compressed Air Carpet Cleaning.
TELEPHONE SOUTH 21.
250 PIKE STREET,
Covington, - - - Ky.
M. RIDDELL, Agent, Burlington, Ky.

ADAMS
A New Victrola $75

A Cabinet Style Victrola combining a record cabinet for only $75.00. Same perfect, mellow tone quality of the most expensive Victrola, same elegant finish.

Easy Monthly Payments.

A. ADAMS,
15 Pike Street,
Covington, - - Ky.

The Cincinnati Grain Co.
HAVE OPENED THEIR NEW HOUSE
AT ERLANGER, KY.
FREE PHONE ERLANGER 49
Handle Hay, Grain, Flour and Feed of all Kinds.
Will Also Buy Your Wheat, Rye, Etc.

Special Notice—We are selling at city prices, consequently can save you the long haul from Covington and Cincinnati.
GIVE US A TRIAL.

FARM MOTORS
For Pumping, Operating Churns, Saws, Corn Shredders, Filling Silos, Etc.
Last a Lifetime. From 1¼ to 25 h. p. $33 and up.
Ready To Run.

Direct Factory Representatives
SPENCER-HARTLIEB CO.
316-318 MAIN STREET
CINCINNATI, OHIO
Phone, 1810 Main

Read Our Big Combination Offer.

BOONE CO. RECORDER
W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

Election, Tuesday, November 4, 1913

For Representative,
W. T. STOTT.
For Commonwealth's Attorney,
JOHN J. HOWE.
For Circuit Clerk,
CHARLES MAURER.
For County Judge,
P. E. CASON.
For County Attorney,
N. E. RIDDELL.
For County Clerk,
W. R. ROGERS.
For Sheriff.
W. D. CROPPER.
For Assessor,
W. P. BEEMON.
For Supt. of Schools,
EDGAR C. RILEY.
For Jailer,
J. S. ADAMS.
For Surveyor,
J. W. CONLEY.
For Coroner,
A. A. MURAT.
For Magistrate.
First District—E. J. AYLOR.
Second District—WM. STEPHENS
Third District—CHAS. WILSON.
Fourth District—N. C. TANNER.
Sixth District—R. H. TANNER.

THE BENEFIT

Good Roads Are to Any Community,

Increase Property Values, Social Pleasures and Other Incalculable Benefits.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has stated in a late bulletin that farmers of the United States are losing $250,000,000 per year by reason of bad roads. If this be true then Boone county having 10,000 people, all farmers comprising 1-3500 part of the 35,000,000 of the farm population of the United States, and assuming that it is an average in the condition of its roads, is losing 1-3500 of $250,000,000 or over $70,000. This calculation leaves out of consideration the confort, the benefit to schools, the increased social pleasures arising from good roads, the increase of property values and all other sentimental benefits which are incalculable. It will not do for any farmer in this county to dispute these figures because Uncle Sam sends out no incorrect bulletins on any subject.

The present movement for free pikes and good roads look towards the placing of all the people in Boone county on an equality on the question of roads and taxation. If carried by a majority and followed up next year by a two-thirds majority on a bond issue, this result in the course of ten years may be attained. By this I mean the present pikes may be freed of tollgates and maintained better than now; another hundred or two miles of pike built and the remainder of our roads removed from creeks and properly graded, worked and improved. Since the constitution limits taxes for all county purposes to 50 cents to the $100 and since we must allow ten cents for the general county expense, it follows that all this must be done, if done at all, by 40 cents taxes and such additional sums as may be voluntarily subscribed by people directly interested and benefited by new pikes. The question has been asked, Can this be done? The answer is it has been done by all the other counties in the State which have good roads and free pikes. That it can not be done by a toll system and the present unskillful, old time, and unsystemmatized method of working the roads as proven by the fact that we have been 100 years in building 100 miles of pike and our other 3000 miles of road are little or no better than they were twenty years ago. Few of the pikes under gates are more than self susustaining, although they form the more important highways.

If the present movement succeeds direction will thereby be given to the Fiscal Court to start out on a more progressive system of road improvements; a duty will be placed upon them to levy 25 cents to the hundred dollars which may be used toward establishing a uniform system of free pikes and good roads. For the first time in this county the court will have the power to free pikes of gates by buying them; will be directed by the people to aid in building pikes and to more and better work upon the other roads. But inasmuch as 25 cents will only raise $18,000 per year it is manifest the court can not do much toward building or buying pikes although it can do something and can do a great deal toward improving the mud roads. Therefore it will be necessary next year or in the near future to vote a bond issue which will enable the people in the course of a few years to have a good system of free pikes and good roads.

It certainly would be unwise for the county to free any pikes until the means are at command to maintain all pikes as well or better than they are now. If the present movement carries the first thing the court should do is to supply the county with needed machinery and the next thing should be to remove all the roads from creek beds. In order to establish a good system of free pikes and good roads with the amount of money which can be raised by taxation proper efficiency in engineering, labor and machinery are absolutely necessary. Likewise to build new pikes co-operation by people directly interested by supplementing the amount paid by the county may be both necessary and wise. These problems may be solved after the county says it is going into the business of free pikes and good roads.

If we do this the result will be very beneficial to the whole county; we will save $70,000 per year; we will in the course of five years increase our taxable wealth by $3,000,000; we will increase our population instead of losing yearly some of our best citizens and largest taxpayers.

Many untrue statements have been made. The road tax rate in Kenton county is 10 cents but this is because with practically the same mileage her tax list is about four times as large as ours. No one need believe we will succeed in this matter short of a rate of 35 cents but it can not go beyond 40 cents which would be an increase of only 25 over what we are now paying.

It has been stated that the pikes would be freed and no new pikes built. Also that new pikes would be built and none freed. No fair man would desire this and no court would do such an unfair, unwise and dishonest thing. Both should be done.

The one purpose of the movement and the law is to give a uniform system of free pikes and good roads, and a uniformity of taxation. Neither of these things is done now and never can be under the present system. Boone county is amply able to have good free pikes. A tax list of $7,000,000 is $700 per capita, and while Kenton county with 75,000 people and tax list of $30,000,000 has only $100 per capita. In wealth Boone county will compare favorably with any simular agricultural section of the same population in the world.

The roads are the one thing we are behind on. The fault is in the system and the proposed system will do far more with one-half of the money we are now paying in the way of tolls and loses in time and added expense in our hauls to and from market, leaving out of the question what is of more value than money, better schools, better church attendance, more ease and comfort in our travels; more pleasure from our increased social privileges. No one on pikes could be hurt because the tolls equal the increased taxes. No one on mud roads could be hurt because in addition to being relieved from the toll he is now paying he would be benefitted by better facilities of reaching the present pikes.

Many points of inequality now exist such as the fact that the county now owns one half of the Lexington pike and about one-third of 30 miles which were built under the $500 per mile order. Under present law without this proposed movement carries the county can not subscribe to exceed $100 per mile in stock to any pike. Now all the people helped to build the above 30 miles of pike by taxes. To deprive the one-half of the people who do not live on pikes of county aid in building pikes is manifestly unfair. Just what if any, directly or indirectly all the people contributed to building the other pikes is of course unknown; but if the owners of these pikes be paid a fair price and the people living on them in common with all other be freed from paying toll, they will be on an exact equality.

Objections to the present system or a continuation of the toll system are numerous and unanswerable, a few of which are:

1st. County roads are solely for the public and therefore should be owned and controlled by the public.

2nd. All our neighboring counties have free pikes and it is not honest to use their roads without charge and then make them pay toll or travel bad roads in our county.

3rd It is impossible to build toll roads in this county under the present law.

4th. It is impossible to build new pikes in this county without county aid.

5th. Toll roads are out of date and expensive; allowing one gate to each five miles we have 20 on one hundred miles. Each keeper receives about $10 per month or $3600 per year to maintain the present gates not one cent of which goes on the pikes. If all our 400 miles of road were piked the expense of maintaining gates would be $14,400 which is one-half as much as our tax can be under the free pike system.

6th. It is not true that the people who travel the pike should or do pay for it. Leaving out a few people who pass through the country for mere pleasure the people of Boone county pay all the toll and pay all the loses of bad roads for the simple reason that all tolls no matter by whom paid and all loses incident to bad roads are reflected in the prices of what we buy and sell.

The sum of the whole matter is that we have not managed our road business as we manage our private business and we have lost hundreds of thousands of dollars by not doing so. I defy any person to publicly state at Burlington next Monday any objection to this movement which can not be satisfactorily answered.

J. G. TOMLIN.

Dr. Axby has won the distinction of catching the largest fish with pole and line this season hereabouts as far as we know. After quite a battle for supremacy last Thursday afternoon he succeeded in landing an 8 pound Mississippi catfish from Tanners Creek. The Doctor was all "puffed up" over his catch and well he might be.—Lawrenceburg Register.

The Good Roads Days.

Last Friday's issue of the daily Courier-Journal carried the following editorial:

To-day is the first of the Kentucky Good Roads Days and the Courier-Journal cherishes the hope that Kentuckians will give a good account of themselves.

It ought to be possible to do a great deal, to-day to-morrow, for the benefit of the roads. If there should be little substantial result beyond the "getting together" of the citizens there still would be cause for congratulation by reason of the evidence of interest in the vital issue of highway improvement. There is warrant for believing, however, that some really valuable work will be done in many localities and that the movement will stimulate the good roads sentiment everywhere and be productive of results abidingly beneficial.

Here in Kentucky we have been talking about good roads for a long time. It is regrettable to say that we have been talking while other States have been building. The consequence is that while we are still occupying an honorable position in the list of good roads States we are increasing our mileage only at a trifling rate and Commonwealth's once far behind us are catching up while others are forging ahead. We have good roads in a few favored sections of the State and fair roads in many places, but in the large majority of the Kentucky counties good roads are little more than "the baseless fabric of a vision.

The volunteer movement, as the Courier Journal has remarked heretofore, is not an ideal method of building highways. The biggest and best thing about it is that it develops and fosters the good roads spirit; that it unifies communiteis, promotes good fellowship and inspires ambition for general betterment. One successful road working day begets a desire for others. Improvement in one neighborhood stirs other neighborhoods to action. The building of good roads in one county causes other counties to "go and do likewise."

To-day and to-morrow will demonstrate, in no small measure, whether we are really in earnest in talking better roads. Everybody has had an opportunity to exploit his views and now everybody will have an opportunity to work. "The proof of the pudding is the eating thereof" and the highest test of good roads enthusiasm consists in helping to make the dirt fly.

The Turkey Crop.

This year's turkey crop in the "Blue Grass" region and thruout Kentucky promises to be the largest in many years according to the best informed shippers. Nearly all sections report a heavier production compared with other years the increase being estimated all the way from 10 to 25 per cent. In the Shelbyville district which is one of the largest in the State, the heaviest operator advises that from 110 reports he has had from turkey raisers in his district he estimates there were 10 per cent more turkeys in the section Oct. 1 than at the same time a year ago. Other operators who keep posted report all the way from 10 to 25 per cent increase over last year. —Farmers Home Journal.

We will sell at public sale at the residence of A. L. Nichols, on the East Bend road, one mile from Burlington, beginning at twelve o'clock, noon, on Saturday, Nov. 1st, 1913, a lot of household and kitchen furniture consisting of feather beds, bedding, dishes, chairs, safes, tables, etc. Terms made known on day of sale.

Mollie Clore,
Effie Nichols.

The best time for setting strawberries in the South is in November. They prefer level, moist land, but will thrive in any good soil.

For Sale.

One Western Electric twenty-line switchboard, will be sold in Union, Ky., on Nov. 10th, 1913, at 2 o'clock, by sealed bids to be in the hands of the Commissioners by 12 o'clock, (noon) Nov. 10, 1913, The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Commissioners:
S. S. SMITH.
OWEN BLANKENBEKER
N. C. TANNER.

Public Sale.

I will offer for sale at public auction at my farm sn the Bullittsville and Dry Creek turnpike, about two miles west of Bullittsville, Ky., on

Thursday, Nov. 20th, 1913

the following property;

15 first-class Ewes,
12 Milch Cows,
1 Horse and Buggy,
Lot Corn, Hay, Cowpeas,
Sows and Pigs,
and other articles.

TERMS.—Sums of $5.00 and under, cash; on all sums over $5.00 a credit of six months will be given, purchaser to give note with approved security payable at the Boone County Deposit Bank, Burlington, Ky., before removing property.

MRS. M. T. GRAVES.
Sale to begin at 12 o'clock.

A. M. EDWARDS
WALTON, KY.

-DEALER IN-
The Best Quality Coal
—THE CELEBRATED—
Campbell's Creek and Pluto Cannel Coal.
JUST ARRIVED! Car load of Buggies which we are selling cheap with guarantee. Buggies Re-rubbered guaranteed, $12.00.
Complete Livery Stable. Funeral Director. All calls answered at any time by Auto.
Also Dealer in Real Estate A. M. EDWARDS, Walton, Ky.

Goode & Dunkie
Have bought out the entire business and good will of the
Covington Seed Company
are able to offer you everytning in the Seed Line at the same low prices that we sell Graceries. We want all our friends and customers to see us before they buy as we will sell nothing but the very best grades of tested seed.
We carry a full line of Poultry feeds and remedies such us Pratt's, Hess', Conkey's, Bourbon Poultry Cure, Rex, Germozone, Scratch Feen, Wheat Scraps, &c.
Fall Bulbs now in—plant early and have early flower bed in Spring.
Write For Prices
on anothing you want. We can saue you money.
ARCADE FLOUR
Costs a little more than othsome other brands but is a Great Deal Better.
$5.50
Barrel
Freight Paid.
Golden Blend Coffee
Used in more home than any other brand.
25c.
A POUND.
New Oat Meal and Roll-Oats, 3 pounds.....10c
New Can Peas, 2 lbs.... 5c
New Sorghum, very fine.
New Asparagus Tips,...12c
New Seeded Raisins, lb.10c
New Argo Red Salmon, can.....15c
See us for Seed Potatoes.
We have all kinds coming in each week.
Goode & Dunkie,
19 and 21 Pike street and 18 and 20 W. 7th St.,
Covington, Kentucky.
Groceries, Flour, Seeds and Medicines.

The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO.
Erlanger, Ky.
Has come to stay and is ready for business and will keep on hand at all times a good supply of
Raymond City and Plymouth Coal
in yard and on car at the Lowest Prices Possible, and guarantee 80 lbs. to the bushel. Will also handle Cannel Coal, Kentucky Simi-Candle and Worley Block, and Peidmont strictly blacksmithing Coal.
Your patronage solicited.
The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO
Erlanger, Kentucky.

Grasselli LIME SULPHUR SOLUTION
ORCHARD INSURANCE
Against Scale Insects.
Spray in the Fall—(after leaves have fallen) with GRASSELLI LIME-SULPHUR SOLUTION
For the Following Reasons:
First—The ground is in better condition for moving spray machinery, as it is often soft and mushy in the spring.
Second—The scale insects are more susceptible to the Lime-Sulphur Solution in the fall, as the waxy covering is soft. This covering hardens during the winter months.
Third—There is not so much work crowding at this time as in the spring.
For prices and further information call on or write
W. H. CLAYTON, Hebron, Ky., Distributor.
GRASSELLI-CHEMICAL CO., :-: Cincinnati, Ohio

Luncheon AT Neat Little Place
For Farmer, Workman, Merchant, Clerk and Professional Man.
R. J. DIBOWSKI'S CAFE
No. 6 Pike Street, - - Covington, Kentucky.
Commercial Plate Luncheon from 11 a. m. to 1:30 p. m.

DON'T EXPECT RELIEF

If you wear wrong glasses you need not expect relief from your eye troubles. Wrong glasses may be worse than none.
We fit them right and get results.
N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,
613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY
Phone, South 1746.

Union Creamery Company
UNION, KENTUCKY
Pays the highest possible price for Butter Fat in whole milk and hand separated cream. Honest tests and weights guaranteed.
A. L. Mallett, :: Manager.
Phone, Consolidated No. 40.

Subscribe for the Recorder.
Read all the ads. in this issue. It will pay you.

Local Happenings.

Water is plentiful.

Friday night is Halloween night.

Next Monday is county court day.

There has been some fine weather for stripping tobacco.

Green's big Cloak Opening, Rising Sun, Nov. 4th and 5th.

Crouch & Rouse's truck, of Erlanger, was in this part of the country Saturday.

E. L. Helms, of Petersburg, Deputy County Clerk, issued three marriage licenses, last week.

Samuel Johnson has rented the residence portion of the K. of P. building to which he will move.

Ira M. Tanner and Miss Minnie H. Clarkson, were married at the Hopeful parsonage, Wednesday at 4 p. m.

Your farm posted for 25 cents—that is your name can be placed in the present list for that amount.

No work on the roads in this county was done last Friday and Saturday on account of the heavy rain on Friday.

Mrs. Newton Sullivan, Jr., went to Newport last Friday, to visit her sister, Mrs. W. R. Davrainville, who is quite ill.

The RECORDER is furnishing its readers a great deal of valuable reading along agricultural lines, which is highly appreciated by many.

Dr. C. H. Waters, of Washington, D. C., will preach at Salem on Monday and Tuesday afternoon the first Sunday in November, at 11 o'clock.

Eighteen cents for tobacco that will be stripped and delivered next month is equal to about 20 cents for tobacco delivered after the holidays.

Mr. Henry Terrill was taken violently ill last Thursday since which time he has been in a weakened condition, tho somewhat improved.

Charles McKim was very sick several days last week of ptomine poison contracted by drinking some wine he had had on hand for several years.

A flat tire does not intimidate Dr. Yelton when driving his machine and he has been known ot cover four miles before stopping after a tire went down.

Florence, Petersburg and Walton will each elect town officers next Tuesday. Burlington and Union consider the State government good enough for them.

Herbert Kirkpatrick, the local dealer in furs, is anticipating a good season and is arranging to handle a large number of hides the result of the labors of local trappers.

M. F. Wingate and those who visited the gold mine in Arizona in which they own considerable stock returned home the latter part of last week and are well pleased with their investment.

Atty. J. G. Tomlin, of Walton, was a guest at the Cowen House last Thursday night. He was present at the lecture delivered that afternoon by Dr. Dexter at the Farmer's School, and was delighted with it.

It is hoped the roads will get good again before the arrival of winter, and it will be a good idea to use the split drag on them following each rain as it is generally conceded that it keeps them in better condition.

Mrs. W. C. Hughes has a lemon tree on which there are three large, nicely formed lemons that bid fair to mature properly. She is very proud of the fruit and is giving the lemons all the chance possible to ripen perfectly.

Don't get too anxious and go after the rabbits before the open season begins. They are said to be abundant while quails are scarce. Why would it not be a good policy to kill no quails this season, thereby allowing them to replenish?

Courtney Pope has moved to the property owned by the late Herman Gelbin, in Kidville neighborhood. He called at this office last Friday and had his RECORDER changed to Ludlow R. D. 2, which serves the people in that neighborhood.

Auto trucks owned by business men in Covington are making frequent visits to Burlington and vicinity delivering large loads of goods In a few years they will be doing all the hauling for this part of the county to and from Covington and Cincinnati.

J. M. Baker, of Big Bone, who has been Deputy Revenue Collector for several years, informed the RECORDER that Friday of this week will be his last day in the service, he stepping down and out to make room for a Democrat. Mr. Baker says he is very sorry that his successor will not be a Boone county man, but that the country portion of the district never gets its portion of the officers under either party. Mr. Baker is a Republican who believes "to the victor belong the spoils."

Next Tuesday is election day. Besides the election of county officers and a Commonwealth's Attorney for this judicial district, a vote will be taken on a constitutional amendment and the "Free turnpikes and gravel roads" proposition. The latter question ought to bring out a large vote in this county.

The last time Circuit Clerk Maurer, who loves to fish, came back from one of his fishing expeditions down on Gunpowder, he brought a fish whose head was nine inches long—the tail being as long as half the body, and the body being as long as the head and tail put together. How long was the fish?

Fannie Minor, colored, wife of Harrison Minor, died of inflammatory rheumatism last Thursday, after an illness of several days. She was an industrious, good natured woman and generally liked by the white people of the town, where she spent about all her life. She was the mother of several children, all of those living being grown.

The road working arranged for last Friday and Saturday was called off on account of the rain. It would have been interesting to see the men shouldering their implements and hiking to the roads as requested by Governor McCreary, and besides there would have been considerable satisfaction to know how many in Boone county were willing to make a small sacrifice for the public good.

L. H. Sprague, of Taylorsport, and James Beall, of Hebron, were among the business visitors to Burlington, last Saturday. Mr. Sprague is arranging to move to Lewis county, this State, where he has bought a 700 acre farm, 200 acres of which is a fertile bottom, the remaining 500 acres being hill land but not very rough. His shipping facilities are much less expensive than they are from where he now lives.

A great many voters in this county say they do not understand the road propositions to be voted on next Tuesday. The RECORDER has only this to say in regard to the proposition which has been thoroughly discussed at public speakings the past few weeks: If it carries it will be no backward step, and with the known conservativeness of the county's fiscal court there is no probability of the county being allowed to embark in road improvements to such an extent as to cripple the taxpayers financially and even permit a hardship heaped upon them.

Teachers Meeting.

Meeting of District 3 at Petersburg, Kentucky, November 8, 1913, one o'clock.

Discussions.

How Bridge the gap between the grammar grades and the High School?—Mr. Muntz, Belleview.

Correlation of Grammar grades and High School.—Miss Campbell, Petersburg.

What do the Grammar grades expect of the Primary?—Grammar grade Teacher of Belleview.

What should the Grammar grades expect of the Primary—Miss Beall, Petersburg.

Alternation in the country school—Miss Stevens, of Berkshire.

LULU EDWARDS.

In writing to have his Recorder changed from Alma, Kansas, back to Englwood, Kansas, Mr. Hunt, a Boone county product, says: "I will put the last of 3,000 big steers on the market Wednesday. It has been a hard year out here, the dryest and hottest summer since 1860, so the old timers say. We have had plenty of rain the last month. Hoping this will find the Recorder force with plenty of buttermilk, I remain yours truly."

Mr. Hunt is a brother of Mrs. Eliza Walton, near Burlington, and Miss Emma Hunt, of Walton. He went west several years ago and has made a success of life in that region, having put to good use his natural energy and excellent judgment.

Base Ball.

The game of ball played here last Saturday afternoon by Belleview and Hebron was a comedy of errors throughout the eight innings. Zimmer and Merz for Constance and Sandford and Clore for Belleview were the batteries neither of which was given any support. A cold wind from the north swept the field and the boys could not warm up to do themselves justice. The score was 5 to 5 at the close of the 8th inning when the game was called on account of darkness. Ray Conner, who played center field for Belleview saved his team from defeat by a sensational left hand catch of a fly after a long run. The pitchers and catchers were about the only players who got into the game and it was too cold for them to do good work.

The Farm School.

The enrollment at the Farm School last week was 81 including the High School students, but the regular attendance by farmers was light. The instruction was pronounced by all who attended to be superior to anything of the kind that has ever been held here. The cost to the State was doubtless in the neighborhood of $200. Yet the opportunity of learning things that would mean dollars in their pockets and improved conditions in all departments of agriculture in this county was passed up by all but a mere handful. It was only through special effort that Prof. Dix was enabled to secure the school for Boone Co. and he holds out no glittering promises of another of the same kind in the near future.

We Give and Redeem "Trade in Covington Profit Sharing Tickets"

Send Us Your Mail Orders

COPPIN'S

Send Us Your Mail Orders

Madison Ave. Cor. 7th, COVINGTON, KY.

We are always trying to give the people good values and good service, besides selling our Merchandise at the Very Lowest Prices. When you come to Covington come direct to our store, as we will save you both TIME AND MONEY ON EVERY THING YOU BUY HERE.

Butterick Fashions—The new winter number on sale at the pattern counter 25c in checking coupons good for any 15c pattern free, by mail 10c extra.

Butterick Patterns and Fashions—always the very latest styles are found in Buttericks.

Women's Fashionable Coat Suits.

Every new and stylish model of the season. Exclusive styles that have never been shown before in Covington are represented in this immense assortment. These remarkable values are now being offered in our daylight cloak room.

Women's black Melton Cloth Coats, plain tailored, fancy braid and satin trimmed, twill serge, half lined, 34 to 48 breast measure. Special values. Choice.....$5.00

High Grade Suits at $13.50.

Women's and Misses' fine tailored suits, coat 38 inches long, guaranteed satin lined, 3 button cutaway, skirt draped on both sides, made of extra good storm serge in black, brown, navy and Copen blue. Actually worth $16.50. Choice.....$13.50

Misses' Coats Unusual Values $7.00

Misses' long cloth coats made of chinchilla diagonal cheviot cloths, draped bottom, Copen blue, navy and brown, 14, 16, 18 and 20 inch sizes. Choice.....$7.00

Beautiful Dress Goods.

Autumn's most desirable fabrics, qualities are unequaled and prices considerably under the usual. All wool storm serges in all the wanted fall colorings. Yard.....50c

42 inch black and white check suitings, excellent for wear. Special, yard.....69c

54 inch Broadcloth suitings in brown, navy blue, black, gray. Yard.....50c

54 inch, navy blue, brown, black and garnet, hering-bone stripe, heavy cloaking. Special, yard.....$1.25

Heavy made serge suiting, 52 inches wide, all wool, good, heavy quality for coat suits, one-piece dresses and separate skirts, all colors and black. Yard.....$1.00

42 inch all wool, black and navy blue, all wool diagonal suiting. Yard.....85c

Blanket and Comfort Economies.

To those who have not bought their blankets and comforts for Fall and Winter will find our assortment this season the best to buy from in the three cities and prices much lower. Now is the time to buy. Large, heavy cotton blankets, German wool finish, pretty color border, white, gray and tan. Pair.....89c

Extra double bed size cotton blankets, gray only. Pair.....$1.50

California wool blankets, soft, fine lamb's wool blankets, white, gray, fancy plaids. Extraordinary values. Pair.....$5.00

White cotton filled comforts, large size, usually sold at $1.50. Only.....$1.25

Fancy Silkoline comforts, pretty colors, fine white cotton filled, knotted, easily washed. Big value.....$2.00

Wash "Laminated Cotton" filled, light and fluffy, yet warm, full bed size, pretty silkoline covered. Special.....$3.50

Knit Petticoats.

Women's fine quality knit petticoats in all colors with colored borders. Splendid value at this price.....50c

Outing Flannels.

Light and dark colors, extra heavy grade, good styles. Worth 15c. Yard, only 8 1-3c

Printed Flannelettes.

Pretty figures and stripes, suitable for wrappers, kimonas, dressing sacques. Unusual assortment. Yard.....10c

Dress Ginghams.

Light and dark checks, plaids, pretty color effects. Yard.....10 and 12½c

Muslin.

Heavy unbleached muslin, 36 inches wide, worth 8½c. Special, yard.....7c

36 inch extra grade, soft finish, black muslin, worth 10c. Special, yard.....8½c

Trade in Covington Profit Sharing Tickets are worth money. Bring in $40 of any of the merchants tickets and we will redeem with $1 in merchandise or cash

MISCELLANEOUS FOR SALE.

For Sale—Good 4-year old work mule, yearling mule, 7 year old work and driving horse, about three tons clover hay and some cowpea hay. Apply to J. E. Botts, Bullittsville, Ky. tf.

Wanted—A good farm hand, married man, house and garden furnished and good wages to the right parties. Call on or address H. W. Snyder, Burlington, Ky., R. D. 3, Phone 184.

For Sale—Six head of horses and colts Apply to J. D. Mayhugh, Walton, Ky 2-m.

For Sale—House and lot in Belleview. Apply to Charles Maurer, Burlington, Ky.

For Sale—15 barrels of apples. Apply to F. H. Rouse, Burlington, Ky.

Wanted—A good buggy at a reasonable price. Apply to G. W. Sandford, Burlington.

Hon. J. G. Tomlin, of Walton, was in Burlington last Thursday afternoon, enroute to Rabbit Hash where he was to speak that night in the interest of the good roads campaign. Mr. Tomlin has been an earnest and industrious worker in the campaign—in fact he is one of those persons who will always be found ready and willing to put his shoulder to the wheel to assist in pushing along any proposition which he believes will prove beneficial to the county. His public spirit was first manifested in his home town, Walton, which is now considered about the best country town in Northern Kentucky, and that he is entitled to much of the credit for Walton's improvement both morally and financially cannot be denied. If Boone county had a thousand or so citizens each imbued with a public spirit like that of Mr. Tomlin's it would soon take rank as the garden spot of this part of the country. The speaking at Rabbit Hash was called off on account of the weather.

PUBLIC SALE.

I will sell on Wednesday, Nov. 12th, beginning at nine o'clock a. m., at the S. C. Johnson farm 2½ miles west of Walton, Ky., a large amount of farming property consisting of six horses, four mules, six fine milk cows, Jersey bull eligible to registry, three heifer calves, three sows and 27 pigs, three gilts, 400 bushels of corn, ten tons of timothy and clover hay, about 2,000 pounds of tobacco, large lot of farming implements, saddles, harness, poultry supplies, household furniture, and a large number of articles too numberous to mention. Terms Nine months without interest. The Ladies Aid of Walton M. E. church will serve dinner.

A. R. JOHNSON,
V. S. Metcalfe, Auctioneer.

Posted Against Hunters.

The undersigned hereby give notive that their land is posted against trespassing of all kinds and especially by hunting with dogs or guns and trapping thereon:

B. C. Graddy, Bullittsville.
J. S. Eggleston, Francesville.
Mary V. Gaines, Bullittsville.
Harry Walton, Petersburg.
A. L. Nichols, Burlington.
C. T. Northcutt, Belleview.
Everett Souther, Pt. Pleasant.
Julia S. Dinsmore, Belleview.
Mrs. I. T. McNaughton, Muncie, Indiana.

Coal bills are a large part of your living expense—reduce both by using Cole's Hot Blast Heaters.

SALE AT COST.

As I expect to quit buisness, will sell my entire stock of Millinery and Notions, before christmas.

Hats, Felt and Velvet shapes.....75c-$100
Trimmed Hats..$1.50-$3
Ladie's all-wool sweaters were $2. 50 now...$2.00
$1.00 Corsets now....85c
75c Corsets now.....60c
50c Corsets now.....35c
5c Kerchiefs 3 for....10c
White and Black Shoe Polish.....08c
50c Silk Scarfs.....35c
Gloves, Belts, Veils, Ties, Collars, D. M. C. Cotton, Ribbons, Pins, Etc.

Mrs. B. L. Cleek,
Union, Kentucky.

B. B. ALLPHIN
WITH THE
L. J. BUDDE & CO.
Live Stock Commission Merchants
Union Stock Yards, CINCINNATI. Phone W. 4296.

It Will Pay You to Read All The Ads in This Paper.

WeLead

The Grocery and Seed business and our 50 years success is due to Honest Advertising, giving Best Quality at Lowest Prices.

Thousands of Satisfied Customers

WILL VOUCH FOR THIS. SEND YOUR ORDER.

Write For Prices.

YOU'LL BE CONVINCED

For Better and Whiter Bread, Use

RARUS
BEST WINTER PATENT
CEO. W. HILL & CO.
COVINGTON, KY.

(THE PERFECT)

$5.25 Per Bbl

Freight Paid to your Station

Drink NOBETTER COFFEE

It's the Best on Earth. Freight paid on 20 lbs or More.

BLEND COFFEE

A GOOD DRINK

20c Per Lb.

Best Granulated SUGAR

$4.50 Per 100 Lbs

25 lb. box Fancy California Evaporated Peaches

$2.00

POTATOES

ON TRACK. WRITE FOR PRICES.

Tell Us What You Want. Write for Prices.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.

GROCERS & SEEDMEN,

27-29 Pike St. or 26 W. 7th,

Covington, Ky.

Established 1863.

Important Features of New Tariff Law.

The most important feature of the Underwood tariff law as outlined by its sponsors, are: A reduction of nearly one-half in the average tariff on foodstuffs and farm products; the placing of raw wool on the free list and a reduction of nearly two third in the tariff on woolen clothing especially of the cheaper grades; a reduction of of one-third average on cotton clothing; reduction of the sugar tariff and its ultimate abolishment in 1916; an average reduction of one-third in the tariff on earthenware and glassware; abolition of all tariff on meats, fish, dairy product flour, potatoes coal, iron ore, lumber and many classes of farm and office machinery; a general reduction on all important articles of general use.

The average rate carried by the new law is 27 per cent, which is 40 per cent less than the average rate of the Dingley tariff and over a third less than the Payne Aldrich law. It is an earnest and honest effort to correct the gross injustices that have existed in preceding republican tariffs by reason of the fact that the necessaries of life were discriminated against in favor of the luxuries. It substitutes for the reign of special interests writing their own tariff schedules a bill prepared by the peoples representatives. It was written without the aid and assistance of a lobby. It represents a successful effort on the part of the Democratic administration to keep its pledge to the people that it would reduce the cost of getting goods into the hands of the consumer. —Ex.

Droughts Beneficial.

"Disappointments sink the heart of man, renewal of hope gives consolation." During times of drouth people are discouraged and kick and grumble at the ways of Providence, yet a drouth is beneficial in the long run. This drouth to a 320 acre farm is more beneficial than 1,000 wagon loads of manure; it not only fertilizes the soil but gives it a needed rest; it kills the weed seeds, the flies and the larva of harmful insects. It kills disease germs and people have better health.

It makes people economical and develops the brain power, makes people think, scheme and work out new problems that would otherwise be passed over. It makes people dig wells and ponds that they need but put off making. It gives the farmer time to do odd jobs that he needed but could not be done before It makes good roads for the time being that are preferable to the mud. The soil is not washed away or leached. It don't rot shingles or fence posts.

The fodder and hay crops have more nutriment in them. The crops for the coming year are always larger and better, making the two years average equal to two good crops, while prices are better.

On the other hand it fills the lanes, streets and houses full of dust loosens wagon tires, makes you haul water and "cuss" when you "hadn't orter," Makes you pray for rain when you never thought of praying ordinarily. It makes you sell off your cattle when you have been keeping too many, makes you cultivate fewer acres and tend them better, and does other things too numerous to mention, as they say on the sale bills.—Ex.

Raise Hogs and Plenty of Them

Raise hogs and plenty of them, is the advice given to the farmers of the South generally, for there is going to be a demand for them from now on that will crowd hog raisers to supply on account of animals being put on the market that would have been held back had it not been for conditions caused by the dry weather earlier this year. There is going to be a demand for hogs later on that will not be filled unless there is a big increase or expansion in the hog raising business. This condition will not be confined to the South, but to the entire country. On this subject Oklahoma Farmer says:

"Oklahoma has been a big shipper of hogs, but conditions in this state are now such as to promise a decreased number of hogs during the coming fall and winter season. This will have a tendency to uplift prices. If you haven't breeding stock you should get a bunch of pigs, breed them and be ready to reap good profits that are sure to come to the man with hogs to sell during the coming twelve months at least.'

What is true of Oklahoma is true of other states in the south, as well as states north, east and west, and it is almost a sure thing that the difference between the demand and supply of fat hogs next fall and winter will keep prices steady with what they now are, and probably increase them. An investment in good hog breeding stock at this time is money well placed.

Two of the oldest bearing fruit trees in Kentucky are on the old Bowles homestead near the Allen and Barren county line. The trees in question are pear trees and one of them is 112 years and the other 108 years old. They are well preserved and very heavily ladened with pears this year, notwithstanding the fact they have furnished fruit for the seventh generation.

The walnut crop is only slightly damaged by the hot weather. They are opening up satisfactorily, although growers thought the work of harvesting would be unusual on account of hulls being scorched and sticking to the nuts. The crop will be an average one and the prices are said to be high.

Good Roads Catechism.

Question: How many miles of road has Boone County?

Answer: Four hundred miles.

Q—How much of this is piked?

A—One hundred miles.

Q—Does the other three hundred miles afford good travel during all seasons of the year?

A—No, during the winter season much of it is practically impassible and the rest is traveled with difficulty.

Q—Are the pikes kept in good condition?

A—They could be better

Q—Is it a saving of money to allow the roads to continue as they are?

A—No it is a loss to the county.

Q—How can this be avoided?

A—By adopting a system similar to those adopted by other counties and other states and proceeding to build new roads.

Q—Is it possible to do this without passing the "Enabling Act?"

A—No.

Q—Why not?

A—Because without the passage of this act we must work under a section of the statutes which does not provide for the raising of sufficient money to accomplish anything.

Q—What change is made in the situation if we pass the "Enabling Act?"

A—We are simply enabled to proceed under a different section of the statutes which has more favorable conditions.

Q—Who passes the "Enabling Act?"

A—The people. They will vote upon it at the November election.

Q—Will they pass it?

A—Yes.

Q—By a large majority?

A—Perhaps not by a large majority.

Q—Why do some oppose it?

A—Because they do not understand it. Most of those who oppose it are for it when they once understand it thoroughly.

Q—If the Enabling act is passed will the toll pikes be purchased at once?

A—Assuredly not.

Q—Why not?

A—There are several good reasons. One is that the county would have no money with which to purchase pikes. Another is that a large majority of the people are in favor of building new pikes where dirt roads are now. Even if they had the money a Fiscal court that would purchase the toll pikes and build no new roads would kill themselves as dead as a water break.

Q—Who elect the members of the Fiscal Court?

A—The people.

Q—But suppose the fiscal court really wanted to purchase the toll pikes, couldn't they raise the money?

A—The only way to raise it would be to put another vote to the people a year later to issue bonds for that very purpose and it would have to carry by a two-thirds majority.

Q—Would such a vote carry?

A—No.

Q—Could the Fiscal court raise money to build new roads?

A—In the same way already described. Bonds for this purpose could be issued on a two-thirds vote of the people.

Q—Could anything be done in the direction of building new roads without the bond issue?

A—Well, the Enabling Act increases the tax limit 15 cents. This could be used in that way, thus gradually increasing the piked area.

Q—Suppose the Enabling Act is not passed?

A—Then Boone county will be in the same condition that she has been for a hundred years. No progress, no life, no promise, but the drudgery that goes with carrying ten pounds of mud with twenty pounds of legitimate burden. If it fails to pass many progressive people will leave the county, for the desirable places to live are those that have good roads and with them, good schools good churches and other conveniences and blessings worth seeking for. The failure of the passage of this act indicates that nothing will be done and thus removes the promise of the future.

EVERETT L. DIX.

Birthday of Church.

The seventy-fifth anniversary of the First Baptist church of Covington is being celebrated this week, Rev. Robert B. McDanel, pastor of the church, and Miss S. B. Childress, assistant pastor, together with the congregation, have an elaborate program for each night. A large number of prominent Baptist clergymen from all parts of Kentucky and other states will attend the services, some of them being scheduled to make addresses.

The First Baptist church was founded by twenty-one men and women worshipers March 10, 1838, in a school house on the northeast corner of Fourth and Scott streets, Covington. From a handful of communicants the congregation grew steadily until it is now one of the largest Baptist churches in Kentucky.

The anniversary services will be under the direction of Rev. McDanel, and J. Lincoln Newhall and Miss Norean Wayman, organist, will have charge of the choir and the musical part of the celebration. The soloists will be Miss Lucy Newhall, Miss Georgia Jameson, Miss Emma Herndon, Miss Clara Fisher and J. Lincoln Newhall.

The reason of so much failure in the growing of fruits in Kentucky is that the average farmer gives too little attention to the orchard. Scattered all over Central Kentucky are thousands of fruit trees that are unproductive from lack of attention. We usually in order to excuse our indifference attribute the result to the last freeze or frost, or the severity of the winter weather.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of Execution No. 2654 directed to me, which issued from the Clerk's Office of the Kenton Circuit Court, in favor of the Florence Deposit Bank against Morris Judge, I or one of my deputies, will, on Monday, the 3d day of Nov. 1913, between the hours of 1 o'clock p. m. and 2 o'clock p. m. at the Court house door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., expose to public sale, to the highest bidder, the following described property, (or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy plaintiff's debt, interest and costs) to-wit: The undivided one-fourth interest of Morris Judge in the following described tract of land lying and being in Boone county, Ky., and bounded as follows to-wit: On the west by the Union & Beaver Lick Turnpike, on the north by White Haven and L. W. Lassing's land, on the south by the lands of D. L. Hicks and containing forty (40) acres and being the same land which descended to said Morris Judge upon the death of his father, Batty Judge, and which was owned by said Batty Judge at time of his death, levied upon as the property of Morris Judge.

Terms—Sale will be made on a credit of 6 months, bonds with approved security required, bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, from day of sale and having the force and effect of a Judgment. Amount to be made by sale, $214.94.

B. B. HUME, S. B. C.

Election Notice.

BOONE COUNTY COURT.

Regular Term, 1 day September, 1913

M. J. Crouch and others on petition.

It appearing that at the last regular term of this Court, held August 4th, 1913, M. J. Crouch and five hundred and thirty-four (534) others filed their petition herein asking that a vote be taken upon the proposition to have free turnpikes and gravel roads in Boone County; and it further appearing upon proof heard in open Court, that said petition is signed by a number of legal voters in this county equal to fifteen (15) per cent of the total vote cast in this county at the last preceding general election held in Boone County for the year 1912, and no exceptions, protests or objections having been made, taken or filed herein against said petition, it is now ordered and directed that B. B. Hume, Sheriff, cause a poll to be opened in each and all of the regular voting precincts in Boone County, at the next regular County Election to be held on November 4th, 1913, to take the sense of the qualified voters of Boone Co. upon the proposition to have free turnpikes and gravel roads in said county. Said election will be held by the same officers that hold said regular November Election for said year 1913, and in all respects in accordance with the provisions of the general election laws of this State; and the question "Are you in favor of free turnpikes and gravel roads" shall be printed on the ballots, as provided by section 1459 Kentucky Statutes; and the Clerk of this Court will cause said question to be printed on the official ballots for said general election.

Said Sheriff will cause this order to be published in the Boone County Recorder, a weekly newspaper published in this county for at least thirty days prior to said election; and he will also advertise said election by written or printed hand-bills, posted in at least four conspicuous places in each voting precinct in this county for the same length of time.

The Clerk of this court will, within five (5) days after the entry of this order, certify same to B. B. Hume, a sheriff of Boone Co. Kentucky.

State of Kentucky
County of Boone

I, W. R. Rogers Clerk of the County Court in and for the County aforesaid, do certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of an order made this day in the Boone County Court in the matter of Election of Free Turnpikes &c., as appears of record in my office.

Given under my hand this 1st day of September 1913.

W. R. ROGERS, Clerk.

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the above order an election will be held at the time, places and for the purpose mentioned in said order.

Witness my hand this the 2d day of September 1913.

B. B. HUME, Sheriff
Boone County Kentucky.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

All persons indebted to the firm of J. Ernst & Son, Hebron, Ky., are requested to call and settle, and those having claims against the same will present them to the undersigned proven as by law required.

ED ERNST, Surviving Partner.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.

Persons indebted to the estate of the late W. L. Pope, deceased, will please come forward and settle, and those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned proven according to law.

W. H. POPE, Admr.

One Remedy.

The American Meat Packers' Association at a recent meeting in Chicago suggested as remedies for the decrease in the meat supply that every small farmer should raise at least two beef steers a year to offset the decreased production of the great ranches of the West. The remaining range should be cut up into farms, to put all farmers on an equal footing. The development of the hills of New England, with their beautiful springs and prevailing shade, as a beef-producing country. The substitution of corn for cotton in the Southern States and the consequent development of the cattle and hog production.

Take your County paper.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of Execution No. 41722 directed to me, which issued from the Clerk's Office of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky, in favor of Virginia Buckner, &c., by their guardian John C. Buckner against Ben Kelly, M. Kelly and Carry Kelly Nary, I or one of my deputies, will, on Monday, the 3d day of November, 1913, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m., and 2 o'clock p. m., at the Courthouse door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., expose to public sale, to the highest bidder, the following described property (or so much thereof, as may be necessary to satisfy plaintiff's debt, interest and costs) to wit:

Situated in the town of Florence, Boone county, Ky.; Beginning at the Northwest side of the Covington and Lexington Turnpike at the corner of the P. Hampton grocery; thence along the edge of the sidewalk n 41½ e 127½ feet to the southwest corner of Zollcoffer's lot; thence with the line of said lot n 45¾ w 17 poles and 17 links to a stone; thence s 51½ e 42½ feet to a stone Zollcoffer's corner in Linville Souther's line; thence with Souther's line n 45¾ w 18 poles and 25 links to a stone near a branch; thence n 71 w 72-3 to a stone and a Beech tree; thence 46½ w 4 poles and two links to a post in Aaron Yeager's line corner of Sam Lindsay; thence with his line s 45¾ e 31½ poles to a stone; thence s 47 e 10½ feet to a locust post in Lindsay's line a corner of P. A. Hampton's lot; thence with the line of said lot n 54 e 32 feet to a stone; thence s 46 e 80½ feet to the beginning, levied upon as the property of Ben Kelly, M. Kelly and Carrie Kelly Nary.

Terms—Sale will be made on a credit of three months, bonds with approved security required, bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, from day of sale and having the force and effect of a Judgment. Amount to be made by sale, $50.40.

B. B. HUME, S. B. C.

All persons indebted to the estate of J. J. Tanner, deceased, must call and settle with the undersigned, and those having claims against said estate will present them to him proven according to law.

CLARENCE TANNER.

Wont you Let

MY CLOTHING DO THE TALKING FOR THEMSELVES?

Kindly come in and see them. I will do business with you without argument You will find Quality and Workmenship.

MENS SUITS and OVERCOATS.....$5.00 to $18.00

YOUNG MEN'S SUITS AND OVERCOATS.....$3.00 to $15.00

Young Men, you must see these suits and Overcoats to appreciate their value.

Children's Norfolk Knickerbocker Suits well made and Durable $2.75, $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00.

Mothers you must see these to realize the bargains I am offering. A complete line of Corderoy and Duck Coats and Pants, the clothing out door workers need when disagreeable weather comes ou insures health and comfort.

Selmar Wachs

Successor to

Rolfes & Wachs,

NO. 1 Pike Street, Near Madison Ave.,

COVINGTON, KY.

Coal costs money. You know it. The winter's coal costs BIG money. You know that also. Yet, half of it is wasted by poor management. Oh, yes it is! Listen and be convinced.

Ordinary soft coal is half gas. An average ton of $3.00 coal contains about 14,000 cubic feet of gas—common illuminating gas. A gas which will, if properly mixed with air, burn with an intensely hot blue flame. This gas represents the best half of your ton of coal.

This unburned gas and a large portion of the heat IS CARRIED UP THE CHIMNEY by the air leaking cracks in stoves of ORDINARY construction.

There is only one way to save this wasted gas and heat and that is with a

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater

which is so constructed that it has no air leaking cracks. In this wonderful heater and fuel-saver the gas is kept under perfect control until oxidized and burned.

It is the only stove that is made tight—holds tight—stays tight.

It is the only stove that saves the wasted chimney heat.

It's the only stove that gives you a constant, steady heat with soft coal, hard coal or lignite.

It will give you all the heat that is in your coal.

It will hold your fire 36 hours without attention.

It will burn all kinds of fuel.

It is guaranteed to consume one-third less fuel than any lower draft stove of the same size, using soft coal, lignite or slack.

AND—It is sold you under a guarantee to fill all these claims.

Back of this guarantee is the credit and capital of an immense factory and it is worth to you 100 cents on the dollar.

COME IN AND SEE IT. IT MEANS DOLLARS IN YOUR POCKET AND A PLEASED CUSTOMER FOR US.

LOUIS MARX & BRO

516-522 Madison Avenue, Covington, Ky

840 Monmouth Street, Newport, Ky

See the name "Cole's" on the feed door of each stove. None genuine without it

NOTES from MEADOWBROOK FARM

By William Pitt

Find out the good cows.

Overcrowding is a mistake.

Mismanagement is expensive.

For heifers provide good pasture, shade and water.

If you hurry you still have time to put up a silo this season.

It is estimated that five chickens will yield a pound of feathers.

Old turkey hens and young toms make the best breeding combination.

Sheep ought to be kept because of the influence which they exert upon fertility.

Wasteful feeding does not necessarily mean too much, it may mean not enough.

In seeding sweet clover its lime and inoculation requirements should be carefully looked after.

When managed rightly, the dairy cow and the good profitable hen will always give a profit.

Mistakes in pig feeding are costly. In the short life of the pig there is little time to correct mistakes.

Eggs ought to weigh a pound and a half to the dozen or fifty-five pounds net to the thirty dozen eggs.

Sand is a bad thing in the gear boxes of automobiles but is very necessary in the gizzards of chickens.

It is necessary to feed the breeding ducks liberally, yet at the same time feed so as to keep them active and healthy.

Do not plant the same crop on the same land each year; rotate. Disease and insects will become troublesome if you don't.

Silo filling time has already come for some of the dairy farmers. It is best to be thoroughly prepared before the actual process begins.

Seed corn week will soon be here. See that the very best ears are saved for next year's crop depends upon your foresightedness just at this time.

Broom corn and sorghum should not be planted close together if planted so they mature pollen at the same time. They are closely related botanically and mix.

Select at least fifty ears of corn for each acre to be planted next year. This will allow more careful selection next spring. The poorer ears you can sell to your neighbors.

We would not feed shelled corn to heifer calves intended for dairy cows. The feed is too fattening. Whole oats is much better. Shelled corn will do for steer calves intended for beef purposes.

Remember that the fall is a splendid time to paint those buildings you didn't take care of last spring. Do not let them go through another winter without some improvement along this line.

Success in intensive cultivation can come only through a thorough knowledge gained by study and close application to the work. You must know how to rotate your crops, that is, how to follow one crop with another, what crops to plant for early growing and what to plant for late crops.

The best market you can find for the green corn, if you haven't plenty of silage, is cutting part of it and throwing it into the pastures for the cows or, better still, feeding it in the barn. They will return you a good price for everything you give them if they are good cows.

Dozens of dairy farmers are feeding and milking twenty cows twice per day each day of the year, when the chances are that twelve to fifteen of the number would pay a larger profit. The whole idea is to find out which are the good cows and then give them the attention they need.

How are you taking care of the manure that daily accumulates on the farm? This is a big item to dispose of any very important in connection with future soil fertility and big crops. We trust that you are not allowing it to go to waste.

Mongrel live stock and poultry will be predominant on our American farms till more of our farmers keep their own sires, and thus know something about the blood origin of every living thing on the premises. It pays to keep the best and breed the best.

Build a scratching shed.

Please your egg customers.

Give the chicks the sour milk.

Constant vigilance is the price of a clean swine herd.

Do not waste by feeding more than the animal can digest.

Milk that is kept clean and properly cooled needs no preservative.

Equal parts of corn and oats are hard to excel as a grain feed for sheep.

Paint all the wounds made in pruning with pure white lead and pure linseed oil.

It is cheaper to remove the cause of disease than to doctor the chickens afterward.

The young calf should have an abundance of good clean clear water before it at all times.

The moisture going in with the silage should be kept in. This keeps the silage from "dry-firing."

It pays to grade all small fruit. It demoralizes prices to have small, bad berries mixed in with large ones.

Spraying with whitewash once a month will go a long way toward keeping down vermin in the poultry house.

It never pays to market stock that is not fat. Plenty of good yellow corn will make any healthy bird fat in two weeks.

Experiments show that chickens with strong vitality and plenty of masculine characteristics make the largest gains.

If you have any chickens roosting in the orchard trees, you had better let them know what the hen house was built for.

Don't allow your horses to drink a large amount of water on coming into the stable very warm. Allow them to cool off a bit first.

The profit in pig feeding depends upon the cost of the feed given them. Therefore anything that cheapens the feed increases the profit.

Bitter rot and blotch are two of the most difficult diseases of the apple to control. Late spraying with bordeaux mixture is most effective.

No matter how healthy and strong the chick may be when hatched, the strength will soon disappear when not given the proper feed and attention.

Humus is the name applied to the partially decomposed organic (animal and vegetable) matter of the soil. It is the principal source of nitrogen in the soil.

The farm mortgage that has outlived every other line of activity very frequently succumbs to the dairy cow and the milk check which she brings in every week.

The profit in a cow consists of the money the milk or butter will sell for over and above the cost for feed. This cost will not be materially different between the cows kept on the average farm.

The object of sanitation in the hog yards and houses is to secure the greatest degrees of bodily health and vigor, because the animal will develop better and be less susceptible to disease.

Many orchards are not fruitful for the reason that there is not enough nutritive properties in the soil to supply the requisite amount of nourishment to enable the trees to properly mature fruit.

A few dollars spent in improving fences, especially along the roadside, will be money well used, for it will not only help the appearance of the farm and make a more ready sale if such is desired, but it will also add to the self respect of the farmer and the farmer's boys, all of which has a real value.

A good way to handle manure for garden purposes is to spread it in broad, flat piles and allow it to rot, then apply 100 pounds of acid phosphate and 100 manure and mix this well when you put it in a pile. This will add to the manurial value of the pile and will prevent the loss of ammonia to a great extent.

The heavy feeding of corn to poultry, especially where there is an absence of good, hard, sharp grit, will bring on bad cases of indigestion, which in many cases resembles cholera. About 92 cases out of 100 reported cholera victims are cases of indigestion. The end is the same, but the latter disease is not contagious.

Because the hog has the ability to utilize grain foods so efficiently and economically is a poor excuse for feeding grain exclusively and neglecting to reduce the cost of pork growing by the use of supplemental forage and pasture crops.

Other things that go to make intensive cultivatin a success are manure, and constructive work in your garden. Confine yourself to a small garden spot and work that hard rather than work over a large one and give it only half enough attention.

"CLUMSY JOHN" WAS CURED

How Physical Defects in Avowedly Clever Boy Were Remedied at Last.

In Woman's Home Companion Mary Heaton Vorse in "The New Freedom for Little Children," says:

"I know a headlong boy who was a continual trial to his parents. He never ran through a room without upsetting something; he never ate or drank without spilling food and drink lavishly over his clothes. He broke his toys. He was always having accidents, and he was continually scolded, of course, for his tiresome ways.

"The continual cry, 'Don't be so clumsy, John,' gave him the nickname of 'Clumsy John.' John was a clever boy intellectually, and it never occurred to his parents that his headlong ways were anything but a defect of character, a sort of 'cussedness' of John's, which, if he would only take thought, he could immediately correct. Then one day his mother began piecing together various facts concerning John's clumsiness, having been led in this by finding out that John couldn't skip a rope.

"What he needed was muscular training. So the family stopped nagging John and sent him to a gymnasium. They got him a bicycle to ride, which taught him balance. He also had lessons in modeling and carpentry, and little by little John came out of his clumsiness.

"This woman, in homely ways, applied a theory that a great English physical culturist has applied for overcoming serious physical defects in children who are deficient on account of severe illness. Every child who lacks deftness has needed the sort of training when they were babies that Doctor Montessori suggests. There are no careless children; there are only children who need muscular training. In the first place the children in a Montessori school walk the chalk line, which gives them balance. I have seen small children amuse themselves for hours elaborating this game, first walking a chalk line or a crack, then walking it with a heavy object held at right angles, and finally the older children walking it with glasses of water held at arm's length."

HAD BANK NOTES IN PILLOW

Supposedly Boston Pauper Left a Small Fortune When She Passed Away Recently.

Mrs. Bridget Doherty, who until her death last week lived alone and apparently in poverty in East Cambridge, left a comfortable little fortune of between $7,000 and $8,000, relates the Boston Transcript. This fact was not discovered, however, until the administrator of her estate, John H. Hurley, had carefully searched her modest apartment at 57 Seventh street.

His first scrutiny disclosed a small box containing $262 in currency and specie, and he supposed that this would be the limit of personal property. He persisted, however, and came next upon four bank books, showing an aggregate deposit of more than $5,000.

Further research did not reveal anything of material value until a neighbor suggested that he open the pillows of Mrs. Doherty's bed. Plunging his hand into the feathers, accordingly, he brought forth two crisp bank notes, each for $1,000.

Mr. Hurley is now looking about for Mrs. Doherty's heirs.

Concerning the Memory.

Ways of the memory in later life exercised the famous Dr. Jowett of Oxford when he reached it, but he found consolation. "At fifty-five you fail to remember things—words, pictures, persons—after six months' or a year's interval. Yet the circle of objects which you recognize is ever becoming wider, and this power of recognition is a great gift if cultivated. There is the greatest value in 'forgotten knowledge.' Instead of the stores of memory oppressing you, with a little trouble you can recall all that is useful or necessary." And to Lady Wemyss, recovering from illness, he wrote: "Like you, I read a book through and do not remember a word of it. I think, however, that the reading of the book has an effect, and if I read it again I understand it better. I believe that as we lose our powers of memory we may increase the power of reminiscence, that is, of recalling what we want in small quantities for a short time."

Bees Starved to Death.

Thousands of German emigrants died of starvation in Holland this summer, whither they had gone in search of food. The victims were not persons, however, but bees, of which the beekeepers of Westphalia and the Rhine districts take thousands of hives across the frontier every summer to the great peel heath, which in summer is covered with masses of wild flowers. Special trains are employed to facilitate the transit of the honey-makers. This year, however, the flowers bloomed later than usual and many of the bees starved, so that honey will be scarce and dear in Germany this winter.

Friend of Young People.

Mme. Faillieres is said to be a typical great lady, having for forty years lived the life of a wife of a senator, a cabinet minister, president of council, president of the senate, and for seven years wife of the chief of state. She and her husband have been much interested in a sort of philanthropy that enables French young people to get married, the youth beginning to save for it in his cradle.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Kentucky.
Mary Ellen Snyder's heirs, Plaintiff
Against } Equity.
Mary Ellen Snyder's heirs, &c., Defendants.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the August term thereof, 1913, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court House door in the town of Burlington, Boone county, Ky., to the highest bidder at public sale, on Monday, the 3d day of Nov., 1913, at 1 o'clock p. m., or thereabouts, being County Court day, upon a credit of six and twelve months, the following property, to-wit:

Situated in Boone county, Kentucky, near Gunpowder creek, south of Burlington, and described as follows; Bounded on the east by the lands of Thomas E. Summers and Kirb Crisler, on the west by the lands of Robert Rouse, Elizabeth Mullen, John D. Mitchell and Frank Mullen, on the north by the lands of Hubert Bachelor and Thomas E. Summers, on the South by the lands of Kirb Crisler and Add Robbins, containing about 74 acres.

Or sufficient thereof to produce the sums of money so ordered to be made For the purchase price the purchaser, with approved security or securities, must execute bonds bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment, with a lien retained therein until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these erms. Amount to be raised by sale $697.09. CHAS. MAURER,
Master Commissioner.

EXCHANGE ECHOES.

There has been more wheat, rye and barley sown, particularly in this end of Powell county, this fall than any fall before for 25 years.—Clay City Times.

The Paducah Council has abolished the free lunch counter at saloons. How are some Paducahans going to "get by" this winter under such crooef conditions? —Smithland Banner.

The crop of raccoons this fall is said to be equal to the output of previous years, if not a little to the rise. Strange, the destruction of the timber does not reduce the 'coon, 'possum or polecat tribes.—Mt. Olivet Advance.

J. C. Dupoyster, of Fort Jefferson, is having his fall crop of strawberries gathered this week on his Fair View farm. He sent a lot of nice ones to this office last Tuesday to convince us that he really had a fall crop of berries. For the first time in life we are eating strawberries in October.—Wickliffe Yeoman.

Dr. C. A. Eversole, while out in the county Monday upon a professional call was presented a sweet potato that weighed six and a half pounds. The tuber was grown in the garden of "Fogy" Stacy, who lives a few miles below town. The doctor was very proud of the gift, bit has decided to pass it on, and will send it to Representative John W. Langley, at Washington.—Hazard Herald.

Mr. William Faulconer, who has been fishing and hunting on the Cumberland for the past two weeks, returned home Wednesday. He brought with him a large golden eagle, one of the most beautiful specimens ever seen in this city. The bird was caught by Mrs. Geo. Haines, of Hall, Pulaski county, as it was struggling in the weeds with a hen which it was attempting to carry away. The eagle was not injured in the least. It measures over six feet from tip to tip.—Danville Advocate.

Mr. Mitchell Cox, of the Locust Grove vicinity, who fell from his wagon some two months ago, and sustained injuries to his hip which has rendered him practically helpless, has certainly some good neighbors. His neighbors entered his tobacco patch a few weeks ago and cut and housed the crop and Saturday we heard a farmer in that section say that they were going to gather his corn crop for him in a few days. Some of our best citizens live in that community and they are to be commended for their timely assistance.—Carlisle Advocate.

Wednesday and Thursday of last week were the appointed days for working the road from Murray to the Marshall county line to join the good road to Benton and Paducah, and bright and early from 600 to 1,000 men and boys were engaged in this grand work. Possibly 300 or 400 teams were on the road the two days. Every class of citizenship was represented. It was a revelation as to what the people can do when they get together and try. The work accomplished will reach into thousands of dollars and was given without a murmur from any worker.—Murray Times.

Fattening hogs should have the feed and attention necessary for fast growth and development. A given quantity of feed will make more pork in the fall when the weather is mild than it will in cold winter weather. Graze them on soy beans, sweet potatoes, peanuts, cowpeas, etc., so as to cut down the amount of corn that would be necessary to grow and fatten them. However, it will be well to put them in pens for three or four weeks and finish with corn. This will make firmer meat and lard than to kill right off from pasture. We want to make all the pork we can and also at the least possible cost. Corn alone makes high-priced pork.

Take your County Paper.

GO THERE

AND SAVE THE DIFFERENCE

When you want a Davenport, Parlor Suit, Couch Rocker, Morris Chairs, Dining Room Chairs.

Fred W. Bremenkamp

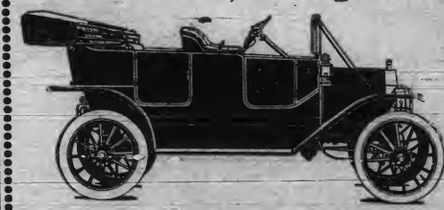
Manufacturer of

Upholstered Furniture

Factory and Sample Room

157 PIKE STREET,

COVINGTON, KENTUCKY



We Also Do Repairing and Refinishing.

IF YOU WANT A GOOD

AUTOMOBILE

—CALL ON—

B. B. HUME, Burlington.

FOR 1913 MODEL FORD

5 Passenger Car, $570. 2 Passenger Car, $520

These prices are for fall delivery complete and delivered at your door. If desired a man will be furnished without charge to teach you how to operate your car.

—ALSO AGENT FOR THE—

Oakland, Roadster, $1,150 Touring Car, $1,200 Fully Equipped

SCOTT CHAMBERS,

WALTON, KY.

Embalmer & Funeral Director,

LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.

First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.

Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.

Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

Believe Me.

By trading at Thomann's you can save the Middleman's profit on Harness, Trunks and Blankets.

Wm. Thomann,

56 Pike Street,

Covington, Ky.

WALTON GARAGE

C. S. Vallandingham, Prop.

Walton, Ky.

Repairing and Vulcanizing a Specialty.

Repairs and Fixtures.

Telephone Calls Given Prompt Attention.

NOTICE.

Persons indebted to the estate of Noah Clore, deceased, are notified to come forward and settle, and those having claims against same must present the same to the undersigned proven as by law required.

Mrs. Mollie Clore,
Mrs. Effie Nichols.

WANTED.

Toll-gate keeper for gate on Petersburg pike near Burlington.

J. E. SMITH,
Sept 18-tf Burlington, Ky.

FOR SALE.

Good general purpose mare with colt by her side. Mare in foal by a good horse; also for sale gasoline range good as new, will sell at a bargain. Apply to BOBT. E. GRANT, Petersburg, Ky., R. D. tf

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS

For Sale, stock from the flock scoring most points at State Fair last fall. Cockerels, $1.00 each; eggs in season. (dec 18)

MRS. B. C. GRADDY,
Bullittsville, Ky.

CAMPING ON THE GROUND.

And my horse and buggy are waiting at Walton to take you to see thousands of dollars worth of Old Kentucky farms and town property that I have listed to sell. My list will convince you that this ad. is correct. Send for it. Come to Walton and locate. All kinds of property advancing.

THOS G. B. POWERS
Cooperative Realeste Agency.
Walton, Ky.

Worn Out?

No doubt you are, if you suffer from any of the numerous ailments to which all women are subject. Headache, backache, sideache, nervousness, weak, tired feeling, are some of the symptoms, and you must rid yourself of them in order to feel well. Thousands of women, who have been benefited by this remedy, urge you to

TAKE

Cardui

The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., says: "Before taking Cardui, I was, at times, so weak I could hardly walk, and the pain in my back and head nearly killed me. After taking three bottles of Cardui, the pains disappeared. Now I feel as well as I ever did. Every suffering woman should try Cardui." Get a bottle today. E-68

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

WALTON.

G. W. Whorton, of Eagle Hill, Owen county, spent last Saturday here on business.

Chas. E. Robinson, of Bracken county, spent part of last week here on business.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Waite Cross of Union, spent Tuesday here with relatives and friends.

John C. Bedinger spent part of the week near Louisville on business and visiting friends and relatives.

Jno. L. Vest spent Thursday at Owenton attending the Owen circuit court, having some cases on that docket.

Henry C. Diers and son Harvey spent part of last week in Harrison and Bracken counties delivering nursery stock.

Rev. and Mrs. Oscar M. Huey of Crescent Hill, Louisville, were here the first of the week visiting relatives and friends.

J. E. Snyder, formerly of Petersburg, but now of Cincinnati, was a visitor here Friday in the interest of his oil business.

Mrs. Eliza K. Frakes, who formerly resided at Walton, was married to Ben B. Rittenour at New Washington, Ohio, Oct. 22d.

Miss Lutie Williams who is attending college at Danville, spent Sunday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Williams near Verona.

W. O. Rouse, who had one of the small bones broken in his right hand while cranking up his automobile last week, has about recovered.

Wm. P. Beemon, of near Burlington, deputy county assessor, spent part of the week here taking the taxable lists of the property here.

Mrs. Baker, the esteemed wife of Robert T. Baker, who resides near Walton on the Beaver Lick road, has been critically ill the past week with blood poisoning.

Judge J. G. Tomlin and John L. Vest spent last Saturday at Big Bone Springs where Judge Tomlin and Mr. Vest addressed a meeting in the interest of good roads.

E. V. Hunt, the gentlemanly station agent here at the O and C. depot has resigned that position and the vacancy is being temporarily filled by Jas. Baird, of Sadieville, until another agent can be secured.

Chas. W. Ransler left for Lexington Tuesday to take a position with the Burley Tobacco Company for a couple of weeks doing clerical work in the preparation of the distribution and election of that society.

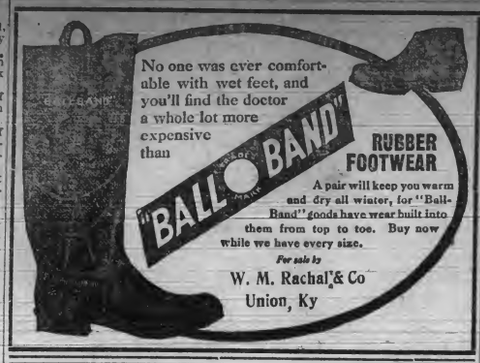
Mr. and Mrs. James A. Baird have returned to their home at Sadieville, after a week's stay here with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Mart Beeson, during which time Mr. Baird served as agent at the Q. & C. Railroad depot.

A freight train was wrecked on the Q. & C. Railroad the fore part of last week on the fill near the depot and it delayed traffic for a short time. One of the gondola cars was so badly wrecked that it was set afire and the wood work consumed.

Robbers broke into the store of Benj. F. Stansifer at Bracht last Saturday night and stole a pair of shoes a pair of pants, a ham, and some other small articles. The entrance to the store was made through the transom, and there is no clue to the thief.

Hon. Wm. N. Hind, of Covington, spent part of last week here and on his landed estates in the country looking after his business interests. Mr. Hind is very popular with the people at his old home here and his visits are always a pleasant feature to his many friends.

The Eastern Star Chapter of Walton, was represented in the Grand Chapter of Eastern Star, Masonic order in session at Lexington this week by the following sisters: Mrs. Chas. Ransler Worthy Matron; Mrs. John L. Vest, Mrs. B. K. Menefee, Mrs. J. M. Stamler, Mrs. C. C. Metcalf and Miss Lovenia Edwards.



S. H. McCartt, of Lansing, Tenn., arrived here Saturday to take charge as station agent at the Queen and Crescent depot. Mr. E. O. Boutwell who formerly occupied this position, is now very pleasantly located as station agent at Lessburg, Ohio, on the Baltimore and Ohio Northwestern Railway.

Dr. G. C. Rankins spent part of last week at his former old home at Sardis, Mason county, visiting relatives and friends and attending his little daughter who was quite ill for a short time while there with Mrs. Rankins on a visit to relatives and friends. Doctor Rankins returned home but his wife and little one remained for a longer visit.

The initial number of the Walton Lyceum course was given Monday night when Dr. Andrew Johnson of Philadelphia, entertained in a most enjoyable manner, his theme being "Eli and Dennis." Everybody seemed to enjoy the efforts of the speaker and the two hours were pleasant and profitable to all. The next number will be "Beilharz, entertainer," and will be here the latter part of next week.

Prof. C. O Morgan, principal of the Ludlow Public Schools, was here last Thursday on business and calling on his many friends. He had been but recently discharged from a Cincinnati hospital where he underwent a severe surgical operation from which he has about recovered. He was injured last summer while working on his farm near Morning View, while breaking ground for the erection of a new house.

Mrs. J. W. Kennedy of Union, was stricken with paralysis at the home of her sister Mrs. Robert Brock, at Wheatley, Owen county, where she was visiting, and she was brought to the home of her daughter Mrs. S. C. Hicks on Tuesday, and her condition is now improved. Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Hicks went to Owen county last week, and on Thursday Mrs. Kennedy became slightly ill, and on Saturday suffered a stroke of paralysis.

Mrs. J. M. Stamler was painfully hurt last Thursday by falling over some of the iron work of the new railroad bridge over High street. The traffic over the old bridge had been discontinued while it was being dismantled, and that necessitated going over the railroad track and part of the wreckage scattered about, and Mrs. Stamler crossing over at dusk met with the accident and was under the care of Dr. A. N. Jones several days.

Albert Morsbach, president, and Chas. Meininger, Jr., Treasurer of the Graf-Morsbach Harness Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Tomp kins a part of last week, coming out especially to visit Mr. Tompkins who has been ill for a couple of weeks, but we are glad to say is now much better. Mr. Tompkins is the traveling representative of the above firm and is highly esteemed by all of his employers for his many personal and business qualities.

The remains of John Mann, who died at the Lakeland Insane Asylum, Oct. 23d, were shipped here to the Edwards Undertaking establishment, and the funeral took place at Fiskburg, Kenton county, Saturday morning. Mr. Mann was born and reared in Kenton county and was in the 65th year of his age. His death was caused by bronchial pneumonia. He was unmarried and leaves no immediate relatives. Mr. Mann was a member of Adams Lodge, I. O. O. F., and the brethren conducted the funeral services at the grave.

There will be two tickets in the field at the election Nov. 4th for town trustees of Walton, the petitions having been filed with the county clerk as required by law. One is headed Progressive ticket and contains the names of Chas. L. Griffith, Sam C. Hicks, Edwin Johnson, Jas. B. Allen, The other ticket is designated as the Citizens' ticket with candidates as follows: Geo. W. Ransler, Taylor Grubbs, Wm. Brittenheim, Tilden Dudgeon, J. J. Hudson, For Police Judge G. Mosby Allen is a candidate without opposition, as is Bruce Dudgeon for re-election as Town Marshall. The candidates are all good men for the respective positions and the town will be well cared for in the election of either board.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Williams celebrated the 15th anniversary of their wedding at their beautiful home near Verona last Sunday, and quite a number of their relatives and friends came to do honor to the crystal wedding. A most delightful time was spent together, and besides the pleasure of the visit and the enjoyment of each other's society, a fine feast was prepared for the occasion, and it will be a day long remembered by all present as one of the happiest in their lives. The high esteem with which Mr. and Mrs. Williams is held by everybody carries with it the sincere wishes of everybody that they may enjoy many more such happy anniversaries. Among the visitors were Mrs. Andrew Williams and Mrs. E. W. Bell of Germantown; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Fagin and Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Griffith of Augusta; Mr. and Mrs. Amos Turney of Paris; Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Fee of Clarksburg, Indiana, and Mrs. Sallie Brown of Walnut Hills, Cincinnati.

Another period of ugly weather is prevailing.

Prof. E. L. Dix has a road catechism on an inside page of this issue.

John Hogan, of Hebron, was in Burlington Wednesday enroute to B. E. Aylor's sale.

The coal haulers are hustling, their business being confined to the yards at Erlanger.

Mrs. Mary Conrad, who lives at the toll-gate on the Limaburg and Constance pike, is quite ill.

Elbert Clore has sold the colt he bought of Hubert Gaines for a long price to a Latonia party.

Mrs. Lavina Kirkpatrick has been confined to the house for several days with a badly crippled ankle.

At this distance from the election it looks like the "YES" side of the road proposition will win out next Tuesday.

Miss Isabelle Rouse, daughter of W. L. B. Rouse and wife, of Limaburg neighborhood, has been quite ill for several days.

The secretary of agriculture is showing the farmer how to raise crops, and the secretary of the treasury is showing him how he may pay for the gathering of them. Now, if the interstate commerce commission will show him where the railroad cars are to come from all will be well.

To Be Voted on Next Tuesday.

The State Tax League is making an active campaign in behalf of the amendment to the constitution permitting a change in the present system. The amendment will be voted on next Tuesday. In its appeal to the voters the League assigns the following reasons why the amendment should carry:

First—Because the present law does not afford sufficient revenue for the expenses of the Government.

Second—If not changed the next Legislature will be compelled to raise the tax rate, which will simply result in more taxes on the property now assessed, and already paying more than its share.

Third—If not adopted now five years must elapse before the question can be voted on again.

Fourth—If adopted the next Legislature can frame a Law subjecting thousands of dollars invested in certain classes of property to its fair share of the burden.

Fifth—If the new Law is unsatisfactory the people will have the right to vote on it before it can go into effect.

Sixth—Because our present Tax Law drives people and capital from the State and keeps others from coming in.

Seventh—Because the present Tax Law is obsolete and unfair, as it imposes a doutle burden on some and permits others to escape.

Eighth—Because under the present Tax Law every man is practically his own Assessor, and the honest man has to pay for his less scrupulous neighbor.

Ninth—Because all taxation should be fair and uniform and all property should be made to pay its just proportion.

Tenth—Because something will have to be done to save the State's credit, and this is the time and opportunity to do it.

The proposed change is no theory nor is it the scheme of any clique or class. It has been considered at several meetings of the Legislature and by three different Tax Commissions appointed for that purpose. The Laws of other States have been examined and a Constitutional Amendment has been recommended as the only remedy.

Things to Do.

If you can't own the town, don't disown it.

Your life is what you make it; so is your town.

In some respects your town is not perfect; are you?

What your town needs isn't fault-finders, but fault fixers.

Your town will never grow on money sent to some other town.

The country is growing in population; is your town keeping it up?

The man who begins to plan for his town will soon be calling it "my town."

Your town had to be started by somebody; it has got to be kept going by somebody else.

Your town doesn't need boosting any more than any other town but it needs it just as much.

The pioneers thought this was a good place for a town; let's make it a poor place for knockers.

The easiest way to make things right at Washington is to make things right at home.

Off-Hand Observations.

The man who considers no opinion but his own is liable to have poor opinions.

The farmer who rotates his crops has good land, good crops and good judgment.

The best place to "hammer" when a cow breaks out of the pasture is on the fence.

A broken harness, if not properly mended without delay, may cause a broken heart.

The aviator is about the only person who can "fly high" and make money at the same time.

The side-delivery rake and rural delivery are two innovations of convenience to the farmer.

Inconsistent farmers "make hay while the sun shines," and leave their mowers uncovered when it rains.

Give the boy an interest in some special crop, and see if he won't have principle enough to take good care of it.—Chas. H. Meiers.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Lyman L. Rice wishes to announce to his friends and patrons that he is now associated with the Cincinnati Grain Co., of Erlanger, Ky., and anything you may need in the feed and flour line, a trial order will be appreciated. Quality highest. Prices lowest. Consolidated Phone 49.

THE HOME OF

Quality Furnitute

FOR 28 YEARS

BE SURE YOU GET

"Quality" IN YOUR Furniture

Quality concerns service, pleasure and purse.

You've often heard people tell of old ages of furniture pieces which they possess. How those pieces were handed down to them, and the service they had given their past owners, and the splendid condition they are in today. Did you ever hear some people say, "This Kind is not Made Any More?"

Yes, folks you can still get that "Old Fashioned Quality" in your furniture.

Furniture with non-parting joint, with perfect-fitting compartment, made of selected materials and elegant finishes have always characterized Dine Furniture. The very style you want is here; for no store shows a greater exhibit and our enormous buying capacity, supplying Three Furniture Stores, our low operating expenses, make possible "Quality Furniture" at low prices. If you are not already a Dine Patron commence with your initial order tomorrow.

100-Coil Premier Steel Spring $6.75

This Spring is without exception the most comfortable Spring made. It contains 100 Premier Steel Coils that will positively not sag, each coil is placed independently from the other end, and on account of this construction two persons lying on it do not roll down in the center. It has a patent device, and the adjusted spring can be made to fit either wood or iron bed. Sold on 30 Nights Free Trial. Dine's Special Price $6.75

Panama Steel Range $24.75

Is the Greatest Steel Range Value on the Market.

It is a Cincinnati Product, made of durable materials and is a guaranteed baker and cooker. The low price for this high-grade range represents our ability in handling many of them, thereby getting them cheaper.

Dine's Furniture Houses Are the Newport and Covington Homes of the Reliable - Stoves - and - Ranges

MADE IN COVINGTON.

Handsome 48-Inch Top Table, Solid Quartered Oak Table $22.50

We consider this table the handsomest ever offered at this price. It is truly a $30 value. Top measures 48 inches, solid quartered oak, hand polished; 8-foot extension; pedestal measures 10 inches, all quartered and is dividing; feet are plain scroll, or can be furnished with claw. It will match correctly with any high-class dining room pieces.

518-520 York Street, Newport, Ky. | DINE'S "QUALITY FURNITURE" | 530-532 Madison Av. Covington, Ky

1123-25 Main St. Cincinnati.

FOLLOW THE CROWDS

AND ATTEND THE

Public Benefit Sale.

Hundreds of dollars worth of Men's and Boys' new and Up-to-Date Clothing are being sold daily at prices less than the cost of the raw material to manufacture them with.

Put in your supply now; it will pay you and pay you big.

Levine Bros & Co.

538 Madison Avenue, Near Sixth St., COVINGTON, KY. | 2 STORES | 807 Monmouth Street, Near Eight St. NEWPORT, KY.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXXVIIII. Established 1875. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1913. $1.50 Per Year. NO. 6

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

IDLEWILD.

Miss Runie Willis gave one of her charming dinners, Sunday.

Mrs. Chaster Davis spent several days this week with Cincinnati friends.

Mrs. James Taylor Gaines is recovering from a severe attack of grippe.

Mrs. R. C. Gaines was called to Union, Saturday, because of the death of her aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Huey.

Mrs. Thos. Grant returned Friday from a month's visit in the middle west, where she was the guest of relatives.

Mr. Martin and three sons, of Harrodsburg, were down in their machine, last week, looking over different farms in this neighborhood with a view to purchasing. No deal was made.

Charles Stephens was struck a heavy blow by "a crank" Sunday morning as he was preparing to start to church, but it happened to be an automobile, not a matrimonial crank, so the only result was a severe shaking up.

FLICKERTOWN.

Chas. Shinkle and wife are visiting at Dayton, this State.

Mrs. James Bruce and children, and John Deck Sundayed at L. P. Sullivan's.

John W. Kelly, of Columbus, Ind., visited J. W. White and family, Sunday and Monday.

Miss Ethel Huffman, of Petersburg, visited her aunt, Mrs. Ben Hensley, Saturday and Sunday.

Holt White and family had as their guests Sunday, his brother and venerable mother, of Ferry creek.

Rev. Geo. Smith, of Georgetown, college, preached two excellent sermons at the school house last Sunday.

Being in needs of funds with which to pay switch fees on Woolper Telephone Co., No. 11, all persons indebted to same are requested to send in their switch dues and delinquent assessments to the secretary or treasurer by Nov. 15. Failure to comply with same forfeits the use of Waterloo switch until paid.

F. M. Voshell, President.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Elmore Ryle, of Locust Grove neighborhood, was housed up with grippe several days last week.

Soot burning in a chimney gave Waller Marshall and wife quite a scare last Saturday. They thought their house was on fire.

Asa McMullen moved last Thursday, from Miss Leola Clore's farm on the Burlington and Union road to the farm he purchased of P. A. Ryle.

The past two weeks has furnished an abundance of fine corn husking weather and probably a greater per cent of the crop of corn is in the crib than is usually at this time.

Keep your guns on the rack until the 15th. If the game warden or grand jury gets a bead on you your game will be rather expensive and you will probably be sore at them for doing their duty.

From some unknown cause the Cason school house caught fire between the weather boarding and the ceiling last Wednesday afternoon after school had been dismissed. The fire originated near a hole in the weather boarding and there is a suspicion that the torch was purposely applied. By heroic efforts of the neighbors the fire was extinguished after a considerable hole was burned in the side of the house.

RICHWOOD.

Ed Carpenter had a very sick horse last week.

Wiley Grubbs has moved into M. Grubbs' house on the pike.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Powers visited at Cary Carpenter's, Sunday.

Mrs. Amanda Carpenter was a Sunday guest at Gaines Robinson's.

Mrs. Mary Carpenter has returned home after a week's illness at her father's.

M. Grubbs and Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Hunter have moved to Price's Hill for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaines Robinson spent several days the past week at their son's in Ludlow.

The many friends of Robert Woodward, of near Devon, are glad to hear he is improving.

Benj. Bedinger is tearing down the house on the Hind place preparatory to building a new one.

Mrs. Mary Carpenter, of Florence, spent several days last week with Mrs. Caroline Senour at Thomas Rice's.

Elmer Glacken spent Saturday night and Sunday at Ben Northcutt's. Ben had a very severe case of tonsilitis but is better.

Doc. Trinkler, who went to Idalo with Price Conner, is very much pleased with that sountry but perhaps when the weather hovers about 40 degrees below freezo, he'll wish for his old Kentucky home.

GRANT R. D. 1.

Mrs. John Deck is still quite ill. Mrs. Elizabeth Ryle, of McVille, is sick.

Lots of coal going south on the rise in the river.

Mrs. Leomer Louden has been quite sick for several days.

James Rogers has been slightly indisposed for several days.

Walter Ryle, who has been quite sick is somewhat improved.

J. M. Conner is spending a few days at his home near Waterloo.

T. W. Cook and wife Sundayed at D. C. Pope's, near Waterloo.

Al Rogers sold a fine bunch of cattle to Jas. Thompson for $1?5? for 17.

We are glad to report Mrs. Jane Sutton as much improved in health.

Jesse Holmes and wife were the guests of the latter's parents, last Sunday.

Rev. Geo. Smith preached to a good crowd at Woolper school house Sunday.

Mrs. Minnie Kelly left last week for Silver City, New Mexico, to be gone indefinitely.

W. W. Grant and wife spent several days the past week with relatives over in Indiana.

The road proposition to be voted on Tuesday will get about an even break on R. D. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Flick presented their daughter, Mayzella, with a new piano one day last week.

Elmer Deck and wife spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Riggs, in East Bend.

Sebe Scott purchased of Chas. Dolph his house and lot in McVille. Consideration not known.

Jake Cook was a visitor to town Sunday. Jake says he is busy stripping his fine crop of tobacco.

Bluford Wingate and wife, of Petersburg, spent Sunday with the former's parents near Waterloo.

Kenneth Berkshire and Wife will go to housekeeping in a house owned by his father near Middle creek.

G. S. Walrath is unloading a barge of Plymouth coal, to the joy of many residents of this community.

Atty. O. M. Rogers, of Erlanger, was at Rabbit Hash on business Saturday and spent Sunday here with relatives.

Dan Wilson writing W. G. Kite, the Waterloo merchant, is paying 15 cents apiece for rabbits of the smared variety.

Bernard Rogers and wife entertained the following guests Sunday—O. M. Rogers, Al Rogers wife and son, Edward.

Frank Walton spent the past week with friends here while his mother was on a visit to relatives at Georgetown and Frankfort.

Miss Bettie Stephens and cousin Miss Mildred Hawkins have returned from a very pleasant visit with relatives at Frankfort and Lexington.

Doney Cook says that in the fox hunt Saturday night he cleaned up on the bunch, including Jake Cook, Frank Lambert and Col. Dan McCarty.

Klein, of Cincinnati, was in town in an auto Sunday; also a party of men and women in a Ford five passenger auto. The parties were strangers to our citizens.

It looks to a man on the fence as though the trappers are getting busy rather early this year and in consequence many blue pelts will be in evidence.

S. B. Ryle and family arrived here from California, last Tuesday. They look as if that part of the country had agreed with them in the matter of health.

C. E. McNeely, our popular bank cashier, is giving entire satisfaction and is very popular with the depositors and the public as well as the officers of the bank.

Mrs. Gertie Parsons is spending the week with her husband, who is a street car motorman in Cincinnati. Her daughter, Miss Avis, we are glad to say is improving rapidly.

Stanley Clore turned his new buggy over one night last week by running over a high bank on the road near Waterloo. Outside of broken shafts there was no serious results.

Caddy Maurer came down with Riley and Dix to the road lecture Saturday night and went to see his mother, who we are glad to say has almost completely recovered from her recent illness.

Several of Belleview's young folks dressed in grotesque costumes visited each house in town Friday night and caused much merriment by their comical actions. Rabbit Hash residents celebrated the occasion with big chicken soups.

Last Saturday was the second anniversary of the establishment of our Rural route, and J. Cofon Kelly celebrated by presenting the carrier with a sack of apples, while B. C. Kirtley left a sack of fine sweet potatoes and pop corn at his box for Uncle Sam.

Robt. S. Hensley met with quite a serious accident last week when a horse he was riding became unmanageable and threw him violently to the ground, breaking both bones in one of his lower limbs between the ankle and knee. He has not got along as well as is usually the case in such accidents and the outcome is doubtful.

With last Saturday's trip this writer finished his second year on rural route one, having traveled in that time just exactly 10,246½ miles and handled in that time about 120,000 pieces of mail matter and collected something like 20,000 pieces of mail of all classes, in which is included 357 money orders, and making about 41,580 stops.

PETERSBURG.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Arnold spent Sunday at Mr. J. B. Weindel's.

Mr. Martin, of Harrodsburg, visited Miss Flossie Campbell, last week.

Miss Elsie Hauck, of Cincinnati, is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Caroline Keim.

Mrs. Stephens and daughter, Miss Ida, are visiting Mrs. Milton Souther near Idlewild.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hoffman, of Louisville, are here visiting Mr. and Mrs. Adam Hoffman.

Mrs. Samuel Hensley and granddaughter, Miss Ruth, were shopping in Aurora, last Monday.

The Halloween social given at Krutz's Hall, Thursday evening, by the Epworth League, was quite a success despite the bad weather.

C. L. Hensley went to Lexington, Saturday, for a visit before returning to his home in Lincoln county.

Little Miss Myrtle Rue, who lives down in the country, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rue.

Hon. J. W. Berkshire returned Tuesday from a few days visit with his daughter, Mrs. H. E. Fisher, at Lawrenceburg.

A crowd of young folks from here surprised Mr. and Mrs. Bluford Wingate with a housewarming Saturday evening.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Edwards, gathered at the home of their grandmother, Mrs. Mary Klopp, Tuesday night, and gave them a miscellaneous shower.

Hubert Walton and Miss Pauline Alden and Holman Wingate and Miss Lucile Berkshire, were among those from here who enjoyed a Halloween party at Dr. Hayes' near Bullittsburg, Friday night.

DEVON

Robt. Woodward is improving slowly.

Douglas Wallingford was the guest of Leo Groger, Sunday.

Miss Maud Groger was the guest of Mrs. Hoba Watson, Sunday.

Mrs. Theo. Groger and daughter, Mabel, were visitors at Erlanger, Saturday.

Elmer Groger, who was accidentally shot, recently, is able to be out again.

The hunting season will soon be at hand much to the delight of those who enjoy that sport.

We extend to Mr. Nicholas Wilke and bride congratulations and best wishes. They were married in Covington, last Wednesday.

Mr. Alfred Rivard, Jr., of Covington, came out Saturday evening and remained until Sunday evening the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rivard.

The young folks gave Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Wilke a charivari, Saturday evening, and they were invited in and enjoyed a delightful time with dancing and music.

Stanley Rice, of Covington, came out Saturday evening and remained until Sunday evening, guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rice and other friends. Stanley has employment with the American Tool Company, where he is well pleased and is doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Mann, of Rising Sun, Indiana, and Mr. Walker B'Hymer and family, of near this place, were pleasant guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Conrad, Sunday. Mrs. W. A. Rice and sons, Stanley and Berry, and daughter, Stella, were guests of Mrs. B. F. Bristow, Sunday.

PT. PLEASANT.

Ira Walton and wife were our guests last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Malchus Souther entertained several relatives at dinner, Sunday.

J. C. Gordon and family, of near Francesville, attended church services here last Sunday.

T. B. Ross has delivered his crop of over 3,000 pounds of tobacco to John Gilligan for 13¾ cents per pound.

Don't forget that there is Sunday school at Pt. Pleasant church every Sunday at 10 a. m. Come out and help make it a success.

The protracted meeting at the new church is progressing nicely with Rev. H. C. Runyan in the pulpit and Dr. Emil Sullivan as leader of the singing. Bro. Runyan is an interesting speaker and you will be benefited by hearing him. Dr. Sullivan preached two excellent sermons last Sunday in the absence of Bro. Runyan.

HEBRON.

The fourth annual corn show given under the auspices of the Boone County Pomona Grange will be held at Burlington on November 22d, 1913. Premium list will be published later.

Thomas Rice is building a corn crib of considerable capacity on his land out on the Belleview pike.

GUNPOWDER.

Sheriff B. B. Hume was here on official business one day last week.

For Sale—Male Jersey calf, one year old. Apply to H. F. Utz, at Devon.

Mrs. E. O. Rouse visited Covington friends from Saturday until Monday.

B. C. Tanner is building a large barn preparatory to going into the dairy business.

B. A. Rouse and family dined with his parents, J. W. Rouse and wife, last Sunday.

Mrs. J. H. Aylor wishes to buy a few Black Minorca hens instead of having them for sale.

Henry Barlow was the first in this neighborhood to finish gathering corn. He finished last Friday.

There was a land deal pulled off here last week and Geo. Miller became owner of 23 acres of J. H. Aylor's farm.

Small grain is looking well and with a favorable season the harvest will be more abundant than this year as the acreage is much greater.

Geo. Hines moved to L. P. Aylor's farm a few days since, and Ben Long will move to the B. C. Tanner farm in the near future, and engage in the dairy business.

Special services at Hopeful next Sunday, the occasion being the installation of pastor W. E. Wallace. Rev. Kapp, D. D., of Cincinnati, and Prof. Larimer, D. D., of Springfield, Ohio, will officiate. Services will begin at 10 a. m.

VERONA.

W. Preston's daughter has typhoid fever.

Mrs. Sopha Whitson has been quite ill the past two weeks.

Ben K. Johnson and family have moved to a farm on Flat creek.

Bro. Nugen filled his appointment at the M. E. church last Sunday.

Mrs. Maranda Cotton will move to the property recently purchased of Ed. Fry in Verona.

Looks very much like the people are going to have a new graded school building in Verona.

R. S. Houston and son, Frank, from Panama, arrived in Verona last Wednesday to spend a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. May of Sulphur, who were visiting his parents in Verona, returned home last Monday.

Wm. Farrell, who has just completed a handsome dwelling two miles west of town, will occupy it this week.

W. M. Whitson is having some repairing done on his residence near town, Mr. G. W. Wadkins doing the work.

G. W. Roberts lost his driving mare one day last week. She got choked on a piece of cob which could not be removed.

L. Bran and wife will move back to Verona this week and occupy Mrs. Marion Bagby's house. Mrs. Bagby will live with them.

R. D. No. 3.

E. H. Scothorn has been very ill the past week.

John Utzinger and wife spent Sunday with Chas. Utzinger and family.

John Scothorn and wife were Sunday afternoon callers at Jas. Noble's.

Miss Stella Brown spent Thursday night and Friday with Frank Aylor and wife.

Miss Alice Reitmann entertained relatives from Cincinnati, Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. J. W. Brown is able to be about after several days' suffering with a spralned ankle.

Newton Sullivan and family, of near Burlington, spent Sunday with Elbert Ryle and family.

Mrs. Chas. McFee and daughter Kate, of Latonia, are guests of friends in this neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy of Kansas City, Mo., are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Graves.

Miss Alice Kelly, of near Burlington, spent from Friday until Sunday of last week with Miss Etta Day.

FLORENCE.

Miss Rene Bradford is improving.

Roy Conner, who has been quite sick, is some better.

Everett Aylor and family spent Sunday at Lloyd Aylor's.

Lee Whitson and family spent Sunday with relatives at Erlanger.

Elbert Roberts, of Burlington, is doing some repair work on his house here.

Rev. C. E. Brown and family left for their future home at Smithland, last Thursday.

Many friends of Miss Viola Arnold gave her a birthday surprise party Halloween eve.

Tom Arnold has purchased Dr. L. C. Hafer's residence and will have a grocery and meat store there.

Miss Martha Williams was the pleasant guest of Misses Coreta and Armeta Tanner from Friday until Sunday.

HATHAWAY.

J. D. McNeely and wife dined at N. H. Clement's, Sunday.

Ethel Jones, of Hamilton, spent from Tuesday until Sunday with relatives at Hathaway.

Wilton Adams has returned from Louisiana, where he expects to make his future home.

Tom Bradford and wife entertained the young folks with a Halloween party Friday night. A large crowd was present and all reported a good time.

UNION.

Miss Gladys Rouse is well and out again.

Mrs. Lee Utz and daughter, of Devon, were here to attend Mrs. Huey's funeral.

Miss Nan Elizabeth Huey visited Miss Sara Quisenberry, in Richmond, last week.

Miss Mariam Morriss spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives on Walnut Hills.

Miss Marietta Riley, of Cincinnati, was the guest of relatives here last Sunday.

Miss Susie Newman, who has been quite ill for several weeks, is reported better.

Miss Minnie Ryle and Prof. Martin attended a matinee in Cincinnati, last Saturday.

J. Q. Elston and most of his party have returned from their trip to the southwest.

Mrs. G. W. Garrison, of Walton, and Mrs. E. C. Garrison, of Richwood, were guests of Mrs. J. J. Garrison, last week.

Be sure to attend the spelling bee at the Odd Fellows' Hall next Friday evening at 7 p. m. No charges at the door and no collection.

Rev. J. M. Ballentyne has kindly consented to deliver a lecture for the benefit of the school some time in December. The date will be duly announced.

Mrs. J. W. Poindexter, of Cynthianna, Mrs. O. M. Huey, of Crescent Hill, and Mrs. S. C. Hicks, of Walton, are at the bedside of their mother, Mrs. J. W. Kennedy.

The Baptist society have about completed its arrangement for a bazaar and oyster supper on the evening of the 14th, beginning at 7 o'clock. Everyone is invited. Supper, 25 cents.

Mrs. J. W. Kennedy, who suffered a stroke of paralysis in Owen county last week, was brought home last Friday and is improving slowly. Mrs. Mary Fields is nursing her.

Dr. and Mrs. Elbert Rouse, of Ludlow; Rev. and Mrs. O. M. Huey, of Louisville, and a number of relatives from the north end of the county, were here to attend the funeral of Mrs. Huey.

The Ladies' Society of the Presbyterian church met in an all day session with Mrs. J. W. Williams, last Thursday. The next meeting will be with Mrs. M. C. Norman, Thursday, Nov. 13th, at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Elizabeth Huey, a life-long resident of Boone county, died at her residence here, last Friday evening. She had nearly reached her 8th birthday, Nov. 4th, and was ill only from Monday until Friday. Her unusual activity, for one of her age, was marked, and she maintained the liveliest interest in everything, especially in her church. She had been a member of Big Bone Baptist church for more than sixty years, and will be sadly missed from her accustomed seat. She had no children but took into her home when a very small boy, Thomas Judge, an orphan, who has been to her in every way a loving son, ministering to her dutifully in return for her motherly care of and affection for him. He with her wide circle of relatives, has the sympathy of every one in the community.

CEDAR GROVE.

Woodford Sullivan and wife will move to Petersburg.

Miss Lola Beemon was transacting business in Aurora, last Saturday.

Mrs. Frank Lambert visited relatives at Union, Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. Loulah Walton is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Isabella Smith, at Georgetown.

Mrs. Wood Sullivan and daughter called on Mrs. Howard Huey last Saturday afternoon.

Miss Virginia Botts, of Bullittsville, visited her cousin, Pearl Botts, part of last week.

Miss Carrie Porter, of Burlington, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Howard Huey the past week.

Miss Beulah Witham and brother, Raymond, of Petersburg, called on Miss Martha Randall, Sunday afternoon.

Rev. Geo. Smith delivered two interesting sermons at Woolper school house last Sunday. He will preach there again on the first Sunday in December.

R. B. Huey came very near having a serious accident one day last week. When riding across the bridge at the foot of the Voshell hill, one of the planks gave away under his horse. Fortunately, Mr. Huey got off without getting hurt and got his horse out with out much difficulty. The horse was hurt but very little.

LIMABURG.

Mrs. Amanda Tanner and daughters spent Sunday at Mrs. A. G. Beemon's.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Beemon entertained several of their friends from Florence, Sunday.

Harvey Mitchell and Fred Drinkenburg spent Sunday with August and Willie Drinkenburg.

The protracted meeting at Pt. Pleasant is being well attended. Rev. Runyan and Dr. Sullivan have charge of the service.

The recent cold spell caused the farmers in this section to don heavier coats. That being the case one of our neighbors went to Limaburg, purchased a coat and cap and when he arrived home his dogs met him at the gate and denied him the right to enter. Still some say your dog is your friend.

Personal Mention.

J. L. Riley, of Ludlow, was mixing with the court day crowd last Monday.

H. W. Blyth, of Lawrenceburg, spent last Sunday with his relatives in Burlington.

Mrs. Blackburn, mother, of Mrs. Bernard Gaines, has been very sick for several days.

Richard Stephens, of Rabbit Hash, was transacting business in Burlington last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Yelton of Bracken county, are guests of their son, Dr. M. A. Yelton and wife.

Attys. O. M. Rogers and D. E. Castleman, of Erlanger, attended county court in Burlington last Monday.

G. W. Riley, of Dayton, Ohio, and Edgar Cropper, of Home City, Ohio, attended court here last Monday.

W. T. Davis, who resides out on the Florence pike, will have a sale of personal property on the 10th of next month.

J. C. Revill spent a few days the past week with his daughter, Mrs. J. G. Furnish, in Covington, and attended the big celebration at the First Baptist church.

Elmo Gaines, who holds a clerkship in Auditor Bosworth's office, at Frankfort, attended court in Burlington, last Monday. He came home to be on hand for the election on Tuesday.

Dr. and Mrs. F. L. Pedaicord, of Lakeland, were guests of Prof. and Mrs. E. L. Dix, Tuesday, the doctor coming to Burlington to vote, he claiming this as his residence for that purpose.

R. C. Green, cashier of Walton Bank and Trust Co., C. Scott Chambers, undertaker, of Walton, Geo. Miller, of Erlanger, and Jno. H. Aylor, of Gunpowder, were transacting business at the court house one day the past week.

RABBIT HASH.

S. N. Riggs made a business trip to Cincinnati Monday.

C. G. Riddell has been quite ill for the past two weeks.

Ed. C. Presser and wife, of Aurora, have been visiting in East Bend.

A protracted meeting began at the East Bend Baptist church last Sunday.

Ira and Lawrence Pope, of the Beech Grove neighborhood, were in town Monday.

Elden Wyne, of Deputy, Ind., was the guest of Miss Orabel Hodges the past week.

E. L. Stephens is hauling material to build a large dwelling on his farm in East Bend.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Miller, of Gallatin county, were visiting R. T. Stephens and family, Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. Carlyle entertained the Pythian Sisters with a Halloween party, last Friday night.

While working at the saw mill here one day last week Alf Wingate had two of his fingers badly mashed by a piece of timber falling on them.

John Hankinson, of Muncie, Indiana, and Thos. Hankinson, of Marion, Ind., were here last week to visit their brother in law, Walter Ryle, who is very sick.

Jas. West fell from a loft in Robt. Aylor's barn, Monday morning, and dislocated his right elbow. Dr. Carlyle attended him and his arm is now doing nicely.

BULLITTSVILLE.

Mrs. James Masters is quite ill.

Chas. Stephens and family spent Sunday at Milton Souther's.

Mrs. Carl Beacome spent last Friday with her sister, Mrs. Theo. Birkle.

Misses Sheba and Mary Roberts spent the week end with their sister, Mrs. Menter Martin.

Mrs. Corrine Riley and Mrs. Ida Baisly spent Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Jas. Botts.

Steve Burns and wife and Joe Pappet and family called on Cecil Burns and family, last Sunday.

Miss Lorain Masters entertained her school mates with cake and ice cream last Saturday afternoon.

The installation service will be held on Nov. 9th at Hopeful Lutheran church. Rev. J. W. Kapp D. D. pastor of the First Lutheran church of Cincinnati and Rev. L. H. Larimer, D. D. of Springfield, Ohio, will deliver the charge to pastor and congregation. The hour will be 10 a. m.

Besides being a good lawyer Joel C. Clore is also some farmer as demonstrated by his sojourn on his farm near Hebron, this county, during the cropping season just closed, which saw him grow a large crop of corn that he has gathered and converted into cold cash, while a tremendous crop of golden hued pumpkins await a sale.

The Halloweenists did not give the town the usual Halloween shake up last Friday night. The kid element and some of the older people made the early hours of the evening lively by appearing in grotesque masks, while the younger boys worked the tick-tack to a finish. Wagons, buggies and like property were disturned in one or two instances only, and nearly everything was found Friday morning where it belonged. It was the most orderly Halloween experienced in Burlington in many years.

Who Are Farmers' Customers?

Who are the farmers' customers? The people who eat the products of the farm, of course. And who are his best customers? The people who eat the most of them; the people who have good appetites; who eat three squre meals a day, not only bread and butter, but beef steak, potatoes, mutton chops pork and beans, corned beef and cabbage; whose appetite for fruit and vegetables is insatiable. The farmer does not get much good from the man who minces and nibbles, who looks over the table in the morning to see if there is anything on it to stimulate a jaded appetite. He does not get much good out of the man who can't eat anything unless it is fixed up in some special way, and seasoned and spiced so as to be tempting to him. The wealthy man is not very much good to the farmer. He is more apt to be a good customer of the man who sells automobiles or jewelry. In short, the man in whom the farmer should take the greatest interest is just the common day laborer or factory hand or minor, the man who has an appetite that is hard to satisfy, not in quality, but in quantity of good, solid food.

He is interested in knowing that this man has the wherewithal to buy food for himself and his family. That's the interest the farmer has in the labor problem. What he wants is to see everybody at work and everybody paid for his work. The English laborer at $5 a week pays out three-fourths of that for food; that is if he has a family. Our readers may wonder how a man can live on $5 a week and support a family. But that is about all the English laborer gets, and he does live on it, and if he gets that much he can live quite as healthfully as the American laborer does on twice the amount because he is a man of simple habits, and likes farm foods in the shape which it comes to him, without any special dressing.

Our readers will remember that we never have good times on the farm except when labor is fully employed. The main interest the farmer has in manufacturing is the fact that factories provide stomachs that need filling. The only real interest he has in the tariff is the effect that it might have on the demand for his products. If the new tariff creates as great a demand at fair fair prices, he will be perfectly satisfied with it, and will be just as enthusiastic for low tariffs as he ever was for high ones. The thing he wants is some body to eat his products and pay him a good price for them.

The farmer is further interested in seeing his products get on the table of the man who eats them, with the minimum of expense, that is, by passing through the hands of as few middlemen as possible. There must be some middlemen, but the fewer the better. To do this farmers should organize so that they can furnish these products with the greatest regularity possible, and standardized so that the buyer can be sure that he will get the same quality every time and get it regularly.

Having done his part, for example, in providing butter of a uniform quality, and wheat or corn of standard grades, he is interested in seeing that they go to the customer as promptly as possible.

Farmers never made any money out of dairying until the creamery came in. The good wife with much labor and tribulation made butter with the primitive churn, brought her butter to market and traded it without reference to quality for goods. When the creamery came in, she was relieved from all this labor, sold her cream direct to the creamery and the cooperators saw to it that the butter made was of standard quality and shipped in bulk to the nearest market.

Farmers lost a great deal by selling wheat mixed with dirt and weed seeds. The elevator man pays the same old price for all just as the groceryman did for all sorts of butter, discriminating against the good farmer and in favor of the careless farmer. Farmers are themselves frequently to blame, because they do not put on the market cooperative butter, cheese, eggs, potatoes, vegetables and grain, of so uniform a quality that the customer may know just what he is getting.

When you come to study the whole subject carefully, the products of the farm are about the only products that are divided with approximate quality, each man according to his eating, as the Israelites gathered manna in the days of Moses. The interest of the farmer should be in the man who can consume the greatest amount of his products, the man with a good appetite and a good digestion, with good red blood, firm muscles and steady nerves, and not the anaemic, spindle shanked fellow who lives on luxury.

The laboring man can spend half or two-thirds of his daily wages for "eats" for himself and his family; but the man who has to pay a 2 per cent tax on his income can give but a very small portion of it to the farmer for food. He is a subject of interest to the man who sells luxuries, but is not of much use to the farmer. The farmer is interested in the man who is a good feeder and has the wherewithal to buy plenty of food.—Wallace's Farmer.

Chas. Westbay, who, previous to last Friday night, had always been a victim of Halloween pranks, took extra precaution Friday afternoon to conceal his property that was likely to be moved during the night, by putting it under lock and key at various places about town, and he was very much surprised when he learned Saturday morning that he had subjected himself to considerable extra labor, as nothing amounting to anything was doing the night before. He is bound to get in bad every Halloween.

The Faithful Dog.

The following tribute to man's useful friend was delivered by the late Senator George G. Vest before a Missouri jury in a dog case:

"Gentlemen of the jury, the best friend a man has in this world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has he may lose. It flies away from him perhaps when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its cloud upon our heads. The one absolute, unselfish friend that man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog.

"Gentlemen of the jury, a man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he can be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer, he will lick the wounds and sores that come in encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends desert he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces he is as constant in his love as the sun is in its journey thru the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him to guard against danger, to fight against his enemies and when the last scene of all comes and death takes the master in its embrace and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by his graveside will the noble dog be found his head between his paws, his eyes sad, but open in alert watchfulness faithful and true even unto death."

Do It Now.

Persons who have any property to leave to descendents might prepare to make their wills since if what is prophesied comes true very few will be alive next spring. The high living cost will cause many people to starve, and those who survive the famine will freeze to death. So you can take your choice—spend your money for coal and starve, or buy your food and freeze. Everything points to a cold hard winter, according to the prophets. Corn husks are very heavy and fowls are well clothed. These are sure signs of extreme cold, the prophets say. Also, one extreme follows another, and the hottest summer must give way to the coldest winter. This is doped out as a sure sign of a severe winter. Back woods prophets are preparing a shock for the people, too. They say that within a few days they will be able to report that fur bearing animals are literally borne down with their coats. Thus is nature getting ready to withstand unprecedented blasts—a sure sign of polar weather.—Ex.

Good News.

The most interesting item of news that has come out of Frankfort for many a long day is the statement by Supt. Barksdale Hamlett that there is now enough money on hand in the school fund to insure a seven months term for rural schools this year. Years ago the rural schools lasted only five months, there being only sufficient funds on hand to pay for them that long. A few years ago another month was added to the term, the benefits from which were readily apparent. Since taking charge of the office Superintendent Hamlett says he has been working hard to have this increased to seven, and that he is now greatly rejoiced to be able to state that the time for increasing the school term to seven months is at hand. Mr. Hamlett says he has gone over the situation with State Treasurer Rhea, and he tells him that, with the surplus left over from last June in the school fund, the school money will be ready on time for the teachers this year at the proper time. The extension of the school term is the cause of much gratification to all citizens of the state, and we hope that before many years the term will be lengthened to nine months.

Lizard Four Feet Long.

Cumberland, Md., Nov. 2.—A lizard, four feet long, supposedly of the iguana family and known only in the tropics, was unearthed by a blast today at the old cement mill kilns in this city.

The reptile was alive, but soon expired from the effects of the blast. How it came here and how long it was in the rocks is problematical. It measures one foot five inches across when the hind legs are stretched. The reptile is pronounced a tree lizard, whose habitat is tropical America. It is of greenish yellow color, mottled with green, the tail ringed with brown.

Nothing like it has ever been seen in this locality and it is likely that it had been hidden in the rock for many years. It came to the surface when solid earth and rock were removed.

Of course, a woman doesn't look very good in a Mother Hubbard, but there is nothing about it to injure her health.

Exchange Echos.

Una Cannon, who lives 4 miles northeast of the city, had on display here yesterday a turnip of his own raising which weighed seven and a half pounds. It was of what is known as the seven top variety.—Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

—♦—

Paducah good roads advocates are fathering a movement to have Ward King, the split-log drag inventor, come to the five counties adjoining McCracken for a series of demonstrations and speeches in an effort to have every road in the Purchase dragged properly all winter.—Paducah Sun.

—♦—

The city was full of candidates Saturday, and how well it seems. No drinking, pulling or hauling with floaters. The campaign is so nice this year it makes one think the world is growing better and it has grown very much better so far as Powell county is concerned.—Clay City Times.

—♦—

On account of the rains on last Friday and Saturday the road working was postponed and at a call meeting by Judge Yancey on court day two more days were set, Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 5th and 6th. If the weather is favorable it is hoped that everybody will turn out.—Owen Co. Democrat.

—♦—

Gov. McCreary's good roads proclamation was not heeded here simply because the roads of Clark are as near perfect as they can be made. A bad road will not be tolerated here. "Uncle Loosh" Richards of Boonesboro, said, in honor of the Governor's proclamation, he filled up several small holes in the road in front of his house.—Winchester Democrat.

—♦—

Some of our prominent hunters went to Twin the other night to have a fox chase. By some means the chase was given to a black cur dog which these hunters thought to be a black fox. The dog was chased many miles and never caught but it has since developed that it was a black dog instead of a black fox and the joke is on the boys.—Owen County Democrat.

—♦—

Gov. McCreary's Good Roads proclamation was barren of results in Scott county. But conditions here, in fact throughout the Blue Grass section, are different from what prevail in many other counties in the State. Some of the roads in this county are not as good as they ought to be, but in a general way they are in better shape than in three fourths of the counties of the State. All of the roads are macadamized, worked by machinery and are paid for as other taxes are paid. This will help explain any apparent indifference to the Governor's proclamation, for Scott county people thoroughly appreciate good roads —Georgetown Times.

Public Sale.

I will offer for sale at public auction at my farm on the Bullittsville and Dry Creek turnpike, about two miles west of Bullittsville, Ky., on

Thursday, Nov. 20th, 1913

the following property;
15 first-class Ewes,
12 Milch Cows,
1 Horse and Buggy,
Lot Corn, Hay, Cowpeas,
Sows and Pigs,
and other articles.

TERMS—Sums of $5.00 and under, cash; on all sums over $5.00 a credit of six months will be given, purchaser to give note with approved security payable at the Boone County Deposit Bank, Burlington, Ky., before removing property.

MRS. M. T. GRAVES.

Sale to begin at 12 o'clock.

PUBLIC SALE.

Saturday, November 22, 1913

I will offer at Public Sale for cash to the highest and best bidder my farm of 51 acres. Good 4-room house, new barn and good improvements. Nearly level. Near Lexington pike, 2 miles north of Walton, Ky., near Kensington Station. Close to school.

I reserve the right to reject any bids on my farm.

Will also offer for sale at the same time and place the following described property:

One large work mare four years old, in foal to jack; 2-yr-old Filly; 2-yr-old Horse Colt; Sow and nine pigs; 7 Shoats; good Jersey Cow; two-horse Wagon; Buggy, Sled, Farming Tools, Household and Kitchen Furniture, 1 Graphophone.

Sale to begin at 10 a. m.

J. A. LAWRENCE,
Route, Richwood, Ky.

The Milton correspondent in the Madison Courier says: The first appointment to come to Trimble county under the Wilson administration was landed by a Milton citizen; C. A. Barclay, Editor of the Milton News. Mr. Barclay has pulled the big plum, that of Deputy Internal Revenue Collector for the Richwood Distillery to succeed Mr. N. C. Denison. He will assume the duties of the office Saturday, Nov. 1st.

SALE AT COST.

As I expect to quit buisness, will sell my entire stock of Millinery and Notions, before christmas.

Hats, Felt and Velvet shapes.....75c-$100
Trimmed Hats..$1.50-$3
Ladie's all-wool sweaters were $2.50 now...$2.00
$1.00 Corsets now....85c
75c Corsets now.....60c
50c Corsets now.....35c
5c Kerchiefs 3 for....10c
White and Black Shoe Polish.....08c
50c Silk Scarfs.....35c
Gloves, Belts, Veils, Ties, Collars, D. M. C. Cotton, Ribbons, Pins, Etc.

Mrs. B. L. Cleek,
Union, Kentucky.

All persons indebted to the estate of J. J. Tanner, deceased, must call and settle with the undersigned, and those having claims against said estate will present them to him proven according to law.

CLARENCE TANNER.

Mr. R. W. Purdom, of the Perryville section, was the only man in Boyle county, so far as the Advocate is informed, who turned out to work on the county roads last Friday and Saturday.—Danville Advocate.

Wont you Let

MY CLOTHING DO THE TALKING FOR THEMSELVES?

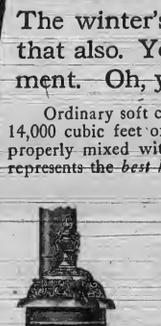
Kindly come in and see them. I will do business with you without argument You will find Quality and Workmenship.

MENS SUITS and OVERCOATS.....$5.00 to $18.00

YOUNG MEN'S SUITS AND OVERCOATS.....$3.00 to $15.00

Young Men, you must see these suits and Overcoats to appreciate their value.

Children's Norfolk Knickerbocker Suits well made and Durable $2.75, $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00.



Mothers you must see these to realize the bargains I am offering. A complete line of Corderoy and Duck Coats and Pants, the clothing out door workers need when disagreeable weather comes ou insures health and comfort.

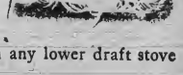
Selmar Wachs
Successor to
Rolfes & Wachs,
NO. 1 Pike Street, Near Madison Ave.,
COVINGTON, KY.

Coal costs money. You know it. The winter's coal costs BIG money. You know that also. Yet, half of it is wasted by poor management. Oh, yes it is! Listen and be convinced.

Ordinary soft coal is half gas. An average ton of $3.00 coal contains about 14,000 cubic feet of gas—common illuminating gas. A gas which will, if properly mixed with air, burn with an intensely hot blue flame. This gas represents the best half of your ton of coal.

This unburned gas and a large portion of the heat IS CARRIED UP THE CHIMNEY by the air leaking cracks in stoves of ORDINARY construction.

There is only one way to save this wasted gas and heat and that is with a



Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater

which is so constructed that it has no air leaking cracks. In this wonderful heater and fuel-saver the gas is kept under perfect control until oxidized and burned.

It is the only stove that is made tight—holds tight—stays tight.

It is the only stove that saves the wasted chimney heat.

It's the only stove that gives you a constant, steady heat with soft coal, hard coal or lignite.

It will give you all the heat that is in your coal.

It will hold your fire 36 hours without attention.

It will burn all kinds of fuel.

It is guaranteed to consume one-third less fuel than any lower draft stove of the same size, using soft coal, lignite or slack.

AND—It is sold you under a guarantee to fill all these claims.

Back of this guarantee is the credit and capital of an immense factory and it is worth to you 100 cents on the dollar.

COME IN AND SEE IT. IT MEANS DOLLARS IN YOUR POCKET AND A PLEASED CUSTOMER FOR US.

LOUIS MARX & BRO

516-522 Madison Avenue, Covington, Ky

840 Monmouth Street, Newport, Ky

See the name "Cole's" on the feed door of each stove. None genuine without it

Local Happenings.

Hog and hominy will soon be ripe.

Local hunters are anxious to go afield.

Another election is a matter of history.

Small grain is getting a good start for the winter.

The rains the past week made it bad traveling on dirt roads.

Buyers of Thanksgiving turkeys will be the next campaigners in this county.

Since cool weather began the creamery has been receiving milk every other day.

The State Game warden reports the destruction of 1,000 fish nets this year in this State.

Prof. Dix entertained the High school pupils last Friday night with Halloween exercises.

A large lot of feed for stock is being sent to this part of the county from city feed stores.

Fine progress is being made in the construction of the new Baptist church edifice in Walton.

Quite a good sized crowd attended B. E. Aylor's sale on the 29th inst., and fair prices were the rule.

The rise in the Ohio river brought out a big shipment of coal from the headwaters of that stream.

Paint and oil your farm implements before putting them away for the winter, and they will be ready for use in the spring.

A big destruction of property by fire and a cold blooded murder is the history made by Williamstown during the last month.

A considerable crowd attended the sale of Mrs. Mollie Clore and Mrs. A. L. Nichols, last Saturday afternoon, and fair prices were realized.

Mrs. Ester Kirtley, widow of the late Columbus Kirtley, died in Covington, Sunday night. Funeral at Bullittsburg, Wednesday at 1 o'clock.

When you begin gathering corn commence selecting your seed corn for next year. By so doing you will save time and make a better selection.

Henry Myers has sold his saloon property on the pike below Florence and will move to Erlanger until he can find a farm that suits him to purchase.

There has been some very favorable weather for shucking shock corn and stripping tobacco, and many farmers took advantage of it for that kind of work.

The local trappers are getting their equipment in shape for the winter campaign. Furs bring a considerable amount of money into this county every season.

Griffith, the man who Sheriff Hume took to Newport as witness against Geo. Rice, the chanty boat murder, identified Rice instantly in a crowd of several men.

A. W. Davis, of Prescott, Arizona, the gold mine promoter, was in town a few days last week, and sold considerable additional stock to those who had already bought.

If only those who have taken out license so far, hunt in this county this season there will not be many taking part in that sport as only about fifty licenses have been issued by the county clerk.

The following county officials elected last Tuesday are holdovers: P. E. Cason, county judge W. R. Rogers, county clerk; N. E. Riddell, County Attorney; J. S. Adams, Jailer; A. A. Murat, Coroner.

J. S. Snyder, of Bullittsville, traveling man for a Cincinnati firm, was in Burlington, last Friday, northern Kentucky being his territory. He has been on the road for several years and has a large constituency.

Edgar Berkshire, the fruitest out on the Belleview pike, presented the Recorder force with a gallon of extra good cider, last Monday. Mr. Berkshire makes a large quantity of cider every fall, much of which he allows to become vinegar.

A few weeks ago it was said quails were very scarce in this county, but those in a position to know say they have seen quite a number of nice covies recently in territory where it was least expected to discover them. Rabbits by the thousands.

Mrs. Elizabeth Huey, who died of pneumonia at her home in Union last Friday night was the widow of the late Oscar Huey. She was a Gaines and a member of one of the county's oldest and best families. She was ill of pneumonia only a few days.

A five year old work mule belonging to Rice Bros., of Idlewild neighborhood, got one of its legs broken last Sunday. After consulting a veterinary they killed the mule last Monday. It is supposed that some of the mules in the pasture with it kicked it.

Rubbers and Felt Boots For the Entire Family At Less than Wholesale Prices.

BUY NOW
Fall and Winter Shoes & Rubbers

High-Top or Hunting Boots For Men and Boys At Big Pirce Reductions

Our big puachase sale brings you the greatest bargains in Shoes and Rubbers. Never before at this early in the season, when these shoes are at their greatest demand, have we offered you such tremendous values. The purchase pricc was low, the quantity enormous. Our stores overloaded with merchandise, we have, therefore, marked these goods at record-breaking low prices. Convince yourself again Saturday why we are known as the GREATEST BARGAIN-GIVING SHOE STORES.

The purchase of the entire over-production of one of Boston's largest manufacturers enables us to offer you the newest in footwear at prices less than cost of the material and labor. These are without doubt the most beautiful lot of shoes ever offered; all leathers and fabrics; in the most approved styles for this season. You owe it to your purse to see these shoes before buying your new boots; every pair worth $5.00..... $2.49

A new lot of Ladies' High-Grade Shoes, including The Baby Doll Boot, in gunmetal and patent; a variety of assortment that is bound to please the most fastidious dressers; shoes that cannot be duplicated unless you pay $1 to $1.50 more. $1.99

Children's Department

Bring the children here and save almost one-half on your shoe bills. Everything that is new in Children's Shoes and Rubbers at big reductions.

A big purchase of Ladies' High-Grade Shoes brings you this season's biggest bargains; Shoes that ordinarily retail at $4.00 will be put on sale at less than one-half their values; all leathers and fabrics; every size and width..... $1.49 and $1.69

Misses' and Children's Shoes, in patent, tan, and gunmetal; in the high or regular cut; worth double the money..... $1.49

Men's Shoes.

This enormous purchase of Men's Shoes includes Shoes of every descriptiion--shoes for the fashionable dresser as well as the every day Work Shoe. Our enormous stock gives you a choice of almcst an endless variety. This should be without doubt the headquarters for all men. Come here and see what a big saving it means for you.

Men's fine Dress and Work Shoes, in gunmetal and patent; made on the very newest models; cut from the higher-priced lines to make room for our newer Shoes; these Shoes are absolutely perfect in every department, and are worth from $3.50 to $4.00 the pair— $1.99

Men's Custom-Made Shoes, for Fall and Winter; made on the newest approved lasts including the New English Lasts; also Cushion Sole Comfort Shoes for men with tender feet; remarkable values. Purchase sale price— $2.50

DAN COHEN
INCORPORATED

COVINGTON, KY. Pike Street. Cohen Building.

NEWPORT, KY. Monmouth St., Between 9th and 8th.

You can't afford to miss Dr. J W. Porter's lecture at the court house the night of the 21st inst. Don't go if you haven't a handkerchief because you will cry before its over; if you don't like to laugh you had better stay at home for he gives you a chance to do both. Lecture given for the benefit of the Ladies' Mite Society. Admission, 25 cents.

In the last few months Stevens Bros., of Idlewild neighborhood, have lost 75 hogs of cholera, some of them being ready for market. They have on their farm six or seven sows which recovered from the disease. Their loss has been very heavy, and it will be some time before they can begin raising hogs on their farm with any security against the appearance of the cholera again.

Dr. H. H. Hays, of Bullittsville, entertained the Boone Co. Medical Society last Thursday night. Besides the members of the Society several of Dr. Hays' neighbors were present and enjoyed the exercises as well as the elaborate supper that was prepared especially for the occasion. The meeting was one of the best in the history of the organization and fully sustained Dr. Hays' reputation as one of the greatest entertainers in the county.

Thomas Blyth Dead.

Word was received here a few days since of the death of Thos. Blyth, at his home in Nebraska. He was 72 years old last April, and was the oldest child of the late Arthur and Sarah Blyth that lived to be grown, and was a brother of J. F. Blyth, Geo. Blyth and Mrs. Eliza Rouse, of Burlington; Harry Blyth, of Lawrenceburg, Ind.; Mrs. F. P. Walton, of Covington; James Blyth, of California, and Rev. David Blyth, of Seattle, Washington. The deceased was a native of Burlington, and went to Nebraska shortly after the close of the Civil war, through which he served, being among the first volunteers Boone Co. furnished the Union Army. He was a member of Capt. Foy's company in the Twenty-third Kentucky Infantry, and participated in numerous battles many of which were among the hardest fought during the rebellion and it is said of him that he was always ready to go to the front in an engagement. Mr. Blyth had been in bad health for many years. His wife died several years ago.

SPECIAL SALE
IN FALL and WINTER UNDERWEAR

CHILDRENS.	LADIES.	MEN'S
Infant's Cotton Fleeced Underwear, 1 to 6 10c & 15c each	Vests or Pants, first quality fine ribbed; all sizes; each..... 25c	50c Men's Ribbed Underwear, all sizes; each..... 39c
Children's Fine Knit Vests and Pants, size 2 to 12..... 25c	Vest or Pants, bleached or unbleached, very fine ribbed medium or heavy, each 49c	100 All Wool Fleece Wooltexter Shirtr or Drawers 69c
Children's Knit Union Suits size 1 to 12..... 25c	Extra Special; Ladies' 50c bleached, lisle fleeced underwear, heavy weight..... 39c	Extra Heavy Fleece or Ribbed Men's Shirts or Drawers; each..... 49c
Boys' or Misses' Fleeced Union Suits, fine ribbed, high neck, Long sleeeves; Size 2 to 14..... 49c	Ladies' Union Suits, $1.50 value, fine ribbed, all sizes..... 49c & 98c	Men's Heavy Weight Fleece or Ribbed Union Suits; $1.50 value..... 98c
Boys' Vests or Pants, heavy fleeced; Sizes 4 to 15..... 25c each	Ladies' Sweaters, double breasted, worth $1.50; all colors, all sizes..... 98c	Extra Special - Men's All-Wool Shirts or Drawers, Grey or Red: $1.50 value..... 98c
Infant's Sweaters, all colors, all sizes, with or without belt..... 49c	Boys' or Misses Sweaters, all wool, with collar, all colors; $1.50 value..... 98c	Men's Sweaters, all colors, with or without collars; special values- 49c, 98c, $1.45 and up

Come in and examine our complete stock of Dress Goods, Shoes, Hats, Clothing, Dresses, Underwear, Blankets, Comforts and Sweater Goods. We will save you money.

H. Schanker & Son
Cor. Lexington Pike & Garvey Ave. ERLANGER, KY.

Several have renewed their subscription and taken advantage of the Recorder's combination offer. Why not you? Read the offer advertised on another page. It is surely great. Don't delay taking advantage of it as it is liable to be withdrawn at any time. Procrastination is dangerous.

B. B. ALLPHIN
WITH THE
L. J. BUDDE & CO.
Live Stock Commission Merchants
Union Stock Yards, CINCINNATI. Phone W. 4296.

WeLead
The Grocery and Seed business and our 50 years success is due to Honest Advertising, giving Best Quality at Lowest Prices.

Thousands of Satisfied Customers WILL VOUCH FOR THIS. SEND YOUR ORDER.

Write For Prices, YOU'LL BE CONVINCED

For Better and Whiter Bread, Use

RARUS
BEST WINTER PATENT
GEO. W. HILL & CO.
COVINGTON, KY.

(THE PERFECT)
$5.25 Per Bbl
Freight Paid to your Station

Drink NOBETTER COFFEE
It's the Best on Earth.
Freight paid on 20 lbs or More.

BLEND COFFEE
A GOOD DRINK
20c Per Lb.

Best Granulated SUGAR
$4.50 Per 100 Lbs

25 lb. box Fancy California Evaporated Peaches
$2.00

POTATOES
ON TRACK.
WRITE FOR PRICES.

Tell Us What You Want. Write for Prices.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.
GROCERS & SEEDMEN,
27-29 Pike St. or 26 W. 7th,
Covington, Ky.

Established 1863.

RATIONAL SYSTEM OF STOCK FARMING FOR SOUTHERN STATES

Cultivated Fields Should Go Into Corn, Tobacco Or Cotton Not Oftener Than Once in Seven Years—More Stock Should Be Raised

(W. D. Nicholls, Dept. of Animal Husbandry, Kentucky State University.)

Three advanced registry cows in the herd of J. A. Stanley, Shelbyville, Ky. The wheat separator shown in the picture is owned by Mr. Stanley and is run by a gasoline engine. Notice the well made straw stacks.

On our best two hundred-acre farms of average rolling nature, thirty to thirty-five acres of corn is about all that is grown to advantage. Cultivated fields should go into corn, tobacco or cotton not oftener than once in five to seven years. It is frequently advantageous to allow fields of rougher nature to remain in grass indefinately, in all cases, when possible, the mower being run over the fields in late summer and the weeds cut down.

On many farms, when a market is available, milk in produced for retail or shipment, from a medium-sized herd of 15 to 20 cows, to advantage. In addition frequently a few heifers are raised each year, to keep up the herd, or a few steers, and sometimes a small flock of sheep, which are useful to keep the fields free from weeds and other undesirable plant growth. Thus is afforded a home means of converting grass, hay and corn fodder into salable products.

In many cases wheat, rye or barley are sown on corn stalk land and the grain is sold, a comfortable cash sum being realized; and the straw, carefully stacked, affords roughage for the stock during the winter season, and a liberal supply of bedding—an item of paramount importance on any well-appointed stock farm. A liberal supply of manure is made and saved, first attention being given to those spots on the "breaks of the slopes" where the land is "galled" or bare of grass. Such spots receive a liberal covering of manure also a light sprinkling of clover or grass seed, this frequently being the sweepings from the hay loft containing a large amount of grass seed. Such practice very soon results in the covering over of every inch of the soil with a heavy sod, the effect of which is to put into the soil a supply of humus, giving to it new life and vigor and yielding power. Numerous shinging examples of green and fertile pasture fields attest the value of such treatment.

In a great many cases the feeding of silage has largely superseded the feeding of shock fodder, as it enables the farmer to escape the daily hauling of fodder in cold winter, and also increases by a very considerable percentage the feeding value of the corn crop.

Such a system has been followed by the writer with complete success, both from the standpoint of a decidedly profitable business, and of building up a very badly worn farm to a high state of productiveness.

By far the greater part of the surface of our southern states is rolling or hilly. Farmers are beginning to realize that the too frequent cultivation of the land in crops such as corn and tobacco is detrimental to the land, causing soil washing and reduction of yields. Grass and live stock pay best on such soils. The south has the soil, climate and natural adaptability for becoming a great live stock section, and in the long run live stock will prove most profitable upon our farms. The light of medium crops secured from heavily cropped fields, tired and of sloping nature, do not pay. By the time the extra labor cost and the expense of getting the land back in grass again are taken into account, about all the profits from cultivated crops have been exhausted and all there is to show for the hard work expended upon such land is a badly depleted soil.

A Profitable Certified Dairy at Bloomfield, Ky.

After the bare places are dressed over, the main manure supply goes to those other parts of the farm where it is most needed. A thin coating on grass or clover and meadow shows splendid results, and if placed on wheat or rye which has been seeded or is to be seeded to clover or grass, profitable results are always secured. Such fields never give room for complaint of clover sickness of the soil or poor grass stands. When the straw stack has been pretty well spent the remainder is scattered on the land. Land thus treated yields from 40 to 60 bushels more of corn to the acre, and the fine lot of corn produced is fed to horses, mules and other live stock, best of all-to hogs. The latter, besides furnishing the season's meat supply for the farm, adds a very important item to the farmer's receipts. A colt or two is raised each year and also adds to the farm income.

The corn stover is hauled out daily and scattered upon the grass pastures to be eaten by the stock, or is fed in the barn yard. In the latter case there is afforded a fine lot of prime manure to go upon the fields in the spring.

On many stock farms cattle, mules, sheep or hogs may predominate, cows being kept for furnishing dairy products for home use.

A system of stock farming may be made to go hand in hand with a moderate acreage of cotton or tobacco. In fact, in many cases such a combination will prove most profitable, and is to be advised.

Every community affords a few shining examples of such a thrifty system of stock farming as is here outlined. Prosperity has followed such methods. Substantial barns, large silos of wood or concrete are in evidence, and convenient, attractive and well-appointed country homes, equipped with modern conveniences, with up-to-date water supply, heating and lighting systems, come up as a reward for earnest and effective endeavor in this line. Farmers who practice such a system are the men who stand at the top in financial, social, religious and educational matters in their communities. Such men, practically all owners of their own farms, constitute the most conservative and substantial citizenship to be found in the nation.

For worms or other parasites living free in the stomach or intestines, apparently careful experimental work has shown good results by the use of low-grade tobacco leaves, sometimes called "tobacco trash," writes Dr. Reynolds. This should be chopped up fine; mixed with an equal amount of salt and kept constantly before the sheep.

In Japan an average of three tons of fertilizer per acre is applied to the land.

M-O-O-R-E-'S Spells Stove Satisfaction

When Moore's Stoves heat your home, you'll forget you ever had stove troubles of any kind. They're dependable—always. Better still—they're wonderful fuel-savers.

Moore's Air-Tight Heater

Furnace would be a better name—for it works like a hot-air furnace—circulates air instead of merely radiating it like a common stove. Cold air comes in from below, passes over the hot surface of the egg shaped dome and comes out through the beautifully nickeled open work shell in a constant stream. Dust Flue carries all dust up the chimney—none can escape to soil carpets and walls. Air-Tight Draft Control forces fire quick when you want heat—checks it in a minute if you wish, or holds a "slow" fire for 24 to 48 hours. You owe it to yourself to see this stove before you buy—also the rest of Moore's line. And remember—Moore's stoves chop your fuel bills in two.

Moore's Range
With the Glass Oven Door
Will prove a revelation of convenience and economy to you. Saves work—saves fuel—will make you a better cook. Ask to see it.

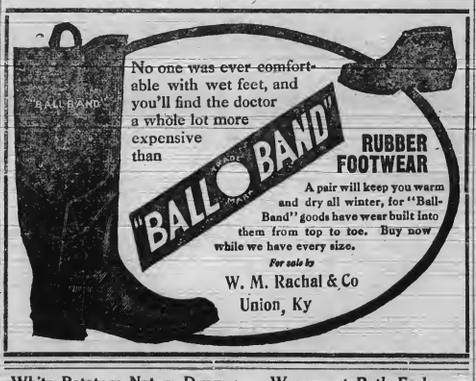
CROUCH & ROUSE
ERLANGER, KENTUCKY

Look Here!

The Best Offer Ever.

The Boone County Recorder.....
The Weekly Enquirer,.....
Farm & Fireside, semi-monthly....
Poultry Success, monthly .....
Woman's World, monthly.....
Farm News, monthly.....

All One Year For
$2.10



By Ordering the above separately the cost would be $4.25 for the Six Publications each one year.

This Big Proposition

is open to all New Subscribers to The Recorder and to those whose renewals will extend into 1914.

Those who have renewed up to or beyond Jany. 1, 1914 will be given the benefit of the above combination by sending to this office Sixty Cents.

Now is the time to secure your reading matter for the long winter nights coming on. Grasp this Opportunity.

No one was ever comfortable with wet feet, and you'll find the doctor a whole lot more expensive than

"BALL BAND" RUBBER FOOTWEAR

A pair will keep you warm and dry all winter, for "Ball-Band" goods have wear built into them from top to toe. Buy now while we have every size.

For sale by
W. M. Rachal & Co
Union, Ky

White Potatoes Not a Drug.

White potatoes will not be a drug on the market this year, consumers need not fear that there will not be enough to meet demands. In a special report on the potato outlook, L. C. Corbett of the Department of Agriculture, declared that while the total harvest will be less than last year it will be sufficient to supply normal needs.

The shrinkage in this year's crop is ascribed to the heavy hold over crop from last season the low prices and the general demoralization of the potato trade last autumn which caused a reduction in acreage.

Indications are that Maine will produce the largest crop ever recorded, while Michigan, Wisconsin and North Dakota will harvest a normal crop. The yield in Massachusetts, Minnesota, New York and Ohio promise to be light. The average condition of the crop is 10 per cent below the ten-year average, but about 10 per cent above the condition for the same season in 1911.—Ex.

Ambrose Dick, living four miles northeast of the city, caught a bald eagle the other day. It was about eight years old and measured seven feet from tip to tip.—Mayfield Messenger.

Wrongs at Both Ends.

The Flemingsburg Gazette has the following in regard to the action taken by the Harrison county farmers to have the dogs listed more completely: "The sheep growers have taken action toward having the dogs of that county more completely listed for taxation. They claim that not over one third of the dogs are listed and that the assessors are derelict in assessing them. To some extent at least it is safe to say that this also prevails in other counties in the state and if all dogs were listed there would be ample funds to pay the sheep loss and some to go to the school fund. But if the sheep growers of Harrison county will go further with their investigation they will find other faults and abuses in connection with the dog and sheep law not on the side of the dog owners altogether. Many sheep claims are padded and losses over appraised which to some extent accounts for a shortage in funds to reimburse sheep owners for losses. The sheep end of the law ought to be looked into as well as the dog end and when all the deficiencies and abuses are corrected all will be well.—Ex.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

Which Shall Wife Wash?

Which cream separator bowl does the wife prefer to wash?

On the left are four styles of common "bucket bowls" used in ordinary cream separators. On the right is a light, simple, sanitary Sharples Dairy Tubular bowl of the same capacity—used only in Sharples Tubular Separators.

These illustrations were made from actual photographs. Notice the weights—count the pieces. The Sharples Tubular bowl contains but one piece, and that piece is smooth, instantly removable and about the size and shape of a napkin ring. The Tubular bowl can easily be perfectly cleaned in three minutes.

Yet makers of "bucket bowls"—barred by patents from making or using Tubular bowls—say "bucket bowls" are as easy to clean, and wear as long, as Tubular bowls.

Take another look at the picture. Show it to your wife. Which had she rather wash? Which do you think will wear the longest. We sell Sharples Tubular—the finest cream separators and surest money makers made. Bring your wife and look at one.

QUIGLEY & BEEMON
LIMABURG, KY.

Diamond Brand
Peters
"ALL-FOR-WEAR"
THE BEST WORK SHOE IN THE WORLD

FOR SALE BY
W. M. RACHAL & CO.
UNION, KENTUCKY.

H. G. BLANTON,
Funeral Director & Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.

First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.
I Have a Nice White Funeral Car and Ambulance,

Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.
Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,

Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.

Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.

Office and Wareroom:
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
IRA POPE Agent, - - Grant, Ky

J. L. HAMILTON
(Successor to M. T. WILSON)

FUNERAL DIRECTOR,
Verona, Ky.

Telephone calls day or night given prompt attention. Mrs. M. T. Wilson is my assistant and solicits the patronage of the friends of her late husband. dec-1 12

WANTED

Man and family to take charge of farm on the Bellevue pike about 1½ miles from Burlington, Ky. Good house, cow and chickens furnished—must state salary expected. Address this office.

A Splendid Clubbing Bargain
WE OFFER
The Boone Co. Recorder
AND
The Cincinnati Weekly Enquirer
Both One Year For Only $1.85
Subscriptions may be new or renewal.

What the Weekly Enquirer Is.

It is issued every Thursday, subscription price $1 per year, and it is one of the best home metropolitan weeklies of to-day. It has all the facilities of the great DAILY ENQUIRER for obtaining the world's events, and for that reason can give you all the leading news. It carries a great amount of valuable farm matter, crisp editorials and reliable up-to-date market reports. Its numerous departments make it a home farm or business man.

This grand offer is limited and we advise you to take advantage by subscribing for the above combination right now. Call or mail orders to
BOONE CO. RECORDER,
Burlington, Ky.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.

Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

CHAS. E. GARNETT.
AUCTIONEER.
Will go to any part of the county Address.
R. D. 2, Ludlow, Ky.

Subscribe for Your County Paper.

FIRST PIECE OF HIDDENITE

Discovered by Professor Stephenson But Credit and Name Goes to Another Man.

At the time the first piece of hiddenite was discovered I was rooming with the late Prof. A. D. Stephenson, who was well known to almost all of the mineralogists of that day and had sent many specimens to Professor Dana, Doctor Smith and others. Professor Stephenson then spent much of his time in the country collecting minerals and when on one of these trips found the first specimens of hiddenite ever found. He showed it to me when he came home and told me it was something new. Soon after that Professor Hidden called at our place to see Professor Stephenson, who at that time showed it to him. Professor Hidden asked Professor Stephenson to go with him and show him where it was found, which Professor Stephenson agreed to do, and the next day took him to the place, and on Professor Hidden's returning north he borrowed from Professor Stephenson this first specimen found to take back north with him to have it examined, and while he had it he sent it to Dr. J. Laurance Smith (I think then of Louisville, Ky.) for examination, and not telling Doctor Smith it was found by Professor Stephenson, Doctor Smith finding it a new mineral, wrote Professor Hidden it being a new mineral and he being the finder he would suggest he call it hiddenite. Hence the name. Some time after that Professor Hidden went to the place where the specimen was found, bought the land and mined for the new gems.

After Professor Stephenson had made several requests of Professor Hidden to return the first specimen to him he finally got it, and it was kept in his collection until he sold to the state quite a large collection of North Carolina minerals, and with them this the first discovered gem, "hiddenite," which is now in the state's collection in the city of Raleigh. Being very intimate with Professor Stephenson and being present when he showed Professor Hidden this first specimen found, and hearing the conversation about it and knowing all about Professor Stephenson loaning it to Professor Hidden to take north for examination, I feel it is nothing but justice to Professor Stephenson, to the state and to the general public, that the full facts should be stated in order that the history of this discovery of hiddenite should be kept straight.—R. K. Murdock, in the Charlotte Observer.

WIT OF BURTON HARRISON

How It Was Exercised Brilliantly to Delight of Guests He Was Entertaining.

Francis Burton Harrison, the new governor general of the Philippines has a gift of repartee which, in his entertainments in his beautiful Fifth avenue house, he exercises brilliantly.

At one of Mr. Harrison's dinners a group of "professional reformers," came up for discussion.

"Well," remarked a Bostonian, "as Longfellow says, we knock nor are knocked in this world—we must all of us be either hammer or anvil in this world, to use the precise words of the poet."

"We must all be either hammer or anvil, eh?" said Mr. Burton Harrison. "But how about the bellows?"

Origin of Life Again.

Others besides Dr. Bastian have been working upon the question of the origin of life. At the meeting of the British Association Dr. Benjamin Moore of Liverpool made the claim that strong sunlight or the light from a mercury lamp acting upon certain solutions can convert the lifeless into living matter.

Sir Oliver Lodge objected that the investigator had only succeeded in securing potential living matter, a physical and chemical vehicle which could be made use of by life.

Most of the specialists dealing with chemical reactions deceive themselves in just this way, mistaking the appearance of life for life itself.

What Women Are Doing.

Women make the best military spies, but love sometimes upsets their plans.

All German states now appoint women as factory and other inspectors.

Three thousand Kansas women, members of social study clubs in more than 100 hundred towns of the state, are going to devote the entire study year this season to food and drugs, public health and sanitation.

A tablet in the hall of a new lodging house for women in London refers to the fact that the building is erected in honor of Mary Victoria, wife of Lord Curson, who was Mary Leiter of Chicago before her marriage.

Girl's Swimming Feat.

Miss Nora Cochrane, an East Cowes young lady, eighteen years of age, has succeeded in swimming across the Solent from Lepe, on the Hampshire coast, to Egypt Point, at Cowes, which is just under four miles, in one hour twenty-eight minutes.

She had no refreshment on the way, and was not exhausted by her effort. The young lady, who is on the teaching staff of the Council schools at East Cowes, holds the certificate of the Royal Life-Saving society.—London Mail.

James Whitcomb's Penalty.

How'd you like to be Mr. Riley and have a million amateur poems read to you?—Indianapolis Star.

NOTES FROM MEADOWBROOK FARM

by William Pitt

Clean up the garden.

• • •

Spread the manure daily.

• • •

The horse is still on the job.

• • •

Clean up the strawberry bed.

• • •

It takes 30 days to hatch a setting of goose eggs.

• • •

Stop at the top of the hill and let your horse get breath.

• • •

Give an ailing animal a change of diet. An ailing man, also.

• • •

Cool the milk as soon as it is out of the cow. This is very important.

• • •

Prune and burn all the diseased limbs and fruits clinging to the fruit trees.

• • •

Keeping two cows to do the work of one is the cause of many losses in dairying.

• • •

Charcoal in pieces the size of a pea or burnt cork once a week is good for all poultry.

• • •

One advantage in keeping poultry is that they eat much that would otherwise be wasted.

• • •

To thrive best the young pigs must have dry nests and the bedding should be changed frequently.

• • •

The man who fails to profit by his mistakes is losing one of the best lessons taught by experience.

• • •

Poultry makes good insect destroyers for orchards. Have the runs extend into the orchards when possible.

• • •

Don't disappoint your customers. Keep your promises and don't make promises unless you know you can fulfill them.

• • •

A good mixture for growing calves is five parts rolled oats, three parts wheat bran, one part corn meal and one part oil meal.

• • •

Sheep manure is one of the best farm manures. It contains a large percentage of nitrogen and a portion of phosphoric acid and potash.

• • •

It is much easier to run a flock of poultry down than to build it up, and nothing will run down a flock of chickens quicker than improper feeding.

• • •

For the production of sanitary milk the dairyman must have healthy cows, a sanitary barn, clean bedding, dust-free air, a clean barnyard and clean cows.

• • •

An acre of alfalfa will furnish more high class protein feed than almost any other crop that is grown in the sections where dairying is followed to the best advantage.

• • •

Provide ample roosting places for the growing young stock. Beware of crowding. Nothing is so conducive to colds as the overheating that comes of crowded quarters.

• • •

There is a good market for all kinds of feathers. Pick fowls dry and sort feathers, the coarse from the fine. They can easily be preserved until enough are collected to take to market.

• • •

While coarse manure hauled out and spread in the spring may not greatly benefit the crop of that year it is better hauled out at any time than left to leach and burn in the barn yard.

• • •

Machinery is necessary on the farm and cheaper than hand labor, and it is also more efficient in many cases. The farmer must have considerable money tied up in his machinery and therefore it is necessary to give it the very best of care, both when in use and when stored.

• • •

In selecting the bulls to head the herd or buying any stock to put in the herd, ancestry is of as much importance as individuality, but both must be considered. It is wrong to take a poor individual because of ancestry and it is also wrong to take a good individual that does not have any ancestry.

• • •

Raise your own teams and one occasionally for your neighbor. So long as men use improved implements they will continue to use good teams. And the best way to have an efficient team on your own farm is to raise colts for this purpose.

• • •

If your poultry houses are old, after thoroughly patching them up, give them a thorough coating of strong whitewash containing kerosene oil and some carbolic acid. Give nest boxes, roosts and dropping boards their full share of it.

Cull out the old hens.

• • •

Furnish sand to the ducks.

• • •

Keep the milk cool and clean.

• • •

Keep up the war on poultry lice.

• • •

Always scald the churn out well before churning.

• • •

About fifteen different breeds of sheep are now recognized.

• • •

Don't be afraid of getting the soil around the asparagus too rich.

• • •

Sheep do not drink much water, but what little they drink must be clean.

• • •

A lamb that is large and strong will stand weaning better, and also winter better.

• • •

There are few crops grown in the garden that cannot be followed by later crops.

• • •

The calf that has a dainty appetite is very apt to develop into a cow with a similar habit.

• • •

Sheep are a persistent agency of improvement to the soil of the farms on which they are kept.

• • •

What is the use of struggling along with sugar beets when good old alfalfa is the better crop?

• • •

There is much risk and little to gain in breeding heifers to calve while under twenty-eight months old.

• • •

The indifferent farmer is the one who is always most slow and careless when it comes to working the road.

• • •

This is a good time to begin teaching young stock to roost indoors, if they haven't been in the habit of doing so before.

• • •

Color of the egg shell has nothing to do with the flavor of the eggs as it is influenced by the food and the surroundings.

• • •

It is poor policy to change the quarters of hens or pullets while laying, for it usually checks or stops egg production.

• • •

The sooner the chicks' night quarters are made rat-proof the better. There is nothing to gain by running risks with rats.

• • •

As the weather grows cooler more corn and kafir can be added to the ration, but it is a bad practice to feed these grains exclusively.

• • •

Don't forget the sand for ducks. Besides a visible supply handy at all times, their morning and night mash should always contain some.

• • •

Do not throw out the sour milk; give it to the chicks; it's a valuable food for them and much relished. Skimmilk or buttermilk is also good.

• • •

To prevent the further spread of apple scab a second application of lime sulphur diluted one gallon to forty gallons of water should be made.

• • •

Parsnips and carrots are much better if allowed to remain in the ground until the weather freezes. Cover them with manure and they can be dug up at any time.

• • •

The young stock on the farm, especially the calves that are stunted in their early growth, are seldom as well developed as those that grow from the very beginning.

• • •

Many growers do not know the value of humus; they are satisfied with their soil. Humus is the life of your land. Add vegetable matter to your soil whenever you can.

• • •

The prosperity of any agricultural community is dependent largely upon the character of the soil, as well as upon the climate, market facilities, character of the people, and other factors.

• • •

Never has the summer silo been more valuable than it has this season. Such a year ought to convince every dairy farmer that he needs just such provision as this against possible shortage of feed.

• • •

The Maine Experiment station tonic for fowls is as follows: Pulverized gentian, one pound; pulverized ginger, one-quarter pound; pulverized saltpeter, one-quarter pound; iron sulphate, one-half pound. Mix thoroughly, and use two or three tablespoonfuls in ten parts of dry mash.

• • •

Charcoal is a pressing essential for poultry. Instead of buying it, rake up some old chunks of wood, cobs and other refuse about the place, setting fire to them. When the heap turns to a mass of hot coals, smother it down with a little water or dirt, and when it cools, you will have a handy supply of charcoal and be rid of the rubbish.

• • •

The decrease of the lumber supply has resulted in a steady advance of prices, so that the growing cost of building has become a serious problem on the farm. This question may be greatly simplified by a study of the use of concrete.

• • •

Damaged foods, such as moldy grains, old musty beef scraps, decayed vegetable matter, tainted meat, green cut bones, and improperly cured alfalfa are the common causes of a large percentage of the diseases affecting poultry.

AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION.

Care of Farm Machinery.

The first step in the proper care of farm machinery is to keep it in proper adjustment. As a rule new machinery is in fair adjustment and needs little attention in this respect, but it is often sticky and otherwise unsatisfactory in its action on account of the manner in which it was painted at the factory. By cleaning out the oil holes and applying a few drops of kerosene, this difficulty may usually be overcome. It is wise to run new machinery "light"; that is, with its moving parts in action but without a load of any sort, until it is well limbered up. This will put the machine in running order without undue strain and gives an opportunity for adjustment if it should be found necessary.

Machines which have been in use some time should be put in proper adjustment when they receive their periodical over hauling, and should be given careful attention in this respect during the entire time they are in operation. Cleanliness is as important with farm machinery as with any other class of machinery. Dirt and poor service seem to go hand in hand, and dirty farm machinery cannot be expected to give its full efficiency because dirt upon metal absorbs moisture which attacks the metal and in time seriously injures it. Also, dirt in the bearings even in small quantity, destroys them by grinding and cutting, and in large quantities may even choke the action of the moving parts. Again, dirt does not add to the appearance of farm machinery in any way, and may at times even get into the eyes of the operator. Therefore the second step in the care of farm machinery is to keep it as clean as conditions will permit. An old broom will be found useful for cleaning, also a handful of waste or soft rags and a squirt oil can filled with kerosene. If possible, the machine should be thoroughly cleaned when the season's work is completed, and during the process carefully examined for worn or broken parts, which should be marked in some conspicuous way and noted in a list of repairs which are to be purchased later for the farm equipment. It seems hardly necessary to say that the machines should be stored when not in use, in a dry place, which means dry underneath as well as overhead. Some system should be used in storage so that those machines which are frequently used can be easily gotten at. All bright metal parts should be coated with either hard oil or axle grease or a compound composed of equal parts of lard and white lead.

That part of the farm equipment which is made wholly or partially of wood will require especial attention in the way of painting, since wood absorbs moisture readily and rots rapidly. It is a well known fact among country blacksmiths that those farmers who keep their wagons well painted have occasion to have them repaired less frequently than those who neglect to give them this attention. Especially is it desirable to give the wagon felloes a thorough soaking in oil. Wheels so treated are not apt to require the customary cutting in dry seasons because there will be little expansion and contraction of the wood with the varying moisture conditions of different seasons.

Sometimes considerable difficulty is experienced in securing the necessary repairs for farm machinery and valuable equipment is discarded because the owner is unable to locate the manufacturer of the particular piece needs. Local dealers can nearly always render great assistance at such times of difficulty. If they are not able or willing to give this assistance, then an appeal should be made to the State Agricultural College, which is usually in a position to supply information in regard to such matters and is always glad to give advice and assistance in connection with any problems in farm equipment.

J. A. FARRA,
Assistant Professor of Farm Mechanics, College of Agriculture, Lexington, Ky.

Let the Boys Help.

Why is it that boys are allowed to sit in the house doing nothing while their over-worked mother is struggling against nature and fate to do about half the work waiting for her hands? Only the other day we saw three large able-bodied boys, lounging about the house, not knowing what to do with themselves, while mother, alone, tired and pale, was trying to do the work for a large family and company. Not a boy to help about the house? Why not? Is there anything about washing dishes that will injure him? or about making the beds or sweeping or setting the table or washing or ironing, or cooking a plain meal of victuals? On the contrary, there is too much to benefit him in such work, the most important of which is to gain the idea that it is not manly to let the weaker "vessel" carry all the burdens, when it is possible for strong hands to work. Most boys would gladly help in the house if they were asked to do so, and were taught how to do the work properly. Many a smart boy wants to help his tired mother, but he doesn't know how, beyond bringing in wood and water. This done, she tells him to go and play while she plods wearily on. Not a boy's work? For shame! It is positive harm to his moral character to allow him to think it is right to be idle, while his mother is struggling under her burdens. Let the boys help, and those who can't get help "for love or money" will see their troubles disappear.—Ex.

GO THERE

AND SAVE THE DIFFERENCE

When you want a Davenport, Parlor Suit, Couch Rocker, Morris Chairs, Dining Room Chairs.

Fred W. Bremenkamp

Manufacturer of

Upholstered Furniture

Factory and Sample Room

157 PIKE STREET,

COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

We Also Do Repairing and Refinishing.

IF YOU WANT A GOOD

AUTOMOBILE

—CALL ON—

B. B. HUME, Burlington.

FOR 1913 MODEL FORD

5 Passenger Car, $570. 2 Passenger Car, $520

These prices are for fall delivery complete and delivered at your door. If desired a man will be furnished without charge to teach you how to operate your car.

—ALSO AGENT FOR THE—

Oakland, Roadster, $1,150 Touring Car, $1,200 Fully Equipped

SCOTT CHAMBERS,

WALTON, KY.

Embalmer & Funeral Director,

LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.

First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.

Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.

Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

Believe Me.

By trading at Thomann's you can save the Middleman's profit on Harness, Trunks and Blankets.

Wm. Thomann,

56 Pike Street,

Covington, Ky.

WALTON GARAGE

C. S. Vallandingham, Prop.

Walton, Ky.

Repairing and Vulcanizing a Specialty.

Repairs and Fixtures.

Telephone Calls Given Prompt Attention.

NOTICE.

Persons indebted to the estate of Noah Clore, deceased, are notified to come forward and settle, and those having claims against same must present the same to the undersigned proven as by law required.

Mrs. Mollie Clore,
Mrs. Effie Nichols.

Counting Uncle Sam's Money.

New York, Oct. 30.—About 84 tons of gold which lies in the United States Subtreasury in Wall street, guarded night and day by a small army of watchmen and a battery of machine guns, is being counted by nine men sent over from the Treasury Department at Washington.

Between 2,500 and 3,000 tons of silver also is being counted, as well as several million dollars in bills and a few tons of nickels and coppers.

The task will keep nine skilled men busy for three weeks. At the end of that time they are expected to inform Martin Vogel, Assistant United States Treasurer, in charge of the New York Subtreasury, that he has $171,103,280 12 of Government funds in his keeping.

If they should report one dollar more or less than this amount there would be no rest until the cause of the discrepancy is discovered.

Vogel took office on Monday and became responsible for the money in the vaults. He is under $600,000 bonds and will be required to give a receipt for the money on hand.

Personally, we know very little about zoology, but it has always seemed to us that roaring must be a great relief to a lion.

NOW HER FRIENDS HARDLY KNOW HER

But This Does Not Bother Mrs. Burton, Under the Circumstances.

Houston, Texas.—In an interesting letter from this city, Mrs. S. C. Burton writes as follows: "I think it is my duty to tell you what your medicine, Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done for me.

I was down sick with womanly trouble, and my mother advised several different treatments, but they didn't seem to do me any good. I lingered along for three or four months, and for three weeks, I was in bed, so sick I couldn't bear for any one to walk across the floor.

My husband advised me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic. I have taken two bottles of Cardui, am feeling fine, gained 15 pounds and do all of my housework. Friends hardly know me, I am so well."

If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, don't allow the trouble to become chronic. Begin taking Cardui to-day. It is purely vegetable, its ingredients acting in a gentle, natural way on the weakened womanly constitution. You run no risk in trying Cardui. It has been helping weak women back to health and strength for more than 50 years. It will help you. At all dealers.

Write to: Chattanooga Medicine Co., Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions on your case and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper. E66-B

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

BOONE CO. RECORDER
W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

AGRICULTUBAL EXTENSION.

A Promise of Relief From The Injuries of The Destructive San Jose Scale.

For a number of years the destruction and threats of destruction by this imported pest have hung like a pall over the fruit growing and nursery business of this country, discouraging and thwarting, increasing expense and reducing profits until the very name of San Jose scale has become a sort of nightmare to the men who produce fruit for the market. In spite of all that has been done to prevent, this scale has spread steadily, and has now completely occupied about all of the best fruit growing territory of the United States. Fruit growers have never had to deal with a pest so difficult to suppress and so generally and constantly destructive to all deciduous tree fruits since fruit growing became a business in America.

A beam of light is thrown on this somewhat gloomy situation by the appearance recently of small insect parasites that bid fair to check the injuries of San Jose scale and to render the work of keeping orchards and nurseries in good condition much less difficult. These parasites have been reared during the past summer in numbers in the Division of Entomology and Botany of the Kentucky Experiment Station at Lexington. This new friend is a mere yellow speck, hardly recognizable as an insect except by its movements, yet is a highly organized, four-winged fly, belonging to the same group of insects as the honey bee. Its young a small white grub, lives within the bodies of the scale insect, and numbers of the scales from trees about Lexington, Barbourville, Pineville, and elsewhere in Eastern Kentucky, may be seen to have a round hole in the back thru which the mature parasite has emerged. Trees recently thickly covered with scale and apparently doomed, have shown a decided relief from the injury this season as a result of the beneficent work of these small flies.

At the request of the Illinois State Entomologist a package of the parasites has just been sent to that State with a view of establishing the parasite there. Eventually it is hoped it can be made to occupy all of the region invaded by the scale.

Several other enemies of the scale are under observation at the Station, one of them, the grub of a small black lady beetle having done on some trees as good work in reducing the scale as its minute associate. An effort will be made later to distribute these insects to sections of the State where they are not now present. H. GERMAN,

Entomologist and Botanist, Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.

1913.

In the winter and spring of 1913 the Ohio River reached the flood stage twice. The summer of 1913 was the driest within the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

In the late summer and early autumn "stock water" was so scarce in Kentucky that many farmers rushed their cattle to market to get them off of the farm alive. Old oaken buckets sat idle at wells of hitherto unblemished reputation as good providers until the moss covered staves gaped and fell off.

The music of brooks that had "filted under rock and vine" through many a stifling summer was stilled. Pasture lands parched and the lowing herds of milch cows wound slowly over the lea to little purpose insofar as dairymen were concerned. The sun scorched the green out of the tender blades of the corn and land that is fertile when not too thirsty returned a meagre harvest of "nubbins." Field and forest burned like tinder where sparks fell from passing locomotives or matches were carelessly dropped by wayfarers. September beat and drouth well nigh matched that of August. Empty creek beds that had yawned beneath withering willows split under the sun's blistering blaze and the lips of the cracked earth cupped skywards as if dumbly beseeching the heavens for moisture. The few rains that fell in response passed into the soil "like snow upon the desert's dusty face," leaving no trace. Springs that had survived the summer gasped at midday and sent forth slender sparkling streams under the moonbeams to greet the dew. Candle moths summering in sylvan homes safe from the lure of the flame succumbed to a deadlier scorching and fell with outstretched pinions into the litter of leaves that had curled, browned and fallen without a touch of frost.

October brought chilly winds and chillier rains, dull gray skies, flurries of snow, news of storms and of vessels wrecked at sea. The smoky haze of a normal October, the mellow, mildly melancholy days "like friendship after love," were dropped from the calendar and their place filled by soggy miserable cheerless weather fit for furs and fires. The customarily glorious panorama of the passing of the foliage was blurred under dripping clouds. Scarlet sweetgum and tawny beech bowed their heads to the blast and scattered their leaves upon deserted woodland pathways down which in other autumns strayed happy wanderers.

And there is still a sixth of 1913 yet to come!—Courier-Journal.

Boone Wants Good Roads.

The vote in favor of "free turnpikes and gravel roads" in this county last Tuesday was a decisive victory for the "good roads people," every precinct in the county except four—Petersburg, Bullittsville, Constance and Florence—voting in favor of "free turnpikes and gravel roads." The vote by precincts is as follows:

	Yes.	No.
Burlington	130	51
Belleview	65	16
Big Bone	81	21
Bullittsville	61	61
Beaver	50	30
Verona	79	35
Constance	56	63
Florence	96	135
Rabbit Hash	78	96
Petersburg	54	85
Walton	127	61
Union	93	58
Total	884	650
Majority	244

For Sheriff of Kenton county Allison beat Joe Pugh about 400 votes.

Speigle, Republican, beat Hunt, Democrat, for Mayor of Cincinnati.

The Democrats were generally successfull at the polls, Tuesday.

New Jersey, Massachusetts and Virginia elect Democratic Governors. Tammany beaten in New York City by the Fusionist.

About 1,750 votes polled in this county last Tuesday.

Bryan on Immorality.

Here are a few selections from one of William Jennings Bryan's lectures on "Immortality." He says:

Christ gave us proof of immortality, and yet it would hardly seem necessary that one should rise from the dead to convince us that the grave is not the end. To every created thing God has given a tongue that proclaims a resurrection. If the Father designs to touch with divine power the cold and pulseless heart of the buried acorn, and to make it burst forth from its prison walls, will He leave neglected in the tomb the soul of man made in the image of his Creator? If He stoops to give to the rosebush whose withered blossoms float upon the autumn breeze the sweet assurance of another spring time, He refuse the words of hope to the sons of men when the frosts of winter come? If matter mute and inanimate tho changed by the forces of nature into multitude of forms can never die will the spirit of man suffer annihilation when it has paid a brief visit like a royal guest to its tenement of clay? No, I am as sure that there is another life as I am that I live today.

In Cairo, I secured a few grains of wheat that had slumbered for more than three thousand years in an Egyptian tomb. As I looked at them, that thought came into my mind, if one of those grains had been planted upon the banks of the Nile, the year after it grew and all its lineal descendents planted and replanted from that time until now, its progeny would today be sufficiently numerous to feed the teeming millions of the world.

There is in the grain of wheat an invisible something which has power to destroy the body, that we see, and from earth and air fashion a new body so much like the old one, that we cannot tell the one from the other. And if the invisible germ of life in the grain of wheat can thus pass unimpaired through three thousand resurrections, I shall not doubt that my soul has power to clothe itself with a new body suited to its new existence when this earthly frame has crumbled into dust.

Uncle Sam Takes a Hand.

The new federal regulations for the protection of migratory birds became effective November 1 and are of interest to local duck hunters. Species of wild duck and other birds found in this vicinity at certain times of the year are included in the list of those protected.

A Washington dispatch says:

Following the proclamation of the President of the United States establishing regulations for the protection of migratory birds, the department of agriculture has set in motion machinery to make these regulations effective in every state on November 1, the date set for the operation of the proclamation. These regulations put under federal protection for the first time, a large number of migratory game and insectivorous birds and thus places federal restrictions on the five million hunters of the United States. In enforcing these regulations federal authorities will cooperate with state game commissioners and other state authorities in carrying out the provisions of the law and to prevent complications in the local enforcement of the regulations.

The states have been grouped into thirteen units or districts, each in charge of an inspector. Several of these positions in the west will be filled temporarily by regular experienced employes of the department. The work of organizing will probably be begun in the middle states, the northwest and the Pacific coast. The department expects to have the assistance of the game commission deputies in the states as well as the public generally and the sportsmen in particular who are interested in the success of the new law.

Among the birds protected by the regulations are the brandt, wild duck, goose, swan, cranes of various species, rail, several kinds of shore birds, pigeon, dove, wild pigeon, bobolink, catbird, chickadee, cuckoo, flicker, flycatcher, grosbeak, humming bird, kinglet, martin, meadow lark, night hawk, nuthatches, oriole, robin, shrike, swallow, swift, thrush, warbler, whippoorwill, a woodpecker and wren.

Rural Carriers Busy.

Rural mail carriers have been notified by the postoffice department to tabulate during the next three months the number of pieces of mail going thru their hands during the months of October, November and December. This is done to keep exact tab upon the growth of this department. This order includes parcel post business and otherwise, and will have much to do with extension of the service. Many other features are contemplated, but these cannot be undertaken until it is ascertained whether the business transacted justifies. In the meantime rural carriers will be very busy booming business along routes.

For Sale—15 or 21 dozen bundles wheat oats. Apply to L. S. Beemon, Limaburg.

A. M. EDWARDS
WALTON, KY.
-DEALER IN-
The Best Quality Coal
—THE CELEBRATED—
Campbell's Creek and Pluto Cannel Coal.

JUST ARRIVED! Car load of Buggies which we are selling cheap with guarantee. Buggies Re-rubbered guaranteed, $12.00.

Complete Livery Stable. Funeral Director. All calls answered at any time by Auto.
Also Dealer in Real Estate A. M. EDWARDS, Walton, Ky.

GOOD & DUNKIE

Now the largest house in Covington. The cheapest and best place to buy Groceries, Flour, Seeds and Medicines.

Don't overlook us when you want anything in our line. Write us for prices. We can save you money.

NEW CLOVER SEED.
NEW ALFALFA.
NEW TIMOTHY.
NEW KY. BLUE GRASS.

ARCADE FLOUR has doubled our flour trade in Covington in 12 months. The best on earth. Barrel..... $5.50
Freight Paid to Your Station.

GOLDEN BLEND COFFEE Pleases where others fail. Per Pound..... 25c

California Asparagus Tips, can.....11c
New Hominy, 2 lbs..... 5c
Ohio Sugar Corn, can... 5c
Wisconsin Peas, 3 cans..25c
Sweet Pickles, 3 doz....25c
Best Pink Salmon, 3 cans25c
Best Lump Starch, lb... 4c
New Rolled Oats, 3 lbs..10c
Babbitts Lye, 3 cans....25c
Gee-Whiz Coffee, lb....20c
New York Cream Cheese Pound.....20c
Jell-O, three pkgs.....25c
Mince Meat, lb.....10c
California Peaches, can.15c
New Navy Beans, qt....10c Peck.....70c
Fels Naptha, P. & G. Ivory Soap..... 4c
Magic White Soap 6 for.25c

GOODE & DUNKIE,
19 & 21 Pike St., and 18 & 20 W. 7th St.,
Govington, - Kentncky.

The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO.
Erlanger, Ky.
Has come to stay and is ready for business and will keep on hand at all times a good supply of
Raymond City and Plymouth Coal
in yard and on car at the Lowest Prices Possible, and guarantee 80 lbs. to the bushel. Will also handle Canuel Coal, Kentucky Simi-Candle and Worley Block, and Peidmont strictly blacksmithing Coal.
Your patronage solicited.
The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO
Erlanger, Kentucky.

Grasselli LIME SULPHUR SOLUTION
ORCHARD INSURANCE
Against Scale Insects.
Spray in the Fall—(after leaves have fallen) with GRASSELLI LIME-SULPHUR SOLUTION
For the Following Reasons:
First—The ground is in better condition for moving spray machinery, as it is often soft and mushy in the spring.
Second—The scale insects are more susceptible to the Lime-Sulphur Solution in the fall, as the waxy covering is soft. This covering hardens during the winter months.
Third—There is not so much work crowding at this time as in the spring.
For prices and further information call on or write
W. H. CLAYTON, Hebron, Ky., Distributor.
GRASSELLI CHEMICAL CO., :: Cincinnati, Ohio

Luncheon
AT
Neat Little Place
For Farmer, Workman, Merchant, Clerk and Professional Man.
R. J. DIBOWSKI'S CAFE
No. 6 Pike Street, - - Covington, Kentucky.
Commercial Plate Luncheon from 11 a. m. to 1:30 p. m.

DON'T EXPECT RELIEF

If you wear wrong glasses you need not expect relief from your eye troubles. Wrong glasses may be worse than none.
We fit them right and get results.
N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,
613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY
Phone, South 1746.

Union Creamery Company
UNION, KENTUCKY
Pays the highest possible price for Butter Fat in whole milk and hand separated cream. Honest tests and weights guaranteed.
A. L. Mallett, :: Manager.
Phone, Consolidated No. 40.

Subscribe for the Recorder.
Read all the ads. in this issue. It will pay you.

Tributes of Respect.

In respect to the death of our brother member, Thos. H. Howard, Morning Star Lodge, No. 16, I. O. O. F., Petersburg, Boone county, adopts the following resolutions:

Whereas, It has pleased the Almighty to take from our ranks our esteemed brother and true friend, therefore be it.

Resolved, By Morning Star Lodge, that in the death of our brother we have lost a worthy member and a zealous worker of our organization and the community an honored and respected citizen.

Resolved, That we express to his sorrowing family our great sympathy during this trying hour in their afflictions.

Resolved, That those resolutions be spread upon the records of our organization, a copy be sent to the bereaved family, and a copy be sent to the Boone Co. Recorder.

Committee—Everett L. Helms, J. M. Grant, J. M. Botts.

No Joining of the Oceans.

Widespread prevalence of the idea that there will be an actual union of the waters of the Atlantic and the Pacific upon the opening of the Panama Canal caused the War Department to issue a statement explaining the plain, prosiac fact that sea water on either side of the isthmus will get no further than the entrances of the great water way.

"To those who know the engineering features," said the statement, "this idea is rather amusing, as so far as the canal is concerned the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific will never mingle. The Gatun Lake, which is midway of the canal, has an elevation of eighty-five feet above the oceans, and water from this lake will merely flow each way to the two oceans, the water from the lake being fresh and derived from the drainage of the surrounding area."

The statement also explained that the blowing up of the Gamboa dike on October 10 will not permit the passage of even a row boat from ocean to ocean, as it will be necessary to complete the removal of the dike by dredging and then to dredge out the Cucaracha slide before the canal will be opened from end to end.

Winter Hog Feeding.

Many farmers in my locality as well as elsewhere, frequently complain of poor success in winter hog feeding since a correspondent in Indiana Farmer. The one and only reason for this "bad luck," as they term it, is insufficient care. The majority of these farmers say they are careful, but at the same time they could improve at least seventy-five per cent.

One of the most important points in feeding in cold weather is providing ample housing places and seeing that they are on high and dry ground. In rainy weather the bedding should be removed daily and replaced with dry material. Some may think this is a lot of extra trouble but nevertheless your "extra trouble" is the direct means of extra profit at marketing times.

As winter is approaching and all feeding material is bound to be high in price it is time to arrange good warm feeding and sleeping quarters. A hog that sleeps where he is chilled night in and night out will naturally require more feed to keep the warmth of the system normal and at the same time while he is consuming more grain and other food he is putting on less flesh than when he ate twenty-five per cent less feed and was properly housed.

Another factor in properly caring for hogs in winter is having a dry sanitary feeding place. Many farmers in this section have provided cement floors in their hog lots and sheds. This means of sanitation is one of the greatest health promoters and devices for economy that is used thus far, when actual cost of building is taken into consideration. Many who feed their swine in dirty, unsanitary, mud floored hog lots are wasting feed daily and endangering the health of the hogs as well. The amount of grain saved alone in the course of one year would easily pay for one of those concrete floors in many cases. The feeder can take an ordinary corn shovel and clean the cobs and dirt off once daily in ten minutes time on a concrete floor and during the same ten minutes he is saving a large amount of feed and preserving the health of the hogs. Hogs fed under these conditions are healthy, thrifty and better for the owner's meat and marketing purposes by fifty per cent. than being poorly housed and having unsanitary feeding troughs and pens.

FACT STRANGER THAN FICTION

After This, Novelists Need Not Be Accused of Unduly Stretching Their Imagination.

Novelists accused of overwroking the long arm of coincidence might keep for reference the following strange piece of fact. The bark Nomia was posted as missing on December 17 last. She sailed from Newcastle with a cargo of coal for Chile on July 10, and sank in midocean when six days out. At least, so it appears from the only scrap of evidence available—a small, ragged bit of paper torn from a German log book, on which was written, "Monday, 16, 7, 1912—Nomia is sinking fast by hurricane in 42 S. 160 E. Gott save us all and everybody." This message, inclosed in a bottle, was picked up recently on the beach between Mangonui Bluff and Scotts Point, New Zealand. But was the manuscript genuine? Here the extensive limb above mentioned got in its good work. The message was given to German Consul Carl Seegner of Auckland, who had known a Captain Nimme, formerly of the bark Germania. The Nomia's skipper was also named Nimme. Searching among his papers, Consul Seegner unearthed a letter written by the Germania's Nimme, and on comparing the letter with the message from the sea he found the writings identical. Here was evidence enough that the Germania's Nimme was also the Nomia's Nimme, and that the message wasn't a fake. Seeing that Consul Seegner was the only man in New Zealand—perhaps in Australlasia—likely to be able to settle the question, the arm which piloted that wandering bottle right to his door had, as before mentioned, a useful hand at the end of it.

FEAR INVASION OF MOTHS

Forest Products Carried Between States Are Hereafter to Be Rigorously Inspected.

No more Christmas trees or Christmas greens or forest products, such as logs, tan bark, posts, poles, shrubs, vines and cuttings, will be allowed to move interstate without inspection from any point in the areas defined by the department of agriculture as infested by the brown-tail moth or the gypsy moth, says the Country Gentleman.

Secretary Houston in a recent quarantine order to this effect, defines certain towns in Maine, Vermont, Massachusetts and Connecticut and all the territory between them and the Atlantic ocean as infested by the brown-tail moth. Similar definitions as to the areas infested by the gypsy moth embrace Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Every interstate shipment of such plants, shrubs or forest products listed in this quanantine order must bear the names and addresses of consigner and consignee, together with a certificate showing that the contents have been duly inspected and found free from moth infestation. This order became effective August 1, 1913, and has been issued by the secretary under authority conferred by the plant quarantine act, approved August 29, 1912.

Mourning for the Dean.

In the process of expansion press telegrams often undergo a wonderful transformation. Some years ago the first three horses in the Lincoln handicap were Ob, Dean Swift and Roseate Dawn. A press agency in London wired the result to an Australian paper, as follows: "Lincoln Ob Dean Swift Roseate Dawn."

The sub-editor, who was in charge, had never heard of the Lincoln handicap, and for some time puzzled vainly over the mysterious message. Finally he came to the conclusion that "Ob" must stand for obit, the Latin word expressing a death notice.

He accordingly turned out the following paragraph, which duly appeared in print: "We deeply regret to announce the death at Lincoln of the celebrated Dean Swift, the author of that favorite hymn, 'The Roseate Hues of Early Dawn.'"—Chambers' Journal.

Yuan Shih-K'ai's Sons.

The three sons of Yuan Shih-k'ai, "the strong man of China," have been for some time in Paris, whence they will go to London for a stay of five years. They are, it is said, more up-to-date than any Celestials who have appeared in Europe, and the eldest, Yuan Ke Chuan, is a choice copy in dress of the true Parisian. In fact, except for a full-face view, no one would take this slim built, elegant youth for a Chinese. He wore a smartly tailored suit of light gray cashmere, in a sober check pattern, and above his tan shoes, with their broad bows, were to be seen some vividly purple socks. A fawn spart was round his stand-up collar, and he wore a little silver watch on his wrist. One of his brothers, Yuan Ke Huan, is like himself, fifteen years old, and the other, Yuan Ke Chi is thirteen. All of them speak English.

Famous Rhode Island.

It was a geography lesson, and the teacher had been asking what some of the different states were noted for. Looking at one of the little girls, she asked:

"Tell me, Florence, what Rhode Island is celebrated for."

For a moment the child was silent, then an inspiration apparently came to her.

"Rhode Island," repeated the little girl, "is celebrated for being the one of the United States that is the smallest."—Harper's Magazine.

DIDN'T KNOW SIMPLE THINGS

Ignorance of Matters of General Information Disclosed at Social Gathering.

At a social gathering in Harlem the other evening, with a Chicago man the guest of New Yorkers, a comparison of the two big cities revealed no end of ignorance on the part of every man present as to the place of his birth.

There was not a single New Yorker among the eight present who could give the location of one-fourth of the theaters. Not a single one could tell the exact routes of half a dozen of the principal car lines. No one could tell the headway of the subway trains on the all night schedule. No one could tell where the main streets of Brooklyn and The Bronx began and ended. Five men of the eight could not tell for a certainty what the street numbers of the cross streets were at the different avenues.

All the men varied as to how far it is between New York and Staten Island or how far it is from N. Y. to Coney Island, taking City Hall and Steeplechase Park as the limits. When it came to a knowledge of the telephone tolls from one borough to another there was a general difference of opinion. The number of ferries running out of New York found nobody sure. The climax came from the Chicago man. Said he:

"Where is the Billings estate, the biggest thing on Manhattan Island?"

No one knew.

"I'm not surprised at that, however," said the Chicagoan. "I'm even worse."

His hearers stared at this western admission and asked why.

"Because I've never visited our stock yards," said he.

SOTHERN TELLS GHOST STORY

Strange Tale of Woman Servant Who Made Appearance Many Times After Death.

E. H. Sothern tells a strange tale of a woman servant, employed by his family in London when he was a small boy.

This servant, it seams, unknown to the Sotherns, had a child that was living with relatives somewhere in England. The servant died, and a short time afterward appeared on numerous occasions before different members of the family.

In appearance she seemed to be greatly troubled, although as an apparition she never could be made to say anything. Mr. Sothern's father was greatly interested in the case and investigated the woman's past. He found that the relatives of the child had treated it very badly and had placed it in a foundling asylum. The elder Sothern had the child taken away from the asylum and placed in a suitable school, where it could be carefully looked after. Again the apparition appeared, this time with gesticulations she made known her satisfaction. This was the last that was seen of the apparition.

Clever Ruse.

One of the favorite stories of Major Le Mesurier Willoughby, who died recently at Cheltenham, England, concerned a soldier who had several times complained of thefts of articles from his kit; but the culprit could not be detected. It was therefore decided to subject the men in barracks to an ordeal by touch, and the corporal in charge of the affair explained to the assembled soldiers that on the floor of the mess-room he had placed the barracks cat beneath an inverted tin dish. The cat, he assured them, would mew at the touch of the thief. After the lights had been lowered the men filed past to touch the dish. The cat did not mew, but when the lights were turned up it was found that every man who touched the dish had blackened his hand with soot which had been placed on it. Only one man had failed to soil his hand. A subsequent search of his possessions revealed the stolen articles.

New Industry for India.

A new industry has lately become established on the west coast of southern India for the manufacture from the sardine of fish oil and guano. Previously sardines in many thousands of tons had been dried whole on the beach for manure, but by this wasteful process all the oil was lost. The rapid development of this new industry is shown by the fact that while in 1909 there were but two little factories in operation, one being a government experiment station, the season 1911-12 opened with no less than 45 small factories at Malabar and South Canara, while there was a probability of others being established in Cochin and Travancore. The better-class oil is in chief demand for the leather factories in Cawnpore and for paint and color works.

Fishing With Power Equipment.

The fishing industry of Gloucester, Mass., has been practically revolutionized by the introduction of the power boat and the gasoline-driven net lifter. The advantages of the power boat equipped with a net lifter are many. Catches such as are now made of the bottom fish were formerly impossible, except with a beam trawl. The power boat plays the important part of enabling the fishermen to reach the desired places and get home the same night.

Science Note.

Leslie Wallack, a Kansas barber, says that it is a scientific tonsorial fact that whiskers do not start to grow again for six hours after shaving.—Kansas City Star.

WHEN LIES ARE EXCUSABLE

Instances Given of Times When the Truth is Not Expected or Wanted.

Few people, I fancy, would say, after deliberation, that no lie was ever justified. To be sure, I once heard a serious young man protest that Shakespeare had damned Desdemona by allowing her at her last gasp to exculpate Othello. I have also known people who objected vehemently to the late Mark Twain because he said so many things that were not so. But there are occasions when lies are taken for granted, even by the law.

A man on trial for his life is supposed to tell the truth, but not if it will incriminate him. A wife is not dragged to the witness stand against her will—no one would legitimately expect anything but perjury from her. I do not see much difference between legally permitting a man to say "Not Guilty" when he is guilty, and legally permitting him to lie. Is there any solitary maiden who would not willingly lie to a midnight marauder to understand that her husband was just coming down the stairs, armed to the teeth? A man is not supposed, except by an extinct type of Puritan, to "give away" the woman who has made sacrifices for him; and even the extinct type of Puritan would hardly expect you to tell your hostess that her dinner party had been dull. From this heterogenous group of examples, one may infer that there are lies and lies; and while it is never permissible to lie, it is sometimes quite unpermissible to do anything else.

FURNITURE FOR THE SEASONS

Adjustable Upholstered Seats and Pillows Make Wicker Sets Good the Year Round.

To have separate sets of sofas and chairs for summer and winter is beyond the means of many householders. Moreover, few modern homes have storage space sufficient to accommodate an entire suite of temporarily unused furniture. Consequently the recent fashion of buying a set of really handsome and durable wicker and then having attachable seats and pillows to fit the various pieces, is rapidly gaining favor. These cushions, whether of plush, brocade or merely printed material, are easily put away when the season for using upholstery rolls round again. A set of attachable upholstery consists of seats for six chairs and one settee, a long, round pillow and two huge, square pillows. If a housewife knows anything whatever of the mattress-making art she can get up a set of these cushions and pillows at comparatively small expenses.

Luxemburg's Soldiers.

The grand duchy of Luxemburg, which recently, because of the strong-minded young woman who rules the little country, has occupied considerable space in the newspapers, has an army, including musicians, numbering 250 men. The soldiers of Luxemburg are sumptuously lodged. Each one has his room with hot and cold water, all the conveniences of a hotel and flowers at the window. The trade of soldier in the grand duchy is not for war but for administrative uses. For this reason the recruits are most carefully selected. They are required to be handsome young fellows whose height is not to be below five feet six inches. Recently a candidate presented himself who received full admiration of the jury of admission. Handsome and well made, he measured not less than five feet ten inches, but the new soldier disturbed all the regulations of the army. It was found necessary to have a uniform made for him, linen of special size and his bed had to be lengthened.

War Minister "Moved On."

Colonel Seely, the head of England's army, was among the spectators at the recent army maneuvers, and was entirely unrecognized. He was in a gray tweed cap, and looked the most unassuming of men.

Once the village policeman, who was busy asking little urchins and their round-eyed sisters to stand back, passed his arm in front of the minister for war, who meekly gave way. He seemed to enjoy the sight thoroughly, and ran from point to point with much energy. He had arrived in a big car, which did not even carry one of the little flags which indicate an official or a privileged spectator.

Industrial Wealth Grows.

The growth of factories is remarkable in the state of New South Wales, Australia. During last year goods to the value of over $300,000,000 were manufactured; 115,000 hands were employed and paid nearly $60,000,000 in wages. The position of manufacturers is now so strong that notwithstanding possibilities of bad seasons, people are no longer dependent upon the weather for their prosperity. A decade ago the average yearly income of every industrial employe in New South Wales was $315, while at present it is over $500.

Dom Manuel as Farmer.

Attached to Fulwell Park, near Twickenham, England, which has lately been purchased by Dom Manual of Portugal, is a small model farm, which the ex-king proposes to cultivate. Several improvements are shortly to be carried out, and Dom Manuel will purchase the whole of the stock he requires, none of the present cattle being retained. It is highly probable that several of his cows and sheep will come from the royal farms at Windsor and Sandringham.

SEVERE BRONCHIAL COUGH

Doctors Feared Lung Trouble, Restored to Health by Vinol.

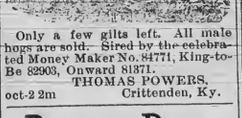
The medical profession does not believe that lung troubles are inherited, but a person may inherit a weakness or tendency to them.

Mrs. Kate Heckman, Springfield, Ohio, says: "A few years ago I was in a very bad run-down condition, and the physician told me I had consumption. I tried another physician, and he told me I had ulcers on my right lung. I quit the physicians and started on 'Vinol.' Today I am perfectly healthy, and that is why I recommend 'Vinol'."

Vinol soothes and heals the inflamed surfaces and allays the cough, Vinol creates an appetite, strengthens the digestive organs and gives the patient strength to throw off incipient pulmonary diseases.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

P. S.—For any skin trouble try our Saxo Salve. We guarantee it.



Robert W. Jones, Druggist, Walton

DUROC JERSEY

"Florence Fair Prize Winners." Extra good BOARS at farmers prices.

J. F. CLEEK,
Richwood, Ky.

Poland China Hogs.

Only a few gilts left. All male hogs are sold. Sired by the celebrated Money Maker No. 84771, King-to-Be 82903, Onward 81871.

THOMAS POWERS,
oct-2 2m Crittenden, Ky.

Rogers Bros.
General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade.

B. S. O'NEAL,

AUCTIONEER,
VERONA, - KENTUCKY.
Your Order is Solicited.

For Sale or Rent.

One Hundred and Eight and Two-Third Acres of Land, at the mouth of Gunpowder creek in this county; the best hog farm in Northern Kentucky. For further particulars call on or address Erastus Rice, Rising Sun, Indiana, or S. D. Rice, Grant, Ky., R. D. 1.

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN,
DENTIST

will be at Burlington on the first and second Monday, and in Union on the third and fourth Monday of each month, prepared and qualified to practice according to the latest methods extracting teeth painless.

All work guaranteed.

DR. B. W. STALLARD
with DR. SHOBER'S
QUEEN CITY DENTISTS
Nos. 43-49 W. Fifth Ave.,
CINCINNATI, - - OHIO.

F. J. HENN. M. M. HUSCHART.
LAWRENCEBURG
Granite and Marble Works

Manufacturers of and Dealers in
fine American and Imported Monuments.

Cemetery Work of Every Description Promptly and Carefully Attended to.
Lawrenceburg, :-: Indiana.
D. M. SNYDER, Agt., Burlington, Ky.

For Sale.

Store property in Burlington.
Mrs. Dudley Rouse.

No notice was taken in Woodford of Gov. McCreary's road working "proclamation;" not because of any lack of respect for the Governor and his wishes, but simply because no need was felt of such a movement. Woodford county people have good roads to travel upon, which are kept up by taxation, and they do not feel that it is necessary for them to get out with pick and shovel and do the work with their own hands.—Blue Grass Clipper.

Take your County Paper.

FIFTY-SECOND SEMI-ANNUAL STATEMENT OF THE
Boone County Deposit Bank
Burlington, Kentucky
At Close of Business December 31, 1912.

RESOURCES.		LIABILITIES.
Loans, Bonds, &c.	$170,858.50	Capital Stock	$ 30,000.00
Overdrafts	52.81	Surplus	45,000.00
Due from Banks	38,391.04	Undivided Profits, &c	7,581.49
Cash	7.711.80	Deposits	136,591.35
Banking House, &c.	3,000.00	Due Banks	841.31
Total	$220,014.15	Total	$220,014.15

A Bank that is going after business, and going in the right way.

HOW? By promptness in serving its customers.
By courteous attention to their banking needs.
By readiness in meeting their requirements, and, above all
By perfect security of the funds intrusted to its care, having over $100,000.00 to secure depositors.

We have the largest Capital and Surplus of any Bank in this county, and are amply able to accommodate our patrons, and are willing at all times to afford them every accommodation justified by the rules of good and safe banking, whether their accounts are large or small.

N. E. RIDDELL, President. J. C. REVILL, Cashier.

J. F. KIESWETTER,
RUGS MADE of OLD CARPETS

Compressed Air Carpet Cleaning.
TELEPHONE SOUTH 21.
250 PIKE STREET,
Covington, - - - Ky.
M. RIDDELL, Agent, Burlington, Ky.

ADAMS

A New Victrola $75

A Cabinet Style Victrola combining a record cabinet for only $75.00. Same perfect, mellow tone quality of the most expensive Victrola, same elegant finish.

Easy Monthly Payments.

A. ADAMS,
15 Pike Street,
Covington, - - Ky.

The Cincinnati Grain Co.

HAVE OPENED THEIR NEW HOUSE AT ERLANGER, KY.

FREE PHONE ERLANGER 49

Handle Hay, Grain, Flour and Feed of all Kinds.
Will Also Buy Your Wheat, Rye, Etc.

Special Notice—We are selling at city prices, consequently can save you the long haul from Covington and Cincinnati.
GIVE US A TRIAL

FARM MOTORS

For Pumping, Operating Churns, Saws, Corn Shredders, Filling Silos, Etc.
Last a Lifetime. From 1½ to 25 h. p. $33 and up.
Ready To Run.

Direct Factory Representatives
SPENCER-HARTLIEB CO.
316-318 MAIN STREET
CINCINNATI, OHIO
Phone, 1810 Main

Read Our Big Combination Offer.

WALTON.

Mrs. W. B. Norman spent Thursday in Cincinnati with friends.

Joseph Glinn and grandson Roland Glenn enjoyed a visit to Cincinnati last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Greenwell spent Monday in Cincinnati on business and guests of friends.

Miss Fay Cram has accepted the position of clerk in the mercantile establishment of E. P. Northcutt.

Mrs. Anna Dixon spent Monday at Cincinnati and Covington the guest of friends and shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Beemon, of near Burlington, spent part of last week here the guests of Mrs. Fannie Adams.

Miss Alecia Neumeister spent several days last week in Covington and Cincinnati with friends and relatives.

Mrs. M. V. Cline, of Williamstown, spent part of last week here with her parents Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Youell.

Mrs. Jane Johnson and daughter Miss Hattie spent the week in Cincinnati and Covington with relatives and friends.

WANTED—Two Polled Durham Bulls, red or roan, yearling or long yearling. Immediate delivery. Neumeister Bros., Walton, Ky.

Geo. Poland, a prominent live stock trader of Gallatin county, spent the first of the week here the guest of his brother S. B. Poland.

The election passed off quietly here, there being little or no contest, and no opposition candidates except in the election of town trustees.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Poor returned home last week from a visit of a couple of weeks to their daughter Mrs. Carrie Aufderheide at Indianapolis, Ind.

John Mylor, of Warsaw and L. B. Scott, Jr., of Campbellsburg, Ky., were here last Friday looking at a drove of fine mules belonging to W. L. Gaines with a view of purchasing.

The double track on the Q. & C. Railroad was put in operation last wee. The new double track system extends from Ludlow to Williamstown. This will expedite the more rapid movement of local trains between these points.

Thomas Rice and son Wilbur, of near Ryle, Gallatin county, were here Sunday. Mr. Ross brought his son here to have Dr. G. C. Rankins remove a growth from one of his hands, which operation the doctor successfully performed.

Mrs. Bee Sanders, of Butler, Pendleton county, spent Monday and Tuesday here the guest of her brother Ed. Fullilove and wife. Mrs. Sanders had been at Louisville on a visit and stopped here on her way home.

Geo. L. Miller, of Big Bone Springs, spent last Thursday here with his son John C. Miller and family, going to Cincinnati with a car load of cattle. Mr. Miller recently sold a cow and calf for $85 which speaks for the kind of cattle he raises.

The Q. and C. Railroad bridge over High street has been finished and traffic resumed over that structure last week. The present structure is intended to be only temporarily for the present and in the near future iron structural girders will be substituted.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Miller entertained the members of the Epworth League of the Methodist church at their handsome home last Saturday evening with an All Hallow'een party, and there was a large attendance, and delightful time was enjoyed by all.

Little Misses Helen and Margaret Jones, of Louisville, have been spending the past couple of weeks here with their aunt Mrs. Ed. Fullilove, coming home here with her from Louisville. Their mother, Mrs. Genevieve Jones, arrived here Wednesday on a visit.

The tacky party given by the ladies of the Walton Christian church at the opera house last Friday night was quite a success both socially and financially. Thirty some odd dollars was realized from the occasion. The proceeds were for the benefit of the church.

A. M. Edwards and E. F. Neumeister returned home here last Friday from a pleasureable trip through the South, particularly Mississippi, where Mr. Neumeister sold a car load of fine cattle. They spent a couple of days at New Orleans and were very much pleased with that city.

The members of the Walton Odd Fellows Lodge entertained with an elegant supper at their hall last Saturday night, and a fine feast was spread which was enjoyed by a large number. Quite a nice sum was realized for the benefit of the lodge which needs assistance because of its extensive benefactions.

Mrs. J. G. Tomlin spent last week at Champaign, Ill., attending the National Convention of the Alpha Delta Sorority, of which she is a member, being a delegate from the chapter at Lexington. Mrs. Tomlin was honored by the appointment as delegate from Kentucky, there being but two from the State. The convention was very largely attended and Mrs. Tomlin had a very delightful time.

The Walton Graded School is making a fine showing this year and the pupils are making rapid headway under the charge of the very efficient corps of teachers, Prof. J. L. Chambers, the superintendent, is making a special effort to build up the school to the highest state of efficiency, and he is being most earnestly supported by all of the teachers of the various departments. One feature that is aiding in the successful management of the school is the spirit of harmony that prevails in all of the departments of the school and especially among the teachers and pupils.

The first tobacco of the season was delivered here last week to Wayland & Glasscock, it being the crop of Geo. Gardt and son Frank of Gallatin county, and comprising about 3,000 lbs., for which they received $16.25 per cwt. The crop is an excellant one and as fine as has been raised the past year. The delivery of a crop of tobacco in October of the year in which it is grown is not only something very unusual, but it is seldom that a crop is even stripped at that period.

Mrs. B. K. Menefee was honored with the appointment of Grand Chaplain of the Order of Eastern Stars of the State of Kentucky, a very distinguished honor in this body of the Masonic fraternity. The annual meeting was held at Lexington last week when Mrs. Menefee received the appointment. The next meeting will be held at Owensboro. The appointment gives Walton the honor of two Grand Chaplains in the Masonic fraternity, Rev. A. Kirtley Johnson being the Chaplain of the Masonic Grand Lodge. Both appointments were not only highly deserved but the new officers will reflect credit on their respective Grand Bodies, and will be found to meet all of the expectations of their many friends in the unstinted praise given.

Another negro employed on the construction gang on the Q. & C. Railroad north of Walton, was shot last Tuesday night by some of his associates. He was shot twice in the temple and once in the back. The shot in his back penetrated his lungs but it was not known whether the shots in the head penetrated his head or not. Dr. G. C. Rankins was called and rendered what aid he could under the circumstances and ordered the wounded man taken to the Cincinnati hospital to receive treatment. It was not ascertained who shot him as those that knew would not tell. His condition was considered dangerous but no report has been received since being taken to Cincinnati.

The town of Walton elected the following officers, Tuesday: G. M. Allen, Police Judge; Bruce Dudgeon, Town Marshal, and W. Tilden Dudgeon, Geo. W. Ransler, S. C. Hicks, Wm. Brittenhelm, C. L. Griffith, Councilmen.

Messrs. John Q. Elstun, Wilton Adams, Henry Coates, Lurt and Bud Stephenson, Wm. Pigg, Dr. Ryle, Tobe Marshall and Jeff Williamson, returned, last Saturday, from a two week's sight seeing trip thru the South. They were well pleased with the country and entertainment while gone.

Mrs. Elizabeth Huey.

"This woman was full of good works and alms deeds which she did." Acts. 9-36.

On last Friday night at 10:30 p. m., Mrs. Elizabeth Huey, better known as "Aunt Lizzie," passed to her reward after a long and useful life, like a shock of corn fully ripe for the harvest. She was born Nov. 4th, 1829, in Boone county, where she lived all her life.

She was the daughter of James and Virginia Gaines, two prominent and well known citizens of this county. She was married to Oscar W. Huey, Aug. 20th, 1851, who preceded her to "those mansions prepared for the children of God," 46 years ago. No man ever stood higher in the community or the church than Bro. Huey. Aunt Lizzie joined the Big Bone Baptist church Aug. 12, 1853. From that day till her death she was one of the most faithful members the church ever had. Her strong personality, loveable disposition and business tact, made her a leader to whom all the members learned and loved to look for advice, council and sympathy. She believed in the old Book. It was indeed a lamp to her feet. She loved its doctrines and lived its precepts.

On the 4th of this month, she would have been 84 years old, and 60 of these she had spent in the service of her Lord. She was liberal with the means of which the Lord had abundantly blessed her. She was the friend of the poor, as was her Lord. Many a sad heart has been made brighter and burdened soul made happy by the loving, tender sympathy of Aunt Lizzie.

To know her was to love and admire her. She had no children of her own, but she took Mr. Thomas Judge, a lad of seven, from poverty and rags and reared and loved him as a son to become one of our most highly respected citizens. Well has he repaid her with the devotion of an honored son. It was as "bread cast upon the waters." Her funeral was conducted from the Big Bone Baptist church where her membership had always been, by the writer, her pastor, assisted by Rev. O. M. Huey, her nephew, in the presence of a large congregation of neighbors and friends. Her body was tenderly laid to rest by the side of her husband in the beautiful church cemetery.

She leaves a host of relatives and friends to mourn her loss, but we submit willingly, knowing that our loss is her gain.

We command her sorrowing friends to "Him who doeth all things well." May the Lord guide and keep us, and may we follow her as she followed her Lord.

Her Pastor,
WM. McMILLAN.

Luke McLuke.

(Cincinnati Enquirer.)

There may be somewhere girls like the ones on the magazine covers. But there ain't no such animals as the women in the corset ads.

When alcohol supersedes gasoline as automobile fuel a fellow can carry a bottle of water for chasers and save many an expensive stop at a roadhouse.

A man wants to be as young as he feels, but a woman wants to look the part.

And there are a lot of fools in the world who maintain a constant grouch and imagine people think they are dignified.

A woman's idea of a bargain is to spend ten cents carfare going down town to get a spool of thread for four cents because thread costs five cents a spool up where she lives.

You can't get some men to save a dime for a rainy day, but other men act as though they expected about ninety years of steady rain in the near future.

The old-fashioned boy who used to roam the woods and fill up on butternuts in the fall now has a son who buys roasted chestnuts from a Greek peddler.

"Supreme contempt" is what an old fashioned "horse doctor" has for a new fangled "veterinary surgeon."

Any married man can demand and receive a lot of attention until the first baby arrives. Then he might as well stay down in the cellar with the rest of the coal.

If a girl can keep her skirt on without the aid of suspenders she is convinced that she has perfectly formed hips.

A woman always knows what she wants when she finds out she can't get it.

It takes a woman twenty years to make a Lion out of her son. Then a Princess will come along and make a Jackass out of him in twenty seconds.

It is mighty hard to get a tightwad away from the window of a ten-cent store.

"There's always room at the top," as the young lady said when she squeezed herself into an evening gown.

Public Sale.

I will offer at public sale on the farm known as the S. C. Johnson farm, on the Walton and Beaver Lick road 2½ miles west of Walton, Ky., on Wednesday, Nov'ber 12th, 1813.

The following personal property:

Black general purpose horse 8 years old, Black mule 5 years old, Gray mare 11 years old, Sorrel harness horse 2 years old, Sorrel gelding 2 years old, Bay brood mare 9 years old, Weanling colt, 3 year old mule, 6 A-No. 1 milk cows, Jersey bull 7 months old, eligible to register, Three Heifer calves, Three sows with 27 pigs farrowed Oct. 5, Three gilts to farrow Nov. 1. About 75 bbls. corn, part in crib, part shucked down in field, About 5 tons timothy hay, About 5 tons clover hay all in barn. Farming Implements of all kinds---2 horse walking cultivator, Disc harrow, new "A" harrow, 2 Oliver breaking plows, Hill side plow, 3 double shovel plows, 2 single shovels, 16 tooth harrow, Haybed, Land roller, lot Carpenter's tools, Work bench, large grind stone, post digger, shovels, crow bars, chains, forks, hoes, rake, &c.; farm wagon with boxbed, spring wason, 2 buggies, 2 horse sled, set double harness, set double breeching harness, set spring wagon harness, set buggy harness, collars, bridles, single and double trees, 2 ladies' saddles, gent's saddle and bridle, No. 12 DeLaval Cream Separator, milk cans, cooler, pails and dairy utensils, Prairie State Incubator, Filo box, chicken coops and poultry supplies, Household and Kitchen Furniture consisting of chairs, tables, carpets, oil cloths, linoleums, bedroom suites, &c. In fact, everything necessary to the furnishing and running of a farm and home. Will offer about 2,000 pounds of tobacco if not sold before.

TERMS OF SALE

$5.00 and under, cash; over that amount a credit of 9 months without interest, purchaser to execute note with approved security negotiable and payable at Walton Bank and Trust Co. These terms must be complied with before property is removed.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. Church will serve dinner on the ground. Sale to begin at 9 o'clock a. m.

A. R. JOHNSON.

V. S. METCALFE, Auctioneer.

Big Trouser Sale

MEN HERE IS YOUR CHANCE TO SAVE SOME MONEY.

A BIG RANGE OF TROUSERS All colors, all sizes; $1.50 value. Our Special..... 95c

250 NOBBY STYLES in well Tailored Trousers..... $1.69

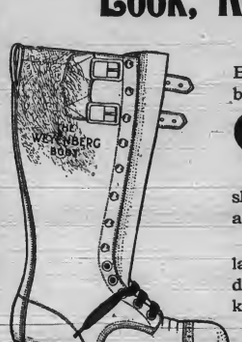
$2.00 Values Pure Worsteds and Cashmers; made for good serviceable wear..... $1.39

$2.50 and $3 Men's Corduroy Pants, lined throughout, very fine cord, all sizes. Special.... $1.95

A BIG STOCK OF TROUSERS $2.45 and up.

Boys' Suits and Overcoats at Big Bargains.

A Big Stock of Boys' Suits and Overcoats in beautiful colors and materials that will wear; worth $2.50 in any store. Our Price..... $1.95



Boys' Suits and Overcoats, worth $3.50 to $4.00, all sizes. Suits in Norfolk Style and Overcoat with or without belt..... $2.95

STOP IN AND BE CONVINCED

H. Schanker & Son,

Lexington Pike & Garvey Ave. Erlanger, Ky.

Look, Read and Consider.

Why go to Covington or Cincinnati to buy your Boots and Shoes when you can get them cheaper and better at home. Go to

Casper Lehmann

Who carries a full stock of Men's heavy working shoes 14, 16 and 18 inches high (water-proof), guaranteed all solid leather, full vamp.

I have a full stock of Men's fine shoes in button or lace, tan or black, also a full stock of Infant's, Children's, Misses' and Women's shoes in gun metal, tan, kid and patent leather, button or lace.

I also have a full stock of No. 1 Ball Brand Rubber Boots and Artics, also Misses' and Women's Rubbers and Artics.

I also carry a high-grade of Ladies' flexible soles for tender feet; the Ladies', Children's and Misses high cut Shoes in gun metal or patent leather at reasonable prices; also a few odd sizes in Gents' and Ladies' shoes at cost price.

I have a full stock of Youths' and Boys' high cut shoes in tan or black, also a full and complete stock of shoes too numerous to mention.

CUSTOM WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Casper Lehmann,

Boots and Shoes
DEALER IN

P. O. Address, Box 215
ERLANGER, KY

Elsmere, Kentucky.

The Honey Bee.

Bees are the only producers known to husbandry that yield a profit without cost of feed. They find their own pasturage. They multiply so rapidly that they more than pay for the small initial expense of housing them and the first cost of equipment.

Everybody has a good word as well as a bad word to say of the honey bee, namely, that it makes honey and it can sting. In the earlier writings, now centuries old, wherever mention is made of the bee, these two habits are recorded. In the many, many years that people have been observing bees, there has been tremendous improvement in the way men manufacture articles, electric power and machinery doing away with hand work, but the bees of the present day still make honey in the same way as of old. In the countless ages that human beings have been studying bees there have been invented remarkable implements of warfare—gunpowder and submarine torpedo boats taking the place of spears and battering rams, yet the bees of today continue to sting with the same kind of poisoned dart as in bygone days.

The ancient trade of honey making, as carried on by the bees, and the means they take of defending themselves from enemies are both so perfectly accomplished that no improvement has been necessary throughout the ages.—Ex.

MISCELLANEOUS FOR SALE.

For Sale—Good 4-year old work mule, yearling mule, 7 year old work and driving horse, about three tons clover hay and some cowpea hay. Apply to J. E. Botts, Bullittsville, Ky. tf.

For Sale—Six head of horses and colts. Apply to J. D. Mayhugh, Walton, Ky. 2-in

For Sale—Fresh Jersey cow and calf. Apply to G. W. Sandford, Burlington.

For Sale—Fine farm team of horses five and seven years old. Will weigh 2600 pounds. Apply to R. B. Huey, Burlington R. D. 1.

For Sale—Two colts coming two years old—one black and one bay. Call phone 19, Hebron Line. Gordon Souther.

For Sale—Two Duroc Jersey brood sows. Apply to J. J. Duncan, Burlington R. D. 1.

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS

For Sale, stock from the flock scoring most points at State Fair last fall. Cockerels, $1.00 each; eggs in season. (dec 18)

MRS. B. C. GRADDY,
Bullittsville, Ky.

The weather Tuesday was the best possible for election purposes.

For Sale.

One Western Electric twenty-line switchboard, will be sold in Union, Ky., on Nov. 10th, 1913, at 2 o'clock, by sealed bids to be in the hands of the Commissioners by 12 o'clock, (noon) Nov. 10, 1913, The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Commissioners:
S. S. SMITH.
OWEN BLANKENBEKER
N. C. TANNER.

Posted Against Hunters.

The undersigned hereby give notice that their land is posted against trespassing of all kinds and especially by hunting with dogs or guns and trapping thereon:

B. C. Graddy, Bullittsville.
J. S. Eggleston, Francesville.
Mary V. Gaines, Bullittsville.
Harry Walton, Petersburg.
A. L. Nichols, Burlington.
C. T. Northcutt, Belleview.
Everett Souther, Pt. Pleasant.
Julia S. Dinsmore, Belleview.
Mrs. I. T. McNaughton, Muncie, Indiana.
C. O. Hempfling, Taylorsport.
Jasper Sullivan, Waterloo.
W. L. B. Rouse, Limaburg.
Edward Farrell, Limaburg.
T. F. Grant, Bullittsville.
Geo. C. Barlow, Florence.
John Clore, Hebron.
John W. Ryle, Burlington.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXXVIIII. Established 1875. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1918. $1.50 Per Year. NO. 7.

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

GUNPOWDER.

J. B. Crigler, of Hebron, dined with W. P. Utz and wife last Sunday.

J. A. Rouse and wife spent the weeks end with friends in Grant county.

Gus Frietman shipped some potatoes and apples to his daughter at Barto, Fla., last week.

Huey and Robt. Cary have given a contract to Geo. Lucas to build a large dwelling house.

There was considerable corn gathered last week and that line of work is nearly completed in this neck of the woods.

Miss Lena Tanner, daughter of J. P. Tanner and wife, underwent a surgical operation in Covington on Monday of last week.

IB. C., J. S. and B. H. Surface and Mrs. J. W. Hogan visited their sister, Mrs. J. W. How, at Hamilton, Ohio, on Thursday of last week.

A pretty good specimen of winter weather last Sunday. It snowed about all day and a strong gale from the northeast made it rather uncomfortable.

Mrs. Emma V. Rouse and daughter, Miss Gladys, contemplate a trip to St. Petersburg, Fla., in the near future, where they will visit her son, Dr. W. J. Tanner and family and probably spend the winter.

As per announcement Drs. Kapp and Larimer were present at the installation service at Hopeful last Sunday, and each delivered a very able and appropriate address. Although the weather was very inclement there was a fairly good sized congregation present. Several were present from Hebron and Ebenezer. On account of the illness of Miss Lena Tanner, the regular organist, Miss Violetta Rouse presided at the organ.

GRANT R. D. 1.

R. S. Hensley is getting along nicely.

Robt. Piatt and wife moved back to Rising Sun.

Five Cincinnati autoists spent Sunday at Pepper Smith's.

Walter Ryle, who has been quite sick, is much better.

Mrs. Henry Clore has been sick the past week with tonsilitis.

Mrs. John Maurer has been quite ill for several days with grippe.

The protracted meeting at East Bend continues. No additions so far.

The weather the past few days is bringing in the coal wagons.

Mrs. Dode Pope and children spent Sunday here with home folks.

Hugh Arnold shipped a bunch of nice hogs to the city Sunday night.

Mrs. Leomer Louden is recovering from a severe case of blood poison.

Sunday was a pretty fair sample of winter to be put on exhibition at this time of year.

S. B. Ryle has a severe case of lagrippe, contracted since coming to Kentucky from California.

Mrs. Leslie Wingate, of Waterloo, spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Mary O'Neal, in East Bend.

It was funny to see the effect the snow of Sunday morning had on the different kids as well as the grownups.

C. C. Craig and family have moved to Rising Sun. His son, Lewis and family occupy the house vacated by him.

Shelby Rice, of Detroit, Mich., is here on a visit to home folks, the factory where he was working having shut down.

J. J. Stephens sets a good example for other patrons of R. D. 1 by relocating his box so that it is much easier for carrier to serve.

S. M. Seward was elected Mayor, of Rising Sun, one the Republican ticket by two votes. A recount will be asked by the Citizens party.

Mr. P. Hager was the only one on R. D. 1 who complied with Gov. McCreary's road working order. He had two men at work on the road one half day, which was practically the only time in the two day's when the weather was suitable for that kind of work.

A well known citizen of Belleview told his wife he would give her one dollar every time she heard him swear. Things went along nicely for a while but the other night when he came in home he stumbled and fell over a wheelbarrow left in the yard near his door. After extricating himself and leaving the air blue with language not fit for publication he walked in where his wife was busy with pencil and paper, and looking up she said, "I find that you owe me just $235."

Assessor T. G. Willis was in this section the first of the week listing property for taxation in 1914. This is his last assessment, W. P. Beemon taking that office the first Monday in next year, but will do no official work before the first day of next September.

PETERSBURG.

Mrs. Linnie Howard was shopping in Aurora, last Thursday.

Chas. Ruth and Miss Susie Helms were married in Covington, Nov. 2nd.

Mrs. G. M. Terrill, of Lawrenceburg, visited Mrs. Will Hensley, Thursday.

Rev. Leslie Early, of Burlington, Ind., was a business visitor here last week.

Supt. Edgar Riley came down from Burlington for the teachers meeting here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bladen are entertaining a wee baby girl since last Thursday, Nov. 8th.

The dinner given by the ladies of the Christian church election day was quite a success.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Weindel visited Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Arnold, near Belleview, last Friday.

Dr. J. M. Grant attended the wedding of his nephew, Owsley Grant, at Danville, last week.

Mrs. Elihu Alden and daughter, Miss Pauline, were shopping in Cincinnati, one day last week.

Mrs. H. E. Fisher, of Lawrenceburg, spent several days with her parents, Hon. and Mrs. John W. Berkshire, last week.

Mrs. Frank Smith and son, Harry of Aurora, and her sister, of Cincinnati, visited Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Berkshire, Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mahan and son, Wilbur, of Lawrenceburg, visited Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ruth, Sr., Saturday and Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. S. J. Bradley and daughter, Miss Alpha, of Alexandria, Campbell county, were visiting among their many friends here the latter part of last week.

BULLITTSVILLE.

Miss Edna Riley and Miss Carrie Graves were in the city, Saturday.

Mrs. Belle Cropper spent last Wednesday with Mrs. Tom Grant.

Lewis Balsly moved in with his sister Mrs. Corrine Riley last week.

Mr. Garnett Riley was calling on his friends and relatives here several days last week.

Mrs. Jas. Botts and daughter, Miss Virginia, were shopping in the city last Thursday.

Miss Marietta Stephens entertained the young folks with a party, Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Birkle were visiting their son, Fred and family at Union, several days last week.

Raymond Cropper spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents. He is taking a medical course in Cincinnati.

Mrs. Corrine Riley was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Lewis Crisler, in Covington, from Thursday until Friday afternoon.

Menter Martin and wife spent several days last week in Burlington, guests of her parents, C. C. Roberts and wife.

Mrs. Cecil Burns and family spent last Thursday in Petersburg, being called to the bedside of her aunt, Mrs. Kate McWethy, who was quite ill.

Mrs. Dr. Crouch, of Union, spent a few days with her parents Mr. and Mrs. George Gaines, last week. Mr. Gaines has been sick for a few days.

Miss Ida Stephens is the guest of her brother, Chas. E. Stephens, and family.

Sunday was a day that made man think what he did with his last summer's wages.

Misses Eunie, Marietta and Alene Stephens entertained the young people in a most royal manner last Saturday night.

Jas. E. Botts and family will move this week to a farm he purchased in Indiana. We regret losing such good neighbors and our loss will be Hoosier's gain.

H. G. Cropper entertained the following guests last Sunday: Jas. E. Botts and family, M. L. Souther and wife, C. E. Stephens and family, Miss Carrie Graves and your correspondent.

R. D. No. 3.

Winter has arrived.

Glad to report the sick improving.

Miss Cathryn Estes spent Sunday at W. L. Brown's.

Elbert Ryle made a business trip to Burlington, last Friday.

Miss Alice Reitmann spent one day last week with Miss Lottie Brown.

Chas. Scothorn made a trip to Lewis county, last week, to look at land.

Oscar and Lottie Brown and Frank Estes spent Monday in the city shopping.

Garnett Riley, of Dayton, Ohio, visited his Boone county friends here last week.

Mrs. Chas. McFee and daughter Kate, have returned home after a pleasant visit with friends here.

Misses Stella and Lottie Brown, Ray Botts and Russell Finn were Sunday guests of Miss Alice Reitmann.

Carl Beacom and wife, of Taylorsport, and Frank Aylor and wife spent Sunday at Harry Kilgour's.

FLORENCE.

C. W. Myers and wife entertained Rev. Douglas, Sunday.

Miss Edyth Carpenter is visiting Miss Virginia Yager in the city.

Mrs. Wm. Tryling and little son are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baxter.

Quarterly meeting at the M. E. church from Wednesday evening until Sunday.

Miss Ruby Corbin is spending several days with Miss Carrie Clark of Covington.

Mrs. Mallie Beemon and Miss Mae Euwing were Saturday visitors. of Mrs. Sallie Fulton.

Chas. Fulton and wife spent Sunday with Mrs. Fulton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glass, of Covington.

Mrs. Owen Bradford and Miss Olla Corbin were pleasant guests of Lute Bradford and wife, Thursday.

Miss Ella Coleman trained nurse of Spears Hospital, made Miss Mary Gogan a pleasant visit last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Surface attended the reunion at Mr. and Mrs. Howes', in Hamilton, Ohio, last Thursday.

Rev. Douglas, of the Seminary, Louisville, occupied the pulpit at the Baptist church Saturday evening and Sunday.

IDLEWILD.

Mrs. Bernard Gaines mother, Mrs. Blackburn, is quite sick.

Rev. J. W. Campbell spent Sunday night with friends in Burlington.

Dr. B. W. Gaines, of Cincinnati, spent Sunday with his father, W. A. Gaines.

A number of friends spent Wednesday very pleasantly with Mrs. Henry Stephens.

N. S. Walton shipped a bunch of nice cattle to the Cincinnati stock yards, Monday.

L. C. Scothorn took a truck load of nice fat hogs to Cincinnati Friday for Lystra Smith.

The long looked for rise in the Ohio river has come, but the promised coal failed to come with it.

Miss Flossie Campbell remained in Petersburg until Saturday afternoon in order to attend the Teachers' Association.

R. S. Houston and son, Frank Houston of the Isthmus of Panama spent several days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Ben. S Houston.

The blizzard that raged all day Sunday was very unusual for so early in the season. It causes us to think the "hard winter" signs will hold good.

HEBRON.

Hubert Conner is having a new room added to his residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Mose Aylor were Sunday guests at Lester Aylor.

Missionary services at the Hebron church, Nov. 30th, at 10:30 a. m.

Mrs. Laura Conner returned Friday from a week's visit with her sister and other relatives at Sedamsville.

The ladies of Hebron church will give a supper on Saturday night, Nov. 29th, at the Odd-Fellows hall. Price 25c. All are invited to attend.

Mesdames Lizzie Graves, Jessie Aylor, Iva Riddell, Bessie Baker and Miss Nannie Lodge, near here, and Mrs. Emma Kilgour and Miss Alice Reitman, of Francesville, were guests of Mrs. Mae Aylor, last Thursday.

HATHAWAY.

W. S. White was the first in this neighborhood to butcher hogs.

Miss Sara Huey and Mrs. Emma Marshall spent Saturday night and Sunday guests of N. H. Clements.

N. L. Moore and wife were Saturday night and Sunday guests of their daughter, Mrs. Tom Bradford.

G. L. Smith and wife, John C. White and wife and Mrs. Cynthia Mason were Friday guests at W. S. White's.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Big Bone Baptist church, met with Mrs. R. L. Huey Thursday and enjoyed the day quilting.

Mrs. E. C. Franks and niece, of Grant county, spent from Sunday until Thursday with relatives in this neighborhood, and attended the Society at Mrs. R. L. Huey's.

RABBIT HASH.

R. L. Piatt has moved to Rising Sun.

J. K. Beard and family, of Ind., were visiting at Noah West's, last Sunday.

Mrs. Josie Piatt, of Louisville, was here one day last week on business.

Omar Adams and wife, of Hathaway, returned Friday from a two weeks' visit in Nebraska.

William Bodie and wife, of Ohio county, Indiana, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Colin Kelly, Saturday and Sunday.

Ruffe Clore was the first to deliver tobacco in this neighborhood. He took a load to Gibson at Aurora, Monday. Price, 15 cents.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Holpin, of Ogden, Ohio, and their daughter, Mrs. Wilson, of Belleview, Ky., were visiting Mrs. Holpin's aunt, Mrs. Mary O'Neal, of East Bend, last week.

Misses Bettie and Abbie Stephens returned Monday, from a month's absence during which they visited Frankfort, Lexington, Louisville, Mammoth Cave and other Kentucky points of interest.

For Sale—Ford two or four passenger car—good running order—cheap. Apply to W. L. H. Baker, Ft. Thomas, Ky.

THE GOVERNMENT WANTS DAIRYMEN.

The establishment of creameries on several irrigation projects of the Government during the past two years has proven so successful that there is widespread interest in dairying among the settlers. Unfortunately many of the settlers are without the necessary capital to purchase good dairy stock and for the time being are forced to continue the uneconomic method of selling all their forage crops. A large number of these settlers are trying to operate more land than their means will permit, and with a view of engaging in dairying are desirous of subdividing their farms in order to get money for the purchase of stock. This has placed on the market a considerable area of land on several projects where nearly all of the Government land has been taken up. The prices and terms offered are more on the basis of the need of money than on actual value, and offer excellent opportunities for experienced dairy men to establish themselves in communities where the success of their enterprise is practically assured. There are numerous sections where good land suited for dairy farming can be had at prices ranging from $25 to $50 per acre, with water ready for irrigation. On all these projects the markets for dairy products, beef and pork, are excellent and there is no indication of a continuance for an indefinite period. It has been demonstrated repeatedly that dairy farming in the West is the safest, surest, and in the long run the most profitable form of agriculture to engage in.

The Settlement Agent of the U. S. Reclamation Service at Chicago is furnishing information concerning location, prices and terms to all who are seeking homes in the West, but is especially desirous of interesting practical farmers with capital. Many of these projects contain a few Government farms available for homesteading, and literature describing them is also supplied. In view of the very high prices prevailing elsewhere for lands suitable for dairying, the western opportunities are regarded as exceedingly attractive.

HE CLIMBED TO SAFETY.

Last Monday William Kirkpatrick bought a heifer of Hubert Gaines and was put ing her in his slaughter house to butcher, and when she was separated from the cattle with which she was driven into the house she became frantic and soon had Mr. Kirk clinging to the rafters in the building, he not having time to get elsewhere for safety. Every few minutes the crazy animal would rear up and placing her front feet against the wall would blow her breath in Mr. Kirk's face, and he would begin to think of the negro parson and the bear, but did not have faith enough to beseech the Lord to intercede in his behalf as the parson did. Seeing that armed intervention was the only course that would bring about an adjustment of the matter Mr. Kirk sent one of his helpers for a gun and although he had only a short distance to go he thought he had surely gone to Florence for it. When the gun arrived the animal was shot and after she had been down some time Mr. Kirk called from his lodging place in the rafters, "are you sure she's dead?" This may appear funny to some but to the man in the rafters it was anything else but amusing.

Orthographists' Contest.

The spelling contest between Petersburg, Burington and Belleview schools will be held at Belleview Friday, Nov. 14th, at one o'clock p. m., and between Union, Walton and Verona at Walton, Saturday, Nov. 15th, at 1 o'clock p. m.

Friday, Nov. 21st, at 1 o'clock, p. m., the winner in these contests will compete with Florence for the banner, which has been held by the Florence school for the past year.

EDGAR C. RILEY,
Superintendent

Another Use For A Pich-Fork.

If you see a bunch of Burlington men and boys going to the country with pitchforks on their shoulders do not pronounce them a set of lunies on the supposition that they are hunting a job in a hay field at this time of the year, for they are only going rabbit gigging. Judge Roberts is one of the most successful in this part of the county when the sport is confined to the use of a pitchfork.

James Waters, of the Limaburg neighborhood, has bought of the heirs of the late John Long the 100 acre farm on Fowler's fork of Gunpowder creek, about two miles below Union, paying fifty dollars an acre therefor. It is said to be the most fertile farm in the Union neighborhood, and has been plowed very little for many years. Mr. Waters is one of the most industrious men in this county, and a good manager and so long as he keeps his health he will prosper on his new landed possession.

Read the premium list for the corn show.

Personal Mention.

M. L. Riddell and wife were in Covington, shopping, last Friday.

Courtney Walton, of Idlewild, spent last Friday afternoon in Burlington.

W. T. McMullen, of Belleview, was transacting business in Burlington, last Monday.

Mrs. V. W. Gaines, of Idlewild neighborhood, was the guest of Mrs. E. W. Duncan, last Thursday.

E. E. Ogden, of the northern part of the county, was a business visitor to Burlington, last Monday.

W. L. B. Rouse and Jas. Waters, of Limaburg neighborhood, were among the business visitors to Burlington the past week.

W. F. McKim, is at home from Cleveland, Ohio, where he underwent a surgical operation a few weeks ago, and is recovering nicely.

Mrs. Fannie Terrill, widow of the late Dr. Luther Terrill, was the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Edgar Riley, a few days the past week.

Mrs. John M. Lassing and son, John, of Newport, spent the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Brady, in Belleview neighborhood.

Hiram Long, of Florence precinct, was a caller at this office one day the past week. He is very much interested in the approaching corn show.

W. A. Price, president of Erlanger Deposit Bank, and R. K. Dulaney, of Kenton county, were among the nonresident taxpayers to call at the Sheriff's office the past week.

V. W. Gaines, of Idlewild neighborhood, passed through town one day the past week enroute to the Kelly nursery out on the East Bend road to get an auto load of fruit trees.

Rev. S. J. Bradley and wife, of Alexandria, Campbell Co., passed through Burlington last Friday afternoon enroute home from Petersburg where they had spent a few days with friends.

Having spent several days with Mrs. E. L. Dix and other friends in Burlington, Mrs. P. L. Peddicord, of Lakeland, went to Bracken county, last Saturday to spend a few days with friends and relatives. She was joined in Bracken by her husband, Dr. Peddicord.

Benjamin Paddock, of Hebron, called at this office, last Monday, and left the copy for the printing required by the Boone County Corn Show which will be held in Burlington on the 22nd inst. It is hoped that the farmers of this county will take an interest in the corn show and make the exhibits worth while, and show what they can do in the production of one of this country's greatest staples. A department has been arranged for the ladies and the premiums offered in it are sufficient to make it of much interest to all. Let everybody put their shoulders to the wheel and make the corn show the best ever held in the county. The social feature alone is worth a great deal.

POURED GASOLINE IN STOVE.

Carrollton, Ky., Nov. 7.—Miss Carrie B. Moreland, assistant principal of the Carrollton High School, died at five o'clock this morning from the effects of burns received last night, when she tried to start a fire with gasoline which she mistook for coal oil.

Miss Moreland was preparing her supper and, picking up a can which she supposed contained coal oil, she poured some on the fire in the cooking stove. Some embers which were still warm caused the explosion of the gasoline, and the burning liquid was thrown all over her. She rushed out into the street screaming, and neighbors came to her aid and extinguished the flames. They were too late, however, for she had inhaled the fire. She died after a night of terrible suffering. Miss Moreland ran for Superintendent of Public Instruction in the Democratic primary, but was defeated.

Are you getting together an exhibit for the corn show at the court house in Burlington on the 22d inst? The farmers should make the show one from which they will derive considerable benefit. The numerous liberal prizes to be awarded will be a small part of the profit to be derived if farmers manifest the interest they should. Many varieties of corn will be on exhibition and a comparison of notes as to the kind of soil best adapted for their cultivation, the time for planting and the manner of cultivation can be profitably discussed while attending the show. If you cannot bring a few ears of show corn come and see what others can do along that line and learn of them something. Remember, no one knows it all.

Congressman A. B. Rouse sent the RECORDER a copy of the regulations for collecting the income tax, but the RECORDER is sorry to say it is not in that class.

It is said that not in the history of navigation on the great lakes was there ever a blizzard in November as severe as that of the past week.

LOCAL ITEMS OF INTEREST

Did Tuesday morning make you think about getting your ice house ready for filling?

Don't forget to take your license with you when you go hunting next Saturday.

W. T. Davis has his sale of personal property advertised in this issue of the RECORDER.

About the last leaf burning of the season was indulged in the latter part of last week.

William Kirkpatrick has butchered a considerable number of hogs this week for persons about town.

County Clerk Rogers lead the ticket at the election on the 4th inst., the trick he pulled at his former election.

The party who borrowed a large screw-driver belonging to the RECORDER office will please return it at once.

It looks like eggs will cost too much during the holidays to be used in a certain very popular Christmas beverage.

W. Lee Gaines, of Walton, passed thru Burlington yesterday enroute home with several very handsome yearling mules.

Remember the date of the Pomona Grange Corn Show in Burlington. A considerable number of liberal premiums will be awarded.

Cleveland, Ohio, was put clear out of business by the recent blizzard. For several hours communications with the world was cut off.

Jas. Slayback has been gigging rabbits, using a pitchfork for a gig. He has killed several rabbits that way in the past few days.

Several Boone county people who will winter in Florida are packing their grips preparatory to taking their departure for the sunny south.

Since the nights have lengthened the goods-box oratorical club has resumed its nightly sessions, and some very heated and interesting subjects are handled.

John Holtzworth, of Florence precinct, was a caller at this office Tuesday. He said the thermometer registered 10 above zero at his house that morning.

Hubert White and others out on the East Bend road put a portion of that thoroughfare in fine condition by using the drag on it following the October rains.

A large number of persons who did not meet the sheriff when making his rounds of the county, have called at his office the last few days and taken up their tax receipts.

Thermometers in this part of the county were pretty well agreed as to the temperature last Tuesday morning—18 above zero, which was an unusually low temperature for the early days of November.

About ten days ago nonresident parties were looking at farms in Idlewild and Bullittsville neighborhoods with a view to purchasing. They want a large farm, location being the most important feature with them.

The RECORDER is carrying agricultural matter prepared especially for Kentucky farmers, and it may be worth your while to read it. By so doing you will evidently acquire some information that may be of use to you.

Beemon Bros., of Hopeful neighborhood, sold and delivered to W. L. Kirkpatrick, one day the past week, for $407, 22 two hundred and fifty pound Thinrind hogs weighed in Burlington. Mr. Kirkpatrick bought these hogs to put up for his local trade the coming summer.

The cholera having been getting in its work pretty freely in this county those on whose farms it has not appeared should take every precaution possible to render their hogs immune. At the price which hogs are bringing by a few deaths a heavy loss is incurred. Vaccinate.

Taking into consideration the number of fruit trees that have been set in this county in the last twenty-five years and also the small quantity of fruit that has been sold therefrom, it appears that fruit growing is a failure here, but it has been pretty thoroughly demonstrated that neglect of the trees, beginning immediately after they are set and continuing through their life, is responsible for the poor yield. It requires considerable labor to keep an orchard in proper condition both as to the soil and the trees, and unless the labor is forthcoming at the proper time results are sure to be meager.

ALFALFA CROPS IN KENTUCKY ATTRACTING MUCH ATTENTION

Number of Growers Fast Increasing As Its Feeding Value Is Realized—William Givens Relates His Experience in Raising Alfalfa for Live Stock Feeders

(H. B. Hendrick, Department of Agronomy, Kentucky Experiment Station.)

Illustration showing an alfalfa field shocked and capped after harvest.

Alfalfa is a crop much discussed by the farmers of Kentucky at the present time. Its great feeding value, closely approximating wheat bran, ton for ton, is fast coming to be appreciated, and the number of farmers attempting to grow alfalfa is fast increasing. This is a good sign, for there can be little doubt but that alfalfa can be successfully grown on fifty per cent of the farm lands of our state when its requirements are fully understood and are furnished at the hands of experienced growers. Many attempts to grow this valuable legume fail because farmers start with a large acreage and, failing to comply with one or more of the requirements of the plant, get poor results, count the cost, and thus become discouraged and render the verdict that it can not be done in Kentucky. It is the firm belief of the writer that the farmer inexperienced with alfalfa should begin with a small acreage, putting foremost the idea of learning to grow the crop, sticking to it each year until complete success is attained, and then introducing alfalfa into the regular cropping system of the farm.

Mr. Wm. Givens, whose experience is here given, started by learning how. He owns a farm of 400 acres, four miles south from Danville, in the southern part of the blue-grass region, that section called "The Knobs." Mr. Givens practices general farming.

This illustration shows a Kentucky alfalfa field before cutting.

Liming and Inoculation Necessary.

The interest of Mr. Givens in alfalfa grew from reading in agricultural journals the value of this crop to live stock feeders. In 1907 he selected three acres from his cattle feed lot and plowed and prepared the seed bed just before the time for sowing. The field was well drained and, of course, rich in humus. The seed was sown in August after being inoculated with bacterial culture furnished by the United States Department of Agriculture. In the spring of 1908, just before the first cutting, Mr. Givens noticed that the alfalfa was turning yellow. Immediately after cutting, the ground was disked and 600 pounds of slaked lime, 400 pounds finely ground Tennessee rock phosphate, and 400 pounds of cotton seed meal were applied through the fertilizer attachment of the drill. The cotton seed meal, while rich in nitrogen, was used to make the lime and phosphate rock sow from the drill.

In 1907 Mr. Givens states that three crops were cut, while each year since four cuttings have been taken, and he believes that five cuttings could have been removed without injury to the alfalfa. The year 1911 was a very poor one for hay on account of early dry weather, but four cuttings were removed that year, and Mr. Givens says that his three acres of alfalfa furnished more feed than his seventy acres of timothy. Alfalfa is a dry weather crop. In 1912, the sixth year of cutting, the estimated yield was 8 tons per acre, and from 15 to 20 tons were sold at the barn for $20 per ton. The first cutting of this three-acre field was this year hauled to Danville and sold for $146. No crop in extensive farming is more profitable than alfalfa.

Cutting, Curing and Cultivation.

The importance of cutting alfalfa just at the right time is emphasized by Mr. Givens. He thinks that the common "cure all" of clipping when alfalfa turns yellow kills the plants in many instances. The time to cut alfalfa is when the young shoots appear at the crowns of the plants. The alfalfa is cut with a mower, allowed to wilt, then raked into small windrows, shocked and capped. The caps are commonly made of canvas, but Mr. Givens uses covers made from four cotton seed meal sacks, left double, sown together at two edges, and weighted with pieces of stone or brick at the four corners. The sewing of the covers costs three cents each, and they have been preserved and used with perfect satisfaction for several years. The hay after curing under these caps for two days of good weather is hauled to the barn and has never been known to spoil in the shocks nor in the barn. Immediately after each cutting Mr. Givens cultivates the ground even while the alfalfa is yet in shock. He has for this purpose a spring tooth harrow with teeth much narrowed at the points, but often uses instead the double cutting disk." He says, "When I get through cultivating my alfalfa it looks almost like a corn field prepared for planting."

After some years of experience with the three-acre field, Mr. Givens decided to grow alfalfa more extensively, and in the latter part of August, 1912, following a wheat crop, he prepared the land and sowed twenty-six acres. In this case 1,000 pounds per acre of rock phosphate was turned under, then 1,500 pounds of ground limestone per acre was applied and worked into the soil. The inoculation was this time effected by using about 150 pounds per acre of soil from the old alfalfa field. After inoculation, the seed bed was made very fine and firm, then 20 pounds of seed per acre was sown and covered only about one-half an inch. Small seeds are often covered too deeply. The writer visited this field May 15, 1913, and saw a beautiful and valuable crop of alfalfa.

Waste field adjacent to Mr. Givens' splendid alfalfa.

Have Hard Coal Heat at Soft Coal Cost

NO need of your buying hard coal when you heat with Moore stoves. But—it's a waste of money to burn soft coal in a common stove—for 38 per cent. of the heat from soft coal goes up the chimney in the form of smoke and gas, that are dead loss.

Moore's Air-Tight Heater

Gets all the heat value out of soft coal. Moore's Everlasting Firepot burns the gas, the smoke, the soot, saving the 38 per cent. of fuel value that is usually lost. And think of the difference in cost! Cuts down your present fuel bills fully a half. But you don't have to burn soft coal unless you wish—Moore's Air-Tight Heater burns the cheapest slack or best hard coal equally well. The Moore's Dust Flue, which carries all dust up the chimney—and the Air-Tight Draft Control which makes as "slow" or as "fast" a fire as you want—are two other great features you'll appreciate.

Moore's Range With the Glass Oven Door

makes cooking and baking a pleasure. Saves work—keeps your kitchen clean—cuts your coal bills in half. We sell them—all styles and sizes.

CROUCH & ROUSE

ERLANGER, KENTUCKY

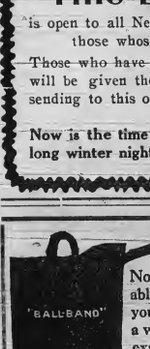
Look Here!

The Best Offer Ever.

The Boone County Recorder.....
The Weekly Enquirer.....
Farm & Fireside, semi-monthly.....
Poultry Success, monthly.....
Woman's World, monthly.....
Farm News, monthly.....

All One Year For

$2.10



By Ordering the above separately the cost would be $4.25 for the Six Publications each one year.

This Big Proposition

is open to all New Subscribers to The Recorder and to those whose renewals will extend into 1914.

Those who have renewed up to or beyond Jany. 1, 1914 will be given the benefit of the above combination by sending to this office Sixty Cents.

Now is the time to secure your reading matter for the long winter nights coming on. Grasp this Opportunity.

No one was ever comfortable with wet feet, and you'll find the doctor a whole lot more expensive than

"BALL-BAND" RUBBER FOOTWEAR

A pair will keep you warm and dry all winter, for "Ball-Band" goods have wear built into them from top to toe. Buy now while we have every size.

For sale by

W. M. Rachal & Co

Union, Ky

THE WIND GOES SOME.

Up to the present the greatest speed of the wind has never been measured, for the simple reason that no instrument has yet been invented capable of doing so.

In 1878 a anemometer on Mt. Washington registered 186 miles an hour which is the greatest velocity on record, and last November a Robinson anemometer was blown away in Jamaca when registering 120 miles an hour.

A tornado, however, blows far harder than that. At various times attempts have been made to estimate the velocity of the wind in a tornado by observing its effects. For instance, in 1875 a board of pine wood was blown against and right through a telegraph pole, while during the same storm another plank was driven three inches into the trunk of a tree.

It is calculated that such effects could only have been produced by a force little less than that of a cannon ball—that is to say they must have been traveling at the rate of between 600 and 800 miles per hour.—Ex.

A flock of sheep will waste more than hay enough to pay for the lumber to build a good rack in a single winter, if you feed them out on the ground.

COMING TO THE FRONT.

Frankfort, November 8.—Twenty five women were elected Superintendents of county schools in the recent election, the largest number ever elected in this State.

They were Mrs. Lee M Campbell, Anderson county; Miss Nettie Depp, Barren county; Miss Ruby Kincaid, Bath county; Miss Mable Robbins, Bourbon county; Mrs. Lydia Lewis, Boyle county; Miss Lucile Grogan, Calloway county; Miss Sallie Ford, Carroll county; Mrs. Nannie C. Faulkner, Fayette county; Miss Oma Preston Boyd, county; Miss Virginia Luten, Fulton county; Miss Jennie Higgins, Garrard county; Miss Ella Lewis, Grayson county; Miss Lizzie Y. Gravhan, Green county; Miss Jessie O. Yancey, Mason county; Miss Nora Alcorn, McCreary county; Miss Ora L. Adams, Mercer county; Miss Georgia Sledd, Montgomery county; Miss Annie Louglest, Muhlenberg county; Miss Lidia Gardner, Nicholas county; Mrs. Kate S. Bohannon, Powell county; Miss Mary Bradley, Scott county; Miss Katie Beauchamp, Spencer county; Miss Carrie Hood, Trimble county, and Miss Ella Shaunty, Washington county.

There is a decided difference between a cow keeper and a dairyman.

Which Shall Wife Wash?

Which cream separator bowl does the wife prefer to wash?

On the left are four styles of common "bucket bowls" used in ordinary cream separators. On the right is a light, simple, sanitary Sharples Dairy Tubular bowl of the same capacity—used only in Sharples Tubular Separators.

These illustrations were made from actual photographs. Notice the weights—count the pieces. The Sharples Tubular bowl contains but one piece, and that piece is smooth, instantly removable and about the size and shape of a napkin ring. The Tubular bowl can easily be perfectly cleaned in three minutes.

Yet makers of "bucket bowls"—barred by patents from making or using Tubular bowls—say "bucket bowls" are as easy to clean, and wear as long, as Tubular bowls.

Take another look at the picture. Show it to your wife. Which had she rather wash? Which do you think will wear the longest. We sell Sharples Tubular—the finest cream separators and surest money makers made. Bring your wife and look at one.

QUIGLEY & BEEMON

LIMABURG, KY.

Peters "ALL-FOR-WEAR"

THE BEST WORK SHOE IN THE WORLD

FOR SALE BY

W. M. RACHAL & CO.

UNION, KENTUCKY.

H. G. BLANTON,

Funeral Director & Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.

First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.

I Have a Nice White Funeral Car and Ambulance.

Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.

Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,

GRANITE & MARBLE

MONUMENTS,

Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.

Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.

Office and Wareroom:

70 and 72 Main Street,

AURORA, IND.

IRA POPE Agent, - - Grant, Ky

J. L. HAMILTON

(Successor to M. T. WILSON)

FUNERAL DIRECTOR,

Verona, Ky.

Telephone calls day or night given prompt attention. Mrs. M. T. Wilson is my assistant and solicits the patronage of the friends of her late husband. dec-1 19

WANTED

Man and family to take charge of farm on the Bellevue pike about 1½ miles from Burlington, Ky. Good house, cow and chickens furnished—must state salary expected. Address this office.

A Splendid Clubbing Bargain

WE OFFER

The Boone Co. Recorder

AND

The Cincinnati Weekly Enquirer

Both One Year For Only $1.85

Subscriptions may be new or renewal.

What the Weekly Enquirer is.

It is issued every Thursday, subscription price $1 per year, and it is one of the best home metropolitan weeklies of to-day. It has all the facilities of the great DAILY ENQUIRER, for obtaining the world's events, and for that reason can give you all the leading news. It carries a great amount of valuable farm matter, crisp editorials and reliable up-to-date market reports. Its numerous departments make it a home farm or business man.

This grand offer is limited and we advise you to take advantage by subscribing for the above combination right now. Call or mail orders to

BOONE CO. RECORDER,

Burlington, Ky.

S. Gaines,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

Burlington, Ky.

Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

CHAS. E. GARNETT.

AUCTIONEER.

Will go to any part of the county Address.

R. D. 2, Ludlow, Ky.

Subscribe for Your County Paper.

OLD CONTRACTORS TO QUIT.

English Company That Dammed the Nile to Retire From Business Next Year.

The passing away of one of the greatest contracting firms in the world, John Aird & Co., is announced for next year. The firm, which dammed the Nile and carried out other great works throughout the world, will cease to exist next September, by which time all outstanding contracts will have been completed.

The decision to go out of business has been taken by the present Sir John Aird, who succeeded his father in 1911, and inherited from him a fortune of over $5,000,000. The reason given is that, while the risks of contracting are as great as they ever were, the profits are not nearly so large as they were some twenty or thirty years ago. Great plants will be distributed and a staff of engineers and workmen, who are said to have no superiors, will be seeking new positions as a result of the action.

John Aird & Co. was started in 1848 by John Aird, a Scottish mason, who came to London from Rossshire, and after following his trade for several years, was appointed superintendent of the Phoenix Gas company at Greenwich. There he learned the business that gave him his start, and the first big undertaking of his firm was the laying of water and gas mains for London.

VANDERBILT HAS WISE GROOM

Possesses Sure Way of Telling Those Whose Riches Are Newly Acquired.

Newport, as all the world knows, is getting more and more overrun with the nouveaux riches. The nouveaux riches are buying up the finest estates, and the old and exclusive Newport families are retiring to more isolated resorts.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt, at one of his dinners at his luxurious Newport farm, said of a nouveaux riche who was assuming an extraordinary disdain for all things common and plebeian:

"This chap's way of turning up his nose reminds me of a groom of mine who used to say:

" 'Keep yer eye on what a man turns up his nose at, and ye'll know what he's been raised on.' "

Novel Church.

Without sectarian ideas or denominational teaching, a gospel meeting is held all the summer months in the unique Boardwalk church at Atlantic City. This year—the fifth of the church's existence—services are being conducted each Lord's day morning in the Bijou theater—a room used usually for moving pictures. The Rev. Robert Elwood is the founder and pastor. It is a church without a choir, officer or single member and without a collection plate. The business men of Atlantic City, as well as the visitors, think it worth while and maintain this gospel lighthouse by the sea. Ninety per cent. of the audience is new each Sunday. Persons gladly turn in from the boardwalk at the call for worship. The audience is reverent, though cosmopolitan. One Sunday morning when a test was made every civilized country was represented in the large congregation, as well as most of the states of the Union.—Christian Herald.

Bobbie Burns' Granddaughter.

An action has been entered in Dumfries sheriff court by Miss Annie Beckett Burns of Cheltenham, the only surviving granddaughter of the Scottish poet, claiming "to have herself, as the nearest of kin, declared executrix of certain hitherto unconfirmed personal estate of the said Robert Burns." This is a sequel to the recent announcement that the Liverpool Athenaeum had sold for £5,000 the two volumes of Burns' poems and letter known as the Glenriddell manuscripts, and that they were likely to go to America, an announcement which brought strong protests from Lord Roseberry, Dr. William Wallace and others.—Westminster Gazette.

Small Reasons for Big Strikes.

The "button strike," as the recent omnibus trouble in London has come to be called, may seem to have had a trivial origin, but many great industrial disputes have sprung from causes quite as small. A few years ago a thousand men struck work at Sunderland because they objected to a policeman in one of the yards, and wanted his removal. Tailors have gone on strike because of the edict forbidding the taking of snuff during working hours. In one Yorkshire town all the mill girls refused to work because their employer had painted the window of the workroom facing the street, thus shutting out the view.

British Metaphor.

Pegoud, the French aviator, who loops the loop upside down, has inspired the sport writers of Great Britain to attacks upon metaphor unknown befors in that solemn land. William Shakespeare speaking through Hotspur says: "I tell you, my lord fool, out of this nettle danger, we pluck this flower safety," but they speak of the air-man in his lofty tumbling as "plucking the whiskers of catastrophe," which is several sizzles beyond Master William.

As Advertised.

One of the astonishing things about the hats and gowns of the present is that they are really as funny as the pictures represent them.—Washington Star.

OLD HEROES CHARM NO MORE

Deerfoot, Thaddeus of Warsaw and Others Seem to Be Forgotten by the Youth of Today.

A group of American schoolboys visiting England were taken to Rugby to gather impressions. The English masters, fearful that the boys, instead of using their eyes, would carry away just the impression they had brought—an impression, of course, left by reading "Tom Brown's School Days"—made eager inquiries, which brought to light the fact that not one of the hundred boys had ever read the schoolboy classic. Nor was that the worst. Few of the English boys attending the school had read the book, either. A recent investigation in an American city revealed the astounding fact that the charm of Deadwood Dick and other rugged western types begins to pall on Young America decidedly early.

It would scarcely surprise one to hear that Deerfoot no longer casts his potent spell, that Thaddeus of Warsaw is unknown, that the brisk and self-reliant heroes of Alger, Optic and Henty are no longer brisk enough, and that Tom Sawyer himself is out of date. What do the youngsters read nowadays? Have they become addicted to treatises on population, exposures of graft, articles on scientific management, arguments for the suffrage and proposals to let the people rule? It may be that the cradles and the nurseries of the present are sheltering brains so eager and active that the best thing we grownups can do is to relegate ourselves promptly to the shelf.

EASILY FOUND A LOOPHOLE

Once More Corporation Lawyer Made Himself Entitled to Admiration of Mankind.

They were swapping tariff yarns.

"You know Simonpure Spring water—that Canadian water," a drummer said.

"Sure, sure, Mike," they chorused.

"Well, just before the Dingley tariff bill passed, a bunch of Boston boys bought the Simonpure spring. They thought to get rich by importing the water under the new tariff law.

"But Dingley, bless his heart—Dingley put a duty of 25 cents a gallon on spring water and the Boston boys were in a pretty fix."

"What did they do? What did they do, eh?

"Why, they sought out a corporation lawyer, of course, as you or I'd have done."

"'Lawyer,' they said, 'we want to break the law.'

"The corporation lawyer thought hard. Then he winked.

"'Freeze your water,' he said. 'Import it in cakes and bottle it on this side of the border. There ain't no duty on ice.'

"Aren't these corporation lawyers wonders? The scheme worked and it's still working. Simonpure spring water is drunk all over the Union today and on every gallon of it, thanks to that corporation lawyer, the government is robbed of 25 cents."

Difference Between Rib and Bar.

Mr. James Stuart, a former lord rector of St. Andrew's university, has in one of his books the following illustrations of word values. On one occasion Mr. Stuart chanced to be assisted in some engineering work at Cambridge by a native of Fifeshire. In the words of the narrative, "he (the worker) lodged with an employe of the Pitt Press, but one day, to my surprise, he changed his lodgings.

"I asked him what was the reason for the change. 'There's a kind o' cauldness sprung up between me and the man,' said he. 'How's that, James?' 'Weel,' he said, 'they use very curious words here.' 'What kind of words?' said I. 'Weel,' said he, 'they ca' ribs of a grate bars.' 'But what had that to do with it?' said I. 'Oh, said he, 'it just came aboot this way. I was sittin' wi' a bit chisel in my hands afore the fire, and I wanted to soften it, and said to the wife, "Will ye just let me slap this in your ribe?" and with that she gae a skirl, and in comes the man, and there's been a cauldness between him and me sin' syne.' "

Public Health.

John Burns, member of parliament, in a recent address asserted that it was to English speaking peoples that the world is indebted for the great codes that have been originated for the care of the public health. He said that these peoples are the colonizers of the world, they are modern Romans, whose strength lies in their limbs not in their swords, and this is due to their noble motherhood. "Healthy parents," says Mr. Burns, "happy children. For this the parents must be cleanly wed, children nobly bred, wisely fed, and firmly led." He advocated plain living, gave statistics to show that high wages did not lessen mortality among children, and that in English farm laborers the death rate was much smaller than in other pursuits though wages were very low.

New German Industry.

Germany has now 26 establishments engaged in the production of dry yeast. It keeps indefinitely and is a nutritious food not only for cattle, but also for human beings, after the removal of the unpleasantly bitter hop resin that it contains. The industry has developed within the last three years, heretofore the thousands of tons of yeast produced annually by the German breweries being almost without value, except for the small amount used by the breweries themselves to hasten the fermentation of the wort.

PUBLIC SALE.

I will sell at public auction at my residence on the Florence turnpike, one and a half miles from Burlington, Boone county, Kentucky, on

Thursday, December 4th, '13

the following property:

3 work horses, 1 colt 19 months old, 2 good milk cows—one fresh, 2 good Jersey heifers 20 months old, brood sow and 8 shoats, 8 dozen chickens, 200 bushels corn—some in shock, lot of fodder, some seed corn, 10 tons of hay—timothy, clover and alfalfa; good road wagon with bed and seat, platform spring wagon, rock bed, 2-horse cultivator, good Milwaukee binder, McCormick mower, Deering sulky hay rake, land roller, disc harrow, Acme harrow, smoothing harrow, 2 breaking plows, Oliver plow, Clipper fanning mill for grain or grass seed, hay bed, wheat drill, lot of lumber and wire, corn drill, heater and stove wood, good buggy, 2 sets of buggy harnes, 2 sets double wagon harness, lot of all kinds of tools, grind stone and corn sheller, good Hurst sprayer and air press sprayer, spinning wheel, No. 15 Delaval separator, 10 gallon kettle, lot locust post, lot Irish potatoes, lot bushel crates, lawn swing, good violin and case, household and kitchen furniture consisting of bedsteads, stands, chairs, sewing machine, rocking chairs, extension table, dishes, carpets and safe, barrel churn, lot soft soap, 3 shares capital stock in Hebron Telephone Co., also a private line of 400 pounds line wire and telephone box, and many other things too numerous to mention.

TERMS:—Sums of $5.00 and under, cash; on sums over $5.00 a credit of nine months without interest will be given, purchaser to excute note with approved security, negotiable and payable in Peoples Deposit Bank at Burlington, Ky.

Terms must be complied with before property is removed.

Sale to begin at 9 a. m. sharp.

W. T. DAVIS.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of Execution No. 56 directed to me, which issue from the Clerk's Office of the Boone Circuit Court, in favor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky against Abraham Sear, John Sear and Ollie D. Felthaus, I or one of my deputies, will, on Monday, the 1st day of December, 1913, between the hours of 1 o'clock p. m. and 2:30 o'clock p. m., at the Court House door in Burlington, Boone county, Kentucky, expose to public sale, to the highest bidder, the following described property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy plaintiff's debt, interest and costs, to-wit:

Lying and being in Boone county, Kentucky, in the town of Petersburg, Ky., situated on Broadway street between Front and First streets, further known and designated on the official plan and plat of said town as lot No. 56. A strip 12 feet wide across the rear of the southeast half of said lot 56 is excepted out of said boundary, and being same property sold to Abraham Sear by Lawrence Chambers by deed recorded in Deed Book No. 52, page 528, and levied upon as the property of Abraham Sear.

Terms:—Sale will be made on a credit of three months, bond with approved security required, bearing interest at the rate of six pecent per annum interest from day of sale and having the force and effect of a judgment. Amount to be raised by sale, $66.40.

B. B. HUME, Sheriff Boone Co.

Boone County Farms and Town Property For Sale.

165 acres on the Waterloo and Rabbit Hash pike 2½ miles from Rabbit Hash and 4½ miles from Belleview. One and one-half story house with nine rooms, two new barns 36x48 and 40x48, other out buildings, plenty of water, good fence, all in grass but 20 acres. Price $60 per acre.

—!!—

100 acres almost adjoining the above farm with no house but good barn 36x48. Fifty acres woodland. 75 acres of this land will grow tobacco. Plenty water. Five acres in cultivation. Price $30.00 per acre. The two above farms could be considered as one farm or can be sold separate.

—!!—

160 acres on the Ohio river near Lawrenceburg Ferry, eight room house, barn 40x60 and other outbuildings, good fence. Price $6,500.

—!!—

86 acres on the Waterloo and McVille pike ¾ mile from McVille and about 1½ miles from Waterloo or Belleview. No improvements except good fences. Plenty water. All in grass. Thirty acres will grow tobacco. Price $20.00 per acre.

—!!—

Good 5-room house and one acre ground in Burlington. Price $1000.

—!!—

Two houses and lots in Petersburg one for $600 and the other for $400.

Also have some farms for sale not listed above.

A. B. RENAKER,
Burlington, Ky.

How They Do In Owen.

Wednesday morning the citizens of Owenton showed their public spirit by turning out upon the public thoroughfares to lend their aid to repairing them. If the entire county turns out as well as we believe they will many rocks will be broken and ditches dug besides the road sentiment that it expresses. The people of the town seems to be anxious to work notwithstanding the fact that they pay 75c per $100 and a poll tax to keep up the streets.—Owen Democrat.

What a man earns doesn't interest his wife so much as what she gets.

A MESSAGE TO WOMEN

Who Are "Just Ready to Drop."

When you are "just ready to drop," when you feel so weak that you can hardly drag yourself about—and because you have not slept well, you get up as tired-out next morning as when you went to bed, you need help.

Miss Lea Dumas writes from Malone, N. Y., saying: "I was in a badly run-down condition for several weeks but two bottles of Vinol put me on my feet again and made me strong and well. Vinol has done me more good than all the other medicines I ever took."

If the careworn, run-down women, the pale, sickly children and feeble old folks around here would follow Miss Dumas' example, they, too, would soon be able to say that Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron remedy, had built them up and made them strong.

It is a wonderful, strength creator and body-builder, and we sell it under a guarantee of satisfaction. You get your money back if Vinol does not help you.

P. S. For any skin trouble try our Saxo Salve. We guarantee it.

Robert W. Jones, Druggist, Walton

DUROC JERSEY

"Florence Fair Prize Winners." Extra good BOARS at farmers prices.

J. F. CLEEK,
Richwood, Ky.

Poland China Hogs.

Only a few gilts left. All male hogs are sold. Sired by the celebrated Money Maker No. 84771, King-to-Be 82903, Onward 81371.

THOMAS POWERS,
oct-2 2m Crittenden, Ky.

Rogers Bros. General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE. Coal Kept in the Yard.

Country Produce taken in Trade.

B. S. O'NEAL,

AUCTIONEER,

VERONA, - KENTUCKY.

Your Order is Solicited.

For Sale or Rent.

One Hundred and Eight and Two-Third Acres of Land, at the mouth of Gunpowder creek in this county; the best hog farm in Northern Kentucky. For further particulars call on or address Erastus Rice, Rising Sun, Indiana, or S. D. Rice, Grant, Ky., R. D. 1.

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN,

DENTIST.

will be at Burlington on the first and second Monday, and in Union on the third and fourth Monday of each month, prepared and qualified to practice according to the latest methods extracting teeth painless.

All work guaranteed.

DR. B. W. STALLARD

with DR. SHOBER'S

QUEEN CITY DENTISTS

Nos. 43-49 W. Fifth Ave.,

CINCINNATI, - - OHIO.

F. J. HENN. M. M. HUSCHART.

LAWRENCEBURG

Granite and Marble Works

Manufacturers of and Dealers in

fine American and Imported Monuments.

Cemetery Work of Every Description Promptly and Carefully Attended to.

Lawrenceburg, :-: Indiana.

D. M. SNYDER, Agt., Burlington, Ky.

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS

For Sale, stock from the flock scoring most points at State Fair last fall. Cockerels, $1.00 each; eggs in season. (dec 18)

MRS. B. C. GRADDY,
Bullittsville, Ky.

FOR SALE

Good Steinway Piano. Apply to Dr. B. A. DULANEY, Florence, Ky.

It may be more blessed to give than receive, but in most cases the average man would rather pose as the catcher than the pitcher.

Take your County Paper.

FIFTY-SECOND SEMI-ANNUAL STATEMENT OF THE

Boone County Deposit Bank

Burlington, Kentucky

At Close of Business December 31, 1912.

RESOURCES.		LIABILITIES.
Loans, Bonds, &c....	$170,858.50	Capital Stock.....	$ 30,000.00
Overdrafts.....	52.81	Surplus.....	45,000.00
Due from Banks.....	38,391.04	Undivided Profits, &c	7,581.49
Cash.....	7,711.80	Deposits.....	136,591.35
Banking House, &c..	3,000.00	Due Banks.....	841.31
Total.....	$220,014.15	Total.....	$220,014.15

A Bank that is going after business, and going in the right way.

HOW? By promptness in serving its customers.

By courteous attention to their banking needs.

By readiness in meeting their requirements, and, above all

By perfect security of the funds intrusted to its care, having over $100.00 for to secure depositors.

We have the largest Capital and Surplus of any Bank in this county, and are amply able to accommodate our patrons, and are willing at all times to afford them every accommodation justified by the rules of good and safe banking, whether their accounts are large or small.

N. E. RIDDELL, President. J. C. REVILL, Cashier.

J. F. KIESWETTER,

RUGS MADE of OLD CARPETS

Compressed Air Carpet Cleaning.

TELEPHONE SOUTH 21.

250 PIKE STREET,

Covington, - - - Ky.

M. RIDDELL, Agent, Burlington, Ky.

ADAMS

A New Victrola for $75

A Cabinet Style Victrola combining a record cabinet for only $75.00. Same perfect, mellow tone quality of the most expensive Victrola, same elegant finish.

Easy Monthly Payments.

A. ADAMS,

15 Pike Street,

Covington, - - Ky.

The Cincinnati Grain Co.

HAVE OPENED THEIR NEW HOUSE AT ERLANGER, KY.

FREE PHONE ERLANGER 49

Handle Hay, Grain, Flour and Feed of all Kinds. Will Also Buy Your Wheat, Rye, Etc.

Special Notice—We are selling at city prices, consequently can save you the long haul from Covington and Cincinnati.

GIVE US A TRIAL

FARM MOTORS

For Pumping, Operating Churns, Saws, Corn Shredders, Filling Silos, Etc.

Last a Lifetime. From 1½ to 25 h. p. $33 and up.

Ready To Run.

Direct Factory Representatives

SPENCER-HARTLIEB CO.

316-318 MAIN STREET

CINCINNATI, OHIO

Phone, 1810 Main

Read Our Big Combination Offer.

BOONE CO. RECORDER
W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

If Uncle Sam gets into a war with Mexico there is no telling how many other nations he will have to whip before he is through.

Mr. Huerta, of Mexico, has placed the chip on his shoulder and wants to know what Mr. Wilson, of the United States, intends to do about it.

The election of twenty-five women to county offices in Kentucky at the recent election, shows the trend of the suffrage breeze that has been breezing in this country for several years. Before this country is twenty-five years older the women will be on an equal footing with the men in the matter of suffrage, and man and wife will go to the polls together unless poor father is compelled to remain at home to look after the kids while mother goes to the election.

As an illustration of what one man can accomplish with twelve acres of apple orchard it is only necessary to state that Squire Herbert Anderson will realize nearly $8,000 from the sale of apples from this orchard this year and the quality of the apples is as good as can be found anywhere in the United States. Mr. Anderson has been growing apples for years and no man anywhere is better qualified to bring the best results. He applies scientific principles to his labor and as a result his fruit is far superior to that grown on adjoining land, solely because of the scientific methods employed. What has been done by him can be done by any farmer in McCracken county. Last year his crop was worth $9,000 and this was grown on twelve acres of land, his yield last year being slightly better than this season's crop.—Paducah News-Democrat.

If the General Assembly has the power so to do it ought to pass a law putting each county in the State in absolute control of its public roads. It is an impossibility to make a road law for the entire State that is adapted to the requirement of all sections. Conditions in different counties are different and by local legislation only can the several conditions be met, and it is reasonable to suppose that the Fiscal Court of a county could handle its public roads affairs more satisfactorily to the people of its county than the General Assembly does when it deals with the one hundred and twenty counties in a lump. The fact is Kentucky never had a road law that gave satisfaction which may in a great measure account for the poor condition of her roads as a rule. The road law has been under fire in Boone county every since the civil war. There have been numerous changes made in the law, and many people claim not one has been for the better, while under some of them there have been grave charges of graft on the part of persons whose duties it was to expend the road tax. That much of the road money raised in this county has failed to produce results is true, but it may be because of the location of many miles of the roads to which it was applied, they being in creeks and branches where it is impossible to do work that will stand. It does seem that a Fiscal Court with even moderate ability ought to be able to give to the people of its county such a system of road working as is adapted to the county and which would satisfy the people.

THE BLIZZARD.

Louisville, Nov. 9.—Borne by an icy gale from the Northeast, a heavy storm, carrying snow and amounting in many places to a blizzard, swept Kentucky to-day.

Snow, eight to ten inches deep, has fallen in several sections of the state, while in others low temperatures and high winds have prevailed.

The storm struck the state about 10 o'clock this morning, since which time all parts of the commonwealth have felt its fury. After eight hours a slight moderation took place and to-night the storm shows signs of abatement with warmer weather promised by to-morrow morning.

Official temperature of 25 to 28 above zero are the lowest to be reported. The highest wind velocity recorded was 30 miles, and hour records taken by the Louisville Weather Bureau show that the wind velocity has not been less than 20 miles an hour all day.

Estimates of damage are not definite to-night, but live stock has suffered greatly all over the state.

Snow fell all day in Middlesborough, where a depth of 8 inches is recorded on the mountains.

Carlisle, in Nicholas county suffered. The wind attained high velocity and prevailed throughout the day. Farmers are reporting much suffering among live stock in that section.

At Cynthiana a windstorm, with the aspects of a blizzard, began shortly after last midnight. The ground is white for the first time this season.

Richmond and other points thru the central portions of the state report a heavy blizzard. Snow has fallen all day. A biting wind, traveling at high speed, is causing extreme discomfort.

At Maysville November weather records were broken. The snowfall was three inches. A howling blizzard swept that section of the Ohio valley.

Lost—On the road between my house and Constance my pocketbook containing $7 or $8.00. The finder will plesse return it to me. John Hogan.

We Give and Redeem "Trade in Covington Profit Sharing Tickets"

Madison Ave Cor. Seventh COPPIN'S Covington, Kentucky

WEARING APPARAL FOR THANKSGIVING. PRICES SO LOW THAT EVERY WOMAN THAT VISITS THIS SALE WILL BE THANKFUL FOR THE OPPORTUNITY.

COATS Every kind of coat is to be had of us and always at a moderate price, but the greatest coat values of the seasons are the groups as arranged for Thanksgiving Selling, marked at $5.00, $7.00 and $12.00 at $5.00; Ladies' and Misses' Stylish, Long Black Coats made of fine Melton and Thibets cloth, large collar trimmed with satin or braid, deep cuffs trimmed to match; extraordinary values at $5.00; size 14 to 46.

COATS at $7.00. Ladies' Black Melton Coats; large back, plaid collar, deep cuffs, full length, fastens with two large frogs; Misses' Blue Chinchilla high neck, and Misses' Rough Chiviots in Navy, Copenhagen and Brown, draped bottom. Special values at.....$7.00

COATS at $12.50. Ladies' and Misses' handsome coats, made in all new models, plain striped, Zibeline, Boucle, Astrakhan in fancy mixtures, button high at the neck; notch or shawl collar; plain or fancy back, belted or straight back; three quarter lengths or cutaway models. Be sure to see these beauties before you buy. Great values.....$12.00

SUIT SPECIAL. Women's and Misses' Suits at $13.50. Every suit in this lot new and strictly up-to-date. They come from a manufacturer who never makes a suit to retail for less than $16.50, so you can expect to see actual $16.50 suits at the sensationally low price of $13.50. The coats are made 36 in. models, plain tailored, three button cutaway front, guaranteed satin lined; the skirts are draped on sides; the materials are all wool serge in Copenhagen, Brown, Navy Blue and Black, size 14 to 44.

CHILDREN'S COATS. Little Tots Astrakhan, Chinchilla and Black Plaid, also Broadcloth in Blue, Red, and Copenhagen, neatly trimmed in fancy buttons, sizes 2 to 6 years. Special values at $4.98.

BLACK AND BROWN CONEY SETS. Special at $7.98. Black and Brown French Coney Sets, consisting of large pillow muff, trimmed with head and tails snake shape, copper-head and tail trimmings, lined with black satin. Special value at $7.98.

Black and Brown Coney Muffs at $1.50, $1.75, $2.98, $3.98 and $5.00.
Scarfs to match at $2.98, $3.50, $3.98, $5.00 and $6.00.

Good Roads Barbecue.

Christian county comes to the front with a good plan for stimulating interest in highway improvement.

It is proposed to have a series of good roads barbecues, to be held at different points in the county on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, December 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6. One of the barbecues, probably the last in the series, will be held in Hopkinville. At all the five meetings there will be a general discussion of ways and means of road improvement, a demonstration of the split-log drag and a lecture by D. Ward King, its inventor.—

The plan was set on foot by the Hopkinsville Business Men's Association with a subscription of $250 toward the expenses. The Fiscal Court has appropriated a similar amount and some of the enterprising farmers of the county have offered donations of live-stock for the barbecue. Interest in the movement is very general both in the city and county, and there is every reason to hope for good results.

The Hopkinsville Business Men's Association is proving itself a "live wire" commercial body in thus taking up the question of highway improvement. A complete system of good roads in Christian county would redound greatly to the advantage of the city of Hopkinsville as well as to the people of all the county. Christian county already has much better roads than the great majority of Kentucky counties, but is exhibiting commendable enterprise and judgment in keeping up the agitation for further betterment.

The average Kentuckian is fond of a barbecue dinner and also is in a more receptive mood for good roads arguments when well fed. The Christian county idea looks good.—C.-J.

Exchange Echoes.

The farm of Mr. J. T. Sandidge, on the Lancaster road, is infested with rats to an alarming extent. At most any time of day or night the rodents can be seen scampering over the barn lot. They are actually so large and thick that he is unable to feed his horses in the stable, as the vultures immediately swoop down upon the corn and carry it off as fast as it is placed in the feed boxes. As high as forty can be seen at one time in the crib, and the whole place seems to be alive with the pesky little animals. The rats seem to work together, and if a cat appears on the scene, several of the large ones will immediately attack the cat and put her to flight. Mr. Sandidge is in dire straits unless some "Pied Piper of Hamlin" comes to the rescue.—Harrodsburg Leader.

We had thought the oldest inhabitant was "knocked out" at last by the snow of October 20, and that this was the earliest on record so far as Kentucky is concerned. However, Mr. J. W. Brake, a Confederate veteran of the Sharon Grove vicinity, has convinced us that we were mistaken. By referring to his old army diary, Mr. Brake, who was a member of Duke's Second Kentucky Cavalry, finds that it snowed on October 19,1863, while his regiment was marching from Rochester to Greenville, and that on the following morning between three and four inches of "the beautiful" covered the ground.—Todd County Times.

FORTY YEARS AGO.

The writer left John Koafer standing on the corner of High and Main streets in Union some 40 years ago, and it is safe to remark that no better place could be found in all Kentucky for him, to stand.

John tells us in his diary that he saw no one passing the streets and the entire population seemed to be sleeping, but any person acquainted with the town must know better for the sun never yet rose early enough not to find at least 75 per cent of the folks getting busy for the day.

The description John gave of his coming to Union from Kenton county tells of a crisp, frosty morning, a brisk walk along the highway, the silvery light of day breaking, the twittering of birds in the trees and finally the glorious sunlight bursting forth in all its beauty. Unconsciously he portrayed the opening scene in one of the grandest of grand operas. John, in all probability, did not know any more of grand opera than a Jay bird knows of the Greek language, and yet all unconscious he does it as at least four people in Union can testify.

On page five John writes how he stood there, looking and wondering why Union was built in the valley instead of on the hills—wondering why he had no more than three dollars and thirty cents in his pockets and no excuse, whatever, for being there—wondering if the people were happy and satisfied to live in such a quiet place. As he wondered a man came from his house across the street to bid him good morning—welcome to town, &c. The man is described as large and powerful in statue, kindly featured and dignified in manner, evidently one of the town's most excellent citizens, for later on John speaks of his being high magistrate, village blacksmith, many degree Mason and the most unselfish man he ever knew. No need to mention his name for every one knows him.

By the force of gravitation and the need of some smoking tobacco, John admits he was drawn toward the north end of Main street into a grocery store. The store formed an underpinning for the town hall and was owned by one of the jolliest, fun loving and absolutely clever men to be found anywhere. He did business on a smaller per cent profit (one) and accommodated more people with credit than the Bank of England.

On page eleven John says this man had more natural sense, more natural business instinct than Stephen Girrard, of Philadelphia, the original and only millionaire in America 40 years ago. He was loyal to his friends, and the worst enemy Roger Clements had could buy goods on credit from him if it was a bright sunny day, and Roger felt well.

John tells on page sixteen that the time had passed rapidly, the sun warmed things up and put everybody in town to moving, and as he moved with them and got to know more of them, he was more and more pleased with the situation.

Meeting with a man who was posted in Union history from first to last and willing to tell about it, too, he learned that the town had a mayor, police judge, marshal, &c.; one saloon, two general stores, one drug store, one tobacco house, one blacksmith shop and perhaps 150 as good citizens as any town. The mayor was impeached as a croquet player. The police judge had more "ups and downs" than any man in the town, so he got a pension. The city marshal was refused a pension from Uncle Sam because he was a "Johnnie."

On page seventeen John tells of going to the croquet grounds near Sardis where four aged men were starting a game that promised to have a pedigree at least eight or nine hours long.

The writer will "read up," and tell you why John passed the saloon later on. Next.

THE COLONEL STILL FIGHTING.

Before Colonel Roosevelt left for South America he made a speech which sent the shivers up and down the spines of the standpatters. It was at the farewell dinner given him. Many of the Progressive party leaders were present and the colonel assured them that the progressive principles had just begun and that he had never entertained a thought of leaving them and returning to the Republican party. He declared that upon his return he would enlist in the fight with greater vigor than ever before and expected to stump the country next year in behalf of the Progressive party and its candidates for Congress. The betting odds now are that the standpatters will be unable to hold Vermont and Utah.—Atchison Co. Missouri Mail.

SHOULD DRAG ROADS.

The great benefit to dirt roads from the systematic and persistent use of the road drag is certainly so plain that no sensible person can doubt that the use of the road drag should be provided for by law. The systematic dragging of earth roads will result in much greater improvement than any other work on them costing the same. The road drag makes a very great improvement on all roads except those that are quite sandy. Nine-tenths of the roads can be made by systematic dragging as good as could well be desired for at least nine months of the year. Roads in neighboring States that have been well dragged for three or four years past have been this summer better for both heavy traffic and automobiles than the brick or stone paved streets of the cities. It takes several years of systematic dragging to make earth roads as good as they can be made with the drag. Each year toughens and hardens the road and also lessens the necessary work with the drag. Certainly every State should have a law requiring road officials to have the roads dragged whenever needed, of course providing for the payment of this work out of the road taxes. Both farmers and town people should begin work at once to secure such a law. A law for it will not make necessary high-priced engineers and commissions. Fortunately the roads can be properly dragged by farmers and others and this road improvement can be made without taking it out of the hands of local officials.—Ex.

Gov. McCreary has issued the annual Thanksgiving proclamation telling the people of the State for what they should return thanks. Many there be, who, instead of returning thanks as requested by the Governor, will take their dogs and guns and go rabbit hunting.

The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO.
Erlanger, Ky.
Has come to stay and is ready for business and will keep on hand at all times a good supply of
Raymond City and Plymouth Coal
in yard and on car at the Lowest Prices Possible, and guarantee 80 lbs. to the bushel. Will also handle Cannel Coal, Kentucky Simi-Candle and Worley Block, and Peidmont strictly blacksmithing Coal.
Your patronage solicited.
The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO
Erlanger, Kentucky.

Luncheon
AT
Neat Little Place
For Farmer, Workman, Merchant, Clerk and Professional Man.
R. J. DIBOWSKI'S CAFE
No. 6 Pike Street, - - Covington, Kentucky.
Commercial Plate Luncheon from 11 a. m. to 1:30 p. m.

DON'T EXPECT RELIEF

If you wear wrong glasses you need not expect relief from your eye troubles. Wrong glasses may be worse than none.
We fit them right and get results.
N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,
613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY
Phone, South 1746.

Union Creamery Company
UNION, KENTUCKY
Pays the highest possible price for Butter Fat in whole milk and hand separated cream. Honest tests and weights guaranteed.
A. L. Mallett, :: Manager.
Phone, Consolidated No. 40.

GOOD & DUNKIE
Now the largest house in Covington. The cheapest and best place to buy Groceries, Flour, Seeds and Medicines.
Don't overlook us when you want anything in our line. Write us for prices. We can save you money.
NEW CLOVER SEED
NEW ALFALFA.
NEW TIMOTHY.
NEW KY. BLUE GRASS.
ARCADE FLOUR has doubled our flour trade in Covington in 12 months. The best on earth. Barrel..... $5.50
Freight Paid to Your Station.
GOLDEN BLEND COFFEE Pleases where others fail. Per Pound..... 25c

California Asparagus Tips, can.....11c	Gee-Whiz Coffee, lb 20c
New Hominy, 2 lbs..... 5c	New York Cream Cheese Pound 20c
Ohio Sugar Corn, can... 5c	Jell-O, three pkgs.....25c
Wisconsin Peas, 3 cans..25c	Mince Meat, lb.....10c
Sweet Pickles, 3 doz....25c	California Peaches, can.15c
Best Pink Salmon,3 cans25c	New Navy Beans, qt....10c Peck.....70c
Best Lump Starch, lb... 4c	Fels Naptha, P. & G. Ivory Soap..... 4c
New Rolled Oats, 3 lbs..10c	Magic White Soap 6 for.25c
Babbitts Lye, 3 cans....25c

GOODE & DUNKIE,
19 & 21 Pike St., and 18 & 20 W. 7th St.,
Covington, - Kentucky.

Local Happenings.

Don't forget Dr. Porter's lecture.

The lid was on tight in Cincinnati, last Sunday.

There has been some excellent weather for drying out corn.

The rain last Friday was very much after the fashion of April showers.

A great many persons are just now of the opinion that politics is ——.

Some of the shade trees about town gave up their foliage very reluctantly.

The rural mail carriers in this part of the country have had some real tough trips the past week.

Either of the old political parties can find encouragement in spots in the result of the last election.

Circuit Clerk Maurer says the lawyers are not rounding up much business for the next term of that court.

President Wilson went home on the fourth inst., to vote and to assist in keeping his State in the Democratic camp.

You can take your dog and gun and go hunting next Saturday provided you have a hunter's license for this year.

According to the recent election returns Bull Mooses are disappearing from the face of the earth in quite a good many localities.

If a war with Mexico should result in a victory for this country at a cost of only a dozen lives, it would be a dearly bought victory.

Harry Loze, the Riverside live-stock dealer, was in this part of the county the latter part of last week, hunting hogs and cattle to buy.

If it comes to the test Mexico will be taught by Uncle Sam what a real war is and it will take him a very short time to impart the lesson.

The proposed amendments to the constitution carried by a considerable majority in the State, and a new field for legislation is thereby opened up.

Only one magisterial district in the county gave a majority against free turnpikes and gravel roads, and that was No. 6 composed of Constance and Florence precincts.

The widow of the late Columbus Kirtley was buried at Bullittsburg on the 5th inst. She was a daughter of the late Cary Dolins and died at her home in Covington.

Taking the election of the 4th inst., in its entirety it looks very much like a dog fall, the Democrats getting the better of it in State elections while the Republicans won in the large cities.

The Republicans claim to be very much encouraged by the general trend of the election on the fourth of this month, but it must be remembered that "white man" is very uncertain in elections.

A stranger passing Herbert Kirkpatrick's junk yard a few days ago, after looking over the outlay, exclaimed: "Well, I be d—d if I ever knew before that there was ever a foundry in Burlington."

Belleview precinct in which there is not to exceed two miles of road that ever gets bad voted four to one in favor of "free turnpikes and gravel roads." Belleview is little but very loud when it comes to voting for better roads.

The growers who have sold their tobacco are getting it ready to deliver at the earliest moment possible. An early delivery will give the grower the advantage of several pounds which will add considerable to the aggregate amount he will receive because of the long price paid for it.

Examine your gun and see that it is in good working order before you go hunting next Saturday, and then be careful not to shoot any person or any live-stock. Reckless shooting on the part of the hunters is responsible for land owners' opposition to hunting on their premises.

In many of the large cities in this country the party that wins out by a handsome majority today is not certain as to what will be its fate at the next election. Voters will endorse measures one day and turn them down the next; in fact they change their positions so rapidly that it is difficult to keep tab on them.

There are a couple of ugly places at the crossing of Washington and Jefferson streets which the citizens of the town ought to have repaired. The necessary material and work can be secured at a small cost, and for this purpose the RECORDER will receive contributions. How much will you give?

Boone County Recorder..... $1.00

Born, to Gordon McKim and wife, a boy.

Too much umbrella weather is not desirable.

Cora Strouse has moved into S. W. Tolin's house recently vacated by Mont Slayback.

Last Sunday was as disagreeable a day as was ever seen in this latitude before the middle of November.

Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather for autoing several machines were seen pass through Burlington last Sunday.

Mr. Henry Terrill, who has been quite ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Edgar C. Riley, for several days, is improving some.

A scene out of the ordinary was that of last Sunday morning—trees with their foliage covered with snow to the depth of an inch or more.

Butchering hogs for home consumption began early this week, and the work will continue until the farmers have packed an ample supply of pork for the next year.

In this issue Joseph Weisenberg, of Florence, advertises a sale of personal property for December 3d. A considerable list of property will go under the hammer.

The oldest inhabitant is searching his diary of long ago to discover if there was ever any weather the first week in November like that which arrived here last Saturday night and prevailed until Monday.

When Bert Smith, carrier on R. D. 2 out of Burlington, arrived at the postoffice, last Monday afternoon, his cart and other equipment looked like he had come from a successful expedition to the north pole.

W. T. Davis has bought a house and seven acres of land near Bergin, Mercer county. Mr. Davis says he has been in twelve States and he has never seen a country that will compare with that where he will locate.

The Press of Lawrenceburg, brought out its eagle in its issue following the election while the Register had to keep its rooster in the coop. Ashby, Democrat, was defeated by Bielby, Republican, for Mayor of that city 101 votes.

Winter has not come to stay as is shown by the RECORDER'S weather specifications, and there is to be some nice weather yet during the month of November, so don't get alarmed and drop everything and hasten to the south to escape the cold.

Several of the land owners in the vicinity of Burlington as well as elsewhere in the county have acquired split log drags which they will use freely on the dirt roads along their premises during the winter, and have faith in being rewarded woth good roads earlier next spring.

The Union Creamery Company of which A. L. Mallett is the manager, took the premium on the butter it exhibited at the recent National Dairy Show at Chicago. Mr. Mallet is one of the best butter makers in the country as is attested by the numerous prizes he captures at the State and National shows at which he has his product on exhibition.

Chas. A. Gaines, who resides on the road between Burlington and Bullittsville, used the split log drag on the road immediately following the recent wet period and as a result the road where the drag was used, was in excellent condition in a few hours after the work was done. There would be a great improvement in the dirt roads were they dragged following every rain of consequence.

Now is a good time to renew your subscription and take advantage of the RECORDER'S combination offer—six good papers for $2.10—Boone County RECORDER, Cincinnati Weekly Enquirer, Farm and Fireside, Poultry Success, Woman's World, and Farm News. How much more would you want for your money, the earth? Read the advertisement elsewhere in this paper. Send $2.10 to this office and the matter will be attended to for you.

The weather last Saturday night and Sunday put a crimp in live-stock where animals were not housed. They were not use to such weather and the stiff breeze that prevailed chilled them thoroughly. To keep stock thrifty they must be made comfortable during such weather as that which prevailed here last Saturday night and Sunday, and it can be said to the credit of many of the farmers in this county that they are prepared to keep their animals of whatever kind reasonably comfortable during severe winter weather.

While it will probably take the official count of the returns in the 120 counties to determine the result of the vote on the two amendments proposed to the Kentucky constitution it seems that both have been adopted. The first calls for such a change in the constitution as will permit convicts to be worked on the public roads and bridges, and the second provides for a change to permit the classification of property for taxation, the idea being to curtail the amount of evasion and to get more revenue into the coffers of the state.

Boone Wants Good Roads.

Following is the official count of the vote cast for and against "free turnpikes and gravel roads," at the election on the 4th inst.:

	Yes.	No.
Burlington	130	51
Belleview	65	16
Big Bone	81	21
Bullittsville	51	64
Beaver	50	80
Verona	79	35
Constance	56	63
Florence	86	135
Rabbit Hash	73	86
Petersburg	54	84
Walton	127	61
Union	98	58
Total	894	654
Majority	240

Constitutional amendment No. 1 to allow convicts worked on the public roads, polled 1,104 votes for to 297 against.

Constitutional amendment No. 2, in regard to tax legislation, polled 927 votes for to 227 against.

Comfort and economy make happy homes. You get both by using Cole's Hot Blast Heaters.

Dr. A. H. McGlasson, of Madison, Ind., was defeated for Mayor, his Republican opponent polling 63 more votes.

With the telephone and parcel post you are in the market if you live at a feasonable distance from the city.

Geo. G. Hughes spent a few days last week with his friend, Geo. Kreylich, in the Idlewild neighborhood.

Rising Sun elected a Republican Mayor and a mixed Council The real issue there was the saloon which won out.

W. D. Cropper, Sheriff-elect, will be the only new official you will meet at the court house after January 1, 1914.

Rev. Geo. Wagner will preach in the Petersburg Christian church next Sunday at 3 p. m. Everybody is invited to come out and hear him.

Charles Clore, of Hebron, wants 1,000 turkeys for Thanksgiving, and for which he will pay the highest market price. Call him by phone at Hebron.

C. J. Scott, of Florence neighborhood, has a long string of personal property advertised to sell at public sale on the 25th of this month. See the advertisement in another column of this issue.

While in the city one day last week Albert Conner purchased an automatic shot gun with which to wage a war on rabbits and quails during the open season. He is about the best shot in this locality.

Clarence Norman, of Gunpowder neighborhood, was a caller at this office last Monday. He said the snow was so badly drifted in the Hopeful road that he could scarcely get through it with his buggy in some places.

Hon. J. W. Berkshire, of Petersburg, has improved so much in the last few weeks that his friends are confident he will occupy his seat in the State Senate during the next session of the General Assembly.

Most of those who were opposed to the road proposition voted on in this county at the recent election appear reconciled to the result, and it is only occasionally that any bitterness crops out. On a road proposition as on anyother question every voter has a right to his opinion, and when you find a man who does not agree with you concede to him the right to do his own thinking.

Not a horse was ridden or driven to Burlington during the recent cold spell that was not blanketed as soon as it was hitched. This shows that owners of horses have learned at last that it pays to make their animals comfortable when they are not using them. It has not been so many years since it was a rare thing to see a horse covered with a good blanket when standing at the hitching rack.

John Crisler, of Union neighborhood, was transacting business in Burlington, last Friday. He has improved very much in health during the last few years and has concluded not to die until his time has come. He has done a hard year's work and is now reaping his reward in the shape of a good crop of corn put in his barns. He and Simeon House make a team that is hard to excel during the working season.

A Close Finish.

At Rising Sun Samuel M. Seward, Republican candidate for Mayor, received 188 votes and Benj. H. Scranton on the Citizens ticket, received 185. The remainder of the ticket was divided. The campaign there was one of more than usual interest, the leading issue being the matter of a Sunday lid.

Just Like Boone County.

The annual meeting of the Oldham County Farmers' Institute was held at the court house last Monday and Tuesday, with a very light attendance. There were several unusually good speakers from other sections of the State present, who discoursed on topics of interest to the farmers, and it is regretted that so few people were present to hear them. Those who were fortunate enough to be there were amply repaid for coming.—Oladham Era.

RULES AND PREMIUM LIST OF THE

4th Annual Corn Show

Given under the Auspices of Boone Co. Pomona Grange at

Burlington, Ky., Saturday, Nov. 22, 1913.

The committee reserves the right to sell all premium corn and other articles that take premiums to the highest bidder, proceeds to go into the hands of the Treasurer. No person will be allowed to make more than one entry in a class, and all corn must be grown in Boone county, Ky.; and all other exhibits must be entered in name of producer who must be a resident of Boone County, Ky. All entries must be made before 9 a. m. on day of exhibition. Competition open to all citizens of Boone county, Ky., and all are invited to compete for premiums.

LIST OF PREMIUMS.

	1st.	2nd.
Best 10 ears Boone County White	$5 00	$3 00
Second prem. Dixie Cultivator by Quigley & Beemon, Limaburg.
Best 10 ears Johnson County White	5 00
Second prem. 2 sacks Fertilizer by Chas. Youell.
Best 10 ears Yellow Dent—1st prem. by Retail Merchants Industrial Club of Covington	5 00
Best 10 ears Leaming	5 00	3 00
Second prem. Feed by Cincinnati Grain Co., Covington division
Best 10 ears Calico Corn	5 00	2 50
Best 10 ears any variety not classed above	5 00	2 50
Best single ear White	2 00	1 00
Best single ear Yellow	2 00	1 00
Best single ear any variety not classed above	2 00	1 00
Best single Stalk with most and best ears on	1 00
Best 10 ears Sugar Corn straight row	1 00	50
Best 10 ears Sugar Zigzag Corn	1 00	50
Best 10 ears Rice Pop Corn	1 00	50
Best 10 ears Poy Corn any other variety	1 00	50

Boys' Boone County Corn Club—All Members are Eligible to Compete.

Best 10 ears any variety—1st prem. Heifer calf by B. Paddack breeder of Polled Jerseys, Hebron, Ky	15 00
2d prem. Male Berkshire pig by J. M. Craven, Limaburg		10 00
Third and Fourth premiums	3 00	2 00
Best single ear any variety	1 00

$5 of the above given by the Retail Merchants Industrial Club of Covington

LADIES' DEPARTMENT.

Best Pumpkin Pie	50	Best Loaf Corn Bread	50
Best Sliced Apple Pie	50	Best Qt. Sorghum Molasses—1 bu. apples by W. H. Clayton, Hebron.	25
Best Sweet Potato Pie	50
Best Devil Food Cake	1 00	All built on different principles to do the same work.
Best Layer Cocoanut Cake	1 00	The test of time has brought "The Pilot" out on top.
Best Fruit Cake	2 00	The principle on which it works has proved to be the correct one.
Best plato Doughnuts not less than one dozen	50	Today we sell more Light machines than all other manufacturers in this country put together.
Best Loaf Yeast Bred	50	We sell these Pilot plants complete—through three factories and 3,000 local representatives.
Best Loaf Salt Rising Bread	50	We have a big eastern factory in Newark—a big central factory in Chicago and a Western Warehouse in Los Angeles.
Best Qt. Apple Butter	50	A complete plant includes the machine, gas pipes, light fixtures and the cooking range.
Best Qt. Apple Vinegar	50	Such a plant costs much less than a water or heating system. It is as permanent as either, and as necessary to make your home modern.
Best Qt. Cucumber Pickles	50	Our 3,000 representatives are residents in the districts they serve.
Best Corn Husk Mat	1 00	Each one established in a permanent growing business.
$6.00 of the above given by the Retail Merchants Inds. Club, Covington.		They are on the grounds to see to it personally that purchasers of Pilot plants get "value received" for their money.
		In your district we are represented by

Prof. A. E. Waller from Ky. State Agricultural University will judge corn exhibits according to the rules of expert judging.

Exhibitors are requested to send a list of their entries before the day of exhibition to

G. O. HAFER, Secty. Burlington, Ky. R. D. 3.

G. J. GRUBBS
WALTON, KY.
Salesman
OXWELD ACETYLENE CO.
CHICAGO

B. B. ALLPHIN
WITH THE
L. J. UDDE & CO.
Live Stock Commission Merchants
Union Stock Yards, CINCINNATI. Phone W. 4296.

SQUARE DEAL

Our success has been due to Dealing Fair with our trade giving them good goods and value received. Neither in our trading or advertising do we attempt to deceive you. It has been our endeavor for 50 years to sell High Quality Goods at prices Lower than other dealers. If you will compare our prices and quality you will find we are successful.

We Guarantee Everything We Sell To Satisfy.

Rarus
Is the Highest Grade
Flour
Milled from Winter Wheat
$5.25 Per Bbl
Freight Paid to your Station

We Sell Over 100.000 of
NOBETTER COFFEE
Every year. Try it.
You'll Know Why.
25c Per Lb
Freight paid on 20 lbs or More.

BLEND COFFEE
A FINE DRINK
20c Per Lb.

25 lb. box
Fancy California
Evaporated Peaches
$2.00
or three pounds 25c.

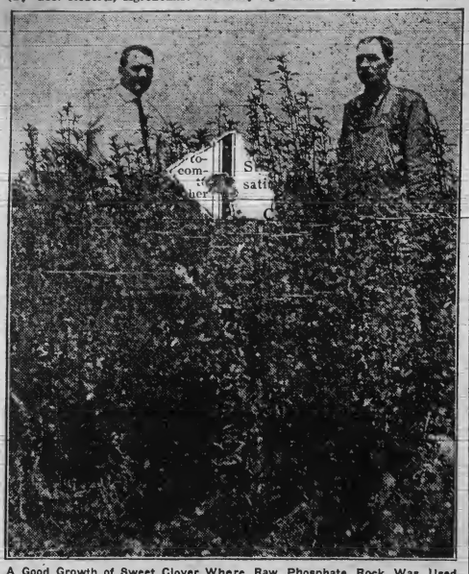
Send your order for Canned Goods. They will be higher.

Fancy Ohio Corn 70c per doz.
Solid Packed Tomatoes, $1.00 per doz.
Wisconsin Early June Peas, $1.00 per doz.
Calihemon Cling Peaches, $1.65 per doz.
Stringless Beans, $1.00 per doz.
Pink Salmon, 90c per doz.
Atmore's Condensed Mince Meat, 2 pkgs. 15c

15 GAL. KEG
New Kraut, $4.50

NEW CROP
N. O. Molasses.

We can quote you Low Prices on
Potatoes and Cabbage
Write for Prices.



—BUY—
Hill's Tested Seeds.
Always Better-Always Cheaper
Write for Prices.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.
GROCERS & SEEDMEN,
27-29 Pike St. or 26 W. 7th,
Covington, Ky.
Established 1863.

RAW GROUND PHOSPHATE ROCK NOW IN EXTENSIVE USE

Necessary in Improvement of Kentucky Soils Deficient in Phosphorous--Gives Profitable Returns and Good Practice to Apply Raw Phosphate in Connection With Fertilizers

(By Geo. Roberts, Agronomist Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.)

A Good Growth of Sweet Clover Where Raw Phosphate Rock Was Used.

Within the last few years raw ground phosphate rock has come into use, more or less extensively, in some sections of the country in the improvement of soils deficient in phosphorus. Formerly it was thought to be useless as a material for direct application to the soil. It was thought that the only means for making it available was to convert it into acid phosphate or superphosphate by treating it with sulfuric acid. This belief arose from the fact that farmers generally applied it in small quantities, perhaps in the hill, on soils that had become unproductive and deficient in organic matter. Under such conditions, little or no results were obtained the first year, and its use was discontinued and the material was pronounced worthless. Acid phosphate used in similar manner under similar conditions generally gives more or less profitable returns the first year. Hence there has grown up the practice of small annual applications of acid phosphate or the so-called "complete fertilizers" of which acid phosphate is the chief constituent—a practice that does not, as a rule, take into account the permanent fertility of the soil.

In recent years, however, experiments have been conducted at a number of Experiment Stations, notably Illinois and Ohio, which show that the use of raw phosphate rock under proper conditions is as profitable as the use of acid phosphate.

Raw phosphate should be used in rather large applications, in connection with organic matter, either in the form of manure, crop residues or green manure crops. A reasonable application is 1000 to 2000 pounds per acre once in a rotation of three or four years, the practice to be kept up until the soil is supplied with a fair content of phosphorus. If the crops are fed and the manure is carefully saved and returned to the soil, when applications amounting to three tons per acre have been made to the average farming lands outside the blue-grass region, they will contain a fairly good supply of phosphorus.

Raw phosphate rock can generally be bought delivered at most places in Kentucky for $6 to $8 per ton. The above applications will be found no more expensive than the use of small amounts of complete fertilizers and if used in good crop rotations which provide organic matter and contain legumes sufficient to keep up the nitrogen supply, will give more profitable results.

A good practice is to apply the raw phosphate in connection with manure. It may be sprinkled in the stable as the manure accumulates, using about a pint per day per animal; or it may be put on the manure as it is being hauled out, a layer of manure being put down in the wagon or spreader, then the proper amount of raw phosphate in turn. With this method, it is much better to use the manure spreader in order to get an even distribution.

Another satisfactory method is to apply the material broadcast to be plowed in with a sod or green manure crop. The standard practice with the Kentucky Experiment Station is to apply the material on the sod which is to be turned for corn. However done, the application should be made on the unplowed ground and thoroughly disked in and then plowed under. The thorough distribution of the material is a very important consideration.

The Kentucky Experiment Station has compared acid phosphate and rock phosphate on an extremely worn red clay limestone soil near Burnside, Ky., for the past five years. Potash salts were used with both forms in order that potash might not be a limiting factor, but other experiments on the same soil showed that its use was unnecessary. Eight hundred pounds of acid phosphate and 2000 pounds rock phosphate per acre (equal money values) are used once in a four-year rotation.

The following yields will show how poor the ground was, and will show how clover will take hold of rock phosphate and how the land improves as organic matter and nitrogen are restored to the soil. Manure was used on these plots equivalent to the crops removed. The materials were applied July 1, 1908, in growing a cowpea crop which was turned under, then again preceding corn in 1912:

	Rock phosphate	No treatment	Acid phosphate
Corn, 1909..	3.8 bu.	7.0 bu.	11.3 bu
Oats, 1910..	9.3 bu.	9.0 bu.	11.9 bu.
Clover hay, 1911 . . .	2,436 lbs.	668 lbs.	2,168 lbs.
Corn, 1912..	32.9 bu.	9.5 bu.	45.7 bu
Gain in corn	29.1 bu.	2.0 bu.	33.4 bu.

This experiment has not been conducted long enough to get a full comparison, but it is valuable in that it gives some indications as to what may be expected. The "No Treatment" plot and the "Acid Phosphate" plot were both a little more fertile in the beginning than the "Rock Phosphate" plot, as was plainly evident to the eye. The yield for the "No Treatment" plot bears out this statement. No doubt the acid phosphate plot was at an advantage by having a better cowpea crop plowed under. Another factor to be taken into consideration is that there is in the amount of rock phosphate applied, five times as much phosphate as in the amount of acid phosphate, and that most of this is in the soil for future use. The phosphorus naturally in the soil is chiefly in the form of rock phosphate which nature makes available when organic matter is present. For a given amount of money, four or five times as much phosphorus can be added to the soil in rock phosphate, as in acid phosphate.

An experiment at London, Laurel County, one year old, has given the following results. Ground limestone and sulfate of potash were used with both the acid phosphate and rock phosphate.

	Acid phosphate treatment	No treatment	Rock phosphate treatment
Cowpea hay, 1912 . . .	4,790 lbs.	1,260 lbs.	3,020 lbs.
Corn, 1912..	37.3 bu.	24.9 bu.	40.0 bu.
Sweet clover, 1913 . . .	2,840 lbs.	failure	2,570 lbs.

From the results of these experiments, we are led to recommend the use of acid phosphate first on thin soils, and from these and experiments by other stations, we are led to recommend the use of rock phosphate when the soil has had sufficient organic matter introduced into it.

When only a small amount of phosphate is to be used merely for the purpose of starting a crop, without reference to increasing the content of phosphorus in the soil, then we would advise the use of acid phosphate. In other words, in a permanent process of increasing and maintaining fertility, we would recommend the use of raw ground phosphate rock with the limitations already noted.

At least 90 per cent of raw phosphate rock should pass a screen of 100 meshes to the linear inch or 10,000 meshes to the square inch. In purchasing this material, a guaranty should be required stating fineness and the amount of phosphorus.

Literature on soil fertility may be had by addressing the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, Lexington, Ky.

Public Sale.

Having sold my farm, I will offer at public auction at my farm one mile west of Florence, Boone county, Ky., on Wednesday, Dec. 3d, 1913

the following property:

Two Mares 6 and 7 years old, one aged Mare, 4 Cows one fresh, one Heifer, Road Wagon, two top Spring Wagons, 2 Wagon poles, Buggy, Runabout, Cart, 2-h Sled, 1-h Sled, Mowing Machine and Rake, Chill Plow, 2 Cultivators, Double Shovel, Single Shovel, Disc, Acme and Tooth Harrows, Hoosier Corndrill with fertilizer attachment, 2 sets Double Work Harness, 2 sets Single Harness, Set Buggy Harness, two Saddles and Bridles, lot Corn, Hay and Fodder, Coal, Seed Potatoes, 4 doz. Chickens, Bees, some Household and Kitchen Furniture, and other articles too numerous to mention.

TERMS OF SALE.

Sums of $10 and under, cash; sums over $10 a credit of Nine months will be given, purchaser to give note with good security, negotiable and payable at the Florence Deposit Bank, Florence, Ky. Terms must be complied with before moving property.

Sale to begin at 9 a. m.

JOSEPH WEISENGERG.
TONEY BENTLER, Auct'r.

Public Sale.

I will offer for sale at public auction on the farm of Joseph Graves, on the Price Road, one mile from Florence, Ky., on

Tuesday, Nov. 25th, 1913,

the following property:

17 Jersey Milch Cows (four of them fresh, others will be fresh in a short time,) 5 Jersey Heifers, sired by Owl's Relic Boy, 2 Jersey Calves 4 months old, one Work Mule, yearling horse Colt, 2-year old horse Colt sired by Bell's Fitszimmon, 3-year old gray Colt, Mowing Macnine, Sled Spring Wagon, and other Farm Implements, 2-h. International Gasoline Engine and Churn combined, Butter Worker, Jars and other dairy fixtures too numerous too mention.

TERMS—Sums of $10 and under, cash; on sums over $10 a credit of 6 months will be given, purchaser to give note with good security, negotiable and payable at the Florence Deposit Bank, at Florence, Ky. Terms of sale must be complied with before moving property.

C. J. SCOTT.

Sale to begin at 9 a. m. promptly

Public Sale.

I will offer for sale at public auction at my farm on the Bullittsville and Dry Creek turnpike, about two miles west of Bullittsville, Ky., on

Thursday, Nov. 20th, 1913

the following property;

15 first-class Ewes,
12 Milch Cows,
1 Horse and Buggy,
Lot Corn, Hay, Cowpeas,
Sows and Pigs,
and other articles.

TERMS—Sums of $5.00 and under, cash; on all sums over $5.00 a credit of six months will be given, purchaser to give note with approved security payable at the Boone County Deposit Bank, Burlington, Ky., before removing property.

MRS. M. T. GRAVES.

Sale to begin at 12 o'clock.

PUBLIC SALE.

Saturday, November 22, 1913

I will offer at Public Sale for cash to the highest and best bidder my farm of 51 acres. Good 4-room house, new barn and good improvements. Nearly level. Near Lexington pike, 2 miles north of Walton, Ky., near Kensington Station. Close to school.

I reserve the right to reject any bids on my farm.

Will also offer for sale at the same time and place the following described property:

One large work mare four years old, in foal to jack; 2-yr-old Filly; 2-yr-old Horse Colt; Sow and nine pigs; 7 Shoats; good Jersey Cow; two-horse Wagon; Buggy, Sled, Farming Tools, Household and Kitchen Furniture, 1 Graphophone.

Sale to begin at 10 a. m.

J. A. LAWRENCE,
Route, Richwood, Ky.

Take your County Paper.

SALE AT COST.

As I expect to quit buisness, will sell my entire stock of Millinery and Notions, before christmas.

Hats, Felt and Velvet shapes.....75c-$100
Trimmed Hats..$1.50-$3
Ladie's all-wool sweaters were $2. 50 now...$2.00
$1.00 Corsets now....85c
75c Corsets now.....60c
50c Corsets now.....35c
5c Kerchiefs 3 for....10c
White and Black Shoe Polish.....08c
50c Silk Scarfs.....35c
Gloves, Belts, Veils, Ties, Collars, D. M. C. Cotton, Ribbons, Pins, Etc.

Mrs. B. L. Cleek,
Union, Kentucky.

All persons indebted to the estate of J. J. Tanner, deceased, must call and settle with the undersigned, and those having claims against said estate will present them to him proven according to law.

CLARENCE TANNER.

To a certain extent nature provides for the comfort and food supply of the dairy cow in the summer time but if we depend too greatly upon nature, in the winter time we may find our returns somewhat unsatisfactory.

Wont you Let

MY CLOTHING DO THE TALKING FOR THEMSELVES?

Kindly come in and see them. I will do business with you without argument You will find Quality and Workmenship.

MENS SUITS and OVERCOATS.....$5.00 to $18.00

YOUNG MEN'S SUITS AND OVERCOATS.....$3.00 to $15.00

Young Men, you must see these suits and Overcoats to appreciate their value.

Children's Norfolk Knickerbocker Suits well made and Durable $2.75, $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00.

Mothers you must see these to realize the bargains I am offering. A complete line of Corderoy and Duck Coats and Pants, the clothing out door workers need when disagreeable weather comes ou insures health and comfort.

Selmar Wachs
Successor to
Rolfes & Wachs,
NO. 1 Pike Street, Near Madison Ave.,
COVINGTON, KY.

Coal costs money. You know it. The winter's coal costs BIG money. You know that also. Yet, half of it is wasted by poor management. Oh, yes it is! Listen and be convinced.

Ordinary soft coal is half gas. An average ton of $3.00 coal contains about 14,000 cubic feet of gas—common illuminating gas. A gas which will, if properly mixed with air, burn with an intensely hot blue flame. This gas represents the best half of your ton of coal.

This unburned gas and a large portion of the heat IS CARRIED UP THE CHIMNEY by the air leaking cracks in stoves of ORDINARY construction.

There is only one way to save this wasted gas and heat and that is with a

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater

which is so constructed that it has no air leaking cracks. In this wonderful heater and fuel-saver the gas is kept under perfect control until oxidized and burned.

It is the only stove that is made tight—holds tight—stays tight.

It is the only stove that saves the wasted chimney heat.

It's the only stove that gives you a constant, steady heat with soft coal, hard coal or lignite.

It will give you all the heat that is in your coal.

It will hold your fire 36 hours without attention.

It will burn all kinds of fuel.

It is guaranteed to consume one-third less fuel than any lower draft stove of the same size, using soft coal, lignite or slack.

AND—It is sold you under a guarantee to fill all these claims.

Back of this guarantee is the credit and capital of an immense factory and it is worth to you 100 cents on the dollar.

COME IN AND SEE IT. IT MEANS DOLLARS IN YOUR POCKET AND A PLEASED CUSTOMER FOR US.

LOUIS MARX & BRO

516-522 Madison Avenue, Covington, Ky

840 Monmouth Street, Newport, Ky

COLE'S HOT BLAST STOVES & RANGES

111

See the name "Cole's" on the feed door of each stove. None genuine without it

OPEN WINDOWS IN SCHOOLS

Fresh Air in Study Rooms Beneficial to Health and Happiness of Children.

A medical inspector of the Philadelphia public schools, with the co-operation of teachers and parents, made an experiment to determine the value of cold fresh air in school rooms. He opened the windows at top and bottom and kept them open throughout the winter.

The room was shut off from the heating plant of the building, except on the occasional days when the temperature fell below 45 degrees; but the children, of course, wore extra wraps and had frequent drill exercise.

Week by week during the fall and winter and spring this physician weighed and examined the pupils, watched their study and their play, and compared their progress in health and scholarship with that of pupils in another room of the same building.

In that other room the pupils were of the same grade and of about the same number, but the room was heated and ventilated according to the usual methods. The pupils in both rooms were normal, healthy children from the same kind of homes, so that the test was as fair, accurate and searching as possible.

At the end the inspector found that the pupils in the open-window room had gained in weight on an average more than twice as much as those in the warm-air room. The pupils in the open room kept wholly free from colds, and were much more regular in attendance than the others.

They were also more alert, free from day-dreaming, quicker to learn, needed less review work and were better behaved.

In health, happiness, in body, the children of the room with open windows had a clear advantage over the others.

ONLY ONE NOVEL IN VACATION

Scott's Idea of Rest Was to Produce "Guy Mannering" in Six Weeks.

Scott had some strange ways of seeking relaxation from the strain of work. On Christmas day, 1814, he wrote Constable that he was "setting out for Abbotsford to refresh the machine." During the year he had written his first great novel, "Waverly;" one of his longer poems, "The Lord of the Isles;" nearly the whole of his "Life of Swift;" two essays for an encyclopedia; a two-volume family memoir for a friend; and kept up a voluminous personal correspondence—an amount of industry which is best described by Dominie Sampson's word, prodigious. Surely the "machine" needed "refreshing," and it consisted in producing, in six weeks' time, another great novel, "Guy Mannering." In the same way, while dictating "Ivanhoe," in spite of severe bodily pain which prevented the use of his pen, he sought refreshment by starting another novel, "The Monastery."

"It was a relief," he said, "to interlay the scenery most familiar to me with the strange world for which I had to draw so much on imagination."—From Charles S. Olcott's "The Country of Sir Walter Scott."

For a Lost Mustache.

It should be a jury of dancers and not a white-bearded judge of the peace who shall decided in a singular suit for damages brought against the Chinese legation at Paris by a French valet de chambre. About six months after having terminated his military service, Mr. X. was engaged by the Chinese legation as a valet de chambre at a salary of 70 francs a month. According to custom, upon entering on his duties, it was required that he should have his mustache removed. This was a sad sacrifice, for the mustache was a superb blond. At the end of eight days of service the valet was discharged. Today he demands of the legation one hundred francs damages because of his esthetic prejudice evoked by the loss of the mustache. Are the Chinese who have suppressed the queue at home to be permitted to suppress the mustache in France?

Slips of the Tongue.

Most amusing are the slips of tongue which so often lead to embarrassing situations.

At an evening party a lady said to her partner, "Can you tell me who is that exceedingly plain young man opposite?"

"That is my brother," was the reply.

"Oh, I beg your pardon," she said in great confusion. "I did not notice the resemblance."

At a certain concert a lady asked a fellow gentleman how he liked the duet she had just sung. "You sang charmingly," was the reply; "but why did you select such a horrid piece of music?"

"Sir, that was written by my late husband," was the indignant reply.

"Ah, yes, I did not mean—but why did you select such an ass to sing with you?"

"Oh, you brute!" screamed the lady. "That is my present husband."

Charity.

Charity begins at home, and often ends there. It is usually divided into two kinds, namely, public and private. Public charity consists of a salaried office force and a subscription list. Private charity is what we give when we don't know what to do with the surplus.

There is also a species of charity known as genuine. Inasmuch, however, as it is never advertised in the newspapers, scarcely anything is known about it.—Life.

NOTES From MEADOWBROOK FARM

By William Pitt

Mend the fences.

• • •

Poultry relish charcoal.

• • •

Early plowed is profits made.

• • •

Make the poultry house rat proof.

• • •

Don't neglect the newly planted orchard.

• • •

Corn must be the chief grain crop on a stock farm.

• • •

Always put bran or a little grain in manger at milking time.

• • •

A good spray pump is an effective weapon in fighting lice and mites.

• • •

Good care is as important as good feed, especially in the fall and winter.

• • •

Failure to secure profits in hog raising is usually due to mismanagement.

• • •

Roosting poles that have a smooth surface with no rough places to harbor lice are best.

• • •

On cold nights sash can be covered with old carpet or heavy canvas instead of straw mats.

• • •

Those who have succeeded in getting a good stand of alfalfa are enthusiastic over its value.

• • •

There is no better way to stiffen up a horse than to have him stand on a plank floor when not at work.

• • •

Skimmilk in place of water will make the fattening mash more palatable and the bird will do better on it.

• • •

Ground oats, middlings and corn meal, mixed with skimmilk, make a good fattening ration for young stock.

• • •

Filth and dirt in a poultry house make good breeding places for lice, and it always pays to keep the house clean.

• • •

Intensive cultivation demands intercropping, and when this is done most liberal manuring is necessary for the highest returns.

• • •

If cows are fed grain when the pastures are succulent and abundant, it will increase the yield of milk and also add flesh to the cows.

• • •

A cow cannot give a full flow of milk unless she is provided with feed from which to make the milk. It is wrong to expect something for nothing.

• • •

Apple trees will thrive and do well on almost any soil which is well prepared, but the different kinds of soil may require different treatment and after care.

• • •

Hauling up a few loads of chaff from around the straw stack is a seasonable job now. The chaff makes good scratching litter and also contains some grain.

• • •

Creameries are of no benefit to a neighborhood unless there are a sufficient number of cows to supply the milk necessary to run them economically and successfully.

• • •

Tar may be removed from the hands by rubbing with the outside of fresh orange or lemon peel and drying immediately. The volatile oils dissolve the tar so that it can be rubbed off.

• • •

You can prolong your tomato season by taking up all plants and piling them in a heap. The small green tomatoes should be pulled for pickling and the large ones allowed to remain for ripening.

• • •

Do more than look at the cattle when you visit the fairs and expositions this fall. Watch the judge and see if you cannot carry home a point or two that will help you in picking out a good individual.

• • •

The draft horse does the work on the farm most satisfactorily and with less expense and worry; sells higher and more rapidly; costs less to get him ready for market; and it costs less time and labor to train him and get him ready for market.

• • •

Another thing that goes to make vegetable growing a success is irrigation; have water at hand where you can irrigate when your garden demands it; there isn't anything that makes vegetables tough and woody as lack of water.

• • •

This is the getting ready season for the winter's work. A leaky roof, cracks in the wall or floor, broken roosts, and the like are calling for attention now. Banking earth around the foundation of the hen house is also a timely odd job.

Grade all small fruit.

• • •

Apple trees like any soil.

• • •

In breeding a heifer use a pure bred sire.

• • •

Poultry keeping is no pathway of ease.

• • •

Never carry poultry with their heads hanging downward.

• • •

Remember the great law of breeding—that "like begets like."

• • •

To get the maximum profit keep chicks growing right into market.

• • •

A pound of mutton can be produced at less cost than any other kind of meat.

• • •

The fungicidal value of lime-sulphur is increased by the addition of arsenate of lead.

• • •

The best dairy cows will give the best returns if handled quietly and treated gently.

• • •

Be sure to market all the poor specimens in your flock before they increase the feed bills.

• • •

There are some cattle that are no better in the dairy barn than are the weeds in the corn field.

• • •

Do not feed all of the separated milk to the pigs. The chickens will return a good profit for some of it.

• • •

The best pastures are made up of blue grass, timothy and orchard grass, and of common red, white and alsike clover.

• • •

Good sheep require good care to maintain their excellence. Poor sheep are always a burden upon the rest of the flock.

• • •

Of the serious parasitic diseases affecting sheep, stomach worms probably cause the heaviest losses to sheep raisers.

• • •

More than in any other branch of farming, success in poultry raising depends on regularly and faithfully doing the little things.

• • •

Dairying brings its best returns when it is made a systematic line of work, not merely an incidental to the other farm activities.

• • •

Screened coal ashes are a good thing for all poultry. A quantity should be accessible at all times in a box sheltered from rain.

• • •

In catering to the trade where fruit is marketed try to put yourself in the position of the buyer and then furnish the quality of fruit the trade wants.

• • •

A chicken with a properly developed frame, well formed bones, and good muscles will take on fat readily when the time comes for such development.

• • •

Use a liberal amount of slaked lime on all old runs or yards before spading or plowing them up. It may save you serious trouble and losses, later on.

• • •

Success in intensive cultivation depends a great deal on raising the proper kind of vegetables; do not try to sell your customers a poor-looking or a tasteless vegetable.

• • •

As a result of the fight of the department of agriculture for purer milk, thousands of farmers have introduced new and sanitary methods of producing and shipping milk.

• • •

It is economy of time and labor to wash milking utensils as soon as possible after using. If you can't wash them right away, rinse them with cold water and you will save time in washing.

• • •

It is always more profitable to grow a crop that your neighboring truck gardener is short on, also always plant just enough of each crop that will allow you to sell as long as the demand is good.

• • •

When you dig the potatoes save the small ones for the hens. They are very fond of them when boiled and mixed with a little bran. A mess of them fed once in a while makes a variety for them and is a treat.

• • •

Fertility may be restored to worn-out land by saving all animal manures and putting them onto the land; by making use of all crop residues, that is, putting back into the soil everything not used for feed; by turning under green manuring and catch crops.

• • •

Why should we annually spend thousands of dollars searching for methods to eliminate the most destructive enemies of agriculture, when the Creator has placed the quail in every state in the Union for that especial purpose? But we can not have the quail and eat him too.

• • •

When crops begin to look poor and there seems to be a scarcity of feed, the farmer always hangs on to the good dairy cow and lets the rest of his stock go first. The cow is what helps to bring the profit and tide over hard times.

• • •

To secure the best returns from sheep raising it is not necessary to keep them exclusive of all other live stock, but a small flock, just what can conveniently be accommodated along with other farm animals and given the best of care.

GROOM WAS WILLING TO PAY

Became Impatient, However, When He Thought Officiating Bishop Was Hurrying Him.

A prominent bishop of one of the largest denominations in the world tells the following story:

"A young man came to me one day and said: 'Bishop, I want you to marry me on next Wednesday.'

"'All right, young man; I'll marry you,' I assured him.

"'Well, I want the bell to ring,' he continued.

"'Very well, you can have the bell rung.'

"'Well, I want the organ to play.'

"'All right, you can have the organ played.'

"'And I want everything else that anybody ever had at a church wedding.'

"'Certainly; you shall have it.'

"Well, the night came, the bell rang, the organ played, the church was crowded, and everything went off as the young man wanted it. When the ceremony was over the young couple waited instead of leaving the chancel. So I held out my hand, shook hands with the bride and then held out my hand to the bridegroom. He had his hand deep in his trousers pocket, and as I stood with my hand out he said, somewhat impatiently, and in a tone that could be heard all over the church:

"'Now, don't be in such an all-fired hurry, bishop; I'm getting the money out just as fast as I can.'

"And everybody in the church giggled."

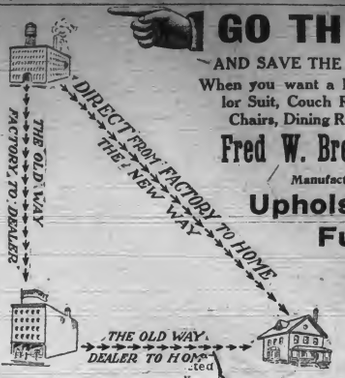
AFTER ALL, WHAT IS WEALTH?

Does Not Guarantee Possessor Happiness Or Immunity From Unrest of Mind.

But after all, what is wealth? My noble and severe parent had it in goodly quantity, but it cannot be said that it made him happy. He was far from being a happy man. I suppose that when he was the husband of one wife he thought he would be happy with two; but when the second was there, it appeared his idea of happiness called for another. I am glad that it did—but this has nothing to do with the argument—for that third and lesser wife was my own good and mild mother, who scolded only when it was absolutely necessary, and who raised a son to my father who has been able by his own exertions to lift himself above all the other children, and at the same time put rice in their pockets and hams over their shoulders, i. e., to assist to wealth and office.

And so it is with many people. I remember when I was a youth at Lou-Chow that riches and promotions seemed as very gifts of the celestial regions. But I have found that neither great wealth nor distinguished decorations, nor both put together, will guarantee a man against unrest of mind or turmoil of soul. How great and honorable is the peacock's feather of the throne, yet how much easier rests the head on goose feathers!—Exchange.

When We Criticise.



No one who habitually points out others' failures can be a success himself. There is something about the habit of criticism that prevents the free, full expression of good in the life of the critic. It has been said, for example, that "professional literary critics never turn out any good literature. Their habitual attitude of criticism dries up the sources of literary production." Whether this sweeping statement is true in every case or not, it suggests a warning that most of us need to think about. To be habitually interested in seeing and speaking about the failures of others is to dry up our own powers of good. And the reverse is equally true; to be sensitively conscious of the good that is in others, to discover it and talk about it freely, is to bring good into being in our own lives that might otherwise never come into existence. How much better it is to discover that which makes for life than that which makes for death!—Sunday School Times.

Love's Labor Lost.

He was due to meet his charmer, and he dressed himself with care. His patent leathers shone like diamonds, not a speck was there. His vest was of the latest cut, his topper bright and smart; and his morning coat and trousers were sartorial works of art. His cuffs, his gloves, and collars beat the finest things I've seen, while the color of his necktie would have turned Beau Brummel green. He arranged his diamond scarfpin, fixed his eyeglass in his eye, grasped his gold-knobbed stick and started out to conquer or to die. He jumped into a taxicab, and bowled along in style. His darling met him at the door with frown instead of smile, she treated him quite frigidly, and left him in disgrace. Though his toilet was elaborate, he hadn't washed his face.—London Tit-Bits.

Tested Their Booty.

Burglars tested silver before they took it away during a recent theft at Birmingham, England. Silver worth several hundred pounds was stolen in daylight from the factory of a firm of local silversmiths. The thieves cleared the workshop of silver ingots and solid silver goods and tested the quality of the metal with a solution, traces of which were found. Two men wearing aprons were seen loading a trap with sacks in the early morning, but were thought to be workmen employed by the firm.

GO THERE

AND SAVE THE DIFFERENCE

When you want a Davenport, Parlor Suit, Couch Rocker, Morris Chairs, Dining Room Chairs.

Fred W. Bremenkamp

Manufacturer of

Upholstered Furniture

Factory and Sample Room

157 PIKE STREET,

COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

We Also Do Repairing and Refinishing.

IF YOU WANT A GOOD

AUTOMOBILE

—CALL ON—

B. B. HUME, Burlington.

FOR 1913 MODEL FORD

5 Passenger Car, $570. 2 Passenger Car, $520

These prices are for fall delivery complete and delivered at your door. If desired a man will be furnished without charge to teach you how to operate your car.

—ALSO AGENT FOR THE—

Oakland, Roadster, $1,150 Touring Car, $1,200 Fully Equipped

SCOTT CHAMBERS,

WALTON, KY.

Embalmer & Funeral Director,

LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.

First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.

Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.

Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

Believe Me,

By trading at Thomann's you can save the Middleman's profit on Harness, Trunks and Blankets.

Wm. Thomann,

56 Pike Street,

Covington, Ky.

WALTON GARAGE

C. S. Vallandingham, Prop.

Walton, Ky.

Repairing and Vulcanizing a Specialty.

Repairs and Fixtures.

Telephone Calls Given Prompt Attention.

NOTICE.

Persons indebted to the estate of Noah Clore, deceased, are notified to come forward and settle, and those having claims against same must present the same to the undersigned proven as by law required.

Mrs. Mollie Clore,
Mrs. Effie Nichols.

Remember to—

Touch up the bare spots in the meadow with a light dressing of well-rotted manure.

If you are not breeding pure-bred stock start now. November is a good month to buy breeding stock. Buy them bred and save the best increase.

Clean up the orchard and burn the rubbish. Likewise the garden and give it a good coat of manure and a plowing. Leave no harboring places for insects, fungus, mice or rats.

Keep the fall litter growing steadily. Six months from now they should be ready for market at about 250 pounds. Skim milk, corn meal, middlings and a little tankage will do the business.

Lay in a good supply of apples for winter use. Apples should be stored in a cool, moist place. The great majority of house cellars are too warm. A shed room granary, or old harness room is often better.

Clean and whitewash the poultry house. See that the house is not damp. Dampness may be avoided. Put the layers in their winter quarters so they will become accustomed to them before the price of eggs advances.

Now Well

"Thedford's Black-Draught is the best all-round medicine I ever used," writes J. A. Steelman, of Pattonville, Texas. "I suffered terribly with liver troubles, and could get no relief. The doctors said I had consumption. I could not work at all. Finally I tried and to my surprise, I got better, and am to-day as well as any man." Thedford's Black-Draught is a general, cathartic, vegetable liver medicine, that has been regulating irregularities of the liver, stomach and bowels, for over 70 years. Get a package today. Insist on the genuine—Thedford's. E-70

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

WALTON.

Lost—Gent's kid glove. Return to Equitable Bank.

Alva E. Carlton of Covington, was here Friday on business.

For Sale—Two fresh Jersey cows. J. C. Bedinger, Walton.

Ed. F. Neumeister visited friends near Folsom and Glencoe, last Sunday.

Chas. C. Spencer of Gallatin county, was here Saturday on business.

H. C. Redman, who has been suffering from an afflicted leg, is mending slowly.

Hon. Wm. N. Hind, of Covington, spent Sunday here with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Sallie R. Miller spent the past week with friends and relatives at Big Bone Springs.

For Sale—30 tons of hay, clover mixed, in bales of 90 pounds. Mrs. A. C. Stapleton, Walton, Ky.

For Sale—Fine four year old unbroke mare, 15½ hands; cheap. A. J. Thomas, Richwood, Ky.

Miss Louise Green spent part of last week at Owenton the guest of relatives and friends.

L. B. McCandler, of near Warsaw, spent Monday here in quest of a small farm, for rent or purchase.

Mrs. Richard Boswell, of Dry Ridge, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Wayland and family this week.

Dr. and Mrs. B. W. Stallard, of Covington, spent Sunday here with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Thos. F. Curley.

Dr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Tomlin, of Indianapolis, spent Sunday here the guests of his brother Judge J. G. Tomlin and wife.

WANTED—Two Polled Durham Bulls, red or roan, yearling or long yearling. Immediate delivery. Neumeister Bros., Walton, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Tompkins spent the week at Louisville attending the State Convention of the harness and saddlery trade.

Ad Miller, of Big Bone Springs, passed through here last Saturday enroute home from a visit to relatives and friends in Covington.

It has been rumored that the L. & N. Railroad contemplates putting in a double track system on their road in the near future.

Mrs. Robt. Baker, who has been suffering from blood poisoning, is getting better, but her infant child has been very ill the past week.

Miss Isabel Tompkins spent part of the week at Louisville with her parents Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Tompkins at the Henry Watterson Hotel.

A moving picture show and a vaudeville sketch was given at the Walton Opera House last Wednesday night and a good crowd was in attendance.

Lost—Leather purse containing $8.00 in currency and some small change; was lost in Walton last week. Return to Equitable Bank and receive reward.

Jas. J. Leary, a prominent citizen of Zion Station, spent Monday here with friends, going to Williamstown to visit his son Sheriff John H. Leary.

A. M. Edwards spent Tuesday and Wednesday at Louisville attending the Tri-State Buggy Manufacturers' Convention and had a most enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Redman returned home here last week after spending a couple of weeks in Covington, visiting their daughter Mrs. W. E. Blackburn.

Jos. McCormick, station agent of the L. & N. Railway at La-Grange, spent Sunday here the guests of his brother-in-law W. Tilden Dudgeon and wife.

Edward F. Neumeister spent last Sunday near Folsom and Glencoe with friends. He bought a couple of fine heifers from Chas. H. Young of Grant county.

Dr. J. G. Slater, of Ludlow, spent part of Friday and Saturday here, and attended the Masonic lodge Friday night, officiating as Master of the lodge.

Walton Masonic Lodge conferred the Entered Apprentice degree on Rev. H. C. Wayman and Prof. J. L. Chambers at the regular convocation last Friday night

Rev. T. C. Stackhouse of Lexington, pastor of the Baptist churches at Warsaw and Sparta, spent Saturday here with friends going to Sparta to hold his regular monthly services.

Jas. P. Johnson, one of the popular citizens of the Union neighborhood, was a visitor here last Monday, enroute to Lexington to attend the annual session of the General Baptist Association.

Judge J. G. Tomlin, Robert C. Green, Jno. L. Vest, Wm. H. Metcalfe and W. Lee Gaines attended the meeting of the Burley Tobacco Society at Lexington last week and part of this week.

Rev. C. J. Nugent, pastor of the Methodist churches at Walton, Verona and Florence, will hold quarterly conference at the Florence Methodist church Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 15 and 16th.

Hon. R. B. Brown, of Warsaw, was a visitor to friends here Saturday. He had been in Louisville, and in returning home on the early morning train, was carried by Sparta, his railroad station.

Rev. John E. Roberts, of California, Ky., spent part of last week at the bedside of his father Larry C. Roberts, who resides between Walton and Verona. Mr. Roberts is very ill with pneumonia.

Robert S. Houston and son J. Frank Houston of Gatun, Panama Canal Zone, were visitors here last week and expect to spend a month at their old home near Verona, intending to return to Panama.

John C. Miller spent from Saturday until Tuesday at Lexington, assisting in the clerical work of the Burley Tobacco Society preparation for the election of officers, there being twenty thousand proxies to arrange and tabulate.

S. H. McCartt, the clever station agent of the Q. & C. Railway here, left the fore part of the week on a vacation trip to his home at Lancing, Tenn. F. G. Gardner, of Hinton, Ky., assisted by his brother Ray Gardner have charge of the office during Mr. McCartt's absence.

Hon. Parker Dickson, of Cincinnati, claim attorney for the Queen and Crescent Railway, was here last Friday arranging about the claims for the necessary changes to be made for the elevation of the bridge over High street, and made a satisfactory adjustment of the matter with all parties.

The 2nd number of the Lyceum course given by the Walton Baptist church was presented last Thursday night by Mr. Beilharz of Cleveland, Ohio, who appeared in monologue "The Hoosier Schoolmaster" in a very entertaining manner to a large audience. The course this season constitutes eight entertainments, and another of the number will be presented in a short time. The next number will be the Morrow Bros.,' Musical Quartette next Saturday night, Nov. 8th.

Immigration South.

The unequal distribution of immigration over the United States continues to attract the attention of those who study the problems of labor and production, and in our Southern States more than in other sections. Some statistics at hand for 1912 show that of the 838,172 immigrants received at our ports only 35,520 were destined for states that grow cotton, and that of these 32,855 went to Texas. Contrast these figures with those for a few other states. New York, 239,275; Pennsylvania, 109,625; Massachusetts, 71,171. We must accept the consensus of opinion South that they need more immigrants and that they do not want the undesirables from Russia and Mediterranean countries. The Chattanooga Times, speaking of the Mississippi Valley Immigration Association fears the results of invitations to such through the efforts of transportation companies and others, who may bring them over, and demands a better sort, and also suggests a society for reforming methods under which the negro is employed, that he may be more encouraged than at present.

It is true that in many instances negroes in the Southern States show themselves quite competent in various trades, as well as in work on the plantations but always the fault is found that labor is entirely too scarce and that greater crops should be produced. It may come to the point that some of the Southern States will conclude that, after all, the Japanese could be found acceptable and valuable. They have doubt of inducing from Europe the more desirable immigration from northern countries because of climate. Western Canada continues to appeal to the Scandinavian. Even Iceland continues to send valuable recruits to Canada. We note, for instance that in Winnipeg the other day there was organization of Icelanders to contribute to the mother country for a steamship line for coasting trade and business with the British Isles in order to break up the Danish monopoly.

But the desirables from Northern Europe are seeking the grain growing districts of the great North rather than the heat of the cotton fields, which Japanese people are willing and anxious to encounter. There are some men of ideas in the Cotton States who venture the thought that the Japanese should be invited, but no doubt the general opinion is so much in opposition that the press will not be brought to support it. Not long ago there was a tentative leading that way in Florida, but it was given up as hopeless.

One great need of the South is more owning and managing farmers. In several states there is desire to have the greater plantations cut up. With the right kind of immigration lands could be disposed of to advantage by holders of large acreage and crops greatly increased. They have read of the remarkable advance and prosperity of Ireland through division of the land into small holdings and while there is no doubt of such paternalism in government as in the case of that country, the great strides the Irish people at home are making is due to the great increase of owning and managing farmers. Within one decade under the Irish land bill, 300,000 farmers have become holders instead of tenants; hence prosperity. Year by year our immigration from Ireland falls off, and what there is now is largely from their people by a new lease of life.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The management of the Cincinnati Lawrenceburg and Aurora Electric Street Railway Company announces that through service has been resumed through Harrison, Ohio, and Lawrenceburg and Aurora, Ind. The lines were put out of commission to these cities during the floods of last spring.

President Wilson's Cabinet stands firmly behind the President in his efforts to force the retirement of President Huerta of Mexico.

The income tax law will catch not more than one person about Burlington.

For Sale—Fine driving mare, seven years old, well bred, weighs about 1150—$165. One cheap work mare, will trade for shoats, sow and pigs or white leghorn chickens. Apply to O. P. SPAHR, Burlington, Ky., R. D. 3, on the old Chambers farm.

Flue-Cured Tobacco.

Washington, D. C.—The normal annual production of flue-cured tobacco on a farm-weight basis is estimated to be about 215,000,000 pounds, according to Bulletin No. 16 of the Department of Agriculture. This type of tobacco is the only American grown variety that has shown a tendency to expand our reports. About 40 per cent, or around 90,000,000 lbs. is exported and the remainder is used in domestic consumption.

"All things considered, this flue-cured type of tobacco is unsurpassed in universal popularity," states the report, "and it is adapted to a variety of uses including granulated and cut smoking tobacco, both paper and all tobacco cigarettes, and plug filler and wrapper; in fact, it is adapted to all the regular forms in which tobacco is used except standard cigars and snuff. In color and general appearance it is very attractive, while its low nicotine content, mildness, aromatic sweetness, fragrance, and good keeping qualities render it very satisfying to the user."

The use of flues in curing tobacco became popular after the close of the Civil War and by the middle eighties the demand had increased so that about 20 counties in Virginia and North Carolina had been planted to this variety. There are a number of varieties of flue-cured tobacco, prominently among which are the Warne, Yellow Oronoco, White stem, Oronoco, Big Oronoco, Adcock, Adkin, Willow-Leaf, Gooch Tilley and Hester. The Warne is the standard wrapper type and perhaps is the most popular. The Adcock is a great favorite in the noted wrapper producing section of Granville County, North Carolina, while the Adkin is popular as an early maturing variety.

Apart from the natural character of the soil itself, there is no more important matter for the tobacco grower to consider than the management of his fields. Indeed the character of the tobacco produced will depend as much on how the fields have been handled in rotation between the successive tobacco crops as upon the fertilizer used or the cultivation given directly to the tobacco crop itself. Tobacco land should be so handled as to be kept in good life. A liberal supply of vegetable matter in an advanced stage of decay is highly desirable, but it should be of the kind not excessively rich in ammonia.

It is well known that the organic matter of freshly cleared or broom sedge fields is of a kind well suited to tobacco. It consists principally of dead leaves, twigs, roots, pine tags, broom sedge and roots. Such vegetable matter, while poor in ammonia by its ample volume makes the soil very mellow and friable and of good water holding capacity. There is probably no better humus crop for rotation than herd's grass or red top.

Specking, or "diseasing" as it is generally called, is the most common disease injury to which tobacco in the flue-cured district is subject. It is believed to be a fungus disease, disseminated by spores. The only practical method of reducing the injury to the crop caused by the disease is by using potash more liberally in the fertilizer, which seems to increase the resistance of the plant to the disease.

Flock Improvement.

Breeding ewes that are in any way diseased should not be kept in the breeding flock for their progeny are apt to inherit such disease and transmit it to their progeny, says W. M. Kelly in the Rural New Yorker. There is plenty of difficulty with disease in a flock of sheep without inviting and fostering the very elements that will destroy the results of systematic selection. None but the best and most vigorous individuals that are free from all hereditary diseases should be selected for breeding purposes if we aim to build up a good uniform and profitable flock.

Great regard should be paid to the size and general contour of the ram that is selected to head the flock. His structure should be firm and massive, with a broad and capacious breast, without a disproportionate length of legs well formed and fully developed quarters, especially the hind quarters. His loin should be stout and well knit, his features bold and masculine. A firm, muscular neck, with a bold, courageous eye, is indicative of spirit and vigor. The head should be long, but rather small and finely molded. These appearances denote excellent qualities in rams of every breed. I do not believe in selecting an extremely large ram nor those that are weak in one point and strong in another.

Study the breeding ewes and select a ram that will have a tendency to correct any weaknesses or defects that they possess. In the purchase of the ram great care should be exercised as to what his appearance would be when in a normal condition, for it is unsafe to rely upon the form or appearance of sheep when these have been created by high and unnatural feeding or external applications. It is more than likely that their progeny will be injured rather than made better by such methods.

While the selection of the ram is of great importance yet I do not believe he represents as large a factor in the improvement of a flock of sheep as many writers would have us believe, especially when the flock is well bred and the ewes nearly as good in quality as the pure bred rams that are used to continue the work of further improvement.

Christmas comes on Thursday this year. Do your shopping early.

Dine's Free Brass Bed Offer

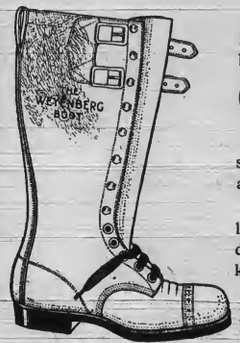
Handsome Two-Inch Post Brass Bed Free with Every $125 Purchase or More

We are making this extraordinary inducement in order to especially attract those who may be going to furnish their home this month, so that they will come to a store which has long been known for its square dealing and upright methods.

This offer will continue the entire month. Not alone is this offer worth investigating, but we have made decided reductions on all home outfits, which is in itself a big inducement.

If we cannot show you a saving of $25 to $50 on your home outfit, we do not want you to buy.

Quality Furniture, Combined with Good Style and Low Prices, has Made The Dine Stores the Homes of Home Outfits



If you are not ready to furnish your home this month, we shall be pleased to reserve one of these Beds for you on payment of a small amount, which will also give you the benefit of our November special prices on your purchase, even should you make your selection next month or later.

We make no charge for showing you through---so come and look.

518-520 York Street, Newport, Ky. | DINE'S "QUALITY FURNITURE" | 530-532 Madison Av. Covington, Ky

1123-25 Main St. Cincinnati.

Look, Read and Consider.

Why go to Covington or Cincinnati to buy your Boots and Shoes when you can get them cheaper and better at home. Go to

Casper Lehmann

Who carries a full stock of Men's heavy working shoes 14, 16 and 18 inches high (water-proof), guaranteed all solid leather, full vamp.

I have a full stock of Men's fine shoes in button or lace, tan or black, also a full stock of Infant's, Children's, Misses' and Women's shoes in gun metal, tan, kid and patent leather, button or lace.

I also have a full stock of No. 1 Ball Brand Rubber Boots and Artics, also Misses' and Women's Rubbers and Artics.

I also carry a high-grade of Ladies' flexible soles for tender feet; the Ladies', Children's and Misses high cut Shoes in gun metal or patent leather at reasonable prices; also a few odd sizes in Gents' and Ladies' shoes at cost price.

I have a full stock of Youths' and Boys' high cut shoes in tan or black, also a full and complete stock of shoes too numerous to mention.

CUSTOM WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Casper Lehmann, Boots and Shoes DEALER IN

P. O. Address, Box 215 ERLANGER, KY

Elsmere, Kentucky.

No Seven Months School.

Frankfort, Nov. 10.—The plan of State Supt., Barksdale Hamlett to increase the common school term to seven months this year will have to be abandoned for lack of statutory authority. After satisfying himself that there will be sufficient in the State school fund to finance an extra month, the Superintendent submitted the question to the Attorney General, and was informed that the statute fixes the school term at six months, and directs that any funds in excess over the pro rata apportionment for those 6 months must go to swell the balance in the fund at the end of the fiscal year. It is probable that the General Assembly will be asked to enact a law extending the term.

Assistant Attorney General Logan, in his opinion, recites that Section 4364 of the Kentucky Statutes "requires all the common schools to be taught at least six months each school year."

For Sale—Farm of 65 acres, two miles west of Burlington on the Burlington and Belleview turnpike, good 5-room house, lasting water—all in grass but 10 acres, that in cultivation. Will sell reasonable. Apply to KARL ROUSE, Burlington, Ky. 4t.

MISCELLANEOUS FOR SALE.

For Sale—Good Sanitary couch. Apply to Mrs. Eliza Rouse, Burlington, Ky.

For Sale—Rhode Island Red cockerels. Apply to Mrs. L. M. Rouse, Union, Ky.

For Sale—High bred Jersey bull calf, eight months old. Call on or address E. E. Clore, Grant, Ky., R. D. 1.

For Sale—Twenty-six shoats that will weigh about 75 or 80 pounds each. Apply to C. E. Stephens, Bullittsville.

For SaleThree cows and one heifer. One cow has a young calf—one is fresh and the other will be fresh next month. Apply to Leslie Clark Ludlow R. D. 2, and near Hebron, Ky.

For Sale—Good 4-year old work mule, yearling mule, 7 year old work and driving horse, about three tons clover hay and some cowpea hay. Apply to J. E. Botts, Bullittsville, Ky. 1t.

WANTED—A good, steady, farm hand by the month or year to begin work at once or soon as possible. Good house and good wages guaranteed to right party. Apply to or address J. W. EWBANKS, Brashear, Ky.

Posted Against Hunters.

The undersigned hereby give notive that their land is posted against trespassing of all kinds and especially by hunting with dogs or guns and trapping thereon:

B. C. Graddy, Bullittsville.
J. S. Eggleston, Francesville.
Mary V. Gaines, Bullittsville.
Harry Walton, Petersburg.
A. L. Nichols, Burlington.
C. T. Northcutt, Belleview.
Everett Souther, Pt. Pleasant.
Julia S. Dinsmore, Belleview.
Mrs. I. T. McNaughton, Muncie, Indiana.
C. O. Hempfling, Taylorsport.
Jasper Sullivan, Waterloo.
W. L. B. Rouse, Limaburg.
Edward Farrell, Limaburg.
T. F. Grant, Bullittsville.
Geo. C. Barlow, Florence.
John Clore, Hebron.
John W. Ryle, Burlington.
Mrs. Mary Ryan, Beaver.

Robertson's turnip crop is the heaviest and the best ever grown in the county. Thinkof a turnip weighing seven or eight pounds and solid and tender throughout, and some idea may be formed of the kind of turnips raised in Robertson this year.—Mt. Olivet Tribune-Democrat.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXXVIIII. Established 1875. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1913. $1.50 Per Year. NO. 8.

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

HEBRON.

Church services next Sunday night at 7 o'clock.

Miss Ruth Regenbogen is sick.

Mrs. Nannie Ernst was very sick one night last week.

Mrs. Mabel G. Sayre went to Lockland, Sunday to see her son who has a position there.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Cloud went to the city, Sunday, to see his mother, who has been in the hospital for about a month.

Samuel Aylor united with the Sand Run Baptist church, recently, his wife having united with the same church about a month ago.

Mesdames Mae Aylor, Jessie Aylor, Iva Riddell, Bessie Baker and Misses Alice Reitmann and Nannie Lodge, were guests of Mrs. Lizzie Graves, last Thursday.

PETERSBURG.

(R. D. 1.)

I wish the RECORDER and its force a happy Thanksgiving.

Geo. Bachelor shipped a bunch of nice hogs to the city recently.

Jesse Kelly and daughter Miss Kitty are residents of this vicinity.

Jas. Snyder was the first to finish husking corn in this neighborhood.

The weather the past week was quite favorable for the tobacco strippers.

Nelson Emery purchased a pair of mules of Mr. Allen one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bluford Wingate are keeping house on Mrs. J. I. McWethy's farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Holt White of near Lawrenceburg ferry, visited Bernard Berkshire and family recently.

Chas. Sullivan and family, of Sparta, Ind., spent from Friday until Sunday with his parents on Woolper.

DEVON

Mrs. E. F. West, who has been quite ill, is better.

Mrs. Wm. Cody is the guest of relatives in Covington.

Ambrose Easton and family are recovering from the grippe.

Mrs. J. C. Conrad was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Cahill, in Florence, Monday.

Mrs. John Hays entertained Mrs. C. Carpenter and Mrs. Sarah Rector at dinner Tuesday.

Frank, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Afterkirk, is improving from a recent illness.

Harry Stephens and wife, of Erlanger, were pleasant guests of Chas. Miller and wife, recently.

Chas. Miller, Jas. W. Bristow and Russell Miller went to Big Bone, Saturday and had a fine time hunting.

Mrs. Blanche Bagby and sister, Mrs. Alfred Tanner, of Norwood, Ohio, were visitors at Mr. Robert Northcutt's recently.

Miss Pattie Callahan, of Verona, returned home Wednesday after a pleasant visit with friends at this place and Erlanger.

Russell Miller, of Covington, came out Friday evening and remained until Sunday evening the guest of Charles Miller and wife.

VERONA.

Frank Houston has purchased a new motor cycle.

Willie Preston, who has typhoid fever is getting better.

Robt. Houston left for his home in Panama Canal Zone, last Friday.

Quite a crowd of young people attendned the entertainment at the Baptist church in Walton, last Saturday night.

L. C. Roberts, who has been quite ill for several days with pneumonia, we are glad to report able to sit up.

Mrs. Ada Moore, of Elliston Station, spent part of last week at the bedside of her father, L. C. Roberts, who was quite ow with pneumonia.

Ben Grimsley, better known as Wolford, who met a horrible death by explosion of gasoline at Newport on the 3d of this month, was brought to New Bethel church on the 5th, where Bro. Nugent, of Walton, preached the funeral discouse after which the remains were interred in New Bethel cemetery.

Miss Jamie Preston, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Whitney Preston, passed away Nov. 15th, 1913, typhoid pneumonia, aged 15 ears, two months and one day. amie was the light of her home, a beautiful christian girl and many were the sorrowing friends who gathered at New Bethel church to pay the last tribute of respect to her, whom they had learned to love, and to extend their sympathy to the bereaved family. The floral offering by the school showed in part their appreciation of her beautiful character. The funeral discourse was preached by Rev. H. C. Wayman, after which the remains were laid to rest in New Bethel cemetery.

Horses will be high for at least another year.

GUNPOWDER.

Ed. Clegg and wife entertained several of their friends at dinner, last Sunday.

For Sale—A 150 pound Thinring male hog. Apply to J. S. Surface or C. L. Aylor, Florence.

Mr. Spencer Meeks, of near Erlanger, was the guest of Mr. Porr and wife last Saturday night.

Hirb and Edo Rouse sold their crop of tobacco to a Covington firm last week for 11½ cents per pound.

Thos. Stevenson, a large dealer in tobacco, was prrospecting in this neighborhood one day last week but he made no purchase.

B. C. Tanner has his cow barn about completed and about the next thing you hear of him he will be going to Florida to spend the winter.

H. F. Utz was the guest of Bert Clore and wife last Sunday night and did some work on the telephone line in that neighborhood the first of the week.

Lloyd Stephens and wife, of Florida, who have spent several weeks with relatives here are proud parents of a little daughter which arrived a few days since.

Several of the Hopeful and Ebenezer church members spent the day very pleasantly on Wednesday of last week at the Lutheran Parsonage near Florence.

Ed. Clegg has completed a very convenient hog house. It is large enough to accommodate about 40 hogs. He has his feed cooker under the same roof and cooks all of his feed and feeds it warm. Pies are his principal feed. Ed. is making good in the hog business.

PETERSBURG.

Miss Edna Beall went to Cincinnati, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Edwards entertained relatives Sunday.

Mrs. Mae Whiting spent Wednesday in Cincinnati, shopping.

Stewart Berkshire is at home for a few days from Lexington.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott, of Corryville, visited relatives here the latter part of the week.

Mrs. Stanley B. Palmer, of Oxford, Ohio, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Berkshire, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Keim and sons Weindel and Karl spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Arnold.

The Petersburg school will give an oyster supper at Stott's Hall Nov. 22d. Doors open at 7 p. m. Everybody invited.

Mrs. D. B. Hoffman, Mrs. Fleet Hoffman and Miss Ormal Klopp visited Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Baker at Aurora, Wednesday.

Mrs. John Earley will have a spelling match at Stott's Hall on Thursday evening. Proceeds to go for American Missions.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Gordon were treated to a miscellaneous shower by their many friends, Saturday evening, Nov. 9th. They received a large number of usefut presents.

Rev. Geo. C. Waggoner, of Lawrenceburg, delivered an excellent sermon at the Christian church, Sunday afternoon. The subject of the discourse was "The Bible, and the first Psalm was the text

Mrs. Elihu Allen entertained a number of friends at dinner Friday. Among those present were Mrs. J. M. Grant, Mrs. J. T. Blackburn, Mrs. Wm. Berkshire, Mrs. E. McWethy and daughters. Miss Nora and Mrs. R. E. Grant and children.

Chas. Klopp has built a new smoke house.

Senator J. W. Berkshire continues to improve.

Ruth & Snelling are busy butchering hogs for their patrons.

Wood Sullivan has moved to the property he purchased here.

Several new monuments have been placed in the cemetery this fall.

Joseph Mahan has gone to Ludlow to spend the winter with his daughter.

The very good health of this community is attributed to scarcity of eatables.

John Botts and John Geisler are building a cow stable for Representative-elect Stott.

J. B. Berkshire has become a first-class meat cuiter since the meat shop went out of business.

Work on the Odd Fellows building is progressing nicely, nearly all the outside work being done.

The widow of the late Charles Sebree has moved back to her former home in Ghent, Carroll county.

Drs. Grant and Blackburn removed a very annoying growth from Wm. Shotwell's neck, last Sunday.

Frank Hodges and wife, of Rabbit Hash, spent several days the past week here with their son John Mace Hodges and family.

Are you who are in favor of free turnpikes ready to vote bonds to purchase the pikes and to meet the demands so occasioned? Gentlemen, think twice before you speak.

GRANT R. D. 1.

Al Rogers butchered five fat hogs last week.

Wm. Aylor and family spent Sunday at Lewis Stephens.

Tim Sandford has a force of hands at work pressing hay.

G. S. Walrath made a business trip to Cincinnati, Saturday.

Joseph Richmond is erecting a dwelling house for B. L. Stephens.

The river is rising rapidly and about 40 feet is expected at this point.

Solon Ryle and family spent last Sunday with this writer and family.

Mrs. Henry Clore and Mrs. John Maurer are better, while W. W. Grant is very ill.

John Ryle has bought his partner, Clifford Ryle's interest in the huckster business.

Dr. Carlyle is having some repairs and improvements made on his residence in Rabbit Hash.

Frank Miller, of Cincinnati, was down Sunday to see his old friends, Capt. Smith and wife.

Wm. Snelling purchased of his brother Charles his house and lot here, known as the Birkle place.

Rev. Edgar Riley preached at the Christian church here Sunday and took dinner with William W. Grant.

A large crowd attended the spelling match here Saturday in which the Burlington school came out with flying colors.

Saturday was not a very auspicious day for inaugurating the hunting season and not many of the local nimrods went afield.

Mrs. Peter Hager was kind enough to furnish the carrier on R. D. 1 a horse to use last week while "Old Regular" took a vacation.

Capt. John Maurer is home on a short vacation, but the present rise in the river will necessitate his early departure to take a coal fleet south.

T. W. Cook and son, Ray, went to Chas. White's, near Ferry creek Saturday to help husk out his corn in the low bottoms before the river destroys it.

Cam White and wife, of Ferry creek, spent Friday night with her parents near Waterloo, but returned home early Saturday morning as Mr. White had to assist his brother in saving their corn from the rapidly rising river.

The R. D. carrier wishes to thank O. K. Hodges, Z. T. Kelly and Frank Scott for that fine sausage which out of their kindness of heart they gave the mail man, Colon Kelly. Mrs. Lizzie Stephens and also Blufe Clore remembered the carrier with a nice lunch during the bad weather.

Wm. Rogers had a horse to get badly hurt last Thursday in a somewhat unusual manner. While husking corn his team ran off and ran into another wagon in the field with such force that his bay mare lunged clear up on the wagon, tearing off all the muscles and flesh nearly around one fore leg. She got one hind foot thru the spokes in a hind wheel of the wagon, and before she could be extricated the wagon had to be raised and the hind wheel taken off. A veterinary was called from Aurora and pronounced the wound serious but not necessarily fatal.

FLORENCE.

Miss Irene Cahill spent Friday with Mrs. Ed. Sydnor.

Green Moffett left Saturday to join his mother, who is in Texas.

Alvin Eddins has been at home several days on account of sickness.

Found—A lady's driving glove. Owner can have same by calling at the Bank.

Corenne Stephens gave the young folks a delightful party, Saturday evening.

Mrs. Charlie Fulton and mother entertained Mrs. Lyon Tanner, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Carrie Carpenter, Mrs. Chas. Carpenter, Mrs. Albert Lucas, Mrs. Emily Sowers and the Methodist minister, Rev. Newsom, Thursday.

Miss Viola Arnold was the guest of Miss Madge Williams, of Union, from Saturday until Monday.

Prof. A. M. Yealey and several of his pupils went to Belleview to witness the spelling match, Friday.

Mrs. J. O. Carpenter entertained several friends and the Methodist minister, Saturday, with a supper.

Miss Nora Cahill and mother have returned after having a delightful visit with relatives in Covington.

J. R. Whitson has been crippling around town several days. Can't say whether he is really crippled or just playing 'Possum.

Members of the local Baptist church met Wednesday evening and called Rev. Douglas, of Louisville seminary, for the coming year.

On the evening of the 21st there will be an oyster supper and dance given by the ladies of St. Paul at the old church. All are invited.

There are a couple of ugly places at the crossing of Washington and Jefferson streets which the citizens of the town ought to have repaired. The necessary material and work can be secured at a small cost, and for this purpose the RECORDER will receive contributions. How much will you give?

Boone County Recorder..... $1.00

FLICKERTOWN.

No turkeys sold here yet for Thanksgiving.

F. M. Voshell and Ray Botts butchered their hogs last week.

Woodie Sullivan killed 41 rabbits Saturday. That is going some.

Not much hunting done around here Saturday on account of rain.

M. C. Stephens bought of Harry Voshell 65 acres of land adjoining him.

The rain Friday started the creek to running the first time since June.

J. W. White wants to buy a Chester male hog—weight about 100 pounds.

Your reporter and family visited John White and family Sunday, in Burlington.

Ben Hensley sold his hogs to Ruth & Blyth, last week. Price $7.50 per 100 pounds.

Some of the farmers are getting uneasy about their corn in the low bottoms as the water is coming up fast.

HATHAWAY.

Jas. Arrasmith has bought Wilson Adams' farm near town.

Mrs. Pearl Brady has moved to the farm recently purchased by Owen Presser.

Those numbered among the sick are Mrs. W. L. Presser and Mrs. R. S. Clements.

Jas. Aylor and wife spent Tuesday with his parents, Mr. J. H. Aylor and wife.

Wilton Adams and wife and mother-in-law, Mrs. Davrainville, were Sunday guests at Thomas P. Stephens.

Mrs. Elijah Stephens spent several days last week with her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Anderson, near Limaburg.

A number of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. Richard Clements on Monday, Nov. 3d, to celebrate his eighty first birthday. While the gathering was not as large as in former years it consisted of the older residents of the neighborhood. Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Will Ryle, of near Burlington; Mrs. P. P. Neal, of near Union; Mr. and Mrs. George L. Smith and Mr. B. H. Stephens, of Big Bone; Byron Adams, of Sherman; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McNeely, of Gunpowder; Mrs. Annie Ryle, of Latonia, and Sidney Clements and family. A bountiful dinner was spread after which the guests left wishing Mr. Clements many more happy birthdays.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Jas. Mitchell is building a new stock barn.

Elmore Ryle was out of commission several days last week with a badly sprained wrist.

Stanley Stephens, of the Grange Hall neighborhood, has made himself a present of a new wagon.

J. M. Rice, of Dry Ridge, Grant county, was in the Waterloo neighborhood last week looking after his farm.

Chas. Kelly, trustee of Locust Grove school, installed a new heating aparatus in the school house last Saturday.

Kelly Bros., of Waterloo neighborhood have a lot of fine apples for sale at $2.25 per barrel, seconds, $1.50 per barrel.

J. W. Kite's Sons bought and shipped from their store in 11 days 1,409 rabbits for which they paid the trappers $198.46.

A. L. Houston has put a concrete forge and other improvements in his shop and is now ready to give the people first class service.

How is this for some variation? On Thursday, Nov. 6th, the mercury registered 60; on Tuesday, Nov. 11th, it registered 16, and on Thursday Nov. 13th, it register ed 60 again.

Some neighborly neighbors helped themselves to one of W. C. Bondurant's bee hives one night last week. Taking it to a lonely spot they robbed it of its honey, leaving the hive and bees scattered about.

Among the articles of mail matter delivered on route No. 2 out of Burlington last week was a patent vacuum washing mashine. If the postage rate continues to decrease and the weight of parcels to increase it will not be long until a threshing machine can be shipped by parcel post. Dressed poultry and butter are common articles of mail matter.

The Waterloo Jersey Cattle Co. sold their bull, Fortune King, and settled all business of the company. After payment of all expense there was a nice profit on the right side, besides having several nice heifers to start a herd. W. G. Kite bought a Sultan Fern bull, sired by a son of Golden Fern, whose dam has a test of 18 lbs. and two ounces in seven days. Sultan Fern's dam, Sultan's Beauty, official test is 512 pounds and one ounse of butter in one year, commencing at 23 months old. He will take the place of the one sold, so you tend to raise some nice Jersey heifers.

Chas. L. Kelly, who lives down on the East Bend road, has six hundred bushels of handsome red apples as were ever produced in this county. They are the remnant of a crop of one thousand bushels, the others having been sold some time since. He has the six hundred bushels of apples so housed that he can control the temperature and keep it from getting too low. He has in stock also a large qunatity of excellent cider, and for both apples and cider he will find ready sale.

Personal Mention.

Mr. Henry Terrill has been quite ill for several days.

Mrs. Chas. Goodridge was shopping in Cincinnati Tuesday.

Ezra Aylor, of East Bend, was in Burlington a few hours last Friday.

Mrs. Eliza Rouse is visiting her brother, H. W. Blyth and family in Lawrenceburg, Ind.

John Scott was the guest of his daughter Mrs. Chas. Maurer several days the past week.

Frank Hammon, of the Limaburg neighborhood, transacted business in Burlington, Friday.

Malchus Souther, of Pt. Pleasant neighborhood, was a business visitor to Burlington, last Friday.

Menter Martin and wife, of Bullittsville, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Roberts.

Clyde Barker and wife, of Cleves, Ohio, spent Saturday night and Sunday with relatives near Burlington.

Earl and Russell Smith and others went to Big Bone neighborhood Tuesday, on a hunting expedition.

Robert McMillan, who recently sold his farm just west of town has moved to a farm on the Lexington pike near the Five Mile house.

John Furlong, of Pt. Pleasant neighborhood, was a business caller at this office last Monday. Farm life is evidently agreeing with Mr. Furlong.

Robbed of $115.

Lester Gully, a well known young huckster, in this neighborhood was robbed of $115 and his shoes at a lodging house in Covington, last Friday night. Mr. Gully had been in the habit of stopping at the place for some time, and when he went there last Friday night the proprietor informed him that all his rooms were taken, but in one room was a boarder who had been with him for quite a while and whom he could recommend as being all right. Mr. Gully decided he would bunk with the boarder who got up and was out at an unusually early hour next morning, telling the proprietor of the house, whom he met, that he was ill. Having been absent an unreasonable time the landlord went to the room and awoke Mr. Gully, who, in a short time, discovered he had been robbed of $115 and his shoes. The police were notified of the robbery but the thief had made good his escape.

The Corn Show.

Farmers, remember that the annual Boone County Corn Show under the auspices of the Boone County Pomona Grange will be held in Burlington next Saturday. The contest ought to be spirited in every department and the show good. Although this was not considered a good crop year there is lots of good corn in this county, and next Saturday will afford a splendid opportunity for the farmers of Boone Co. to show what they can do in the way of producing corn under unfavorable conditions. The Boone Co Boys' Corn Club will doubtless be there with numerous exhibits and prepared to give some of the older heads a few pointers relative to the production of the staff of life.

The ladies department provides for an exhibition of good cooking, and they will see to it that the show along that line will not be neglected.

Teachers Meeting.

Program for Teacher's Meeting to be held at Beaver Lick school house, Saturday, Dec. 13, 1913, at 2 p. m.

What kind of Education Prepares for Life in the Country?—E. C. Riley.

Position and Manners of Children.—Mrs. Hahn.

Mind Training vs. Memorizing.—Prof. Martin.

Treatment of the Unprepared. —Mariam Morris.

How May the School Aid in Bringing about Social Pleasures in the Country?—Everett L. Dix.

Advantages of a High School Education for the Rural Child.—Prof. J. L. Chambers.

ANNA MAY CLEEK.

Railroad Trestle Again Sinks

Early Friday morning a section of trestle on the B. and O. S. W. at the Miami sank nine inches, making it necessary for trains to be detoured over the Big Four until Saturday morning. Two weeks ago Saturday evening there was a like occurrence at the same place, the track settling nearly half a foot soon after passenger train No. 19 passed over. It is supposed that in each instance the settling was due to a stratum of quicksand. Fearing further trouble B. and O. S.-W. officials on Monday decided to route trains over the Big Four until the trestle could be made sufficiently safe to warrant the resumption of traffic over that point. The work will likely require a week or longer.—Lawrenceburg Press.

Prof. A. M. Yealey, of Florence, and three of his bright young lady pupils made the Recorder a pleasant call last Friday as they were enroute to the spelling match at Belleview.

ANNUAL SPELLING MATCH

Exciting Much Interest and Friendly Rivalry Among the High Schools.

Something that is being watched with great interest is the spelling matches which are now being held among the high schools of Boone county. The plan of these contests was arranged at a conference of the high school teachers during the Institute and is of a nature calculated to encourage improvement in practical, everyday spelling rather than the memorizing of a spelling book. The arrangement made at that time and now being carried out is as follows: A list of 450 words in general use is selected by the county superintendent for each match. Three teams of five members each participate in each event. When a word is missed a point is recorded against the team to which that member belongs but he continues to stand and spell as before. Of course the team missing the fewest words is the winner.

The first match was held at Belleview on last Friday with the following results:

Burlington missed 22
Petersburg missed 35.
Belleview missed 55.

On Saturday another match was held at Walton with the following results:

Walton missed 22.
Verona missed 31.
Union missed 36.

Burlington and Walton, the winners of these matches will go to Florence next Friday where they will contest against each other and the Florence team for possession of the banner for this year. Florence won the banner last year.

Here is the standing of the teams in the two matches already held, counting the percentage of words spelled based on the number (150) pronounced to each team:

Burlington 83 1-3.
Walton 83 1-3.
Verona 79 1-3.
Petersburg 76 2-3.
Union 76.
Belleview 63 1-3.

RABBIT HASH.

Kenneth Hodges has gone to Illinois to work husking corn.

H. D. Brady, of Middle creek neighborhood, was here Tuesday.

County Road Engineer, Charles Goodridge, was in this precinct last week.

The river is rising rapidly and farmers with corn on low lands are hustling to get it out.

Miss Maud Matson, of Rising Sun, was visiting her sister, Mrs. B. C. Stephens, last week.

The young folks were entertained with an oyster supper at J. H. Walton's, last Wednesday night.

Wallace Stephens and wife, who have been visiting relatives here for several weeks, returned to their home at Lawrenceburg, last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hodges had a handsome monument placed at the grave of their son Owen in the M. E. cemetery in East Bend, last Thursday, Will Toohy, of Rising Sun, doing the work.

Insurance Merger.

Frankfort, Nov. 17.—The Henry Clay Fire Insurance Company, of Lexington, and the United American Insurance Co., of America, of this city, today merged into the Henry Clay Fire Insurance Co.

M. H. Froman, of Ghent, President of the United American Insurance Company of America, will be elected President of the new company, and Frank P. James, of Harrodsburg, President of the old Henry Clay Company, will become the Chairman of the Executive Committee of the new company. There will be a set of Directors elected from each company to serve during 1914. The new company will have authorized capital stock of $2,000,000 and assets of $750,000. Judge John M. Lassing, of Newport, is extensively interested in the Henry Clay Company, and was largely instrumental in putting thru the merger. The company owns a seventy story office building in this city, and will likely retain its general offices here.

Killed by Train at Erlanger.

The unidentified body of a white man about 30 years old was found on the railroad track a short distance from the depot at Erlanger Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock by Miss Maud Rider, of that place. It is thought that he was run over by a Queen and Crescent freight train. The top part of his head was cut off and his body frightfully mangled. An examination of the man's clothing disclosed a visiting card, without address, bearing the name of P. G. Hoskick. The clothing bore the label of the Big Store, of Cincinnati. The man wore a derby hat and a light blue shirt. On his little finger was a ring containing a turquois set. It is thought that he fell off the train. The body was later identified as that of Mr. Reese, of Crescent Springs.

The chestnut trees of this country may soon be extinct, but fortunately the joke smiths are not dependent upon them for their supplies.

WALTON.

Lost—Gent's kid glove. Return to Equitable Bank.

Alva E. Carlton of Covington, was here Friday on business.

For Sale—Two fresh Jersey cows. J. C. Bedinger, Walton.

Ed. F. Neumeister visited friends near Folsom and Glencoe, last Sunday.

Chas. C. Spencer of Gallatin county, was here Saturday on business.

H. C. Redman, who has been suffering from an afflicted leg, is mending slowly.

Hon. Wm. N. Hind, of Covington, spent Sunday here with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Sallie R. Miller spent the past week with friends and relatives at Big Bone Springs.

For Sale—30 tons of hay, clover mixed, in bales of 90 pounds. Mrs. A. C. Stapleton, Walton, Ky.

For Sale—Fine four year old unbroke mare, 15¼ hands; cheap. A. J. Thomas, Richwood, Ky.

Miss Louise Green spent part of last week at Owenton the guest of relatives and friends.

L. B. McCandler, of near Warsaw, spent Monday here in quest of a small farm, for rent or purchase.

Mrs. Richard Boswell, of Dry Ridge, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Wayland and family this week.

Dr. and Mrs. B. W. Stallard, of Covington, spent Sunday here with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Thos. F. Curley.

Dr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Tomlin, of Indianapolis, spent Sunday here the guests of his brother Judge J. G. Tomlin and wife.

WANTED—Two Polled Durham Bulls, red or roan, yearling or long yearling. Immediate delivery. Neumeister Bros., Walton, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Tompkins spent the week at Louisville attending the State Convention of the harness and saddlery trade.

Ad Miller, of Big Bone Springs, passed through here last Saturday enroute home from a visit to relatives and friends in Covington.

It has been rumored that the L. & N. Railroad contemplates putting in a double track system on their road in the near future.

Mrs. Robt. Baker, who has been suffering from blood poisoning, is getting better, but her infant child has been very ill the past week.

Miss Isabel Tompkins spent part of the week at Louisville with her parents Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Tompkins at the Henry Watterson Hotel.

A moving picture show and a vaudeville sketch was given at the Walton Opera House last Wednesday night and a good crowd was in attendance.

Lost—Leather purse containing $8.00 in currency and some small change; was lost in Walton last week. Return to Equitable Bank and receive reward.

Jas. J. Leary, a prominent citizen of Zion Station, spent Monday here with friends, going to Williamstown to visit his son Sheriff John H. Leary.

A. M. Edwards spent Tuesday and Wednesday at Louisville attending the Tri-State Buggy Manufacturers' Convention and had a most enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Redman returned home here last week after spending a couple of weeks in Covington, visiting their daughter Mrs. W. E. Blackburn.

Jos. McCormick, station agent of the L. & N. Railway at La-Grange, spent Sunday here the guests of his brother-in-law W. Tilden Dudgeon and wife.

Edward F. Neumeister spent last Sunday near Folsom and Glencoe with friends. He bought a couple of fine heifers from Chas. H. Young of Grant county.

Dr. J. G. Slater, of Ludlow, spent part of Friday and Saturday here, and attended the Masonic lodge Friday night, officiating as Master of the lodge.

Walton Masonic Lodge conferred the Entered Apprentice degree on Rev. H. C. Wayman and Prof. J. L. Chambers at the regular convocation last Friday night.

Rev. T. C. Stackhouse of Lexington, pastor of the Baptist churches at Warsaw and Sparta, spent Saturday here with friends going to Sparta to hold his regular monthly services.

Jas. P. Johnson, one of the popular citizens of the Union neighborhood, was a visitor here last Monday, enroute to Lexington to attend the annual session of the General Baptist Association.

Judge J. G. Tomlin, Robert L. Green, Jno. L. Vest, Wm. H. Metcalfe and W. Lee Haines attended the meeting of the Burley Tobacco Society at Lexington last week and part of this week.

Rev. C. J. Nugent, pastor of the Methodist churches at Walton, Verona and Florence, will hold quarterly conference at the Florence Methodist church Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 15 and 16th.

Hon. R. B. Brown, of Warsaw, was a visitor to friends here Saturday. He had been in Louisville, and in returning home on the early morning train, was carried by Sparta, his railroad station.

Rev. John E. Roberts, of California, Ky., spent part of last week at the bedside of his father Larry C. Roberts, who resides between Walton and Verona. Mr. Roberts is very ill with pneumonia.

Robert S. Houston and son J. Frank Houston of Gatun, Panama Canal Zone, were visitors here last week and expect to spend a month at their old home near Verona, intending to return to Panama.

John C. Miller spent from Saturday until Tuesday at Lexington, assisting in the clerical work of the Burley Tobacco Society's preparation for the election of officers, there being twenty thousand proxies to arrange and tabulate.

S. H. McCarit, the clever station agent of the Q. & C. Railway here, left the fore part of the week on a vacation trip to his home at Lancing, Tenn. F. G. Gardner, of Hinton, Ky., assisted by his brother Ray Gardner have charge of the office during Mr. McCarit's absence.

Hon. Parker Dickson, of Cincinnati, claim attorney for the Queen and Crescent Railway, was here last Friday arranging about the claims for the necessary changes to be made for the elevation of the bridge over High street, and made a satisfactory adjustment of the matter with all parties.

The 2nd number of the Lyceum course given by the Walton Baptist church was presented last Thursday night by Mr. Bellhart of Cleveland, Ohio, who presented in monologue "The Hoosier Schoolmaster" in a very entertaining manner to a large audience. The course this season constitutes eight entertainments, and another of the number will be presented in a short time. The next number will be the "Morrow Bros.," Musical Quartette next Saturday night, Nov. 8th.

Immigration South.

The unequal distribution of immigration over the United States continues to attract the attention of those who study the problems of labor and production, and in our Southern States more than in other sections. Some statistics at hand for 1912 show that of the 838,172 immigrants received at our ports only 35,520 were destined for states that grow cotton, and that of these 22,855 went to Texas. Contrast these figures with those for a few other states. New York, 239,275; Pennsylvania, 109,625; Massachusetts, 71,171. We must accept the consensus of opinion South that they need more immigrants and that they do not want the undesirables from Russia and Mediterranean countries. The Chattanooga Times, speaking of the Mississippi valley Immigration Association fears the results of invitations to such through the efforts of transportation companies and others, who may bring them over, and demands a better sort, and also suggests a society for reforming methods under which the negro is employed, that he may be more encouraged than at present.

It is true that in many instances negroes in the Southern States sho w themselves quite competent in various trades, as well as in work on the plantations but always the fault is found that labor is entirely too scarce and that greater crops should be produced. It may come to the point that some of the Southern States will conclude that, after all, the Japanese could be found acceptable and valuable. They have doubt of inducing from Europe the more desirable immigration from northern countries because of climate. Western Canada continues to appeal to the Scandinavian. Even Iceland continues to send valuable recruits to Canada. We note, for instance that in Winnipeg the other day there was organization of Icelanders to contribute to the mother country for a steamship line for coasting trade and business with the British Isles in order to break up the Danish monopoly.

But the desirables from Northern Europe are seeking the grain growing districts of the great North rather than the heat of the cotton fields, which Japanese people are willing and anxious to encounter. There are some men of ideas in the Cotton States who venture the thought that the Japanese should be invited. But no doubt the general opinion is so much in opposition that the press will not be brought to support it. Not long ago there was a tentative leading that way in Florida, but it was given up as hopeless.

One great need of the South is more owning and managing farmers. In several states there is desire to have the greater plantations cut up. With the right kind of immigration lands could be disposed of to advantage by holders of large acreage and crops greatly increased. They have read of the remarkable advance and prosperity of Ireland through division of the land into small holdings and while there is no doubt of such paternalism in government in the case of that country, the great strides the Irish people at home are making is due to the great increase of owning and managing farmers. Within one decade under the Irish land bill, 300,000 farmers have become holders instead of tenants; hence prosperity. Year by year our immigration from Ireland falls off, and what there is now is largely from what there is now is largely from their people by a new lease of life.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The management of the Cincinnati Lawrenceburg and Aurora Electric Street Railway Company announces that through service has been resumed through Harrison, Ohio, and Lawrenceburg and Aurora, Ind. The lines were put out of commission to these cities during the floods of last spring.

President Wilson's Cabinet stands firmly behind the President in his efforts to force the retirement of President Huerta of Mexico.

The income tax law will catch not more than one person about Burlington.

For Sale—Fine driving mare, seven years old, well bred, weighs about 1150—$165. One cheap work mare, will trade for shoats, sow and pigs or white leghorn chickens. Apply to O. P. SPAHR, Burlington, Ky., R. D. 3, on the old Chambers farm.

Flue-Cured Tobacco.

Washington, D. C.—The normal annual production of flue-cured tobacco on a farm-weight basis is estimated to be about 215,000,000 pounds, according to Bulletin No. 16 of the Department of Agriculture. This type of tobacco is the only American grown variety that has shown a tendency to expand our reports. About 40 per cent, or aroupd 90,000,000 lbs. is exported and the remainder is used in domestic consumption.

"All things considered, this flue-cured type of tobacco is unsurpassed in universal popularity," states the report, "and it is adapted to a variety of uses, including granulated and cut smoking tobacco, both paper and all tobacco cigarettes, and plug filler and wrapper; in fact, it is adapted to all the regular forms in which tobacco is used except standard cigars and snuff. In color and general appearance it is very attractive, while its low nicotine content, mildness, aromatic sweetness, fragrance, and good keeping qualities render it very satisfying to the user."

The use of flues in curing tobacco became popular after the close of the Civil War and by the middle eighties the demand had increased so that about 20 counties in Virginia and North Carolina had been planted to this variety. There are a number of varieties of flue-cured tobacco, prominently among which are the Warne, Yellow Oronoco, White stem, Oronoco, Big Oronoco, Adcock, Adkin, Willow-Leaf, Gooch Tilley and Hester. The Warne is the standard wrapper type and perhaps the most popular. The Adcock is a great favorite in the noted wrapper producing section of Granville County, North Carolina, while the Adkin is popular as an early maturing variety.

Apart from the natural character of the soil itself, there is no more important matter for the tobacco grower to consider than the management of his fields. Indeed the character of the tobacco produced will depend as much on how the fields have been handled in rotation between the successive tobacco crops as upon the fertilizer used or the cultivation given directly to the tobacco crop itself. Tobacco land should be so handled as to be kept in good life. A liberal supply of vegetable matter in an advanced stage of decay is highly desirable, but it should be of the kind not excessively rich in ammonia.

It is well known that the organic matter of freshly cleared or broom sedge fields is of a kind well suited to tobacco. It consists principally of dead leaves, twigs, roots, pine tags, broom sedge and roots. Such vegetable matter, while poor in ammonia by its ample volume makes the soil very mellow and friable and of good water holding capacity. There is probably no better humus crop for rotation than herd's grass or red top.

Specking, or "diseasing" as it is generally called, is the most common disease injury to which tobacco in the flue-cured district is subject. It is believed to be a fungus disease, disseminated by spores. The only practical method of reducing the injury to the crop caused by the disease is by using potash more liberally in the fertilizer, which seems to increase the resistance of the plant to the disease.

Flock Improvement.

Breeding ewes that are in any way diseased should not be kept in the breeding flock for their progeny are apt to inherit such disease and transmit it to their progeny, says W. M. Kelly in the Rural New Yorker. There is plenty of difficulty with disease in a flock of sheep without inviting and fostering the very elements that will destroy the results of systematic selection. None but the best and most vigorous individuals that are free from all hereditary diseases should be selected for breeding purposes if we aim to build up a good uniform and profitable flock.

Great regard should be paid to the size and general contour of the ram that is selected to head the flock. His structure should be firm and massive, with a broad and capacious breast, without a disproportionate length of legs well formed and fully developed quarters, especially the hind quarters. His loin should be stout and well knit, his features bold and masculine. A firm, muscular neck, with a bold, courageous eye, is indicative of spirit and vigor. The head should be long, but rather small and finely molded. These appearances denote excellent qualities in rams of every breed. I do not believe in selecting an extremely large ram nor those that are weak in one point and strong in another.

Study the breeding ewes and select a ram that will have a tendency to correct any weaknesses or defects that they possess. In the purchase of the ram great care should be exercised as to what his appearance would be when in a normal condition, for it is unsafe to rely upon the form or appearance of sheep when these have been created by high and unnatural feeding or external applications. It is more than likely that their progeny will be injured rather than made better by such methods.

While the selection of the ram is of great importance yet I do not believe he represents as large a factor in the improvement of a flock of sheep as many writers would have us believe, especially when the flock is well bred and the ewes nearly as good in quality as the pure bred rams that are used to continue the work of further improvement.

Christmas comes on Thursday this year. Do your shopping early.

Dine's Free Brass Bed Offer

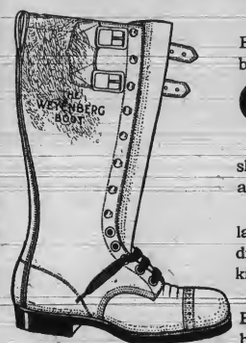
Handsome Two-Inch Post Brass Bed Free with Every $125 Purchase or More

We are making this extraordinary inducement in order to especially attract those who may be going to furnish their home this month, so that they will come to a store which has long been known for its square dealing and upright methods.

This offer will continue the entire month. Not alone is this offer worth investigating, but we have made decided reductions on all home outfits, which is in itself a big inducement.

If we cannot show you a saving of $25 to $50 on your home outfit, we do not want you to buy.

Quality Furniture, Combined with Good Style and Low Prices, has Made The Dine Stores the Homes of Home Outfits



If you are not ready to furnish your home this month, we shall be pleased to reserve one of these Beds for you on payment of a small amount, which will also give you the benefit of our November special prices on your purchase, even should you make your selection next month or later.

We make no charge for showing you through---so come and look.

518-520 York Street, Newport, Ky. | DINE'S "QUALITY FURNITURE" | 530-532 Madison Av. Covington, Ky

1123-25 Main St. Cincinnati.

Look, Read and Consider.

Why go to Covington or Cincinnati to buy your Boots and Shoes when you can get them cheaper and better at home. Go to

Casper Lehmann

Who carries a full stock of Men's heavy working shoes 14, 16 and 18 inches high (water-proof), guaranteed all solid leather, full vamp.

I have a full stock of Men's fine shoes in button or lace, tan or black, also a full stock of Infant's, Children's, Misses' and Women's shoes in gun metal, tan, kid and patent leather, button or lace.

I also have a full stock of No. 1 Ball Brand Rubber Boots and Artics, also Misses' and Women's Rubbers and Artics.

I also carry a high-grade of Ladies' flexible soles for tender feet; the Ladies', Children's and Misses high cut Shoes in gun metal or patent leather at reasonable prices; also a few odd sizes in Gents' and Ladies' shoes at cost price.

I have a full stock of Youths' and Boys' high cut shoes in tan or black, also a full and complete stock of shoes too numerous to mention.

CUSTOM WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Casper Lehmann, Boots and Shoes DEALER IN

P. O. Address, Box 215 ERLANGER, KY

Elsmere, Kentucky.

No Seven Months School.

Frankfort, Nov. 10.—The plan of State Supt., Barksdale Hamlett to increase the common school term to seven months this year will have to be abandoned for lack of statutory authority. After satisfying himself that there will be sufficient in the State school fund to finance an extra month, the Superintendent submitted the question to the Attorney General, and was informed that the statute fixes the school term at six months, and directs that any funds in excess over the prorata apportionment for those 6 months must go to swell the balance in the fund at the end of the fiscal year. It is probable that the General Assembly will be asked to enact a law extending the term.

Assistant Attorney General Logan, in his opinion, recites that Section 4364 of the Kentucky Statutes "requires all the common schools to be taught at least six months each school year."

For Sale—Farm of 65 acres, two miles west of Burlington on the Burlington and Belleview turnpike, good 5-room house, lasting water—all in grass but 10 acres, that in cultivation. Will sell reasonable. Apply to KARL ROUSE, Burlington, Ky. 4t.

MISCELLANEOUS FOR SALE.

For Sale—Good Sanitary couch. Apply to Mrs. Eliza Rouse, Burlington, Ky.

For Sale—Rhode Island Red cockerels. Apply to Mrs. L. M. Rouse, Union, Ky.

For Sale—High bred Jersey bull calf, eight months old. Call on or address E. E. Clore, Grant, Ky., R. D. 1.

For Sale—Twenty-six shoats that will weigh about 75 or 80 pounds each. Apply to C. E. Stephens, Bullittsville.

For SaleThree cows and one heifer. One cow has a young calf—one is fresh and the other will be fresh next month. Apply to Leslie Clark Ludlow R. D. 2, and near Hebron, Ky.

For Sale—Good 4-year old work mule, yearling mule, 7 year old work and driving horse, about three tons clover hay and some cowpea hay. Apply to J. E. Botts, Bullittsville, Ky. tf.

WANTED—A good, steady, farm hand by the month or year to begin work at once or soon as possible. Good house and good wages guaranteed to right party. Apply to or address J. W. EWBANKS, Brashear, Ky.

Posted Against Hunters.

The undersigned hereby give notive that their land is posted against trespassing of all kinds and especially by hunting with dogs or guns and trapping thereon:

B. C. Graddy, Bullittsville.
J. S. Eggleston, Francesville.
Mary V. Gaines, Bullittsville.
Harry Walton, Petersburg.
A. L. Nichols, Burlington.
C. T. Northcutt, Belleview.
Everett Souther, Pt. Pleasant.
Julia S. Dinsmore, Belleview.
Mrs. I. T. McNaughton, Muncie, Indiana.
C. O. Hempfling, Taylorsport.
Jasper Sullivan, Waterloo.
W. L. B. Rouse, Limaburg.
Edward Farrell, Limaburg.
T. F. Grant, Bullittsville.
Geo. C. Barlow, Florence.
John Clore, Hebron.
John W. Ryle, Burlington.
Mrs. Mary Ryan, Beaver.

Robertson's turnip crop is the heaviest and the best ever grown in the county. Thinkof a turnip weighing seven or eight pounds and solid and tender throughout, and some idea may be formed of the kind of turnips raised in Robertson this year.—Mt. Olivet Tribune-Democrat.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXXVIIII. Established 1875. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1913. $1.50 Per Year. NO. 8.

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

HEBRON.

Church services next Sunday night at 7 o'clock.

Miss Ruth Regenbogen is sick.

Mrs. Nannie Ernst was very sick one night last week.

Mrs. Mabel G. Sayre went to Lockland, Sunday to see her son who has a position there.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Cloud went to the city, Sunday, to see his mother, who has been in the hospital for about a month.

Samuel Aylor united with the Sand Run Baptist church, recently, his wife having united with the same church about a month ago.

Mesdames Mae Aylor, Jessie Aylor, Iva Riddell, Bessie Baker and Misses Alice Reitmann and Nannie Lodge, were guests of Mrs. Lizzie Graves, last Thursday.

PETERSBURG.

(R. D. 1.)

I wish the RECORDER and its force a happy Thanksgiving.

Geo. Bachelor shipped a bunch of nice hogs to the city recently.

Jesse Kelly and daughter Miss Kitty are residents of this vicinity.

Jas. Snyder was the first to finish husking corn in this neighborhood.

The weather the past week was quite favorable for the tobacco strippers.

Nelson Emery purchased a pair of mules of Mr. Allen one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bluford Wingate are keeping house on Mrs. J. L. McWethy's farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Holt White of near Lawrenceburg ferry, visited Bernard Berkshire and family recently.

Chas. Sullivan and family, of Sparta, Ind., spent from Friday until Sunday with his parents on Woolper.

DEVON

Mrs. E. F. West, who has been quite ill, is better.

Mrs. Wm. Cody is the guest of relatives in Covington.

Ambrose Easton and family are recovering from the grippe.

Mrs. J. C. Conrad was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Cahill, in Florence, Monday.

Mrs. John Hays entertained Mrs. C. Carpenter and Mrs. Sarah Rector at dinner Tuesday.

Frank, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Afterkirk, is improving from a recent illness.

Harry Stephens and wife, of Erlanger, were pleasant guests of Chas. Miller and wife, recently.

Chas. Miller, Jas. W. Bristow and Russell Miller went to Big Bone, Saturday and had a fine time hunting.

Mrs. Blanche Bagby and sister, Mrs. Alfred Tanner, of Norwood, Ohio, were visitors at Mr. Robert Northcutt's recently.

Miss Pattie Callahan, of Verona, returned home Wednesday after a pleasant visit with friends at this place and Erlanger.

Russell Miller, of Covington, came out Friday evening and remained until Sunday evening the guest of Charles Miller and wife.

VERONA.

Frank Houston has purchased a new motor cycle.

Willie Preston, who has typhoid fever is getting better.

Robt. Houston left for his home in Panama Canal Zone, last Friday.

Quite a crowd of young people attendned the entertainment at the Baptist church in Walton, last Saturday night.

L. C. Roberts, who has been quite ill for several days with pneumonia, we are glad to report able to sit up.

Mrs. Ada Moore, of Elliston Station, spent part of last week at the bedside of her father, L. C. Roberts, who was quite low with pneumonia.

Ben Grimsley, better known as Wolford, who met a horrible death by explosion of gasoline at Newport on the 3d of this month, was brought to New Bethel church on the 5th, where Bro. Nugent, of Walton, preached the funeral discouse after which the remains were interred in New Bethel cemetery.

Miss Jamie Preston, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Whitney Preston, passed away Nov. 15th, 1913, of typhoid pneumonia, aged 16 years, two months and one day. Jamie was the light of her home, a beautiful christian girl and many were the sorrowing friends who gathered at New Bethel church to pay the last tribute of respect to her, whom they had learned to love, and to extend their sympathy to the bereaved family. The floral offering by the school showed in part their appreciation of her beautiful character. The funeral discourse was preached by Rev. H. C. Wayman, after which the remains were laid to rest in New Bethel cemetery.

Horses will be high for at least another year.

GUNPOWDER.

Ed. Clegg and wife entertained several of their friends at dinner, last Sunday.

For Sale—A 150-pound Thinrind male hog. Apply to J. S. Surface or C. L. Aylor, Florence.

Mr. Spencer Meeks, of near Erlanger, was the guest of Mr. Porr and wife last Saturday night.

Hirb and Edo Rouse sold their crop of tobacco to a Covington firm last week for 11½ cents per pound.

Thos. Stevenson, a large dealer in tobacco, was prospecting in this neighborhood one day last week but he made no purchase.

B. C. Tanner has his cow barn about completed and about the next thing you hear of him he will be going to Florida to spend the winter.

H. F. Utz was the guest of Bert Clore and wife last Sunday night and did some work on the telephone line in that neighborhood the first of the week.

Lloyd Stephens and wife, of Florida, who have spent several weeks with relatives here are proud parents of a little daughter which arrived a few days since.

Several of the Hopeful and Ebenezer church members spent the day very pleasantly on Wednesday of last week at the Lutheran Parsonage near Florence.

Ed. Clegg has completed a very convenient hog house. It is large enough to accommodate about 40 hogs. He has his feed cooker under the same roof and cooks all of his feed and feeds it warm. Pies are his principal feed. Ed. is making good in the hog business.

PETERSBURG.

Miss Edna Beall went to Cincinnati, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Edwards entertained relatives Sunday.

Mrs. Mae Whiting spent Wednesday in Cincinnati, shopping.

Stewart Berkshire is at home for a few days from Lexington.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott, of Corryville, visited relatives here the latter part of the week.

Mrs. Stanley B. Palmer, of Oxford, Ohio, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Berkshire, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Keim and sons Weindel and Karl spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Arnold.

The Petersburg school will give an oyster supper at Stott's Hall Nov. 22d. Doors open at 7 p. m. Everybody invited.

Mrs. D. B. Hoffman, Mrs. Fleet Hoffman and Miss Ormal Klopp visited Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Baker at Aurora, Wednesday.

Mrs. John Earley will have a spelling match at Stott's Hall on Thursday evening. Proceeds to go for American Missions.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Gordon were treated to a miscellaneous shower by their many friends, Saturday evening, Nov. 9th. They received a large number of useful presents.

Rev. Geo. C. Waggoner, of Lawrenceburg, delivered an excellent sermon at the Christian church, Sunday afternoon. The subject of the discourse was "The Bible, and the first Psalm was the text.

Mrs. Elihu Alden entertained a number of friends at dinner Friday. Among those present were Mrs. J. M. Grant, Mrs. J. T. Blackburn, Mrs. Wm. Berkshire, Mrs. E. McWethy and daughters. Miss Nora and Mrs. R. E. Grant and children.

Chas. Klopp has built a new smoke house.

Senator J. W. Berkshire continues to improve.

Ruth & Snelling are busy butchering hogs for their patrons.

Wood Sullivan has moved to the property he purchased here.

Several new monuments have been placed in the cemetery this fall.

Joseph Mahan has gone to Ludlow to spend the winter with his daughter.

The very good health of this community is attributed to scarcity of eatables.

John Botts and John Geisler are building a cow stable for Representative-elect Stotts.

J. B. Berkshire has become a first-class meat cutter since the meat shop went out of business.

Work on the Odd-Fellows building is progressing nicely, nearly all the outside work being done.

The widow of the late Charles Sebree has moved back to her former home in Ghent, Carroll county.

Drs. Grant and Blackburn removed a very annoying growth from Wm. Shotwell's neck, last Sunday.

Frank Hodges and wife, of Rabbit Hash, spent several days the past week here with their son John Mace Hodges and family.

Are you who are in favor of free turnpikes ready to vote bonds to purchase the pikes and to meet the demands so occasioned? Gentlemen, think twice before you speak.

GRANT R. D. 1.

Al Rogers butchered five fat hogs last week.

Wm. Aylor and family spent Sunday at Lewis Stephens.

Tim Sandford has a force of hands at work pressing hay.

G. S. Walrath made a business trip to Cincinnati, Saturday.

Joseph Richmond is erecting a dwelling house for E. L. Stephens.

The river is rising rapidly and about 40 feet is expected at this point.

Solon Ryle and family spent last Sunday with this writer and family.

Mrs. Henry Clore and Mrs. John Maurer are better, while W. W. Grant is very ill.

John Ryle has bought his partner, Clifford Ryle's interest in the huckster business.

Dr. Carlyle is having some repairs and improvements made on his residence in Rabbit Hash.

Frank Miller, of Cincinnati, was down Sunday to see his old friends, Capt. Smith and wife.

Wm. Snelling purchased of his brother Charles his house and lot here, known as the Birkle place.

Rev. Edgar Riley preached at the christian church here Sunday and took dinner with William W. Grant.

A large crowd attended the spelling match here Saturday in which the Burlington school came out with flying colors.

Saturday was not a very auspicious day for inaugurating the hunting season and not many of the local nimrods went afield.

Mrs. Peter Hager was kind enough to furnish the carrier on R. D. 1 a horse to use last week while "Old Regular" took a vacation.

Capt. John Maurer is home on a short vacation, but the present rise in the river will necessitate his early departure to take a coal fleet south.

T. W. Cook and son, Ray, went to Chas. White's, near Ferry creek Saturday to help husk out his corn in the low bottoms before the river destroys it.

Sam White and wife, of Ferry creek, spent Friday night with her parents near Waterloo, but returned home early Saturday morning as Mr. White had to assist his brother in saving their corn from the rapidly rising river.

The R. D. carrier wishes to thank O. K. Hodges, Z. T. Kelly and Frank Scott for that fine sausage which out of their kindness of heart they gave the mail man. Colon Kelly, Mrs. Lizzie Stephens and also Bluie Clore remembered the carrier with a nice lunch during the bad weather.

Wm. Rogers had a horse to get badly hurt last Thursday in a somewhat unusual manner. While husking corn his team ran off and ran into another wagon in the field with such force that his bay mare lunged clear up on the wagon, tearing off all the muscles and flesh nearly around one fore leg. She got one hind foot thru the spokes in a hind wheel of the wagon, and before she could be extricated the wagon had to be raised and the hind wheel taken off. A veterinary was called from Aurora and pronounced the wound serious but not necessarily fatal.

FLORENCE.

Miss Irene Cahill spent Friday with Mrs. Ed. Sydnor.

Green Moffett left Saturday to join his mother, who is in Texas.

Alvin Eddins has been at home several days on account of sickness.

Found—A lady's driving glove. Owner can have same by calling at the Bank.

Corenne Stephens gave the young folks a delightful party, Saturday evening.

Mrs. Charlie Fulton and mother entertained Mrs. Lyon Tanner, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Carrie Carpenter, Mrs. Chas. Carpenter, Mrs. Albert Lucas, Mrs. Emily Sowers and the Methodist minister, Rev. Newsom, Thursday.

Miss Viola Arnold was the guest of Miss Madge Williams, of Union, from Saturday until Monday.

Prof. A. M. Yealey and several of his pupils went to Belleview to witness the spelling match, Friday.

Mrs. J. O. Carpenter entertained several friends and the Methodist minister, Saturday, with a supper.

Miss Nora Cahill and mother have returned after having a delightful visit with relatives in Covington.

J. R. Whitson has been crippling around town several days. Can't say whether he is really crippled or just playing 'Possum.

Members of the local Baptist church met Wednesday evening and called Rev. Douglas, of Louisville seminary, for the coming year.

On the evening of the 21st there will be an oyster supper and dance given by the ladies of St. Paul at the old church. All are invited.

There are a couple of ugly places at the crossing of Washington and Jefferson streets which the citizens of the town ought to have repaired. The necessary material and work can be secured at a small cost, and for this purpose the RECORDER will receive contributions. How much will you give?

Boone County Recorder..... $1.00

FLICKERTOWN.

No turkeys sold here yet for Thanksgiving.

F. M. Voshell and Ray Botts butchered their hogs last week.

Woodie Sullivan killed 41 rabbits Saturday. That is going some.

Not much hunting done around here Saturday on account of rain.

M. C. Stephens bought of Harry Voshell 65 acres of land adjoinng him.

The rain Friday started the creek to running the first time since June.

J. W. White wants to buy a Chester male hog—weight aoout 100 pounds.

Your reporter and family visited John White and family Sunday, in Burlington.

Ben Hensley sold his hogs to Ruth & Blyth, last week. Price $7.50 per 100 pounds.

Some of the farmers are getting uneasy about their corn in the low bottoms as the water is coming up fast.

HATHAWAY.

Jas. Arrasmith has bought Wilton Adams' farm near town.

Mrs. Pearl Brady has moved to the farm recently purchased by Owen Presser.

Those numbered among the sick are Mrs. W. L. Presser and Mrs. R. S. Clements.

Jas. Aylor and wife spent Tuesday with his parents, Mr. J. H. Aylor and wife.

Wilton Adams and wife and mother-in-law, Mrs. Davrainville, were Sunday guests at Thomas P. Stephens.

Mrs. Elijah Stephens spent several days last week with her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Anderson, near Limaburg.

A number of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. Richard Clements on Monday, Nov. 3d, to celebrate his eighty first birthday. While the gathering was not as large as in former years it consisted of the older residents of the neighborhood. Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Will Ryle, of near Burlington; Mrs. P. P. Neal, of near Union; Mr. and Mrs. George L. Smith and Mr. B. H. Stephens, of Big Bone; Byron Adams, of Sherman; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Neely, of Gunpowder; Mrs. Annie Ryle, of Latonia, and Sidney Clements and family. A bountiful dinner was spread after which the guests left wishing Mr. Clements many more happy birthdays.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Jas. Mitchell is building a new stock barn.

Elmore Ryle was out of commission several days last week with a badly sprained wrist.

Stanley Stephens, of the Grange Hall neighborhood, has made himself a present of a new wagon.

J. M. Rice, of Dry Ridge, Grant county, was in the Waterloo neighborhood last week looking after his farm.

Chas. Kelly, trustee of Locust Grove school, installed a new heating aparatus in the school house last Saturday.

Kelly Bros., of Waterloo neighborhood have a lot of fine apples for sale at $2.25 per barrel, seconds, $1.50 per barrel.

J. W. Kite's Sons bought and shipped from their store in 11 days 1,409 rabbits for which they paid the trappers $198.46.

A. L. Houston has put a concrete forge and other improvements in his shop and is now ready to give the people first class service.

How is this for some variation? On Thursday, Nov. 6th, the mercury registered 60; on Tuesday, Nov. 11th, it registered 16, and on Thursday Nov. 13th, it register ed 60 again.

Some neighborly neighbors help ed themselves to one of W. C. Hendrickson's bee hives one night last week. Taking it to a lonely spot they robbed it of its honey, leaving the hive and bees scattered about.

Among the articles of mail matter delivered on route No. 2 out of Burlington last week was a patent vacuum washing machine. If the postage rate continues to decrease and the weight of parcels to increase it will not be long until a threshing machine can be shipped by parcel post. Dressed poultry and butter are common articles of mail matter.

The Waterloo Jersey Cattle Co. sold their bull, Fortune King, and settled all business of the company. After payment of all expense there was a nice profit on the right side, besides having several nice heifers to start a herd. W. G. Kite bought a Sultan Fern bull, sired by a son of Golden Fern, whose dam has a test of 18 lbs., and two ounces in seven days. Sultan Fern's dam, Sultan's Beauty, official test is 512 pounds and one ounce of butter in one year, commencing at 23 months old. He will take the place of the one sold, so you tend to raise some nice Jersey heifers.

Chas. L. Kelly, who lives down on the East Bend road, has six hundred bushels of handsome red apples as were ever produced in this county. They are the remnant of a crop of one thousand bushels, the others having been sold some time since. He has the six hundred bushels of apples so housed that he can control the temperature and keep it from getting too low. He has in stock also a large quantity of excellent cider, and for both apples and cider he will find ready sale.

Personal Mention.

Mr. Henry Terrill has been quite ill for several days.

Mrs. Chas. Goodridge was shopping in Cincinnati Tuesday.

Ezra Aylor, of East Bend, was in Burlington a few hours last Friday.

Mrs. Eliza Rouse is visiting her brother, H. W. Blyth and family in Lawrenceburg, Ind.

John Scott was the guest of his daughter Mrs. Chas. Maurer several days the past week.

Frank Hammon, of the Limaburg neighborhood, transacted business in Burlington, Friday.

Malchus Souther, of Pt. Pleasant neighborhood, was a business visitor to Burlington, last Friday.

Menter Martin and wife, of Butlersville, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Roberts.

Clyde Barker and wife, of Cleves, Ohio, spent Saturday night and Sunday with relatives near Burlington.

Earl and Russell Smith and others went to Big Bone neighborhood Tuesday, on a hunting expedition.

Robert McMillan, who recently sold his farm just west of town has moved to a farm on the Lexington pike near the Five Mile house.

John Furlong, of Pt. Pleasant neighborhood, was a business caller at this office last Monday. Farm life is evidently agreeing with Mr. Furlong.

Robbed of $115.

Lester Gully, a well known young huckster, in this neighborhood, was robbed of $115 and his shoes at a lodging house in Covington, last Friday night. Mr. Gully had been in the habit of stopping at the place for some time, and when he went there last Friday night the proprietor informed him that all his rooms were taken, but in one room was a boarder who had been with him for quite a while and whom he could recommend as being all right. Mr. Gully decided he would bunk with the boarder who got up and was out at an unusually early hour next morning, telling the proprietor of the house, whom he met, that he was ill. Having been absent an unreasonable time the landlord went to the room and awoke Mr. Gully, who, in a short time, discovered he had been robbed of $115 and his shoes. The police were notified of the robbery but the thief had made good his escape.

The Corn Show.

Farmers, remember that the annual Boone County Corn Show under the auspices of the Boone County Pomona Grange will be held in Burlington next Saturday. The contest ought to be spirited in every department and the show good. Although this was not considered a good crop year there is lots of good corn in this county, and next Saturday will afford a splendid opportunity for the farmers of Boone Co. to show what they can do in the way of producing corn under unfavorable conditions. The Boone Co Boys' Corn Club will doubtless be there with numerous exhibits and prepared to give some of the older heads a few pointers relative to the production of the staff of life.

The ladies department provides for an exhibition of good cooking, and they will see to it that the show along that line will not be neglected.

Teachers Meeting.

Program for Teacher's Meeting to be held at Beaver Lick school house, Saturday, Dec. 13, 1913, at 2 p. m.

What kind of Education Prepares for Life in the Country?—E. C. Riley.

Position and Manners of Children.—Mrs. Hahn.

Mind Training vs. Memorizing.—Prof. Martin.

Treatment of the Unprepared.—Mariam Morris.

How May the School Aid in Bringing about Social Pleasures in the Country?—Everett L. Dix.

Advantages of a High School Education for the Rural Child.—Prof. J. L. Chambers.

ANNA MAY CLEEK.

Railroad Trestle Again Sinks

Early Friday morning a section of trestle on the B. and O. S. W. at the Miami sank nine inches, making it necessary for trains to be detoured over the Big Four until Saturday morning. Two weeks ago Saturday evening there was a like occurrence at the same place, the track settling nearly half a foot soon after passenger train No. 19 passed over. It is supposed that in each instance the settling was due to a stratum of quicksand. Fearing further trouble B. and O. S. W. officials on Monday decided to route trains over the Big Four until the trestle could be made sufficiently safe to warrant the resumption of traffic over that point. The work will likely require a week or longer.—Lawrenceburg Press.

Prof. A. M. Yealey, of Florence, and three of his bright young lady pupils made the Recorder a pleasant call last Friday as they were enroute to the spelling match at Belleview.

ANNUAL SPELLING MATCH

Exciting Much Interest and Friendly Rivalry Among the High Schools.

Something that is being watched with great interest is the spelling matches which are now being held among the high schools of Boone county. The plan of these contests was arranged at a conference of the high school teachers during the Institute and is of a nature calculated to encourage improvement in practical, everyday spelling rather than the memorizing of a spelling book. The arrangement made at that time and now being carried out is as follows: A list of 450 words in general use is selected by the county superintendent for each match. Three teams of five members each participate in each event. When a word is missed a point is recorded against the team to which that member belongs but he continues to stand and spell as before. Of course the team missing the fewest words is the winner.

The first match was held at Belleview on last Friday with the following results:

Burlington missed 22.
Petersburg missed 35.
Belleview missed 55.

On Saturday another match was held at Walton with the following results:

Walton missed 22.
Verona missed 31.
Union missed 36.

Burlington and Walton, the winners of these matches will go to Florence next Friday where they will contest against each other and the Florence team for possession of the banner for this year. Florence won the banner last year.

Here is the standing of the teams in the two matches already held, counting the percentage of words spelled based on the number (150) pronounced to each team:

Burlington 83 1-3.
Walton 83 1-3.
Verona 79 1-3.
Petersburg 76 2-3.
Union 76.
Belleview 63 1-3.

RABBIT HASH.

Kenneth Hodges has gone to Illinois to work husking corn.

H. D. Brady, of Middle creek neighborhood, was here Tuesday.

County Road Engineer, Charles Goodridge, was in this precinct last week.

The river is rising rapidly and farmers with corn on low lands are hustling to get it out.

Miss Maud Matson, of Rising Sun, was visiting her sister, Mrs. B. C. Stephens, last week.

The young folks were entertained with an oyster supper at J. H. Walton's, last Wednesday night.

Wallace Stephens and wife, who have been visiting relatives here for several weeks, returned to their home at Lawrenceburg, last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hodges had a hardsome monument placed at the grave of their son Owen in the M. E. cemetery in East Bend, last Thursday. Will Tooby, of Rising Sun, doing the work.

Insurance Merger.

Frankfort, Nov. 17.—The Henry Clay Fire Insurance Company, of Lexington, and the United American Insurance Co., of America, of this city, today merged into the Henry Clay Fire Insurance Co.

M. H. Froman, of Ghent, President of the United American Insurance Company of America, will be elected President of the new company, and Frank P. James, of Harrodsburg, President of the old Henry Clay Company, will become the Chairman of the Executive Committee of the new company. There will be a set of Directors elected from each company to serve during 1914. The new company will have authorized capital stock of $2,000,000 and assets of $750,000. Judge John M. Lassing, of Newport, is extensively interested in the Henry Clay Company, and was largely instrumental in putting thru the merger. The company owns a seven-story office building in this city, and will likely retain its general offices here.

Killed by Train at Erlanger.

The unidentified body of a white man about 30 years old was found on the railroad track a short distance from the depot at Erlanger Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock by Miss Maud Rider, of that place. It is thought that he was run over by a Queen and Crescent freight train. The top part of his head was cut off and his body frightfully mangled. An examination of the man's clothing disclosed a visiting card, without address, bearing the name of P. G. Hoskick. The clothing bore the label of the Big Store, of Cincinnati. The man wore a derby hat and a light blue shirt. On his little finger was a ring containing a turquois set. It is thought that he fell off the train. The body was later identified as that of Mr. Reese, of Crescent Springs.

The chestnut trees of this country may soon be extinct, but fortunately the joke smiths are not dependent upon them for their supplies.

HOW QUEER FISH ARE BRED

Curious Results Obtained by Chinese and Japanese in Selection and Crossing.

The telescope fish, a monstrous variety of carp, is a creation of the Chinese and Japanese fish breeders, who are past masters in the art of deforming nature. It has an almost globular glistening body, gilded on the sides, double dorsal fins and a long tail of peculiar shape. Its eyes and their sockets are very prominent and resemble the object glasses of telescopes, whence the name telescope fish. A carp possessing this abnormal feature was discovered in Japan in the sixteenth century, since which epoch the peculiar character has been perpetuated and combined with many variations in form and coloring, by careful selection and crossing.

The variety known as Yen-tan-yen or "veil tail" preserves the normal structure of the eye during life, but its delicate transparent tail attains an enormous size and falls in graceful folds, like a veil, producing effects that a "serpentine" dancer might envy, when a little fish moves in the sunlight.

Other Japanese varieties of the telescope fish are the "sheep's nose," which owes its name to the convexity of its body; the "pig's snout," which has a head resembling those of Asiatic swine, and the "fan tail," which raises and spreads its tail in the manner of a fan-tail pigeon.

The Chinese breeders of telescope fish disdain these abnormalities of structure and devote their attention chiefly to coloring. By modifying the temperature of the water, and by impregnating it with lime and iron, they produce startling shades and markings. Among the innumerable varieties thus obtained we may mention the "spotted," with a belly of silver, and sides and back marked with blue, yellow, black, rose and carmine dots; the crimson "ruby" and the "superb," with glittering scales, scarlet belly, and black or bright red markings on the back.

NEW WAY TO FIND PARTNERS

Up-to-Date Hostess Used Tiny Bouquets Made in Pairs to Match.

At a large card party the hostess had her guests find partners by passing tiny bouquets around in which were put little lace paper frills. The stems were wrapped in silver paper, and the card attached said "Table 1," "Table 2," etc. The four who had table 1 found their place and the two whose bouquets matched played partners. Fancy headed pins were thrust through the cards so the flowers could be worn. Every one was charmed with this pretty idea, and in this same way a hostess had her guests served 30 at a time at a big large "tea;" one of the assisting ladies handed the bouquets as those who were served passed out and in this way it was easy to keep track of those who had had refreshments.

If real flowers are hard to get tiny artificial ones may be used with good effect, and if purchased at a worthy shop, would be quite expensive. Clever fingers will easily make them at home. Rambler roses and forget-me-nots are lovely.

Popularity Counts.

Michelangelo beckoned to Rembrandt.

"I see they've found another of your pictures, Remmy."

The master sighed.

"They found four last week," he said, "and five the week before. Funny, isn't it?"

"That's where the boys who write have the best of you daubers," said John Milton. "You don't hear of any 'Paradise Lost's being found in out-of-the-way places."

"Nor any 'Pilgrim's Progresses,'" added John Bunyan.

"Nor any 'Hamlets,'" put in Will Shakespeare."

Rembrandt smiled.

"No," he answered; "I don't. All these discoveries seem to depend on present market values."

And pulling his big velour hat over his eyes he waved his hand and stalked away.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Professional Forger.

Forging is generally quite an amateur affair in this country, but in India, where the professional forger flourishes, it is the business of a lifetime. A father, for instance, who thinks he detects in his son an aptitude for the occupation, apprentices him to one of its masters. He learns, among other things, engraving, photography, paper-making, chemistry, so as to deal with colored inks, and, above all, fine penmanship and delicate miniature painting. After several years' hard work he is pronounced proficient, and sets up in business for himself, generally commencing by counterfeiting government stamps.

The Mind Reader.

"Mind reading? Nonsense!" said Hawkins contemptuously. "Nothing in it! I'll give you $10, Jimmerson, if you'll read my mind right now. What am I thinking?"

"Why," said Jimmerson, eyeing Hawkins keenly, "you are thinking that mind reading is perfect nonsense, that there is absolutely nothing in it, and that therefore your $10 are perfectly safe."

"By Jove!" cried Hawkins, paying up like a gentleman. "That's wonderful, Jimmerson! You got it exactly. How the dickens do you do it?"

SAGES ON EDUCATION

'Tis the taught already that profits by teaching.—Browning.

Education is only like good culture; it changes the size, but not the sort—Beecher.

The secret of education lies in respecting the pupil . . . Education should be as broad as man—Emerson.

It is a fatal folly to persist in a system which undermines a girl's constitution that it may overload her memory.—Herbert Spencer.

Education commences at the mother's home; and every word spoken within the hearsay of little children tends towards the formation of character.—Ballon.

The teacher, like the poet, must be born and then born again, for the spirit must quicken the spirit, and life inspire life, before knowledge can grow to wisdom.—Alice Freman Palmer.

Education is the leading of human souls to what is best and making what is best out of them . . . The training which makes men happiest in themselves also makes them most serviceable to others.—Ruskin.

We learn wisdom from failure much more than from success . . . Horne Tooke used to say of his studies in intellectual philosophy that he had become all the better acquainted with the country through having had the good luck sometimes to lose his way.—Smiles.

There is a time in every man's education when he arives at the conviction that envy is ignorance; that imitation is suicide; that he must take himself for better, for worse, as his portion; that though the wide universe is full of good a kernel of nourishing corn can come to him through his toil bestowed upon that plot of ground which is given him to till.—Emerson.

WITH THE FRENCH CYNICS

Devotion is the last love of women.—Saint-Evremond.

The good is but the beautiful in action.—J. J. Rausseau.

Love, that sometimes corrupts pure bodies, often purifies corrupt hearts.—Latena.

Women like brave men exceedingly, but audacious men still more.—Lemesles.

It's better to love today than tomorrow. A pleasure postponed is a pleasure lost.—A. Ricard.

There are beautiful flowers that are scentless, and beautiful women that are unlovable.—Houelle.

We meet in society many attractive women whom we would fear to make our wives.—D'Harleville.

The whisper of a beautiful woman can be heard farther than the loudest call of duty.—Anonymous.

The heart of a woman never grows old; when it has ceased to love, it has ceased to live.—Rochapedre.

Women give themselves to God when the devil wants nothing more to do with them.—Sophie Arnould.

We need the friendship of a man in great trials; of a woman in the affairs of every-day life.—A. L. Thomas.

Lovers have in their language an infinite number of words in which each syllable is a caress.—Rochepedre.

Before promising a woman to love only her, one should have seen them all, or should see only her.—A. Dupuy.

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING

Over 30 per cent of the women in Germany are working for a living.

Turkey will soon open schools to teach their women useful trades and arts.

The strike of the ladies' tailors in New York has been won by the strikers.

The duchess of Aosta will spend six months hunting in the jungles of Africa.

For the first time in the history of city politics in Bellingham, Wash., women are preparing to take part, and Ella Higginson, the authoress, is mentioned as a candidate for mayor.

Over 100 women have qualified as lawyers in Russia, but are unable to practice because the minister of justice refuses to allow them to be admitted as members of the bar.

WEATHER SIGNS

Expect rain when dogs eat grass.

Tulips and dandelions close just before rain.

Nuts with a thick covering indicate a severe winter.

Much rain in October means much wind in December.

Here's Better, Cheaper Heating for Your Home

CUT the high cost of living—stop that unnecessary waste of fuel. You can burn just half as much coal and get twice as much heat by using Moore's stoves in your home.

Moore's Air-Tight Heater

Gives double the heat of any other heater—and does it on half the fuel. Works like a furnace—circulates warm air instead of merely radiating it—keeps a current of warm air constantly moving all over the house—warms upstairs as well as down. The Moore's Everlasting Firepot burns the fuel completely—converts all the gas, carbon and smoke of soft coal into heat—it saves where others waste—and works as well with cheapest slack as the best hard coal. No dust or light ashes can get out to soil carpets and walls—the Dust Flue carries them up the chimney. And the Air-Tight Draft Control keeps the fire "in hand" every minute—it will burn up quick or keep for 24 to 48 hours, as you wish. In every way Moore's stoves mean better, cheaper heating for your home. Let us prove it to you.

Moore's Range
With the Glass Oven Door
Is just as great a fuel-saver and labor-saver in the kitchen as Moore's Heaters are for the rest of the house. They're the ideal of convenience. We have a size and style that will meet your needs exactly.

CROUCH & ROUSE
ERLANGER, KENTUCKY

Look Here!

The Best Offer Ever.

The Boone County Recorder	All One Year For
The Weekly Enquirer,
Farm & Fireside, semi-monthly
Poultry Success, monthly	$2.10
Woman's World, monthly
Farm News, monthly

By Ordering the above separately the cost would be $4.25 for the Six Publications each one year.

This Big Proposition

is open to all New Subscribers to The Recorder and to those whose renewals will extend into 1914.

Those who have renewed up to or beyond Jany. 1, 1914 will be given the benefit of the above combination by sending to this office Sixty Cents.

Now is the time to secure your reading matter for the long winter nights coming on. Grasp this Opportunity.

The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO.

Erlanger, Ky.

Has come to stay and is ready for business and will keep on hand at all times a good supply of

Raymond City and Plymouth Coal

in yard and on car at the Lowest Prices Possible, and guarantee 80 lbs. to the bushel. Will also handle Cannel Coal, Kentucky Simi-Candle and Worley Block, and Peidmont strictly blacksmithing Coal.

Your patronage solicited.

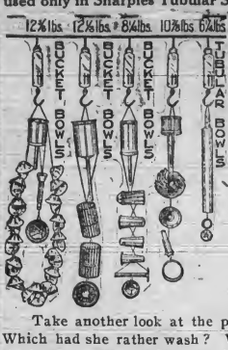
The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO
Erlanger, Kentucky.

B. B. ALLPHIN
WITH THE
L. J. BUDDE & CO.
Live Stock Commission Merchants
Union Stock Yards, CINCINNATI. Phone W. 4296.

Benefits of Deep Plowing.

During the last few years some very striking increases in production have been secured by plowing deeply. On the strength of this a number of authorities are advocating deep plowing. They advise from eight to as much as sixteen inches deep. It seems somewhat dangerous to the orthodox man to give such general advice as this until we have more experimental data to confirm its value. It is undoubtedly true that much deeper plowing than is now practiced in most sections is desirable.

No cultivated crop can make its best growth in a seed bed less than seven inches deep. Where soils are so thin that plowing to this depth will bring up a large quantity of raw subsoil, the depth should be attained by plowing a little deeper each time instead of taking the full depth all at once. In this way the subsoil will have a chance to become weathered and incorporated with the surface soil.



Some advocates of deep plowing propose to go to the desired depth all at once. We are not prepared to say whether they are right or wrong. However, the safest plan is to try it on a small scale at first. Deep plowing is expensive and must show decided benefits if it is to be profitable. Let several join and purchase a plow for deep tilling and give it a trial under fair conditions. This will be safe and not expensive. It is worth trying and the experience will be of value to other farmers.

Platonic love, like perpetual motion, is all right as a theory—but it won't work.

Which Shall Wife Wash?

Which cream separator bowl does the wife prefer to wash?

On the left are four styles of common "bucket bowls" used in ordinary cream separators. On the right is a light, simple, sanitary Sharples Dairy Tubular bowl of the same capacity—used only in Sharples Tubular Separators.

These illustrations were made from actual photographs. Notice the weights---count the pieces. The Sharples Tubular bowl contains but one piece, and that piece is smooth, instantly removable and about the size and shape of a napkin ring. The Tubular bowl can easily be perfectly cleaned in three minutes.

Yet makers of "bucket bowls" --- barred by patents from making or using Tubular bowls---say "bucket bowls" are as easy to clean, and wear as long, as Tubular bowls.

Take another look at the picture. Show it to your wife. Which had she rather wash? Which do you think will wear the longest. We sell Sharples Tubular—the finest cream separators and surest money makers made. Bring your wife and look at one.

QUIGLEY & BEEMON
LIMABURG, KY.

Peters
"ALL-FOR-WEAR"
THE BEST WORK SHOE IN THE WORLD

FOR SALE BY
W. M. RACHAL & CO.
UNION, KENTUCKY.

H. G. BLANTON,
Funeral Director and Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.

First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.
I Have a Nice White Funeral Car and Ambulance,

Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.
Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,
Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.
Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.
Office and Wareroom:
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
IRA POPE Agent, - - Grant, Ky

J. L. HAMILTON
(Successor to M. T. WILSON)

FUNERAL DIRECTOR,
Verona, Ky.

Telephone calls day or night given prompt attention. Mrs. M. T. Wilson is my assistant and solicits the patronage of the friends of her late husband. dec-1 12

WANTED.

Man and family to take charge of farm on the Bellevue pike about 1½ miles from Burlington, Ky. Good house, cow and chickens furnished—must state salary expected. Address this office.

A Splendid Clubbing Bargain WE OFFER
The Boone Co. Recorder
AND
The Cincinnati Weekly Enquirer
Both One Year For Only $1.85
Subscriptions may be new or renewal.

What the Weekly Enquirer is.

It is issued every Thursday, subscription price $1 per year, and it is one of the best home metropolitan weeklies of to-day. It has all the facilities of the great DAILY ENQUIRER for obtaining the world's events, and for that reason can give you all the leading news. It carries a great amount of valuable farm matter, crisp editorials and reliable up-to-date market reports. Its numerous departments make it a home farm or business man.

This grand offer is limited and we advise you to take advantage by subscribing for the above combination right now. Call or mail orders to
BOONE CO. RECORDER,
Burlington, Ky.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections.
Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

CHAS. E. GARNETT.
AUCTIONEER.
Will go to any part of the county
Address.
R. D. 2, Ludlow, Ky.

Subscribe for Your County Paper.

START PAYING DAIRY HERDS

Will It Pay to Replace Beef Cattle With Dairy Cows?

BEEF CATTLE PRICES HIGH

Beef Cattle Require Less Labor Than Dairy Herd—But With Good Markets Close Milk and Butter Bring Good Profits to Kentucky Farmer.

(W. D. Nicholls, Dairy Department, College of Agriculture.)

Will it pay to replace beef cattle with dairy cattle on the farm? This question has been asked us many times during the recent months by farmers writing to the experiment station.

A good type of grade Holstein cow. When fresh this cow gave 6 gallons of milk per day and 55 pounds of butter in 30 days. A large and persistent milker.

We know that at present prices beef cattle offer attractive returns. Furthermore, good prices are practically certain to continue. We know also that a herd of beef cattle requires less labor than an equal number of dairy cows. However, when a good market for milk and butter is at hand, and when one will go into the business with a determination to stick to it and master the many details, the change from beef to dairy cattle will materially increase the farm income. To the beginner in dairying we would offer the following suggestions in the light of more than 20 years of personal experience in practical dairy farming, and from observations of the successes and failures of scores of dairymen in this and other states.

First, look well to your market. If the farm is located several miles from a local market or shipping point, butter or cream should prove more profitable. Good farm-made butter of high quality in body, flavor and color, properly salted and neatly wrapped in brick-shaped packages and in uniform and dependable quantity throughout the year, will always find a ready market. If, however, one can not make and market such high-class and high-priced butter, he had better stick to beef cattle and leave dairying alone.

Sweet milk and sweet cream usually afford better returns than butter, if a market is available.

A group of pure-bred Jersey calves raised upon skimmed milk.

Second, secure large, rangy, lean, deep-bodied, deep-chested, big-bellied cows, carrying good, capacious udders. When fresh such cows should give 3 to 5 gallons of 3½ to 4 per cent milk per day, and should average 2 gallons of milk for 10½ months. Such cows may frequently be picked up in the neighborhood at $50 to $65 each.

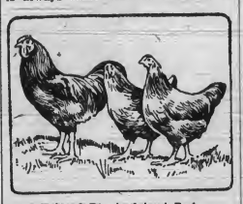
Third, improve the herd by using a pure-bred bull. The bull's value will depend largely upon whether he comes of a heavy milk and butter producing strain. By continuing the use of good bulls and saving the heifers from the best milk and butter cows, a herd may be built up in a few years which is practically equal in productive capacity to a pure-bred herd. Such a herd may be developed on the farm at small cost.

Fourth, heifer calves may be profitably raised upon skimmed milk, when available, or two calves may be raised with one cow. A good cow will often raise a third calf after the first two are weaned.

Fifth, for the beginner pure-bred sires are necessary. High-priced cows should not be used until one first learns to handle grade cows successfully. Starting in the business with grade cows, a registered cow may be added from time to time. These cows should be heavy producers, and from good, heavy milking strains, otherwise they will give no better results than scrubs.

The breed of cows selected will depend upon individual circumstances. Holstein veal calves and old and discarded cows bring good prices. Jerseys give a smaller amount, but their milk is richer. Jersey veal calves have a very low value, and this is true also of old and discarded Jersey cows.

The future of many a promising cow has been ruined by improper milking soon after calving.



BIRDS FOR AVERAGE FANCIER

Rhode Island Reds Are Rapidly Gaining in Popularity Among Poultrymen for Meat and Eggs.

The average American poultry keeper needs fowls that combine the qualities of good laying and good meat production and that are hardy, writes A. S. Wheeler in Outing. He does not want Leghorns, because Leghorns make poor roasters, nor Cochins, since they [illegible] as layers. The Orpingtons, big, handsome birds, have white skin and legs, whereas the fixed American market demand is for yellow.

The flesh of the Plymouth Rock, which is an excellent winter layer, is of coarse texture and Rock hens go broody too hard and too often. Wyandottes don't give quite enough eggs, and those that they do give are irregular in color and shape.

In fact, the absolutely perfect combination fowl has not appeared; there is always some fault in evidence, or some quality lacking. I think that the breed which comes nearest so far, to the general-purpose ideal is one that not so long ago was despised, but that now is rising to wide popularity, the Rhode Island Reds.

Trio of Rhode Island Reds.

The Reds are first of all utility birds; that the best specimens make fine show birds has been fortunate, but their strongest appeal and greatest value is to the average poultryman who wants to get from his chickens a fair meat-an-egg profit, and perhaps a bit of fun and an occasional sale at a fancy price in the showroom.

BUCKWHEAT AS WINTER FEED

Grain Is Both Stimulating and Heating, But Should Be Fed in Moderation—Rich in Protein.

(By M. K. BOYER.)

Buckwheat is both stimulating and heating, which renders it an excellent grain for winter feeding; but, being of a fattening nature, it should be fed in moderation.

It contains more protein (egg-producing material) than does corn, but the percentage of digestible matter is not so great, buckwheat having about 62 per cent. and corn 81 per cent.

Buckwheat contains 7.8 per cent. of protein and 54.8 per cent. of carbohydrates and fat, having a nutritive ratio of 1.7; and corn, 6.3 per cent. of protein and 75 per cent. of carbohydrates and fat, and has a nutritive ratio of 1.12.

This proves that buckwheat is a slightly better egg producer than corn, being more evenly balanced, but it must be fed in larger quantities to gain that effect.

POULTRY NOTES

Straw and hay make good nesting material.

• • •

Pure bred poultry means uniformity of products.

• • •

Allow at least two square feet of floor space per bird.

• • •

Be sure that the male at the head of the flock is pure bred.

• • •

Use insect powder freely to exterminate lice when necessary.

• • •

Food has its effect on the quality of both the flesh and the eggs.

• • •

You will find the eggs not as fertile if you let the ducks grow thin.

• • •

Ducklings should not be allowed to bathe until they are well feathered.

• • •

It is cheaper for the farmer to eat spring chicken than to buy fresh beef.

• • •

If several hens are set in one room it is desirable to confine them in good nests.

• • •

It costs no more to feed a hen that lays 150 eggs a year than one that lays 60.

• • •

Overcrowding is one of the worst and most frequent mistakes made by poultrymen.

• • •

Given proper care and attention the hen is the most valuable incubator for the farmer.

• • •

A hopperful of bran is always seasonable feed and the whole flock should have access to it.

• • •

Some of the causes of roup are sudden and extreme changes in temperature, damp houses and drafts.

• • •

A small, well kept flock may prove a profit where a flock of twice the size might show a distinct loss.

• • •

Plan now to provide comfortable quarters for the poultry during the winter when the price of eggs is highest.

PUBLIC SALE.

I will sell at public auction at my residence on the Florence turnpike, one and a half miles from Burlington, Boone county, Kentucky, on

Thursday, December 4th, '13

the following property:

3 work horses, 1 colt 19 months old, 2 good milk cows—one fresh, 2 good Jersey heifers 20 months old, brood sow and 8 shoats, 8 dozen chickens, 200 bushels corn—some in shock, lot of fodder, some seed corn, 10 tons of hay—timoth[illegible] alfalfa; good road wagon with bed and seat, platform spring wagon, rock bed, 2-horse cultivator, good Milwaukee binder, McCormick mower, Deering sulky hay rake, land roller, disc harrow, Acme harrow, smothing harrow, 2 breaking plows, Other plow, Clipper fanning mill for grain or grass seed, hay bed, wheat drill, lot of lumber and wire, corn drill, heater and stove wood, good buggy, 2 sets of buggy harnes, 2 sets double wagon harness, lot of all kinds of tools, grind stone and corn sheller, good Hurst sprayer and air press sprayer, spinning wheel, No. 15 Delaval separator, 10 gallon kettle, lot locust post, lot Irish potatoes, lot bushel crates, lawn swing, good violin and case, household and kitchen furniture consisting of bedsteads, stands, chairs, sewing machine, rocking chairs, extension table, dishes, carpets and safe, barrel churn, lot soft soap, 3 shares capital stock in Hebron Telephone Co., also a private line of 400 pounds line wire and telephone box, and many other things too numerous to mention.

TERMS:—Sums of $5.00 and under, cash; on sums over $5.00 a credit of nine months without interest will be given, purchaser to excute note with approved security, negotiable and payable in Peoples Deposit Bank at Burlington, Ky.

Terms must be complied with before property is removed.

Sale to begin at 9 a. m. sharp.

W. T. DAVIS.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of Execution No. 56 directed to me, which issue from the Clerk's Office of the Boone Circuit Court, in favor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky against Abraham Sear, John Sear and Ollie D. Felthaus, I or one of my deputies, will, on Monday, the 1st day of December, 1913, between the hours of 1 o'clock p. m. and 2:30 o'clock p. m., at the Court House door in Burlington, Boone county, Kentucky, expose to public sale, to the highest bidder, the following described property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy plaintiff's debt, interest and costs, to-wit:

Lying and being in Boone county, Kentucky, in the town of Petersburg, Ky., situated on Broadway street between Front and First streets, further known and designated on the official plan and plat of said town as lot No. 56. A strip 12 feet wide across the rear of the southeast half of said lot 56 is excepted out of said boundary, and being same property sold to Abraham Sear by Lawrence Chambers by deed recorded in Deed Book No. 52, page 328, and levied upon as the property of Abraham Sear.

Terms:—Sale will be made on a credit of three months, bond with approved security required, bearing interest at the rate of six pecent per annum interest from day of sale and having the force and effect of a judgment. Amount to be raised by sale, $66.40.

B. B. HUME, Sheriff Boone Co.

Boone County Farms and Town Property For Sale.

165 acres on the Waterloo and Rabbit Hash pike 2¼ miles from Rabbit Hash and 4½ miles from Belleview. One and one-half story house with nine rooms, two new barns 36x48 and 40x48, other out buildings, plenty of water, good fence, all in grass but 20 acres. Price $60 per acre.

—!!—

100 acres almost adjoining the above farm with no house but good barn 36x48. Fifty acres woodland, 75 acres of this land will grow tobacco. Plenty water. Five acres in cultivation. Price $30.00 per acre. The two above farms could be considered as one farm or can be sold separate.

—!!—

160 acres on the Ohio river near Lawrenceburg Ferry, eight room house, barn 40x60 and other outbuildings, good fence. Price $6,500.

—!!—

86 acres on the Waterloo and McVille pike ¾ mile from McVille and about 1½ miles from Waterloo or Belleview. No improvements except good fences. Plenty water All in grass. Thirty acres will grow tobacco. Price $20.00 per acre.

—!!—

Good 5-room house and one acre ground in Burlington. Price $1000.

—!!—

Two houses and lots in Petersburg one for $600 and the other for $400.

Also have some farms for sale not listed above.

A. B. RENAKER,
Burlington, Ky.

For Sale—Fine driving mare, seven years old, well bred, weighs about 1150—$165. One cheap work mare, will trade for shoats, sow and pigs or white leghorn chickens. Apply to O. P. SPAHR, Burlington, Ky., R. D. 3, on the old Chambers farm.

For Sale—Farm of 65 acres, two miles west of Burlington on the Burlington and Belleview turnpike, good 5-room house, lasting water—all in grass but 10 acres, that in cultivation. Will sell reasonable. Apply to KARL ROUSE, Burlington, Ky. it.

STRENGTH FOR OLD PEOPLE

A Simple Remedy Which Favors Longevity.

You act as though you just wondered how you are going to get through this trying season and do your work.

You may be overworked or have had a bad cold which has left you without strength, ambition or much interest in life; in fact you are all run-down.

Let us tell you that Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, is just the remedy you need to rebuild wasting tissues and replace weakness with strength.

A prominent Boston lawyer says: "My mother, who is 76 years of age, owes her good health to Vinol as since taking it she can walk farther and do more than she has for years. I consider it a wonderful blood making and strength creating tonic."

We have such faith in Vinol that if it does not quickly build you up, restore your strength and make you feel well again, we will return your money. Try Vinol on our guarantee.

P. S. If you have Eczema try our Saxo Salve. We guarantee it.

Robert W. Jones, Druggist, Walton

DUROC JERSEY

"Florence Fair Prize Winners." Extra good BOARS at farmers prices.

J. F. CLEEK,
Richwood, Ky.

Poland China Hogs.

Only a few gilts left. All male hogs are sold.. Sired by the celebrated Money Maker No. 84771, King-to-Be 82903, Onward 81371.

THOMAS POWERS,
oct-2 2m Crittenden, Ky.

Rogers Bros. General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade.

B. S. O'NEAL,

AUCTIONEER,
VERONA, - KENTUCKY.
Your Order is Solicited.

For Sale or Rent.

One Hundred and Eight and Two-Third Acres of Land, at the mouth of Gunpowder creek in this county; the best hog farm in Northern Kentucky. For further particulars call on or address Erastus Rice, Rising Sun, Indiana, or S. D. Rice, Grant, Ky., R. D. 1.

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN,
DENTIST
will be at Burlington on the first and second Monday, and in Union on the third and fourth Monday of each month, prepared and qualified to practice according to the latest methods extracting teeth painless.
All work guaranteed.

DR. B. W. STALLARD
with DR. SHOBER'S
QUEEN CITY DENTISTS
Nos. 43-49 W. Fifth Ave.,
CINCINNATI, - - OHIO.

F. J. HENN. M. M. HUSCHART.
LAWRENCEBURG
Granite and Marble Works
Manufacturers of and Dealers in
Fine American and Imported Monuments.
Cemetery Work of Every Description Promptly and Carefully Attended to.
Lawrenceburg, :-: Indiana.
D. M. SNYDER, Agt., Burlington, Ky.

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS

For Sale, stock from the flock scoring most points at State Fair last fall. Cockerels, $1.00 each; eggs in season. (dec 18)

MRS. B. C. GRADDY,
Bullittsville, Ky.

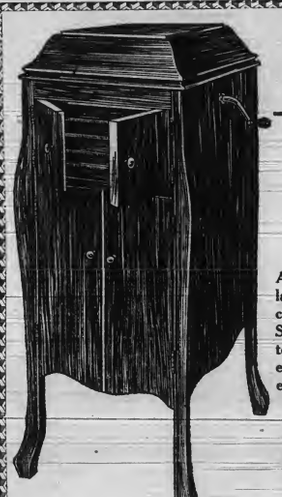
FOR SALE

Good Steinway Piano. Apply to Dr. B. A. DULANEY, Florence, Ky.

Some men will pay a $50 cigar bill without a murmur—and then get real fussy over a $2 bill for gas.

Take your County Paper.

FIFTY-SECOND SEMI-ANNUAL STATEMENT OF THE
Boone County Deposit Bank
Burlington, Kentucky
At Close of Business December 31, 1912.



RESOURCES.		LIABILITIES.
Loans, Bonds, &c....	$170,858.50	Capital Stock.....	$ 30,000.00
Overdrafts.....	52.81	Surplus.....	45,000.00
Due from Banks.....	38,391.04	Undivided Profits, &c	7,581.49
[illegible].....	7.7[illegible]	Deposits.....	6,891.35
Banking House, &c..	3,000.00	Due Banks.....	841.31
Total.....	$220,014.15	Total.....	$220,014.15

A Bank that is going after business, and going in the right way.

HOW? By promptness in serving its customers,
By courteous attention to their banking needs.
By readiness in meeting their requirements, and, above all
By perfect security of the funds intrusted to its care, having over $100.000.00 to secure depositors.
We have the largest Capital and Surplus of any Bank in this county, and are amply able to accommodate our patrons, and are willing at all times to afford them every accommodation justified by the rules of good and safe bankings whether their accounts are large or small.

N. E. RIDDELL, President. J. C. REVILL, Cashier.

J. F. KIESWETTER,
RUGS MADE of OLD CARPETS
Compressed Air Carpet Cleaning.
TELEPHONE SOUTH 21.
250 PIKE STREET,
Covington, - - - Ky.
M. RIDDELL, Agent, Burlington, Ky.

ADAMS
A New Victrola $75

A Cabinet Style Victrola combining a record cabinet for only $75.00. Same perfect, mellow tone quality of the most expensive Victrola, same elegant finish.

Easy Monthly Payments.

A. ADAMS,
15 Pike Street,
Covington, - - Ky.

The Cincinnati Grain Co.
HAVE OPENED THEIR NEW HOUSE AT ERLANGER, KY.

FREE PHONE ERLANGER 49

Handle Hay, Grain, Flour and Feed of all Kinds.
Will Also Buy Your Wheat, Rye, Etc.

Special Notice—We are selling at city prices, consequently can save you the long haul from Covington and Cincinnati,
GIVE US A TRIAL

FARM MOTORS
For Pumping, Operating Churns, Saws, Corn Shredders, Filling Silos, Etc.
Last a Lifetime. From 1½ to 25 h. p. $33 and up.
Ready To Run.

Direct Factory Representatives
SPENCER-HARTLIEB CO.
316-318 MAIN STREET
CINCINNATI, OHIO
Phone, 1810 Main

Read Our Big Combination Offer.

BOONE CO. RECORDER
W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION.

Farmers' Week at The Agricultural College.

Every farmer in Kentucky should be interested in the approaching meeting of the Kentucky Corn Growers' Association, especially in view of the fact that it is associated as regards time and place, with most of the other leading farmers' organizations of the State.

The advances made by Kentucky in the last few years in the production of a good quality of corn have been rather remarkable. It will be of interest to many Kentucky farmers to know that in the classes offered for the best ten ears of white dent corn at the National Corn Show last year, Kentucky stood first among the States.

The annual meeting of the Corn Growers' Association to be held on Wednesday, January 7th, 1911, but the corn show will continue throughout the week of January fifth to tenth. The program for Corn Day will be made up of lectures and demonstrations bearing on soil fertility and other fundamental questions which the growing of corn like any other crop depends.

Besides the corn show, which will include the cereals, there will be in progress during the week educational exhibits and competitive shows in horticulture, dairy products and poultry, and a tobacco show. It will be seen from this synopsis that farmers whose larger interests represent these various lines of agriculture will be brought together for a general convention and for instruction by noted experts, and all has been crowded into the space of one week, but those especially interested in two or more farm specialities may without great loss of time attend both conventions, and others if they so desire.

The other conventions are those of the Beef Cattle Breeders Association, the Kentucky Dairy Cattle Club, the Kentucky Sheep Breeders' Association, the Kentucky Swine Breeders Association the Kentucky Horse Breeders Association, the Poultrymen, the Bee Keepers' and the State Horticultural Society. In most cases at least one specialist will be brought from a distance to deliver the principal address at the meeting of each one of these associations.

The women's department has not been slighted, as special arrangements are being made for work in home economics which will be of great value to women who live in rural communities. They will also be very much interested in the poultry show, the dairy product exhibit and convention, and perhaps in the bee keepers' convention. A prospectus of this week of work is being prepared and will be mailed free upon application.

A very attractive premium list has been provided for the corn show and for the other shows where competitive exhibits are to be made, which will be sent free upon request. Some may not consider it worth while to send such corn as they have which has necessarily been produced under very adverse conditions during the past season, but it must be borne in mind that all have suffered from the same cause and the chances will be equal. Those who cannot attend the show are entitled to send their corn by express with the privilege of having it placed in competition.

Farmers Week constitutes the opening of the Winter Short Course of Ten Weeks which is arranged for farmers who cannot spare the time and money to take a longer course but who want to gain some valuable and practical suggestions as regards better farming.

For further information, address
T. R. BRYANT,
Supt. Extension Division, Experiment Station, Lexington, Ky.

The Boys Are Watched.

The following article is clipped from an exchange. The observations apply to any locality and we think the advice given the boys so good we are glad to reprint it.

"When we see boys on the streets and public places we often wonder if they know the business men are watching them. In every bank, store and office there will soon be a place for a boy to fill. Those who have the management of affairs of business will select one of the boys; they will not select him for ability to swear, smoke cigarettes or tap a beer keg. And the social swell who is draft about little social functions and is happy in the conceit that he is just the article the young ladies find indispensable on all occasions, is also given the glassy stare quite as often as the beer guzzler or cigarette smokers. Business men may have a few loose habits themselves, but they are looking for boys who are as near gentlemen in every sense of the word as they can find and they are able to give the character of every boy in the city. They are not looking for rowdies. When a boy applies for one of those places and is refused, they may not tell him the reason they did not want him, but the boy may depend upon it that he's been rated according to his behavior. Boys cannot afford to adopt the habits and conversations of the loafers and rowdies if they ever want to be called to responsible positions."

Since the inauguration of the hunting season last Saturday, no serious accidents have been reported.

Good Price for Land.

The following is taken from the Danville Advocate:

Col. I. M. Dunn who as a private salesman fully equals his brilliant record as an auctioneer on the block, yesterday afternoon sold for Mr. J. C. McConnell his farm containing 122 acres located three miles from Danville on the Lancaster pike to Mr. O. J. Hendren, of Garrard county, for the highest price for which land ever sold in Boyle county, $190 per acre. The place is one of the modern homes of Boyle county and is fully worth the money paid for it. The consideration was cash in hand. Mr. McConnell and excellent family contemplate locating in the South for the winter. They are splendid people and the host of friends they have made while residents of Boyle county wish for them prosperity and happiness wherever they may locate. Col. Dunn this afternoon is selling at auction the personal property advertised by Mr. McConnell.

Mr. Geo. R. Thompson, of Aurora, Ind., and Miss Daisy Belle Ranes, of Belleview, this county, were quietly married at Lawrenceburg, Ind., Monday of last week. Mr. Thompson is one of Aurora's most respectable citizens and has a host of friends who wish him luck and happiness in all his undertaking. Miss Ranes is a very charming young lady, of Belleview, and has many friends who wish her happiness. We all wish this young couple happiness and we extend our best wishes and heartiest congratulations.

A Friend.

Coming from the car line in his truck, last Friday night, Harry Ryle, of Erlanger, collided with a large freight truck. Mr. Ryle was hurt considerably and his machine badly damaged, while the other machine was badly shakened up but the driver was not injured. A lady passenger in Mr. Ryle's machine escaped without injury.

Of the candidates who sought eligibility for appointment as storekeepers and gaugers by Collector of Internal Revenue Charlton D. Thompson for the Covington District, only 32 successfully passed the Civil Service examination held in August, according to information from the Civil Service Commission.

Some of the farmers who have corn fields in the river bottoms have been busy the past few days shucking and hauling corn in order to save it from the rapidly rising waters of the Ohio.

Sam Johnson accompanied Russell and Earl Smith to the Beaver neighborhood last Tuesday, where they got a few birds and rabbits.

C. C. Hughes, of the internal revenue service, after a vacation of several weeks, has been assigned to duty again. He left last Tuesday afternoon.

NOTICE—The teachers and students will serve lunch at the High School building on the day of the Corn Show.

The weather the past week has been very pleasing to those who have corn on the law lands along the river.

Avoid chilly rooms in the morning by using Cole's Hot Blast Heaters. They prevent colds and rheumatism.

Hunters are having their day.

STATE NEWS.

Several thousand acres of coal privileges in the Lisman, Corinth and Nebo sections have been sold to Pittsburg capitalists.—Providence Enterprise.

The eggnog will no doubt be a scarce article in this vicinity during Christmas, or else a substitute for the eggs will have to be brought in.—Winchester Democrat.

One day last week a mountain man from near the top of Fox Springs Mountain came to town with a box containing thirteen live skinks. He sold them to a local buyer for $26, which is pretty good for a few hours work which he gave to digging the coons from their dens. Red fox, skunk and other hides are high in price this year, and fur hunters are realizing big returns on what they can catch.—Flemingsburg Gazette.

Christian county farmers are among the most prosperous in the State. With the exception of Burley tobacco, bluegrass, hemp and probably alfalfa, their land is adapted for the growth of every crop grown in Kentucky. The price of land is advancing continually. They are freer from debt then most farmers and they are progressive. Tho our roads are much better than many wealthy counties there is great room for improvement. The farmers are awake to this and are determined to have a more perfect system of roads.—Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

FOR SALE

In Constance, Ky., large building lot on this lot is a building 58x48, built for a club-house. This is a very substantial structure, has a truss roof and not a post in the interior. This building can be carefully taken down and removed if necessary, or can be remodeled into apartments. I want to dispose of this property at an early date and will sell it at a sacrifice, in fact for one-half what the lumber cost to erect it. Apply to or address G. F. SNYDER,
711 Plum St., Cincinnati, O.

THANKSGIVING

It will be for our thousands of satisfied customers.

Hill's

High quality Groceries and Seeds at Wholesale Prices are things to be thankful for.

WRITE FOR PRICES

You'll Know Then.

YOU CAN MAKE RICH, SNOW WHITE BREAD WITH

RARUS
BEST WINTER PATENT
GEO. W. HILL & CO.
COVINGTON KY

$5.25 Per Bbl

Freight Paid to your Station Every Barrel Guaranteed.

BETTER TO DRINK

NOBETTER COFFEE

25c Per Lb

Better Flavor. Better Price. Freight paid on 20 lbs or More.

NEW PURE

N. O. Molasses.

5 Gallon Can

$3.00

It's the Best you ever Tasted.

Thanksgiving Goodies.

Atmore's Mince Meat, 3 lb. 25c, 2 pkgs.....15c
Atmore's Plum Pudding, 1 lb. can 20c, 2 lb. can, 35c
Seeded Raisins, pkg....10c
Cleaned Currants, pkg..10c
Fancy large Figs, lb....15c
Fancy Evaporated Peaches, 3 lbs.....25c
Fancy large Prunes, lb..10c
Fancy Dried Apples, 3 lbs 25c
Orange, Grape Fruit, Bananas.

New Nuts

Get your Thanksgiving feast at HILL'S, or send your order and we will ship same day. THINK WHAT YOU CAN SAVE.

Potatoes and Cabbage

At Track Prices. Let Us Quote You.

When you buy Seed from you reach nearest the grower

Hill's Tested Seeds.

Write for Prices.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.

GROCERS & SEEDMEN,
27-29 Pike St. or 26 W. 7th,
Covington, Ky.

Established 1863.

A TRULY WONDERFUL SALE

The Climax in Value-Giving

Reached in this wonderful offering of exceptionally Smart Suits and Overcoats for Men and Young Men at—

$10 and $15

A Woolen Purchase of decided advantage—at an unusual price concession—enables us to add further to this store by giving our customers greater values than usual--the best anywhere.

Suits and Overcoats made from same grade fabrics that go into our $18 and $20 clothes for men and young men now possible and offered at..... $15
Values are $10 to $15 better than elsewhere.

Suits and Overcoats made from same grade fabrics that go into our $12 and $12.50 clothes for men and young men now possible and offered at..... $10
Values are $3 to $5 better than elsewhere.

The Best Clothes in the World at $18 and $20

Overcoats of every sort from the swagger, loose belted models to the Chesterfield. Suits on conservative and English models. You'll find tailoring that can't be improved on. They will meet your idea of what clothes should be. The best anywhere at $18 and $20.

Great Values In Boys' CLOTHES $1.50 to $7.50

We can dress your boys right and save you money. Ideal Norfolk Suits at $3 and $5. Other good kinds, $1.50 to $7.50. Overcoats in Chinchillas, Friezes and Meltons, with shawl collars.

Stetson Hats, $3.50. Eilerman"s "Special Make," $2.00
The best hats made for the money. Others at $1.50.

Underwear, Gloves, Sweaters at a saving of 20 to 30 per cent.
Don't fail to see Show Windows for Saturday Specials.

COVINGTON H. Eilerman & Sons NEWPORT

You Have Neighbors Who Use Home-made Acetylene for Lighting and Cooking

For the asking you can have the name and the address of the nearest one. Then you can, if you wish, make an evening call and get the facts first hand.

All told we have sold no less than six thousand Pilot Acetylene Plants to the people in your state.

These people are our friends. Anyone of them will be proud to show you just how these Pilot plants work—how they automatically mix the gas producing stone, Union Carbide, with plain water. How they make just enough Acetylene to keep the lights and the range going—no more, no less.

They will show you also how the Pilot starts making this gas when the lights are turned on—and stops when the lights are turned off. How this gas is piped to handsome light fixtures in every room in the house—as well as to big round safety lights in all barns and outbuildings.

The women folks in these homes will be glad to show you too just what a boon the Acetylene range is—how it furnishes heat on tap that can be regulated with a little valve—how it does away with handling wood, coal and ashes and makes the kitchen work easy.

You cannot judge the Pilot Acetylene Light Plant by what you have seen and heard of other Acetylene plants.

You must see a Pilot plant and talk to the people it works for. Then you will have a clearer understanding as to why over two hundred thousand country families now find home made Acetylene indispensable.

The Pilot makes Acetylene the right way—makes it so well that it provides country homes with even a better light and fuel than the gas which twenty million city people are enjoying.

After you have inspected a Pilot plant we will leave it to you to say whether it doesn't make the whitest, the most brilliant, and most beautiful light you have ever seen.

We will leave it to you also to say whether or not stationary Acetylene fixtures are not much safer than oil lamps, which can be tipped over.

As a matter of fact—only two accidents have been charged to the misuse and abuse of Pilot Acetylene, while ten thousand accidents have been charged to oil illuminants in a single year.

That is why the Oxweld Company, makers of Pilot Light machines, has grown to be the largest concern of its kind in the world.

Complete Pilot Light Plants may be purchased from dealers in Oxweld Acetylene Company products. These dealers are permanently located in some three thousand different towns.

In this district the undersigned distributors of Pilot Plants will be glad to mail you the Oxweld Company's free advertising books, telling the whole Acetylene story—with full details about the installation of the Pilot, its cost, economies, etc. Just address a postal to—

PILOT LIGHTING PLANTS
HOME-MADE ACETYLENE
for LIGHTING COOKING

G. J. GRUBBS
WALTON, KY.
Salesman
OXWELD ACETYLENE CO.
CHICAGO

The Boone County Medical Society will meet with Dr. O. E. Senour at Union, Ky., Wednesday evening, Nov. 26th. Quite a nice program has been arranged for the occasion, and all the members of the Society are urgently requested to be present.

While playing at school one day last week, Master Kenneth Rue, little son of Irvin Rue was struck in the eye by a stick thrown by one of his playmates and badly hurt, the upper lid being cut through and the ball injured some.

The game law having expired last Saturday, every fellow who had a gun and dog and the proper license, was out in quest of Bob White and the cotton tail. Some say that both quail and rabbits are plentiful, Others say the opposite.

Local Happenings.

Next Thursday war will open on turkey—Thanksgiving.

He is coming! Who? Why, Dr. J. W. Porter. Don't fail to hear him.

Fourteen cents per pound is the price being offered for turkeys.

Old, young and every one, come out Friday evening to hear Dr. Porter.

Only a few days now until the penalty will be added to all unpaid taxes.

The rain last Saturday interfered with many big hunts planned for that day.

Remember the penalty on all unpaid taxes goes on the first day of December.

Pumpkin pie, sarerib, sausage, backbone and sauer kraut are now on the bill of fare.

Peliagra caused more deaths than any other disease in Spartanburg, S. C., last year.

The next big hunt will be pulled off on Thanksgiving day which is next Thursday.

President Wilson has announced that he will read his first annual message to Congress in person.

Next Monday is Thanksgiving Day, and then it is only four weeks until Christmas.

Boone is the only county so far heard from that women did not vote in the recent election.

Elbert Clore sold, one day last week to Mr. A. W. Davis, of Arizona, his fine bird dog—Kate. Price $35.

B. B. Hume is buying Ford automobiles by quarter dozen to supply his trade in that line of machine.

Men and boys, guns and dogs were out in full blast last Saturday, the first day of the hunting season.

Chas. Birkle sold to Chas. Maurer, one day the past week, a two year old Jersey heifer and calf for $65.

Rev. Nelson filled his regular monthly appointment at the Burlington M. E. church, last Sunday morning and evening.

The corn show to be held at the school house in Burlington next Saturday is of interest to all the farmers in the county.

It is time November was showing up with some of the nice weather which some of the weather charts call for during the month.

Returns from nearly all the counties in the State, at the recent election, show that twenty-six women were elected County School Superintendents.

M. S. Rice and his friend, Lieutendant Savage, both of Covington, came out last Monday for their annual rabbit hunt and visit to W. J. Rice and family.

If you have an entry to make for the corn show next Saturday notify Secretary Hafer at once so he can have your entry tag prepared and ready for delivery.

County Clerk W. R. Rogers was kept busy las t Friday issuing hunters license. He issued about fifty that day. About 250 hunters in the county have been granted license.

The examining trial of Stephens charged with the killing of Kelly in Williamstown about two weeks ago, resulted in the accused being held over to the grand jury without bail.

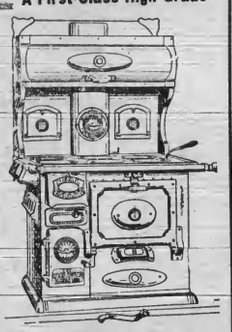
Come, come, come, to hear the great lecturer, Dr. J. W. Porter Friday evening, at the court house. Doors open at 7:30. Admission 25 cents. Children under twelve 15 cents.

The election of the Burley Tobacco Society at Lexington resulted in a complete victory for the element favorable to the present management headed by Clarence LeBus as president.

The labor and money spent on the Panama Canal might have been used to better purpose on the country's roads, in the opinion of Oliver Wilson, of Illinois, master of the National Grange.

The evening is Friday evening, 21st. The court house is the place. The time is 7:30. The subject "Sweethearts, Wives and Mothers." The lecturer, the great Dr. J. W. Porter, of Lexington. Come.

According to dope there is no telling which team will win the county banner at the spelling match in Florence next Friday afternoon, but Prof. Yeatley says Florence is prepared to defend her title to the banner against all comers.



Mrs. Blackburn, mother of Mrs. Bernard Gaines, died last Wednesday night at the home of her daughter out on the Petersburg pike. The remains were taken to Mrs. Blackburn's former home in Illinois for interment. Mrs. Gaines has the sympathy of all in her bereavement.

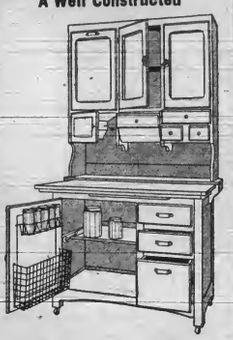
Delivered to any point we can reach with this

Delivered to any point we can reach with this

A First-Class High Grade

Blue Steel Range

with Zinc and Pipe. Large oven and 6 holes



$24.75

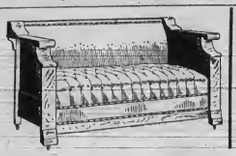
OAK HEATER

Large enough to heat Average Room

$4.75

A Well Constructed

Oak Kitchen Cabinet



With Nickeloid Top Complete in other ways

$15.75

Davenports

4 or 7 ft. convertible into up-to-date Sanitary Bed

$22.50

ROOM SIZE 9x12 Brussells Rugs

$11.75

O'Brien & Birnbryer

—DEALERS IN—

Good Furniture, Rugs and Stoves

AT REASONABLE PRICES.

736 Madison Ave., - COVINGTON, KY.

RULES AND PREMIUM LIST OF THE

4th Annual Corn Show

Given under the Auspices of Boone Co. Pomona Grange at

Burlington, Ky., Saturday, Nov. 22, 1913.

The committee reserves the right to sell all premium corn and other [illegible] take premiums to the [illegible] der, proceeds [illegible] hands of the Treasurer. No person will be allowed to make more than one entry in a class, and all corn must be grown in Boone county, Ky.; and all other exhibits must be entered in name of producer who must be a resident of Boone County, Ky. All entries must be made before 9 a. m. on day of exhibition. Competition open to all citizens of Boone county, Ky., and all are invited to compete for premiums.

LIST OF PREMIUMS.

	1st.	2nd.
Best 10 ears Boone County White	$5 00	$3 00
Second prem. Dixie Cultivator by Quigley & Beemon, Limaburg.
Best 10 ears Johnson County White	5 00	3 25
Second prem. 2 sacks Fertilizer by Chas. Youell.
Best 10 ears Yellow Dent—1st prem. by Retail Merchants Industrial Club of Covington	3 00	2 50
Best 10 ears Leaming	5 00	3 00
Second prem. Feed by Cincinnati Grain Co., Covington division
Best 10 ears Calico Corn	5 00	2 50
Best 10 ears any variety not classed above	5 00	2 50
Best single ear White	2 00	1 00
Best single ear Yellow	2 00	1 00
Best single ear any variety not classed above	2 00	1 00
Best single Stalk with most and best ears on	1 00
Best 10 ears Sugar Corn straight row	1 00	50
Best 10 ears Sugar Zigzag Corn	1 00	50
Best 10 ears Rice Pop Corn	1 00	50
Best 10 ears Poy Corn any other variety	1 00	50

Boys' Boone County Corn Club—All Members are Eligible to Compete.

Best 10 ears any variety—1st prem. Heifer calf by B. Paddack breeder of Polled Jerseys, Hebron, Ky	15 00
2d prem. Male Hampshire pig, J. M. Craven, Limaburg		10 00
Third and Fourth premiums	3 00	2 00
Singular ear any variety	1 00

$5 of the above given by the Retail Merchants Industrial Club of Covington

LADIES' DEPARTMENT.

Best Pumpkin Pie	50	25
Best Sliced Apple Pie	50	25
Best Sweet Potato Pie	50	25
Best Devil Food Cake	1 00	75
Best Layer Cocoanut Cake	1 00	75
Best Fruit Cake	2 00	1
Best plate Doughnuts not less than one dozen	50
Best Loaf Yeast Bred	50
Best Loaf Salt Rising Bread	50
Best Loaf Corn Bread		50
Best Qt. Sorghum Molasses—1 bu. apples by W. H. Clayton, Hebron.
Best Qt. Apple Butter		50
Best Qt. Apple Vinegar		50
Best Qt. Cucumber Pickles		50
Best Corn Husk Mat		1 00

$5.00 of the above given by the Retail Merchants Inds. Club, Covington.

Prof. A. E. Waller from Ky. State Agricultural University will judge corn exhibits according to the rules of expert judging.

Exhibitors are requested to send a list of their entries before the day of exhibition to

G. O. HAFER, Secty. Burlington, Ky. R. D. 3.

We Give and Redeem "Trade in Covington Profit Sharing Tickets"

Carry But-trick Patterns

COPPIN'S

Send us Your Mail Orders

Madison Ave. Cor. Seventh, Covington, Ky.

The departments throughout the store are particularly well stocked with merchandise for the winter season and the prices of all articles will be found to be very reasonable. It will pay you to come to COPPIN'S when you want to buy.

A TIMELY SALE OF Blankets and Comforts—Bed size Silkoline Comforts, white cotton filled good and warm. Only.....$1.38

Large size cotton filled Silkoline reverse comforts, worth $2.00. Only.....$1.75

Wash "Laminated" cotton filled, Silkoline light in weight yet warm as wool. Only.....$3.50

Large size cotton blankets, wool finish, white, grey or tan. Only pair.....98c

Extra large, heavy cotton blankets, grey and tan, worth $1.75. Only.....$1.49

Fancy plaid, white, grey, red, California wool blankets—the best blanket ever offered at the price. Pair.....$5.00

Extra fine grade, pure lambs wool blankets in plaids and colors with fancy borders. The pair.....$6.00

DRESS GOODS AND SILKS.

All wool French Serges, 36 inch, all colors. Yard.....50c

52 inch all wool French and Storm Serges, extra fine quality. Yard.....$1.00

Coating cloth, 54 inch, Herringbone stripe, black and garnet. Yard.....$1.25

44 inch black and white check outing—three different sizes. Choice, yard.....69c

44 inch all wool diagonal suiting, all good fall colorings. Yard.....85c

27 inch Corduroy in good range of colors. Yard.....75c and 85c

24 inch Costume Velvet, rich shade black. Yard.....$1.00

Peon Velvets, all the new fall shades. Yard.....$1.00

30 inch Costume Velvet, fine close pile, red jet black lurtrous finish. Yard....$2.00

36 inch Serge Silk, pretty coloring. Yard.....$1.00

Women's and Children's Warm Winter Underwear.

Girls' and boys' fleeced back, ribbed vests, pants and drawers. Each.....25c

Women's bleach and unbleached fleeced, ribbed vest or pants. Big value.....39c

Misses' and boys' heavy fleeced union suits. An excellent quality.....50c

Women's bleached fleeced, ribbed union suits. Regular size.69c. Extra size.79c

Selling agents for the famous Stretton Underwear for women.

Misses' and Childrens' in all weights and styles, long and short sleeve garments.....50c to $2.00

Big Coat Sale for Women and Misses at $12.00

Wonderful variety, very latest styles, made of novelty cloth, black wisteria, three-quarter and full length models. The biggest values ever offered for the money.

Women's Gloves.

Adler's mannish gloves, sizes 5¾ to 7½, good shades, tan and black—gloves that will wear. Pair.....$1.00 to $1.50

Fine Lamb skin gloves in all the fall colorings. Excellent quality. Pair.....79c

Our Dalje kid gloves for women and misses' is the best $1.00 glove made. Come in black, white and all colors.

Children's Winter Gloves.

Boys' Winter Gloves.

Men's Underwear.

Men's heavy fleeced black shirts or drawers, good and warm. Garment.....50c

Men's all wool scarlet medicated shirt or drawers. Garment.....$1.00

Men's fine lambs wool, natural colors. Garment.....$1, $1.25, $1.00 and $2.

Men's Union Suits, globe make, with patent closed croutch..$1, $1.50, $2 and $3

GOOD & DUNKIE

Now the largest house in Covington. The cheapest and best place to buy Groceries, Flour, Seeds and Medicines.

Don't overlook us when you want anything in our line. Write us for prices. We can save you money.

NEW CLOVER SEED

NEW ALFALFA.

NEW TIMOTHY.

NEW KY. BLUE GRASS.

ARCADE FLOUR has doubled our flour trade in Covington in 12 months. The best on earth. Barrel..... $5.50

Freight Paid to Your Station.

GOLDEN BLEND COFFEE Pleases where others fail. Per Pound..... 25c

California Asparagus Tips, can	11c	Gee-Whiz Coffee, lb	20c
New Hominy, 2 lbs	5c	New York Cream Cheese Pound	20c
Ohio Sugar Corn, can	5c	Jell-O, three pkgs	25c
Wisconsin Peas, 3 cans	25c	Mince Meat, lb	10c
Sweet Pickles, 3 doz	25c	California Peaches, can	15c
Best Pink Salmon, 3 cans	25c	New Navy Beans, qt	10c
Best Lump Starch, lb	4c	Peck	70c
New Rolled Oats, 3 lbs	10c	Fels Naptha, P. & G. Ivory Soap	4c
Babbitts Lye, 3 cans	25c	Magic White Soap 6 for	25c

GOODE & DUNKIE,

19 & 21 Pike St., and 18 & 20 W. 7th St.,

Covington, - Kentucky.

USEFUL PRESENTS

A pair of our gold Glasses makes a useful and beautiful reminder for the holidays.

We also have Gold Eyeglass, Chains and Opera Glasses—all at reasonable prices.

N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,

613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

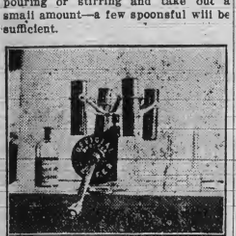
Phone, South 1746.

BABCOCK TEST FOR MILK AND CREAM

It Is Necessary To Know the Amount of Butterfat in Dairy

RETAIN HIGH-PRODUCING COWS

Instructions How to Make Correct Tests—Precautions to Be Observed to Insure Satisfactory Results.



This test is used to determine the amount of butter fat in milk and cream. Its use in connection with a milk scales furnishes the farmer a quick and simple means of finding out exactly how much butter each cow in his herd is giving. Knowing this, he can then retain the high-producing cows in the herd and use their offspring to secure still further improvement in the herd yield.

A complete testing outfit costs from $5 to $20, depending upon the capacity. Complete directions are sent with each outfit, and by following these any farmer can easily make a quick and accurate test.

The apparatus used consists of (1) a whirling machine or centrifuge, (2) graduated test bottles, (3) a glass measuring pipette, (4) a glass acid measure, (5) a bottle of ordinary commercial sulphuric acid.

How To Make the Test.

(1) Thoroughly mix the milk by pouring or stirring and take out a small amount—a few spoonsful will be sufficient.

Babcock testing outfit—Price complete, $5.00.

(2) Suck milk up into glass measure pipette until it comes above the 17.6 c. c. mark Suddenly close the upper end of the pipette with the finger. By slightly releasing the pressure of the finger allow the milk to drop out of the lower end until it comes exactly to the mark on the pipette, when it is stopped by pressing down firmly with the finger. Carefully transfer milk from pipette to test bottle, being careful not to lose a particle of milk in making the transfer.

(3) Measure out acid into acid measure, which is marked to indicate the proper quantity Pour acid into test bottle with milk. Thoroughly mix acid and milk by shaking gently.

(4) Place test bottles containing mixture of milk and acid in whirling machine, making certain that the machine is balanced. Turn the machine for five minutes at the speed indicated upon the crank. Stop the machine and add hot water (which should be perfectly clean and nearly at the boiling point) until mixture reaches base of test bottle neck. Whirl again for two minutes. Stop machine and add hot water with pipette to the 8 per cent mark on neck of bottle. Whirl again one minute.

This completes the test and the butterfat is shown as clear or light straw-colored liquid in the upper part of the bottle neck. The sulphuric acid has acted on the constituents of the milk, setting free the butterfat. The hot water added brings the liquid mixture up into the neck of the bottle and the whirling causes the bottles to fly out into a horizontal position. The acid mixture being heavier is thrown toward the outside, the butterfat, being lighter, is forced toward the center and into the neck of the bottle. This is divided into 10 equal spaces, representing 1 per cent.

The Test Is Then "Read."

Suppose the upper end of the fat column extends to the 8.2 mark and the lower end of the column to 3.6. Subtract 3.6 from 8.2. This gives 4.6 per cent, which is the percentage of butterfat in the sample This means that in 100 pounds of the milk there are 4.6 pounds of butterfat.

Precautions To Be Observed.

(1) Test bottles must be thoroughly clean and the inside free from gases, (2) whirling machine must be kept well oiled (3) acid bottle must be kept tightly stoppered else the acid will lose its strength. (4) sample must be thoroughly mixed, (5) the fat column must be measured at once before the fat hardens. Following the last whirling, it is best to set bottles in a pail in which is placed enough hot water (140 degrees Fah.) to come nearly to the top of the neck of bottles.

It is well to order a few extra test bottles to replace bottles broken in use, and an extra pipette.

Cream is tested by the use of a special cream bottle. A special pipette (18 c. c.) is needed.

There are some cattle that are no better in the dairy barn than are the weeds in the corn field.

A good brush is one of the most essential implements in cleaning the milk utensils.

GREAT VOGUE OF THE PEARL

Imitations Now So Perfect That Often Most Expert Gem Appraisers Are Deceived.

"The pearl is the fashionable jewel now in Paris," says a woman just returning from that city. "Long ropes of pearls are worn in ways fashion has never dreamed of suggesting before outside of the Orient.

"One woman I saw had her long loop rope of these exceedingly becoming gems passed directly over [illegible] head, the strands crossed at the back of her head in a pretty way over her low coiffure. The long remaining loop fell down from the back of her head across her shoulders, making a deep necklace that reached to the waist.

"Waist laced, I should call the rope of pearls I saw wound about another woman circling, as it did, her waist and hips, falling over the filmy drapery of her frock entrancingly.

"I have seen ropes of pearls draped from over one shoulder down to entwine waist and hips. I have seen a rope caught up into the hair over one temple with a tall aigrette ornament. Caressing cheek and neck, the rope was looped down to the corsage, where it wandered about in a most capricious way, enhancing the folds and frills of the frock across the bust. The woman who wore her pearls in this way had also another long loop rope about her neck. This hung to her knees.

"Needless to say this vogue for lavish use of pearl rope could be indulged in by only a few women if the real article were used in their make-up. But imitation pearls come now so perfect, not only in color and sheen but also in weight, that often a most expert gem appraising eye would be deceived by them.

"No gem is so generally becoming as the pearl. It betautifies a beautiful woman and does not mock at the lack of beauty in a plain woman, as other stones do. It treats a poor complexion with such kindness that somehow the complexion brightens to a near approach to beauty by its exquisite touch. It responds to all the fair loveliness of youth and softens age as by magic. It blends with any costume, any color and fabric. A simple frock loses none of its simplicity of tone if pearls are worn with it. An elaborate frock does not become overelaborate with pearls as an accessory.

"Pearls may be worn at simple occasions and not give the wearer a jewel-loaded look. They may be worn at the most formal occasion and add to the festiveness of attire."

KNEW FATHER WAS AT HOME

Youth's Attempt to Collect Insurance for Injuries Received Is Not Successful.

His arm was in a sling, he was limping badly, his nose was out of shape, one of his eyes had been blackened, and he was proceeding toward an insurance office.

"Yes, Mr. Spooner," asked the courteous manager; "what is the exact nature of your claim?"

"I have fallen down a long flight of steps and sustained damages that will disable me for months to come," replied he, "and I think that one hundred dollars damages should be awarded me."

"H'm!" said the manager as he toyed with his gold chain. "I have had your case investigated prior to your visit here, and, young man, I have every reason to believe that it was no accident. You knew the young lady's father was at home all the time."

Value of Trees.

The soil is a resource of priceless value. Its formation on rocks is exceedingly slow. According to Prof. J. Bowman, many glacial scratches that were made on rock during the last glacial period, between 60,000 and 70,000 years ago, are still as fresh as if they had been made only yesterday. Yet since the glaciers thus recorded themselves man has come up from the cave and the stone hammer. Seventy thousand years is a very short time for the development of a soil cover; for man it means a period so great that the mind can hardly grasp it. The cutting off of the trees exposes the soil so that the rain beats upon it, and since it has lost the protection that the roots and the litter on the ground afforded the soil is soon washed away. In fifty years a single lumber merchant can deprive the race of soil that required 10,000 years to form.—Youth's Companion.

All Practical Men.

"You must have a remarkably efficient board of health in this town," remarked the visitor.

"Right you are," replied the shrewd native.

"Composed of scientists, I presume?"

"No, sir. Scientists are too theoretical."

"Physicians, perhaps?"

"Not much. We don't allow doctors on our board of health—no, sir—nor undertakers, either."

"Hum! What sort of men have you chosen?"

"Life insurance agents."

Stage Novelty.

"Want time in vaudeville, eh?" Are you a baseball player?"

"No."

"Shoot somebody?"

"Never."

"What are you, then?"

"Merely an actor."

"An actor, eh? Well, I don't know. Actors are unusual in vaudeville, but the very novelty of the thing might make it a go."

Public Sale.

Having sold my farm, I will offer at public auction at my farm one mile west of Florence, Boone county, Ky., on

Wednesday, Dec. 3d, 1913

the following property:

Two Mares 6 and 7 years old, one aged Mare, 4 Cows one fresh, one [illegible], Road Wagon, two top Spring Wagons, 2 Wagon poles, Buggy, Runabout, Cart, 2-h Sled, 1-h Sled, Mowing Machine and Rake, Chill Plow, 2 Cultivators, Double Shovel, Single Shovel, Disc, Acme and Tooth Harrows, Hoosier Corndrill with fertilizer attachment, 2 sets Double Work Harness, 2 sets Single Harness, Set Buggy Harness, two Saddles and Bridles, lot Corn, Hay and Fodder, Coal, Seed Potatoes, 4 doz. Chickens, Bees, some Household and Kitchen Furniture, and other articles too numerous to mention.

TERMS OF SALE.

Sums of $10 and under, cash; sums over $10 a credit of Nine months will be given, purchaser to give note with good security, negotiable and payable at the Florence Deposit Bank, Florence, Ky. Terms must be complied with before moving property.

Sale to begin at 9 a. m.

JOSEPH WEISENBERG.
TONEY BENTLER, Auct'r.

Public Sale.

I will offer for sale at public auction on the farm of Joseph Graves, on the Price Road, one mile from Florence, Ky., on

Tuesday, Nov. 25th, 1913,

the following property:

17 Jersey Milch Cows (four of them fresh, others will be fresh in a short time,) 5 Jersey Heifers, sired by Owl's Relic Boy, 2 Jersey Calves 4 months old, one Work Mule, yearling horse Colt, 2-year old horse Colt sired by Bell's Fitszimmon, 3-year old gray Colt, Mowing Macnine, Sled Spring Wagon, and other Farm Implements, 2-h. International Gasoline Engine and Churn combined, Butter Worker, Jars and other dairy fixtures too numerous too mention.

TERMS—Sums of $10 and under, cash; on sums over $10 a credit of 6 months will be given, purchaser to give note with good security, negotiable and payable at the Florence Deposit Bank, at Florence, Ky Terms of sale must be complied with before moving property.

C. J. SCOTT.

Sale to begin at 9 a. m. promptly

Public Sale.

I will offer for sale at public auction at my farm sn the Bullittsville and Dry Creek turnpike, about two miles west of Bullittsville, Ky., on

Thursday, Nov. 20th, 1913

the following property;

15 first-class Ewes,
12 Milch Cows,
1 Horse and Buggy,
Lot Corn, Hay, Cowpeas,
Sows and Pigs,
and other articles.

TERMS---Sums of $5.00 and under, cash; on all sums over $5.00 a credit of six months will be given, purchaser to give note with approved security payable at the Boone County Deposit Bank, Burlington, Ky., before removing property.

MRS. M. T. GRAVES.

Sale to begin at 12 o'clock.

PUBLIC SALE.

Saturday, November 22, 1913

I will offer at Public Sale for cash to the highest and best bidder my farm of 51 acres. Good 4-room house, new barn and good improvements. Nearly level. Near Lexington pike, 2 miles north of Walton, Ky., near Kensington Station. Close to school.

I reserve the right to reject any bids on my farm.

Will also offer for sale at the same time and place the following described property:

One large work mare four years old, in foal to jack; 2-yr-old Filly; 2-yr-old Horse Colt; Sow and nine pigs; 7 Shoats; good Jersey Cow; two-horse Wagon; Buggy, Sled, Farming Tools, Household and Kitchen Furniture, 1 Graphophone.

Sale to begin at 10 a. m.

J. A. LAWRENCE,
Rural Route, Richwood, Ky.

Take your County Paper.

SALE AT COST.

As I expect to quit buisness, will sell my entire stock of Millinery and Notions, before christmas.

Hats, Felt and Velvet shapes.....75c-$100
Trimmed Hats..$1.50-$3
Ladie's all-wool sweaters were $2. 50 now...$2.00
$1.00 Corsets now....85c
75c Corsets now.....60c
50c Corsets now.....35c
5c Kerchiefs 3 for....10c
White and Black Shoe Polish.....08c
50c Silk Scarfs.....35c
Gloves, Belts, Veils, Ties, Collars, D. M. C. Cotton, Ribbons, Pins, Etc.

Mrs. B. L. Cleek,
Union, Kentucky.

All persons indebted to the estate of J. J. Tanner, deceased, must call and settle with the undersigned, and those having claims against said estate will present them to him proven according to law.

CLARENCE TANNER.

For SaleThree cows and one heifer. One cow has a young calf—one is fresh and the other will be fresh next month. Apply to Leslie Clark Ludlow R. D. 2, and near Hebron, Ky.

Wont you Let

MY CLOTHING DO THE TALKING FOR THEMSELVES?

Kindly come in and see them. I will do business with you without argument You will find Quality and Workmenship.

MENS SUITS and OVERCOATS.....$5.00 to $18.00

YOUNG MEN'S SUITS AND OVERCOATS.....$3.00 to $15.00

Young Men, you must see these suits and Overcoats to appreciate their value.

Children's Norfolk Knickerbocker Suits well made and Durable $2.75, $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00.

Mothers you must see these to realize the bargains I am offering. A complete line of Corderoy and Duck Coats and Pants, the clothing out door workers need when disagreeable weather comes ou insures health and comfort.

Selmar Wachs
Successor to
Rolfes & Wachs,
NO. 1 Pike Street, Near Madison Ave.,
COVINGTON, KY.

Do Your Dollars Fly up the Flue?

Coal costs money. You know it. The winter's coal costs BIG money. You know that also. Yet, half of it is wasted by poor management. Oh, yes it is! Listen and be convinced.

Ordinary soft coal is half gas. An average ton of $3.00 coal contains about 14,000 cubic feet of gas—common illuminating gas. A gas which will, if properly mixed with air, burn with an intensely hot blue flame. This gas represents the best half of your ton of coal.

This unburned gas and a large portion of the heat IS CARRIED UP THE CHIMNEY by the air leaking cracks in stoves of ORDINARY construction.

There is only one way to save this wasted gas and heat and that is with a

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater

which is so constructed that it has no air leaking cracks. In this wonderful heater and fuel-saver the gas is kept under perfect control until oxidized and burned.

It is the only stove that is made tight—holds tight—stays tight.

It is the only stove that saves the wasted chimney heat.

It's the only stove that gives you a constant, steady heat with soft coal, hard coal or lignite.

It will give you all the heat that is in your coal.

It will hold your fire 36 hours without attention.

It will burn all kinds of fuel.

It is guaranteed to consume one-third less fuel than any lower draft stove of the same size, using soft coal, lignite or slack.

AND—It is sold you under a guarantee to fill all these claims.

Back of this guarantee is the credit and capital of an immense factory and it is worth to you 100 cents on the dollar.

COME IN AND SEE IT. IT MEANS DOLLARS IN YOUR POCKET AND A PLEASED CUSTOMER FOR US.

LOUIS MARX & BRO

516-522 Madison Avenue, Covington, Ky

840 Monmouth Street, Newport, Ky

HOT BLAST STOVES & RANGES

111

See the name "Cole's" on the feed door of each stove. None genuine without it

RELIC OF PONCE DE LEON

Illinois Man Has Recently Added It to His Already Extremely Valuable Collection.

A collection of relics, not related in any way, but each object of which is particularly interesting in itself, is that of Mr. Michael Robinson of Shawneetown, Ill., to whose treasures was recently added a piece of the coffin in which Ponce de Leon was buried in the old cathedral at San Juan, Porto Rico.

When the leaden casket of the explorer was examined before it was transferred from the old cathedral to the new one it was found to be in a very poor condition. So insecure did it appear that it was decided a new casket should be provided. The old one was then discarded and cut into pieces, which were given to persons of prominence who attended the cathedral ceremonies. Cardinal Farley, who was in charge of the celebration, gave one of these pieces to Capt. O. P. Townsend, who commanded the guard of honor for the body, and Captain Townsend gave the relic to Mr. Robinson to add to his already interesting collection.

From eons and eons farther back in the history of this continent comes another relic which Mr. Robinson treasures, a block of sandstone bearing the clear imprint of the human foot. It was taken from "The Rocks," a short distance from Shawneetown, but over the border line in Kentucky. It is believed in the neighborhood that the imprint is that of prehistoric man.

A third era of the continent's history, that which brings the collection down to the modern world, is represented by an old silk Revolutionary flag.—New York Herald.

EVERY MAN NEEDS A HOBBY

One of the Most Essential of the Things That Contribute to Happiness of Life.

If a man wants a hobby he has to go out and hustle for one. Woman finds one in her lap whenever she needs one. Her house, her children, her bridge and her club work are for her natural hobbies. She takes them as a matter of course.

But if a man feels the need of relaxation and a hobby, it requires a long process of selection, preparation, diplomacy and cunning before he is permitted to bring one into the house. And he usually has to go round to the back door to get in. But once in he generally manages to hold on to it. For a time it is as much of a household nuisance as the man who stays home during his vacation, getting in the way of his female flock—the nurse, the cook and the dressmakers—every time he leaves his own room. But it is usually to reduce the feeling of forlornness and uselessness which follows such experiences that he seeks refuge in a hobby. There are many other incentives. It is sometimes interesting to note how often it occurs that within the soul of the hard-fisted business man, the financier with the concrete exterior, there lurks something of the artistic which clamors for original expression.

Whenever we see a man in the enjoyment of a hobby, we invariably see a striking contrast between this hobby and the man's fixed vocation. It is in contrasts that man finds relaxation.

Emigrant's Romance.

How a photograph led to a romance was made known at Liverpool just before the departure for Australia of the White Star liner Irishman, which carries no fewer than five brides-elect going out to join their fiances.

One of these five has never seen her future husband, and has nothing but a photograph to tell her what he looks like. The bride-elect said that a friend of hers went to Australia three years ago as a domestic servant and married later a sheep farmer. The young wife displayed upon the mantelpiece a photograph of a chum of the sheep farmer. Photographs were exchanged and a correspondence was begun, with the result that the girl has sailed to marry the lover she has never seen.

World's Turquoise.

Ninety-nine per cent. of the world's turquoise comes from the mines of Nishapur, in Khorassan, the Persian city, by the way, in which Omar Khayyam was born and is buried.

The mines are situated in a range of hills consisting entirely of porphyries, greenstone, limestone, and sandstone. The turquoise is found in veins in the rocks. This ridge of hills runs to a height of 6,655 feet; the highest point at which turquoise has been found is 5,800 feet above sea level; the lowest point, 4,800 feet.

One mine is entered through a natural cave running out on to the side of the mountain, and is worked by means of rough shafts and levels.

"In a Scrape."

The expression, "to get into a scrape," referred at one time to any one who fell into a deep rut in the forest. When the deer run wild in the forest they frequently cut deep gullies among the trees, due to their constantly running backward and forward over the same ground. The cuts so made in the forest were known as deer scrapes, and it sometimes happened that a woodman fell into them, sometimes to his great danger, for they were frequently quite deep. Hence the phrase "to get into a scrape" originally meant to fall into a deer scrape.

Horses require salt.

Segregate all sick fowls.

Don't sow alfalfa on weedy soil.

Cover the strawberry plants.

Keep the sheep in out of every storm.

Protect cows from sudden changes in weather.

Keep charcoal always where the hogs can get it.

Ventilate the root cellar every morning during the early fall.

A little tankage and oil meal makes excellent feed for young pigs.

Experts claim that western sheep can be raised at a profit of $1.81 the head.

The cow's milk-making machinery is run most economically near its full capacity.

Well-drained yards and pens will help to keep the hogs more thrifty and profitable.

A good coating of harnyard manure well disked in is an excellent treatment for an old pasture.

Every farmer should use home-grown lambs on his own table, for variety and health.

It's an up-to-date dairyman that gets 16 cents a quart for milk that is almost free from bacteria.

Don't give your horses patent medicine that you know nothing about, especially colic remedies.

Clean up your strawberry bed. If it showed any sign of black rot, plow under and plant elsewhere.

The well-hanked root-cellar pays large dividends on the extra protection afforded its contents.

Keep a good cat or two around the poultry plant, as it will save you lots of trouble with mice and rats.

The aging ewes should be given extra feed and fattened, unless they are extra breeders and mothers.

If your flock is properly managed and cared for there will be little or no use for medicines and tonics.

Study your birds closely and learn their habits. The better you know them the better success you will have.

Modern cold storage is doing much good this fall, in helping the fruit growers market their perishable products.

Deep kernels give a high shelling percentage, but tend toward late maturity. Medium depth kernels are best.

A saving of about ten per cent. may be made by grinding the grain for farm work horses when at hard labor.

Plenty of exercise increases the egg yield. Provide four or five inches of good clean litter in which to scatter the grain.

It does not require any great ability at figures to show that there is a great waste in selling hogs when they are half fed.

Of the serious parasitic diseases affecting sheep, stomach worms probably cause the heaviest losses to sheep raisers.

Fill coarse sacks with very dry chaff and hury them in those bins of damp grain. They will absorb a great deal of the moisture.

Many people feed too much new corn to the hogs. New corn should be fed sparingly at first, then gradually increase the amount.

Watch that the ducks have suitable attention and regular feed. A few well cared for pay better than too many that are slighted.

In cool weather ten to thirteen chicks are sufficient for one hen, while in warmer weather fifteen to twenty can be cared for successfully.

Canned vegetables are not to be much higher on account of the dry weather because the vegetable belt did not suffer like the corn belt.

One acre of alfalfa will furnish more forage for hogs than two acres of clover, as it grows faster and keeps on growing as fast as the hogs eat it down.

Cows must have salt.

Use a covered milk pail.

Have a purpose in breeding.

Deep fall plowing is essential.

The silage feeding season for hens is on.

Neatness of package is important in selling butter.

Store only sound fruit and vegetables in the cellar.

The nutritive value and digestibility of mutton rank quite high.

A cow's contentment is below par when her ration is unpalatable.

To show results at the milk pail, the dairy cow must be a hearty eater.

There is something the matter with a squealing pig. Find out what it is.

Much farm machinery wears out more through exposure than through use.

Butter that has been properly made will not stick to the knife blade when it is cut.

Undertaking too must at the start is a frequent cause of failure in fruit growing.

Remember that straw or cornstalks about fruit trees harbor mice and lead to girdling.

Don't fail to store a liberal amount of soil for use in starting early vegetable plants.

The best plan of fruit pruning is that which does not permit a useless branch to grow.

For market purposes the Pekin duck is best. For eggs the Indian Runner takes the lead.

Milk scales and the tester will be a certain standard by which the cows may be measured.

Poultry should be kept off feed twenty-four hours before killing and dressed for market.

Handle the young hoar carefully. Teach him to obey the word, and to walk ahead of you.

First-class fruit in first-class shape will probably develop an inquiry for more of the same kind.

The farmer who is most insterested in his work is the one who usually accomplishes the most.

Work or exercise the stallion daily, and your next season's colt crop will be much more satisfactory.

One big advantage of the hog raising industry is that the hogs give quick and profitable returns.

Corn seldom ripens uniformly. Early selection of seed corn insures early maturity in succeeding crops.

Milk cows quickly and thoroughly. The strippings are at least three times as rich as the first flow of milk.

It is not alone the quantity of milk a cow may give that makes her profitable, but it is the quality as well.

The supply of onions is greater than the demand, due to the large number raised along the gulf coast of Texas.

Start the brooder a day or two before putting in the chicks, to see that the heating apparatus is working properly.

Of 14,208,724 sheep inspected for food purposes in 1912, only 15,402 were condemned, about one-tenth of one per cent.

When pigs should he weaned should be determined as much as how they are eating and growing as upon their age.

Don't crowd the chicks. Give them room to exercise and grow in. See that they are kept comfortable and well fed.

The fact that there is variation in both plants and animals gives breeders ample opportunities for improving the type.

A few bad eggs in a case is sufficient to give the whole lot a bad name. Be careful that every egg is strictly fresh.

Store seed corn where it will dry out quickly. Do not leave it even over night, in sacks, as it is likely to heat and be injured.

All kinds of live stock do better when they can get green feed the year round, and the only way to to secure this is by the use of the silo.

Don't sacrifice an old sow that is a regular breeder, even if the price of pork is high. She is the kind that makes the pig business certain.

The old sows are going to he moved out of the country. That means that more than the usual number of brood sows next spring will be young ones.

It is poor economy to feed spoiled food to the poultry. They may contract disease or become poisoned. Burn all decomposed food stuff at once.

DEVIL DANCERS OF CEYLON

They Are Called Into Requisition for Curing All Kinds of Sickness.

Despite the advance of medical knowledge throughout India, says a writer in the Octoher Wide World Magazine, devil dancers are still called into requisition in many parts of Ceylon for curing all kinds of sickness. When a native is taken ill his relatives first apply medical treatment. If, after some days, this appears to he ineffective, it is concluded that the sickness is one incapable of cure in this manner, hut is caused by some inimical influence, and must therefore be due to either a glance of the evil eye, the action of a demon, or some evil planetary action. The soothsayer is then sent for, and this worthy, after examining the patient, names the demon or spirit responsible for the malady. An offering is then made to the demon in the form of food, a coin, or a piece of cloth. Then follows the professional dance, carried out by the devil dancers. Two men clad in gorgeous garments and wearing strange headdresses and masks go through a number of grotesque and extraordinary evolutions to the heating of the tom-toms, making weird noises the while. This is kept up for hours, sometimes all night, and is always performed within sight of the sick person. In the complete ceremonies of the demon called Samhi Yaka, who causes convulsions, severe toothache, headache, etc., no fewer than 32 different masks are worn in turn hy the dancers. Curiously enough, observers state that these strange ceremonies usually have a favorable effect upon the patient's illness.

HIS LIFE ONE OF HARDSHIP

Cuban Farmer's Lot May Be Said to Be Almost Hopeless at the Present Time.

The Cuhan farmer works more and harder than any other countryman of the world. He makes of himself a beast of burden, and becomes bent under the weight of his toil. He is absolutely destitute of any preparation for his lifework.

He does not know how to read or write or count; he has no notion of anything, nor does he hear anything talked of; the nation preserves him in the crude. He doesn't read because he doesn't know how, for in this country there is nothing about agriculture of the least utility or profit published—in fact, there is no agricultural matter published at all. If an agricultural experiment station is estahlished, it promptly becomes a purely bureaucratic center, absolutely useless, though absorhing an enormous amount of money without publishing a page.

The government announces branch experiment stations, but the public knows in advance that they will he centers, founded solely to furnish jobs for political friends and henchmen, in which no one will be found to know anything about anything, and where nohody will try to teach any one anything, and whither nobody will take the trouble to go in hope of learning anything.

Pride of the Nation.

S. S. Shubert, the theatrical manager, was praising in a Broadway restaurant the American chorus girl.

'She is not only prettier," said Mr. Shubert, "than her English or French or Italian sister, but she is also brighter, gayer, wittier. It's a pleasure to hear her talk.

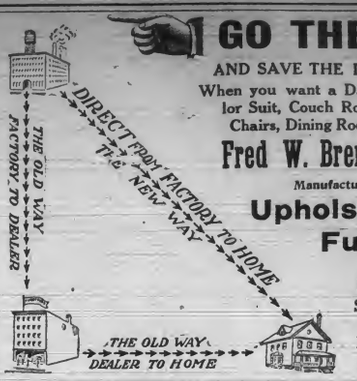
"Two chorus girls were lunching near me at Shery's the other day. Their skirts were slashed and they wore those smart, new-fangled shoes that fasten with ribhon—narrow ribhon running in criss-cross up their long, slim, silken ankles.

"'I've got no use for your rah-rah college boys,' said the first chorus girl, swinging her shapely foot in and out of her slashed skirt. 'He reminds me of a china doll.'

"'Why?' asked the other girl. 'Because he's so pink and pretty?'

"'No,' said the first chorus girl. 'Because he gets broke so soon.'"

Weird Story of Glasgow Ship.



A remarkable story of the sea has just come to light. It is stated that the survivors of a vessel wrecked off Cape Horn found the wrecked Glasgow ship Marlhorough in a cove, with twenty skeletons near by.

The Marlborough left Lyttelton, New Zealand, in January, 1890, for London, and was not heard of again. It was supposed that she sank in a collision with an iceberg. Her captain was W. Aird.

Lloyd's Register shows that the Marlborough was an iron two-deck sailing vessel that has been missing from her port, Glasgow, since January, 1890. The owners are Messrs. J. Leslie & Co., Glasgow. She was built in 1876 by Messrs. R. Duncan & Co., and was placed in the special survey class of Lloyd's Register. She was 228 feet long, 35 feet wide, and 21 feet deep.

"Made in England."

Orders are frequently sent to British and French label makers for labels bearing fancy descriptions, constituting a false description of origin, for the South American trade. These makers are requested to execute orders for labels bearing such indications as Smith, Regent street; Brown, Piccadilly; Gabrielle or Suzanne, Rue de la Paix. Paris, when there is every reason to believe that the goods to which the labels are destined are neither English in the one case nor French in the other.

GO THERE

AND SAVE THE DIFFERENCE

When you want a Davenport, Parlor Suit, Couch Rocker, Morris Chairs, Dining Room Chairs.

Fred W. Bremenkamp

Manufacturer of

Upholstered Furniture

Factory and Sample Room

157 PIKE STREET,

COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

We Also Do Repairing and Refinishing.

IF YOU WANT A GOOD

AUTOMOBILE

—CALL ON—

B. B. HUME, Burlington.

FOR 1913 MODEL FORD

5 Passenger Car, $570. 2 Passenger Car, $520

These prices are for fall delivery complete and delivered at your door. If desired a man will be furnished without charge to teach you how to operate your car.

—ALSO AGENT FOR THE—

Oakland, Roadster, $1,150 Touring Car, $1,200 Fully Equipped

SCOTT CHAMBERS,

WALTON, KY.

Embalmer & Funeral Director,

LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.

First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.

Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.

Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

Believe Me.

By trading at Thomann's you can save the Middleman's profit on Harness, Trunks and Blankets.

Wm. Thomann,

56 Pike Street,

Covington, Ky.

WALTON GARAGE

C. S. Vallandingham, Prop.

Walton, Ky.

Repairing and Vulcanizing a Specialty.

Repairs and Fixtures.

Telephone Calls Given Prompt Attention.

NOTICE.

Persons indebted to the estate of Noah Clore, deceased, are notified to come forward and settle, and those having claims against same must present the same to the undersigned proven as by law required.

Mrs. Mollie Clore,
Mrs. Effie Nichols.

Milk Squirts.

The calf stall should be plentifully supplied with good, clean, dry bedding.

—•—

No dairyman should forget that his barn is a place where human food is produced.

—•—

Manure is one of the by-products of the dairy farmer and it represents a decided profit.

—•—

Observe with care and note as a first point that a cow should have a large and ample-sized body.

—•—

A brush or old whiskbroom is handy to brush off loose hair and dirt from the udder before milking.

—•—

What the dairy industry needs most is an improved breed of dairymen instead of a new breed of cows.

—•—

The choice pure bred calf would be a splendid and most appropriate gift for either the boy or the girl.

—•—

The 150-pound cow will hate to see Willie go to the short course for fear he will learn how to test her.

"Cured"

Mrs. Jay McGee, of Stephenville, Texas, writes: "For nine (9) years, I suffered with womanly trouble. I had terrible headaches, and pains in my back, etc. It seemed as if I would die, I suffered so. At last, I decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and it helped me right away. The full treatment not only helped me, but it cured me."

TAKE

Cardui

The Woman's Tonic

Cardui helps women in time of greatest need, because it contains ingredients which act specifically, yet gently, on the weakened womanly organs. So, if you feel discouraged, blue, out-of-sorts, unable to do your household work, on account of your condition, stop worrying and give Cardui a trial. It has helped thousands of women,—why not you? Try Cardui. E-71

WALTON.

Dr. A. N. Jones was sick a couple of days last week.

A. W. Smith spent last Friday in Cincinnati the guest of friends.

H. C. Diers spent the first of the week in Cincinnati on business.

Rev. H. C. Wayman spent part of the week in Louisville on business.

Judge and Mrs. J. G. Tomlin spent Monday in the city and at Ce—.

Mrs. Geo. Richey, of Latonia, spent the first of the week here with friends.

Hugh Vest and Claud Hume, of Verona, were here on business last Thursday.

B. C. Bedinger, of Cincinnati, spent Saturday here with friends and on business.

Mrs. Geo. Rice and daughter Miss Bessie, of Covington, were visitors here last Tuesday.

O. K. Whitson, the popular cashier of the bank at Verona, was a visitor here Tuesday.

Lost—Gold neck chain with heart locket. Return to Equitable Bank and receive reward.

Miss Isabel Dickey, of Union, spent Saturday and Sunday here with her sister, Mrs. J. G. Tomlin.

Miss Anna Cleek, of Beaver Lick, spent Sunday here the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cram.

Henry C. Diers has opened a general feed sttore in the property lately vacated by Wood Miller.

E. V. Holder returned home here last week from Chicago to spend a couple of weeks with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson, of Covington, spent the past week here with friends and relatives.

Miss Elizabeth Bracht, of Williamstown, spent the past week here with her sister Mrs. E. H. Boutwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dudgeon, of Verona, visited their son Tilden Dudgeon and family here Friday and Saturday.

Lost—Buckskin glove for left hand, at A. R. Johnson's sale, on Nov. 12th. Return to Equitable Bank, Walton, Ky.

Mrs. Matt Stephens, of Covington, spent last Saturday and Sunday here the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cram.

Miss Pattie Callahan, a charming little lady of Verona, spent part of the week here the guest of Miss Mattie Hudson.

Miss Blanche Kennedy, one of the popular young ladies of Verona, spent several days here last week with friends.

WANTED—Two Polled Durham Bulls, red or roan, yearling or long yearling. Immediate delivery. Neumeister Bros., Walton, Ky.

John Ingram, who is employed in the life insurance business in Cincinnati, spent Saturday and Sunday here with home folks.

Walton Lodge F. and A. M. at a special meeting Friday night conferred the Entered Apprentice degree upon Geo. P. Nicholson.

Mrs. Katherine Bailey, of Independence, and Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Ryan, of Covington, were visitors to friends here last Thursday.

Russell McKeam, of Cincinnati, is spending a couple of weeks with his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Chambers, enjoying a hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude E. Ford and little son of Cincinnati, spent a part of the past week here with his mother Mrs. Mollie Ford.

Dr. and Mrs. Chas. C. Jones, of Cincinnati, spent from Saturday until Monday here with his mother, Mrs. J. E. Bristow and other relatives.

Wallace Garrison, who had his foot badly mashed several weeks ago by a wagon running over it is rapidly improving and will soon be able to be out.

W. Lee Gaines purchased a fine registered Berkshire male hog last week from the J. B. Haggin farm near Lexington, for which he paid a fancy price.

Ulie and Dilver Scudder, two very clever young gentlemen of Warsaw, were here Tuesday with an idea of purchasing the pool room of R. D. Stamler.

Chas. Ransler and Clifford Mayhugh who have been doing clerical work for the Burley Tobacco Society at Lexington, returned home here last Friday.

J. J. Hudson returned last Thursday from Broken Arrow, Oklahoma, where he had been visiting his two sons the past two weeks. Both are well and prospering.

Roy H. Cram who recently came home from Alton, Ill., left Tuesday for Asbestos, Quebec, Canada, where he has a position as civil engineer with a large corporation.

John C. Bedinger spent Monday in the city, and traded his house and lot in North Fairmount, O., for a house and lot in Newport, belonging to Frank Crowe, of Cincinnati.

Frank B. Hamilton, of Verona, spent Saturday here with friends. He had just returned from a visit to Chicago where he has been the guest of his brother Dr. H. W. Hamilton.

E. H. Boutwell, of this place, who has been filling a position as telegrapher at Leesburg, O., arrived here Monday on a short visit to his family, expecting to return to Ohio.

A. M. Edwards, real estate agent sold to Eli Conrad last Saturday, a tract of land containing 36½ acres near Walton, belonging to Dr. Harvey Roberts, of Lexington, for $3,250.

Mrs. Nannie Hemingway, of Gallatin county, was here Monday on business. She is engaged in nursing Mrs. Jas. McCubbin, who is seriously ill with typhoid fever at her home near Walton.

The third number of the Lyceum entertainments at the Baptist church was rendered last Saturday night by the Morrow Brothers musical quartet. The next entertainment will be Tuesday, Dec. 2d. by The Danish Musical Club.

The students of the Walton High school gave an elegant entertainment at the school building last Friday night. Nice refreshments of ice cream, cake, etc., were served and a delightful evening was spent by all who attended.

Ricketts A. R. Johnson, deputy county clerk, issued 17 hunter's license last Friday to the Walton nimrods on the eve of the opening of the hunting season—Nov. 15th. The license outnumbered the game per individual 'tis stated.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Williams, and young sons, Howard and John Lewis, were visitors here last week. Mr. Williams has just completed the erection of one of the largest barns in Boone county, being 56x120 with all modern improvements.

Rev. T. C. Stackhouse of Lexington, and Rev. Mathews, of Georgetown, were visitors here Saturday, both being Baptist ministers, Rev. Stackhouse going to Warsaw to hold services and Rev. Mathews to Dallasburg, Owen Co. for the same purpose.

Work on the new Baptist church building is rapidly progressing and the building is assuming the proportions of a very handsome edifice. The weather conditions have retarded Contractor Nicholson somewhat but he is doing his utmost to push it to completion as rapidly as possible.

Real Estate Agent George B. Powers, sold for Herman Arnold, of Covington, a lot on Main St., in Walton, with a frontage of ninety feet to Robert W. Jones for $1,1000, the highest priced lot ever sold in the town. Mr. Jones sold a part of the lot to E. P. Northcutt and a part to Dr. A. N. Jones.

John L. Vest celebrated his 38th birthday anniversary last Thursday night. His good wife had prepared an elegant six o'clock dinner and a few friends were invited to participate in the many good things to eat. After a very pleasant evening spent with Mr. and Mrs. Vest the guests left wishing Mr. Vest many more such pleasant birthdays.

The A. R. Johnson public sale at his farm on the Beaver Lick road last Thursday was well attended and everything brought good prices. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will soon move the rest of their household effects here they having rented the brick house owned by the Christian church. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are a welcome addition to Walton.

The high schools of Union, Verona and Walton were represented in a spelling contest at Walton last Saturday, wherein each school was represented by a team of five pupils. The contest was held in the high school building, and there was a large attendance, and much interest manifested. The Walton team misspelled twenty-two words. The three teams did well, pleasing the audience with many surprises, for the words, although in every day use, were also very hard for boys and girls. On Friday, Nov. 21st, the high schools at Walton, Burlington and Florence will engage in a contest for the county banner. Prof. J. L. Chambers of the Walton school wishes publicly to congratulate the students of the Walton High school for their interest and efforts. His motto is: The pupils, not the teachers, make the school.

While Kirb Tanner was at work in his barn, last Friday, a timber on which he was standing broke throwing him to the ground a distance of about ten feet. Fortunately, no bones were broken, but one of his lips was badly bruised.

Alonzo and J. H. Graves, of Erlanger, were callers at this office yesterday. The former was 75 years old yesterday, but looks not a day over 60.

Game Wardens C. W. Scales, of Covington, and A. C. Scott, of Eminence, are in the county looking after the violators of the State Game law. They are securing evidence against quite a number of violators.

Union Creamery Company

UNION, KENTUCKY

Pays the highest possible price for Butter Fat in wholc milk and hand separated cream. Honest tests and weights guaranteed.

A. L. Mallett, :: Manager.

Phone, Consolidated No. 40.

Luncheon

AT

Neat Little Place

For Farmer, Workman, Merchant, Clerk and Professional Man.

R. J. DIBOWSKI'S CAFE

No. 6 Pike Street, - - Covington, Kentucky.

Commercial Plate Luncheon from 11 a. m. to 1:30 p. m.

The Egg Problem.

Our neighbors across the Ohio, the Indianians, are making a commendable effort to draw the line between the so-called fresh egg of commerce and the cold storage egg, which may be edible, as that is a matter of taste, which may not be poisonous, as that is a matter of chemistry but which is not, as a matter of fact, fresh.

The Indiana State Food and Drug Commissioner has sent to dealers circulars ordering them to placard cold storage eggs plainly, and not to send such eggs to a consumer in any receptacle not plainly labeled "Cold Storage."

Millions of eggs laid in June and July are put upon the market in December and January as "strictly fresh eggs." Probably nearly all of the "bad" ones were "bad" when they were purchased from the "honest farmer." Eggs decay very quickly in warm weather, and the average farmer is not overscrupulous about getting eggs to the market while they are strictly fresh. In the cold storage eggs will keep for a long time. Their quality deteriorates, but they may be kept for months without becoming "bad." Those which were fresh when sorted may be eaten and are serviceable for cake making and sundry other purposes, but they are by no means fresh, and to sell them under misleading labels or by making misleading statements is fraud. When the price is around a half dollar a dozen it is outrageous fraud.

Getting fresh eggs has become a matter of getting in touch with a reliable farmer or with a poultryman who has a reputation to sustain who is afraid to buy questionable eggs from farmers and sell them as his own product. New-laid eggs in winter will always be high priced food. Hens do not lay regularly in winter unless they are expensively fed and attended. Eggs in commercial quantities between autumn and spring in this climate are almost wholly a forced product, like hot house plants, and when they are not new laid. The difference between the so-called fresh egg of commerce and the new-laid egg may be six months or more. The difference in flavor is marked, and the difference in price should be. Persons who are willing to buy new-laid eggs at fancy prices rightly resent having cold storage or "hoarded" eggs from farms palmed off upon them at the price of new-laid eggs. Such purchasers are entitled to the protecion of the law.—C.-J.

MISCELLANEOUS FOR SALE.

For Sale—500 or 600 brick. Apply to Harvey McGlasson, Hebron Ky.

For Sale—20 or 25 Thinrind gilts—pick at 10 cents a pound. Apply to Ezra Aylor, Grant, Ky., R. D.

For Sale—Two fresh Jersey cows with calves by their sides. Apply to Wm. Stephens, near Petersburg.

For Sale or Rent—50 acres, three miles west of Verona. Will sell on easy terms or rent on shares. Address Edward Lawler, Milford, Ohio.

WANTED—A good, steady, farm hand by the month or year to begin work at once or soon as possible. Good house and good wages guaranteed to right party. Apply to or address J. W. EWBANKS, Brashear, Ky.

For Sale—Six extra fine Rhode Island Red cockerels, also three very fine yearlings. These birds are extra good in shape, size and color, and are from a new Illinois strain. Also three large, white Mammoth Pekin Drakes. These drakes are young ones and they are extra good. Will close these birds out at $1.00 each. Apply to Mrs. Ernest Hartman, Florence, Ky., Star Route 2.

Robt. Aylor, of Hebron neighborhood, was a business visitor to Burlington, yesterday.

DINE'S

Special Reductions On All Dining Room Suites For Thanksgiving

DINE"S FURNITURE has always been known to give everlasting service and, add to this, the big reductions which are now being offered gives you a splendid outfit at an extremely low price.

CAN YOU BEAT THESE VALUES?

BUFFET.	TABLES.	CHINA CLOSETS.
$75.00 Buffet.....$65.00	$60.00 Tables.....$52.00	$50.00 China Closets.$43.00
$60.00 Buffet.....$42.00	$45.00 Tables.....$37.50	$40.00 China Closets.$34.00
$35.00 Buffet.....$28.00	$30.00 Tables.....$25.00	$25.00 China Closets.$19.50
$25.00 Buffet.....$18.50	$20.00 Tables.....$16.50	$18.00 China Closets.$14.00
	$15.00 Tables.....$11.50

These Pieces Can be Furnished in Any Wood or Finish.

Try Our VACUUM CLEANER

On your carpets, and if it does not remove every particle of dirt and improve your carpets, you may return it. The price of this new improved VACUUM CLEANER is---

$6.00 It is Positively Worth $10.00

A HANDSOME BRASS BED FREE

With Every Purchase Amounting to $125 or More.

This is an unsual inducement for those who intend to go housekeeping

518-520 York Street, Newport, Ky.

DINE'S

"QUALITY FURNITURE"

530-532 Madison Av. Covington, Ky

1123-25 Main St. Cincinnati.

Look, Read and Consider.

Why go to Covington or Cincinnati to buy your Boots and Shoes when you can get them cheaper and better at home. Go to

Casper Lehmann

Who carries a full stock of Men's heavy working shoes 14, 16 and 18 inches high (water-proof), guaranteed all solid leather, full vamp.

I have a full stock of Men's fine shoes in button or lace, tan or black, also a full stock of Infant's, Children's, Misses' and Women's shoes in gun metal, tan, kid and patent leather, button or lace.

I also have a full stock of No. 1 Ball Brand Rubber Boots and Artics, also Misses' and Women's Rubbers and Artics.

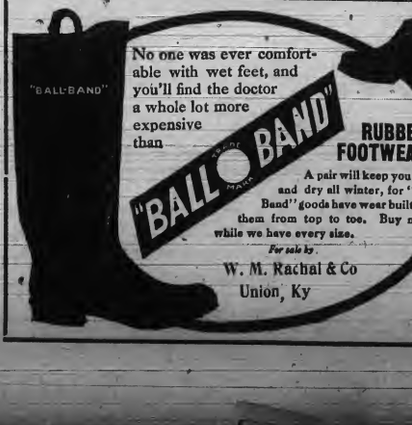
I also carry a high-grade of Ladies' flexible soles for tender feet; the Ladies', Children's and Misses high cut Shoes in gun metal or patent leather at reasonable prices; also a few odd sizes in Gents' and Ladies' shoes at cost price.

I have a full stock of Youths' and Boys' high cut shoes in tan or black, also a full and complete stock of shoes too numerous to mention.

CUSTOM WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Casper Lehmann,

DEALER IN Boots and Shoes



P. O. Address, Box 215 ERLANGER, KY

Elsmere, Kentucky.

Posted Against Hunters.

The undersigned hereby give notice that their land is posted against trespassing of all kinds and especially by hunting with dogs or guns and trapping thereon:

B. C. Graddy, Bullittsville.
J. S. Eggleston, Francesville.
Mary V. Gaines, Bullittsville.
Harry Walton, Petersburg.
A. L. Nichols, Burlington.
C. T. Northcutt, Belleview.
Everett Souther, Pt. Pleasant.
Julia S. Dinsmore, Belleview.
Mrs. I. T. McNaughton, Muncie, Indiana.
C. O. Hempfling, Taylorsport.
Jasper Sullivan, Waterloo.
W. L. B. Rouse, Limaburg.
Edward Farrell, Limaburg.
T. F. Grant, Bullittsville.
Geo. C. Barlow, Florence.
John Clore, Hebron.
John W. Ryle, Burlington.
Mrs. Mary Ryan, Beaver.

No one was ever comfortable with wet feet, and you'll find the doctor a whole lot more expensive than

RUBBER FOOTWEAR

A pair will keep you warm and dry all winter, for "Ball-Band" goods have wear built into them from top to toe. Buy now while we have every size.

For sale by

W. M. Rachal & Co
Union, Ky

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXXVIIII. Established 1875. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1913. $1.50 Per Year. NO. 9.

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

NORTH BEND.

Glad to report the Ohio river falling.

Russell Finn visited friends in this neighborhood last Saturday night.

Mrs. Jas. Worrford entertained several of her friends at dinner, Sunday.

Chas. Seaman, Jr., made a business trip to Cincinnati, one day last week.

Miss Stella Brown was the guest of her mother in Francesville, last Wednesday.

Morgan Wamsley and Thomas Baisly were transacting business here Sunday.

Mrs. Ora Ogden and son, visited friends at Muncie, Ind., several days last week.

Several of this neighborhood went hunting last Saturday night. They caught two fine skunks and one 'possum.

Mrs. Chas. Utzinger and daughter, Erma, spent several days last week with her sister, Mrs. Minnie Helms, of Homestead.

PETERSBURG.

Miss Lulu Edwards went to Cincinnati, Friday evening.

Mrs. E. McWethy was at Burlington one day last week.

Mrs. H. E. Arnold spent Friday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Weindel.

Mrs. J. M. Grant and Mrs. Elihu Alden visited Mrs. Kirtley in Lawrenceburg, Friday.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the M. E. church will close their annual week of prayer—by giving a special service on Thanksgiving night at 7 o'clock at the church. Rev. J. B. Nelson will preach a Thanksgiving sermon and special music will be a feature. Everyone invited.

Last Saturday night the Petersburg school gave an oyster supper in Stott's Hall, the object being to fresco the walls of the school building. The hall was very prettily decorated in the school colors. The attendance was very large and the supper was a perfect success financially as well as socially. They wish to thank the patrons of the school for assisting them.

DEVON

Mrs. Harvey Utz who was sick last week, is out again.

Mrs. J. M. Riley is suffering from a sprained ankle.

Mrs. Ambrose Easton was the guest of Mrs. Wm. Cody, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Ben Ratterman, of Crescent Springs, was the guest of Benj. Eristow, Sunday.

Miss Maud Groger visited her brother, Ralph, in Erlanger from Saturday until Monday.

Mrs. Effie Hogriffe, of near Independence, was the guest of Mrs. Harvey Utz, Saturday.

Mrs. Chas. Williams and daughter, Miss Marguerite, of Bank Lick, were guests of Mrs. B. F. Bristow, Saturday.

Will Brown, who was in the lumber business in Alabama, several months, has returned to Ludlow, his former home.

Mrs. Will Woodward and son Robt. are with Mrs. Walzer, of Cincinnati. Robert is under treatment of Dr. Simpson, of that city.

Mr. Seymore Riley, of near Scotts, was calling on friends in this neighborhood Wednesday. We are glad to welcome Seymore out after a severe case of typhoid fever.

IDLEWILD.

Mrs. Nathan Walton entertained a very pleasant family party at dinner Sunday.

Mr. Mat Graves' sale was well attended and everything sold at a very fair price.

Mrs. Sallie Ryan, of Mason county, and R. N. Jones, of Walton, were recent guests of Mrs. J. S. Asbury.

C. E. Clore, of Hebron, bought a great many turkeys in this neighborhood for the Thanksgiving market.

Last Monday L. C. Scothorn took a truck load of sheep and a large two horse wagon load of rabbits to Cincinnati.

Masters Matson and John Rachal, Miss Norma Winter Rachal and Colonel Pat Norman, of Union, spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mrs. Ben S. Houston.

Quite a party went from Idlewild to Burlington, Friday night, to hear Dr. J. W. Porter, of Lexington, lecture. They spoke most enthusiastically of his ability as an entertainer.

The Ladies Aid Society of Burlittsburg church held an all day meeting, Wednesday at the manse. About twenty ladies were present and a very pleasant and profitable day was spent.

Miss Marie Campbell and Mr. Wallace Rice were members of the Burlington team that won such high honors in the spelling contest at Florence Friday, winning the much coveted banner that Florence has been flaunting so gayly for a year.

GRANT R. D. 1.

Walter Ryle is able to be out again.

Scott Kelly is here on a visit to his brother, Curtis.

The falling river is leaving the landing awfully muddy.

Joseph Maurer made a shipment of baskets to Louisville, Sunday.

Several of our citizens attended the corn show at Burlington, Saturday.

Mrs. Leomer Louden, who has been seriously sick, is improving slowly.

C. G. Riddell is suffering severely from an attack of rheumatism.

M. B. Rice is assisting G. S. Walrath during the rush of corn wagons.

Andy Cook and family, of Burlington were guests of relatives here Sunday.

B. Walton shipped a nice bunch of Chester hogs to the city, Sunday evening.

S. B. Ryle and family, of Rabbit Hash, were guests at Blufe Clore's, Sunday.

Henry Klein and wife, of Cincinnati, were Sunday guests at Pepper Smith's.

Some of those who have killed hogs are in danger of losing their meat, owing to the warm weather.

Pete Hager says he gathered several acres of corn this year that made 100 bushels to the acre.

Sixteen pounds of butter in one package passed thru the postoffice here one day the past week.

W. G. Kite had the old shingle roof on his store replaced by a new gavanized roof, during the fine weather last week.

Joseph Hawkins and sister, Miss Addie, of Frankfort, are visiting their many relatives and friends in Rabbit Hash neighborhood.

A jolly crowd of Newport citizens were hunting in Rabbit Hash and vicinity last week. They came down on a gasoline houseboat.

The women of lower East Bend are surely industrious as besides their household duties they find time to help their husbands husk their corn.

Henry Clore bought 115 bushels of corn from Cincinnati parties, which was delivered here by auto truck Tuesday at 73 cents per bushel.

The bottom dropped out of the rabbit market last week and several of the local buyers lost a neat little sum as they had bought quite a number at 10 and 15 cents each and sold for seventy-five cents per dozen.

The backwater from the river was about three feet in the road on Rt. D. 1, but the carrier succeeded in getting thru by putting his mail upon the seat of his vehicle. There was only two trips when this condition prevailed.

Last Saturday morning Pint Ryle and John Staley, of McVille, started hunting. John carrying the gun which was a 22 rifle, and when getting thru a fence near town the gun was accidentally discharged, the bullet entering Pint's back just under the shoulder blade. Two badly frightened boys returned to town. Dr. Richmond was called and treated the wound in a highly skillful and satisfactory manner and no serious results are anticipated. Jno. was seriously frightened and had a fit of crying over the results of his carelessness.

UNION.

B. L. Norman is beautifying his home by putting up a porch.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Cleek spent last Sunday at their country home.

Miss Nannie Huey is in the north end of the county visiting friends.

Myran Smith and Dr. Senour spent last Friday night in Cincinnati.

Mrs. Robt. Reed, of Covington, spent the past week with Mrs. Burkett.

The Boone County Medical Society will be entertained here Wednesday night.

Mrs. J. W. Kennedy is improving nicely under the care of Mrs. Fields, of Walton.

Many of our citizens went to Florence, Friday afternoon, to witness the spelling match.

Miss Glena Weaver, of Chattanooga, Tenn., spent last week here the guest of her aunt, Mrs. R. D. Hedges.

Mrs. Dr. Lasing entertained her children last Thursday with a turkey dinner. On Friday Judge Lassing left for his home in the south.

Mrs. Rachel Rice fell last week in her yard and dislocated her hip. Drs. Langsdale, of Cincinnati, and Furnish, of Covington, were called to attend her.

Considerable plowing for the 1914 corn crop has been done this fall. Farmers are beginning to realize the benefits derived from fall breaking of land intended for corn the following season.

HEBRON.

Lawson Brown and family, of Idlewild, were Sunday guests at Lester Aylor's.

Mrs. Iva Riddell entertained quite a number of her friends last Wednesday.

Floyd Crigler is home from Berea, where he has been attending college.

Don't forget the supper at the Hall next Saturday night given by the ladies of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Aylor entertained the young people with a masquerade party, last Saturday night.

Thos. Hafer has purchased a lot of Wm. Crigler for his son-in-law, Earl Aylor, and will build a house on it.

FLICKERTOWN.

Holt White and family visited at his mother's, Sunday.

Born, to Grant Williamson and wife, a 10 pound boy, Nov. 20.

C. J. Hensley lost one of his work mules Saturday with indigestion.

E. A. Grant was the only one around here who attended the corn show.

Mrs. Etha Sebree visited her daughter, Mrs. Snyder, several days last week.

C. L. Voshell and wife, of Sparta, Ind., visited F. M. Voshell and family, Sunday.

Lewis Senour and F. M. Voshell have bought C. L. Voshell's land adjoining them.

Mrs. J. W. White and daughter, Alice, visited W. S. White and family Saturday and Sunday.

Dave Williamson and wife came up Friday to see their new grandson, Woodrow Wilson Williamson.

FLORENCE.

Miss Villetta Rouse spent Sunday with her parents here.

Mr. John D. Mitchell has been quite sick for several days.

Miss Ella Coleman, of Cincinnati, is the guest of Mrs. Charles Scott.

Miss Anna Walker, of Walnut Hills, spent Sunday with her mother.

POSTED—No hunting or trespassing on my place. Mrs. John Finch.

Jas. Wilhoit, of Covington, was a Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Utz.

Will Bradford and wife were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Rouse.

Mrs. Pearson entertained her sister and Rev. Douglas at dinner, Sunday.

Miss Sena Tanner, who underwent a slight operation in Cincinnati several weeks ago, is able to be out again.

Quite a crowd attended the Bentham sale last week and everything brought a fair price. Mr. Bentham is making his home with his daughter, Mrs. Ezra Rouse.

Quite a large crowd witnessed the spelling match between Burlington, Walton and Florence schools last Friday afternoon, Burlington came out victorious and won the banner.

The High Schools of Walton, Burlington and Florence met at the latter place last Friday at 2:30 p. m. and spelled before one of the largest gatherings that ever assembled in Boone county for a purpose of this kind. Standing room was at a premium, windows and doorways were blocked with those eager to hear the young Kentuckians put the letters of words in their proper order. Supt. Riley pronounced the words while the three principals, Chambers, Dix and Yealey, stood behind the line of pupils to see that their interests were protected. After 225 words had been pronounced, principals Chambers and Yealey decided that owing to the crowded condition of the house, the lateness of the hour and the lead that Burlington had over her competitors, it was useless to continue and the banner was given to Prof. Dix, who surely deserved it, as they had demonstrated up to this time that they were invincible. Some people let their ambition control their better qualities, and I wish to say to those that the Supt. pronounced the words plain, gave ample time to each pupil for spelling the same and if luck had anything to do with the rotation of words, Florence received the best end of it. The patrons of the Florence school and all others should remember that only one school can win this each year and that Burlington out ranked us this year, and we should be satisfied, knowing as we do, that our pupils are none the worse off but have improved wonderful in the art of spelling. So let us, one and all, shout for Burlington and say to ourselves "We'll make you hump next year."

A. M. YEALEY.

A CARD.

After more than a years rest from my broken down condition, during which time I have made no special effort to solicit business, I now desire to announce that I am in good condition to resume my former work and am advised by my physician that I can safely undertake it. I am fully equipped in every way to meet all the requirements of an undertaker and will spare no effort to render a satisfactory service wherever it might be the pleasure of my friends to favor me with a call.

H. G. BLANTON,
Erlanger, Ky.

GUNPOWDER.

Mrs. C. L. Aylor is numbered among the sick.

Mrs. Porr and daughter visited Erlanger friends last Monday.

B. C. Surface, of Devon, was the guest of this writer last Sunday.

Geo. Miller is improving his farm very greatly by building a long string of wire fence.

Miss Lena Tanner, who underwent a surgical operation in Covington a few days since, is getting along nicely.

Geo. Hines, who recently moved to L. P. Aylor's farm, will move in a few days to the toll gate near Union on the Florence and Union pike.

Rev. Wallace conducted a very impressive Thanksgiving service at Hopeful last Sunday, which was enjoyed by a large and attentive audience.

Ernest Hartman met with quite a serious accident one day last week. While coming from the city with a load of lumber his team got frightened at an auto truck and ran the wagon on to a pile of stone, causing him to fall from the wagon, and the wheel ran over his body and besides breaking some of his ribs he is considerably bruised.

R. D. No. 3.

Edward Eggleston is numbered among the sick.

John Utzinger made a trip to Lewis county, last week.

Clinton Riddell made a business trip to Hamilton, last Saturday.

Luther Estes and family, of Ohio, spent Sunday in this neighborhood.

Miss Alice Reitmann spent from Friday until Monday of last week in the city.

Lacy Cropper has returned after several months stay in Demopolis, Alabama.

Miss Nellie Eggleston visited Clint Eggleston and family near Burlington, last week.

Samuel Aylor and wife, of Hebron, visited Misses Dollie and Frank Goodridge last Saturday.

Mrs. John Scothorn and Mrs. E. H. Scothorn were Monday afternoon callers at Mrs. J. W. Brown's.

Chas. Utzinger and family, Miss Stella Brown and Russell Finn visited W. D. Helms and family near Guilford, Ind., last Sunday.

Mrs. J. W. Brown and daughters, Misses Stella and Lottie and Miss Alice Reitmann spent one day last week with Chas. Muntz and family.

Rev. Baker, of near Butler, Mrs. Alvin Corn and Miss Anna Henry, of Bullittsville, Misses Cathryn Estes and Adelia Scothorn and Frank Estes dined at Mr. W. L. Brown's last Sunday.

CEDAR GROVE.

Glad to report Jas. White able to be up and out again.

Ira Ryle and Woodie Sullivan butchered their hogs last week.

Last week was fine weather for the farmers to finish husking their corn.

Mrs. Frank Voshell and son, Leroy, called on Mrs. J. W. White one afternoon last week.

Alf Porter and son Omer and wife were Sunday guests of Woodie Sullivan and family.

Mrs. Pattie Selms and Miss Julia Dinsmore called on Mrs. Fannie Randall one afternoon last week.

Mrs. Hogan Wingate Mrs. Owen Beemon and daughter, called on Mrs. Grant Williamson Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Clyde Berkshire entertained Miss Pearl Botts, Mrs. Thomas Garrison and son, George, last Sunday. Mrs. Garrison and her son made the trip in their auto.

HATHAWAY.

Ely Conley and family spent Sunday at Warner Senour's.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Stephens spent Sunday at J. H. Stephens.

Mrs. P. P. Neal was a Friday guest of her sister, Mrs. Emily Presser.

Mrs. Connie Rouse was a guest of her mother, Mrs. B. H. Stephens, Friday.

Miss Edith Kelly has gone to the city to spend a couple of weeks with relatives.

Mrs. A. O. Rouse and Mrs. Walter Craddock spent Wednesday with Mrs. W. L. Presser.

Mesdames Essie Conley, Susie Stephens, Grace Moore and Miss Lillian Kelly spent a pleasant day with Mrs. Owen Presser, last Thursday.

J. C. White and wife attended Big Bone church Sunday. They came down in Joe Walton's machine accompanied by Joe Walton and Tom Fowler.

RABBIT HASH.

Ben R Stephens is entertaining a charming lady friend

Dr Carlyle and his wife entertained the young folks with a party Friday night

The farmers have been troubled the last week by their tobacco heating in the bulk.

A hunting party from Newport have been camping at Charles Wilson's for the last week

Mrs J. J. Stephens visited her son, Lucie Aylor, of Lawrenceburg, Saturday and Sunday

Mrs John Hawkins and his sister, Miss Addie, of near Frankfort, are visiting relatives here

Willie Hodges has moved into Hubert Ryle's house in upper Rabbit Hash and will work at the ferry

Mrs Adah Wilson made a trip to Cincinnati last week to see Mrs John McConnell, of Danville, who will leave for the south in a short time to live.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

The back water in Gunpowder shut the Burlington mail carrier off at Adkin's riffle four trips last week.

The very warm weather last week caused considerable uneasiness on the part of some of those who had killed hogs.

Clyde Akin, of Flickertown, was combining business and pleasure in a trip to the highlands of lower Gunpowder the first of the week.

The warm weather and the downward inclination of the turkey market, last week, made some of the local dealers get nervous.

Hear that Hubert White has purchased an automobile. The indications are that he will not be able to get it within two miles of home before next June.

E. E. Utz's sons, of the Grange Hall neighborhood, have about completed the erection of an addition to their residence which improves the appearance very much.

The cold weather the first of the week made Lawrence Phipps, who has been assisting Ezra Aylor in East Bend his himself to the hub in quest of some additional rags with which to protect his body.

PT. PLEASANT.

C. E. Tanner has about completed a new shed in which to shelter his farming implements.

There were seven additions to the Pt. Pleasant church during the recent protracted meeting.

Mrs. B. H. and Mrs. J. A. Tanner each entertained with a dinner in honor of Mrs. Sallie Willis, of State Mills, Va., last week.

Our pleasant Sunday guests were J. C. Hankins and wife, Chas. Riley and wife, C. T. Davis and wife, Mrs. Alice Beall and Mrs. Belle Clore, all of Hebron neighborhood.

Ira Walton and wife entertained the following at dinner last Sunday: Allie Walton and family, Bert Jones and family, Mrs. Artie Hafer, Phelps Walton and family. Miss Beulah Tanner and Wm. Tupman.

JAMES DICKENS CLOUD

Prominent Citizen and Good Man Dead.—Aged Seventy-Seven.

James Dicken Cloud, son of William and Sarah Gaines Cloud, was born September 4, 1836, and died November 26, 1913, after an illness of many months, aged 77 years, two months and 22 days.

He was married to Lucy White, January 3, 1856. To them were born five children, R. E., John, Eunie, Nora and Ollie. Eunie and Ollie having been dead several years. Unie was the first wife of Edgar Berkshire. Nora married Everett Walton and resides in St. Louis, Mo. R. E. and John both made their home with their parents.

James D. Cloud was an ardent believer in the Universalist religion and has been a member of Burlington Universalist church since January, 1876. As a husband he was devoted and faithful in every particular; as a father his every thought was of the welfare of his children who are an honor to their father and were a pleasure to him in his declining days; as a citizen and neighbor he had few equals none knowing him but to praise his numerous good traits of character. He was unassuming and a home man whose greatest pleasures were found in the family circle. In the death of James Cloud this community is deprived of one of its noblest men, and the county of one of its most worthy citizens, whom it was necessary to know to appreciate.

At the time of going to press funeral arrangements have not been made.

Death of W. O. Kirtley.

William Owen Kirtley, son of Owen and Sallie Kirtley, was born, February 3, 1840 and died Nov. 13, 1913.

Brief services were held at the residence, 230 Short street Sunday morning Nov. 16 and the remains taken to the Bullittsburg, Ky., Baptist church where the services were conducted by Rev. G. C. Mitchell, interment in cemetery adjacent.

His wife, two sons and a sister, Mrs. Clinton Gaines, of Louisville, Ky., survive him.

For more than five years Mr. Kirtley had been a patient sufferer from a complication of diseases. The immediate cause of his death was pneumonia. He had been a member of the Baptist church since the age of thirty-five years.

For many years Mr. Kirtley was a successful farmer and stock raiser of Boone county, Ky. He was of an affable disposition and made and retained friends. He was a cousin of the late Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland, O., whom he greatly admired and loved.—Lawrenceburg Register.

J. S. Rouse, the Limaburg mill man came very near being badly hurt a few days since. He was assisting to unload some logs when he made a misstep and fell backwards between the horses and one of them made a step forward and struck Mr. Rouse's left cheek bone a glancing lick. Fortunately the injury is slight.

The rural mail carriers are all off of duty today.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. Elmer Kirkpatrick was very ill several days the past week.

Atty Garnett Tolin will feast on Thanksgiving turkey in Lexington.

Miss Katie Stewart is visiting relatives and friends in Gallatin county.

Miss Nellie Martin and her mother were in the city shopping, last Friday.

B. L. Rice, of Union, was among the business visitors to Burlington, last Monday.

Joseph Walton, of Rabbit Hash precinct, was a business visitor to Burlington, Tuesday.

Jack Baker, of Limaburg neighborhood, made this office a short call last Tuesday morning.

Miss Laura Frances Riddell is visiting her uncle and aunt, Wm Riddell and wife, at Dayton, Ohio.

Mrs. Menter Martin, of Bullittsville, was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Roberts, Monday.

Jas. A. Huey and Joseph Huey and wife, of Union, were Sunday afternoon guests of Mrs. Eliza Rouse.

Frank Klassner, a hustling young business man of Constance, was a caller at this office last Monday.

Miss Annie Crigler, of Limaturg, has gone to Bellefontaine, Ohio, to spend the winter with her sister.

W. E. Walton, of Pleasant neighborhood, called on the boarheavers a few minutes last Tuesday morning.

C. L. Renaker and wife, of Dry Ridge, spent last Saturday night with his brother, A. B. Renaker and wife here.

Henry Clore, who resides out on the East Bend road has been quite ill for several days of a bilious attack.

Miss Carrie Porter was the guest of Miss Lallie Rice, of Idlewild, from last Friday night until Monday morning.

John P. Duncan is in New York with two car loads of Walnut Hall horses to be disposed of at the Old Glory sale.

Lewis Beemon, of Limaburg, expects to start to Florida about the first of next month to spend the winter.

Mrs. H. W. Shearer, of Newport, was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hall a few days the past week.

Grover Snyder and wife of Butler, Ky., and Cleveland Snyder, of Cincinnat, O., are visiting their parents in Burlington

A. B. Renaker and wife, Misses Sallie and Lizzie Rogers and Sheba Roberts attended church at Salem, last Sunday.

P. A. Ryle and wife spent Saturday night and Sunday with their son, John W. Ryle and family, down on Gunpowder.

Miss Fannie Ryle came out from the city and spent a day or two with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Ryle, last week.

H. G. Blanton, of Erlanger, was a business caller at this office last Tuesday. He has a card published in another column.

Howard Kelly and wife, of Limaburg neighborhood, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kelly, out on the Belleview pike.

Mrs. Ada Conner left, Wednesday morning for a visit with her daughters, Mrs. Nannie McAtee, of Ludlow, and Mrs. J. E. Rouse, of Paynes Depot, Scott county.

Master Milton Revill, of Frankfort, is the guest of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Revill. He has about recovered from his recent very severe injury.

Mrs. G. S. Walrath, of Belleview, was a business visitor to Burlington last Friday. She reported business brisk in Belleview since a supply of coal had been received.

Mrs. Jacob Utzinger, of North Bend neighborhood, was a business caller at this office Tuesday. Although a reader of this paper for many years it was her first call at this office. She moved her husband's suscription into the 15 class.

L. H. Sprague, of Taylorsport, was in Burlington last Friday, looking after some necessary business preparatory to moving to his new home near Upper Bruce, Lewis county, this State. Mr. Sprague and family will carry with them to their new home the best wishes of a host of friends in this county, as they were most excellent and worthy citizens.

William Rice, of North Manchester, Indiana, was a caller at this office last Thursday afternoon. Mr. Rice has been a citizen of Northern Indiana for many years and is well pleased with that county, where is to be found some of the best farm land in that State. He says the people there are thoroughly up-to-date and always ready to give anything that is new a trial and when it makes good they all invest in it at once and are thus kept in the front ranks of advancement.

Next Monday is county court and on the Monday following the December term of the Boone circuit court will convene.

Both of the constitutional amendments carried by large majorities.

LONESOMEST SPOT IN WORLD

Group of Islands In South Atlantic Thousands of Miles From Mainlanc.

"To Let—the lonesomest place in the world."

That is what was said the other day—in much more solemn and official language—by the British government. It lay hidden in the announcement that bids would be accepted for the leasing and exploitation of the whale fisheries and guano fields of the Nightingale, Inaccessible and Gough islands, for included among these is Tristan d'Acunha, that remote little rock tucked away in the South Atlantic, thousands of miles from South America and Africa, the nearest mainlands, and long known as the lonesomest spot on the face of the earth. St. Helena, where Napoleon died a captive, is lonesome enough, but Tristan beats even St. Helena.

Its only communication with the rest of the world is by means of occasional ships which touch at its shores while engaged in whale fishing. The population consists of a handful of people, descendants of shipwrecked mariners, English soldiers who belonged to the troops who guarded Napoleon, and women from St. Helena.

In spite of—or possibly on account of—its isolation, life on Tristan d'Acunha seems to be pleasant enough. Uneventful it is, but one of the events that do not occur is the commission of crimes. For years no serious crime has been recorded in the island's annals.

One of the conditions made by the British government in its call for bids is that those obtaining the lease of the whale fisheries must agree to have every whaler they send out touch at the lonesomest place in the world and thus keep up Tristan d'Acunha's communication with the rest of mankind.

WOULD NOT OFFEND DEITY

Child's Idea of Everyday Politeness Applied to All Cases and Needs.

To a normal child all things and people, even those most highly endowed and wonderful, are to be taken simply. To a polite child, for example, the rules of everyday politeness are sufficient for all cases and needs. A medical missionary recently returned from India tells the story of a sweet little girl, who was much troubled by the prevailing plague of mosquitoes.

"What does God make them for?" she asked.

Told that the Divine purpose in the matter was unknown, but that such purpose undoubtedly existed, the little one pondered silently for some moments. Then:

"Do you suppose I could ask him about it when I go to heaven?" she inquired. "You see, I'd just love to know why we have to have mosquitoes, but I wouldn't want the good Lord to think me rude."

Bank Salaries.

To enter the service of the Bank of England a candidate must be nominated by a director, be of good moral character, pass a qualifying (not competitive) examination and be between eighteen and twenty-two years old. The first year his salary is $500, and then it rises at the rate of $50 a year. At the end of the fifth year he proceeds to the fourth class or else leaves the service of the bank. According to figures furnished by one of the bank's officials, the average pay at the end of ten years is $1,000. At fifteen years it is $1,300, twenty years $1,645, thirty years $1,945; after that the senior clerks pass to $2,150. The staff and special posts, numbering about 100, are won by meritorious service. The highest salary is paid the chief cashier, and is $15,000. The chief accountant draws $12,500 and there are several appointments ranging from $7,500 to $3,500. Agents of branches receive up to $12,000. There is a pension system to which the clerk does not contribute, but for which he is qualified after ten years' service.—Moody's Magazine.

Still Room for Reform.

"Samuel," said Mrs. Sternwife, "you have not yet told me what good resolve you have made since your birthday."

"Why, my dear," protested Sam, "you know that I have no small vices or bad habits at all. Don't you know that you have induced me to stop card playing and smoking and drinking and going out nights, and everything else I used to think that I wanted to do?"

"Yes, my dear," answered Mrs. Sternwife; "but it sometimes seems to me that you read the advertisements of liquors and cigars with a sinful satisfaction. It would be better for you if you should sternly and firmly resolve to shun them hereafter."

And poor Samuel shrank farther and farther into the nice new house coat that she had made for him from her old dolman.

Made the Library a Laundry.

The Public Library affords many conveniences of which its patrons are not slow to avail themselves, but it is doubtful if any other visitor has gone to the length of one woman, who arrived there after a morning's shopping, wearing a dirty pair of white silk gloves.

The abundance of soap and hot water in the library washroom was a temptation not to be resisted. So the woman washed and rinsed her gloves and hung them over a nickel rod to dry, trusting in an honest public to leave them there.—New York Times.

FORTY YEARS AGO.

Taking up the thread of reminiscent thought that chases up and down the spinal column of ones memory, we find John Keasler walking quietly along Main St., and down to "Elm Hole," a popular summer and winter resort for young folks and old folks of Union, the young people fishing in summer and skating in winter, the older folks holding fish frys and playing croquet on summer days.

Though unused to the world in its varied forms John was possessed of that wonderful pack for adjustment that comes to some folks they know not from where and stays with them all their lives, they know not why. It is an accomplishment that comes naturally into ones life and perhaps brings more real happiness than we are conscious of. Think about the stories one reads of a cold, clammy and unresponsive world with its icy stares, freezing, heart breaking rebuffs &c. Think of the once treatment strangers in a strange land are supposed to receive as they go from point to point in it, and then contrast these stories with what really happened to John in Union.

In a few hours he had been accepted as a unit in the public affairs of the town at least, and by courteous treatment was given to understand he could have a "look in" at the social affairs later on in case he behaved himself. John, not long out of school, had visited Cincinnati and having no idea what being "short on" nerve, determination, gall and other ingredients that enter so largely into the make up of our average husky, healthy, fun-loving, base ball playing, coon hunting, Sunday fishing school boy, he just dropped over onto Kentucky soil, felt perfectly safe, then dropped over into the charcoal fields of Kenton county, where a 'hot old time' was reported to be going on.

Well, there was some doings going on that were some hot for certain, as most every one posted knows that when 50 cords or more of wood are stacked up and then covered with leaves and dirt, and then set on fire to be kept burning for days, there gets to be some heat. Consider that, perhaps, 10 of these great coal pits are burning at one time, then think of the "hot time."

John came to this field and accepted employment as chief engineer, fireman, &c., on one of these seething, blistering eruptions of fire, and smoke for the round sum of $1 per night with six or eight great strapping, rough, uncouth, devil-we-care men as companions—some room for adjustment there. For 50 nights he carried leaves, shoveled dirt and in other ways confined the fire to its place. Meanwhile he was doing some quiet thinking and eating everything that came his way because burning charcoal has a tendency to develop ones appetite.

John gives one page of his diary to telling how misleading had been his teaching in college about hades, the devil and his imps, how Pollock in his "Course of Time" used as a text book, had made a summer's dream out of hades, a gentleman out of the devil and a bunch of faries out of his imps simply because he never saw the charcoal fields of Kenton, and witnessed the burning of those firery kilns with half naked, sweltering hot human beings doing the "Tango and Turkey Trot," over their smoking surfaces. In five lines at the bottom of the page he writes one for the fair fields of Boone county, where the charcoal burner is unknown and blacksmiths use coal not made by hand, and he dropped into Union as said afore. Down Main street goes John in company with a man who was reputed to know everybody in the town, precinct and county, and if he didn't know them they knew him; so it was all the same. He was a man interested in everything and everybody. He could not and would not bear enmity toward anybody for more than one day at the most. He was a walking encyclopedia of information and delighted to tell about it, so John was soon posted as to who would win the game of croquet, who would do the most kicking, who was the best man in town, &c., and so on.

The aged men had lined up for the game, tossed up for first go and the game was on. As the mallets clicked against the balls and wicket after wicket was passed, the players warmed up to their work and it was play fair, Billy; lay over there Henry; you are for the basket, Philip; its your play, John; then it was your turn dead on me and I am dead on you; John is alive on Billy; Henry is alive on Philip. This went on until between living and dieing there seemed no end to the game. It is a fact that these aged men became so enthused that they would lay flat on the ground to "sight straight' and drive the ball thru the wickets. They writhed with anguish when beaten and did an Indian war dance when they won.

Later on the writer will tell how the game ended, and also why John did not go into that saloon.

Continued.

Unless the fattening steer has all the pure water he can drink at all times he will not lay on fat quickly.

Draft horses in the corn belt fed largely on corn and timothy, or corn stover, lack bone development, as is found in imported horses.

If you want to be really up to date, sweep down the ceiling of your stables and whitewash them.

Look Here!

The Best Offer Ever.

The Boone County Recorder .....
The Weekly Enquirer, ...
Farm & Fireside, semi-monthly....
Poultry Success, monthly .....
Woman's World, monthly.....
Farm News, monthly.....

All One Year For

$2.10

By Ordering the above separately the cost would be $4.25 for the Six Publications each one year.

This Big Proposition

is open to all New Subscribers to The Recorder and to those whose renewals will extend into 1914.

Those who have renewed up to or beyond Jany. 1, 1914 will be given the benefit of the above combination by sending to this office Sixty Cents.

Now is the time to secure your reading matter for the long winter nights coming on. Grasp this Opportunity.

The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO.

Erlanger, Ky.

Has come to stay and is ready for business and will keep on hand at all times a good supply of

Raymond City and Plymouth Coal

in yard and on car at the Lowest Prices Possible, and guarantee 80 lbs. to the bushel. Will also handle Cannel Coal, Kentucky Simi-Candle and Worley Block, and Peidmont strictly blacksmithing Coal.

Your patronage solicited.

The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO
Erlanger, Kentucky.

INSURANCE CONCERNS

Will Write No Insurance Under New Rate.

Chairman Ruby Laffon of the State Insurance Rating Board has received notification from the Kentucky Actuarial Bureau that 36 of the 113 foreign fire insurance companies doing business in Kentucky will not insure any dwelling house risks under the schedule of rates adopted by the board. This action was in line with a policy suggested at a meeting of representatives of the companies in New York several days ago. While there are no data at hand to show, Commissioner N. O. Gray said he would not be surprised if the withdrawal of these companies closed every agency in some towns to this class of risks. "If the companies refuse to write business, I look for a number of mutual assessment concerns to be organized all over the State," he said.

Chairman Laffon said the board was rather anxious for the companies to go into court over the rate; but they declined to do this and are indimating a concerted plan of ceasing to write any business at all under schedules adopted by the State Board, reducing rates.

Why Eggs are High.

Eggs are now 30 cents a dozen in the groceries and as to how high they will go by Christmas nobody can guess. 40 cents at least. It costs the hens no more to lay eggs than it used to, and the question is often asked why are eggs 30 cents a dozen now when they were plentiful fifteen years ago at 10 cents a dozen at the groceries. Here is the answer: During the last fiscal year 21,000,000 dozen eggs were exported from the United States against 1,500,000 dozen ten years ago.—Ex.

Orchard and Garden Notes.

Cut and burn the foliage of the asparagus bed.

Go over the garden and small fruit plantation and burn all rubbish remaining. This will destroy many insects.

Carrots, beets, and salsify keep better if covered with a small amount of sand to prevent drying out.

Rake a pile of leaves into some out of the way corner to decay and furnish leaf mold for next year.

There is still time to plant tulip bulbs outside or hyacinths, tulips, narcissi, or daffodils for forcing indoors.

As soon as the ground begins to freeze, cover the tulip bed with about four inches of heavy manure.

Have you outlined a definite plan, of study for the winter of some subject of special interest? Nov is a good time to begin. Any community should enjoy getting together once a week during the winter for study and a social time.

Grapes should be pruned and laid on the ground ready to cover with earth for the winter.

Cut and burn all dead or dying trees on the place as they will spread disease or insects to the other trees.

Prepare soil for next season's hot bed. Cover this deeply with horse manure so it will not freeze during the winter.

Well-rotted manure put on the lawn late this fall will help to hold the snow and make a much better lawn next year.

Lay down raspberries and black berries and cover them with enough dirt to hold them close to the ground all winter. This should be done when there is no frost in the canes—Leroy Cady, Associate Horticulturist, Minnesota University.

Farm and Home.

Digester tankage is fine feed for growing fall shoats when mixed with middlings.

Do your deep plowing in the fall of the year that the freezes may work upon the clay turned up.

A truck patch can be made the most profitable part of the farm. Of course it needs a rich coat of manure and fertilizer.

A small piece of popcorn may be grown and marketed at a profit. If it cannot be sold at home seek a city market.

Keep a supply of litmus paper either red or blue, if the soil turns the blue paper red or the red brown it needs lime.

South America prepares to go into the hog raising business on account of the high cost of beef. Men have been to this country to study hog farming.

The Kentucky farmer still permits the manure around his stable to wash off during the fall and winter rains, but in ten years from today the majority of our citizens will not be so wasteful.

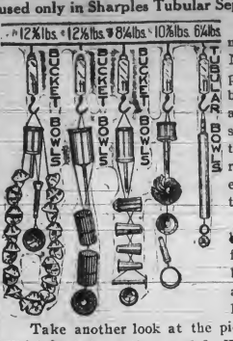
The average corn crop does not run above five barrel per acre, and one stalk in the hill three foot and six inches apart will beat that yield if they have a 10½ ounce ear upon each stalk.

In making sausage put in enough fat or your sausage will not be good. At least 3 pounds of fat to six pounds of lean. The grease will not be lost and the sausage should fry themselves.

Get your seed and when spring comes sow two or three acres of rape to hog for early feed. Sow on good land. It will not cost over seventy cents per acre for feed and will be ready to graze in ten weeks.

The manufacturer studies constantly to make use of all the by products from his business. Why will the farmer not learn to do this, even the slaughter house man saves everything from the hog but the squeals.

Farmers and especially citizens of towns and villages should get rid of their cheap dogs. They are a nuisance and an expense. It is said that the pure bred Collie is the best stock dog in the world. Cur dogs are sheep killers.



Write the department of Agriculture and get methods for testing soil for acid before using lime to sweeten it. Ground lime stone rock is rich in lime and fine for fertilizing and will inoculate the soil so it will readily grow alfalfa.

Sow your rye field in clover and if you can plant a piece of land in corn in the same boundary to hog down after rye begins to fall. The rye, clover and corn will be money makers and land builders to you and you will soon swim in prosperity.

Which Shall Wife Wash?

Which cream separator bowl does the wife prefer to wash?

On the left are four styles of common "bucket bowls" used in ordinary cream separators. On the right is a light, simple, sanitary Sharples Dairy Tubular bowl of the same capacity—used only in Sharples Tubular Separators.

These illustrations were made from actual photographs. Notice the weights—count the pieces. The Sharples Tubular bowl contains but one piece, and that piece is smooth, instantly removable and about the size and shape of a napkin ring. The Tubular bowl can easily be perfectly cleaned in three minutes.

Yet makers of "bucket bowls"—barred by patents from making or using Tubular bowls—say "bucket bowls" are as easy to clean, and wear as long, as Tubular bowls.

Take another look at the picture. Show it to your wife. Which had she rather wash? Which do you think will wear the longest. We sell Sharples Tubular—the finest cream separators and surest money makers made. Bring your wife and look at one.

QUIGLEY & BEEMON
LIMABURG, KY.

Peters "ALL-FOR-WEAR"

THE BEST WORK SHOE IN THE WORLD

FOR SALE BY

W. M. RACHAL & CO.
UNION, KENTUCKY.

H. G. BLANTON,
Funeral Director and Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.

First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.

I Have a Nice White Funeral Car and Ambulance,

Lexington Pike, - - - - ERLANGER, KY.

Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,
Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.
Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.
Office and Wareroom:
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
IRA POPE Agent, - - Grant, Ky

J. L. HAMILTON
(Successor to M. T. WILSON)

FUNERAL DIRECTOR,
Verona, Ky.

Telephone calls day or night given prompt attention. Mrs. M. T. Wilson is my assistant and solicits the patronage of the friends of her late husband. dec-1 12

WANTED

Man and family to take charge of farm on the Bellevue pike about 1½ miles from Burlington, Ky. Good house, cow and chickens furnished—must state salary expected. Address this office.

A Splendid Clubbing Bargain
WE OFFER
The Boone Co. Recorder
AND
The Cincinnati Weekly Enquirer
Both One Year For Only $1.85
Subscriptions may be new or renewal.

What the Weekly Enquirer Is.

It is issued every Thursday, subscription price $1 per year, and it is one of the best home metropolitan weeklies of to-day. It has all the facilities of the great DAILY ENQUIRER for obtaining the world's events, and for that reason can give you all the leading news. It carries a great amount of valuable farm matter, crisp editorials and reliable up-to-date market reports. Its numerous departments make it a home farm or business man.

This grand offer is limited and we advise you to take advantage by subscribing for the above combination right now. Call or mail orders to

BOONE CO. RECORDER,
Burlington, Ky.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

CHAS. E. GARNETT.
AUCTIONEER.
Will go to any part of the county
Address,
R. D. 2, Ludlow, Ky.

Subscribe for Your County Paper.

NOTES FROM MEADOWBROOK FARM by William Pitt

Get a pure-bred sire.

Don't forget the ice house.

Sheep demand clean water.

Dairy cows must have shelter.

Cool weather is no excuse for lazy hens.

Trenches are very satisfactory for storing celery.

Keep a good sized lump of rock salt in each horse trough.

Manure and plow the garden for early planting next spring.

It is well to change the sheep occasionally into different pastures.

There is a good demand for good breeding stock, especially cattle and hogs.

You cannot grow pigs profitably without feed enough to keep them gaining steadily.

Sorghum is splendid for soiling crops or for winter forage if it is cut at the right time.

Hogs seem to understand the proper time to eat these things to keep the digestion in order.

A hen is not lazy by nature and will surprise you in what she can do if given the right chance.

The calves should have a good growing ration if they are expected to grow into large cows.

The only cure for peach yellow is to cut out the infected trees. Many states make this act compulsory.

Water for the horses should be fresh from the pump during the winter months—no ice water.

It doesn't pay to feed pigs after they are fit; neither does it pay to sell or kill a pig until it is fit.

Prune grapes as soon as foliage is off. Lay them down and cover with earth before the ground freezes.

See that the sheep have a good supply of cool, clean water. It is absolutely necessary in hot weather.

When necessary to mix new milk with that of a former milking it is best to let the new milk cool first.

Separate the fattening pigs as they reach marketable condition, so as to give the smaller ones a better chance.

The coop for hen and chicks should be well ventilated, easy to clean and sufficient proportions to insure comfort.

If the brood mares are not worked regularly, see that they get out in the open air and sunlight and move around.

Clean up the garden. A few weeds and other rubbish make a splendid nesting place for many destructive insects.

It is important that the sheep intended for slaughter should be kept off feed from twenty-four to thirty-six hours.

The feeder of any variety of stock should never neglect to feed a variety of feeds when it is at all possible for him to do so.

Many times horses go lousy because poultry are allowed to roost in the barn. The place for poultry is the poultry house.

Give the hens plenty of lime and charcoal. A dishful kept where they can help themselves is a valuable addition to the houses.

Dust the hen with insect powder before setting, and twice more while hatching. The chicks will not be full of lice to begin with.

Swill sours very quickly in hot weather. Keep the troughs clean, because the pigs never thrive on rotten feed of any kind.

Abundance of highly palatable and nutritive pasture in the fall is the most practical and economic means of preparing the ewes for mating.

When fall and winter weather causes your egg production to fall off, it is a sign that your are not imitating summer conditions as well as you might.

The colony plan for housing poultry may be adopted to good advantage on many farms. This system does away with the danger of tainted soil.

Guineas are profitable.

Mules are money makers.

Use care in the cow's ration.

Sheep must have clean water.

Some fall plowing is desirable on most farms.

Cellars should have a drain, also a window or two.

Lime may be applied to the soil at any season of the year.

If your hogs have cholera put up a sign, "Hog Cholera Here."

The farmer takes less risk with his dairy than with his other crops.

Laying hens should have their heaviest feed just before roosting time.

Keep the ticks away. Dipping pays. Ticks take the life blood from sheep.

It will pay to gather and destroy all wormy and decayed fruit in the orchard.

Hogs are susceptible to rheumatism if allowed to sleep in wet or damp beds.

The lack of organic matter is the greatest trouble we have in the vineyard.

The most important point about hog troughs is that they may readily be cleaned.

These are excellent days to start cuttings, to be used later in the window garden.

Alfalfa is rich in protein, which makes it an especially good feed for growing fowls.

Reliable statistics show that sheep are relatively free from diseases dangerous to man.

Do not expect too much from your young sows, especially if they are bred too young.

Definite plans should be made for next year's crop before the ground is covered with snow.

Train up a colt in the way it should walk and it will never grow into a horse that will balk.

Select the really first-class ewe lambs to reinforce the flock. Fatten the inferior ewe lambs.

A poultryman that is too careless to keep the hen house free from vermin does not deserve to succeed.

It is desirable to either plant at once, or stratify in sand or leaves, any nuts that are to be plaited.

The pumpkin crop will have to be raised out of cans in a large section of the west. Too dry for them.

Clean up the garden, remove and burn all weeds and trash. They harbor insects through the winter.

The eggs of the codling moth are difficult to locate until one gets accustomed to looking for them.

Some farmers market their corn by the basketful in the hog lot, and then market the hogs by the wagonful.

It is a good plan to encourage the pigs to eat as much as possible so as to relieve the drain upon the sow.

Soft-shelled eggs are often caused by fowls being confined, becoming overfat, and from lack of mineral matter.

One thing is certain; it will not pay to half-feed stock of any kind. If they can't be rightly fed, it is better to sell them.

Care should be exercised in training the colt to drive. When the training begins keep at it until it is broken.

As a general proposition it may be said that the sow that has pigs before she is a year old will disappoint her owner.

Poultry raising offers to women an excellent means of making money because the work is not too taxing for their strength.

Salt, hardwood ashes and charcoal are ideal to keep in hog pasture and if there is any other one thing needed it is pure water.

Kill and sell early all chicks with twisted toes, weak legs, crooked backs, wry tails, crooked beaks and other deformities.

Keep an egg record and do not fail to make entries daily. The successful poultryman must be business-like in every respect.

Currants and gooseberries will thrive in almost any soil and will stand considerable rough treatment and yet yield fair crops of fruit.

To produce the best quality of wool, sheep must have access to plenty of good pasture. Continuous grazing on the same pasture is undesirable.

A poor dairy cow takes up as much room as a good one and will cost as much if not more to keep. Weed out the poor cows—the Babcock test will do it.

PUBLIC SALE.

I will sell at public auction at my residence on the Florence turnpike, one and a half miles from Burlington, Boone county, Kentucky, on

Thursday, December 4th, '13

the following property:

3 work horses, 1 colt 19 months old, 2 good milk cows—one fresh, 2 good Jersey heifers 20 months old, brood sow and 8 shoats, 8 dozen chickens, 200 bushels corn—some in shock, lot of fodder, some seed corn, 10 tons of hay—timothy, clover and alfalfa; good road wagon with bed and seat, platform spring wagon, rock bed, 2-horse cultivator, good Milwaukee binder, McCormick mower, Deering sulky hay rake, land roller, disc harrow, Acme harrow, smoothing harrow, 2 breaking plows, Other plow, Clipper fanning mill for grain or grass seed, hay bed, wheat drill, lot of lumber and wire, corn drill, heater and stove wood, good buggy, 2 sets of buggy harnes, 2 sets double wagon harness, lot of all kinds of tools, grind stone and corn sheller, good Hurst sprayer and air press sprayer, spinning wheel, No. 15 Delaval separator, 10 gallon kettle, lot locust post, lot Irish potatoes, lot bushel crates, lawn swing, good violin and case, household and kitchen furniture consisting of bedsteads, stands, chairs, sewing machine, rocking chairs, extension table, dishes, carpets and safe, barrel churn, lot soft soap, 3 shares capital stock in Hebron Telephone Co., also a private line of 400 pounds line wire and telephone box, and many other things too numerous to mention.

TERMS:—Sums of $5.00 and under, cash; on sums over $5.00 a credit of nine months without interest will be given, purchaser to excute note with approved security, negotiable and payable in Peoples Deposit Bank at Burlington, Ky.

Terms must be complied with before property is removed.

Sale to begin at 9 a. m. sharp.

W. T. DAVIS.

Boone County Farms and Town Property For Sale.

165 acres on the Waterloo and Rabbit Hash pike 2¼ miles from Rabbit Hash and 4½ miles from Belleview. One and one-half story house with nine rooms, two new barns 36x48 and 40x48, other out buildings, plenty of water, good fence, all in grass but 20 acres. Price $60 per acre.

—!!—

100 acres almost adjoining the above farm with no house but good barn 36x48. Fifty acres woodland. 75 acres of this land will grow tobacco. Plenty water. Five acres in cultivation. Price $30.00 per acre. The two above farms could be considered as one farm or can be sold separate.

—!!—

160 acres on the Ohio river near Lawrenceburg Ferry, eight room house, barn 40x60 and other outbuildings, good fence. Price $6,500.

—!!—

86 acres on the Waterloo and McVille pike ¾ mile from McVille and about 1½ miles from Waterloo or Belleview. No improvements except good fences. Plenty water. All in grass. Thirty acres will grow tobacco. Price $20.00 per acre.

—!!—

Good 5-room house and one acre ground in Burlington. Price $1000.

—!!—

Two houses and lots in Petersburg one for $600 and the other for $400.

Also have some farms for sale not listed above.

A. B. RENAKER,
Burlington, Ky.

The Reason Why.

A reason why. A cause for every effect. A youth starts out to sell goods upon the road for a wholesale establishment. He imagines that success will crown his efforts; he fails; does not come up to the expectations and gets called in by the house and then comes reason, why. He has not spent time enough in studying the line he has to sell or the people whom he expects to sell or more probably he failed to develop and store his mind with useful knowledge when a boy, and now failure is before him. He begins to do some hard thinking, if he has grit and intelligence he will yet be able to fill an ordinary position but not what he might have done if he had put on his thinking cap much earlier in life.

A young man buys a farm and starts in to make a fortune. He fails in crops the first two years, why? He begins to scratch his head; he is getting in debt, he is worried and begins to look around the country to see wherein he differs from the man who is succeeding and when he finds the successful man and begins to make a study of him, he finds that the prosperous farmer has studied his profession and has system based upon the most scientific and up-to-date principals of the farming age.

This young man begins to see the reason why, he then gets information from his state college and from department of Agriculture at Washington, he subscribes for several good farm papers and once a year he makes a short trip to study the conditions of the country and the markets, he attends the State fair and studies the best breeds of cattle, etc., the most improved machinery and begins to find the reason why his neighbors not succeeded. He changes his methods and with a little hard work begins to bring his farm around to a paying proposition and a pleasant occupation.

The applause of the public seldom goes to the officeholders who gets his price.

FOR DELICATE CHILDREN

A Mother's Letter to Mothers.

Mrs. E. W. Cooper of Bloomfield, N. J., says: "My child, seven years old, had a bad cold and was weak and quite run down in health. She had been in this condition for about six weeks when I began giving her Vinol. It was a wonderful help to the child, breaking up her cold quickly and building up her strength beside. I have also found Vinol a most excellent tonic for keeping up the children's strength during a siege of whooping cough."

Vinol is a wonderful combination of two world-famed tonics—the medicinal body building elements of cod liver oil and iron for the blood, therefore it is a perfectly safe medicine for children, because it is not a patent medicine, everything in it is printed on every package, so mothers may know what they are giving their little ones.

Therefore we ask every mother of a weak, sickly or ailing child in this vicinity to try Vinol on our guarantee.

P. S. Our Saxo Salve is truly wonderful for Eczema. We guarantee it.

Robert W. Jones, Druggist, Walton]

Poland China Hogs.

Only a few gilts left. All male hogs are sold. Sired by the celebrated Money Maker No. 84771, King-to-Be 82903, Onward 81371.

THOMAS POWERS,
oct-2 2m Crittenden, Ky.

Rogers Bros. General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade.

B. S. O'NEAL,

AUCTIONEER,
VERONA, - KENTUCKY.
Your Order is Solicited.

For Sale or Rent.

One Hundred and Eight and Two-Third Acres of Land, at the mouth of Gunpowder creek in this county; the best hog farm in Northern Kentucky. For further particulars call on or address Erastus Rice, Rising Sun, Indiana, or S. D. Rice, Grant, Ky., R. D. 1.

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN,

DENTIST

will be at Burlington on the first and second Monday, and in Union on the third and fourth Monday of each month, prepared and qualified to practice according to the latest methods extracting teeth painless.

All work guaranteed.

DR. B. W. STALLARD

with DR. SHOBER'S
QUEEN CITY DENTISTS
Nos. 43-49 W. Fifth Ave.,
CINCINNATI, - - OHIO.

F. J. HENN. M. M. HUSCHART.

LAWRENCEBURG

Granite and Marble Works

Manufacturers of and Dealers in

Fine American and Imported Monuments.

Cemetery Work of Every Description Promptly and Carefully Attended to.

Lawrenceburg, :-: Indiana.

D. M. SNYDER, Agt., Burlington, Ky.

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS

For Sale, stock from the flock scoring most points at State Fair last fall. Cockerels, $1.00 each; eggs in season. (dec 18)

MRS. B. C. GRADDY,
Bullittsville, Ky.

FOR SALE

Good Steinway Piano. Apply to Dr. B. A. BULANEY, Florence, Ky.

For Sale—Fine driving mare, seven years old, well bred, weighs about 1150—$165. One cheap work mare, will trade for shoats, sow and pigs or white leghorn chickens. Apply to O. P. SPAHR, Burlington, Ky., R. D. 3, on the old Chambers farm.

For Sale—Farm of 65 acres, two miles west of Burlington on the Burlington and Belleview turnpike, good 5-room house, lasting water—all in grass but 10 acres, that in cultivation. Will sell reasonable. Apply to KARL ROUSE, Burlington, Ky. 4t.

Take your County Paper.

FIFTY-SECOND SEMI-ANNUAL STATEMENT OF THE

Boone County Deposit Bank

Burlington, Kentucky

At Close of Business December 31, 1912.

RESOURCES.		LIABILITIES.
Loans, Bonds, &c....	$170,858.50	Capital Stock.....	$ 30,000.00
Overdrafts.....	52.81	Surplus.....	45,000.00
Due from Banks.....	38,391.04	Undivided Profits, &c	7,581.49
Cash.....	7,711.80	Deposits.....	136,591.35
Banking House, &c..	3,000.00	Due Banks.....	841.31
Total.....	$220,014.15	Total.....	$220,014.15

A Bank that is going after business, and going in the right way.

HOW? By promptness in serving its customers.
By courteous attention to their banking needs.
By readiness in meeting their requirements, and, above all
By perfect security of the funds intrusted to its care, having over $100.000.00 to secure depositors.

We have the largest Capital and Surplus of any Bank in this county, and are amply able to accommodate our patrons, and are willing at all times to afford them every accommodation justified by the rules of good and safe banking, whether their accounts are large or small.

N. E. RIDDELL, President. J. C. REVILL, Cashier.

J. F. KIESWETTER,

RUGS MADE of OLD CARPETS

Compressed Air Carpet Cleaning.
TELEPHONE SOUTH 21.
250 PIKE STREET,
Covington, - - - Ky.
M. RIDDELL, Agent, Burlington, Ky.

ADAMS

A New Victrola $75

A Cabinet Style Victrola combining a record cabinet for only $75.00. Same perfect, mellow tone quality of the most expensive Victrola, same elegant finish.

Easy Monthly Payments.

A. ADAMS,

15 Pike Street,
Covington, - - Ky.

The Cincinnati Grain Co.

HAVE OPENED THEIR NEW HOUSE AT ERLANGER, KY.

FREE PHONE ERLANGER 49

Handle Hay, Grain, Flour and Feed of all Kinds. Will Also Buy Your Wheat, Rye, Etc.

Special Notice—We are selling at city prices, consequently can save you the long haul from Covington and Cincinnati.

GIVE US A TRIAL

FARM MOTORS

For Pumping, Operating Churns, Saws, Corn Shredders, Filling Silos, Etc.

Last a Lifetime. From 1½ to 25 h. p. $33 and up.

Ready To Run.

Direct Factory Representatives

SPENCER-HARTLIEB CO.

316-318 MAIN STREET
CINCINNATI, OHIO

Phone, 1810 Main

Read Our Big Combination Offer.

BOONE CO. RECORDER
W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

ECONOMICAL WAY IN ROAD BUILDING.

Department of Agriculture Advises the Cutting Out of Grades at the Expense of Tillable Land.

Washington, D. C.,—The average life of horses and automobiles may be increased and the cost of hauling reduced, according to the Office of Roads, of the Department of Agriculture, by relocating many old roads and the more scientific laying out of new ones. The natural tendency in road building is to build a straight road, whether it goes over steep grades or hills, or not, and pulling over these grades naturally adds to the wear and tear on horses and vehicles.

The doctrine of the Office of Roads is that the longest way around may often be the shortest and most economical way home, and that frequently by building a highway around a hill or grade, but little appreciable distance is added and this is more than offset by the reduced strain of hauling.

The chief drawback from the farm owner's point of view is that the laying out of roads on this principle of avoiding grades necessitates, in some cases, running the road thru good farm land or orchards or pastures, instead of going around the farm line and building the road thru old worn-out fields and over rocky knolls. This, of course, must raise a question in the mind of the individual land owner as to whether the cutting up of his property by a road yields him individual advantages and so benefits his community as to offset the use of such land for a road, or to overcome the inconvenience of having his land divided. In this connection the Office of Roads points out that the running of a road and the resulting traffic through a good farm, where there are good sheep, cattle, horses, grain fruit or vegetables, has a certain advertising value and in many instances makes the land more valuable. In other cases, the importance of such a level road to the community is so great that it might well repay those using the road to give the farmer the equivalent in land equally good in place of what he has sacrificed to the common welfare.

At any rate, the Office of Roads is now taking special pains to make clear the economic advantage of avoiding steep grades in their roads, even at some sacrifice of better land. Investigation shows that the laying of such roads over hills has resulted more from attention to the preservation of farm lines than from scientific attention to the problem of road building.

According to the testimony of farmers consulted, where a horse might be able to pull 4,000 pounds on a level road, it would have difficulty in pulling 3,000 pounds up a steep hill. The size of the load, therefore, tends to be measured by the grade of the largest hill on the road to market. In a number of cases actual experiment shows that the relocating of roads around hills has been accomplished, either with no addition in road length in some instances, and with the adding of only a few feet to the highway in others. The Office knows of no case where a properly relocated road which has cut out grades has led to any question as to its material reduction of hauling costs.

KENTUCKY CROP REPORT.

The crop report as of November 1st, was intentionally delayed a few days for the purpose of giving the farmers an opportunity of ascertaining the final yield of the corn crop, and to get a better idea as to the final yield of tobacco. This is the last report that the Department will publish in 1913. The next report will be as of May 1st, next year.

The long drouth in Kentucky has been broken. There has been sufficient rain-fall to start the fall sown grains off in splendid condition, and stock water in most places is now plentiful. Fall grass is starting to grow, but it is too late in the season for any great amount of pasture to be secured. The cold weather and short supply of grass have caused the farmers to begin feeding stock from a month to six weeks earlier than usual. Quite a good deal of fall plowing has been done.

The final yield of corn in Kentucky for 1913 as reported is 20.5 bushels per acre. The Government estimate for 1912 was 30.4 bushels. The final yield of Burley tobacco is reported as 655 pounds per acre. As there was an acreage of approximately 175,000, this would indicate that the Burley crop of Kentucky would be 115,000,000 pounds. The final yield of Dark tobacco is 503 pounds per acre, and with an acreage of approximately 150,000, makes the total yield of Dark tobacco about 75,000,000 pounds. The drouth has cut corn about one-third, Burley tobacco about one-third and Dark tobacco about one-half.

The per cent of wheat sown is given as 91.5, and the condition of this wheat as 91.5. This indicates rather a large crop of wheat for next year. A large acreage of rye given as 96.5, has been sown, and the condition as given as 95.8. Alfalfa, clover, orchard grass and bluegrass all show up in fairly good condition. The rains have revived many of the grasses that looked as if they would not be of any more value.

Hog cholera has abated in certain sections of the State, but is raging in the mountain sections and in Western Kentucky. Many of the hogs that are usually fattened upon the mast of the timber regions are this year dying from cholera. Catarrhal Fever, or Black Tongue has broken out among horses in but one place in the State, and that is in Southeastern Kentucky.

A great deal of the corn that has been produced is unsound. The supply of roughness is short and with practically no winter pasture and with feeding beginning so early, a large death rate may be expected among the livestock of the State this winter. Warm, sanitary quarters are always a good thing for live stock, but are absolutely necessary where the supply of food is not up to the standard. Farmers can save the lives of a great many animals by preparing comfortable quarters for them now.

Respectfully,
J. W. NEWMAN,
Commissioner of Agriculture.

Rural Routes in Two States.

A Western Kentucky paper calls attention to the fact that Tennessee has 1,650 rural routes, an average of fifteen to the county, while Kentucky has only 769, an average of six to the county.

The difference is attributed to the better roads in Tennessee Apparently there is no other reason why Tennessee should have nearly twice as many rural routes as Kentucky. Rural routes cannot be operated satisfactorily when the roads are not good. It may be possible to maintain some sort of a service, but it will not be a service worthy of the name.

A number of rural routes in Kentucky have been abolished because of bad roads. The principal obstacle to the establishment of new ones is the unfavorable road conditions. On this account many rural communities do not have their daily mails delivered at the farmers doors. This ought to be an incentive to highway improvement.

If every rural carrier had good roads to travel over in making his daily rounds the efficiency of the service would be made greater. The Federal Government insists that the roads be kept in good order, but it is true nevertheless that many of them are not in a condition which enables the carrier to give the patrons a continuously prompt and reliable service.

Tennessee with an average of fifteen rural routes to the county, is not as large a State as Kentucky in area or in population. It does not seem possible that the people of Tennessee are more appreciative of the benefits of rural delivery than are the citizens of Kentucky. The great difference in the relative standing of the two States seems to be due almost entirely to the fact that for some years past Tennessee has been actively engaged in building roads, while Kentucky has been talking about better roads, but doing very little actual building.

A Double Road System.

Adams county, Ind., has a road system of which it is very proud and which is said to be highly satisfactory to those who reside in the county and make daily use of the roads.

Adams county some years ago was a swampy region and much of the land was of little value. When a movement for drainage was under way it was decided to construct good roads at the same time that the swampy land was being reclaimed. The money was raised and the draining and road-building were carried out concurrently. There is now a great demand for Adams county farms because they are highly productive and because good roads have put the farmers nearer to their local markets.

The double road system has been adopted in Adams county and the plan is a good one. The system consists of a wide and smooth permanent highway, paralleled by a dirt road. In dry weather the dirt roads are used; in wet weather the hard and permanent roads are in use. This saves the wear and tear on the paved roads and also saves the feet of the horses. Work is required on only one part of the system, since the permanent road virtually take care of itself. The dirt road alongside the permanent road is worked chiefly with the split-log drag, or some variation of that implement.

A dirt road is all right for use in dry weather provided it is smooth. A good dirt road alongside a turnpike will save much wear and tear on the pike, since many travelers will prefer the dirt road and others will take to it to vary the monotony of traveling on a hard road. The Adams county system is not a bad idea. The turnpikes will last much longer by reason of the close proximity of the well-kept dirt road.—C.-J.

Days We Celebrate.

President Wilson and Gov. McCreary have called on the people to observe Nov. 27 as Thanks giving Day. That's all right, of course, for Thanksgiving is a fixed event. But, honestly, we are getting tired of being called on to celebrate days. We have to celebrate Memorial Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, The Fourth of July, Christmas, New Year, Arbor Day, Columbus Day, Washington's Birthday. And then the Governor comes along and asks us to observe Clean-up Day, and go out and work on Good Roads Day, and the School Superintendent wants us to celebrate Flag Day, nad here comes Commencement and Hallowe'en and April's Fool and Valentine's Day, and the Lord knows what else. If properly celebrated there would not be time to recover between celebrations.—Cynthiana Democrat

DO YOU KNOW
Hill's
Sells Groceries and Seeds at the same price other merchants pay for them? Our line is complete and goods of the highest quality.
WRITE FOR PRICES

You Can Make Rich Snow White Bread With
PERFECTUS
BEST WINTER PATENT
GEO. W. HILL & CO.
COVINGTON, KY.

$5.25 Per Bbl
Freight Paid to your Station
Every Barrel Guaranteed.

IT'S BETTER TO DRINK
NOBETTER COFFEE
25c Per Lb
Increasing Sales Prove Merit
20 lbs. or More Freight Paid.

BLEND
COFFEE
A FINE DRINK
20c Per Pound.

25-lb. Box
Fancy California Evaporated
PEACHES
$2.00 or 3 lbs 25c

Send Your Orders for Canned Goods. They Will Be Higher.
Fancy Ohio Corn 70c per doz.
Solid Packed Tomatoes.....
.....$1 per doz.
Wisconsin Early June Pea.....
.....$1 per doz
California Lemon Cling.....
Peaches.....$1.35 per doz
Stringless Beans $1.00 per doz
Pink Salmon.....90c per doz
Atmore's Condensed Mince.....
Meat.....2 pkgs. 25c

NEW PURE
N. O. Molasses.
5 Gallon Can
$3.00

New Navy Beans
$2.30 Per Bu.

15-Gallon Kegs
NEW KRAUT
$4.50

BUY
Hill's Tested Seeds.
Always Better-Always Cheaper
Write for Prices.
Geo. W. Hill & Co.
GROCERS & SEEDMEN,
27-29 Pike St. or 26 W. 7th,
Covington, Ky.
Established 1863.

A TRULY WONDERFUL SALE
The Climax in Value-Giving
Reached in this wonderful offering of exceptionally Smart Suits and Overcoats for Men and Young Men at—
$10 and $15

A Woolen Purchase of decided advantage—at an unusual price concession—enables us to add further to this store by giving our customers greater values than usual—the best anywhere.

Suits and Overcoats made from same grade fabrics that go into our $18 and $20 clothes for men and young men now possible and offered at..... $15
Values are $10 to $15 better than elsewhere.

Suits and Overcoats made from same grade fabrics that go into our $12 and $12.50 clothes for men and young men now possible and offered at..... $10
Values are $3 to $5 better than elsewhere.

The Best Clothes in the World at $18 and $20
Overcoats of every sort from the swagger, loose belted models to the Chesterfield. Suits on conservative and English models. You'll find tailoring that can't be improved on. They will meet your idea of what clothes should be. The best anywhere at $18 and $20.

Great Values In Boys' CLOTHES $1.50 to $7.50
We can dress your boys right and save you money. Ideal Norfolk Suits at $5 and $5. Other good kinds, $1.50 to $7.50. Overcoats in Chinchillas, Friezes and Meltons, with shawl collars.

Stetson Hats, $3.50. Eilerman"s "Speoial Make," $2.00
The best hats made for the money. Others at $1.50.
Underwear, Gloves, Sweaters at a saving of 20 to 30 per cent.
Don't fail to see Show Windows for Saturday Specials.

COVINGTON H. Eilerman & Sons NEWPORT

Tobacco Growers
Bring Your Tobacco to the
Falmouth Loose Leaf
Tobacco Warehouse Co.
(INCORPORATED)
FALMOUTH, KY.
TELEPHONE No. 87.

Best equipped and the largest loose leaf house in Northern Kentucky.

The best lighted house in the State, which enables us to show your tobacco to the best advantage.

We built this house for the growers of tobacco. The dealer did not need it, as he could ship to other markets; but not so with the farmer, because he could not pack for the old hogshead market to an advantage.

In this house the grower with a small crop has just the same advantage as the grower with a large crop, or the dealer, as each grade is put into a basket to itself.

We positively will have buyers from all the large manufacturers in the United States, and also buyers for the export trade.

We have a separate house with side track to receive tobacco shipped by railroad, so that the car tobacco and the farmers' wagons will not interfere with one another as in other markets.

We will be ready to receive your tobacco on December 1st.

Our openning sale will be on Saturday, December 6th.

We will have four sales days each week.

James Taylor, one of the RECORDER'S pioneer subscribers, made this office a brief call last Monday while in Burlington. Mr. Taylor is one of the substantial citizens of Big Bone precinct and is seldom seen at the county seat.

John Klopp, of Aurora Ferry, was a visitor to this office last Monday, and boosted his subscription to the fifteen notch. Knowing a good thing when he sees it he added the combination to his reading matter.

Thomas Fowler, Joseph Walton and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. White attended services at the Big Bone Baptist church, last Sunday. It was an educational trip for Mr. Walton as a manipulator of an auto.

Local Happenings.

Warm weather last week put a crimp in hog killing.

Samuel Petit butchered a hog that netted 440 pounds.

A horse belonging to W. J. Rice was snagged badly a few days since.

Hubert White has bought a five passenger Ford auto of B. B. Hume last week.

At the time of going to press prospects for a nice Thanksgiving are not good.

The weather has been fine for husking corn and doing other work on the farm the past week.

Ransom Ryle, of Locust Grove neighborhood, sold a fine colt to Bert Smith, one day last week.

The local school has been dismissed until next Monday on account of the Thanksgiving holiday.

Jesse Kirkpatrick completed last week for J. J. Duncan one of the best stock barns in this part of the county.

A good six year old mule belonging to Chas. Hensley on R. D. 1, died a few days ago after a day's illness.

Grass looks green and with a little encouragement on the part of Old Sol it would make a rapid growth.

In this issue Dr. Hafer, of Florence, advertises a sale of personal property. Look up his advertisement.

The weather the past week was hard on the meat the farmers had butchered just previous to the moderation in the temperature.

J. M. Baker directs his paper changed from Covington to Big Bone. He has been succeeded in the revenue service by a Democrat.

Mrs. Eliza Walton, of Commissary, bought a five passenger automobile of B. B. Hume last week, and her son, Joe, is busy learning to operate it.

J. C. White and family have moved to the residence next to the postoffice, which was vacated a few days ago by Caddie Maurer and family.

Charles Maurer and family are no longer citizens of Burlington, they having moved to the farm Mr. Maurer purchased out on the Belleview pike several weeks ago of Mr. McMillan, where it is hoped and believed they will do well in his new home.

Jack Erdine was carrying a live coon in a sack a few days ago when it bit him severely under one shoulder. It took some time to get Mr. Coon in the notion to loosen its hold, and during the performance it is said Jack did the Turkey Trot in the most approved style.

Elder J. Harvey Daily and wife, of Greenfield, Ind., were guests of County Clerk W. R. Rogers and sisters on Wednesday night of last week. Elder Daily preached an interesting sermon in the Methodist church that night, and had a good congregation considering the very short announcement.

Three large trucks from the city were in Burlington, last Thursday, one of them belonging to Dine's Furniture House in Covington, one to the Cincinnati Hay and Grain Co., and the other to Streitman's Bakery. The truck business is growing rapidly in the city and the firms are extending their use to the country in the delivery of goods to their customers.

Last Monday Leslie Stephenson, of Limaburg neighborhood, used a match to look for something in a press, and in some way some of the articles stored there caught fire which was not discovered for about half an hour, when the family smelled something burning and began a search and happened to open the press and found the interior a mass of flames. By hard work the flames which would have been beyond control in a few minutes were subdued. Considerable clothing was destroyed.

State Game Warden, A. C. Scott, of Eminence, Henry county, accompanied by Deputy Game Warden, C. W. Scales, of Covington, were officially busy in this county several days the past week, and succeeded in collecting considerable evidence of the violation of the State game and fish laws, and several prosecutions for these violations may result. They say they want to give to the farmers the protection to which they are entitled under the law.

The sportsmen who have paid for their hunting licenses according to law are entitled to the privilege of hunting. But, there are some who will hunt without a license, and the game wardens are trying to unite the efforts of law abiding sportsmen and farmers, all of whom should be concerned, in protecting the game, against illegal hunting, and they claim by a concert of action, the game butchers, those who hunt in season and out of season, with license or without license, can be compelled to observe the law, and the hunting season will then be a pleasure for those who enjoy the sport.

"NUFF"

Cried Walton and Florence at The End of the First Half.

Final Battle in the Spelling Contest Resulted in a Conceded Victory for Burlington.

The interest in the high school spelling matches crystalized in the final contest at Florence on last Friday. The largest crowd ever assembled in the Florence school building was there to see the opposing teams do battle for the honor of their respective schools. Automobiles and buggies were lined up on and around the school yard. The schools gathered, decorated with pennants and ribbons in their respective colors and giving their yells and songs. Besides the schools most directly interested, the Union school was there in a body yelling for whomsoever might be their favorites, whether teams or individuals. A large number of other people, patrons and friends of education, were present as well.

The same plan used at the matches last week was used again. When the half-through recess was reached the principals of the Walton and Florence schools having conferred together announced that the lead of the Burlington team was so great that they were sure that they would be unable to overcome it. Therefore, the hour being late, they proposed to concede the victory to Burlington. This action seemed a little unwise as it gave the impression of placing the emphasis upon the winning of the banner rather than on the real object of the contests, the benefit to be derived from the spelling exercise.

The standing of the teams at the close of the contest was as follows. Out of 75 words pronounced to each team:

Burlington missed 4.
Walton missed 12.
Florence missed 19.

This gives Burlington the banner for this year. The result indicates an improvement in their work as they were the first to go down last year.

In conclusion the writer desires to say that the Burlington school is delighted with the treatment it received by the schools with which it engaged in contests, and especially does it appreciate the kindly spirit manifested by Prof. Yealey and his pupils.

E. L. D.

Teachers Meeting.

Program for Teachers' Meeting to be held at Big Bone Springs school house, Saturday, Nov. 29, 1913, at 2 o'clock.

Devotional Exercises—Supt. E. C. Riley.

The Problem of the Truant and Delinquent—Mrs. Maud Watson.

The Value of Discipline to the school—Miss Etna McAtee.

The Disinterested Pupil—Mrs. Bondurant.

Home work—How much required—How to secure it?—Mr. Elijan Stephens.

How to Avoid Tardiness—Miss Ena Stephens.

Cooperation of Parents—Miss Georgia Aylor.

Morality of Children—Miss Luta Ryle.

Value of Story Telling to Primary Grades—Miss Elma Allen.

The Cooperation of Pupils—Miss Christina Stephens.

Promotion and Grading—Miss Agnes Hodges.

MRS. ELVA MELVIN,
Chairman.

Teachers Meeting.

Teachers' Meeting at Pt. Pleasant school, 10:30 a. m., Saturday, Dec. 6th, 1913.

Methods of Teaching Beginners how to read—Miss Anna Miller.

What parts of History should be read only and what parts should be memorized?—Miss Elizabeth McGlasson.

Discuss Arithmetic in the seventh and eighth years and show how the students may be taught together without turning any students back in their work.—Miss Lizzie Vest.

Show how the Language lessons may be correlated with real life.—Mrs. Anna Hogan.

How study the health conditions of the community and show what the school may do to improve them.—Miss Stella Carpenter.

Discuss Discipline in school.—Principal of Florence School.

Which causes more crime, idleness or ignorance of facts of government?—Miss Flora Youell.

Why are so many boys leaving the farm?—Miss Anita Hempfling.

MAMIE HALEY.

Dr. Porter, of Lexington, was greeted by a good sized audience at the court house, last Friday night, when he delivered his lecture on "Sweethearts Wives and Mothers," for the benefit of the Ladies' Mite Society of the local Baptist church. The lecture abounded with humor and pathos and as a whole was a literary gem, sustaining fully Dr. Porter's reputation as one of the best lecturers on the platform. The Mite Society realized quite a nice little sum on the lecture and is to be congratulated for having obtained the services of so entertaining and instructive a lecturer as Dr. Porter.

John L. Jones, of Landing, had a very exciting fire in his wash house one day the first of this week. The building was saved but the week's washing of clothing was a total loss. A timely discovery of the fire saved the building. The clothes caught fire in some way in the absence of Mrs. Jones.

The Corn Show.

The Corn Show held at the county high school building at Burlington, last Saturday, was a success as to both attendance and exhibits. The corn that was on exhibition made a good showing for those who grew it and ought to inspire all other farmers to an increased effort to improve their corn the quality of which is as susceptible to improvement as the breeds of live-stock they grow.

At the conclusion of the show Benj. Paddock, of Hebron, began the sale of the exhibits that were awarded the premiums, and the bidding was spirited and fancy prices prevailed, the highest price being sixty-five cents for a single ear.

The ladies department proved very popular and the display was quite large, several of the best cooks in the county having on exhibition samples of their work. The premium articles in this department were also sold to the highest bidders and brought a very neat little sum.

The Judges were—Corn Show &c., A. E. Walker, of Lexington; Ladies Department—Mesdames R. S. Cowen and W. L. Riddell.

Following is the premium list:

Boone County White—Stevens Bros., Arch Acra.

Johnson County White—Stevens Bros., L. T. Clore.

Yellow Dent—E. A. Blankenbeker, Stevens Bros.

Leaming—Harper & Dinn, B. Paddock.

Calico—R. R. Allen, A. W. Gaines.

Ten Ears not Classed—Stevens Bros., N. C. Tanner.

Single Ear White—J. B. Cloud, R. S. Cowen.

Single Ear Yellow—Stevens Bros. L. J. Moore.

Single Ear not Classed—A. W. Gaines.

Single Stalk—W. P. Cropper.

Rice Pop Corn—Robert Clore, Robert Utz.

Pop Corn anyother Variety—Robert Clore.

Boys' Corn Club—Robert McGlasson, Courtney Kelly, Harold Crigler.

Single Ear—Courtney Kelly, Robert McGlasson.

LADIES DEPARTMENT.

Pumpkin Pie—Nettie Kelly, Artie Hafer.

Apple Pie—Ettie Walton, Artie Hafer.

Sweet Potato Pie—Ettie Walton Artie Hafer.

Devil Food Cake—Mrs. Charles Kelly, Miss Eunie Willis.

Cocoanut Cake—Ora Ross, Laura Aylor.

Fruit Cake—Mrs. R. B. Carver, Miss Mary Utz.

Doughnuts—Artie Hafer.

Yeast Bread—Mrs. Alice Snyder.

Salt Rising—Mrs. Artie Hafer.

Light Corn Bread—Mrs. Ora Ross

Quart Sorghum—Ben Paddock.

Quart Apple Butter—Mrs. Chas Kelly.

Quart Vinegar—Virginia Clore.

Corn Husk Mat—G. O. Hafer.

Everett—Bennett.

At 1:00 o'clock last Wednesday afternoon Rev. C. C. Hall pronounced the ceremony that united in marriage Mr. Riley Bennett, of Paducah, to Miss Lillian Everett, of Hiseville.

The wedding which was a quiet but nicely arranged affair took place at the home of the bride's father, Mr. S. T. Everett. Only a few relatives and friends were present. The bride is a very lovable young lady and will be greatly missed by a large circle of friends. We are not acquainted with Mr. Bennett but understand him to be a highly respected man who is to be congratulated on winning such an excellent lady. They will leave in a few days for Central City where they will visit relatives and friends. From there the happy couple will go to Paducah where they will make their future home. Their many friends will join in wishing them much success along life's pathway.—Hart County Herald.

Both bride and groom are former pupils at Danville, Kentucky school for Deaf Mutes. The grooms first wife was Miss Mary Kilgour, a sister of Mrs. Manlius Goodridge and Harry Kilgour, both of Francesville, and Will H. Kilgour, of Covington, Ky.

W. H. K.

Affidavits from 23 representative counties that property in them were assessed at all the way from one-third to 60 per cent of its fair cash value, were filed before the State Board of Valuation and Assessment by the attorneys for the Louisville and Nashville who contend that the property of the L. & N. should be equalized at 60 per cent, under the opinion of Judge Cochran in the Federal Court that railroad property should be equalized at the same percentage of valuation as other property in the State, notwithstanding the statutory direction that all property shall be assessed at its fair cash value.

PUBLIC SALE.

I will sell at public auction at my residence in Florence, Ky. on SATURDAY, NOV. 29, 1913.

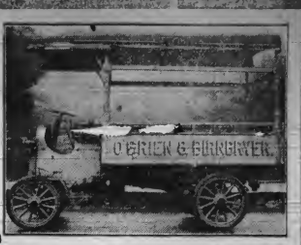
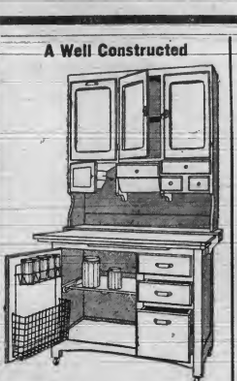
Following Property:



Cook Stove, Safe, Dining Table, Kitchen Table, Refrigerator, chairs Couch, Stands, two Bookcases, childs folding bed, Chickering Piano, carpets and matting, buggy, set double buggy harness, buggy pole, new ornamental lawn fencing and two lawn gates, and other articles too numerous to mention.

Terms—All sums of $5.00 and under cash, over $5.00 Six months credit, purchaser to give note with approved security negotiable and payable at Florence Deposit Bank.

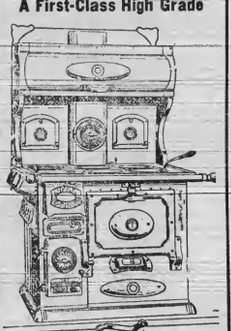


Sale to begin at 2 p. m.

L. C. HAFER, M. D.

We Deliver to any point we can reach with this

A Well Constructed



Oak Kitchen Cabinet

With Nickeloid Top
Complete in other ways.

$15.75

A First-Class High Grade

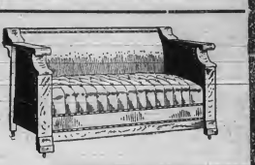
Blue Steel Range

with Zinc and Pipe.
large oven and 6 holes.

$24.75

OAK HEATER

Large enough to heat Average Room



$4.75

Davenports

4 or 6 ft. convertible into up-to-date Sanitary Bed

$22.50

Room Size 9x12 Brussell Rugs

$11.75

O'Brien & Birnbryer

—DEALERS IN—

Good Furniture, Rugs and Stoves

AT REASONABLE PRICES.

736 Madison Ave., - COVINGTON, KY.

Cook-Adams Marriage.

At four o'clock Sunday afternoon Nov. 2d Miss Emma Adams and Mr. Thomas B. Cook were married at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. W. C. DeCoursey. Rev. George Hyman in an impressive manner pronounced the words which made the happy couple one.

Miss Adams originally from Cincinnati, Ohio, has resided in Sanford for the past two years. Since coming here she has endeared herself to a large circle of friends.

Mr. Cook is a conductor on the Seaboard Air Line Railway and is now stationed at Orlando where the happy couple will reside in the future.

The above is copied from a Sanford, Florida, paper of the 11th inst. The bride is well known here, being a daughter of the late Thos. J. Adams and a sister of Jailer J. S. Adams. She was for a long time the principal operator at the local telephone exchange, and has a host of friends who wish her well in her new relations in life.

Teachers Meeting.

Program for Teacher's Meeting to be held at Beaver Lick school house, Saturday, Dec. 13, 1913, at 2 p. m.

What kind of Education Prepares for Life in the Country?—E. C. Riley.

Position and Manners of Children.—Mrs. Hahn.

Mind Training vs. Memorizing.—Prof. Martin.

Treatment of the Unprepared.—Mariam Morris.

How May the School Aid in Bringing about Social Pleasures in the Country?—Everett L. Dix.

Advantages of a High School Education for the Rural Child.—Prof. J. L. Chambers.

ANNA MAY CLEEK.

USEFUL PRESENTS

A pair of our gold Glasses makes a useful and beautiful reminder for the holidays.

We also have Gold Eyeglass, Chains and Opera Glasses—all at reasonable prices.

N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,

613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

Phone, South 1746.

Union Creamery Company

UNION, KENTUCKY

Pays the highest possible price for Butter Fat in whole milk and hand separated cream. Honest tests and weights guaranteed.

A. L. Mallett, :: Manager.

Phone, Consolidated No. 40.

B. B. ALLPHIN

WITH THE

L. J. BUDDE & CO.

Live Stock Commission Merchants

Union Stock Yards, CINCINNATI. Phone W. 4296.

EGGS FOR THE FAMILY

Hundreds of People Keeping Chickens in Small Space.

All That Is Required Is Suitable Ground and Reasonable Knowledge of Principles of Poultry Raising —House Is Factor.

(By PROF. JOHN WILLARD BOLTE.)

Did you know that anyone with a small yard and the ambition to try, can easily keep enough chickens to furnish eggs for the family and enough extra to pay for the keep of the flock? This fact is so well proven that there are hundreds of people doing it in every city and town in the country.

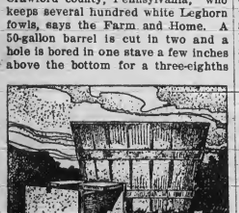
A space of 20 by 30 feet is enough yard for 50 hens, when handled properly. All it requires is the ground and a reasonable knowledge of the principles of poultry keeping. In fact, we know a number of people who are keeping poultry successfully, and the laying hens have never set foot outside of their houses. Of course this intensive method calls for considerable skill and experience in order to avoid disease and kindred afflictions, due to the very close confinement, but fowls can be handled successfully in this way, and the details of this method will be taken up in a later article.

There is absolutely no reason why fowls will not lay as many eggs and do as well in the city as in the country, under normal conditions, and it is possible to produce eggs as cheaply one place as another, buying the same amount of food.

Fowls kept in confinement are usually more profitable than fowls that have free range, all things being considered, hence the city flock is as well off as the country flock. City dwellers also have the advantage of having easy access to sources of cheap feed like bakery and hotel waste, fresh bones from the butcher shop, etc.

The poultry house is one of the most important factors to success, and success means many eggs at a low price. The house should face in such a way that the maximum amount of sunlight shines on the floor during the winter months. This means dry, healthy floors and freedom from disease and colds. A house 10x10 feet will allow sufficient floor space for from 20 to 30 hens, provided the house is kept scrupulously clean, and there is an abundance of fresh air at all times of day or night. Have most of the south side of the house either glass or muslin sash, and fully half of it should be the muslin. Avoid cross drafts and keep the house as dry and clean and sweet smelling as your own.

What sort of hens shall we use? The breed makes absolutely no difference as far as your success is concerned. All of the business breeds are profitable when handled with common sense, and there is a far greater difference between the different strains and flocks in the same breed or variety than there is between the different breeds taken as a whole.



The owner of the city flock can feed his hens at a cost of about a dollar each per year. His return in eggs should be higher per hen than the manager of the large commercial flock gets, and an average of a dozen eggs per hen per month is not at all out of the way for any small flock properly handled. Figure out the profit on 30 hens on your back lot for yourself.

It is not necessary or advisable to keep a rooster with the city flock, as the hens will lay better, if anything, without his presence, and you can buy your young pullets each year just about as cheaply as you can raise them in the city. This does away with the biggest objection to city flocks of poultry, namely the rooster's crowing.

WATERING DEVICE FOR FOWLS

Pennsylvania Man Arranges Fifty-Gallon Barrel That Works Automatically—Burlap Keeps It Clean.

An automatic watering fountain for poultry is in use by C. C. McCurdy of Crawford county, Pennsylvania, who keeps several hundred white Leghorn fowls, says the Farm and Home. A 50-gallon barrel is cut in two and a hole is bored in one stave a few inches above the bottom for a three-eighths or one-half inch pipe. This is laid into a trough or pan and an ordinary float valve attached which keeps the water in the pan at a certain height. The barrel is then filled with water and covered with a burlap bag, which keeps out the dirt and prevents the chickens from fouling it.

Automatic Water Fountain for Fowls.

Knowledge Is Lacking.

The chicken does not refuse to lay eggs or get fat through perverseness of character. It is simply because the owner does not know how to bring about desired results.

Feeding Old Turkeys.

Do not feed the old turkeys too much nor too fattening food, or they will become debilitated and useless for next season's breeding.

ENGLISH SLANG A RIDDLE

Language of Cricket Game as Confusing as American Report of Baseball Game.

Why so much slang should accompany the report of a baseball game is a mystery of America that no Englishman has ever solved. Really, you know, it's quite absurd; and a jolly bit confusing, old chap.

Of course, baseball slang is confusing to the stranger to the game, but an Englishman should never criticise our baseball slang, as Arnold Bennett, W. L. George and many others have done. Crickett slang is just as confusing, just as foolish to stranger ears—and, no doubt, just as essential to the game.

In describing the recent Eton and Harrow match at Lord's, a big event in the cricket season, the London Sphere uses a few phrases that sound like an American sporting page:

"The bat must have come forward crooked and it is not surprising to see the leg stump turning cartwheels.

"Thee best ball sent down in the match. It started well outside the off stump, swerved inward late in its flight, and fairly fizzled off the pitch in its new direction.

"Amory got most of his runs by beating the ball to the boundary in front of square leg, and he was not a bit particular about the line on which the ball was pitched. Several went from outside off stump, but this one pitched on his pads. Oates, behind the wicket, jumped to the leg side to save the possible bye. Eventually Amory tried one cow shot too many and the middle stump went for a walk."

TWO USES FOR WIRE-GLASS

Used Primarily for Fireproofing, It Is Also Said to Be Burglar-Proof.

Wire-glass is said to be both burglar-proof and fireproof. In the first case, the wire netting embedded in its center cannot, it is claimed be broken or cut noiselessly, so that entrance by means of doors or cellar coverings of this material by thieves is rendered difficult, if not impossible. Such glass is, however, more often employed for fireproofing than for other purposes, and it enters largely into the construction of elevator doors, partitions, windows, etc.

One expert, who has tested wire-glass up to 1,700 degrees Fahrenheit, keeping it at this high temperature for half an hour at a time, states that at the first rush of heat the glass crackles, but that the netting holds it together, so that the flame cannot pass through. It will, it seems, hold flame up to the melting point, which is different in different kinds of glass, since some melt at 1,000 degrees and others withstand 2,000 degrees successfully. When a stream of water is turned on wire-glass that has melted almost to the running point, it immediately solidifies, so that it is a material well suited for elevator shafts, where a sudden rush of flame would crack ordinary glass and admit fire to all floors.—Harper's Weekly.

Describing Gout.

A well-known clubman in the smoking room the other evening gave some of his fellow members a picturesque description of the gout.

"You lie in bed," he said, "with the gouty foot stretched out, and you feel as though the sole of it was pressed against the bars of a red-hot fire in the middle of the furnace is a fellow with a gun loaded to the muzzle with red-hot needles. Presently he fires the gun at your foot and you feel the red-hot needles travel up your leg and come out at the knee, not all at once, but like the animals went into the ark, two by two. When the last couple of needles have finished the course you find yourself sweating with fear, and wondering how long it will be before the fellow fires the gun again. Presently you find he is under contract to fire it every five minutes and you get ready for the discharge. But you can never be said to get accustomed to it, because the blackguard loads it with a new kind of red-hot needle every time, and sometimes adds half a dozen red-hot corkscrews. That's the gout."

Annual Infliction.

An east Cleveland young man, accompanied by his fiancee, lately called at the home of a mutual friend, where there had been a recent addition to the family. They were greeted at the door by the young wife and mother, who happened to be suffering from a severe cold. After an exchange of conventional commonplaces the young man inquired after the welfare of the baby. And the young matron understood him to be asking about her cold. Hence the following startling reply. "Well, I have one every year about this time, but this is the meanest one I've ever had."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Changing Lead to Gold.

Professor Soddy makes the assertion boldly that it is only a question of application to change lead into gold. He says that while now we can only work with electricity at 100,000 volts, it is only a matter perfecting the method to be able to work at ten times that voltage, when the baser metals can be changed into the more precious. In other words, electricity, when brought to its highest efficiency and application, is the real Philosopher's Stone for which the alchemists of the middle ages searched so long.

Public Sale.

Having sold my farm, I will offer at public auction at my farm one mile west of Florence, Boone county, Ky., on

Wednesday, Dec. 3d, 1913

the following property:

Two Mares 6 and 7 years old, one aged Marc, 4 Cows one fresh, one Heifer, Road Wagon, two top Spring Wagons, 2 Wagon poles, Buggy, Runabout, Cart, 2-h Sled, 1-h Sled, Mowing Machine and Rake, Chill Plow, 2 Cultivators, Double Shovel, Single Shovel, Disc, Acme and Tooth Harrows, Hoosier Corndrill with fertilizer attachment, 2 sets Double Work Harness, 2 sets Single Harness, Set Buggy Harness, two Saddles and Bridles, lot Corn, Hay and Fodder, Coal, Seed Potatoes, 4 doz. Chickens, Bees, some Household and Kitchen Furniture, and other articles too numerous to mention.

TERMS OF SALE.

Sums of $10 and under, cash; sums over $10 a credit of Nine months will be given, purchaser to give note with good security, negotiable and payable at the Florence Deposit Bank, Florence, Ky. Terms must be complied with before moving property.

Sale to begin at 9 a. m.

JOSEPH WEISENBERG.
TONEY BENTLER, Auct'r.

FOR SALE

In Constance, Ky., large building lot—on this lot is a building 58x48, built for a club-house. This is a very substantial structure, has a truss roof and not a post in the interior. This building can be carefully taken down and removed if necessary, or can be remodeled into apartments. I want to dispose of this property at an early date and will sell it at a sacrifice, in fact for one-half what the lumber cost to erect it. Apply to or address G. F. SNYDER,
4t 711 Plum St., Cincinnati, O.

WANTED—A good, steady, farm hand by the month or year to begin work at once or soon as possible. Good house and good wages guaranteed to right party. Apply to or address J. W. EWBANKS, Brashear, Ky.

Christmas Gifts
THAT
Mean Something

Whether you spend little or much for Christmas it is important that your gifts have lasting values.

You receive a gift or two every year that gives you more pleasure than all the others because of its perfect usefulness.

Make all your gifts useful, no matter how low the price.

Christmas prices here are mostly lower than at other seasons, because of our large purchases.

The quality of everything in this store makes it a worthy gift, whether the price you pay is large or small.

The entire range of your family needs is covered by the articles you find here whether they be gig or little.

Here Are A Few Suggestions.

For Sister.
A Pretty Chair for Her Room; A Mahogany Work Table; A Dressing Table; A Slipper Chair; A Dressing Stool; A Music Cabinet; A Writing Desk; An Arm Chair; A Box Couch; A Bookcase.

For Mother or Wife.
A Bed-room Chair; A Jardinier; A China Closet; A Rocker; A Magazine Stand; A Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet; A Davenport.

For Grandfather.
A Comfortable Arm Chair; A High Back Rocker; A Genuine Leather Rocker; A Foot Stool; A Book Table.

For Grandmother.
A Jardinier Stand; A Sewing Rocker; A Morris Chair; A Magazine Stand; A Work Table; A Book Table.

For Father or Husband.
A Morris Chair; A High Back Rocker; A Shaving Stand; A Leather Rocker; A Cellarette; A Revolving Chair; A Couch; A Card Table; A Foot Stool; A Bookcase; A Wardrobe.

For Brother Jack.
A Chiffonier; A Morris Chair; An Arm Chair; A Cellarette; A Blacking Case

We Pay The Freight.
Louis Marx & Bros.
Furniture, Carpets, Stoves.

516-522 Madison Avenue, COVINGTON, - - - KY.

840 Monmouth Street, NEWPORT, - - - KY.

The Flame of Acetylene Light Is Small and the Burner Peculiar

You have probably noticed that a Pilot Country Home Acetylene burner is shaped like the letter "Y."

And, that the little gas openings in the arms of the burner are only pin hole size.

So small they let out only half of a cubic foot of Acetylene in an hour.

You might leave one of these Acetylene burners open by accident all day—and even then there wouldn't be gas enough in the air of the room to enable you to set fire to it if you tried.

As a matter of fact, your would have to leave the burner open fully three days and nights in a room twelve by fourteen, with windows and doors closed tight, before there would be any fire or explosion danger whatever.

And the chance of your leaving a burner open that long is not worth considering. The pungent odor of the escaping gas would be certain to attract attention in a few seconds.

Insurance Reports Say

That in a list of 10,000 recent fires and accidents caused by illuminants, 9990 were charged to the misuse and abuse of electricity, kerosene, gasoline and city gas and only ten to the misuse and abuse of Acetylene.

That's why the engineers of the National Insurance Board have endorsed Acetylene. They say it's safer than oil illuminants it is rapidly displacing.

Comparing Country Home Acetylene to its first cousin, city gas, we find:

That a standard city gas burner actually passes over ten times more gas in given time than a standard Acetylene burner.

That one hundred feet of Acetylene actually gives more light than a thousand feet of city gas.

That you could sleep under an open, unlighted Acetylene burner without harm—whereas escaping city gas would put you out in short order.

This does not mean that the twenty million people who use city gas with safety and comfort are not enjoying the greatest of all city conveniences.

o o o

They surely are — but without question the two hundred and fifty thousand (250,000) ruralites who now use home made Acetylene for lighting and cooking have all the best of it.

The farmer's pure white Acetylene light shining from handsome brass and bronze chandeliers makes the most beautiful home illuminant in the world. It makes, too, an equally effective light in the special fixtures fastened solidly to the timbers and ceiling of his porches barns and outbuildings.

He can and usually does equip all these lights with ignition attachments to light with the pull of a slender chain or rod—without matches.

For the Woman Folks

There is also the Acetylene cooking range.

These ranges are very similar to those used in city homes throughout the world. They have the four top burners, high ovens, glass panel door, the heat indicator and all the modern labor saving features.

No less than two hundred and fifty thousand country families will tonight gather around Acetylene lighted tables and eat food cooked on Acetylene ranges.

Most of these families make their own gas. Those who make it to best advantage use

Pilot Lighting Plants

These Pilot plants are strictly automatic. They simply require filling —with Union Carbide and water— once a month—they do all the rest.

We have been making and perfecting them since Acetylene was introduced fifteen years ago. Today we are the largest manufacturers of light plants in the world. We sell them through representatives in a thousand towns and cities and ship plants complete—Pilot machines—lighting fixtures and stove, from our three big factories.

An eastern factory in Newark—a central factory in Chicago and a western factory in Los Angeles.

You will find all the facts and figures in our illustrated catalogue. In writing for it, state how many rooms and buildings you wish to light and how many people in your family. Address:

G. J. GRUBBS
WALTON, KY.
Salesman
OXWELD ACETYLENE CO.
CHICAGO

Wont you Let

MY CLOTHING DO THE TALKING FOR THEMSELVES?

Kindly come in and see them. I will do business with you without argument You will find Quality and Workmenship.

MENS SUITS and OVERCOATS.....$5.00 to $18.00

YOUNG MEN'S SUITS AND OVERCOATS.....$3.00 to $15.00

Young Men, you must see these suits and Overcoats to appreciate their value.

Children's Norfolk Knickerbocker Suits well made and Durable $2.75, $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00.

Mothers you must see these to realize the bargains I am offering. A complete line of Corderoy and Duck Coats and Pants, the clothing out door workers need when disagreeable weather comes ou insures health and comfort.

Selmar Wachs
Successor to
Rolfes & Wachs,

NO. 1 Pike Street, Near Madison Ave.,
COVINGTON, KY.

Luncheon
AT
Neat Little Place

For Farmer, Workman, Merchant, Clerk and Professional Man.

R. J. DIBOWSKI'S CAFE

No. 6 Pike Street, - - Covington, Kentucky.

Commercial Plate Luncheon from 11 a. m. to 1:30 p. m.

But those who can play the piano usually refrain.

No, Cordelia, not every man who keeps books is a bookkeeper.

The man who takes himself seriously may be considered a joke by others

The average girl imagines the romance is missing from a proposal unless the stage is set for a moonlight scene.

If you think the average woman is weaker minded than the average man, you are entitled to another think.

Subscribe for The Recorder

ODD FACTS

A little copper added to steel prolongs its life.

A special car for invalids is operated on a Hungarian railroad.

The oxy-acetylene torch has been successfully used in wrecking a concrete structure.

Some one has figured out that we spend more for beer than for bread in this country.

The daily waste of the natural gas of the Oklahoma fields is equivalent to 10,000 tons of coal.

A new plan of street and roadway lighting consists of placing lamps in hoods along the curb line.

The electrification of the transportation facilities of Berlin will more than double the carrying capacity.

A Swiss hydro-electric plant utilizes a fall of 5412 feet, which is the greatest harnessed waterfall in the world.

The earliest record of needle-making in England is 1545, and the art is supposed to have been introduced by a Moor.

Recent ravages of cholera have made a great increase in the death statistics of Italy in the last half a dozen years.

Banking people are protesting against the custom of washing money. It makes the detection of counterfeits difficult.

The Barbadoes are said to be free from malaria because the tiny fish known as "millions" devour the mosquito larvae.

BLUNDERS IN PRINT

Notice on door of residence: "Please knock the bell out of order."

Sign in a Chicago drug store: "Save your coupons and get an art plague free."

A western bank announces: "We make the interest of our depositors our interest."

Newspaper on deceased financier: "He is reputed to have made $6,000,000 in as many years."

From a New York paper: "Emily was a queer girl, and so, for that matter, was her father."

Advertisement of institution in South Dakota: "Maternity hospital. Female patients only."

Manitoba Free Press, quoting Ralph Connor: "I who have never set foot outside my native shoes."

Card of cleaning company: "Don't take the life out of your rugs by beating them. Let us do it in a more sanitary way."

FEMININE ACTIVITIES

In an effort to cut down the cost of living several St. Louis society girls have formed a sewing and millinery club.

Nine women are in the race for the position of dean of the new Delaware College for Women to be opened at Newark, Del., next year.

Sarah Bernhardt, the famous French actress, is now an innkeeper, having purchased a new home. She rents out the rooms in her old villa.

Rome has a bureau for the care of wives and children of men who have gone to America and who cannot or do not send back funds to support their families.

In seven counties of California the registration of women for the first election at which they were privileged to vote amounted to between 80 and 90 per cent.

Miss Edith Pierce, Philadelphia's only women street inspector, is making a tour of the city addressing housewives on how to help to keep the city clean.

MUFFLED KNOCKS

Consider the gas meter. It toils not, but gee, how it can spin!

Ever notice how polite a man can be when he has a favor to ask?

Lots of men who talk basso profundo in a saloon are tenors when they are at home.

Any healthy boy can wear out six pairs of shoes while he is using one box of shoe polish.

The reason women kiss each other when they meet is because the Bible says we should love our enemies.

Men get big salaries for knowing some things. But it takes a woman to tell an artificial blonde from a real one.

Tact is when you cover your mouth with your hand and make the other party believe that the yawn was a smile.

Some husbands want their wives to tell them all they know. And some of them are lucky that they don't know all that their wives know.

REPORT of the Boone County Deposit Bank, doing business at Burlington, County of Boone, State of Kentucky, at the close of business on the 14 day of Nov., 1913.

RESOURCES:

Loans and Discounts	127,616.42
Overdrafts secured and unsecured	115.77
Stocks, Bond and other Securities	58,000.00
Due from Banks	25 642.86
Cash on hand	7,222.19
Checks and other cash items
Banking House, Furniture and Fixtures	3,000.00
Other Real Estate
Other assets not included under any of above heads
Total	$221,597.18

LIABILITIES:

Capital Stock paid in, in cash	30,000 00
Surplus Fund	45,000 00
Undivided Profits less expenses and taxes paid	3,583 26
Deposits subject to check 73 416.95
Demand Certificates of Deposits 63,334 94	136,751.89
Time Deposits
Certified Checks
Cashier's Checks outstanding
Due Banks and Ttust Cos.	2,239.98
Notes and Bills rediscounted
Unpaid Dividends
Reserve for Taxes
Bills Payable
Other Llabilities not includ- under auy of the above	4,042.05
Total	$221,597.18

State of Kentucky, } Sct.
County of Boone. }

We, N. E. Riddell and Jo C. Revill, President and Cashier of the above named Bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief.

N. E. Riddell, President.
Jo C. Revill, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 19th day of Nov., 1913.
My commission expires Jan'y 29th, 1916. W. D. Cropper, Notary Public.

Report of the condition of the Peoples Deposit Bank doing business, at town of Burlington, county of Boone, State of Kentucky, at the close of business on the 14th day of Nov. 1913:

RESOURCES.

Loans and Discounts	$155,383 01
Overdrafts, Secured and Unsecured	230 82
Stocks, Bonds and other Securities	28,598 00
Due from banks	28 851 96
Cash on hand	9,731 24
Checks and other cash items	127 06
Banking House, Furniture and Fixtures	5,000 00
Other Real Estate
Other assets not included under any of the above heads
Total	$227,922 09

LIABILITIES.

Capital Stock paid in, in cash	$20,000 00
Surplus Fund	10,000 00
Undivided profits less expenses and taxes paid	4,237 13
Deposits subject to check $ 74,303 85
Demand certificates of deposit
Time deposits 119,381 11
Certified checks
Cashier's Checks Outstanding	193,684 96
Due Banks and Trust Companies
Notes and Bills Rediscounted
Unpaid Dividends
Reserve for Taxes
Bills Payable
Other liabilities not included under any of the above heads
Total	$227,922 09

State of Kentucky, }
County of Boone } SCT.

We, W. L. B. Rouse and A. B. Renaker, President and Cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief.

W. L. B. Rouse, President,
A. B. Renaker, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 21st day of Nov., 1913.
My commission expires January 22, 1916.
Edgar C. Riley, Notary Public.

Will Assist in Road Building.

In order to aid farmers who want to build their own roads and to assist various communities that desire to improve the roads nearby, the Office of Public Roads Department of Agriculture, has employed experts to test all materials and study their usefulness on roads subjected to certain traffic conditions. The Office of Public Roads is now acting in an advisory capacity to many States and counties, giving a most practical form of national aid.

So far has the government advanced in the problems connected with road construction that efforts are now being made to teach the country that the expenditure of large sums of money on certain types of roads may result almost in a total waste. A road built of materials which would be ideal in one locality may not serve the purpose at all elsewhere and the money expended may bring scarcely any result in reducing the cost of hauling or making it easier for the farmer to get to the shipping point with his crops.

On roads where there is a very heavy traffic, it has been found that certain kinds of materials are better than others, and that while one kind of binder may not serve the purpose at all, another kind is ideal and preserves the road indefinitely. Millions of dollars doubtless have been wasted in the past because of the absence of the scientific knowledge which is now being obtained. There is no longer any excuse for any community building the wrong kind of road, as the Office of Public Roads stand ready to furnish any information that may be desired as to the course that should be pursued.

Report of the condition of the Erlanger Deposit Bank, doing business at the town of Erlanger, county of Kenton, State of Kentucky, at the close of business, on 14th day of Nov. 1913:

RESOURCES.

Loans and Discounts	$208,907.21
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured	866.10
Stocks, Bonds and other securities	7,400.00
Due from Banks	38,016.78
Cash on hand	9,242.45
Checks & other cash items.
Banking House, Furniture and Fixtures	3,000.00
Other Real Estate
Other Assets not included under any of above heads
Total	$267,432.57

LIABILITIES.

Capital Stock paid in, in cash	$50,000 00
Surplus Fund	17,000 00
Undivided profits less expenses and taxes paid	7,095.41
Deposits Subject to check	89,772.22
Demand Certificates of deps
Time Deposits	103,564.94
Certified Check
Cashier's checks outstang
Due Banks and Trust Co's.
Notes and Bills rediscoun'd
Unpaid Dividends
Reserve for taxes
Bills Payable
Other Liabilities not includ ed under any of above heads
Total	$267,432.57

State of Kentucky, }
County of Kenton, } SCT.

We, W. A. Price and H. S. Dixon, President and Cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief.

W. A. Price, President.
H. S. Dixon, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 20th day of Nov, 1913.
My commission expires Feb. 12, 1916.
E. F. Smith, Notary Public.
Correct attest:—J. H. Graves, L. P. Aylor, J. T. Craven, Directors.

REPORT of the condition of The Walton Bank and Trust Co., conducting both Banking Business and Trust Company Business at Walton in the State of Kentucky, at the close of business on the 14th day of Nov., 1913:

RESOURCES.

Loans and Discounts	$168,805.47
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured	1,233.10
Other Stocks, Bonds, Etc
Due from Banks	22,961.89
Cash on hand	6,253.01
Checks and other cash items	250.00
Banking House, Furniture Fixtures	3,741.16
Other Real Estate
Other Assets not included under any of above heads
Total	$203,244.63

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in, in cash	$50.000.00
Surplus Fund	10,000.00
Undivided Profits, less expenses and taxes paid	2,096.66
Deposits subject to check	68,816.31
Demand Certificates of Deposits
Time Deposits	59,055.25
Certified Checks
Cashier's Checks outstauding
Due Banks & Trust Companies	2,258.26
Notes and Bills rediscounted
Unpaid Dividends
Bills Payable	10,000.00
Other liabilities not included under any of above heads	1,018.15
Total	$203,244.63

State of Kentucky, }
County of Boone } Sct.

We, J. D. Mayhugh and R. C. Green, Vice-President & Cashier, of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

J. D. Mayhugh, Vice-President.
R. C. Green, Cashier.

Correct Attest: D. M. Bagby, E. K. Stephens, G. W. Ransfer, Directors.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 20th day of Nov., 1913.
My Commission expires Feb. 8, 1914.
T. F. Curley, Notary Public.

Report of the Farmers Bank, doing business at the town of Petersbug, County of Boone, State of Kentucky, at the close of business on Nov. 14, 1913:

RESOURCES:

Loans and Discounts	$57,127 22
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured	134 34
Stocks, bonds and other securities
Due from banks	25,958 34
Cash on hand	3,160 47
Checks and other cash items	28 18
Banking House, furniture and Fixtures	2,900 00
Other Real Estate
Other assets not included under any of the above heads
Total	$89,308 55

LIABILITIES:

Capital Stock paid in, in Cash	$15,000 00
Surplus Fund	3,000 00
Undivided profits less expenses paid	952 19
Deposits subject to check	41,804 86
Demand certificate of deposit
Time deposits	28,551 50
Certified checks
Cashier's checks outstanding
Due Banks and Trust Cos.
Notes and bills rediscounted
Unpaid dividends
Bills payable
Other liabilities not included under any of above heads
Total	$89,308 55

State of Kentucky, }
County of Boone, } SCT.

We, E. T. Krutz and Hubert Walton, President and Cashier of the above named Bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowlege and belief. E. T. Krutz, President.
Hubert Walton, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 21st day of Nov. 1913. My commission expires Mch 4, 1914.
E. L. Helms, Notary Public.

There is no need of guide posts on the road to ruin.

Nervous?

Mrs. Walter Vincent, of Pleasant Hill, N. C., writes: "For three summers, I suffered from nervousness, dreadful pains in my back and sides, and weak sinking spells. Three bottles of Cardui, the woman's tonic, relieved me entirely. I feel like another person, now."

TAKE

Cardui

The Woman's Tonic

For over 50 years, Cardui has been helping to relieve women's unnecessary pains and building weak women up to health and strength. It will do the same for you, if given a fair trial. So, don't wait, but begin taking Cardui today, for its use cannot harm you, and should surely do you good. E-72

WALTON GARAGE

C. S. Vallandingham, Prop.
Walton, Ky.

Repairing and Vulcanizing a Specialty.
Repairs and Fixtures.
Telephone Calls Given Prompt Attention.

Believe Me.

By trading at Thomann's you can save the Middleman's profit on Harness, Trunks and Blankets.

Wm. Thomann,
56 Pike Street,
Covington, Ky.

NOTICE.

Persons indebted to the estate of Noah Clore, deceased, are notified to come forward and settle, and those having claims against same must present the same to the undersigned proven as by law required.

Mrs. Mollie Clore,
Mrs. Effie Nichols.

Report of the condition of The Citizens Bank, doing business at the town of Erlanger, County of Kenton State of Kentucky, at the close of business on the 14th day of Nov., 1913.

RESOURCES:

Loans and Discounts	$23,346.25
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured	55.60
Stocks, Bonds and other Securities
Due from Banks	2,217 68
Cash on hand	3,711.43
Checks and other cash items	15.53
Banking House, Furniture & Fixtures	17,344.69
Other Real Estate
Other Assets not included under any of above heads	1,161 75
Total	$47,852.93

LIABILITIES

Capital Stock paid in, in cash	25,000,00
Surplus Fund
Undivided Profits, less expenses and taxes paid
Deposits subject to check	21,149.61
Demand Certificates of Deposit
Time Deposits	1,703.32
Certified Checks
Cashier's checks outstanding
Due Banks & Trust Companies
Notes and Bills Rediscounted
Unpaid Dividends
Reserve for taxes
Bills Payable
Other Liabilities not included under any of above heads
Total	$47,852.93

State of Kentucky, County of Kenton, Sct.

We, G. N. Buffington, and C. L. Gaines, president and cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief.

G. N. Buffington, President,
C. L. Gaines, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 21st day of Nov., 1913.
My commission expires February 8th, 1914. L. A. Bentler, Notary Public.

A love affair is like a well—easy to fall into and difficult to get out of.

GO THERE

AND SAVE THE DIFFERENCE
When you want a Davenport, Parlor Suit, Couch Rocker, Morris Chairs, Dining Room Chairs.

Fred W. Bremenkamp
Manufacture of
Upholstered Furniture
Factory and Sample Room
157 PIKE STREET,
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY
We Also Do Repairing and Refinishing.

GOOD & DUNKIE

Now the largest house in Covington. The cheapest and best place to buy Groceries, Flour, Seeds and Medicines.

Don't overlook us when you want anything in our line. Write us for prices. We can save you money.

NEW CLOVER SEED
NEW ALFALFA.
NEW TIMOTHY.
NEW KY. BLUE GRASS.

ARCADE FLOUR has doubled our flour trade in Covington in 12 months. The best on earth. Barrel..... $5.50
Freight Paid to Your Station.

GOLDEN BLEND COFFEE Pleases where others fail. Per Pound..... 25c

California Asparagus Tips, can	11c	Gee-Whiz Coffee, 1b	20c
New Hominy, 2 lbs	5c	New York Cream Cheese Pound	20c
Ohio Sugar Corn, can	5c	Jell-O, three pkgs	25c
Wisconsin Peas, 3 cans	25c	Mince Meat, lb	10c
Sweet Pickles, 3 doz	25c	California Peaches, can	15c
Best Pink Salmon, 3 cans	25c	New Navy Beans, qt	10c
Best Lump Starch, lb	4c	Peck	70c
New Rolled Oats, 3 lbs	10c	Fels Naptha, P. & G. Ivory Soap	4c
Babbitts Lye, 3 cans	25c	Magic White Soap 6 for	25c

GOODE & DUNKIE,
19 & 21 Pike St., and 18 & 20 W. 7th St.,
Covington, - Kentucky.

IF YOU WANT A GOOD
AUTOMOBILE
—CALL ON—
B. B. HUME, Burlington.

FOR 1913 MODEL FORD
5 Passenger Car, $570. 2 Passenger Car, $520
These prices are for fall delivery complete and delivered at your door. If desired a man will be furnished without charge to teach you how to operate your car.
—ALSO AGENT FOR THE—
Oakland, Roadster, $1,150 Touring Car, $1,200 Fully Equipped

SCOTT CHAMBERS,
WALTON, KY.
Embalmer & Funeral Director,
LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.
First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.
Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.
Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

WALTON.

H. R. Dixon spent last Friday in Cincinnati on business.

Sleet West and R. D. Stamler spent Tuesday at Cincinnati on business.

Mrs. J. C. Miller and daughter Miss Lutie spent last Friday in Cincinnati.

M. J. Corbin and W. J. Brill of Erlanger, were calling on friends here last Saturday.

For Sale—Driving horse, 4 years old; sound and gentle. R. P. Hughes, Richwood, Ky.

D. E. Castleman, the well known attorney of Erlanger, was here on legal business last Friday.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Martin, Nov. 10th, a fine ten pound girl. Mother and baby doing well.

H. V. Hunt, formerly station agent at the Q. & C. Railway here, was here last week visiting friends.

Mrs. Geo. Rice of Covington, spent part of the week here, and contemplates moving back to Walton.

For Sale or Trade—Two Indian Runner Drakes, or will trade drake for duck. J. C. Miller, Walton, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wayland and baby and Mrs. Anna Dixon spent last Wednesday in Cincinnati on business.

Mrs. C. H. Young, of Folsom, Grant county, was the guest of the Misses Tillman last Thursday and Friday.

Scott Chambers and D. B. Wallace spent Monday in Cincinnati on business, going there in Mr. Chambers auto.

Hon. Jas. W. Kennedy of Union, spent Tuesday here the guest of his daughter Mrs. S. C. Hicks and family.

Mrs. S. C. Hicks and father J. W. Kennedy spent part of the week at Wheatley, Owen county, with relatives and friends.

L. B. Scott, the mule buyer, of Campbellsburg, Ky., was here last Saturday in quest of these animals but failed to buy any.

E. M. Johnson, our popular storekeeper, has been confined to his home several days this week with a severe attack of grip.

Mrs. Mattie Doubman returned Tuesday from a visit of two weeks to relatives and friends at Dry Ridge and Williamstown.

Henry C. Piers and son-in-law Chas. T. Best opened their feed store Tuesday in the building recently vacated by Wood R. Miller.

L. D. Cannon, signal man on the Q. & C. Railroad on this section of that road, spent Sunday at his home at McKinney, near Danville, Ky.

Mrs. Mayme Smith and son Allen, of Covington, were visitors here Sunday. Mr. Smith accompanied them home for a few days visit.

Dr. M. J. Crouch, of Union, manager of the Consolidated Telephone Company, was here on business last Friday relative to the telephone business.

Miss Anna Haley, a very pleasant young lady of Covington, formerly of Walton, spent several days here the fore part of the week the guest of friends.

Miss Graham Roberts, the efficient operator at the telephone exchange, spent part of last week in Cincinnati and vicinity the guest of friends and relatives.

Wm. McElroy, one of our old and highly esteemed citizens, was taken suddenly ill Sunday while on the street and was removed to his home. He is somewhat improved now.

J. B. O'Neal, of Dry Ridge, was calling on old friends here last Saturday enroute home from Carroll county, near Ghent, where he had been the guest of relatives and friends.

Judge T. J. Crowe, of Covington, formerly of Walton, was here on business last Wednesday. He likes his new home in Covington very much but still has a warm feeling for Walton.

Mr. and Mrs. Elza Garrison, of near Richwood, spent part of last week here visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Garrison. Mrs. Garrison has just recovered from a very painful abcess on her face.

Chester Rice, who has been holding a position in the First National Bank in Cincinnati resigned that position and has returned here where he has taken up a position with Geo. Maines in his saw mill.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church will close their week of prayer Sunday evening, Nov. 30, with an open session, to which the public is cordially invited. Exercises begin at 7:30 o'clock promptly.

Next Monday evening, Dec. 1st, Rev. Louis Kohler, pastor of the Walton Christian church, will deliver a lecture at the Christian church at Williamstown. The subject of his lecture will be "The Essential Elements of a Christian Life."

The Queen and Crescent Railroad are constructing an electric light line from Ludlow to Williamstown and the light will soon be in operation. The line is intended to light their stations and for other uses along the road between these points.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Metcalfe and baby moved here last week from Dry Ridge and occupy part of the residence of Mrs. Adeline McBee. Mr. Metcalfe who is a brother-in-law of Hayes Abernathey, is employed by the latter in his barber shop.

S. W. Bevarly, A. M. Edwards and Geo. W. Maines spent Sunday at Aurora, Ind., the guests of Mr. Maines, where the latter resides. They enjoyed a very pleasant day and were delightfully entertained with an automobile ride over that section of Indiana.

Walton Feed and Seed Company.

—o—

Why go to Cincinnati to buy your feed such as

Hay of all kinds, Mill Feed, Brand, Alfalfa, Chop Feed, Corn (shelled or on the ear,) Oats, Flour and Corn Meal.

We buy on Change and can give you Cincinnati prices; also handle Seed of all kinds at the Lowest Prices.

Write us. Will quote you prices on car lots or less.

DIERS & BEST, Walton, Ky.

Rev. C. J. Nugent, pastor of the M. E. church, South, will hold services at Zion church near Florence, Sunday morning and evening. A cordial invitation is extended all to attend.

Arthur H. Smith, superintendent of the Consolidated Telephone lines, fell from one of the poles at Walton Tuesday while assisting in some of the work but outside of a painful cut on one of his feet he escaped any serious injury.

Jos. McCormick, station agent at LaGrange, was a visitor here last Saturday and spent the fore part of the week at his old home at Verona. Joe is well and favorably known here where he has a host of friends and is one of the best station agents on the L. and N. Railroad.

W. R. Rouse has accepted a position as clerk in the grocery store of Everett K. Stephens where he will be pleased to meet his many friends. Mr. Rouse is one of the most clever and popular citizens of Walton, and his services will be a valuable acquisition to Mr. Stephens store.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. McCartt and two children of Lansing, Tenn., arrived here Monday night and have moved into the cottage of Mrs. Cynthia Hudson, formerly occupied by A. B. Tompkins and family. Mr. McCartt is the station agent at the Southern railroad depot. We cordially welcome Mr. and Mrs. McCartt and family to our midst.

J. C. Miller has demonstrated he knows the truck gardening business. Last August he prepared hot beds for lettuce and onions and radishes to have for use when these vegetables were out of season on the market. Last Sunday he had his table well supplied with these edibles, which is quite a treat at this time of year.

Mrs. Jas. H. Whalen, of Pocatello, Idaho, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Miller and other friends and relatives in Walton and Big Bone Springs. Mrs. Whalen was a former resident of Big Bone Springs and her maiden name was Miss Bella Johnson, daughter of Lucian Johnson formerly of Hamilton, Ky., but now of Hood River, Oregon.

Married—Norman K. Johnson and Miss Ida Bailey were united in marriage by Father Ryan at the St. Xavier's Catholic church, Cincinnati, Wednesday, Nov. 19th, in the presence of a few friends. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bailey of near Beaver Lick, and the groom is a son of Paddy Johnson, deceased. The young couple will make their home in Cincinnati, and Mr. Johnson will take a position as fireman on the Cincinnati Southern Railroad.

John Grimes, who graded the street of Walton and also had a contract on the Q. & C. Railway on the construction work and who left here some months ago for Pittsburg, Pa., where he had a large contract for railroad construction work, recently suffered a paralytic stroke and was taken to his home at Oakley, O., near Cincinnati. He is on the road to recovery. His friends here are sorry to hear of his misfortune and hope he will soon be able to resume his business.

F. M. Jeffries, who is employed as blockman on the Queen and Crescent Railway here, spent part of last week in Lexington, where he had a damage suit pending against the East Tenn., (Bell) Telephone Company in the Fayette Circuit Court for the loss of his right leg from amputation, caused by falling from a ladder scaffold while in the employ of the company. He with another man, were working on the scaffold when it broke and precipitated the two men quite a distance to the ground, killing his companion and injuring Mr. Jeffries' leg so bad it had to be amputated (three times in ten days.) The company compromised with the other man's relatives for $1,800. Mr. Jeffries was confined to a hospital in Lexington for three years. The trial of the case was hotly contested on both sides being represented by some of the best legal talent in the Blue Grass section. The jury gave Mr. Jeffries a judgment for $10,500. This was the second trial of the case. In the first trial the jury awarded a judgment of $8,500 damages. The telephone company appealed the case and it was sent back by the Court of Appeals on a writ of error for retrial with the aforesaid result.

William Hughes purchased a horse at the Cincinnati yards one day last week to be used on R. D. 1.

When the Recorder stated in a recent issue that Mrs. Columbus Kirtley was a Dolphus it mistaken She was a Miss Hollister.

Report of the condition of the Citizens Deposit Bank, doing business at the town of Grant, County of Boone, State of Kentucky at the close of business on the 14th day of Nov., 1913.

RESOURCES.

Loans and Discounts	$33,512.45
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured
Stocks, Bonds and other securities	2,300.00
Due from Banks	6 924.47
Cash on hand	1,932.37
Checks & other cash items
Banking House, Furniture Fixtures	2,671.15
Other Real Estate
Other Assets not included under any of above heads	822.78
Total	$48,163.22

LIABILITIES.

Capital Stock paid in, in cash	$15,000.00
Surplus Fund	700.00
Undivided Profits, less expenses and taxes paid	792.66
Deposits subject to check	19,852.15
Demand Certificates of deposits
Time Deposits	10,995.68
Cashier's checks outstanding
Due Banks and Trust Cos.
Notes and Bills rediscounted
Unpaid Dividends.
Reserve for taxes
Other Liabilities not included under any of above heads	822.78
Total	$48,163.22

State of Kentucky }
County of Boone, } Sct.

We, W. B. Arnold and C. E. McNeely, President and Cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief. W. B. Arnold, President.
C. E. McNeely, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 22 day of Nov., 1913.
My commission expires Jan. 27, 1914.
Forest H. Brown, Notary Public.
Corect Attest:—John. J. Maurer, Henry Clore, Directors.

Report of the condition of Florence Deposit Bank, doing business at the town of Florence, county of Boone, State of Kentucky, at the close of business on the 14th of Nov., 1913:

RESOURCES

Loan and Discounts	$65,253 79
Overdrafts secured and unsecured	384 31
Stocks, Bonds and other Securities	3,975 00
Due from Banks	9,852 59
Cash on Hand	4,658 73
Checks, and other cash items	11 50
Banking house, furniture and fixtures	4,910 35
Other real estate
Other assets not included under of the above heads
Total	$89,046 27

LIABILITIES :

Capital Stock paid in, in cash	$15,000 00
Surplus Fund	2,600 00
Undivided profits less expenses paid	2,463 25
Deposits subject to check	41,658 34
Demand certificate of deposit
Time deposits	27,324 68
Certified checks
Cashier's checks, outstanding
Due to banks and Trust Companies
Notes and Bills rediscounted
Unpaid dividends
Reserve for taxes
Bills payable
Other liabilities not included under any of the above heads
Total	$89,046 27

State of Kentucky, } Sct:
County of Boone, }

We, W. H. Rice, president and J. G. Renaker cashier of the above named Bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief.
W. H. Rice, President.
J. G. Renaker, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 21st day of November, 1913.
My commission expires Jan. 10th, 1914.
J. F. Murray, Notary Public.
Correct—Attest:—C. F. Blankenbeker, J. S. Surface, C. W. Myers. Directors.

ERLANGER.

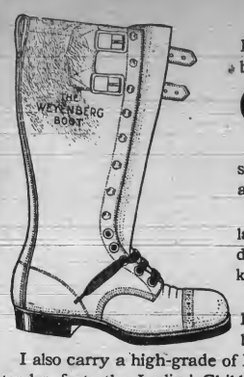
Mrs. Will Codey and daughter, of Independence, are guests of Mr and Mrs. Jack Codey.

Mrs. Cook and daughter, Miss Catherine, were calling on relatives in Florence, Sunday.

Miss Rose Gale and Margaret Terrill have returned from a visit with friends in Covington.

Mrs Harold Tavlin and children, of Newport, were week end guests of her parents, Dr. and Mrs McCullum.

Mrs Albert Riggs and children have returned from a visit with Mr and Mrs. L. C. Yager, of Clifton Heights, Ohio



Miss Nellie Mullendore left Saturday for her home in Macon, Georgia, after a week's visit with Miss Flora Alice Miller

Miss Mattie Miller, who has a position with the H. S. Pogue, Co., was visiting her brother, Mr. G. B. Miller and wife, Wednesday night.

An Ohio couple with intentions matrimonial applied for a marriage license at the county clerk's office Monday, and not having the necessary credentials their request was refused. They left Burlington about night and when they reached the toll gate near Florence they failed to discover that the pole was down, and ran into it breaking it, and demolishing the windshield and otherwise injuring the machine slightly. The first Mrs. Sydnor knew of the approach of the auto was when the emergency break was applied.

Cliff Hedges went to Bracken county the first of the week and returned with a horse for Dr. Yelton.

Look, Read and Consider.

Why go to Covington or Cincinnati to buy your Boots and Shoes when you can get them cheaper and better at home. Go to

Casper Lehmann

Who carries a full stock of Men's heavy working shoes 14, 16 and 18 inches high (water-proof), guaranteed all solid leather, full vamp.

I have a full stock of Men's fine shoes in button or lace, tan or black, also a full stock of Infant's, Children's, Misses' and Women's shoes in gun metal, tan, kid and patent leather, button or lace.

I also have a full stock of No. 1 Ball Brand Rubber Boots and Artics, also Misses' and Women's Rubbers and Artics.

I also carry a high-grade of Ladies' flexible soles for tender feet; the Ladies', Children's and Misses high cut Shoes in gun metal or patent leather at reasonable prices; also a few odd sizes in Gents' and Ladies' shoes at cost price.

I have a full stock of Youths' and Boys' high cut shoes in tan or black, also a full and complete stock of shoes too numerous to mention.

CUSTOM WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Casper Lehmann,

DEALER IN Boots and Shoes

P. O. Address, Box 215
ERLANGER, KY

Elsmere, Kentucky.

Report of the condition of The Equitable Bank & Trust Co., doing business at town of Walton, Boone Co, State of Kentucky, at the close of business on 14th day of Nov., 1913.

RESOURCES.

Loans and Discounts	$187,901.19
Overdrafts Secured and unsecured	1,497.89
Stocks, Bonds and other Securities	1,500.00
Due from Banks	15,112.84
Cash on Hand	6,962.89
Checks & other cash items
Banking House, Furniture and Fixtures	5,000.00
Other real estate
Other assets not included under any of above heads	252 33
Total	$218,227.14

LIABILITIES.

Capital Stock paid in, in Cash	50,000.00
Surplus Fund	5,000.00
Undivided Profits, less expenses and taxes paid	3,134.79
Deposits subject to check	88,864.76
Time Deposits	61,227.59—150,092.35
Certified Checks
Cashier's checks outstanding
Due Banks and Trust Companies
Notes and Bills rediscounted	10,000.00
Unpaid Dividends
Reserve for Taxes
Bills payable
Other liabilities not included under any of the above heads
Total	$218,227.14

State of Kentucky, county of Boone, } Sct.

We, C. L. Griffith and D. B. Wallace, President and Cashier, of the above named Bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief.

C. L. Griffith, President.
D. B. Wallace, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me 22d day of Novembr, 1913.
My commission expires Jan. 10, 1914.
John C. Miller, Notary Public.
Correct Attest: A. B Tompkins, A. M. Edwards, Jno. L. Vest, Directors.

Posted Against Hunters.

The undersigned hereby give notice that their land is posted against trespassing of all kinds and especially by hunting with dogs or guns and trapping thereon;

B. C. Graddy, Bullittsville.
J. S. Eggleston, Francesville.
Mary V. Gaines, Bullittsville.
Mary Walton, Petersburg.
A. L. Nichols, Burlington.
C. T. Northcutt, Belleview.
Everett Souther, Pt. Pleasant.
Julia S. Dinsmore, Belleview.
Mrs. I. T. McNaughton, Muncie, Indiana.
C. O. Hempfling, Taylorsport.
Jasper Sullivan, Waterloo.
W. L. B. Rouse, Limaburg.
Edward Farrell, Limaburg.
T. F. Grant, Bullittsville.
Geo. C. Barlow, Florence.
John Clore, Hebron.
John W. Byle, Burlington.
Mrs. Mary Ryan, Beaver.

For Sale—2 good work mares and one good horse. Apply to H. B. Hume, Burlington, Ky.

Two fine milk cows belonging to J. E. Smith have died during the past week. Cause of death unknown.

Do your Christmas shopping early and you will get articles that suit you.

Only a few more days in which to pay your taxes and avoid the penalty.

No one was ever comfortable with wet feet, and you'll find the doctor a whole lot more expensive than

RUBBER FOOTWEAR

A pair will keep you warm and dry all winter, for "Ball-Band" goods have wear built into them from top to toe. Buy now while we have every size.

For sale by

W. M. Rachal & Co
Union, Ky.

Report of the condition of the Union Deposit Bank, doing business at town of Union, county of Boone, State of Kentucky, at the close of business on the 14th day of Nov., 1913.

RESOURCES.

Loans and Discounts	$61,024.84
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured	375.50
Stocks, Bonds and other Securities	4,000.00
Due from Banks	9,735.06
Cash on hand	1,842.16
Checks and other cash items
Banking House, Furniture and Fixtures	3,346.16
Other Real Estate
Other assets not included under anyof the above heads	139.36
Total	$80,436.67

LIABILITIES.

Capital Stock paid in, in cash	$20,000.00
Surplus Fund	6,000.00
Undivided profits, less expenses and taxes	1,213.04
Deposits subject to check	28,591.65
Demand Certificates of deposits
Time Deposits	24,658.98
Cashier's checks, outstanding
Due Banks & Trust Cos.
Notes and Bills Rediscounted
Unpaid Dividends
Reserve for taxes
Bills Payable
Total	$80,463.67

State of Kentucky, } SCT
County of Boone }

We, M. J. Crouch and J. L. Frazier, President and Cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief.

M. J. Crouch, President.
J. L. Frazier, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 24th day of Nov., 1913.
My commission expires with next assembly of Senate.
W. M. Rachal. Notary Public.

Found—Auto glove and a ladies black plume. Can be had by applying to M. L. Riddell.

For Sale—Good cow and calf. Apply to Wm. Utz, on Florence pike, near Hopeful church.

For Sale—300 bushels good white corn in crib. Apply to John C. White, Burlington.

For Sale—Two Chesterwhite sows and pigs. Apply to W. R. Morrie, Erlanger R. D. 1.

Lost—Pointer dog, white and liver colored, brown head and brown spots on body, wore plain collar and ring. Return to Dr. Nunnelly at Bullittsville and receive reward—dog has been gone about one week.

Report of the condition of the Verona Bank, doing business at the town of Verona, County of Boone, State of Kentucky, at the close of business, on 14th day of Nov., 1913:

RESOURCES:

Loans and discounts	$54,879.64
Overdrafts secured and unsecured	32 88
Stocks, bonds and other securities	225.00
Due from Banks	7,063 00
Cash on hand	3,510 70
Checks and other cash items
Banking house, furniture and fixtures	1,393 42
Other real estate	1,346 42
Other assets not included under any of above heads
Total	$68,451 06

LIABILITIES:

Capital Stock paid in, in cash	$15,000 00
Surplus fund	1,456 64
Undivided profits, less expenes and taxes paid	375 10
Deposits subject to check	30,669 32
Demand certificates of deposit
Times deposits	20,950 00
Certified checks
Cashier's checks outstanding
Due Banks and Trust Cos.
Notes & Bills rediscounted
Unpaid dividends
Reserve for taxes
Bills payable
Other liabilities not included under any above heads
Total	$68,451 06

State of Kentucky, }
County of Boone, } SCT.

We, W. M. Whitson and O. K. Whitson, President and Cashier of the above named Bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowlege and belief.

W. M. Whitson, President,
O. K. Whitson, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 24th day of November, 1913.
W. R. Rogers, C. B. C. C.
By J. S. Hume, D. C.

I AM talking to you, wherever you are; you are almost discouraged by being deceived by parties misrepresenting farms and properfy to you; why not try an old farmer real estate man who knows by experience what a farm is. Send for my list and learn the market.
G. B. POWERS.
Walton, Ky.

Wanted—Farm hand. House furnished. Good wages and permanent place for the right man. Apply to Hubert Conner, Hebron, Ky.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXXVIIII. Established 1875. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1913. $1.50 Per Year. NO. 10.

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

FLICKERTOWN.

The recent rains have delayed the butchering act.

D. M. Snyder visited his brother, James, Saturday and Sunday.

George Hensley, Lewis Hensley, Bud Moreland and their families visited Mrs. Lonaker Sunday.

Miss Lizzie Pope, of Beech Grove, visited her sister, Mrs. Clyde Akin, last week.

Mrs. Ethel Worfford and daughter returned Sunday after several days' visit with her mother.

Stephen Gaines is building an up-to-date cow stable. Sam Johnson is doing the carpenter work.

Bernard Voshell, of Sparta, Indiana, visited relatives at this place from Friday until Sunday.

HEBRON.

The supper Saturday night was well attended.

Pomona Grange will meet at Union, next Saturday.

Mrs. Mike Dye went to a hospital in Cincinnati, last week, for treatment.

Clifford Tanner's new house is completed and he expects to move in this week.

Frank J. Sayre, formerly of Hebron but now of Hartwell, Ohio, was married Thanksgiving day to Miss Emma Schubel, of Hartwell. On Friday he brought his bride home and his parents had invited his friends to come Friday night to meet her. They came laden with gifts that were both useful and beautiful. Dr. and Mrs. Sayre, as well as Frank and his wife, wish to express their heartfelt gratitude and appreciation of the very substantil way in which the friends expressed their good wishes and liking for the young man.

UNION.

Owen Presser and family have moved into the residence of J. L. Huey.

Pomona Grange will meet with Golden Grange Saturday, Dec. 6, at 10 a. m.

H. G. Blanton, of Erlanger, was the guest of friends in Union, last Sunday.

Mrs. Lida Conner, who has been ill for several months, is able to be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Conner entertained with a family dinner on Thanksgiving day.

Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Couch spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Crouch's parents in Bullittsville.

Mrs. L. S. Love and daughter, Ruth, left last Monday for a sojourn in Hamilton, Ohio.

Miss Lena Holsworth has been seriously ill for two weeks. Miss Houser of Newport, is nursing her.

Dr. Lucien Shouse and Mr. Goodall, of Dayton, came out last Monday to hunt with S. S. Bristow.

Miss Lillian Bristow spent the Thanksgiving holidays with her sister, Mrs. K. D. Adams, in Covington.

Alonzo Tanner, shot a fine specimen of a Bald eagle last week, and will sell it to a taxidermist.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will hold an all day meeting with Mrs. B. L. Cleek next Thursday.

Misses Eugenia Riley and Mariam Morriss go into the city every Saturday for instruction in vocal music.

Mrs. Rachel Rice, who fell and fractured her hip two weeks ago, is doing as well as is possible for one of her age and feeble condition of health. Mrs. C. H. Howard, of Cincinnati, is nursing her.

Golden Grange will entertain Thursday evening of this week with a spelling bee. Everyone is cordially invited to come and have a good old-fashioned evening of fun.

Dr. Senour is very happy in having his sister, Mrs. Keeney, to keep house for him. He entertained the Medical Society very elegantly last Wednesday night. Notwithstanding the inclement weather 15 members were present.

Rev. J. M. Ballantyne will lecture at the school house on Saturday evening, Dec. 13, at 7:30. The proceeds of admission will be used for buying books for the school library. Mr. Ballantyne's subject "A Cure for the Blues" promises an evening of amusement and he kindly donates his services. Every patron and the citizens generally ought to show their appreciation of his interest in our school by attending the lecture.

PT. PLEASANT.

Harmon Jones, who has gone into the dairy business extensively with Holstines and Jerseys, purchased, recently, six registered Holstine heifferts from an Ohio party.

Last Sunday Mrs. Harmon Jones entertained her father and mother Mr. and Mrs. John Aylor, of Gunpowder, Mrs. Vickers, Keene Souther and wife and Carrie and Sudie Hamilton.

BULLITTSVILLE.

Tobacco has commenced to arrive in Bullittsville.

Jas. Masters purchased a buggy from Stevens Bros.

W. B. Watts spent several days last week in Ludlow.

Hubert Gaines was visiting in this neighborhood last week.

Theo. Birkle and wife were shopping in the city, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cad Sullivan visited in Petersburg, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Robinson visited their grandparents last week.

Miss Delia Scothorn is the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. W. Grant.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Graves united several of their friends last Wednesday.

Earl and Raymond Cropper spent the week end with their parents here.

Misses Marietta and Eunie Stephens spent Thanksgiving with their parents.

Mrs. Alice Watts and Mrs. Lillie Gaar were shopping in the city, Wednesday.

Miss Adelia Scothorn was visiting in Bullittsville the later part of last week.

Masters Hebert and Heten Crisler spent Thanksgiving with their cousin, Milton Riley.

Mrs. Geo. Kreylich visited her daughter, Miss Mattie, at Georgetown, during the holidays.

Every one in this neighborhood is ready for a change of weather for hogs are fat and corn scarce.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Gaines expect to leave for the sunny south in a short time on account of Mr. Gaines' health.

Jas. Thompson passed through here with a large drove of cattle, Saturday, enroute to Cincinnati market.

Mrs. Mat Graves and daughter, Miss Carrie, moved to Covington, last week, having rented her farm to Chester Grant.

Mrs. Bettie Clore entertained with a turkey dinner Thanksgiving day in honor of her son, Jas. and daughter, of Rushville, Ind. Wm. B. Graves, Hebron decorator, finished painting Mt. Pleasant church and the school house adding much to the appearance of each.

Lost, between Bullittsville and Covington, set of false teeth and pair of nose glasses. Finder will please return to Mrs. Mat Graves at Bullittsville.

Miss Ann McGlasson came home and spent Thanksgiving with her father, George McGlasson. Her friend, Miss Jennie Davis, came with her to spend their short vacation together.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Souther entertained in their hospitable manner Sunday, W. B. Graves and family, Misses Lucy and Annie Gaines, William and Wilson Gaines, C. E. Stephens and family and Miss Katie Mendle.

VERONA.

Miss Beatrice Farrell has been quite sick with grippe the past week.

Dr. Harry Hamilton of Chicago, is spending a vacation with his parents Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Hamilton.

Scott Myers met with a painful accident one day last week. While trimming a wedge he cut two of his fingers off.

Mr. Harvey Whitson, of Lexington College, is spending a few days vacation at home with his parents Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Whitson.

Misses Maggie and Susie Johnson of Walton, were guests of Mrs. Lulu Roberts last Wednesday night and attended the Ladies Aid festival.

The hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Powers, two miles west of Verona, was the scene of a pleasant family reunion Thanksgiving day. All of the children and grandchildren were present, namely, Rev. A. Kirtley Johnson, wife and four daughters, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Powers and five children, and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Roberts. At the noon hour all were invited to the dining room where a sumptuous spread of all the delicacies of the season was served. After thanks had been returned by Rev. Johnson and before partaking of the food each one responded to the reading of a verse of scripture, which had been previously prepared and placed in their plates by Mrs. Powers.

LIMABURG.

J. B. Conrad sold his farm on the pike to Elbert Drinkenberg for $2,500.

Mr. and Mrs. James Waters entertained J. B. Conrad and family, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mose Rouse entertained Misses Irma and Pearl Stephenson, recently.

Miss Pearl Stephenson visited her father at Walton from Wednesday until Monday.

Thanksgiving was spent very quietly in this neighborhood as it rained most all day.

Misses Kitty and Anna Brown and Mrs. Sally Willis spent last Wednesday at L. A. Popham's.

FLORENCE.

Mrs. J. R. Whitson spent Thanksgiving with relatives on Gunpowder.

Miss Villetta Rouse entertained with a delightful party Saturday evening.

Chas. Fulton, wife and mother spent Thursday with Mrs. Mallie Beemon.

Mr. Willett and wife, of Covington, spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. B. Luck last week.

Elmer Cahill gave a dance in the hall Saturday evening. It was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Miss Mary Grogan and Mrs. Chas. Scott entertained Miss Ella Coleman, of Cincinnati, last week.

Dr. and Mrs. T. B. Castleman entertained with a lovely lunch Saturday evening, it being their 20th wedding anniversary.

The friends of Dr. and Mrs. L. C. Hafer were sorry to see them leave Florence, but all wish them health and success in their future home.

Quite a crowd for such a bad night attended the Catholic supper and dance, Wednesday, and everyone spoke highly of the good supper served.

Mrs. B. F. Rouse and attractive daughter, Miss Gladys, left last Tuesday for St. Petersburg, Fla., where they will spend the winter with Dr. Tanner and family.

Mrs. Della Brown was surprised on her sixth wedding anniversary, last Wednesday afternoon. Lunch was served and several nice presents received. Those present were Mrs. A. M. Yealey, Miss Nell Rouse, Mrs. Ed. Sydnor, Miss Anna Carrolton, Mrs. John Bentham, Mrs. John Surface, Mrs. Owen Bradford, Nellie Carpenter, Mrs. Lee Whitson, Mrs. David Brown and Miss Ruby Corbin.

GRANT R. D. 1.

Mrs. Joe Maurer has about recovered from her recent illness.

Bert Parsons, of Cincinnati, is here on a visit to his family and parents.

J. H. Walton delivered a load of tobacco here to Henry Clore, Saturday.

Joe Presser has been doing some repairing on one of the tenant houses of Chas. Bodie.

Jas. Rogers, son of Atty. O. M. Rogers, of Erlanger, is here visiting his many relatives.

W. J. Hodges has finished building an addition to the residence of Frank Scott on Middle creek.

E. L. Grant and wife and Ott Scott and wife were the Sunday guests of G. S. Walrath and wife.

G. S. Walrath and Stanley Clore were hunting near Waterloo, last Saturday, and reported game very scarce.

Mesdames Eugenia and May Clore are spending several days here with Lewis Stephens and family.

The weighing of the mail was discontinued today to the delight of the postmasters and the rural carrier.

Gene Wingate and Albert Clore each put their tobacco on the loose leaf market at Carrollton, the past week.

Elmer Deck and family spent Saturday and Sunday with the former's brother, Henry Deck and family, of Woolper.

In last Thursdays hunt M. B. Rice got 36 rabbits while his brother Thurston was a close second with 33 and a squirrel.

Owing to the terrible condition of the landing here the local merchants have their goods shipped to McVille landing.

Chas. Bodie, Jr., has installed a gasoline engine at his well and now pumps the water in that manner for all of his stock.

The following Burlington people were in our town on business the past week—Herbert Kirkpatrick, Sam Adams, Chas. Maurer, J. F. Blyth and E. E. Kelly.

Ed. Sandford has received several very flattering offers from different leagues in regard to a contract for next season. He will probably stay with the Federal League.

Clarence and Kenneth Ryle hung up in the deep mud below Rabbit Hash, Saturday, with a load of corn and had to transfer it to another wagon before they could get out.

Henry Clore and Pepper Smith left Sunday for Carrollton to attend the sales Monday on the loose leaf tobacco market. Mr. Clore having several hogsheads of the weed to sell.

All members of Alline lodge No. O. O. F. are requested to be present at the meeting nights of Dec. 18th and 25th, being nomination and election of officers for the ensuing term.

ERLANGER.

Mr. Geo. McManama, who suffered a stroke of paralysis, is improving.

Miss Mamie Dixon left Sunday after a visit at her brother Henry Dixon's.

Mr. Geo. B. Miller is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Miller, at Big Bone.

Mr. and Mrs. Linn Gurney have as their guest Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gurney, of Chicago.

Geo. Gale has returned from a visit with his aunt, Mrs. William Brunner, of Covington.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Yager, of Clifton Heights, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Riggs.

Miss Hannah Hearne has returned from several days visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Hearne, of Richwood.

GUNPOWDER.

Hog cholera has appeared in Union neighoorhood.

Robt. Snyder, one of our hustlers, has about all of his ground broken for his crop next year.

Miss Violette Rouse entertained the Young People's Society of Hopeful church last Saturday night.

L. T. Utz, of Springfield, Ohio, ate Thanksgiving dinner with his parents and remained over until Monday.

Mr. Day and wife attended the dedication services of the new Christian church in Covington, last Sunday.

Recent rains were favorable to those who had tobacco to strip and there was considerable of that work done last week.

H. F. Utz and wife entertained with a big dinner Thanksgiving day which consisted of a large turkey and all the trimmings and all other delicacies of the season.

The tobacco crop is beginning to move pretty rapidly. Several large loads passed thru our burg last week enroute to Erlanger to be delivered to Thomas Stephenson.

Mrs. Mallie Beemon, Mrs. Mamie Ewing, J. P. Tanner and family, A. E. Bentham, of Springfield, Ohio, and P. J. Allen and wife were guests of this writer last Sunday.

R. D. No. 3.

Thos. Eggleston is numbered among the sick.

Mrs. E. J. Aylor is the guest of relatives in the city.

Harry Reitmann spent from Friday until Monday of last week in the city.

Mrs. J. W. Brown and little grandson, Raymond Helms, Mrs. Chas. Muntz and children, Mrs. Walter Ogden and Miss Lottie Brown spent Thanksgiving with Chas. Utzinger and family.

Mrs. Thos. Eggleston and children spent Thursday with Ben Jones and family near Bullittsville.

Dr. Omer Henry and family, of Dover, spent from Saturday until Monday with his father, Mr. Bruce Henry and family.

Mrs. J. W. Brown and grandson, Raymond Helms, Misses Lottie and Stella Brown, Russell Finn and Ray Botts spent last Sunday at Earnest Brown's.

BIG BONE

Chas. Burrows has returned after a week's stay in the city.

Mrs. H. E. Miller and son, Russell, spent last week at their home here.

Hunters from the city were plentiful at Big Bone and vicinity last week.

Chas. Miller and wife spent the latter part of the week here, guests of his mother.

Mrs. Myrtle Fields and son, of Ludlow, are visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Miller.

J. M. Baker and family, of Covington, have moved to his farm.

Miss Katie Stewart, one of the operators at the Burlington exchange, is visiting relatives near this place.

Miss Ethel Pollitt, teacher in district No. 26, went to her home in Covington to eat Thanksgiving turkey with her parents.

Married, Nov. 26th, Mr. Lucian Roberts to Mrs. Lou Mellon, at Warsaw. The bride was attired in a lovely blue and the groom wore the conventional black. It was the second marriage of each.

HATHAWAY.

Thanksgiving services were held at Big Bone, Thursday.

R. R. Smith entertained with a turkey dinner Thursday.

Ora Rouse spent from Saturday until Sunday with her sister, Mrs. W. L. Presser.

Cecil Williamson and family were Saturday night and Sunday guests of Mr. Williamson's father in East Bend.

W. L. Presser took his little daughter Iva Pearl to the city Wednesday to have her operated on for adnoids.

In another column of this paper you will find an advertisement of Ealy Conley's sale of personal property set for the 11th.

For Governor.

Although 1915 is sometimes of the name of Congressman J. Camp bell Cantrill, of Georgetown, who is the Seventh district Representative at Washington, is frequently mentioned in connection with the next Democratic gubertorial nomination. Friends of the Scott county statesman say that if he starts he will make it mighty interesting for whoever his opponent may be. Mr. Cantrill is regarded as one of the most astute politicians in the State, and his campaigns have always been winning ones, although at times he has had bitter opposition. As an organizer he has few equals.—Louisville Times.

"Good God," said the wood cock and away he flew.

Personal Mention.

Farmer Benj. Crisler, of McVille, was transacting business in Burlington, last Friday.

Miss Olga Kirkpatrick entertained several friends with a six o'clock Thanksgiving dinner.

Dr. L. H. Crisler, veterinary, of Covington, was in Burlington last Friday and met many of his old friends.

Last Thursday was by no means a good day for hunting and many were the disappointments because thereof.

Rev. W. D. Nichols will preach at the Bullittsville Christian church next Sunday morning and evening.

Fred Waltz and Clifford Tanner, of Hebron neighborhood, were business visitors to Burlington, Tuesday.

Lewis Sullivan and wife, of Covington, were guests of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Sullivan, Thanksgiving day.

Miss Mary Roberts, who is teaching at Petersburg, spent the Thanksgiving vacation in Burlington with her parents.

Web McGlasson, of the Hebron neighborhood, was a business visitor to Burlington last Saturday and called at this office.

Mr. and Mrs. Menter Martin, of Bullittsville, spent Thanksgiving day with Mrs. Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Roberts.

Deputy Bank Commissioner R. R. Revill and wife, of Frankfort, were Thanksgiving guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Revill.

Miss Estelle Huey, who is attending Georgetown college, spent the Thanksgiving vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Huey.

Miss Mary A. Thompson, after a pleasant visit of several weeks with friends at Erlanger and Richwood, returned home, last Saturday.

Tim Sandford and W. M. Aylor, of McVille, were in Burlington last Friday. They are very much in the farming business in their neighborhood.

Omer Dix, brother of Prof. E. L. Dix, of Burlington, has been appointed to a position in the revenue service by Collector Thompson, of Covington.

Wm. Quigley of the firm of Quigley & Beemon, of Limaburg, was a business caller at this office last Friday afternoon. He is one of the county's hustling merchants

Jas. White, of Flickertown, was a caller at this office, last Friday. He reported that he and several of his neighbors had been afflicted with severe sore throats and from that a diphtheria scare developed in that neighborhood and caused considerable uneasiness among the people for several days.

RABBIT HASH.

C. G. Riddell is confined to the house with rheumatism and asthma.

Miss Myra McConnell, of Danville, was making calls in this neighborhood Tuesday.

Elijah Scott and wife, of Bowen Ill., are visiting J. R. Stephens and other relatives here.

J. A. Clore took a crop of nice tobacco to Carrollton Sunday to put on the loose leaf market.

Henry Clore, of Belleview, has been hauling corn from East Bend to his farm on the Waterloo pike.

Miss Rose North, of Aurora, spent Thanksgiving with her grandparents, Mrs. Mary O'Neal in East Bend.

Miss Mary Craig, of Rising Sun, was visiting Will Craig and family in East Bend several days last week.

J. M. Conner, who has been with his family near Waterloo for some time, returned to Cincinnati, Sunday.

Mrs. Schaup and her daughter, Myrtle, of Cincinnati, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bill Phillips, on Gunpowder.

Miss Kathryn Burkham, of Lawrenceburg, spent Thanksgiving vacation with E. L. Stephens and family in East Bend.

John Hamilton, of Rising Sun, was a passenger for Cincinnati Tuesday and bought several crops of tobacco at 13 to 14¼ cents.

East Bend Lodge Knights of Pythias elected the following officers Saturday night:

C. C.—G. H. Wilson;
V. C.—J. Colin Kelly;
Prelate—W. J. Hodges;
M. of W.—Sam Wilson;
K. of R. & S.—R. T. Stephens;
M. of F.—Ben Wilson;
M. of E.—Clarence Ryle;
M. at A.—B. W. Clore;
I. G.—Kenneth Ryle;
O. G.—G. H. Walton;
Trustee—R. T. Stephens.

The Imperial Tobacco Companies of Kentucky and Great Britian were found guilty in the Morganfield Circuit Court of restraining trade and were fined $3500 each, the verdict carrying with it a forfeiture of the right to do business in Kentucky. The verdict was rendered Tuesday.

Reese Parry has bought the old Abraham Piatt homestead at Lawrenceburg ferry.

The weather appears to be undecided as what to do.

Tired of Life.

Miss Annie Cason, 56 years old last Friday, sister of Asa Cason, who lives out on the East Bend road, and an aunt of County Judge P. E. Cason, committed suicide last Monday morning at the home of her niece, Mrs. J. B. Pope on Middle creek, by swallowing about three ounces of carbolic acid. Miss Cason had been in failing health and the further fact that she was losing her eyesight are evidently the cause of the rash act. She had been residing in Toledo, Ohio, and was visiting among her relatives here, and when in Judge Cason's office on Tuesday of last week she was lamenting her infirmatives and said, "I have prayed the good Lord to remove me but my prayers have not been answered, and I suppose I will have to attend to that myself." Having made a similar statement to Judge Cason about 11 years ago he paid very little attention to it other than to ridicule the idea. She occupied a room alone at Mr. Pope's Sunday night, and when breakfast was ready Monday morning it was discovered she had taken carbolic acid. She was unconscious about three hours before she died, and there was no indication that she was suffering. During the night she had written two letters, one to her brother, Asa Cason, and one to Mrs. Pope giving them some instructions in regard to her funeral, in each letter was inclosed $10. She had her nephew, Judge Cason, prepare her will a week before her death at which time he says she seemed perfectly sane. The label on the bottle containing carbolic acid had been mutilated until it could not be ascertained where she bought it, but Dr. Yelton, who was called, says it was evidently a recent purchase as the cork was not yet discolored. The deceased had been a member of the Christian church for thirty-seven years, having united with that denomination in Grant county. The remains were interred in her brother's lot in the Odd-Fellows cemetery here, it being her request that she be interred at Burlington.

An Interesting Meeting.

The Big Bone Teachers Association met at the school house on Nov. 29, at 2 p. m. with Mrs. Elva Melvin as chairman.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Supt. Riley, followed by the singing of "America."

Mrs. D. M. Bondurant, made a short talk on The Disinterested Pupil, which was more fully discussed by Prof. E. L. Dix.

Little Marietta Smith recited The Two Orphans, in a very pretty manner.

Mrs. Melvin gave a good paper on The Responsibility of the School in Character Building, in which she emphasized the realtionship which should exist between patrons and teachers.

The selection A Voice from the Poorhouse, was effectively given by Miss Hazel Smith, a pupil of the Big Bone school.

The audience highly appreciated a talk by Prof. E. L. Dix on Our Influence upon the Girls and Boys in regard to Congenial Associations, or Cooperative Citizenship.

Miss Jocelyn Bondurant, another pupil of the school recited Longfellow's beautiful poem, A Psalm of Life, after which Supt. Riley made the closing address in which he emphasized The Home, the School and the Church as the three institutions in which our children are trained for citizenship; also the necessity of increasing the efficiency of our teaching force.

The exercises closed with a prayer by Prof. E. L. Dix.

Miss Rose Adams, a former Boone county teacher, and her mother, were among the visitors present; also Mrs. Allen and her two children, of Landing, Miss Anna Huey, of Big Bone church, Mrs. Ira Smith and her three bright little children, Miss Elva Hughes, Miss Ida May Moore and Miss Mattie Black.

Mrs. D. M. BonDurant,
Secretary

Dairy farming in this county has increased considerably in the past few years, and those who have prepared for it by erecting silos are reaping the largest profits. Silage in the best food for milk cows, besides it is the cheapest the farmer can provide for his stock. In a few years nearly every farmer will have a silo.

When one remembers, in an ordinary column there are 10,000 pieces of type, there are 7 wrong positions each letter may be put in, and there are 70,000 chances to make errors, besides millions of chances for transpositions, he will not be too critical. In the sentence "Please hand us that $1.50 for your subscription" by transposition alone it is possible to make 2,739,022 errors. So you see the perils that beset a printer.

Lola Irene, daughter of Burthel and Blanche Peas, died at their home in Lawrenceburg, Indiana, on Friday, November 28th, 1913, aged five years and two months, after an illness of three days. Dear little Lola is gone but will never be forgotten. Burial at Petersburg.

STUTTERER IN HARD LUCK

Cure May Be Effected, but the Process Is a Slow One, and Uncertain In Its Effect.

There is no cure for stuttering. This does not mean that no stutterer can be cured—far from it—but that there is no treatment which is sure to cure. If a stutterer be taken in childhood, where the affliction is first noticed and carefully treated, he can sometimes be cured, and generally much improved.

Dr. Frank A. Bryant of New York, writing in the Medical Record, says the first thing to do is to make sure that there are no obstructions in throat or nose, such as enlarged tonsils or adenoids. The child must be taught to breathe through the nose, deeply and slowly, as a habit. He must not be allowed to speak when excited, nor when laughing or crying or in the paroxysms of whooping cough. He must never be tickled. All causes of excitement must be removed. Fresh air, scrupulous cleanliness, plain, nourishing food, moderate exercises and plenty of sleep in a dark room are essential. Mental treatment is of great importance. Any measures that will increase mental poise are of incomparable value. The stutterer must be impressed with a desire to overcome what is only a bad habit. He must be persuaded to study the great art of speaking correctly. Thus, by careful, patient work on the part of his parents, teachers and physicians, will he gradually cure himself, or at least so improve as to make the affliction cease to be serious.

COTTON TRADE OF ENGLAND

Origin of Great Industry Can Be Traced Back to Beginning of Seventeenth Century.

The cotton trade of Lancashire, England, dates back to the very beginning of the seventeenth century. A petition of 1621, preserved in the state papers, mentioned the infancy of the industry; for there the petitioning London merchants stated that "about 20 years divers people in this kingdom, but chiefly in the county of Lancaster, have found out the trade of making of other fustians made of a kind of bombast or down, being a fruit of the earth, growing upon little shrubs or bushes, brought into this kingdom by the Turkey merchants from Smyrna, Ceyprus, Ocra and Sydon, but commonly called cotton wool."

This cotton from Lancashire soon found its way into the foreign markets of the world. Thus the "Treasure of Traffic," 1641, on the industry of the good folk of Manchester: "They buy cotton wool in London that comes first from Cyprus and Smyrna, and at home work the same and perfect it into fustians, vermillions, dimities, and other such stuffs, and then return it to London, where the same is vented and sold, and not seldom sent into foreign parts." And, lockouts permitting, they do the same thing today.

Put Liszt In Bad Light.

Among the anecdotes told about the late David Popper is an interesting one relating to Liszt. It is well known that many of the pages attributed to Liszt were really written by the Princess Sayn-Wittgenstein. The most flagrant instance was the insertion by her in one of his books of some pages attacking the Jews and advising their deportation in a body to Palestine. Liszt was greatly annoyed at this, for such sentiments were entirely foreign to his character, and many of his best friends were Jews; among them David Popper, the famous violoncellist. Not long after the appearance of the book referred to Popper made a call on Liszt, who was delighted to see him, and asked when he came and where he was going. "I am on the way to Palestine, dear master, in accordance with your wishes," was the prompt answer.

Wind and Fish.

It is reported that a singular correspondence exists between the prevailing direction of the wind on the coast of New South Wales and the average catch of fish.

It appears that the winds which influence the ocean currents influence, in turn, the course of the fish. These influences have periods of three or four years. Thus in 1899, there was a general scarcity of fish, but afterward they became more and more abundant up to the year 1902. In 1906 there was another scarcity of fish, but the next year they began to return in increasing numbers.

The cause of these variations was regarded as a mystery until the coincidence with the prevailing direction of the coastal winds was noticed. Now it is thought by the study of the winds the prospects of the fishermen may be predicted two or three years in advance.—Harper's Weekly.

Trees Have Parasols.

Huge linen shields, raised high in the air on slender poles, ward off the sun's rays from the young trees in one of the public squares of Berlin, Germany. They look like the scenery of an open air stage, but they were set up simply to make a temporary nursery for the young lindens that have been transplanted into Heidelberg Square. The shadeless park has no protection from the hot sun, and until the little trees get a start they need this artificial shelter to help them grow.—Popular Mechanics.

HORSES FOUND WILD HOME

Wrecked Off Chincoteague, They Have Increased and Multiplied in Great Numbers.

When the outside world hears of Chincoteague, it is usually on account of the half-wild horses that roam over the stretches of the island and of Assateague; strong, sturdy, small creatures, somewhat larger than the Shetland ponies, who plunge boldly into the salt water when they want to swim to some little toothsome inlet of marsh grass. These animals are supposed to have been cast away on Chincoteague from some wrecked vessel in the eighteenth or perhaps the seventeenth century, and, in the course of time, to have degenerated in size.

They came to a good haven, for there are five different kinds of natural grass to feed them, and for drink little pools of slightly brackish water in the sands. Some of the cleverest ones make little reservoirs for themselves by digging with their hoofs.

They belong to a few of the islanders, who own from one to seventy-five each. Once a year, in July, the horses are rounded up in Assateague and in Chincoteague and are driven down into the town, where they are penned and the colts are branded. Then some of them are sold to men from the mainland, who will give as much as a hundred or a hundred and twenty-five dollars for a "stylish" horse. When the horses are fed with oats, and their rough coats are properly curried, they present a very attractive appearance. They are very strong and long-lived; one old inhabitant boasts of a mare, most prolific of colts, which lived to be forty years old and worked almost to the end.—Harper's Weekly.

MORE THAN HE COULD STAND

Man Had Personal Reasons Why He Did Not Care to Join the Company of the Elect.

"It is only once in a long while," Tom McNeal quotes Abe Peters as saying, "that you find a plain, homely man who is really aware of the way he looks. I knew one exception. Jed Perkins, who used to live down in southeast Kansas, was certainly the homeliest human critter I ever laid my eyes on, and, what was more, Jed knew it. One winter down there Jed attended a revival meeting and the preacher, aided by the sisters and deacons, decided to make a combined effort to bring him into the fold.

"'Think, brother,' said the preacher, 'of the delight of meeting your loved ones in the better land.'

"'Is it your idee?' Jed asked of the parson, 'that if I do the right thing I will show up in the better land a lookin' as natural as life?'

"'Certainly, Brother Perkins,' said the preacher.

"'Well,' said Jed with a gloomy sigh, 'if that's the case, I believe I would rather be lost. Of course, if I'm among a lot of goats it won't make so much difference, but if I have to try to work my way into good society in the New Jerusalem wearin' this face of mine, and havin' to wear it always, it will be a leetle more than I kin stand.'"—Kansas City Star.

Tempting Bait for Big Fish.

To catch a big fish you must use a tempting bait. An advertisement which cost an automobile manufacturer $27,000 for one insertion in a Philadelphia weekly publication may appear enormous to those unfamiliar with the big fish that can be landed when the proper bait is put upon the hook.

And that $27,000 bait surely caught a whale—over $1,000,000 worth of new business in a few weeks. That is the statement of the automobile company which performed the successful fishing stunt.

When you behold the monster which was brought in, the expensive bait looks cheap and inexpensive, doesn't it? This advertising proposition carries a first-rate moral: You can't win something big or worth while unless you make a big and worth while effort.

Many Queer Ideas.

Tiger flesh was eaten by the Malays to give them strength and cunning—a course of reasoning which was not wholly illogical—and among our early physicians there appeared to be a desire to find a medical agent with some supposed affinity with the diseased part. But these agents became so revolting in character, that they marvel how patients could submit to their treatment. Fox's lungs for a cough, pigeons cut in half while alive and applied to the feet warm, a dried toad put into the armpit or tied to the head for fever, hedgehogs, earthworms made into syrup, snails, vermin, cats, new-born puppies—all figured among old remedies, many up to comparatively recent times. One was advised to cut off a lock of one's hair and drink it with wine or beer to cure plague.

Nagging "Worse Than Murder."

Supreme Court Justice Blackmar in Brooklyn refused to grant Mrs. Abbie K. Rossman a separation from her husband, Edwin J. Rossman, and told the young couple "to get together" and "stop nagging each other."

"Sometimes I think," Justice Blackmar said, "nagging is a worse crime than murder, and that it does more to destroy happiness." He also told the husband that he ought to furnish his wife a place to live apart from his mother.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Swinburne is said to be the only red-headed poet who ever achieved fame.

Telephone operators of the Holyoke (Mass.) exchange have formed a union.

The Atlantic's greatest depth is 27,363 feet, and its area 34,000,000 square miles.

Taking the country at large, there is one automobile for each 110 inhabitants.

From 1876 to 1910 more than half a million persons left Norway, mainly for the United States.

Mrs. Harriet Johnston-Wood, a practicing lawyer of New York, is waging a determined campaign to be appointed to the bench in the children's court in that city.

Property owners along Delancey street, New York city, will provide life care for Tom and Jerry, the horses that for 24 years have drawn the cars along that street.

Many worked-out coal mines in Pennsylvania are being filled in with sand and other waste material to prevent their surfaces caving and damaging valuable property.

By a French invention naphthaline has been made available for automobile fuel, pipes conveying hot exhaust gases from a specially designed carbureter, melting the naphthaline.

Collapsible baby carriages have almost gone out of use in Christiana, Norway, owing to the agitation against them started by a local physician specialist in children's diseases.

German furniture makers import beautiful colors to several native woods by burying them, when freshly cut, for several months in earth mixed with lime and other materials.

POSTMARKS

There is plenty of mud left, so the final week of the campaign will continue lively.

Pity the poor Standard Oil trust. It has been systematically robbed by the wicked lumber trust.

Curing criminals by surgery will surely be effective providing the operation is performed with the aid of a guillotine.

The illuminated medicine chest might cause some of the absentminded to close their sleepy eyes to avoid being dazzled.

Maybe John Bull is angry because the new tariff bars his convict-made bagging, for which he is anxious to find a market.

In Holland many milk men deliver their wares in bottles wrapped in red paper, the keeping quality of the fluid being greatly increased thereby.

Newfoundland is now regarded as one of the most promising future sources of supply of petroleum within the British empire. There are oil indications for 200 miles along the west coast.

LITTLE FACTS

So-called Chinese glue is made by dissolving shellac in ten times its weight of ammonia.

A hydroplane built in Belgium of steel instead of wood is said to have attained a speed of forty-five miles an hour.

Musical instruments composed principally of wood suffer more from the climate in India than any other wooden structures.

A progressive Ohio farmer uses an electric motor to run a fodder cutter and a blower to blow out the cut food into a silo.

Wireless connection between the principal Catholic churches of Italy, France and Austria and the vatican is being arranged.

More than 4,600 miles of copper wire will be required for telephones in a big office building which is being built at New York.

Nearly all the alcohol made in Russia, which is derived almost wholly from potatoes, is used in the manufacture of intoxicants.

SOME POSTSCRIPTS

Sandals are worn by nearly 300,000,000 natives of India.

Gas pipes are being made in France from paper, compressed dried and varnished.

Quickly adjusted molds for concrete steps have been invented by a Missourian.

For stripping peanuts from vines a simple machine has been invented by a Georgia man.

Tumblers made of ice, with paper holders, for use with cold drinks, are a German novelty.

Electricity aids bloodless surgery by coagulating the blood wherever electrodes are placed.

Christmas Gifts
THAT
Mean Something

Whether you spend little or much for Christmas it is important that your gifts have lasting values.

You receive a gift or two every year that gives you more pleasure than all the others because of its perfect usefulness.

Make all your gifts useful, no matter how low the price.

Christmas prices here are mostly lower than at other seasons, because of our large purchases.

The quality of everything in this store makes it a worthy gift, whether the price you pay is large or small.

The entire range of your family needs is covered by the articles you find here whether they be gig or little.

Here Are A Few Suggestions.

For Sister.
A Pretty Chair for Her Room; A Mahogany Work Table; A Dressing Table; A Slipper Chair; A Dressing Stool; A Music Cabinet; A Writing Desk; An Arm Chair; A Box Couch; A Bookcase.

For Grandfather.
A Comfortable Arm Chair; A High Back Rocker; A Genuine Leather Rocker; A Foot Stool; A Book Table.

For Father or Husband.
A Morris Chair; A High Back Rocker; A Shaving Stand; A Leather Rocker; A Cellarette; A Revolving Chair; A Couch; A Card Table; A Foot Stool; A Bookcase; A Wardrobe.

For Mother or Wife.
A Bed-room Chair; A Jardinier; A China Closet; A Rocker; A Magazine Stand; A Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet; A Davenport.

For Grandmother
A Jardinier Stand; A Sewing Rocker; A Morris Chair; A Magazine Stand; A Work Table; A Book Table.

For Brother Jack.
A Chiffonier; A Morris Chair; An Arm Chair; A Cellarette; A Blacking Case

We Pay The Freight.
Louis Marx & Bros.
Furniture, Carpets, Stoves.
516-522 Madison Avenue, COVINGTON, - - - KY.
840 Monmouth Street, NEWPORT, - - - KY.

AT THE OLD STAND,

SHARPLES SEPARATORS.
PITTSBURG FENCE.
FARM TOOLS.
FEED ALL KINDS.
EVERYTHING FOR THE FARMER.

QUIGLEY & BEEMON
Limaburg, Ky.

WALTON GARAGE
C. S. Vallandingham, Prop.
Walton, Ky.
Repairing and Vulcanizing a Specialty.
Repairs and Fixtures.
Telephone Calls Given Prompt Attention.

FOR SALE

In Constance, Ky., large building lot on this lot is a building 58x48, built for a club-house. This is a very substantial structure, has a truss roof and not a post in the interior. This building can be carefully taken down and removed if necessary, or can be remodeled into apartments. I want to dispose of this property at an early date and will sell it at a sacrifice, in fact for one-half what the lumber cost to erect it. Apply to or address G. F. SNYDER,
4t 711 Plum St., Cincinnati, O.

WANTED—A good, steady, farm hand by the month or year to begin work at once or soon as possible. Good house and good wages guaranteed to right party. Apply to or address J. W. EWBANKS, Brashear, Ky.

Hickman.—The expert sent out from the Department of Agriculture at Washington to study the adaptability of this section to fruit growing has made a very favorable report of the country from Paducah to Reelfoot Lake, below Hickman, saying that this part of Western Kentucky as well as the Ozark belt of Missouri may be called "The Land of the Big Red Apple."

A rigid system of selection of brood sows should be practiced by all swine breeders.

Went you Let

MY CLOTHING DO THE TALKING FOR THEMSELVES?

Kindly come in and see them. I will do business with you without argument You will find Quality and Workmenship.

MENS SUITS and OVERCOATS.....$5.00 to $18.00

YOUNG MEN'S SUITS AND OVERCOATS.....$3.00 to $15.00

Young Men, you must see these suits and Overcoats to appreciate their value.

Children's Norfolk Knickerbocker Suits well made and Durable $2.75, $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00.

Mothers you must see these to realize the bargains I am offering. A complete line of Corderoy and Duck Coats and Pants, the clothing out door workers need when disagreeable weather comes on insures health and comfort.

Selmar Wachs
Successor to
Rolfes & Wachs,
NO. 1 Pike Street, Near Madison Ave.,
COVINGTON, KY.

Luncheon
AT
Neat Little Place
For Farmer, Workman, Merchant, Clerk and Professional Man.
R. J. DIBOWSKI'S CAFE
No. 6 Pike Street, - - Covington, Kentucky.
Commercial Plate Luncheon from 11 a. m. to 1:30 p. m.

Subscribe for The Recorder

SCHOOL BALLOT

HAS THE BALLOT FOR WOMEN HELPED THE SCHOOLS OF KENTUCKY?

Non-Partisan School Boards Elected—$100,000 Bond Issue Carried—Right to Vote Assured Only Few Weeks Before Election.

(Special.)—Five more women were elected county school superintendents in Kentucky at the November election than ever before. It is a safe assumption that a woman is not going to be elected over a man to a well-paid office, unless the voters are pretty sure that she is decidedly better fitted to fill the office than he is. This, then, is in the interest of a higher standard of efficiency for our schools.

Louisville's School Bond Issue.

In the city of Louisville a hundred thousand dollar bond issue for new school buildings was passed. It would not have been passed without the votes of women and the work of hundreds of women who perfected an organization, carried on a house to house canvas, and worked at the polls throughout the day, reminding voters to vote for the bond issue. This is in the interest of better school buildings and equipment for our children.

Women's Right Disputed.

The opinion of the Attorney General that women could vote for school bond issues was only given a few weeks before the election. He had been exceedingly doubtful about it before. The decision of the Court of Appeals that women could vote in the county superintendent's race and in fact in every school election in which the law of 1912 attempted to give them the right to vote, thus settling bond issue elections as well as others, was only handed down a few weeks before election, in fact, after registration had taken place in the cities. The Attorney General and the Superintendent of Public Instruction had previously given their opinions that women could not vote in the county superintendent's race. A test case brought up from Fayette county with a view to settling the question before the primaries, was thrown out by the Court of Appeals on the ground that it had no jurisdiction in questions concerning the primary law. This left the question settled in favor of the women in Fayette county alone, the women of the other 119 counties being in doubt. Many of the county clerks were not in doubt as to their interpretation of the law, and refused absolutely to provide the special ballots for the women voters.

Favorable Decision Obtained.

A mandamus suit was brought to compel the clerk of Anderson to supply separate ballots for the regular election, and it was on this suit that the Court of Appeals finally settled the whole question in favor of the women. They may now vote in every school election except that of State Superintendent of Public Instruction, from which they are debarred by the constitution.

Women voted in the elections for school board members and trustees in 1912. Under new school laws for cities of the first and second class, banishing the party emblem from the school ticket, non-partisan school boards were elected in Louisville, Lexington, Covington, Newport and Paducah, the women organizing and working for tickets endorsed by civic organizations. School boards of much greater fitness than formerly were elected, on several of which women are serving. The higher type school board means better administration of the schools.

A Better School System.

It must be acknowledged that with less than a year and a half's use, with the right of women to vote in the most important elections disputed until a few weeks before the last election, the granting of the school suffrage to the women of Kentucky who are "able to read and write," has been of distinct advantage, as it was predicted by the women it would be, to the school system. In the future, with their right to this ballot at last settled, the school vote will undoubtedly be much more widely used by Kentucky women than it has so far been.

STAND UP AND BE COUNTED RIGHT NOW

If You Believe In Suffrage, Join a Woman Suffrage League—Women Learning Co-operation and Organization From Men.

(Special.)—It is commonly said that a very small number of women want the suffrage; that a very small number either of women or men believe in equal rights. This is much less true than it seems: it is simply that the majority of those who believe give no "outward visible sign" of the fact. To remedy this the local branches of the Kentucky Equal Rights Association are now organizing on what is known as the "non-dues-paying basis." Every man or woman who believes in equal rights is asked to sign a card that reads, "I believe in the right of suffrage for women and I hereby enroll myself as a member of the Fayette County Equal Rights Association"—or "The Rowan County Woman Suffrage League," or whatever the name of the local organization may be. There are no penalties attached; one does not commit himself to anything but a belief in the principle on which our nation was founded; that taxation without representation is tyranny. If you believe in this principle, and have not signed a suffrage card, get one and sign it. It is a small thing to do for the cause of justice, but it is valuable.

If no league exists in your county, write to Mrs. Desha Breckinridge, president of the Kentucky Equal Rights Association, at state headquarters, 728 McClelland building, Lexington, Ky. She will supply you with a car for yourself and a bunch of cards to get your neighbors to sign.

Basis of Political Parties.

The "non-dues-paying" basis is the basis of all political parties. Merely professed and attested belief in the principles of the Republican party or the Democratic party makes one a Republican or a Democrat. When the shiews of war are needed, the leaders rely on voluntary contributions to the campaign fund. Men have developed organization much further than women; they know a great deal more about co-operation. Their primal duties to the tribe of fighting and hunting and the later developments of industry and business have necessitated co-operation and organization. Women's duties, each within her own particular home, have tended to isolation, to individualism, have been anti-social. But it is finally seen that the home is part of the state; that their separation means dire results to both: the demands of modern industry have pushed millions of women out of the home and into the working world. Women have come to see that for their own protection and for the betterment of the race they must become social, not anti-social, beings. And they have set out to learn the tricks that men know of co-operation and of organization. Their Federation of Women's Clubs, with its hundred thousand members, is one of the signs that they are "catching on."

Woman Suffrage Party.

Many of the new leagues for women suffrage are calling themselves "woman suffrage party." They are not only organizing on the basis of the political party, but they are taking the name "party." They say it makes the men realize better that they are a force to be reckoned with in practical politics—that they have come to stay! Becoming a member means neither dues nor pledges; it means merely a bona-fide personal signature to a declaration of belief in woman suffrage. The organizations then rely for their support on the free-will offerings of those who are ready to make some sacrifice for freedom and the principle of justice.

A Woman Suffrage League in Every County.

It is the purpose of the Kentucky Equal Rights Association to see that there is a woman suffrage league, whatever name may be chosen, in every county in Kentucky before the year 1913 closes. Good beginnings have been made this summer in some twenty-five counties. If you have not joined a league, send in your name. Enroll under the banner of the new woman suffrage party. Stand for the cause of right while the cause needs you! Don't wait until the battle is won and then try to get in on the band wagon.

M. McD. BRECKINRIDGE.

AN APPEAL TO LEGISLATORS.

Are you a member of the coming Legislature? Are you going to prove that you represent the women of Kentucky as well as the men by agreeing to allow them to submit their case to the voters? That is all they ask of you. They are presenting a bill asking for the submission of a constitutional amendment to the people, which will admit them to the suffrage on equal terms with men. You do not have to believe in woman suffrage to vote for this bill. All you have to believe in is in giving the women a fair chance to get to the court of last resort. A vote for the bill is not a vote for woman suffrage; it is simply a vote to let the question be submitted to the people of Kentucky; the women may never vote a single vote in their own favor; all they can do is to educate, to persuade and to wait.

A WOMAN TO THE MEN OF THE LEGISLATURE.

Nature Faker.

"How's this?" demanded the judge. "You have your husband arrested for assault, and yet you refuse to testify against him."

"Well, your honor," replied Mrs. McCarty, whose heart had softened, "I ain't sure 'twas him done it."

"But you stated positively he punched you in the eye."

"Thrue for ye. Some one did punch me in th' olye, but I ain't sure who, fur me back was turned at the toime."

WHAT EQUAL RIGHTS ASS'N HAS DONE

A report of the Kentucky Equal Rights Association says:

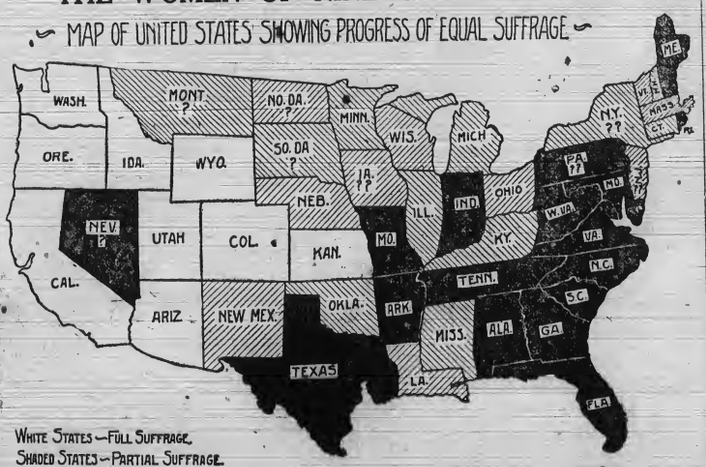
In 1888 the Kentucky Equal Rights Association was organized to advance the industrial, legal and educational rights of women, and to secure suffrage to them by appropriate state and national legislation.

We found on the statute books a law that permitted a husband to collect his wife's wages.

We found Kentucky the only state that did not permit a married woman to make a will.

Miss Laura Clay, Corresponding Secretary of the Kentucky Equal Rights Association and for Twenty-five Years its President.

We found that marriage gave to the husband all the wife's personal property which could be reduced to possession, and the use of all her real estate, owned at the time or acquired by her after marriage, with power to rent the same for not more than thirty years at a time and receive the rent.



We found that the common law of courtesy and dower prevailed, whereby, on the death of the wife, the husband inherited absolutely all personalty not theretofore reduced to possession, and when there were children, a life interest in all her real estate; while the wife, when there were children, inherited one-third of her husband's personalty and a life interest in one-third of his real estate possessed during marriage.

To this end we shall petition the next General Assembly for the submission of a constitutional amendment giving full suffrage to women.

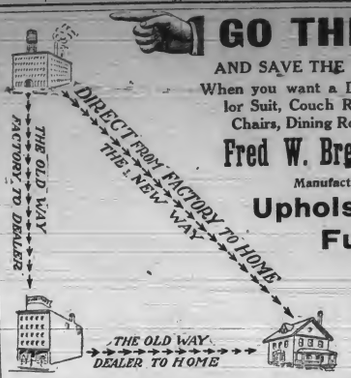
We appeal to all men and women who love justice to join our association and assist us in obtaining the full measure of our rights, which is "complete equality before the law."

ARE KENTUCKY WOMEN FIT FOR CITIZENSHIP? THE WOMEN OF NINE OTHER STATES ARE.

MAP OF UNITED STATES SHOWING PROGRESS OF EQUAL SUFFRAGE

WHITE STATES—FULL SUFFRAGE.
SHADED STATES—PARTIAL SUFFRAGE.
BLACK STATES—NO SUFFRAGE.
?—STATES WHERE SUFFRAGE IS BEFORE VOTERS.
??—STATES WHERE SUFFRAGE BILL MUST PASS A SECOND LEGISLATURE BEFORE BEING SUBMITTED TO VOTERS.

KENTUCKY EQUAL RIGHTS ASSOCIATION
LEXINGTON, KY.
SEPTEMBER, 1913.



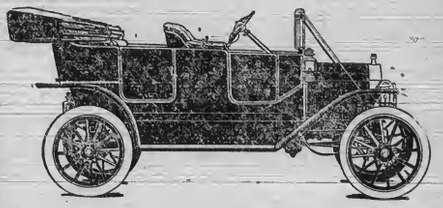
A bill will be presented to the Kentucky Legislature in January asking a constitutional amendment granting to the women of Kentucky the right to vote on all questions submitted to the people.

If the bill goes through the Legislature of 1914—it must be agreed to by three-fifths of all the members elected to each House—the question will be submitted to the people in the fall of 1915. If the amendment is passed by the people, Kentucky women may vote in the elections of 1916.

The women of nine Western states are already full citizens. Kentucky can no longer lead as she used to do in the advance of freedom. The question now is how far behind will she follow. All the Western states will soon be in the fold. In the East the issue has become so paramount that in New York and New Jersey this year all three political parties included planks declaring for woman suffrage in their platforms. There is little doubt that the people of both states will vote on the constitutional amendments in 1915.

If Kentucky has to follow New York and New Jersey in, let her not wait for any more states of the "effete East" to precede her.

If governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed, then the consent of every adult citizen should be asked.



GO THERE
AND SAVE THE DIFFERENCE
When you want a Davenport, Parlor Suit, Couch Rocker, Morris Chairs, Dining Room Chairs.
Fred W. Bremenkamp
Manufacture of
Upholstered Furniture
Factory and Sample Room
157 PIKE STREET,
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY
We Also Do Repairing and Refinishing.

GOODE & DUNKIE
Now the largest house in Covington. The cheapest and best place to buy Groceries, Flour, Seeds and Medicines.
Don't overlook us when you want anything in our line. Write us for prices. We can save you money.
NEW CLOVER SEED
NEW ALFALFA.
NEW TIMOTHY.
NEW KY. BLUE GRASS.
ARCADE FLOUR has doubled our flour trade in Covington in 12 months. The best on earth. Barrel..... $5.50
Freight Paid to Your Station.
GOLDEN BLEND COFFEE Pleases where others fail. Per Pound..... 25c

California Asparagus Tips,	Gee-Whiz Coffee, lb....20c
Layer Figs, lb.....15c	Seeded Raisins, lb.....10c
New Citron, lb.....20c	New York Cream Cheese
can.....11c	Pound.....20c
New Hominy, 2 lbs..... 5c	Jell-O, three pkgs.....25c
Ohio Sugar Corn, can... 6c	Mince Meat, lb 10c, 3 lbs25c
Wisconsin Peas, 3 cans..25c	California Peaches, can.15c
Sweet Pickles, 3 doz....25c	New Navy Beans, 3 qts .25c
Best Pink Salmon,3 cans25c	Peck.....70c
Best Lump Starch, lb... 4c	Fels Naptha, P. & G. Ivory Soap..... 4c
New Rolled Oats, 3 lbs..10c	Magic White Soap 6 for .25c
Babbitts Lye, 3 cans....25c

GOODE & DUNKIE,
19 & 21 Pike St., and 18 & 20 W. 7th St.,
Covington, - Kentucky.

Backache
Miss Myrtle Cothrum, of Russellville, Ala., says: "For nearly a year, I suffered with terrible backache, pains in my limbs, and my head ached nearly all the time. Our family doctor treated me, but only gave me temporary relief. I was certainly in bad health. My school teacher advised me to TAKE
Cardui
The Woman's Tonic
I took two bottles, in all, and was cured. I shall always praise Cardui to sick and suffering women." If you suffer from pains peculiar to weak women, such as headache, backache, or other symptoms of womanly trouble, or if you merely need a tonic for that tired, nervous, worn-out feeling, try Cardui. E-65

IF YOU WANT A GOOD
AUTOMOBILE
CALL ON
B. B. HUME, Burlington.

FOR 1913 MODEL FORD
5 Passenger Car, $570. 2 Passenger Car, $520
These prices are for fall delivery complete and delivered at your door. If desired a man will be furnished without charge to teach you how to operate your car.
—ALSO AGENT FOR THE—
Oakland, Roadster, $1,150 Touring Car, $1,200 Fully Equipped

Believe Me.
By trading at Thomann's you can save the Middleman's profit on Harness, Trunks and Blankets.
Wm. Thomann,
56 Pike Street,
Covington, Ky.

SCOTT CHAMBERS,
WALTON, KY.
Embalmer & Funeral Director,
LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.
First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.
Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.
Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

BOONE CO. RECORDER
W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

Individualism and the Farmer.

Probably the farmer is the greatest individualist in the country for while artizans, professions and other classes are thoroughly organized, as a rule, the farmers live an independent and separate existence for the most part. With the exception of Patrons of Husbandry in some sections and a few other organizations, mostly local and small, farmers are not combined as other vocations are. The comparative isolation of a farming community as compared with a city population largely accounts for this. In a city where thousands of workingmen live and where the professions are also much in evidence organization is easy, but is is not so easy where population is scattered as it is in the rural districts.

From almost every point of view this individualism of the farmer works against his interests. If farmers were organized they would be able to get much better prices for their produce instead of being so much at the mercy of commission men. Organization would also improve the social life of the farming community. The isolation so keenly felt is one chief reason why young people desert the country for the town. They may not live as well in the city, but they get the social life with its companionship and variety. Doubtless much of this life is not good but it seems to the young preferable to the dead monotony seen in the country.

Very fortunately conditions in rural districts are not far more favorable for organization than they were in former years. Telephones and rural delivery have brought the country and the town into closer touch, and better roads, slowly but surely made, and the automobile are making communication much easier, and organization more possible. In the country schoolhouse is found an ideal place in which the social life of the community can find helpful and enjoyable expression, and it is good to see how in many places the farmers are quick to seize that advantage. In these days a farmer is so situated that more than any one else he can in his own life combine most of the benefits of both individualism and collectivism, and he is gradually realizing that fact.

Prisoners Reasons for Rejoicing

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 27.—What a man has to be thankful for who is in prison might be difficult to surmise, but when Warden A. J. G. Wells announced in the prison chapel this morning that he would give each of the 1,100 prisoners who wished to express himself three minutes in which to tell what he has to be thankful for and scores of them arose one after another and gave a list of reasons that would have astounded those who haven't time to count their blessings.

Warden Wells also told the men that he is thankful for the improved morale of the institution.

The President's proclamation was read in chapel this morning by Henry Youtsey and the invocation was pronounced by Curt Jett, a leader in the Y. M. C. A. The prison band and orchestra gave a concert and Dr. Byron W. King, of Pittsburg, who is delivering a series of lectures in Frankfort, addressed them.

At dinner the Thanksgiving menu consisted of chicken, cranberries, pie, celery, fruit and potatoes.

This afternoon the negro prisoners gave a minstrel show in the chapel and repeated the performance tonight.

The chapel has been enlarged so that it seats the entire prison population. The wall between the old chapel and the library was removed and the library moved into the Bertillon office. A commodious stage has been provided and three sets of scenery with back drops painted by prisoners.

Cash For Pension Warrants.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 21.—Confederate pensioners hereafter will get cash for their warrants. The following statement was issued from the Treasury Department in regard to the November pensions aggregating $148,053.34:

To prevent the old Confederate soldiers of Kentucky from falling into the hands of the claim shavers with their pension warrants, which are now due to be sent out and without any money in the State Treasury with which to pay them, State Treasurer Thos Rhea has after considerable effort, completed arrangements with a Louisville financial institution to take up every one of the interest-bearing warrants totaling $148,053.34 at their face value.

The warrants to be thus cared for are those due November 5th, last, and more than 1,000 old soldiers will be benefitted by what the State Treasurer has accomplished in the face of many difficulties. For months past holders of State Treasury warrants have had to discount them from one to three per cent. to get the cash on them, notwithstanding the fact that they bear five per cent interest from the State and are nontaxable. Only this week the board of one of the public institutions was unable to secure in Louisville or elsewhere in the State money on warrants even with such a discount.—Ex.

While President Woodrow Wilson was reading his message to Congress, Tuesday, the Recorder was putting it in print for this week. It appears on another page.

Advantages of Stock Production.

There are two fundamental reasons for handling beef cattle—one to furnish a market for the grain and forage produced upon the farm, the other to maintain the fertility of the soil and increase the yield of crops. A study of the agricultural conditions of Europe shows that those countries which have a permanent system of profitable agriculture are also known as the livestock countries. The yield of wheat, oats and barley in England, Denmark, Germany and France exceeds that of Spain, Italy, Greese and Russia largely because of the livestock farming systems of those countries. The agricultural wealth of the United States is found in the northern part of the Mississippi valley, where livestock farming is foremost. In Kansas, those counties which are noted for their wealth and prosperity are the live stock counties of the state. Wherever grain farming has been followed to the exclusion of cattle, we have the same results as in Europe—a decline in the yield per acre and a depletion of soil fertility. The growing of a single crop year after year, whether it be corn, wheat or cotton means in the end abandoned farms, discontented citizens and an exodus of the best blood of the country toward the city. For this reason I hold that it is essential that the agricultural organizations advocate diversified farming. The handling of beef cattle and other live stock in order that our state may hold the place which was destined for it by nature.

EXCHANGE ECHOES.

Owingsville.—Blackleg is prevalent among the calves of this vicinity. A half dozen have died of the disease within the last few days.

Middlesboro.—H. C. Chappell may start a Republican newspaper here. This would make three newspapers in the magic city of the mountains.

Elkton.—From every section of Todd county comes the reports to the effect that hog meat is spoiling as a result of the continued warm weather.

Sebree.—The damp weather this week has caused tobacco buyers to begin active canvass throughout this county in search of unsold tobacco, and some fancy prices are being offered.

Elizabethtown.—Otto Richardson, the three year old son of James Richardson, of the southern part of the county, was kicked in the stomach by a vicious horse and died from the effects the day following.

In a letter from our old friend, Mr. B. A. Parker, who is an inmate of the Confederate Home at Pewee Valley, we gather the information that since the home was founded in October, 1902, 578 old soldiers have entered its portals and 283 of this number have died. Thirty-one have died during the present year.—Providence Enterprise.

Pikeville.—Probably the most remarkable case of incurable disease that has been called to the attention of Kentucky physicians in late years is that of four-year old Ruth Ward, who several weeks ago became a victim of what is known as scleroderma. In the incipient stage of the disease several local physicians were called in to examine the child, and at the instance of Dr. Z. A. Thompson she was taken to the University of Louisville and she was examined there by a large number of physicians and dermatological experts. Her case excited great interest, and is said nothing can be done for her.

There are twenty-one precincts in Shelby county, and when the Record made the ballot books for the last election it made one for each precinct for the men and one for each precinct for the women. Not a vote was cast by a woman in the last county election, and every book made for their use was as blank when the polls closed as it was when they opened. The law provides that in the preparation of the ballot books that each must contain 50 per cent. more ballots than were polled at the previous election in the respective precincts. What we want to know is, how many ballots shall be printed for use at the next election at which the women have a right to vote? What is 50 per cent. over no votes cast?—Shelbyville Record.

Mr. Frank Sinclair's stove is responsible for the statement that many turkeys and geese are being driven to the depot at Campbellsville, and unless the feet of the geese are protected they make slow progress. Mr. Taylor said that experienced poultry drivers shod their geese before starting to the market. The persons to whom he was talking said they never heard of such a thing and asked him to explain. He did so as follows: "Before leaving with your geese get a bucket of tar and a smooth plank, pour the tar on the plank then pick up the geese one at a time, setting their feet in the tar, turn them loose and in a short time a thick coat of dirt will form, and the fowls can walk to Campbellsville before it wears off. Without doing this the feet of the geese get sore by the time they travel a few miles and they have to be taken up and hauled."—Columbia News.

The telephone exchange which has been located about a mile from Hebron on the Limaburg road for some time will be moved back to Hebron and Mrs. John Mannin put in charge.

DO YOU KNOW
Hill's
Sells Groceries and Seeds at the same price other merchants pay for them? Our line is complete and goods of the highest quality.
WRITE FOR PRICES

You Can Make Rich Snow White Bread With
RARUS
BEST WINTER PATENT
GEO. W. HILL & CO.
COVINGTON, KY.
$5.25 Per Bbl
Freight Paid to your Station
Every Barrel Guaranteed.

IT'S BETTER TO DRINK
NOBETTER COFFEE
25c Per Lb
Increasing Sales Prove Merit
20 lbs. or More Freight Paid.

BLEND
COFFEE
A FINE DRINK
20c Per Pound.

25-lb. Box
Fancy California Evaporated
PEACHES
$2.00 or 3 lbs 25c

Send Your Orders for Canned Goods. They Will Be Higher.
Fancy Ohio Corn 70c per doz.
Solid Packed Tomatoes.....
.....$1 per doz.
Wisconsin Early June Peas....
.....$1 per doz
California Lemon Cling.....
Peaches.....$1.65 per doz
Stringless Beans..$1.00 per doz
Pink Salmon.....90c per doz
Atmore's Condensed Mince.....
Meat.....2 pkgs. 15c

NEW PURE
N. O. Molasses,
5 Gallon Can
$3.00

New Navy Beans
$2.30 Per Bu.

15-Gallon Kegs
NEW KRAUT
$4.50

BUY
Hill's Tested Seeds.
Always Better-Always Cheaper
Write for Prices.
Geo. W. Hill & Co.
GROCERS & SEEDMEN,
27-29 Pike St. or 26 W. 7th,
Covington, Ky.
Established 1863.

Tobacco Growers
Bring Your Tobacco to the
Falmouth Loose Leaf
Tobacco Warehouse Co.
(INCORPORATED)
FALMOUTH, KY.
TELEPHONE No. 87.

Best equipped and the largest loose leaf house in Northern Kentucky.

The best lighted house in the State, which enables us to show your tobacco to the best advantage.

We built this house for the growers of tobacco. The dealer did not need it, as he could ship to other markets; but not so with the farmer, because he could not pack for the old hogshead market to an advantage.

In this house the grower with a small crop has just the same advantage as the grower with a large crop, or the dealer, as each grade is put into a basket to itself.

We positively will have buyers from all the large manufacturers in the United States, and also buyers for the export trade.

We have a separate house with side track to receive tobacco shipped by railroad, so that the car tobacco and the farmers' wagons will not interfere with one another as in other markets.

We will be ready to receive your tobacco on December 1st.

Our openning sale will be on Saturday, December 6th.

We will have four sales days each week.

We Deliver
to any point we can reach with this

Christmas Gifts that are practical and useful--buy them early and we will make future delivery.

Library Tables.	Magazine Racks	Princess Dressers.
Rockers in all finishes.	Davenports.	Kitchen Cabinets.
and numerous styles.	Chifforobes.	Card Tables.
Ladies Desks.	High Chairs.	Leather Rokers.
BooK Cases.	Medicine Cabinets.	Sectional Bookcases.
Tabourets.	China Closets.	Chiffoniers.
Pedestals.	Extension Tables.	Dinner Sets china
Hall Racks.	Sewing Tables.	Pictures.
Piano Benches.	Ladies Toilet Tables.	Baby Cribs.
Book Shelves.	Costumers.	Mantel Mirrors.

Specials This week 26 Piece Silver Set—Six tablespoons, six teaspoons, Sugar Shell, Butter Knife, 6 Knives and 6 forks in a satin lined oak case, Wm. Rogers make, guaranteed..... $6.50
Also large Ebonized Handsome eight day CLOCK, elegant ornament, $4.50.

O'Brien & Birnbryer
—DEALERS IN—
Good Furniture, Rugs and Stoves
AT REASONABLE PRICES.
736 Madison Ave., - COVINGTON, KY.

The remains of James D. Cloud were placed in the vault in the Odd-Fellows' cemetery, last Friday, in the presence of a large crowd of the departed's neighbors and friends. The religious services consisted of a prayer at the vault by Rev. Campbell, pastor of the local Baptist church.

William Berkshire, of Petersburg neighborhood, has lost several nice young cattle recently of black leg, while cholera has killed all his hogs. His loss is considerable. Chas. Hensley of the same neighborhood lost a nice calf of black leg.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.

All persons indebted to the estate of Elizabeth Huey, deceased, are requested to come forward and settle, and those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned properly proven.

T. J. JUDGE, Executor.

Local Happenings.

Sunday was a fine day for ducks only.

Cisterns have been abundantly replenished.

Dirt roads have a good cause for being bad.

November was not a very hard month on coal bins.

E. E. Kelly sold, one day last week, a nice mare to Ft. Mitchell parties.

This, Thursday, is the day of W. T. Davis' big sale of personal property.

The growers have had several days of fine weather for stripping tobacco.

Washington, D. C., is in possession of the Ohio corn boys this week.

The Consolidated Telephone Co., will put on a third lineman, to be stationed at Union.

Small grain has been doing nicely for several weeks, getting a good start for the winter.

Andy Cook has moved to his new home, the Thos. Rouse farm one mile northeast of Burlington.

Dr. and Mrs. Yelton, Mrs. Newton Sullivan, Jr., and Miss Bessie Kirkpatrick, were in the city, shopping Tuesday.

Lloyd McGlasson, of Taylorsport, who has been a great sufferer of rheumatism for the last two years is improving.

A goodly number of subscribers for this paper have extended their subscription into the year 1913 during the past month.

Cholera has killed a large number of hogs in this county during the past few months, entailing a heavy loss on several farmers.

Scott Chambers, of Walton, has had two funerals in this neighborhood the past week—James D. Cloud's and Miss Annie Cason's.

The local dealer in native furs is preparing to handle a great many pelts this season. See his advertisement in another column.

Dr. Glacken, of Richwood, was in Petersburg neighborhood, the past week vaccinating cattle to prevent the spread of black leg.

Courtney Walton, of Idlewild, observed Thanksgiving day by delivering his 1913 crop of tobacco to Albert Conner in Burlington.

Mrs. Lou Craven, of Constance, passed her 81st birthday on the 26th ult. This venerable lady has been in poor health for some time.

Sheriff-elect W. D. Cropper executed his official bond last Monday and will be ready to enter upon the duties of his office on the first day of next month.

Eddins & Jarrell have begun remodeling the building they purchased of J. F. Blyth and will soon have a garage ready for the accommodation of the auto public.

The weather the past week was not good for the preservation of the briar hogs that were killed and ricked up at the country stores to await shipment to the city market.

The game of foot ball at Erlanger last Thursday afternoon between the Burlington and Erlanger teams resulted in a victory of 36 to 6 in favor of the Erlanger team.

Walton is to have a Farmers Institute in January, and it is hoped the farmers in that part of the country will take more interest in it than ever has been shown around here.

The pupils in Mrs. Nannie Maurer and Miss Ruth Kelly's rooms gave a very nice Thanksgiving entertainment at Library Hall on Wednesday afternoon last week. The little folks did themselves proud.

The big twelve will assemble next Monday and the new Commonwealth's Attorney, John J. Howe, will be on hand to advise them and draw from the boys what information they have of infraction of the laws.

A local base ball fan having read the President's message from a to izzard, remarked when he laid the document down, "Blame me if he said a word about the base ball rebellion in Cincinnati and the bouncing of Tinker."

According to the political dope sent out last Sunday by the Enquirer's correspondent at Lexington, this State, ex-Governor Beckham has his opponents in the race for U. S. Senator distanced in the sixty counties from which the correspondent has been able to obtain information pertaining to the race.

The ladies of the Walton Baptist church are holding a bazaar at the opera house in that town and are making a great success of it. It will please them very much to have you visit the bazaar and to attend the oyster supper on the night of the 14th inst. Help along the good cause.

THE NEXT CONGRESSMAN.

Regarding the Congressional election next year, it is a little early, as yet, for the manifestation of much interest. Still, even at this early date there is talk that Hon. Arthur B. Rouse, present Democratic incumbent, will have opposition for re-nomination, the candidate or candidates against him to come from Kenton county.

Admittedly Democratic as is the district, the interest naturally centers in the nomination made by that party, as the man who lands it is barring some very unusual happening, as good as elected.

It is improbable that there will be any candidate from any of the country counties. In regard to the talk of opposition to A. B. Rouse, the probabilities are that he will be renominated in the face of whatever opposition may be brought against him. Naturally, in the city counties, there is always an in and out faction, and it is only fair to assume that those who have been seeking control, but vainly, too will be against Mr. Rouse. At least, that is the talk. But even this need not seriously affect his vote in the city counties, although naturally diminishing it.

In the country counties it is hard to forsee any combination of circumstances or coalition of individuals that can defeat him. For Arthur Rouse is well liked over the district, having perhaps a wider personal popularity, especially in the country counties, than any Congressman in the last twenty years. And in his official life at Washington he has well looked after the interests of his district. When a public servant is useful to his people, and, at the same time, enjoys a wide personal popularity, it gives his candidacy a wonderful nucleus of strength at the outset. And this constantly rallying adherents from day to day gives such a candidacy an almost irresistible strength which any opposition will find very hard to set aside. Such a candidacy will be that presented by Arthur B. Rouse, and it would seem to reasonably insure his return to Congress for another term.—Warsaw Independent.

Mr. Rouse's popularity is not confined to the rural portion of this Congressional District, but the opposition to him in Covington and Newport, at this time, appears to be very small. He has been the servant of his constituents ever since they selected him as their representative at Washington and the cities as well as the country realize that in him they have a Congressman who recognizes his duty to his people and gives to them his best efforts at all times. No considerable opposition to Mr. Rouse's renomination seems likely to develop in any part of the district, while on the other hand the indications are he will have a clear track when the time comes for him to ask for a renomination.

The birth and death returns for Kentucky for the year 1912 are much more satisfactory in number and quality than 1911, the first year of the operation of the vital statistic law. The causes of death are more accurately stated and the personal and statistical particulars are given in greater detail; for this reason the certificates of both births and deaths have a greater value as a family record and enable the State Board of Health to locate more accurately epidemics of dangerous, communicable diseases and furnish a better index for the health policy of the Board.

The total number of births reported in 1911 in Kentucky was 60,732. The total number reported for 1912 was 62,184; an increase of 1,452 over the preceding year. Based upon each 100,000 population the rate for 1911 was 26.32; and for 1912 the rate was 26.78.

Miss Mary Castleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Castleman, of Erlanger, and Mr. G. F. Griffin, of North Carolina, were married at the residence of Rev. McDaniels, pastor of the First Baptist church in Covington, on the 27th of November, and left immediately on their bridal trip to Cuba. Mr. and Mrs. Griffin will make their home in North Carolina. The groom is a civil engineer and was located last summer at Erlanger while the Q. & C. Railway was being doubled tracked at that point. The bride was born and reared in Burlington where all join in extending her their best wishes.

Boone is one of the few counties in this part of the State that has no loose leaf tobacco warehouse to which the local growers can deliver their tobacco for sale. These loose leaf houses are said to be of great benefit to the grower in obtaining for him the top of the market, on every sales day numerous buyers being present, many of them from a distance, thus resulting in competitive bidding much to the grower's advantage. But, owing to Boone's unfavorable location and road conditions her tobacco growers can boast of no home market for their tobacco.

As Reuben Hager and Courtney Kelly were going to Erlanger, last Thursday afternoon to play foot ball, the horse attached to their buggy became frightened at some thing on the side of the road near Jacob Rouse and turned the vehicle over, damaging the top some. Neither of the boys were hurt. They say an auto would not have pulled any such trick without a better excuse.

By shopping early you will have a better selection of Christmas goods from which to make your purchases.

Rex McDonald is Dead.

Death has claimed old Rex McDonald and the great saddle stallion that ever lived has passed into the Great Beyond. Yet he leaves behind him a career that has never been equalled by any horse nor will it likely be in the present generation. As a show horse, he had no peer; as a breeder he has outstripped all his competitors until he stands in a class by himself, and when the present day exhibitors and owners have crossed the great divide and gone to no one knows where the name of old Rex McDonald will still be fresh as the greatest sire and show stallion of his day. He has builded a monument to himself that will stand the winds of many a winter and the heat of many a suns.

On last Wednesday night, I, in company with his owner, Benj. Middleton, saw Rex McDonald's remains consigned to mother earth, and as the last shovel of dirt was placed and the mound was rounded off, we silently left him to his glory and we know that he has gone to that Horse Heaven to join those other notable ones that have gone before him.

Rex McDonald is not only a loss to his present owner but a severe one to the saddle horse interest of both Missouri and Kentucky, and there will be more than one regret that he is no more.

Rex McDonald will be mounted by a taxidermist of Omaha and will be on exhibition in Mexico for all time to come. I heard two men offer five hundred for him which loyal old Ben Middleton promptly refused. He is buried in the Fair Grounds just in front of the grand stand where he won so many blue ties, and started on his famous career, and it is a source of gratitude to his friends in Mexico that his monument will always be a reminder that it was he that put the little town of Mexico on the horse breeders' map.

P. W. RAY.

Helped to Work the Roads.

Those who came to Owenton last Wednesday to transact business with any of our banks or professional men, or to buy any thing of our merchants, had to return without being waited on, for all of Owenton was out working our roads. Our business men had made arrangements to close their places of business and work the roads the two days set by the Governor of our state, but the rain interfered and when Judge Yancey set the 4th and 5th as good roads day for Owen county the people turned out in full force. Never in the memory of the writer has the town been closed so completely on any week day, only one store being kept open. On account of lack of time our merchants did not have time to notify the people of their intention of closing and let it be known that it was not the business men alone that worked the roads for there were many from every calling that were there, and did good work, and took an interest in the work, and to the praise of many to the colored people let it be said they were there, and as much interested as any one in the good work. We feel that the interest taken in this work not only in Owen county but all over the state will be the beginning of better roads.—Owenton Democrat.

On the 26th ult., Miss Eva Mae Brock and Rev. L. T. Wright were united in marriage at the Baptist church at Wheatley, Owen county. The groom is pastor of two churches in Nelson county. Mr. J. W. Kennedy and Mrs. Sam Hicks of this county were present at the wedding.

PUBLIC SALE.

We will sell at pulic auction at our residence on the Union and Hathaway turnpike, four miles west of Union, Boone county, Kentucky, on

THURSDAY, DECEMBER, 11, 1913

the following property:

Chestnut sorrel mare with foal, 4 year old gelding well broken, bay work mare, 4 year old all-purpose mare with foal, 2 good milch cows, brood sow and seven shoats, 3 pigs, about 6 dozen chickens, 100 bushels corn, lot of fodder, 30 dozen nubbles sheaf oats, 2 road wagons, 2 buggies, 2 sets buggy harness, 2 sets wagon harness, 3 saddles—one a side saddle, 2-horse sled, rock bed, Oliver Chill turning plow, "A" harrow, corn drill, 1 single and 1 double shovel plow, between 3,000 and 4,000 pounds of tobacco if not sold before day of sale, household and kitchen furniture consisting of bedroom suite, sideboard, bureaus, safe, extension table, 2 cook stoves, heater, sewing machine, chairs and many other articles too numerous to mention. Also a telephone box and two shares in the Union and Hathaway telephone company and 2 shares in Union and Hathaway turnpike.

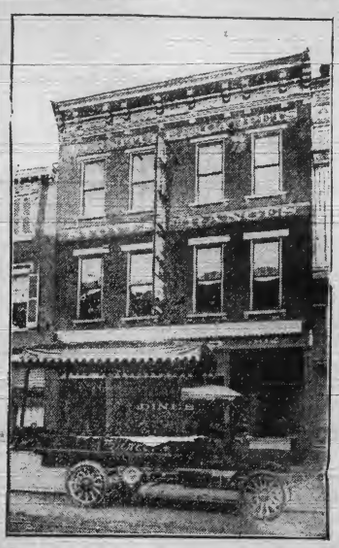
Terms—Sums of $5.00 and under, cash; on sums over $5.00 a credit of nine months without interest will be given, purchaser to excute note with good security, negotiable and payable in Peoples Deposit Bank at Burlington, Ky. Terms of sale must be complied with before property is removed.

L. W. ADAMS,
EALY CONLY,

A. D. Williamson, Auctioneer.

Sale to begin at 10 a. m.

FARM FOR SALE.



About 100 acres on Belleview pike, 1½ miles from Burlington, land all in high state of cultivation, well watered and all in grass except about 12 acres, good six room house, good cistern and well and necessary outbuildings in good repair. For terms and price call on the undersigned.

RICHARD WHITE.

Extraordinary Values

At DINE'S 530-32 Madison Ave. Covington, Ky.

During The Month Of December

Business Success for 28 Yrs
There Must Be a Reason.

Here is an offer that should especially appeal to those who are going to furnish their home complete.

HANDSOME

Two-In. Post Brass Bed

Free With Every Purchase of $125.00 or More

It is handsome in appearance and is finished in a guaranteed lacquer, furnished in either satin or polished finish.

Dine's Sanitary Couch Bargain

Built of heavy angle steel, wire fabric and highly tempered Premier Helicals. Can be made large enough for two persons..... $2.98

This is a picture of our Auto Truck, which delivers your FURNITURE in perfect condition.

NO FREIGHT. NO BREAKAGE.

518-520 York Street, Newport, Ky.

DINE'S
FURNITURE HOUSE.

530-532 Madison Av. Covington, Ky

1123-25 Main St. Cincinnati.

SHOES. | SHOES. | SHOES.

Buy Your Shoes Now From Us. Bargain Prices on EVERY PAIR

H. Schanker AND Son

ELSMERE, KY.

Corner Lexington Pike and Garvey Avenue.

MEN'S SHOES.

One Lot Men's $2.00 Dress or Work Shoes, All leathers..... $1.39

$2.50 Values in heavy or light weight, good dependable work or dress shoes $1.98

Men's $4.00 15 inch Copperoa Calf high top Shoes..... $2.98

$3.50 Dress or Elkskin Work Shoes all leathers; a positive Bargain—Men..... $2.49

$5.00 18 inch Panama Calf, tan or black, high tops, will turn water and guaranteed..... $3.98

Boys' Shoes 98c up—all leathers, button or lace.

GOOD DEPENDABLE SHOES THAT WILL WEAR. ANOTHER PAIR FREE IF THEY DON'T.

We do not make our shoes, but we guarantee them and we will positively replace every pair that goes wrong.

You are liable to get a bad pair anywhere and if you get them from us, why bring them back, we will make them good

Extra Special.

$1.25 Men's Overshoes Cloth, 1 buckle..... 86c

LADIES' SHOES.

One Lot Ladies' Vici button or lace; $2.00 values..... $1.39

$2.50 Gun Metal, button or lace, Ladies' Shoes, high or low heel, all the very newest models..... $1.98

Misses' and Children's $2.25 high top shoes; guaranteed for wear, all sizes..... $1.69

Bring the children here. Let us shoe them up it will pay you.

75c Infants Shoes 49c.

$1.00 Infants Shoes 75c.

$1.50 Infants Shoes, 3 to 8, all colors, all styles, 98c.

Guaranteed Rubbers for Ladies', Men and Children. Guaranteed Gum Boots, Felt Boots for Men and Boys.

H. Schanker & Son

Cor. Lexington Pike and Garvey Avenue,

Elsmere, Kentucky.

A CARD.

After more than a years rest from my broken down condition, during which time I have made no special effort to solicit business, I now desire to announce that I am in good condition to resume my former work and am advised by my physician that I can safely undertake it. I am fully equipped in every way to meet all the requirements of an undertaker and will spare no effort to render a satisfactory service wherever it might be the pleasure of my friends to favor me with a call.

H. G. BLANTON,
Erlanger, Ky.

The examination for fourth-class Postmasters will begin in Kentucky on the first Saturday in February and will be held in the Sixth District at the following places:

For Boone, Kenton and Campbell at Covington.
For Pendleton at Falmouth.
For Grant at Williamstown.
For Gallatin at Sanders.
For Carroll at Sanders.
For Trimble at Sulphur.

Hear that Dr. Hubert Walton has resigned as cashier of the Farmers Bank at Petersburg, his resignation to take effect early next Spring when he will begin whooping it up farming.

Raw Furs Wanted.

I pay highest prices for prime pelts, all kinds. Hold your furs for me.

H. KIRK, Burlington, Ky.

NO PEACE UNTIL HUERTA LETS GO USURPED POWER

President Says in Message Prestige of Dictator Is Crumbling and End Is Near.

WANTS MONEY BILL PASSED

Urges Enactment of Legislation to Make Farming a More Efficient Business.

LET SHERMAN LAW STAND

Primary Elections for Selection of Candidates for Presidency Urged—Ultimate Independence of Philippines an Obligation—Double Duty Toward Alaska—Employers' Liability.

Washington, Dec. 2.—The following is President Wilson's complete message delivered to congress today:

In pursuance of my constitutional duty to "give to the congress information of the state of the Union," I take the liberty of addressing you on several matters which ought, as it seems to me, particularly to engage the attention of your honorable bodies, as of all who study the welfare of the nation.

I shall ask your indulgence if I venture to depart in some degree from the usual custom of setting before you in formal review the many matters which have engaged the attention and called for the action of the several departments of the government or which look to them for early treatment in the future, because the list is long, very long, and would suffer in the abbreviation to which I should have to subject it. I shall submit to you the reports of the heads of the several departments, in which these subjects are set forth in careful detail, and beg that they may receive the thoughtful attention of your committees and of all members of the congress who may have the leisure to study them. Their obvious importance, as constituting the very substance of the business of the government, makes comment and emphasis on my part unnecessary.

Country Is at Peace.

The country, I am thankful to say, is at peace with all the world, and many happy manifestations multiply about us of a growing cordiality and sense of community of interest among the nations, foreshadowing an age of settled peace and good will. More and more readily each decade do the nations manifest, their willingness to bind themselves by solemn treaty to the processes of peace, the processes of frankness and fair concession. So far the United States has stood at the front of such negotiations. She will, I earnestly hope and confidently believe, give fresh proof of her sincere adherence to the cause of international friendship by ratifying the several treaties of arbitration awaiting renewal by the senate. In addition to these, it has been the privilege of the department of state to gain the assent, in principle, of no less than 21 nations, representing four-fifths of the population of the world, to the negotiation of treaties by which it shall be agreed that whenever differences of interest or of policy arise which cannot be resolved by the ordinary processes of diplomacy they shall be publicly analyzed, discussed, and reported upon by a tribunal chosen by the parties before either nation determines its course of action.

There is only one possible standard by which to determine controversies between the United States and other nations, and that is compounded of these two elements: Our own honor and our obligations to the peace of the world. A test so compounded ought easily to be made to govern both the establishment of new treaty obligations and the interpretation of those already assumed.

Huerta Must Let Go.

There is but one cloud upon our horizon. That has shown itself to the south of us, and hangs over Mexico. There can be no certain prospect of peace in America until General Huerta has surrendered his usurped authority in Mexico; until it is understood on all hands, indeed, that such pretended governments will not be countenanced or dealt with by the government of the United States. We are the friends of constitutional government in America; we are more than its friends, we are its champions; because in no other way can our neighbors, to whom we would wish in every way to make proof of our friendship, work out their own development in peace and liberty. Mexico has no government. The attempt to maintain one at the City of Mexico has broken down, and a mere military despotism has been set up which has hardly more than the semblance of national authority. It originated in the usurpation of Victoriano Huerta, who, after a brief attempt to play the part of constitutional president, has at last cast aside even the pretense of legal right and declared himself dictator. As a consequence, a condition of affairs now exists in Mexico which has made it doubtful whether even the most elementary and fundamental rights either of her own people or of the citizens of other countries resident within her territory can long be successfully safeguarded, and which threatens, if long continued, to imperil the interests of peace, order and orderable life in the lands immediately to the south of us. Even if the usurper had succeeded in his purposes, in despite of the constitution of the republic and the rights of its people, he would have set up nothing but a precarious and hateful power, which could have lasted but a little while, and whose eventful downfall would have left the country in a more deplorable condition than ever. But he has not succeeded. He has forfeited the respect and the moral support even of those who were at one time willing to see him succeed. Little by little he has been completely isolated. Day by day, every day his power and prestige are crumbling and the collapse is not far away. We shall not, I believe, be obliged to alter our policy of watchful waiting. And then, when the end comes, we shall hope to see constitutional order restored in distressed Mexico by the concert and energy of such of her leaders as prefer the liberty of their people to their own ambitions.

Currency Reform.

I turn to matters of domestic concern. You already have under consideration a bill for the reform of our system of banking and currency, for which the country waits with impatience, as for something fundamental to its whole business life and necessary to set credit free from arbitrary and artificial restraints. I need not say how earnestly I hope for its early enactment into law. I take leave to beg that the whole energy and attention of the senate be concentrated upon it till the matter is successfully disposed of. And yet I feel that the request is not needed—that the members of that great house need no urging in this service to the country.

I present to you, in addition, the urgent necessity that special provision be made also for facilitating the credits needed by the farmers of the country. The pending currency bill does the farmers a great service. It puts them upon an equal footing with other business men and masters of enterprise, as it should; and upon its passage they will find themselves quit of many of the difficulties which now hamper them in the field of credit. The farmers, of course, ask and should be given no special privilege, such as extending to them the credit of the government itself. What they need and should obtain is legislation which will make their own abundant and substantial credit resources available as a foundation for joint, concerted local action in their own behalf in getting the capital they must use. It is to this we should now address ourselves.

Allowed to Lag.

It has, singularly enough, come to pass that we have allowed the industry of our farms to lag behind the other activities of the country in its development. I need not stop to tell you how fundamental to the life of the Nation is the production of its food. Our thoughts may ordinarily be concentrated upon the cities and the hives of industry, upon the cries of the crowded market place and the clangor of the factory, but it is from the quiet interspaces of the open valleys and the free hillsides that we draw the sources of life and of prosperity, from the farm and the ranch, from the forest and the mine. Without these every street would be silent, every office deserted, every factory fallen into disrepair. And yet the farmer does not stand upon the same footing with the forester and the miner in the market of credit. He is the servant of the seasons. Nature determines how long he must wait for his crops, and will not be hurried in her processes. He may give his note, but the season of its maturity depends upon the season when his crop matures, lies at the gates of the market where his products are sold. And the security he gives is of a character not known in the broker's office or as familiarly as it might be on the counter of the banker.

Efficiency in Farming.

The agricultural department of the government is seeking to assist as never before to make farming a efficient business, of wide co-operative effort, in quick touch with the markets for foodstuffs. The farmers and the government will henceforth work together as real partners in this field, where we now begin to see our way very clearly and where many intelligent plans are already being put into execution. The treasury of the United States has, by a timely and well-considered distribution of its deposits, facilitated the moving of the crops in the present season and prevented the scarcity of available funds too often experienced at such times. But we must not allow ourselves to depend upon extraordinary expedients. We must add the means by which the farmer may make his credit constantly and easily available and command when he will the capital by which to support and expand his business. We lag behind many other great countries of the modern world in attempting to do this. Systems of rural credit have been studied and developed on the other side of the water while we left our farmers to shift for themselves in the ordinary money market. You have but to look about you in any rural district to see the result, the handicap and embarrassment which have been put upon those who produce our food.

Study Rural Credit.

Conscious of this backwardness and neglect on our part, the congress recently authorized the creation of a special commission to study the various systems of rural credit which have been put into operation in Europe, and this commission is already prepared to report. Its report ought to make it easier for us to determine what methods will be best suited to our own farmers. I hope and believe that the committees of the senate and house will address themselves to this matter with the most fruitful results, and I believe that the studies and recently formed plans of the department of agriculture may be made to serve them very greatly in their work of framing appropriate and adequate legislation. It would be indiscreet and presumptuous in anyone to dogmatize upon so great and many-sided a question, but I feel confident that common counsel will produce the results we must all desire.

Let Sherman Law Stand.

Turn from the farm to the world of business which centers in the city and in the factory, and I think that all thoughtful observers will agree that the immediate service we owe the business communities of the country is to prevent private monopoly more effectually than it has yet been prevented. I think it will be easily agreed that we should let the Sherman anti-trust law stand, unaltered, as it is, with its debatable ground about it, but that we should as much as possible reduce the area of that debatable ground by further and more explicit legislation; and should also supplement that great act by legislation which will not only clarify it but also facilitate its administration and make it fairer to all concerned. No doubt we shall all wish, and the country will expect, this to be the central subject of our deliberations during the present session; but it is a subject so many-sided and so deserving of careful and discriminating discussion that I shall take the liberty of addressing you upon it in a special message at a later date than this. It is of capital importance that the business men of this country should be relieved of all uncertainties of law with regard to their enterprises and investments and a clear path indicated which they can travel without anxiety. It is as important that they should be relieved of embarrassment and set free to prosper as that private monopoly should be destroyed. The ways of action should be thrown wide open.

I turn to a subject which I hope can be handled promptly and without serious controversy of any kind. I mean the method of selecting nominees for the presidency of the United States. I feel confident that I do not misinterpret the wishes or the expectations of the country when I urge the prompt enactment of legislation which will provide for primary elections throughout the country at which the voters of the several parties may choose their nominees for the presidency without the intervention of nominating conventions. I venture the suggestion that this legislation should provide for the retention of party conventions, but only for the purpose of declaring and accepting the verdict of the primaries and formulating the platforms of the parties; and I suggest that these conventions should consist not of delegates chosen for this single purpose, but of the nominees for congress, the nominees for vacant seats in the senate of the United States, the senators whose terms have not yet closed, the national committees, and the candidates for the presidency themselves, in order that platforms may be framed by those responsible to the people for carrying them into effect.

Independence for Philippines.

These are all matters of vital domestic concern, and besides them, outside the charmed circle of our own national life in which our affections command us, as well as our consciences, there stand out our obligations toward our territories over sea. Here we are trustees. Porto Rico, Hawaii, the Philippines, are ours, once regarded as mere possessions, are no longer to be selfishly exploited; they are part of the domain of public conscience and of serviceable and enlightened statesmanship. We must administer them for the people who live in them and with the same sense of responsibility to them as toward our own people in our domestic affairs. No doubt we shall successfully enough bind Porto Rico and the Hawaiian islands to ourselves by ties of justce and affection, but the performance of our duty toward the Philippines is a more difficult and debatable matter. We can satisfy the obligations of generous justice toward the people of Porto Rico by giving them the ample and familiar rights and privileges accorded our own citizens in our own territory and our obligations toward the people of Hawaii by perfecting the provisions of self-government already granted them, but in the Philippines we must go further. We must hold steadily in view their ultimate independence, and we must move toward the time of that independence as steadily as the way can be cleared and the foundations thoughtfully and permanently laid.

Test of Responsibility.

Acting under the authority conferred upon the president by congress, I have already accorded the people of the islands a majority in both houses of their legislative body by appointing five instead of four native citizens to the membership of the commission. I believe that in this way we shall make proof of their capacity in counsel and their sense of the responsibility in the exercise of political power, and that the success of this step will be sure to clear our view for the steps which are to follow. Step by step we should extend and perfect the system of self-government in the islands, making test of them and modifying them as experience discloses their successes and their failures; that we should more and more put under the control of the native citizens of the archipelago the essential instruments of their life, their local instrumentalities of government, their schools, all the common interests of their communities, and so by counsel and experience set up a government which all the world will see to be suitable to a people whose affairs are under their own control. At last, I hope and believe, we are beginning to gain the confidence of the Filipino peoples. By their counsel and experience, rather than by our own, we shall learn how best to serve them and how soon it will be possible and wise to withdraw our supervision. Let us once find the path and set out with firm and confident tread upon it and we shall not wander from it or linger upon it.

Double Duty Toward Alaska.

A duty faces us with regard to Alaska which seems to me very pressing and very imperative; perhaps I should say a double duty, for it concerns both the political and the material development of the territory. The people of Alaska should be given the full territorial form of government, and Alaska, as a storehouse, should be unlocked. One key to it is a system of railways. These the government should itself build and administer, and the ports and terminals it should itself control in the interest of all who wish to use them for the service and development of the country and its people.

But the construction of railways is only the first step; is only thrusting in the key to the storehouse and throwing back the lock and opening the door. How the tempting resources of the country are to be exploited is another matter, to which I shall take the liberty of from time to time calling your attention, for it is a policy which must be worked out by well-considered stages, not upon theory, but upon lines of practical expediency. It is part of our general problem of conservation. We have a freer hand in working out the problem in Alaska than in the states of the Union; and yet the principle and object are the same, wherever we touch it. We must use the resources of the country, not lock them up. There need be no conflict or jealousy as between state and federal authorities, for there can be no essential difference of purpose between them. The resources in question must be used, but not destroyed or wasted; used, but not monopolized upon any narrow idea of individual rights as against the abiding interests of communities. That a policy can be worked out by conference and concession which will release these resources and yet not jeopard or dissipate them, I for one have no douht; and it can be done on lines of regulation which need be no less acceptable to the people and governments of the states concerned than to the people and government of the nation at large, whose heritage these resources are. We must bend our counsels to this end. A common purpose ought to make agreement easy.

Specially Important.

Three or four matters of special importance and significance I beg that you will permit me to mention in closing.

Our bureau of mines ought to be equipped and empowered to render even more effectual service than it renders now in improving the conditions of mine labor and making the mines more economically productive as well as more safe. This is an all-important part of the work of conservation; and the conservation of human life and energy lies even nearer to our interest than the preservation from waste of our material resources.

We owe it in mere justice to the railway employes of the country to provide for them a fair and effective employers' liability act; and a law that we can stand by in this matter will be no less to the advantage of those who administer the railroads of the country than to the advantage of those whom they employ. The experience of a large number of the states abundantly proves that.

We ought to devote ourselves to meeting pressing demands of plain justice like this as earnestly as to the accomplishment of political and economic reforms. Social justice comes first. Law is the machinery for its realization and is vital only as it expresses and embodies it.

Safety at Sea.

An international congress for the discussion of all questions that affect safety at sea is now sitting in London at the suggestion of our own government. So soon as the conclusions of that congress can be learned and considered we ought to address ourselves, among other things, to the prompt alleviation of the very unsafe, unjust, and burdensome conditions which now surround the employment of sailors and render it extremely difficult to obtain the services of spirited and competent men such as every ship needs if it is to be safely handled and brought to port.

May I not express the very real pleasure I have experienced in co-operating with this congress and sharing with it the labors of common service to which it has devoted itself so unreservedly during the past seven months of uncomplaining concentration upon the business of legislation? Surely it is a proper and pertinent part of my report on "the state of the Union" to express my admiration for the diligence, the good temper, and the full comprehension of public duty which has already been manifested by both the houses; and I hope that it may not be deemed an impertinent intrusion of myself into the picture if I say with how much and how constant satisfaction I have availed myself of the privilege of putting my time and energy at their disposal alike in counsel and in action.

DAILY
Courier-Journal
AT HALF PRICE
DURING DECEMBER
JANUARY
FEBRUARY
The Boone Co. Recorder
has made a special arrangement whereby the Daily Courier-Journal can be furnished one year for $3.00, six months $1.75, by mail (Sunday not included) to all persons who will give their orders to us during the months named above. You can have the Daily Courier-Journal and the Recorder one year each
For Only $4.50
After February 28, 1914, the price of the Daily Courier-Journal alone is $6.00 a year. Take advantage of this special Bargain Offer at once and Reduce the High Cost of Living.
To Get Advantage of This Cut Rate, Orders Must Be Sent Us, Not to the Courier-Journal.

Peters
"ALL-FOR-WEAR"
THE BEST WORK SHOE IN THE WORLD
FOR SALE BY
W. M. RACHAL & CO.
UNION, KENTUCKY.

H. G. BLANTON,
Funeral Director and Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.
First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.
I Have a Nice White Funeral Car and Ambulance,
Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.
Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,
Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.
Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.
Office and Wareroom:
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
IRA POPE Agent, - - Grant, Ky

J. L. HAMILTON
(Successor to M. T. WILSON)

FUNERAL DIRECTOR,
Verona, Ky.
Telephone calls day or night given prompt attention. Mrs. M. T. Wilson is my assistant and solicits the patronage of the friends of her late husband. dec-1 12

CHAS. E. GARNETT.
AUCTIONEER.
Will go to any part of the county
Address.
R. D. 2, Ludlow, Ky.

A Splendid Clubbing Bargain
WE OFFER
The Boone Co. Recorder
AND
The Cincinnati Weekly Enquirer
Both One Year For Only $1.85
Subscriptions may be new or renewal.
What the Weekly Enquirer Is.
It is issued every Thursday, subscription price $1 per year, and it is one of the best home metropolitan weeklies of to-day. It has all the facilities of the great DAILY ENQUIRER for obtaining the world's events, and for that reason can give you all the leading news. It carries a great amount of valuable farm matter, crisp editorials and reliable up-to-date market reports. Its numerous departments make it a home farm or business man.
This grand offer is limited and we advise you to take advantage by subscribing for the above combination right now. Call or mail orders to
BOONE CO. RECORDER,
Burlington, Ky.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections.
Office—Over D. Rouse's store.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.
Take your County paper.

SEEK HELP OF RICH WOMAN

Begging Letters Innumerable Come in Every Mail to the Possessor of Great Wealth.

A correspondent of Leslie's Weekly sends these juicy bits from the correspondence of one of our wealthiest and most charitable ladies:

One supplicant writes: "You are far above men in a social and monetary way, but I fly to thee for aid. I would like to go visiting and would like some clothes or a hat. One that comes over the face is more becoming to me."

Others are: "I have a moral character, and some thinks I am very bright. I am blessed with many friends who will testify to my ladyship."

"For a long time I have wanted to feel the pleasure of being even with the world, and when I saw your picture in the paper your eyes seemed to look into mine and say, 'I will help you if you will ask me.'"

"I have long been looking for a person to whom I could make my wants known. Little I ask—some stationery, a good timepiece, one pair of spectacles (good, strong lense) or the exchange of a railway pass for a good parrot."

"I have sometimes wished that God would give me some money to start me in the chicken business. Perhaps he would start me in the business to sell the pure food of horseradish."

"I am a bachelor maid of sixty-two and have to look out for myself, as I have neither pa nor ma. Think over this letter and don't disappoint me. Your loving friend."

These letters are plainly from ignorant people, and probably somewhat weak-minded. In fact, it is almost an infallible sign of weak-mindedness to send any sort of an appeal for personal help to the very rich.

VALUE THE ACORN AS FOOD

Mission Indians of California Find Sustenance in and Apparently Enjoy the Nuts.

Among the mission Indians of California acorns form a staple article of food. They gather these industriously in the autumn, dry them thoroughly in the sun and store them for winter use in huge bins, which hold ten bushels or more. These bins are of wicker work and look like inverted baskets. Very often they are covered with canvas to protect the contents from rain and snow and are placed upon elevated platforms to prevent the dampness of the ground affecting them.

When used for food purposes the squaws pound the acorn kernels into a coarse meal. Sometimes they bake this into a cake, but generally it is made into mush.

To make the mush they first mix it with water so as to form a thin batter. This is boiled by allowing very hot stones to fall into and cook it. When the stones in the vessel have lost their heat they are taken out with a long ladle and are replaced by freshly heated ones.

When the mixture has been well cooked the bowl is placed on the ground and the mush allowed to cool. The entire family gathers about to enjoy the feast, and one and all convey the food to their mouths with the palms of their hands.

Was Hard to Please.

A good story is told of Provost Hawkins, an old don of Oriel college, Oxford, who was never happy unless he could find some fault to criticize in the undergraduates who came before him. Among other things the record of chapel attendance was always on Hawkin's table ready to be referred to for praise or blame.

One day when a student, who was an Oriel man, was before him, the provost consulted the record.

"I observe, Mr. King," said he, "that you have never missed a single chapel, morning or evening, during the whole term."

He paused, but instead of a word of praise, which might reasonably have been expected, he continued severely:

"I must warn you, Mr. King, that even too regular attendance at chapel may degenerate into formalism."—London Telegraph.

Historic Parrot.

An older and more historical bird than the octogenarian cockatoo of St. Ives is the famous parrot "Ducky," which was one of Queen Alexandra's pets until its death. This bird belonged to the younger Pitt, who presented it to George II., from whom it passed in turn to George IV., William IV. and Queen Victoria, who presented it to her daughter-in-law, the princess of Wales. All parrots are long-lived, and if they could only speak with intelligence what reminiscences this royal bird could have given—from the time it first looked knowingly at Pitt, learned how to imitate the invariable "What? What?" of George III., was scandalized by the revels of the regent and attempted to acquire the nautical vocabulary of William IV.

Job's Turkey.

Of course, Job never had a turkey, for this fowl is a native of the land of the stars and stripes, and was never heard of until this country was settled by travelers overseas.

Nevertheless, Job's turkey is described by the author of "Sam Slick" as so poor that it had only one lonely feather in its tail and had to lean against a fence to gobble. Since the appearance of that book Job's turkey represents the last extreme of poorness and forlornness.

Sampling Mother's Doughnuts

HUNGRY kids are sampling them today just as they did in your doughnut days.

Our artist has taken the old familiar story and brought it up to date. He has given Mother a modern up to date Acetylene cooking range.

It may surprise you to learn that such ranges are actually being used by the women folks in over two hundred thousand country homes.

As you will note from the picture, they are duplicates of city gas ranges used throughout the world. They furnish heat on tap—and have the high ovens with glass doors and all other modern features.

If you feel that your folks would appreciate the convenience of gas for lighting and cooking—if you feel that they have battled long enough with kindling, oil, coal, ashes and soot, you should without delay look into my home made Acetylene proposition.

I am the representative for this district, of the largest manufacturers of country home Acetylene plants in the world—namely, the Oxweld Acetylene Co.—manufacturers of the famous Pilot Acetylene Light Plants.

Pilot plants are different from any of the other hundreds of American Acetylene machines. They work on a different principle. They are not storage systems—they are automatic—they make gas—a little at a time, while the stove or the lights are in use. At other times the plant stands idle.

PILOT LIGHTING PLANTS
HOME MADE ACETYLENE
FOR LIGHTING COOKING

Pilot lighting plants are built upon honor to last a lifetime. They are permanent features of the homes in which they are installed.

o o o

In fifteen years only two accidents have been charged to the misuse and abuse of Pilot plants. While during the same period over one hundred thousand fires and accidents have been charged to other illuminants.

For these reasons you should not judge Acetylene until you have seen it made by a Pilot plant. The Pilot is the one plant that is mechanically perfect. This is proven by the fact that there are over sixty thousand of them in actual use today.

At your convenience I can call at your home with a portable demonstrating plant and show you how the Pilot works—how it generates home made Acetylene—how it automatically mixes the Union Carbide and water to make this gas.

I can show you also how this home made Acetylene is used to produce the most brilliant and beautiful light known—how it is used in cooking ranges which do away with the work and bother of handling fuel and ashes.

If you wish, I can send you also the Oxweld Acetylene Company's advertising books. These books tell how Acetylene is used for over a hundred different purposes—how the government uses Acetylene machines, on account of their reliability, to light the coast of Alaska and the whole Panama canal.

With these books I will gladly furnish you free estimate of the cost of a Pilot lighting plant with capacity to fit your requirements. Just write me how many rooms you have and also how many barns and outbuildings you would light. Just address—

G. J. GRUBBS
WALTON, KY.
Salesman
OXWELD ACETYLENE CO.
CHICAGO

The Farmers' Institute.

Last Friday and Saturday a Farmers' Institute was held in our county. Trained specialists selected by the State authorities, were in attendance, at public expense, to lecture on various phases of scientific agriculture and the like. At a number of different times we visited the court house, where the institute was being held, and were impressed with the almost unanimous indifference shown by our farmers. At no time did we see more than two dozen persons present and probably half of those were not farmers. Now these speakers are selected with a view of competency and there is not a farmer in this or any other county, who could not have been taught something worth while had he seen fit to listen. We are told the same conditions exist all over the State and it seems to us that unless the farmers attend these meetings and thus profit by them that this enormous expense ought to cease.—Mt Sterling Advocate.

AFTER COUGHING TWO YEARS

Waycross, Ga., Woman Found Relief in Vinol.

Did you ever cough for a week? Then just think how distressing it must be to have a cough hang on for two years.

Mrs. D. A. McGee, Waycross, Ga., says: "I had a very heavy cold which settled into a chronic cough which kept me awake nights for fully two years, and felt tired all the time The effect of taking your cod liver and iron remedy, Vinol, is that my cough is gone, I can now get a good night's rest and I feel much stronger in every way. I am 74 years old."

It is the combined action of the medicinal elements of the cods' livers aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron which makes Vinol so efficient for chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis—at the same time building up the weakened, run-down system.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

P. S.—If you have any skin trouble try Saxo Salve. We guarantee it.

Robert W. Jones, Druggist, Walton

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN,
DENTIST

will be at Burlington on the first and second Monday, and in Union on the third and fourth Monday of each month, prepared and qualified to practice according to the latest methods extracting teeth painless.

All work guaranteed.

FOR SALE

Good Steinway Piano. Apply to Dr. R. A. DULANEY, Florence, Ky.

The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO.

Erlanger, Ky.

Has come to stay and is ready for business and will keep on hand at all times a good supply of

Raymond City and Plymouth Coal

in yard and on car at the Lowest Prices Possible, and guarantee 80 lbs. to the bushel. Will also handle Cannel Coal, Kentucky Simi-Candle and Worley Block, and Peidmont strictly blacksmithing Coal.

Your patronage solicited.

The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO
Erlanger, Kentucky.

Boone County Farms and Town Property For Sale.

165 acres on the Waterloo and Rabbit Hash pike 2¼ miles from Rabbit Hash and 4½ miles from Belleview. One and one-half story house with nine rooms, two new barns 36x48 and 40x48, other out buildings, plenty of water, good fence, all in grass but 20 acres. Price $60 per acre.

—!!—

100 acres almost adjoining the above farm with no house but good barn 36x48. Fifty acres woodland. 75 acres of this land will grow tobacco. Plenty water. Five acres in cultivation. Price $30.00 per acre. The two above farms could be considered as one farm or can be sold separate.

—!!—

86 acres on the Waterloo and McVille pike ¾ mile from McVille and about 1½ miles from Waterloo or Belleview. No improvements except good fences. Plenty water. All in grass. Thirty acres will grow tobacco. Price $20.00 per acre.

—!!—

Good 5-room house and one acre ground in Burlington. Price $1000.

—!!—

Two houses and lots in Petersburg one for $600 and the other for $100.

Also have some farms for sale not listed above.

A. B. RENAKER,
Burlington, Ky.

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS

For Sale, stock from the flock scoring most points at State Fair last fall. Cockerels, $1.00 each; eggs in season. (dec 18)

MRS. B. C. GRADDY,
Bullittsville, Ky.

Rogers Bros.
General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade.

B. S. O'NEAL,
AUCTIONEER,
VERONA, - KENTUCKY.

Your Order is Solicited.

For Sale or Rent.

One Hundred and Eight and Two-Third Acres of Land, at the mouth of Gunpowder creek in this county; the best hog farm in Northern Kentucky. For further particulars call on or address Erastus Rice, Rising Sun, Indiana, or S. D. Rice, Grant, Ky., R. D. 1.

F. J. HENN. M. M. HUSCHART.
LAWRENCEBURG

Granite and Marble Works

Manufacturers of and Dealers in
fine American and Imported Monuments.

Cemetery Work of Every Description Promptly and Carefully Attended to.
Lawrenceburg, :-: Indiana.
D. M. SNYDER, Agt., Burlington, Ky.

Take your County Paper.

FIFTY-SECOND SEMI-ANNUAL STATEMENT OF THE

Boone County Deposit Bank

Burlington, Kentucky

At Close of Business December 31, 1912.

RESOURCES.		LIABILITIES.
Loans, Bonds, &c....	$170,858.80	Capital Stock.....	$ 30,000.00
Overdrafts.....	52.81	Surplus.....	45,000.00
Due from Banks.....	38,391.04	Undivided Profits, &c	7,581.49
Cash.....	7.711.80	Deposits.....	136,591.35
Banking House, &c..	3,000.00	Due Banks.....	841.31
Total.....	$220,014.15	Total.....	$220,014.15

A Bank that is going after business, and going in the right way.

HOW? By promptness in serving its customers.
By courteous attention to their banking needs.
By readiness in meeting their requirements, and, above all
By perfect security of the funds intrusted to its care, having over $100.000.00 to secure depositors.

We have the largest Capital and Surplus of any Bank in this county, and are amply able to accommodate our patrons, and are willing at all times to afford them every accommodation justified by the rules of good and safe banking, whether their accounts are large or small.

N. E. RIDDELL, President. J. C. REVILL, Cashier.

J. F. KIESWETTER,
RUGS MADE of OLD CARPETS

Compressed Air Carpet Cleaning.
TELEPHONE SOUTH 21.
250 PIKE STREET,
Covington, - - - Ky.
M. RIDDELL, Agent, Burlington, Ky.,

ADAMS

A New Victrola $75

A Cabinet Style Victrola combining a record cabinet for only $75.00. Same perfect, mellow tone quality of the most expensive Victrola, same elegant finish.

Easy Monthly Payments.

A. ADAMS,
15 Pike Street,
Covington, - - Ky.

The Cincinnati Grain Co.

HAVE OPENED THEIR NEW HOUSE AT ERLANGER, KY.

FREE PHONE ERLANGER 49

Handle Hay, Grain, Flour and Feed of all Kinds.
Will Also Buy Your Wheat, Rye, Etc.

Special Notice—We are selling at city prices, consequently can save you the long haul from Covington and Cincinnati.

GIVE US A TRIAL

FARM MOTORS

For Pumping, Operating Churns, Saws, Corn Shredders, Filling Silos, Etc.

Last a Lifetime. From 1¼ to 25 h. p. $33 and up. Ready To Run.

Direct Factory Representatives
SPENCER-HARTLIEB CO.
316-318 MAIN STREET
CINCINNATI, OHIO
Phone, 1810 Main

Read Our Big Combination Offer.

WALTON.

John W. Allen, of Hume, was a visitors to friends here Saturday.

Leslie Carlisle, of Kenton county, spent Saturday here on business.

Harry Stamler of Paris, Bourbon county, spent part of Tuesday here with friends.

Miss Eva Cram spent the past week at Alexandria, Campbell Co., with relatives and friends.

Marion Sayers, of Chicago, formerly of Dry Ridge, was a visitor here a part of last week.

J. L. Greenwell and wife spent part of the past week with relatives and friends at Mt. Zion.

The firm of Watson & Gaines have added a stock of groceries to their general market store.

For Sale—A high grade Jersey cow; will be fresh in two weeks. Leo Gridley, Sanders, Ky., R. F. D. 3.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Boutwell were presented with a fine daughter Nov. 27th, a Thanksgiving present.

Enoch T. Templeman, of near Glencoe, and Owen Bethel, of near Verona, spent Friday here with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Johnson and children, of Cincinnati, spent last Thursday here with relatives and friends.

Mrs. J. G. Slater and daughter Nell, of Ludlow, spent part of last week here visiting relatives and friends.

Miss Queen Tillman spent part of last week in Grant Co. near Folsom, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Young.

E. H. Boutwell, who recently returned from Ohio, has been assisting as clerk in the store of E. P. Northcutt.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. L. Vest and little son, Walter, spent Thanksgiving at Verona with his mother, Mrs. M. J. Vest.

Mrs. Wm. B. Norman and Mrs. Wm. C. Moxley spent the past week at Canton, Ohio, visiting Mrs. W. A. Fullilove.

Edgar F. Kipp, of Cincinnati, spent Saturday here with his many friends, and looking after the interests of his property here.

Rev. A. Kirtley Johnson spent Saturday and Sunday at Glencoe where he held services at the Baptist church by special invitation.

Carl Neumeister, of the Walton Roller Mills, returned last week from a very successful business trip to the southeastern part of Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Sandford, of Sanders, were the guests of Mr and Mrs. J. M. Arnold and family part of last week, returning to their home Saturday.

Rev. C. J. Nugent, pastor of the Methodist church, spent the past several days with his congregation at Mt. Zion near Devon, holding services there Sunday.

Hon. J. G. Tomlin and wife spent part of last week at Georgetown, Lexington and Paris with friends, Judge Tomlin having some legal matters to look after at each place.

Mrs. B. K. Menefee, Mrs. Jno. L. Vest, Mrs. J. M. Stamler and Mrs. T. F. Chambers spent Tuesday in Covington attending a special meeting of the Eastern Star Chapter.

Dr. Louise Southgate, Mrs. Jane Conner and daughter, Miss Katie, of Covington, spent Thanksgiving day with Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Green and Miss Louise Green, of Bracht.

J. M. Stamler, John L. Vest, J. G. Tomlin and D. D. Wallace spent part of the week at Paris attending the Bourbon Circuit Court relative to a suit in which Mr. Stamler is one of the litigants.

Arrangements are being made to hold a farmers institute at Walton about the middle of January, and the State Commissioner, Hon. J. W. Newman, promises to be present with a good corps of instructors.

Mrs. N. T. Welsh, who has been sick for a couple of weeks has about recovered. Mr. and Mrs. Welsh have rented the Mrs. Hattie Yarnall property and will move from Mrs. J. W. Thomas property.

R. D. Stamler, Jno. L. Vest and Rev. A. Kirtley Johnson spent Monday night at Dry Ridge attending a meeting of the Masonic Lodge when three candidates were raised to the sublime degree of a Master Mason.

Misses Pearl and Erma Stephenson, who are engaged in teaching public schools in the county, spent part of last week here with their parents and friends, and they were accompanied by Miss Hattie White, of Burlington.

Dr. B. K. Menefee and Prof. J. L. Chambers attended the Boone County Medical Society at Union last Wednesday night, and report a large attendance and that Dr. O. E. Scenour who was the host cannot be excelled as an entertainer.

Shelby Masters, a farmer, of near Pisgah, Woodford county, spent part of the past week in this quarter intending to purchase a farm as he is very much pleased with this section. He made an offer for a farm of J. H. Watson, near Walton.

"My Old Kentucky Home," or a play given that name, was produced by a traveling company last Friday night at the Walton Opera House to a fair sized crowd. Those who attended seemed to be well pleased in the majority. The company showed at Dry Ridge the next night.

The Ladies Aid Society of Walton Baptist church will give a bazaar at the opera house from Dec. 10th to 14th and will have on sale everything from a pin to a piano. On the evening of the 14th they will give an oyster supper. The patronage of everybody is cordially solicited.

The Methodist and Christian church Sunday schools wil join issues this year and give a grand Christmas tree on Christmas eve. The excellent ladies of these two churches will soon get together and formulate plans for the joyful entertainment of the little ones.

Married—Harry Norman and Miss Maggie Chandler were united in marriage at Indianapolis, Indiana, Nov. 20th. The groom is a son of P. S. Norman, of this place and the bride formerly resided at Dry Ridge and recently moved from Walton to Indianapolis, where the young couple expect to make their home.

H. T. Larimore, of The Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Company, was here on business last Friday and Saturday. He says the tobacco market is quiet and the prices paid for the weed in the country are not justified by the conditions of the market, as the market is weak on the new grades offered compared with country quotations.

Rev. H. C. Warman will hold his regular services at the Walton Baptist church next Sunday, Dec. 7th, and the subjects of his discourses will be at 11 o'clock a. m., "The Silent Partner," at 7 o'clock p. m., "A Discussion of How to Prevent Tuberculosis. This last service is given at the request of the State Board of Health to all pastors in Kentucky to present the subject matter on the first Sunday in December.

Married—Wm. Earl Ross, of Newport, and Miss Margaret Franks, of Covington, were united in the bonds of holy wedlock at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse E. Franks, in Covington, Nov. 25th, Rev. Mr. McDanell, of the Baptist church performing the ceremony. The young couple left at once for Florida and will visit Cuba and spend their honeymoon in the land of flowers and sunshine. The bride is a most charming and pretty young lady and has a host of friends here who wish her and her husband a long, happy and prosperous life together.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Johnson entertained with a turkey dinner Thanksgiving day. All of their nine children and eight grandchildren were present. Those present were Omer Johnson and family and Mrs. Elizabeth Arnod, of Crittenden; Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Johnson and family, of Latonia; Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Jones and little son Wm. Robert, of Covington; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson and son Lawrence, of Maple Grove Farm, near Walton; Mrs. Nancy Johnson and son Walter and little daughter Mary Banche, Miss Marie Arnold and brother Robert Arnold, of Walton.

Married—Frank Meyers and Miss Marie Menke were united in marriage by Rev. Father Forest at St. John's Catholic church, Cincinnati, Wednesday, Nov. 26. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Carrie Menke-Gaking, of near Walton, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Meyers, of Cincinnati. A wedding dinner was served at six o'clock at the bride's home. Miss Amella Meyers officiated as brides maid and Geo. Menke as groomsman. Others present were Mrs. Meyers and granddaughter, Miss Amelia, Miss Sophia Waslinger, Miss Elizabeth Kohn, Mr. and Mrs. H. Rhende. The young couple will make their home in Cincinnati where the groom is employed at the Second National bank. Many handsome and useful presents were given the young couple much happiness and success in their new relation.

Miss Isabel Tompkins, the bright young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Tompkins, entertained at their beautiful home last week with a charming house party in honor of her guests Misses Ruth Boulton, of Covington, and Blanche Kennedy, of Verona, and on Thursday, Thanksgiving day, the following guests were entertained: Misses Opal Holbrook, of Owenton, Misses Lulie Miller, Marie Menefee, Myra Strauther, Elizabeth Hicks, Marie Allen, Zella Mayhugh, Walton; Messrs. Robt. Snyres and Morris Thomas, of Erlanger; J. Wilmott Kinslear, Lee Hind, Fred Miller, J. F. Cleek, Allan Gaines, J. Clifton Mayhugh, Lambert Rouse and Stanley Vallandingham, of Walton. The guests were delightfully entertained with music, games, social converse, etc., and all enjoyed a very pleasant evening. The rooms were brilliantly illuminated and decorated with flowers, and elegant refreshments of ices, cakes, etc., were served.

Sunday night, a little after seven o'clock the Q. & C. commuter from Cincinnati struck and killed Charles McCarty, aged about 55 years, about a mile north of Walton. Mr. McCarty was employed as a watchman on the fill at that place which has not been in a very safe condition since the rainy weather set in. At the time of the fatality Mr. McCarty was standing on the side of the road to let a freight train pass. After the passage of the train he stepped across to the other track right in front of the commuter. The engineer of that train saw him, but too late to avert the accident. The unfortunate man was struck and thrown to one side and death occurred almost instantly. He leaves a wife and a young son, Fred, aged about seventeen to mourn the loss of a loving husband and a kind father. Mr. McCarty lived in Walton nearly all his life and was a good citizen who had the respect of all who knew him. He was a member of Walton Lodge of Odd-Fellows and his funeral took place Tuesday, being conducted by the members o. that order, after which the remains were laid to rest in the Baptist church cemetery.

Walton Feed and Seed Company.

—o—

Why go to Cincinnati to buy your feed such as

Hay of all kinds, Mill Feed, Brand, Alfalfa, Chop Feed, Corn (shelled or on the ear,) Oats, Flour and Corn Meal.

We buy on Change and can give you Cincinnati prices; also handle Seed of all kinds at the Lowest Prices.

Write us. Will quote you prices on car lots or less.

DIERS & BEST, Walton, Ky.

MISCELLANEOUS FOR SALE.

For Rent—Farm to dairyman. Call on J. H. Graves, at Erlanger.

Wanted—Two brood sows. G. W. Ranson, Richwood, Ky.

For Sale—Two sows and 25 pigs. Apply to F. H. Rouse, Burlington, Ky.

For Sale—Two 300 lb. fat hogs. Elmore Ryle, R. D. 2, Burlington, Ky.

For Sale—Fresh cow and calf. Apply to G. T. Gaines, Burlington R. D. 1.

For Sale—Fine bay mare. Inquire of Mrs. J. L. Deering, Riggs Ave., Erlanger, Ky.

Wanted—Farm hand. Only man with small family need apply. G. W. Ranson, Richwood, Ky.

For Sale—Two young mares, 5 and 7 years old. Apply to C. T. Northcutt, Burlington R. D. 2.

For Sale or Exchange—Cole's Hot Blast heating stove, in good condition. C. S. Boles, Richwood, Ky.

Wanted—Seven or eight hogs that will weigh from 250 to 300 pounds. Apply to C. C. Roberts, Burlington.

For Sale—Fresh cow with second calf; also 4,000 or 5,000 brick. Apply to H. L. McGlasson, Burlington, Ky., R. D. 3.

For Sale—Dark brown mare mule, six months old. Apply to R. O. Smith, Union, Ky. Consolidated Phone Beaver, 171x. 3t.

For Sale—2 thoroughbred White Leghorn roosters, or will exchange one of them. First premium winnerrs at Florence fair C. S. Boles, Richwood.

For Sale—About 350 bushels good corn and 75 shocks of fodder, also about seven tons good hay. Apply to D. E. Bradford, Burlington, Ky., R. D. 1.

For Sale—31 acres of land near Gunpowder store—all in grass, house and barn and everlasting water. For furtherp articulars inquire of R. R. Houston, Florence, Ky. 4t.

Lost dog, Fox Terrier about one year old, black ears, black spot on hip, short tail and strap around neck with two buckles. Owner can have him by paying for ad. Been here since Nov. 23d. John W. Clore, Hebron, Ky.

Real Estate for Sale.

32 acres, 4 room cottage, good barn, fruit $2,900
10 acres, 3 room cottage, new barn, on pike $1,600
23 acres, 6 room house, new barn, on pike $3,000
63 acres, 6 room house, good barn, fruit $1,800
68 acres, 6 room cottage, new barn, fruit $4,600
14 acres, 4 room house, new barn $1,000
51 acres, 4 room house, new barn $3,000
Many others from 1 to 500 acres.
G. B. POWERS' Realestate Agency
Walton, Ky.

HOLIDAY FOOTWEAR

Another Enormous Purchase of Holiday Shoes and Rubbers of Every Conceivable Kind, made by our Eastern Buyers, and now Crowding us for Room. Every day witnesses the Arrival of Carloads of Shoes for the Holiday Shoppers.

A Clearance Sale

All short and broken lines taken from our shelves and piled on bargain tables throughout our Stores. These must be sold as we

Must Have Room

These Goods, recently purchasek, consist of the latest styles, as necessity alone compels us to put them on sale at such Low Prices.

Men's Shoes, in all leathers and styles; the short and broken lines of this season's biggest sellers; all sizes; values up to $3.00—

$1.49

Men's Dress and Work Shoes, in all leather's and styles. We must make room for our holiday goods and have marked these $3.50 and $4.00 goods to quick selling price—

$1.99

This season's newest models, in black and tan; also best grade elkskin shoes for work. If you want to save money and get great values, here is your opportunity, at—

$2.49

Boys' and Little Men's Shoes for School; on bargain tables; sizes 9 to 5½; great values

99c

Men's Buckle Arctics; good $1.50 values, all sizes, 6 to 12—

87c

Ladies' Clearance Sale of Short and Broken Lines, in all leathers and styles; all sizes in this lot; $3.00 to $4 shoes—

$1.49

Ladies' High-Grade Shoes, made on the very newest models; easy-fitting, comfortable and fashionable; every pair worth $3.50 and $4.00.

$1.99

Ladies' Custom-Made Shoes, the product of master shoemakers; absolutely perfect in every detail, quality and workmanship that will impress you with their style and good taste; shoes made to retail at $4.00 and $5—

$2.49

Misses' and Children's School Shoes, in every leather; every new style; great $2.00 values. Clearance Price— 99c

Ladies' Rubbers; this season's newest goods; all sizes, 2½ to 8; regular 75c values Saturday Morning Special— 39c

Ladies' and Men's Felt House Slippers; all sizes; good 50c value. Saturday Morning Special 19c

Save Big Money! BUY YOUR Rubbers, Felt Boots and Hunting Boots Here at Great Price Reductions

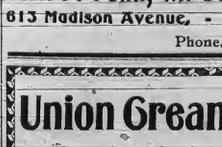
Dan Cohen

COVINGTON, KY., Pike Street, Cohen Building.
NEWPORT, KY., Monmouth Street, Between 9th and 8th.

Posted Against Hunters.

The undersigned hereby give notive that their land is posted against trespassing of all kinds and especially by hunting with dogs or guns and trapping thereon:

B. C. Graddy, Bullittsville.
J. S. Eggleston, Francesville.
Mary V. Gaines, Bullittsville.
Harry Walton, Petersburg.
A. L. Nichols, Burlington.
C. T. Northcutt, Belleview.
Everett Souther, Pt. Pleasant.
Julia S. Dinsmore, Belleview.
Mrs. I. T. McNaughton, Muncie, Indiana.
C. O. Hempfling, Taylorsport.
Jasper Sullivan, Waterloo.
W. L. B. Rouse, Limaburg.
Edward Farrell, Limaburg.
T. F. Grant, Bullittsville.
Geo. C. Barlow, Florence.
John Clore, Hebron.
John W. Ryle, Burlington.
Mrs. Mary Ryan, Beaver.
Mrs. E. A. Bedinger and daughter, Richwood.



DR. B. W. STALLARD
with DR. SHOBER'S
QUEEN CITY DENTISTS
Nos. 43-49 W. Fifth Ave.,
CINCINNATI, - - OHIO.

Poland China Hogs,

Only a few gilts left. All male hogs are sold. Sired by the celebrated Money Maker No. 84771, King-to-Be 82908, Onward 81371.
THOMAS POWERS,
oct-2 2m Crittenden, Ky.

USEFUL PRESENTS

A pair of our gold Glasses makes a useful and beautiful reminder for the holidays.

We also have Gold Eyeglass, Chains and Opera Glasses—all at reasonable prices.

N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,
613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY
Phone, South 1746.

Union Creamery Company

UNION, KENTUCKY.

Pays the highest possible price for Butter Fat in whole milk and hand separated cream. Honest tests and weights guaranteed.

A. L. Mallett, :: Manager.
Phone, Consolidated No. 40.

B. B. ALLPHIN
WITH THE
L. J. BUDDE & CO.
Live Stock Commission Merchants
Union Stock Yards, CINCINNATI. Phone W. 4296.

Subscribe for Your County Paper.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXXVIIII. Established 1875. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1913. $1.50 Per Year. NO. 11.

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

FLORENCE.

Miss Rene Bradford does not improve.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Laile have been very sick for several days.

Ray Conner has been a guest of his brother, Roy, the past week.

Quite a number from this village attended the Davis sale at Limaburg.

The Odd-Fellows will give a ball at the hall here on the evening of the 26th.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Omer McCrander was quite sick last week.

Don't forget the pie social at the school house Friday evening. Come and bring a pie.

Mrs. Will Tryling, of Covington, and Edward Baxter, of Hamilton, spent several days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Baxter.

Miss Ruby Corbin has accepted a position in Putnam's candy store, Cincinnati, until after the holidays.

BULLITTSVILLE.

Miss Lucille Rucker is spending a few days with Miss Eunie Willis.

James Masters has gone on a hunting trip to Indiana for a week.

Allie Winston is visiting his sister, Pauline, at Wheatley, Owen county.

Mr. J. L. Riley and Irvin Balsly dined with Mrs. Corine Riley, last Sunday.

Not a very large crowd at church Sunday on account of bad weather.

Thos. E. Masters spent Saturday and Sunday with his grandparents here.

Miss Elizabeth Stephens is spending the week with her brother, Keeler.

Messrs. G. W. Gaines, Thomas Watts and Theo. Birkle killed hogs, Monday.

Mr and Mrs. Menter Martin made a business trip to Burlington, Monday.

Mrs. Robert Steffen is spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Birkle.

Mrs. Joshua Master and daughter, Margaret, were shopping in Cincinnati one day this week.

IDLEWILD.

Thos Grant has been quite sick the past week.

B. B. Grant attended court in Burlington, Monday.

Mrs. Octavia Ryle is visiting her brother, Wood Stephens, near Union.

Mrs. Ben S. Houston has a few excellent S. C. Rhode Island Red roosters for sale.

Ed. Corbin, of Lawrenceburg, spent several days last week with his cousin, Chester Grant.

The thermometer stood at 20 above zero Monday morning, a drop of 50 degrees in 36 hours.

C. P. Asbury came down from Lexington, Saturday, and remained until Monday, guest of his father, Jas. S. Asbury.

The teacher and pupils of Bullittsburg school, are very busy preparing an interesting program for their entertainment to be given Wednesday, Dec. 24th.

Jas. L. Riley, of Ludlow, and L. A. Conner, of Burlington, have bought several crops of tobacco in this neighborhood, paying from 15 to 16 1-4 cents per pound.

Dr. J. M. Grant, one of Petersburg's busy physicians, was in Idlewild, Wednesday, looking after his landed interests, and, as a side line, trying to sell his tobacco to Thompson & Wingate. So far nothing doing.

PETERSBURG.

Mrs. Geo. Ruth, Jr., was shopping in Aurora, Friday.

Mrs. Ben Berkshire is the guest of relatives in Louisville.

Clarence Bladen and family are visiting relatives in Hamilton, O.

Miss Edna Beall visited Nellie Givens from Friday until Monday.

Mrs. Laura Chambers is the guest of her son, Scott, in Walton.

Reece Gordon and wife are visiting their sons Walter and Henry in Louisville.

Mrs. John Early entertained the young people with a flinch party Saturday night.

Mrs. Mary Klopp has returned from an extended visit with relatives in Greensburg, Indiana.

Mrs. Louisa Wunder, of Cincinnati, spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. Perry Mahan, last week.

Mrs. W. T. Stott and daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Chambers, were shopping in Cincinnati, last week.

Miss Bessie Ruth was visiting in Lawrenceburg, last Sunday and was shopping in Cincinnati, Monday.

Reports of the month ending of the Sixth grade at Petersburg:

Rosalie Mae Klopp, 95½;
Gladys Marie Klopp, 95 2-6;
Leola Klopp, 97 8-9;
Thelma Jarrell, 95;
Jenny P Witham, 93 2-3;
Nellie G. Stevens, 94;
Miran F Klopp, 90 1-9;
Belle Houze, 85.

UNION.

Miss Lena Holzworth is improving after a very serious illness.

Miss Nida Dickey spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Tomlin, in Walton.

Mrs. Myrtie Adams and Mrs Laura Bradford were shopping in Covington last Thursday.

Everyone is a friend of O. E. Dix, so everybody was delighted to have him with us last week.

The cold wave which arrived Sunday found us somewhat unprepared and caused much discomfort.

The Farmers' Mutual Telephone has recently added two new lines with more than 20 boxes both together.

Mrs. John Garrison was called to Walton last week by the illness of her sister, Mrs. Wallace Garrison.

J. B. Coombs, Geo. Eaton and Chas. Miller, of Covington, spent last Saturday hunting with N. S. Bristow.

Mrs. Rachel Rice is resting comfortably, much to the delight of her friends who are grieved at the accident that befell this excellent lady.

The spelling bee was very entertaining Miss Janie Bristow, a young lady of the early teens and L. H. Voshell shared the honors of the occasion.

Misses Eunice Cason and Mattie Bristow and Messrs. Lin Love and Warren Utz went into the city last Saturday to see "The Rosary" in matinee.

The lecture at the school building next Saturday night on a "Cure for the Blues," should be attended by every one. The admission fees are 25 cts. for adults and 15 cents for children under twelve years of age. The proceeds are to be used for purchasing books of reference, which are greatly needed by the pupils. An interesting program of songs will be rendered by the school.

Mrs. James A. Huey entertained with a delightful dinner party last Wednesday. Her guests were: Mesdames
W. H. Smith,
W. M. Rachal,
R. O. Smith,
J. W. Conner,
L. H. Voshell,
J. J. Garrison,
M. J. Crouch,
J. L. Frazier,
B. L. Cleek,
J. T. Bristow,
N. S. Bristow,
H. C. Lassing,
Joseph A. Huey,
Nannie Crouch.
J. N. Gibson.

GUNPOWDER.

Killing hogs is the order this week.

Clarence Norman went to Covington on business last Friday.

L. P. Aylor and wife spent last Friday with their son Shelly and wife.

Several of our citizens attended the Davis sale near Limaburg last week.

Arthur Tanner moved to the tollgate on the F. and U. pike near Union, last week.

L. H. Busby and W. P. Utz were hauling corn from Erlanger the latter part of the week.

The Florence and Union pike Company is putting considerable new metal on its thoroughfare.

B. C. Tanner and wife left the first of the week for Anna Maria, Fla., where they expect to spend the winter.

A cold wave struck us last Sunday and the temperature dropped several degrees in a very short time.

Mrs. Harmon Jones, of Point Pleasant neighborhood, visited her parents, J. H. Aylor and wife, a few days since.

L. H. Busby has remodeled the old shop at Gunpowder and is prepared to accommodate his customers to anything in his line of work.

Andy Sheben and wife, of Erlanger, passed thru here one day last week enroute to Union neighborhood, where they were guests at Mike Holsworth's.

FLICKERTOWN.

Sunday was a stormy day.

John Ed. Louden will build a barn for Ben Hensley, this week.

John White came down Friday afternoon and butchered his hogs.

Pearl Brady and children visited this scribe, Saturday and Sunday.

Charles Akin had the misfortune to cut his knee with a foot adz, one day last week.

Rev. Geo. Smith preached to a good size congregation at the Woolper school house, last Sunday morning.

Mrs. Renah Kelly, of Columbus, Ind., visited J. W. White and family from Friday until Monday and looked after the butchering of her hogs.

A considerable delegation of the members of the local lodge attended the big K. of P. doings at Erlanger Tuesday night.

CEDAR GROVE.

Raymond Botts was in the city Saturday, on business.

R. B. Huey was in Lawrenceburg, last Saturday, on business.

Miss Martha Randall called on Mrs. Eliza Voshell last Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Mamie Sullivan and daughter, were shopping in Aurora, last Saturday.

Miss Carrie Porter spent the first part of last week with Mrs. Mamie Sullivan.

Miss Lola Beemon was the guest of her friend Miss Leola Clore last Wednesday and Thursday.

Mr. Warren Tolin, of Cincinnati, spent a part of last week with his cousins, Bernard and Leslie Sebree.

Jas. Thompson bought two cows of Woodie Sullivan and a nice bunch of hogs of Joseph Walton, last Friday.

Joe Walton took a number of his Burlington friends to Petersburg to the dance, last Friday night, in his new auto.

Rev. Geo. Smith, of Georgetown college preached to a very small crowd, Sunday morning, at the Woolper school house.

While coming down the William Walton hill with a load of fodder, Willie Lambert's team started to run with the load. He succeeded in running them into the bank and stopped them. Both horses were somewhat scratched, but Mr. Lambert came out without being hurt at all.

WALTON.

Thos. R. Ailnutt, a clever farmer of near Independence, was here on business Tuesday.

Mrs. Alice Booth spent the past couple of weeks with friends and relatives in Kenton county.

J. D. Greenwell left last week for McKeesport, Penn., on a visit to his brother H. S. Greenwell.

J. C. Miller spent Tuesday in Cincinnati on business for the Equitable Bank and Trust Company and his store at Landing.

J. F. Rust, one of the good farmers of the DeMossville neighborhood, was here on business Tuesday.

Harry Norman and wife arrived here Monday from Indianapolis, Ind., and will make their home with his grandmother Mrs. America Norman.

Miss Martha Rouse, who has been conducting a millinery store at Nicholasville, Ky., returned to her home here to spend the winter with her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Rouse.

Mark Benson and son Dewey were at Sadieville Sunday attending the bedside of Mr. Benson's daughter Mrs. Jas. Baird, who has been very ill but is now much better.

Miss Emma L. Smith, a very pleasant and attractive young lady, of Louisville, spent this week at Walton and Big Bone Springs, the guest of friends and relatives. Miss Smith is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Smith and was born at Big Bone Springs.

One of the most delightful and entertaining numbers of the Lyceum Bureau under the auspices of the Walton Baptist church was enjoyed by one of the largest audiences at that edifice since the church has began its series of entertainments under the bureau this season. The attraction was the Danish Musical Club, composed of Theordore Peterson, his wife and two daughters Misses Alvina and Gladys, ably accompanied and assisted by Miss Elsie Luker at the piano. Each and every artist acquitted themseives with credit and received numerous encores. Forty-two visitors from Verona attended the entertainment returning to their homes at midnight.

The fill on the Q. & C. Railroad, about a mile north of Walton is in a dangerous condition. Monday the train service was delayed several hours by the sinking of the fill. A large force of hands were put to work to bolster up that part of the road. The L. & N. Railroad is also having considerable trouble with the fill on that road near Finetown, near Newport which has also delayed the trains on that road. Monday seemed to be a general "trouble day" on the Q. and C. road. The engine pulling the 5:45 commuter had a leaky boiler and was held at Devon several hours until another engine could be sent out from Ludlow. An engine was derailed at the Panhandle depot in Cincinnati, Sunday morning, which made the southbound train on the L. & N. Railroad about two hours late.

S. L. Edwards, our worthy postmaster, celebrated the seventieth anniversary of his birth last Friday, and his good wife prepared an elegant supper for the occasion, and invited as a special guest Rev. C. J. Nugent, whose seventieth birthday occurred two days later. The evening was a pleasant one for both gentlemen and they enjoyed a reminiscent talk of the civil war in which both served, Mr. Edwards on the Union side and Rev. Nugent in Forrest's Cavalry on the Confederate side, and they were frequently pitted against each other in the opposing lines, of the contending armies. Both of these old men are princes of gentlemen in all the great qualities of honor, integrity and gentleness toward their fellow men, and although the sun of their existence is passing rapidly to the western horizon of life, yet the shadows of a benificlent and helpful life is left behind as a most worthy example for others.

DEVON

Sunday winter set in good and proper.

Frank Afterkirk has sold his crop of tobacco to a Cincinnati firm.

Chas. E. Miller and Elmer Groger were in Covington Monday on business.

Theo. Groger purchased some fresh cows from Mr. Flynn near Covington, recently.

B. C. Surface will have a nice line of Christmas goods for the holidays at reasonable prices.

Mr. Easton, of near Bracht Station, was the guest of his brother Ambrose of this place Sunday.

A gentleman from Cincinnati was in this neighborhood one day last week, purchasing tobacco.

Mr. and Mrs. John Haley and Mrs. Frank Afterkirk were guests of W. A. Rice and family, Thursday.

Miss Emma Rivard, who was the weeks-end guest of relatives in Covington, returned home Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Ambrose Easton and children visited Mr. Easton's parents near Bracht Station, from Saturday until Monday.

Mrs. B. F. Bristow and Miss Mary Kincart were pleasantly entertained by Mrs. W. A. Rice, one day last week.

Dr. Hubert Cram, of Walton, was called to this place to doctor a very sick horse for Chas. Miller, Wednesday night.

Mrs. Wm. Woodward and son, Robert, came out from Cincinnati Thursday and remained until Friday at their home. Robert is doing nicely.

RICHWOOD.

An entertainment will be given in the Grange Hall by the pupils of Frog Town school which is under the management of Miss Erma Stephenson, on Tuesday evening, of Dec. 23d, at 7:30 p. m. Admission Free. All are invited.

WOULD PAY MORE ON POSTAL SAVINGS DEPOSITS.

Washington, Dec. 5.—This session of Congress will be asked by Representative A. B. Rouse to authorize an increase of 1 per cent in the amount of interest paid on individual deposits in postal savings banks. As Mr. Rouse is a member of the House Postoffice Committee, and as he expects his bill to receive the indorsement of Postmaster General Burleson, the chances of the measure are good. Mr. Rouse had a long conference today with the Postmaster General on the subject and received certain assurances. The Kentuckian is one of the authors of a bill, recently favorably reported by his committee, raising the limit of individual deposits from $100 to $1,000. If this bill is passed and the rate of interest on individual deposits is increased, Mr. Rouse and his colleagues believe that the postal savings system will not only be self-sustaining, but that it will become a money making branch of the postal system.

The Texas Flood.

Galveston, Texas, Dec. 9.—Today for the first time it became possible to estimate the toll of life and property taken by the great floods of the Brazos and Colorado Rivers and their tributaries in their eight day sweep across this state. The best general estimates are these:

Forty thousand square miles of territory have been laid waste.

Two hundred and thirty persons have been killed.

One hundred million dollars in property is lost.

Twenty-five cities, towns and villages have contributed to the death roll.

Thirty-eight other towns have been flooded, altho without known loss of life.

More than 100 bodies of the dead have been recovered within the last 18 hours.

It will be many more days before the full details can be learned.

During the past week several complaints have been received at this office from subscribers who failed to receive their Recorder. In each instance it is positively certain that these papers were mailed as usual, but as the papers that come to this office have been very irregular in their arrival it is believed that trouble is in the handling of the mail somewhere.

A sixty inch broken water main in Cincinnati has had the city on the verge of a water famine for several days, and to avoid the famine many factories have been shut down, while the business of the city has been crippled in many other ways. Repairs of the broken main were completed Wednesday but the supply of water will not be normal before Thursday evening.

A report is being compiled at the Kentucky Experiment Station, which will be of great value to the retail purchasers over the State. The report will show the condition of the 2,019 groceries that have been inspected by official food inspectors during the years 1912-1913.

The Kentucky State Board of Health urges vaccination to prevent a smallpox epidemic this winter.

Personal Mention.

Irvin Balsly, of Springfield, Mo., is visiting relatives in this county.

Miss Olga Kirkpatrick was shopping in the city one day last week.

G. G. Hughes spent last week at Petersburg with his daughter, Mrs. Earl Walton.

Hear that Hon. and Mrs. N. S. Walton will spend the winter in St. Petersburg, Florida.

Edward Rice and wife, of Idlewild, were guests of Burlington relatives last Saturday.

L. P. Rice and wife, of Idlewild neighborhood, were guests of Mrs. Bee Riddell one day the past week.

Rev. Wallace, of the Hopeful charge, was a business caller at this office one afternoon the past week.

J. C. Revill spent a day or two last week in Covington, the guest of his daughter, Mrs. J. G. Furnish.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Kelly spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. D. Acra, of Locust Grove neighborhood.

Mrs. Eliza Rouse is at home from a visit of several days with her sister, Mrs. F. P. Walton, in Covington.

F. H. Brown, of Belleview, and his life insurance partner, were guests at the Boone House last Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Hall entertained several of their friends at dinner last Sunday, at their home on the Belleview pike.

Miss Mary Roberts, who is teaching in Petersburg, spent last Sunday in Burlington with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Roberts.

W. D. Cropper spent last Saturday night and Sunday with his parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Cropper and Mrs. John Walton, in Home City.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Cowen gave a dinner to several of their friends Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Cowen expect to leave the first of next week for Florida, where they will spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Gaines entertained a number of their friends at dinner, Sunday, at their home near Idlewild. Among those from Burlington in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Renaker and Miss Sheba Roberts.

Injured By Corn Shredder.

Aurora, Ind., Dec. 7.—Grover C. Thurston, 24 years old, living east of this city, was badly injured today, when operating a corn shredder. A part of an ear of corn was thrown out by the cylinder of the shredding machine, and struck him in the face. His nose was broken and his right eye destroyed.

Captured A Bald Eagle.

Aurora, Ind., Dec. 7.—Perry Trulock and Newton Funk are the proud possessors of a bald eagle measuring six feet seven and a half inches from tip to tip, which they killed when hunting. They wounded the bird, which killed one of their dogs before it was put to death.

Mrs. J. C. Cantrill Dead.

Georgetown, Dec. 8.—Mrs. Carrie Payne Cantrill, wife of Congressman J. Campbell Cantrill, died at her home here early today after an illness of several months.

The International Agricultural Institute of Rome, has issued preliminary estimates of the production of grain for large areas in Europe which show that there is a great increase over previous reports and over the yield of last year. The estimate of the production of wheat in Russia-in-Europe is 873,751,000 bushels compared with 674,706,000 bushels reported two months ago and 623,751,000 bushels the final estimate for last year.

Sheriff Hume went to Constance Tuesday and arrested Kirby Youell, colored, who had just crossed the river from the Ohio side, and lodged him in Burlington jail. Youell is wanted by the Covington officials for housebreaking.

Dr. William B. Craig, of Indianapolis, was ordered acquitted by Judge Alonzo Blair at Shelbyville, Ind., of the murder of Dr. Helene Knabe in Indianapolis October 23, 1911.

Everett L. Helms, deputy county clerk at Petersburg, was transacting business in Burlington, Tuesday, and called at this office.

Throw a handful of coarse salt in the last rinsing water and clothes hung out during winter weather will not freeze.—Ex.

For Sale—Ten bushels of picked apples and one fine male Hampshire hog five months old. H. S. Tanner, Burlington, R. D. 3.

GRAND BALL.

Don't forget the big ball at Krutz Hall, Petersburg, Dec. 23. Everybody invited. Come early and stay late.

BOONE CIRCUIT COURT.

The December term of the Boone Circuit Court convened last Monday morning, Judge J. W. Cammack, of Owenton, presiding, and Commonwealth's Atty. John J. Howe, present to look after the State's interests. Sheriff Hume had all his work for the term completed and Circuit Clerk Maurer was ready to begin the ink slinging act with Circuit Clerk Steiger, of Owenton, present to assist him. This is the first court since Mr. Howe received his commission, consequently he qualified as Commonwealth's Attorney in Boone.

Judge Cammack's arrival last Monday morning was delayed by a punctured tire on Atty. D. E. Castleman's machine in which the Judge, Alvin Steiger and Atty. O. M. Rogers came in from Erlanger.

In his charge to the grand jury Monday Judge Cammack said that hereafter when a person, be he rich or poor, was fined in his court for carrying concealed deadly weapons he would have to lay out in jail the imprisonment fixed by the judgment.

The grand jury is composed of the following:

H. G. Cropper, foreman, Bullittsville.
Cam White, Petersburg.
Cloyd Powers, Union.
Irvin Rue, Burlington.
W. W. Rector, Petersburg.
B. B. Grant, Petersburg.
Joe L. Stephens, Rabbit Hash.
C. D. Scothorn, Francesville.
M. P. Barlow, Florence.
Ben H. Snyder, Florence.
James Bullock, Hebron.

Petit Jury No. 1.—
Wm. Crigier.
Manlius Goodridge.
C. E. Rector.
Sherman Burcham.
Hogan Wingate.
E. K. Stephens.
R. B. Huey.
Edward Botts.
W. O. Rector.
R. N. Head.
Harmon Jones.
Raymond Smith.

Petit Jury No. 2.—
H. M. Clore.
E. O. Rouse.
Geo. Ward.
Ben Stephens.
J. E. Woodward.
W. P. Cropper.
W. H. Marshall.
C. W. Goodridge.
S. W. Hall.
Frank Scott.
Clem Kendall.
J. C. Kelly.

The Belleview graded school suit was continued. This is the suit in which the territory annexed to the original graded school district is seeking to have the annexation set aside on the grounds that it was not legally done.

This is the first term at which Mr. Howe has appeared as Commonwealth's Attorney.

Monday afternoon the petit jurors were excused until Wednesday morning.

Game Warden Scales submitted a list of about 25 witnesses, Tuesday evening, that he wanted summoned to testify in regard to infractions of the game laws.

Court expects to adjourn tomorrow, Friday.

The grand jury had not had many witnesses before it up to Wednesday noon.

Atty. Howe has been with the grand jury all the time and has made a good impression.

Up to noon Wednesday the petit juries had tried but one case.

Hon. W. W. Dickerson, Joel C. Clore, J. G. Tomlin and John L. Vest are the only attorneys present except the local bar.

An Interesting Meeting.

The Teachers Meeting of the sixth Magisterial District was held at Ft. Pleasant school house, Saturday, Dec. 6th, 1913.

The meeting was called to order by the Superintendent.

America was sung.

Prayer by Supt. Riley.

The teachers present were:
Prof. A. M. Wiley;
Miss Anita Hempfling;
Miss Elizabeth McGlasson;
Miss Mamie Haley;
Mrs. Anna Hogan;
Miss Flora Youell.
Supt. Riley gave an excellent talk on The Teacher.

Adjournment for noon.

The meeting was called to order at 1:30.

What part of History should be memorized? was assigned Miss McGlasson, who read a good paper emphasizing the necessity of memorizing all important parts.

Mrs. Hogan and Supt. Riley spoke on Language work in the primary grades.

Prof. Wiley spoke of Discipline saying the first requirements on part of the teacher are good education, skill and tact.

Miss Hempfling and Supt. Riley discussed the question, "Why are so many boys leaving the Farm?" They held up farm life as the ideal life and Miss Hempfling said the parents should offer more inducement to the boys to stay on the farm.

Many of the patrons were present to show their interest in the work of education.

Miss Haley, assisted by the ladies of the Pt. Pleasant district, served an elegant dinner at the noon hour.

FLORA YOUELL,
Secretary.

STOCK PHRASES A MISTAKE

Too Many Writers Use Them to the Ultimate Great Detriment of Their Work.

There are writers with something to say whom it is very difficult to read with any attention, because their sense is constantly weakened by stock phrases. They have not learned to fit their thoughts with their own language, and these thoughts are disguised in language that seems to mean nothing. A writer who can make his own phrases keeps the reader's attention alert. There is no doubt that he always means something, that his thought is working in every sentence; but in stock phrases thought ceases to work, and the reader's attention ceases with it. He may like this little holiday; indeed, some writers are popular just because their stock phrases are so numerous that the reader's mind can enjoy a complete idleness among them. But it is not the proper aim of writing to provoke this kind of unconscious idleness; and even the writers who do provoke it are probably themselves unconscious of the effect they produce. Even they are trying to say something, and failing so pretentiously that their failure is concealed from themselves as well as from their contented readers. No clergyman would wish to fill his church because his sermons had the power of putting all his congregation to sleep; and the writer who becomes popular through his use of stock phrases owes his success, if only he knew it, to causes just as unflattering.

LIKE THEIR OWN KIND BEST

African Cannibals Said to Be Averse to the Taste of the White Man.

That cannibals seldom eat white captives and then without particular zest is the gist of a scientific report on the subject made to Dr. Hofman, formerly a consul in Africa and an authority on the subject of tribal customs.

Writing of the recent murder of the German-American mineralogist, John Henry Warner, by natives of New Guinea, Dr. Hofman asserts that the obstention of cannibals in Africa and of Guinea from the flesh of white men is not because they fear the spirit of the white victim or his powers of magic, but because they consider that it has an unpleasant taste due to the sharp spices and condiments and of salted dishes in the diet of the European.

Cannibals in Liberia eat a white man only when he has fallen into their hands alive. Then the victim is immersed to the neck in a running brook and held there for two or three days; on much the same principle that an oyster is "floated" in fresh water after being taken from the beds.

Man's Best Years.

What are a man's "best years" depends largely on what his youth was—the time for laying the foundation. It also depends upon the nature of his work and something of his stamina or staying powers; also, as to whether he has mastered his environments or allowed them to master him. Hugo Munsterberg places the high-water mark at 50 years; Dr. Wiley thinks a man's best work should be done after he is sixty; while Dr. Osler claims that little original and valuable work is done after the age of forty. As for my own humble opinion, I am quite thoroughly convinced that a man does not reach his prime of intellectual strength and lucidity until he arrives at the halfway house—threescore and ten.

The life problem is very much like a marathon, and should be decided accordingly. On the one hand, it is not a question of years, but of condition—mentally and physically. How did he pass the seventieth milestone, old and decrepit or vigorously? On the other hand, it is not a question as to the time he made, but what was his condition? Did he collapse or did he finish strong?—Los Angeles Times.

Studying Problem of Age.

The brittle arteries of old age which the doctors call arthermotos, and which my many are considered an unavoidable and more or less physiological accompaniment of advancing years, are responsible directly and indirectly for a very considerable portion of the annual death rate. Those sanguine folks who hold that death could and should be postponed to the hither side of one hundred years—that centenarians should be the rule rather than the rare exception—are coming more and more to question the necessity for this early rusting out of the body plumbing. Metchnikoff's famous studies which led him to the conclusion that sour milk was the elixir of longevity, started the ball rolling afresh, and since then the physiological laboratories have been busily at work studying the problem from all sorts of angles.—New York Evening Post.

Return Address.

One small boy of my acquaintance will be careful when he grows up about that business of writing his address legibly, if he retains his present sense of importance of making the point clear. He was saying his prayers the other evening, and, after the enumeration of those upon whom he invoked a blessing, concluded: "And make me a good boy"—and then, after a pause, "14, Ladysmith avenue. Amen." There was to be no mistake about the destination of the answer.—London Chronicle.

PARASITE OF POULTRY

Blood-Thirsty Pest Causes Great Loss to Industry.

Hens Attacked by Common Chicken Mite Cease Laying, Become Poor in Flesh and Listless in Action —Remedies for Eradication.

(By H. C. PIERCE.)

The worst parasite of poultry against which the poultryman and farmer have to contend is the "common chicken mite" or "red chicken mite." There are other species of mites which attack poultry, but they do much less damage. This blood-thirsty pest causes great loss to the poultry industry of the country by killing adult fowls and chicks and cutting down egg production. It not only attacks poultry but horses and even man as well.

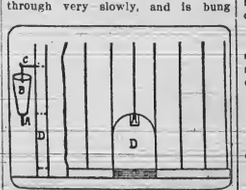
Hens which are attacked by mites cease laying, become poor in flesh, dumpish, and listless in action. The head and comb become pale and the bird presents a sickly appearance. These symptoms are caused by the irritation and loss of blood due to nightly visits of hordes of these hungry parasites. It seems hardly believable that fowls could be killed by such small pests, but they are so many in numbers that their total capacity for blood is enormous. Their ravages are most pernicious on sitting hens, as here they may have access to their host at all times, causing a rapid loss of blood. Attacks upon sitting hens often result in the hen leaving her nest or in her death, spoiling the batch in either case. Even if the hen does withstand the ravages of the mite, the newly hatched chicks are attacked as soon as they emerge from the shell and are often killed in a short time.

The best remedies for mites are cleanliness, sunlight and spraying with disinfectant solutions. The poultry house and fittings should be so built as to be easily cleaned. The walls should be smooth and as free from cracks as possible. Nests, roots and dropping boards should be easily removable to allow spraying of their entire surface and the walls beneath them. There are several preparations for the eradication of mites of which two good ones are here given:

Shave or chop one 10-cent cake of laundry soap into one pint of soft water. Heat or allow to stand until a soap paste is formed. Stir in one pound of commercial cresol and heat or allow to stand until soap paste is dissolved. Stir in one gallon of kerosene. For use, dilute with fifty parts of water, which will make a milky colored solution.

Commercial cresol is a coal tar by-product and may be obtained from the druggist at about thirty cents per pound. Care should be taken not to get any of it upon the hands or face as it will cause intense smarting.

Shave or chop one-half pound of hard soap, add to a gallon of soft water, place on a fire and bring to a boil to dissolve the soap. Remove from the fire and stir in while hot two gallons of kerosene. This makes a thick, creamy emulsion which may be kept be kept as a stock solution. For use dilute with ten parts of soft water. It is better to apply it hot if possible.



Extreme care should be taken that these mixtures do not come in contact with eggs that are sold for table purposes. Eggs sprayed with cresol soap solution taste of carbolic acid.

KEROSENE FOR THE POULTRY

Splendid Results May Be Obtained in Poultry House by Use of Liquid If Applied Often Enough.

A little kerosene will do a great deal of good in the poultry house if applied often enough. It will check lice and mites, and is a good remedy for throat troubles, as well. It is, however, disagreeable to handle, and rather difficult to apply often enough and in the right quantity. The device here shown is found to be useful for this purpose, says the Wisconsin Agriculturist. It is automatic.

A cut is made with a cold chisel through the bottom of a can or small tin pail, and a lamp wick drawn through the cut rather tightly. This will allow the kerosene to flow through very slowly, and is hung above the small entrance door so that the wick hangs down two or three inches.

Automatic Plumage Oiler.

There will always be a drop of oil on the wick, and as the fowls come through, they brush against the oily wick and get a very small quantity on their feathers. This is further spread by the process of dressing their feathers, and a sufficient quantity left on the plumage to repel insects without being objectionable.

Good Ventilation.

A window covered with muslin provides the best system of ventilation for poultry houses.

MUCH IN LITTLE

All British coins are legal tender in Canada.

Japan is encouraging the fruit-growing industry.

A "feathering propeller" has been made for dirigibles.

Electricity has been adapted to 42 purposes about a household.

Great Britain exported 35,526,235 tons of coal the first half of this year.

After a lapse of 40 years cotton cultivation has been resumed in Morocco.

The total value of herrings landed at Scottish ports this year reaches $9,500,000.

The British government is considering an auxiliary motor-boat reserve for service in case of war.

A river in Peru is spanned by a bridge more than 200 feet in length which is suspended from 32 ropes made from cactus fiber.

Canada's water power is estimated at 16,600,000 horsepower, equal to an annual production of 367,000,000 tons of coal; only 1,016,521 horsepower has been developed.

Several American cereal companies are complaining because their product is classified by the German custom-house authorities as "made by a special process," and as such is subject to a high rate of duty.

WITH THE SAGES

We can never replace a friend.—Schiller.

Jealousy is a secret avowal of inferiority.—Massillon.

Knowledge is power if you know it about the right person.—Mizner.

If you have a thing to do, do it, and get it off your mind, and then it won't bother you.—General Gordon.

The supreme happiness of life is the conviction of being loved for yourself, or, more correctly, being loved in spite of yourself.—Victor Hugo.

The life of every man is a diary, in which he means to write one story, and writes another; and his humblest hour is when he compares the volume as it is with that what he vowed to make it.—J. M. Barrie.

I do believe the common man's work is the hardest. The hero has the hero's aspiration that lifts him to his labor. All great duties are easier than the little ones, though they cost far more blood and agony.—Phillips Brooks.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

Many deformities of infants can be cured by sun baths alone.

Most of the excrescences commonly called corns are really warts. They are easily cured.

A wet mackintosh may be ruined by hanging near a fire; a raincoat is improved by such treatment.

It takes 15 days for the average human body to recover from the loss of two consecutive nights' sleep.

Milk, because it contains so much lime, is one of the best foods for the teeth, which often decay for the lack of lime.

The hard crust of bread is more easily digested than the soft crumb because it must be thoroughly masticated.

The difference between the senses of smell and taste is only one of degree. We cannot taste if our nose is stopped up.

The best diet for anaemic girls is made up of blood sausage, spinach, cabbage, carrots and eggs, because they contain so much iron.

Green peas should never be given to children, because they are likely to swallow them unchewed, in which case they are not digested.

BY THE PHILOSOPHER

An ounce of today is worth a pound of tomorrow.

A luxury ceases to be one when we can afford it.

Some girls are passing fair, and others are already past.

We do most of our blushing for the mistakes of our friends.

Consistency is a jewel with which beauty is content to be unadorned.

A woman is apt to think of her husband as a treasure or a treasury.

Some people won't even accept a favor without looking for the price mark.

Some fellows seldom open their mouths unless they have a kick coming.

Christmas Gifts
THAT
Mean Something

Whether you spend little or much for Christmas it is important that your gifts have lasting values.

You receive a gift or two every year that gives you more pleasure than all the others because of its perfect usefulness.

Make all your gifts useful, no matter how low the price.

Christmas prices here are mostly lower than at other seasons, because of our large purchases.

The quality of everything in this store makes it a worthy gift, whether the price you pay is large or small.

The entire range of your family needs is covered by the articles you find here whether they be gig or little.

Here Are A Few Suggestions.

For Sister.
A Pretty Chair for Her Room; A Mahogany Work Table; A Dressing Table; A Slipper Chair; A Dressing Stool; A Music Cabinet; A Writing Desk; An Arm Chair; A Box Couch; A Bookcase.

For Mother or Wife.
A Bed-room Chair; A Jardinier; A China Closet; A Rocker; A Magazine Stand; A Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet; A Davenport.

For Grandfather.
A Comfortable Arm Chair; A High Back Rocker; A Genuine Leather Rocker; A Foot Stool; A Book Table.

For Grandmother.
A Jardinier Stand; A Sewing Rocker; A Morris Chair; A Magazine Stand; A Work Table; A Book Table.

For Father or Husband.
A Morris Chair; A High Back Rocker; A Shaving Stand; A Leather Rocker; A Cellarette; A Revolving Chair; A Couch; A Card Table; A Foot Stool; A Bookcase; A Wardrobe.

For Brother Jack.
A Chiffonier; A Morris Chair; An Arm Chair; A Cellarette; A Blacking Case

We Pay The Freight.
Louis Marx & Bros.
Furniture, Carpets, Stoves.
516-522 Madison Avenue, COVINGTON, - - - KY.
840 Monmouth Street, NEWPORT, - - - KY.

AT THE OLD STAND.

SHARPLES SEPARATORS.
PITTSBURG FENCE.
FARM TOOLS.
FEED ALL KINDS.
EVERYTHING FOR THE FARMER.

QUIGLEY & BEEMON
Limaburg, Ky.

WALTON GARAGE
C. S. Vallandingham, Prop.
Walton, Ky.
Repairing and Vulcanizing a Specialty.
Repairs and Fixtures.
Telephone Calls Given Prompt Attention.

FOR SALE

In Constance, Ky., large building lot on this lot is a building 58x48, built for a club-house. This is a very substantial structure, has a truss roof and not a post in the interior. This building can be carefully taken down and removed if necessary, or can be remodeled into apartments. I want to dispose of this property at an early date and will sell it at a sacrifice, in fact for one-half what the lumber cost to erect it. Apply to or address G. F. SNYDER,
4t 711 Plum St., Cincinnati, O.

Real Estate for Sale.

32 acres, 4 room cottage, good barn, fruit $2,900
10 acres, 3 room cottage, new barn, on pike $1,600
23 acres, 6 room house, new barn, on pike $8,000
53 acres, 6 room house, good barn, fruit $1,800
68 acres, 6 room cottage, new barn, fruit $4,500
14 acres, 4 room house, new barn $1,000
51 acres, 4 room house, new barn $3,000
Many others from 1 to 500 acres.
G. B. POWERS' Realestate Agency Walton, Ky.

For Sale—Dark brown mare mule, six months old. Apply to R. O. Smith, Union, Ky. Consolidated Phone Beaver, 171x. 3t.

Wont you Let

MY CLOTHING DO THE TALKING FOR THEMSELVES?

Kindly come in and see them. I will do business with you without argument You will find Quality and Workmenship.

MENS SUITS and OVERCOATS..... $5.00 to $18.00

YOUNG MEN'S SUITS AND OVERCOATS..... $3.00 to $15.00

Young Men, you must see these suits and Overcoats to appreciate their value.

Children's Norfolk Knickerbocker Suits well made and Durable $2.75. $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00.

Mothers you must see these to realize the bargains I am offering. A complete line of Corderoy and Duck Coats and Pants, the clothing out door workers need when disagreeable weather comes ou insures health and comfort.

Selmar Wachs
Successor to
Rolfes & Wachs,
NO. 1 Pike Street, Near Madison Ave.,
COVINGTON, KY.

Luncheon
AT
Neat Little Place
For Farmer, Workman, Merchant, Clerk and Professional Man.
R. J. DIBOWSKI'S CAFE
No. 6 Pike Street, - - Covington, Kentucky.
Commercial Plate Luncheon from 11 a. m. to 1:30 p. m.

Subscribe for The Recorder

KENTUCKY FEEDING STUFFS LAW PREVENTION OF ADULTERATION

Great Protection To the Farmer and Consumer—Enormous Sum of $3,500,000 Required Annually For Commercial Feeds—How To Buy and Use Feeds

(J. D. Turner, Feed Control Division, Kentucky Experiment Station.)

The quality of feeding stuffs has been under governmental control in the European countries for a good many years, but not until recently, or comparatively so, has it been necessary for [illegible] regulating the manufacture and sale of these commodities. Practically every state in the union has a commercial feeding stuffs law, varying considerably in their requirements, due largely to conditions peculiar to each state.

The Law of Kentucky.

The feeding stuffs law of Kentucky was passed in 1906 and carries in its provisions the following objects:

First. To have all feeding stuffs sold or offered for sale within the state registered under a guaranty and truly labeled so the consumer may know the character of the feed he is buying.

Second. To protect the consumer against inferior and adulterated feeding stuff by requiring them to be properly registered and labeled.

Third. To protect the honest manufacturer against dishonest competition by preventing the fraudulent use of adulterants, misbranding and inferior grains and their by-products.

Fourth. To promote a more economical and intelligent use of feeding stuffs.

The Kentucky Trade.

The trade of commercial feeding in Kentucky involves an enormous sum of money each year—estimated at three and one-half million dollars. Before the operation of the feeding stuffs law, these commercial feeds were being sold bearing misleading names their real feeding value.

Since the law went into effect, the sale of adulterated feeds has been reduced to a minimum. It has driven from the market those feeds largely made up of adulterants and inferior materials, and saves the consumer of the state thousands of dollars annually.

Aside from this, it is beyond one's power to estimate in dollars and cents the saving to the state from the death of stock from the use of commercial feeds containing poisonous materials. It is equally impossible to place a value on the saving to the farmers in preventing the introduction and spreading of noxious weeds through the medium of stock feed.

Again from a humanitarian standpoint, it is of inestimable value. Dairy cows, as well as work and meat animals, fed on feeding stuffs made up largely of inferior, adulterated and poisonous materials often become unhealthy and diseased. Likewise, the milk and meat these animals produce are inferior and unwholesome. The result of feeding such milk to babies is foretold.

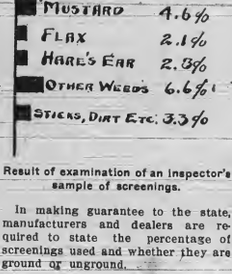
Sources of Materials.

The greatest sources of materials used in commercial feeding stuffs are the by-products of grain elevators, flouring mills, sugar, glucose and oil factories, breweries, distilleries, slaughter houses, etc. These materials are usually of high grade and form the bulk of legitimate trade in feeding stuffs. The next source is the light and immature grains of wheat, barley, oats and other grains and cereals, certain weed seeds, oat by-products, such as oat middlings, oat hulls, etc., which range from very low to fair in feeding value, and should not be wasted. Finally, there is another source of materials which is exploited on the trade usually under false cover, such as the trash of elevators and mills, corn cobs, peanut hulls, certain weed seeds, cocoa waste and similar materials from worthless to dangerous.

Adulterations.

The prevailing high prices of feeding stuffs are a great temptation to unscrupulous manufacturers and dealers to use adulterants or materials of inferior quality. The most common adulterants used in straight feeds are corn bran, screenings, sweepings, peanut hulls, cob meal and similar materials; in cotton seed meal, cotton seed hulls; in oil meal, cotton seed meal and weed seeds; in brewer's and distiller's dried grains, cob meal, corn bran and screenings; in mixed and compounded feeds, oat hulls, peanut hulls, cob meal, cocoa waste trash of elevators and mills, screenings and weed seeds.

Most of the screenings coming into the state in compounded feeds are ground or exposed to high temperature, thus rendering germination impossible. However, a large number of poultry feeds contain weed seeds in a perfectly viable condition. The fact that foul seeds are abundant in these waste products is a serious question. These weed seeds are eaten with the feed, but a number of them will escape being ground up and digested and will pass off in the manure, in which they may find their way to the fields, there to germinate and do great damage by stocking the farm with weeds.



An examination of a sample of screenings revealed the following:

Wheat and rye	47.4%
Wild buckwheat	33.7%
Flax	2.1%
Hare's ear	2.3%
Mustard sp.	4.6%

The following weed seeds altogether amount to 6.6%

Seeds per pound of screenings.
White prickly poppy	1315
[illegible]	363
Lamb's quarters	[illegible]
Pigeon grass	1633
Foxtail	4172
Oats	680
Oat-grass	272
Stickseed	453
Canada thistle	45
Cress	90
Lady's thumb	181
Compositate sp.	90
Miscellaneous	453
Sticks and parts of dirt	3.3%
	100%

The objectionable weed seeds in this sample are wild buckwheat, corn cockle, pigeon grass, foxtail and Canada thistle. Others are also objectionable, though they are widely scattered everywhere on land and are not difficult to suppress on cultivated ground ordinarily. A bag of 100 pounds of feed containing 25 per cent or 25 pounds of screenings as presented in this analysis is estimated to have in it 8¼ pounds of wild buckwheat seed, 9,075 corn cockle seed, 40,800 pigeon grass seed, 104,300 foxtail seed and 1,125 Canada thistle seed, which, if permitted to germinate will stock the farm wherever such feeds are fed.

Result of examination of an inspector's sample of screenings.

In making guarantee to the state, manufacturers and dealers are required to state the percentage of screenings used and whether they are ground or unground.

Use of Commercial Feeding Stuffs.

Commercial feeding stuffs are usually purchased for the purpose of supplementing the feeding materials raised on the farm and especially is this true where corn and timothy hay are the only crops. One of the most important questions, then, that concerns the consumer is how to buy feeding stuffs. Users of purchased feeds in large quantities are generally experienced and buy only high class materials at close prices. It frequently happens that the small consumer, too often feeling the pinch of poverty, seeks a cheap grade of feed that sells for less than high class materials, and is easily caught by the low grade trashy feeds bearing catchy names.

Cheap feeds, no matter what names they bear, are quite likely to result in hardship to the animals that are fed on them, and to the owners of such animals as well.

How To Buy Feeds.

It is very rarely that feeds are offered for sale in the state that are not regularly registered and labeled in accordance with the requirements of the law and in most instances the feeds run well up to guaranty. The consumer, therefore, has at his inspection of the label sufficient information to enable him to buy on a basis of economy. If cow peas, alfalfa, soy beans and other similar crops can be raised and used on a farm, little, if any concentrates are needed, as these materials are rich in protein and will supply sufficient nourishment. Farm products such as corn, oats, corn fodder, sheaf oats, timothy hay, and other hays grown so generally on Kentucky farms, contain relatively high percentages of carbohydrates and low percentages of crude fat and protein, and should not be considered in the purchase of concentrated materials. The amount, therefore, of digestible protein and fat should govern in the purchase of commercial feeding stuffs.

One fact of great importance which must not be lost sight of in economical feeding is that the amount, kind and character of the feed an animal requires depends entirely upon the use to which that animals is going to put the food. A team may be kept through an idle time on feed that would not be at all suited to the needs of the same team at hard work, or a cow yielding a large flow of milk during an official test. There is little use in paying high prices and establishing a good dairy herd unless careful attention is given to the amount and character of the feed, for however well bred and efficient the individuals, they can not give in their product what they do not receive in their food. This is just as true of work and growing animals.

The Navy Not a Reform School

The Cincinnati Enquirer of Aug. 29, reports that in order that he might learn to obey others, which according to his father, he has never done so far, Wm. Felss, 23, son of Theobald Felss, president of the Felss Flour Mills Co., was forced by Judge Fricke to promise to join the U. S. Navy, under penalty of going to the work house should he refuse. Young Felss was haled into Municipal Court on a charge of taking his father's automobile without leave, which he alleged to have been an oft-repeated offense.

"Your father tells me he wishes you to join the Navy. Will you do it?" queried the Judge.

"No," Felss replied.

"You will have to choose between the Navy and the workhouse. I am determined to make a man of you," Judge Fricke told him.

"I will join then," said the young man. He was given several days in which to rest up before applying at the recruiting office. The case against him was dismissed, the father withdrawing his prosecution.

The sequel is found in this extract from the Enquirer of Aug. 30th:

"That the U. S. Navy is not a half-way station between the Cincinnati Municipal Court and the workhouse was the caustic comment of Capt. W. H. Lassing, of the local U. S. Navy Recruiting Station yesterday, when he refused to consider young William Felss, son of the millionaire flour manufacturer, Theobald Felss, as an applicant for enlistment in the Navy.

"The young man and his father together with a Municipal Court officer, made their appearance at the office of Captain Lassing, shortly before noon yesterday, to take preliminary steps for young Felss's enlistment.

"Lassing did not mince words in expressing his ire over the suggestion that the U. S. Navy was a dumping ground for undesirables. He made it plain to the three men that the Navy accepts only 'sound men of good character and habits.' 'There are more than 2,000 of such men from Cincinnati and vicinity now in the Navy,' said Lassing, 'and there is no way of maintaining the high standard of these men except thru the recruiting office. I have not the least intention of lowering the standard of these men to gratify the whims either of a wealthy father or a municipal judge."

Population as Affected by Roads.

As a general rule a county that has good roads is a prosperous county, increasing in wealth and population. The United States Office of Public Roads recently presented some comparative figures illustrating the influence of improved roads on county progress.

In twenty-five counties, taken at random in twelve States, the number of inhabitants from 1890 to 1900 decreased 77,823, an average decrease of more than 3,000 for each county. The road improvement in these counties was only 1 5-10 per cent.

In the same States twenty-five other counties where the road improvement was 40 per cent. during the same period were chosen for comparison. It was found that these had increased in population 778,383, an average of nearly 32,000 in each county.

The figures show that the counties which have built good roads have gained heavily in population, while those which have neglected their highways have lost. Possibly there were other influences which contributed to the gain or loss of population, but it seems entirely reasonable to believe that the roads were the chief factor, especially as the Office of Public Roads makes the claim that in other respects the two groups of counties were about equally matched.

It is not surprising that a county which has no good roads should lose population. Progressive farmers are more than likely to move away from such counties, and progressive farmers from elsewhere are not likely to take their places. Homeseekers want the advantages of good roads and investors cannot be interested in land that is miles away from an improved thoroughfare.

Land values increase where there is proper highway maintenance. They either decline or stand still in localities where road improvement is ignnored. No county can expect continued prosperity if it neglects its roads.—C.-J.

Competent Engineers.

According to provisions passed by the last legislature only competent road engineers can be employed as county road superintendents in Indiana. The salary provided by the new road law for such men is $5 a day. This law goes into effect Jan. 1st.

Most of the counties, it is said, have taken the law seriously and see in it a chance to standardize their roads and do away with a great deal of graft and unnecessary expense at the hands of incompetent and inexperienced men, each of whom builds his small section of road as he sees fit without regard for the ideas of the adjoining supervisors. According to the new law, each assistant superintendent will have charge of twenty-five miles of roadway.

Oscar Wheeler, the 12-year-old son of C. L. Wheeler, living on the Mayfield Route, has demonstrated that he can raise tobacco successfully. He sold 1,500 sticks Wednesday for $369. He did all the work himself in raising the crop.—Mayfield Messenger.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of wonderful success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

Write to: Chattanooga Medicine Co., Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions on your case and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper. E66-B

Believe Me.

By trading at Thomann's you can save the Middleman's profit on Harness, Trunks and Blankets.

Wm. Thomann,
56 Pike Street,
Covington, Ky.

PUBLIC SALE.

We will sell at pulic auction at our residence on the Union and Hathaway turnpike, four miles west of Union, Boone county, Kentucky, on

THURSDAY, DECEMBER, 11, 1913

the following property:

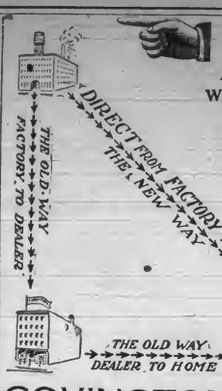
Chestnut sorrel mare with foal, 4 year old gelding well broken, bay work mare, 4 year old all-purpose mare with foal, 2 good milch cows, brood sow and seven shoats, 3 pigs, about 5 dozen chickens, 100 bushels corn, lot of fodder, 20 dozen bundles sheaf oats, 2 road wagons, 2 buggies, 2 sets buggy harness, 2 sets wagon harness, 3 saddles—one aside saddle, 2-horse sled, rock bed, Oliver Chill turning plow, "A" harrow, corn drill, 1 single and 1 double shovel plow, between 3,000 and 4,000 pounds of tobacc if not sold before day of sale, household and kitchen furniture consisting of bedroom suite, sideboard, bureaus, safe, extension table, 2 cook stoves, heater, sewing machine, chairs and many other articles too numerous to mention. Also a telephone box and two shares in the Union and Hathaway telephone company and 2 shares in Union and Hathaway turnpike.

Terms—Sums of $5.00 and under, cash; on sums over $5.00 a credit of nine months without interest will be given, purchaser to excute note with good security, negotiable and payable in Peoples Deposit Bank at Burlington, Ky. Terms of sale must be complied with before property is removed.

L. W. ADAMS.
EALY CONLY.

A. D. Williamson, Auctioneer.
Sale to begin at 10 a. m.

Posted Against Hunters.



The undersigned hereby give notive that their land is posted against trespassing of all kinds and especially by hunting with dogs or guns and trapping thereon:

B. C. Graddy, Bullittsville.
J. S. Eggleston, Francesville.
Mary V. Gaines, Bullittsville.
Harry Walton, Petersburg.
A. L. Nichols, Burlington.
C. T. Northcutt, Belleview.
Everett Souther, Pt. Pleasant.
Julia S. Dinsmore, Belleview.
Mrs. L. T. McNaughton, Muncie, Indiana.
C. O. Hempfling, Taylorsport.
Jasper Sullivan, Waterloo.
W. L. B. Rouse, Limaburg.
Edward Farrell, Limaburg.
T. F. Grant, Bullittsville.
Geo. C. Barlow, Florence.
John Ciore, Hebron.
John W. Ryle, Burlington.
Mrs. Mary Ryan, Beaver.
Mrs. E. A. Bedinger and daughter, Richwood.

DR. B. W. STALLARD
with DR. SHOBER'S
QUEEN CITY DENTISTS
Nos. 43-49 W. Fifth Ave.,
CINCINNATI, - - OHIO.

For Sale—31 acres of land near Gunpowder store—all in grass, house and barn and everlasting water. For furtherp articulars inquire of R. R. Houston, Florence, Ky. 4t.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

GO THERE
AND SAVE THE DIFFERENCE
When you want a Davenport, Parlor Suit, Couch Rocker, Morris Chairs, Dining Room Chairs.

Fred W. Bremenkamp
Manufacture of
Upholstered Furniture
Factory and Sample Room
157 PIKE STREET,
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY
We Also Do Repairing and Refinishing.

GOODE & DUNKIE

Now the largest house in Covington. The cheapest and best place to buy Groceries, Flour, Seeds and Medicines.

Don't overlook us when you want anything in our line. Write us for prices. We can save you money.

NEW CLOVER SEED
NEW ALFALFA.
NEW TIMOTHY.
NEW KY. BLUE GRASS.

ARCADE FLOUR has doubled our flour trade in Covington in 12 months. The best on earth. Barrel..... $5.50
Freight Paid to Your Station.

GOLDEN BLEND COFFEE Pleases where others fail. Per Pound..... 25c

California Asparagus Tips,		Gee-Whiz Coffee, lb	20c
Layer Figs, lb.	15c	Seeded Raisins, lb.	10c
New Citron, lb.	20c	New York Cream Cheese
can.	11c	Pound	20c
New Hominy, 2 lbs.	5c	Jell-O, three pkgs.	25c
Ohio Sugar Corn, can	6c	Mince Meat, lb 10c, 3 lbs	25c
Wisconsin Peas, 3 cans.	25c	California Peaches, can.	15c
Sweet Pickles, 3 doz.	25c	New Navy Beans, 3 qts	25c
Best Pink Salmon, 3 cans	25c	Peck.	70c
Best Lump Starch, lb.	4c	Fels Naptha, P. & G. Ivory Soap	4c
New Rolled Oats, 3 lbs.	10c	Magic White Soap 6 for	25c
Babbitts Lye, 3 cans	25c

GOODE & DUNKIE,
19 & 21 Pike St., and 18 & 20 W. 7th St.,
Covington, - Kentucky.

IF YOU WANT A GOOD
AUTOMOBILE
—CALL ON—
B. B. HUME, Burlington.

FOR 1913 MODEL FORD
5 Passenger Car, $570. 2 Passenger Car, $520
These prices are for fall delivery complete and delivered at your door. If desired a man will be furnished without charge to teach you how to operate your car.
—ALSO AGENT FOR THE—
Oakland, Roadster, $1,150 Touring Car, $1,200 Fully Equipped

SCOTT CHAMBERS,
WALTON, KY.
Embalmer & Funeral Director,
LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.
First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.
Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.
Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

BOONE CO. RECORDER
W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

The Mexican Problem.

While there has been a commendable disposition on the part of both the press and the public to refrain from criticism of the President's policy as to Mexico, and to stand behind him in his effort to prevent the country becoming involved in a war which every one would deeply regret, there have grown up two very distinct and opposite views in regard to the situation, both of which are finding expression.

It is said on behalf of the President's policy of inactivity and waiting that it would have been abhorent to all our principles of government and of right and justice to recognize a military usurper, whose downfall from the beginning without our backing has been certain, and that in a little more time he will be forced to give way and get out of the country. Also, that we should refrain, except as a last resort from interfering or meddling with the affairs of a friendly nation. So far as they have been made known these comprise the grounds of the President's action or non-action.

It is said, on the other hand, that in forbidding Huerta to become a candidate, in saying he would pay no attention to anything the present Mexican Congress did, President Wilson was interfering and intermeddling in Mexico to as great degree as possible, but in a way to be wholly ineffective and useless, and certain in the end to produce friction and collision. It is asserted, further, that not only our own capable and experienced Envoy, but every single one accredited to Mexico from other countries, as well as all Americans and foreign residents there were of the opinion that the only prospect of peace and tranquility lay in the recognition of Huerta, which the other Governments, on the advice of their Ministers, accorded; furthermore, that had we not taken the high moral ground that because we thought Huerta a bad man we could not recognize him, reversing our own policy and going against that of our own policy and going against that of all other Powers of recognizing de facto governments in countries subject to revolutions, and had we acted with the Powers instead of ignoring their advice quiet would have been restored long ago. Consequently, it is alleged that for all the destruction of property and loss of life which have taken place, and they have been very great, since this Administration came in, it is responsible.

It is also claimed that if by our attitude Huerta is overthrown it will simply result in chaos and anarchy, as Carranza, who has been murdering prisoners by the wholesale, will, when he succeeds, be simply like Huerta, a military usurper, and that the situation will compel us formally to intervene at the cost of war, which the recognition of Huerta would have prevented.

These are the two opposing views of the situation. Meanwhile, with great patience and forbearance, while arson, murder and wholesale destruction of our property and outrages on our citizens still go on, the American people are anxiously waiting to see which will prove to have been right.—Enquirer.

Beef From Argentina.

Argentina is beginning to supply England and the United States with meat. That is a fact full of encouragement to Southern farmers. If meat can be raised in Argentina and brought to the United States and sold at a profit, it ought to be possible to develop the livestock industry in the South to large proportions.

It is stated that these Argentine cattle are raised and fattened entirely on alfalfa pastures. These pastures supply the cattle the year round without any supplementary feeding, except at occasional times of drouth or invasions of locusts.

This calls attentions anew of Southern farmers to alfalfa and like crops. The Argentine cattle are said to be of a better quality than those of any of the other South American countries. The chief is that the business of beef production in Argentine is capable of large increase; at least, as long as high prices prevail in the markets. A commission was appointed, with Dr. McIvin at the head, to make a special inquiry concerning the Argentine situation, and he reports that as alfalfa has been substituted for old range pastures in the greatest cattle raising country in South America, and that as the slaughtering of the stock is carried on under rigid inspection, it will be necessary for the cattle breeders and feeders of this country to follow up-to-date and improved methods in the production of beef, in order to maintain their supremacy in the home market.

Whipping Is Abolished.

Frankfort, Dec. 3.—The Kentucky Prison Commission in its report to Gov. McCreary, declared that whipping had been abolished; that prison officials have been taken out of politics and that a law had been put into force giving prisoners a percentage of their earnings.

Wanted—Man to live on my farm and handle cows on shares—house, &c., furnished—man with small family desired. Apply to H. G. Cropper, Builitsville, Ky.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of Execution No. 2721 directed to me, which issue from the Clerk's Office of the Kenton Circuit Court, in favor of Ottawa Banking & Trust Co., against Ernest Hartman and John H. Aylor, I or one of my deputies, will, on Saturday, the 27th day of December, 1913, between the hours of 1 o'clock p. m. and 2:30 o'clock p. m., at Williams' Store, Gunpowder, Boone county, Kentucky, expose to public sale, to the highest bidder, the following described property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy plaintiff's debt, interest and costs, to-wit:

One Black Stallion, five years old, blaze face, levied upon as the property of Ernest Hartman and John H. Aylor. This stallion is a fine draft animal.

Terms:—Sale will be made on a credit of three months, bond with approved security required, bearing interest at the rate of six pecent per annum interest from day of sale and having the force and effect of a judgment. Amount to be raised by sale $1,611.15.

B. B. HUME, Sheriff Boone Co.

STATE NEWS.

St. Louis Republic.—The present message is so short that it will be read by the great majority of the intelligent citizens of the nation. This fact gives it a new seriousness. A presidential message which actually reaches the people becomes a factor to be reckoned with.

Chicago Inter Ocean.—Taken as a whole the message shows a very clear conception on the part of Woodrow Wilson of what he wishes to do—the goals to be attained. If vague as to the means of attaining them it is none the less practical in its general avoidance of premature dogmatism as to methods.

Chicago Record Herald.—The message gives the impression of a man who is strong without violence, persistent perhaps to the point of obstinacy, devoted to high ideals, distinctly and intelligently progressive, a practical reformer—one who is doing his best to realize his own conception of the President as the national voice.

Philadelphia Press.—The President in his message upholds his reputation as a master of English style. His choice of words and terms of expressions challenge admiration, and when he comes to the discussion of policies he still shows himself the professor of fine English, but a theorist rather than a practical man of affairs. Running through it all is the note of the schoolmaster, "I am going to have my way."

New York Sun.—Without any ceremony or fuss of any kind he abolishes the old regular annual message or Presidential Treatise On All Things, mostly unnecessary to mention, and substitutes therefor the short speech to the legislators which we have before us this morning, somewhat in the form of the best of the inaugural addresses, simple, direct, intelligible, and beautifully dressed in English that could not be improved. All honor, we say to the Hon. Woodrow Wilson for this glorious achievement of courage and common sense!

New York Tribune—Now that President Wilson has shown how, everybody will wonder that it never before occurred to his predecessors to make an anual message short enough to be read. And the message can be read. President Wilson accomplishes brevity by the simple process of not going into details. Instead of summarizing reports of the departments of the Federal Government he refers Congress directly to them, as it has already received them. This is good sense, and it means a great saving in printers' ink all over the land.

Boston Transcript.—The President's first annual address to the Congress reads like a "matriculation sermon," and doubtless this effect was not lessened by the manner of its delivery. From beginning to end it is so disingenuous as to prove disappointing as a sermon. It contains little information about the state of the Union,' which is the constitutional excuse for. Wilson offered for its deliverance, and not one of the recommendations made for the country's welfare touches any of those problems to which the urgency of the moment or the pledges of the Administration gave the country right to expect the President would address himself on this occasion.

New York World.—In most conservative language Mr. Wilson has delivered a radical address to Congress, with the promise of further radical recommendations yet to come. But all of it is the radicalism of a highly matured and well ordered mind, with clear purposes and firm basic principles. The President's words will be searched in vain for a hint of partisanship or of party coercion. He spoke not to the Democratic majority in Congress but to all members of Congress ofall parties. It was not the address of the leader of the Democratic party but of the President of the United States, appealing to a Congress from which he asks no political favors or personal exaltation, but only honest, single minded co-operation in the public welfare.

For Sale—Four single comb white Orpington cockerels—the Cook strain, or will exchange for hens or pullets of same breed. O. C. Hafer, Hebron, Ky.

DO YOU KNOW
Hill's
Sells Groceries and Seeds at the same price other merchants pay for them? Our line is complete and goods of the highest quality.
WRITE FOR PRICES

You Can Make Rich Snow White Bread With
RARUS
BEST WINTER PATENT
CEO. W. HILL & CO.
COVINGTON, KY.
$5.25 Per Bbl
Freight Paid to your Station
Every Barrel Guaranteed.

IT'S BETTER TO DRINK
NOBETTER COFFEE
25c Per Lb
Increasing Sales Prove Merit
25 lbs. or More Freight Paid.

BLEND
COFFEE
A FINE DRINK
20c Per Pound.

25-lb. Box
Fancy California Evaporated
PEACHES
$2.00 or 3 lbs 25c

Send Your Orders for Canned Goods. They Will Be Higher.
Fancy Ohio Corn....70c per doz.
Solid Packed Tomatoes.....
.....$1 per doz.
Wisconsin Early June Peas.....
.....$1 per doz
California Lemon Cling.....
Peaches.....$1.65 per doz
Stringless Beans...$1.00 per doz
Pink Salmon.....90c per doz
Atmore's Condensed Mince.....
Meat.....2 pkgs. 15c

NEW PURE
N. O. Molasses.
5 Gallon Can
$3.00

New Navy Beans
$2.30 Per Bu.

15-Gallon Kegs
NEW KRAUT
$4.50

BUY
Hill's Tested Seeds.
Always Better-Always Cheaper
Write for Prices.
Geo. W. Hill & Co.
GROCERS & SEEDMEN,
27-29 Pike St. or 26 W. 7th,
Covington, Ky.
Established 1863.

Tobacco Growers
Bring Your Tobacco to the
Falmouth Loose Leaf
Tobacco Warehouse Co.
(INCORPORATED)
FALMOUTH, KY.
TELEPHONE No. 87.

Best equipped and the largest loose leaf house in Northern Kentucky.

The best lighted house in the State, which enables us to show your tobacco to the best advantage.

We built this house for the growers of tobacco. The dealer did not need it, as he could ship to other markets; but not so with the farmer, because he could not pack for the old hogshead market to an advantage.

In this house the grower with a small crop has just the same advantage as the grower with a large crop, or the dealer, as each grade is put into a basket to itself.

We positively will have buyers from all the large manufacturers in the United States, and also buyers for the export trade.

We have a separate house with side track to receive tobacco shipped by railroad, so that the car tobacco and the farmers' wagons will not interfere with one another as in other markets.

We will be ready to receive your tobacco on December 1st.

Our openning sale will be on Saturday, December 6th.

We will have four sales days each week.

We Deliver
to any point we can reach with this

Christmas Gifts that are practical and useful--buy them early and we will make future delivery.

Library Tables.	Magazine Racks	Princess Dressers.
Rockers in all finishes.	Davenports.	Kitchen Cabinets.
and numerous styles.	Chifforobes.	Card Tables.
Ladies Desks.	High Chairs.	Leather Rockers.
BooK Cases.	Medicine Cabinets.	Sectional Bookcases.
Tabourets.	China Closets.	Chiffoniers.
Pedestals.	Extension Tables.	Dinner Sets china
Hall Racks.	Sewing Tables.	Pictures.
Piano Benches.	Ladies Toilet Tables.	Baby Cribs.
Book Shelves.	Costumers.	Mantel Mirrors.

Specials This week 26 Piece Silver Set—Six tablespoons, six teaspoons, Sugar Shell, Butter Knife, 6 Knives and 6 forks in a satin lined oak case, Wm. Rogers make, guaranteed..... $6.50
Also large Ebonized Handsome eight day CLOCK, elegant ornament, $4.50.

O'Brien & Birnbryer
—DEALERS IN—
Good Furniture, Rugs and Stoves
AT REASONABLE PRICES.
736 Madison Ave., - COVINGTON, KY.

FARM FOR SALE.
About 100 acres on Belleview pike, 1¼ miles from Burlington, land all in high state of cultivation, well watered and all in grass except about 12 acres, good six room house, good cistern and well and necessary outbuildings in good repair. For terms and price call on the undersigned.
RICHARD WHITE.

B. B. ALLPHIN
WITH THE
L. J. BUDDE & CO.
Live Stock Commission Merchants
Union Stock Yards, CINCINNATI. Phone W. 4296.

Local Happenings.

Are you shopping early?

The jail has been out of business for some time.

The weather the past month has the oldest inhabitant guessing.

This has been a fine fall for breaking land for next years crop.

Some new metal has been put on the Burlington and Florence pike.

Two weeks from today and old Santa Claus is dus to make his annual visit.

The weather the past two weeks prolonged the lives of many hogs.

The new members of the fiscal court will go into office the first of the year.

A block of the Chicago fog swept over this part of the country last Friday morning.

Several of Burlington's young men attended the dance at Petersburg last Friday night.

The December term of the Boone Circuit Court convened Monday with a small docket.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Tanner, of Gunpowder, have gone to Anna Maria, Fla., to spend the winter. winter.

Some of the saloon keepers who were refused license in Cincinnati are seeking locations in the country.

Indications are there will be a considerable colony of Boone Co. tourists located at St. Petersburg, Florida, this winter.

Bert Smith, carrier on R. D. 2, had a load of parcel post packages that almost hid him from view last Monday morning.

Of the eighty seven suits on the docket at this term of circuit court 21 are new suits, of which three are for divorce.

John C. White has bought a five passenger Ford auto, and is ready to convey passengers to any point he can reach with his machine.

The remains of Jas. D. Cloud were taken from the vault last Friday afternoon and interred in the family lot in the Odd-Fellows cemetery.

Representatives of a fire insurance company were in Burlington one day the past week making a survey of the town to be used in passing upon policies.

The Masons at Union and the Knights of Pythias at Erlanger had big times Tuesday night. Grand Master Ware, of Covington, was with the Masons at Union.

Quail are scarcer in Kentucky than they have been for many years. Some think they will soon become extinct unless there is legislation prohibiting hunting them.

An automobile club is being organized in the Rabbit Hash and East Bend neighborhoods. The club will originally consist of five members, each of whom will buy a machine.

W. C. Rouse, of Limaburg neighborhood, sold, a few days since, his four year old crop of tobacco to Albert Conner at 9 cents a pound. There were about 2,100 pounds of the crop.

A man in the lower part of the State says the high cost of meat can be overcome by the raising of buffalo instead of cattle, and he proposes to demonstrate the fact by stocking his farm with buffalo.

Today is Adams and Conley's sale over in the Hathaway neighborhood. They have a considerable list of property to dispose of. They expect to start for their future home in Louisiana in a few days.

Our own Dr C. F. Creecelius, now of Frankfort, and the next Governor of the grand old Commonwealth, was in town Monday mixing with his legion of friends.—Falmouth Outlook.

You are talking through your hat, brother.

Tobacco commenced moving last week, several loads being received by the tobacco buyer, L. A. Conner. Thompson, of Petersburg, was out one day last week, and the only crop he could buy was that of Rice Bros., of Idlewild, for which he paid $12 per 100.

A remnant of the Denver, Colo., blizzard, arrived here last Sunday about eleven o'clock, and for a while a blinding snow storm prevailed. At noon the temperature began falling and by Monday morning the mercury was down to sixteen, a sudden and decidedly uncomfortable change.

There has appeared on the streets of Burlington a hen that has pursued to excess the latest female fashion in dress, which is liable to give her considerable discomfort before winter is past. Miss Hen is wearing only a tuft of feathers around her neck and a few scattering feathers on her wings, and is, seemingly, very proud of being in the height of the fashion.

SHARP WINTER WEATHER

Will Prevail Over The United States This Week, Says Forcaster.

Washington, December 7.—Sharp winter weather will prevail over most of the country during the coming week.

"The week will open with low temperatures, probably the lowest of the present season, said Weather Bureau forecasters tonight, over the interior districts east of the Rocky Mountains, and with frost to the Middle Gulf of Mexico Coast. During Monday night the cold weather will extend to the Atlantic Coast, and rather low temperatures will probably continue over the Eastern portion of the country until late in the week. Over the extreme West temperatures will rise early in the week and by the middle of the week it will be somewhat warmer over the Central West. It will be colder during the second half of the week over the Northwest and by the end of the week over the North Central portion of the country.

"There will be snow Monday from the Lake Region eastward with high winds, but present pressure distribution does not indicate any other precipitation of consequence over the East, South and Southwest. Rain will probably set in by Monday over the North Pacific States and they will cover the middle and northern districts west of the Rocy Mountains by Tuesday or Wednesday, and will extend mostly as local snow into the Northwest. A little later in the week the snows or rains will extend into the upper Mississippi Valley and the Lake Region, reaching the lower Lake Region toward the end of the week."

In directing the address of his Recorder changed, Judge John M. Lassing writes from St. Petersburg Florida:

"I find that we can't get along without the Recorder so please send it to me down here. I know we are a good deal of trouble in constantly changing our postoffice address but we can't help it. Direct to Box R., St. Petersburg and we will get it all right.

"We have had nothing but sunshine since we got here last Monday morning, the days have been fine the nights pleasant and the temperature all that could be desired. Have fished some and hunted a little but most of my time so far has been taken up in getting fixed to housekeeping.

We have now about settled and I have my wife for chief cook with John as general roustabout and errand boy. I understand that there are more people here now than ever before at this time of year and they are looking for a record year in the real estate business.'

The customary number of prospective candidates against the present members of the Kentucky delegation in Congress are being mentioned but the chances are that thee list will dwindle down to a few who will run for "place" rather than to win. The country at large seems to be well satisfied with the present administration and the way Congress has been co-operating with it and will likely be content to let all continue in their good work. Besides the people of Kentucky learned, as other states have, that it does not pay to retire a good man as soon as he begins to get acquainted with his fellow members in Congress and to have some influence, and put in his place a new man. The administration has mapped out an extensive legislative program and there will be some very important constructive work begun that cannot be finished in this Congress.

At a meeting of the Erlanger Town Council Saturday night, a contract was entered upon with the Union Gas and Electric Company of Cincinnati, to furnish electricity to the town of Erlanger. The contract is for one year with the privilege of renewal and stipulates that the current be furnished not later than January 10, 1914. It is thought, however, that the street lights will be furnished before Christmas. Many of the recent homes have already been wired and are ready for the lights as soon as the current is furnished.

Ensign Archibald McGlasson has received a commendatory letter from the Secretary of the Navy in recognition of his efficient services on the U. S. S. Whipple. He was one of the two officers who had done the most to give the Whipple her high standing in gunnery and speed. Ensign McGlasson also received a gold medal from the Engineer's force of the Whipple called the "Black Gang."

Chas. Clore, who resides out on the East Bend road lost considerable meat which he butchered about the beginning of the recent warm period.

A Big Sale.

The largest public sale in this part of the county in a long time was that of W. T. Davis on the 4th inst. The crowd in attendance was away up in the hundreds and the bidding was exceedingly lively, in many instances articles bringing more than their original cost. Corn brought as high as 97 cents per bushel, and milk cows were in demand at very high prices, one cow and calf selling for $91. Mr. Davis is a very neat farmer and everything he sold was in good condition and presented a nice appearance, and he was equipped with about every tool necessary to successful work. At noon hundreds of sandwitches and many gallons of burgoo were consumed by the crowd.

Pity the Rural Carriers.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Postmaster General Burleson's proposals to increase the weight limits of parcel post packages in first and second zones from 20 to 50 pounds, to admit books to the parcel post and to reduce rates in the third, fourth, fifth and 6th zones was approved today by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Putting Up For A Pike.

The people along the road from Hebron to W. P. Cropper's in North Bend are subscribing money for the purpose of piking the North Bend road for a distance of about five miles. They count on it requiring $9,000 to complete the pike of which amount they expect to raise $4,500 and then ask the fiscal court to appropriate the remainder of the $9,000. The pike is to be free. It is one of the principal roads in the county, and can be made a good pike, one that will be easy to maintain. It traverses one of the best neighborhoods in the county.

Push The Good Wook.

They do say that Onnie Rouse and his neighbors are talking turnpike "a right smart" again, and some are confident that the talk will amount to something. No community is this county is better equipped for building roads in the way of an aounaance of convenient metal. Keep your shoulders to the wheel, boys, and you are sure of result.

A large city truck loaded with goods for E. E. Kelly, smashed a plank in the bridge at Limaburg one day last week. As N. E. Riddell was coming from the city in a machine that night he discovered the hole in the bridge, and secured a lantern of Quigley & Beemon and hung it over the hole in the bridge floor as a danger warning during the night.

Raw Furs Wanted.

I pay highest prices for prime pelts, all kinds. Hold your furs for me.

H. KIRK, Burlington, Ky.

B. S. O'NEAL,

AUCTIONEER,

VERONA, - KENTUCKY.

Your Order is Solicited.

For Sale or Rent.

One Hundred and Eight and Two-Third Acres of Land, at the mouth of Gunpowder Creek in this county; the best hog farm in Northern Kentucky. For further particulars call on or address Erastus Rice, Rising Sun, Indiana, or S. D. Rice, Grant. Ky., R. D. 1.

F. J. HENN. M. M. HUSCHART.

LAWRENCEBURG

Granite and Marble Works

Manufacturers of and Dealers in

Fine American and Imported Monuments.

Cemetery Work of Every Description Promptly and Carefully Attended to.

Lawrenceburg, :-: Indiana.

D. M. SNYDER, Agt., Burlington, Ky.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.

All persons indebted to the estate of Elizabeth Huey, deceased, are requested to come forward and settle, and those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned properly proven.

J. T. JUDGE, Executor.

Lewis M. Park,

Funeral Director and Embalmer

White and Black Funeral Cars.

First-class Carriages for family parties and weddings.

Auto or Horse drawn Ambulance service.

Telephone calls day or night given prompt attention.

Main Avenue, - Erlanger, Ky.

First of all it is important to you that you do your Christmas Shopping as soon as possible while the Assortment is complete. you will find many Suitable Gifts Here that will be Acceptable.

40 Years of Underselli'g

COPPIN'S

Trade in Covington Profit Sharing Tickets have a cash value of $1 for every $40 worth purchased

The Christmas Store of Covington

Madison Ave. Cor. Seventh, Covington, Ky.

Big Saving on Your Christmas Outfit. Here are Several Specials in our Cloak Department.

You must see these Suits to see the great values that they are for $9.98

Made of all-wool Storm Serge, black, blue, brown and Copen. 26 inch coat with guaranteed satin lining, with draped skirts. They were $15,00, now.....$9.98

Women's and Misses' Chinchilla Cloth coats, blue, brown, grey, seal plush; boulce, astrakhan, diagonals, cut velour and chevriots, copen, taupe, brown, all sizes. Worth $16.50. Now... $12.00

Wonderful collection to choose from. Women's & Misses coats $18.00

Unlimited range of styles in all kinds of materials in the newest winter colorings. Worth $22 50 and $25.00. Now....$18.00

DRESS GOODS make Acceptable Xmas Gifts.

All French and storm Serges, all the latest fall colors, 36 inches wide, value at yd. 50c

50 inch black and Navy storm Serge, all wool, excellent value, yard.....$1.00

Pretty figured and striped Messalines, also plain colors, fancy figured worsteds and silks for dresses, beautiful coloring, per yard.....50c to $1.50

WOMEN'S HANDKERCHIEFS.

The largest assortment we have ever shown, hand embroidered, plain and embroidered linen and cambric....5c to $1.25

We issue Glove and Merchandise Orders for any amount good at any time.

Easy to Select Gifts for Men

Men's shirts make useful gifts. Immense assortment at.....59c, 69c, $1.00, $1.50

Men's ties—4 pretty four-in-hand ties in pretty holiday box at.....$1.00

Men's grey and dark wine sweater coats, heavy shaker knit, big value.....$2.00

Men's white hemmed-stitched initial handkerchiefs, 4 in fancy box for.....39c

Men's combination sets, Kerchief tie and socks, colors perfectly matched, put up in fancy Xmas boxes, for.....50c to $1.50

Men's fast blaek "Economy Brand" socks, 4 pair in holiday box for.....50c

Men's night robes, made of outing flannel, good and warm.....50c

Men's umbrellas, good assortment, new handles.....90c to $5.00

Men's gloves, heavy knit, kid lined and unlined, gauntlet kid gloves, Jersey cloth and Scotch knit, heavy plush grey and black. Pair....25c, 50c, 75c, $1 to $.300

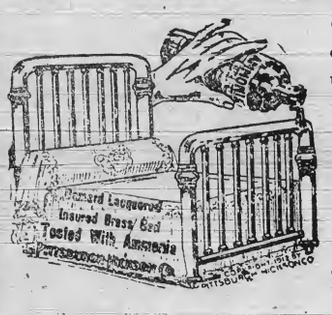
Doll Department.

Life-like character baby Dolls, a big collection both dressed and undressed, kid, jointed, rag dolls.....25c to $10.00

Teddy Bears.....59c to $1.25

Ducks that quack.....50c

New Kewpie dolls.....29c to $1.00



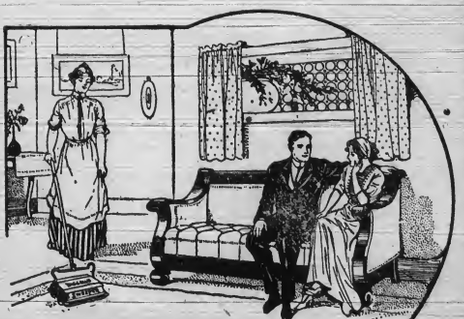
Light and Dark Peacales.

100 pieces just received, the new spring patterns for 1914 now on sale at yd....12½c

SEND US YOUR MAIL ORDERS

Mail Orders Promptly Filled.

A Nice Brass Bed



Can be furnished now, in either polish or satin finish, at the price you have usually paid for a good iron bed. Be sure and see our special---

$15.48

Other designs up to and including $75. These beds are all guaranteed for a period of 10 years. Another extraordinary value is the one above illustrated at $22.50 actually worth $30.00.

The Holiday Season is Near

and there will be many weddings during this time. Readers of the Boone County Recorder who are considering this step, should by all means call as early as possible and let us show you thru our handsome Furnitu,e Store. You will be agreeably surprised at the beautiful, substantial household furnishings within your reach. We make a specialty of outfits to young couples just going to housekeeping.

Let Us Furnish The Home-To-Be?

We know just how to fix you up, to make your little home Cozy, Comfortable and Convenient at the Least Possible Cost to you. Don't fail to give us an opportunity.

THEO·HECK & CO

319-343 W. Fifth St., Cincinnati, Ohio. Between Central Avenue and Plum Street.

Make this store your headquarters when in the city. Leave your bundles here until train time. There will be no charge, and you will be relieved of the inconvenience of carrying them around all day. Feel at home here, we are all Kentuckians.

WELL-PROTECTED HENHOUSE

Layers Require Shelter From Cold Wintry Blasts—Fowls Reciprocate by Producing More Eggs.

It is astonishing how much cold can get into a building through a few small cracks or a broken frame of glass, says the New England Homestead.

We built a henhouse four years ago, and the boards have shrunk so we could see through between some of them. One morning we found the snow had sifted in in little piles all around our choice birds that we are depending on for winter eggs.

We never can bear to see anything suffer with the cold, so we at once bought some patent roofing and covered the house, making all the laps air-tight with the cement that comes with it.

Then I got a bag of cement and went all around the wall that the house stood on and painted up every crack and crevice I could find, and my, what a difference it made!

The next morning, although the weather was colder than before, it was like going into a cellar, it was so warm and nice. Wife said they sang a different song and seemed to smile at her when she went out to feed them.

Prize Winning Leghorn.

We find a few small wind holes in a henhouse will blow all the profits out of our pockets.

We also built a nice scratching shed on the end of the house with large open spaces in front to let in air and sun in pleasant weather and close up with curtains when it storms. The hens seem to enjoy it very much when it storms so they cannot go out. We put a load of nice clean sand in the shed and then a few inches of litter and what fun they do have scratching for grain in it.

QUALITIES OF HOUDAN FOWL

One of Best Table Breeds in United States—Not Recommended as Farm Fowl on Account of Crest.

The Houdan is one of the best table breeds we have. It is also an excellent layer, producing eggs not only of large supply, but of generous size, in the latter very much like the Minorca.

As a farm fowl, however, they are not recommended, for the reason that it is a crested fowl. The young fall easy prey to hawks on account of these crests preventing them from seeing what is above them.

The old fowls, if given a free range, are apt to be caught in a rain storm, and their crests become water-soaked, which generally leads on to roup.—E. V. B.

POULTRY NOTES

Sitting hens should be removed at night.

* * *

Brooder lamps should be cleaned every day.

* * *

Toe mark the chicks as soon as they are hatched.

* * *

For farm use the American breeds are probably the best.

* * *

Always test the hen on china or nest eggs before setting.

* * *

Cabbages, mangels, potatoes, etc., make excellent green feed.

* * *

A well ventilated cellar is the best place to operate the incubator.

* * *

Chicks should not receive feed until they are thirty-six hours old.

* * *

Proper ventilation and sunlight means a dry house and healthy birds.

* * *

Feed the pullets wheat and oats and beef scraps if you have it or can get it.

* * *

Duck raising is one of the most profitable branches of the poultry business.

* * *

The incubator should be operated according to the manufacturers directions.

* * *

Good roosts may be made of 2x2 inch material with the upper edges rounded.

* * *

Eggs saved for hatching purposes should not be subjected to high or low temperature.

* * *

Get rid of the hen that is never caught on the nest. "By their fruits ye shall know them."

* * *

The nests may be placed on the side walls or under the dropping boards. It is best to have them darkened, as the hens prefer secluded places in which to lay.

MAKING LIFE EASIER FOR THE HORSE.

Conserve Horse Power by Good Management.

The horse power on the farm is still very much in prominence, therefore it behooves us as farmers to conserve that power as much as we are able by using good judgment in the management of the horse.

There were plenty of those who were unduly frightened at the approach of motor power fearing greatly that the horse would be supplanted by it. No occasion for alarm. Motor power or motor vehicles, however fast they are increasing, have not tended to the displacement of the horse, nor even to decrease the number of horses. According to reports from the Union Stock Yards of Chicago there are now employed in Chicago 72,939 horses, or only 287 less than last year. In Boston the number of horses is only 50 less than ten years ago. Minneapolis 158 more, and St. Louis 739 more than ten years ago.

These figures give us encouragement to go ahead in the producing of horses for market as they are still in demand and bring good prices. At any rate it is to our advantage to give our horses the best of care and watch them very closely for any symptoms of diseases which may arise. It is in the beginning that diseases yield the most readily to treatment.

The Hardy Maple.

Maple is a most valuable wood and there are seven varieties of it in the United States, the most important of which is the well-known sugar maple. The welcome news that maple is holding its own is contained in a bulletin lately issued by the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Maple is especially abundant in Michigan. Of the total cut of this timber in the U. S. amounting to more than a billion feet, nearly one-half is to Michigan's credit, assuming that there is any credit in one State butchering so tremendous a quantity annually of such splendid forest material. Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, New York and West Virginia follow in the order named as producers of maple timber. Despite the large quantities cut every year, the Forest Service says maple is in little danger of disappearing from the American forests, "for it is a strong, vigorous, aggressive tree, and though not a fast grower, is able to hold its own."

Some of the States named have been cutting maple for many years, but the supply still holds out. At one time in the early history of the country the Forest Service bulletin says, an average of 6,000 maple trees were destroyed in clearing the ordinary New York or Pennsylvania farm. New York and Pennsylvania, nevertheless, continue to hold high rank as maple cutting states. In Michigan, the bulletin states, it is not unusual for sugar maple to take possession of land from which pine or hardwoods have been cut clean and "from New England westward thru the lake States and southward to the Ohio and Potomac Rivers from other species are oftener seen in woodlots."

Maple is in large demand as it is used for a great variety of purposes. Sugar maple stands near the top of the list of furniture woods. The so-called "birds eye" effect, the department bulletin explains, is probably due to buds which for some reason cannot force their way through the bark, but which remain just beneath it year after year. "The young wood is disturbed each succeeding season by the presence of the bud and grows around it in fantastic forms which are exposed when the saw cuts thru the abnormal growth."

In addition to its many uses as a wood, the maple is one of the most beautiful trees and is a highly favored shade tree. The syrup and sugar of the sugar maple are esteemed products and the whole country should rejoice to know that the maple is a good stayer and is in little danger of extirpation.—C. J.

Boone County Farms and Town Property For Sale.

165 acres on the Waterloo and Rabbit Hash pike 2½ miles from Rabbit Hash and 4½ miles from Belleview. One and one-half story house with nine rooms, two new barns 36x48 and 40x48, other out buildings, plenty of water, good fence, all in grass but 20 acres. Price $60 per acre.

—!!—

100 acres almost adjoining the above farm with no house but good barn 36x48. Fifty acres woodland, 75 acres of this land will grow tobacco. Plenty water. Five acres in cultivation. Price $30.00 per acre. The two above farms could be considered as one farm or can be sold separate.

—!!—

86 acres on the Waterloo and McVille pike ¾ mile from McVille and about 1½ miles from Waterloo or Belleview. No improvements except good fences. Plenty water. All in grass. Thirty acres will grow tobacco. Price $20.00 per acre.

—!!—

Good 5-room house and one acre ground in Burlington. Price $1000.

—!!—

Two houses and lots in Petersburg one for $600 and the other for $400.

Also have some farms for sale not listed above.

A. B. RENAKER,
Burlington, Ky.

FORTY YEARS AGO.

Forty years—think of it—its a long, long time. The man who lives forty years has the average beat, at least 33 1-3 per cent and has a "long shot" chance to live forty more. Some folks say they would not live always, and so far as we know they don't. Forty years is a mighty factor in the average man's existence and can spring more sudden and unexpected changes than 1,000 years of most any other kind of existence known. It can grow, expand, bloom, blossom and extend until it becomes a theme of national interest one year, then the next year it may shrink, shrivel and shrink until it's a matter of small potatoes and few in a hill. It can have its beginning as an April morning with roses galore. It's ending may be as the "oft told tale" on a winters night—hard to tell.

As Bill Arp would say "let us return to the text" and come back to John Keafer, the Elm Hole, and that game of croquet.

John tells us the time had passed rapidly, the sun had risen higher, the shadows had grown shorter, the games had grown longer, some to the credit of Billy and John, some to that of Henry and Philip. The games went furiously on. The noon hour had come and the spectators present went home to dinner, but the aged players refused to quit until the "tie" was played off. The diary shows that John had grown hungry, had refused an invitation to dinner with his friend, the man of German impulses and kindly nature, who was credited with forming the acquaintance of any man and every man that ever came to Union, and also credited with doing the man a kindness if it was within his power to do it. Do you know him? Of course you do.

On the corner of Main and High streets was a general store. John went in and purchased more cheese, oysters, sardines and crackers than was good for him, perhaps, but he ate and enjoyed them for dinner. While eating, the proprietor engaged him in conversation and is described as a man of quiet, unpretentious manner, yet showing in every word and act the polished, capable merchant and cultivated gentleman. In the conversation John learned that the store had been in operation for many years, and its owner had looked after its welfare for many years, too. He told John how he could find the home of Robert Adams on Riddell's Run, told him how far it was, told him about the general conditions in Boone county, told him about Big Bone Springs, about the big bones that had been unearthed there, about the medicinal properties of its water, about the green hills and fertile valleys, about the splendid people that had their homes there and were known to be among the most prosperous and hospitable people in the county. He told of a man who had recently moved from the Big Bone country to Union and how glad they were to have such a grand man and his family come to the town.

Before leaving for Riddell's Run, John determined to see the end of that "tie" game, and back he went to find all quiet on the Potomac and results being figured up. Billy and John proved "too many" for Henry and Philip, but no boasting was indulged in by the winners. More than likely it wasn't safe to do so. Excuses are always in order, so we find these aged veterans, whose banner had trailed in the dust of defeat, trying to excuse themselves by all sorts of methods, but "nothing doing with Billy and John along that line at all. They said, "Henry you and Philip are beaten, that's all there is to it." As to excuses they don't go. History for centuries past tells about excuses that men have made and as a rule they were not worth a cent.

For a parting shot before going home, John told Henry that Napoleon failed to see the "last an road of Ohain," when he looked over the battle ground at Waterloo that fateful morning before the battle and as a result got a terrible beating, but it was no excuse after all.

The average youngster loves a circus better than most any thing, but it is likely John enjoyed that game of croquet between those four aged men as much as anybody ever enjoyed a circus. These men had reached an age when settled views and iron bound conversations entered very largely into the form and fashion of what they thought or did. When one of them set his teeth together and said "so and so is so," there was no law or gospel to the contrary. If Philip said, "Billy, you are dead on Henry," that meant dead, and he could be no deader until he really was dead.

Twelve years later on John speaks of these men as mechanics, as gold hunters, as merchants and in other ways of interest as the story goes.

After taking an inventory of himself to find if he was all there, or "all in," John left Union for Riddell's Run in search of more adventures and if his diary is to be taken as evidence he found them in abundance. He passed that saloon again, but did not go in. The writer promised to tell why he didn't, and will do so later on, hoping that the RECORDER'S readers may figure out in their minds, why he did not venture in. We venture the opinion that not one in one hundred will come within a mile of guessing the exact reason John had a very peculiar reason for not doing so, however.

(To be continued.)

A Vital Question.

The Elizabethtown Mirror asks: "What are the farmers going to do for seed corn next spring?" This is an all important and vital question, especially to the farmers of this county. The drouth prevented the growth and full development of corn this year, and very little corn grown in the county will be suitable or sufficiently sound to plant next spring. Seed corn can be purchased in other States, but farmers who buy abroad do not always know the quality of the corn they are purchasing. Good seed corn next spring is sure to be very high the farmers should turn their attention to this matter at once.

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS

For Sale, stock from the flock scoring most points at State Fair last fall. Cockerels, $1.00 each; eggs in season. (dec 18)

MRS. B. C. GRADDY,
Bullittsville, Ky.

Look Here!

The Best Offer Ever.

The Boone County Recorder .....
The Weekly Enquirer .....
Farm & Fireside, semi-monthly ....
Poultry Success, monthly .....
Woman's World, monthly .....
Farm News, monthly .....

All One Year For

$2.10

By Ordering the above separately the cost would be $4.25 for the Six Publications each one year.

This Big Proposition

is open to all New Subscribers to The Recorder and to those whose renewals will extend into 1914.

Those who have renewed up to or beyond Janv. 1, 1914 will be given the benefit of the above combination by sending to this office Sixty Cents.

Now is the time to secure your reading matter for the long winter nights coming on. Grasp this Opportunity.

No one was ever comfortable with wet feet, and you'll find the doctor a whole lot more expensive than

RUBBER FOOTWEAR

A pair will keep you warm and dry all winter, for "Ball-Band" goods have wear built into them from top to toe. Buy now while we have every size.

For sale by

W. M. Rachal & Co
Union, Ky

DAILY
Courier-Journal
AT HALF PRICE

DURING DECEMBER
JANUARY
FEBRUARY

The Boone Co. Recorder

has made a special arrangement whereby the Daily Courier-Journal can be furnished one year for $3.00, six months $1.75, or ...ail (Sunday not included) to all persons who will give their orders to us during the months named above. You can have the Daily Courier-Journal and the Recorder one year each

For Only $4.50

After February 28, 1914, the price of the Daily Courier-Journal alone is $6.00 a year. Take advantage of this special Bargain Offer at once and Reduce the High Cost of Living.

To Get Advantage of This Cut Rate, Orders Must Be Sent Us, Not to the Courier-Journal.

Peters "ALL-FOR-WEAR"

THE BEST WORK SHOE IN THE WORLD

FOR SALE BY

W. M. RACHAL & CO.
UNION, KENTUCKY.

H. G. BLANTON,
Funeral Director and Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.

First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.

I Have a Nice White Funeral Car and Ambulance,

Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.

Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,

Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.

Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.

Office and Wareroom:
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
IRA POPE Agent, - - Grant, Ky

J. L. HAMILTON
(Successor to M. T. WILSON)

FUNERAL DIRECTOR,
Verona, Ky.

Telephone calls day or night given prompt attention. Mrs. M. T. Wilson is my assistant and solicits the patronage of the friends of her late husband. dec-1 12

CHAS. E. GARNETT.
AUCTIONEER.
Will go to any part of the county Address.
R. D. 2, Ludlow, Ky.

A Splendid Clubbing Bargain
WE OFFER
The Boone Co. Recorder
AND
The Cincinnati Weekly Enquirer
Both One Year For Only $1.85

Subscriptions may be new or renewal.

What the Weekly Enquirer is.

It is issued every Thursday, subscription price $1 per year, and it is one of the best home metropolitan weeklies of to-day. It has all the facilities of the great DAILY ENQUIRER for obtaining the world's events, and for that reason can give you all the leading news. It carries a great amount of valuable farm matter, crisp editorials and reliable up-to-date market reports. Its numerous departments make it a home farm or business man.

This grand offer is limited and we advise you to take advantage by subscribing for the above combination right now. Call or mail orders to

BOONE CO. RECORDER,
Burlington, Ky.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.

Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

Take your County paper.

GIRLS RAISE TURKEYS

Opportunity Offered to Earn Some Spending Money.

Bourbon Red Is Most Satisfactory Breed in Non-Wandering and Domestic Qualities—Flesh Is Fine-Grained and Tender.

(By MRS. M. A. DART.)

Every girl in the country today is reaching out in many directions anxious to earn a little money to spend as she chooses, and become to some extent independent of the family purse.

To those girls we would like to relate our own profitable experience with turkeys. If they desire to imitate it there is a fair field, and a comfortable purse at the end of the way.

We are extremely busy people. All through the summer season we go to the village two miles away, twice a day, with garden produce.

Therefore as we are away from home from 4 to 6 p. m. usually, it was necessary for us to choose a domestic breed of turkeys that would not wander off and that would come to the barn of their own accord at night.

We chose the Bourbon Red turkeys, and they have proved most satisfactory in their domestic and non-wandering qualities.

Probably the White Holland or the Buff turkeys would have answered our purpose equally well.

The Mammoth Bronze would not have done for us at all, for they are determined to wander and must be looked up and brought home after four o'clock every afternoon or Madame Turkey will sit down in the field with her brood, and perhaps become a prey to foxes before morning.

The male Reds are a dark-brownish or chestnut red in color, with white wings, and usually white feathers in the tail. The females are the same except a little lighter.

They are prolific layers, our flock of eight hen turkeys last season laid 400 eggs. They are fine fowl, the flesh being fine-grained, tender, plump and yellow.

They are of the best size for trade, averaging 10 to 14 pounds dressed. Few families now care for 18 and 20 pound birds.

The little poults are tender, and must be carefully tended for the first two months.

The prepared chick food are a boon to the turkey-raiser as well as the chick grower, and make an excellent food until the little ones are large enough to eat wheat.

Wheat-milk just dipped in milk and squeezed dry is a good food. Feed plenty of grit, oyster shells, old plastering, if you have it, charcoal and fresh water. Green stuff they must have.

Dandelion and onion tops, and lettuce are all good and seem to act as a tonic.

Keep the little fellows out of the rain and damp, keep them free from lice, and do not overfeed, and they will grow and thrive.

A very few lice will speedily kill little turks. Dust them with Persian insect powder, and if you see and head lice, put just a little vaseline or sweet cream on the heads.

HOUSE OF APPROVED STYLE

Warm, Well-Built Structure Is of Greatest Importance If Eggs Are Wanted in Cold Weather.

Next to the feed and a flock of good, purebred hens of a laying strain, a warm, well-built house is the greatest requisite if winter eggs are wanted. I am sending you a plan of my poultry house. This house will accommodate 150 to 200 hens, but an additional scratching shed should be provided for use on cold days when the flock cannot be turned out, says a Kansas writer in the Farmers' Mail and Breeze. The type of house provides more floor space for its size than any other kind I have seen. It also minimizes the labor in caring for the flock.

This house is 32 feet long, 16 feet wide, 5 feet high at the back, and 7 feet in front. It is the open front style of house with the open side facing the south. The four-foot opening in front is covered with wire netting and a muslin curtain is provided for use on cold and stormy nights.

A View of the End Section.

Everything about the house is arranged with an eye to convenience. The roost frame is hinged at the back and may be raised and hooked to the ceiling while cleaning. The dropping board directly underneath is also hinged to the wall, allowing it to be raised or lowered. The nests are placed beneath the dropping board.

Desirable Eggs.

The rising price of eggs again reminds us how nice an abundance of winter eggs would be. The best part of it is that we can have them for a little extra trouble.

Acetylene Light in a Modern Cow Barn

WE sell a great many Pilot Acetylene lighting plants to dairy farmers. Because dairy farmers can get even more out of an Acetylene installation than anybody else.

Our dairy farmer patrons make these Acetylene plants do double work. They run an extra line of pipe to each barn—and sometimes to other outbuildings. In these buildings they fasten the great balls of Acetylene light to timbers and rafters.

They also equip these lights with ignition devices—to make them light with the pull of a chain without matches.

Two of these Acetylene barn lights will make a big dairy barn as light as day. They will give more light than a dozen lanterns—and unlike lanterns, they cannot be tipped over.

The same is true of Acetylene house lights. They burn in handsome stationary bronze or brass fixtures securely fastened to ceilings or walls.

You can tell one of these Acetylene lighted dairy barns from the road—a quarter of a mile away. The light is extremely brilliant. It is also soft and white in color—so nearly like sunlight that scientists have used it with success to grow plants on an extensive scale.

These qualities make it a cheerful light. Unquestionably it helps to keep the whole household happy and contented. Weak, dingy, yellow lights, on the other hand, just as surely tend to make people dull spirited and gloomy.

That is why we say Acetylene light is a mighty big help towards keeping the country boys and girls from drifting to the city.

Acetylene is too a boon to the women folks in another way. In addition to the beauty of the light it brings to the country home a great convenience in the gas cooking stove.

For acetylene can be and is used in gas cooking ranges in thousands of country homes, just as its cousin, city gas, is used in millions of city homes.

In every one of these homes the gas range has shortened cooking hours and has done entirely away with the drudgery of handling coal, wood and ashes.

You will be intensely interested in the simple mechanism of the Pilot which makes it different from all others in principle.

Its patent safety features have made it quite "trouble proof." They have given such perfect satisfaction that we have been able to sell no less than sixty thousand Pilot plants in fifteen years.

With these sixty thousand plants working incessantly in country homes, undergoing all kinds of misuse and abuse, we have only heard of two accidents. During the same period there has been over one hundred thousand accidents charged to other illuminants.

For this reason the Engineers of the National Board of Insurance underwriters called Acetylene safer than any illuminant it commonly displaces.

We would very much like to give you a free demonstration of the working of "the Pilot plant." For this purpose we have a portable plant which we can bring to your home. Or if you wish we will be pleased to mail you our advertising books containing the whole story of Acetylene. Just drop a card to—

PILOT LIGHTING PLANTS
HOME MADE ACETYLENE
FOR LIGHTING COOKING

G. J. GRUBBS
WALTON, KY.
Salesman
OXWELD ACETYLENE CO.
CHICAGO

BEEF FROM SOUTH AMERICA.

New York, Dec. 7.—For many months and probably years beef is to be brought from South America, and for the present principally from Argentina to the United States, probably as many as 24,000 quarters a month. The movement of beef from Argentina to the United States is one of the immediate results of the new tariff law. Beef now comes in free. The amount which has already been imported has been so quickly absorbed by the markets as to furnish a perfect demonstration of the accuracy contained in the statement persistently made by the beef packers that the chief cause of high prices of beef is due to the fact that the supply in the United States has not been equal to the demand. Yet only a few years ago this country was exporting beef on the hoof or chilled and frozen to Europe, and the exportation was one of the principal items of magnitude in our international trade.

We have lost this business because we have not beef cattle enough to feed our own people. Large as have been the recent importations of Argentina beef, they have not yet caused any reduction in the price. Still it is probable that the importation served to prevent an increase in the price of beef, and that the promise of long-continued importations will put an end to the apprehension that the choicer cuts of beef will be bought only by the rich, because they will demand as high a price as $1 a pound.

INDIGESTION OVERCOME

Overcome by Simple Remedy.

Hurried and careless habits of eating, irregular meals and foods that do not harmonize, tend to weaken the digestive organs and result in different forms of stomach trouble.

If you are one of the unfortunates who have drifted into this condition, eat simple foods only, slowly, regularly and take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic.

Mrs. H. J. Smith, Thomasville, Ga., says: "I suffered from a stomach trouble, was tired, worn out and nervous. A friend advised me to take Vinol. My stomach trouble soon disappeared and now I eat heartily and have a perfect digestion and I wish every tired, weak woman could have Vinol, for I never spent any money in my life that did me so much good."

The recovery of Mrs. Smith was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements of the cods' livers—aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron, which are contained in Vinol. We will return the purchase money every time Vinol fails to benefit.

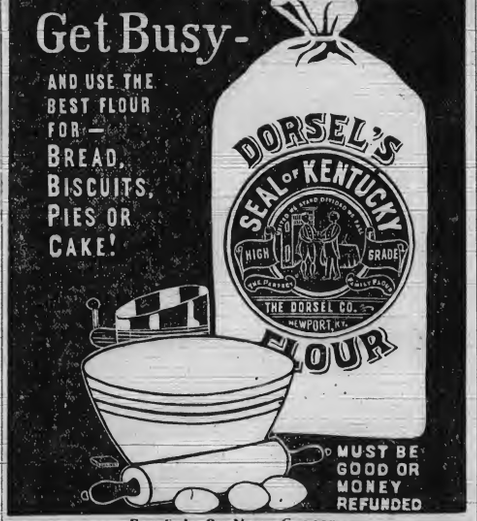
P. S. Our Saxo Salve stops itching and begins healing at once.

Robert W. Jones, Druggist, Walton

WANTED—A good, steady, farm hand by the month or year to begin work at once or soon as possible. Good house and good wages guaranteed to right party. Apply to or address J. W. EWBANKS, Brashear, Ky.

The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO.

Erlanger, Ky.



Has come to stay and is ready for business and will keep on hand at all times a good supply of

Raymond City and Plymouth Coal

in yard and on car at the Lowest Prices Possible, and guarantee 80 lbs. to the bushel. Will also handle Cannel Coal, Kentucky Simi-Candle and Worley Block, and Peidmont strictly blaeksmithing Coal.

Your patronage solicited.

The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO
Erlanger, Kentucky.

For Sale By Your Grocer.

Rogers Bros. General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade.

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN,
DENTIST.

will be at Burlington on the first and second Monday, and in Union on the third and fourth Monday of each month, prepared and qualified to practice according to the latest methods extracting teeth painless.

All work guaranteed.

FOR SALE

Good Steinway Piano. Apply to Dr. B. A. DULANEY, Florence, Ky.

FIFTY-SECOND SEMI-ANNUAL STATEMENT OF THE

Boone County Deposit Bank

Burlington, Kentucky

At Close of Business December 31, 1912.

RESOURCES.		LIABILITIES.
Loans, Bonds, &c....	$170,858.50	Capital Stock.....	$ 30,000.00
Overdrafts.....	52.81	Surplus.....	45,000.00
Due from Banks.....	38,391.04	Undivided Profits, &c	7,581.49
Cash.....	7,711.80	Deposits.....	136,591.33
Banking House, &c..	3,000.00	Due Banks.....	841.31
Total.....	$220,014.15	Total.....	$220,014.15

A Bank that is going after business, and going in the right way.

HOW? By promptness in serving its customers.
By courteous attention to their banking needs.
By readiness in meeting their requirements, and, above all
By perfect security of the funds intrusted to its care, having over $100.000.00 to secure depositors.
We have the largest Capital and Surplus of any Bank in this county, and are amply able to accommodate our patrons, and are willing at all times to afford them every accommodation justified by the rules of good and safe banking, whether their accounts are large or small.

N. E. RIDDELL, President. J. C. REVILL, Cashier.

J. F. KIESWETTER,

RUGS MADE of OLD CARPETS

Compressed Air Carpet Cleaning.
TELEPHONE SOUTH 21.
250 PIKE STREET,
Covington, - - - Ky.

M. RIDDELL, Agent, Burlington, Ky.

ADAMS

A New Victrola $75

A Cabinet Style Victrola combining a record cabinet for only $75.00. Same perfect, mellow tone quality of the most expensive Victrola, same elegant finish.

Easy Monthly Payments.

A. ADAMS,
15 Pike Street,
Covington, - - Ky.

The Cincinnati Grain Co.

HAVE OPENED THEIR NEW HOUSE AT ERLANGER, KY.

FREE PHONE ERLANGER 49

Handle Hay, Grain, Flour and Feed of all Kinds.
Will Also Buy Your Wheat, Rye, Etc.

Special Notice—We are selling at city prices, consequently can save you the long haul from Covington and Cincinnati.

GIVE US A TRIAL.

FARM MOTORS

For Pumping, Operating Churns, Saws, Corn Shredders, Filling Silos, Etc.

Last a Lifetime. From 1¼ to 25 h. p. $33 and up.

Ready To Run.

Direct Factory Representatives
SPENCER-HARTLIEB CO.
316-318 MAIN STREET
CINCINNATI, OHIO
Phone, 1810 Main

Read Our Big Combination Offer.

WALTON.

Miss Myrtle Preeden, of Glencoe, was here on business last Friday.

Mrs. H. R. Dixon spent part of Saturday and Sunday in Cincinnati and Covington visiting friends.

John Mylor, of Warsaw, was here last Thursday and Friday and in the Union and Beaverlick neighborhood looking for mules.

For Sale—Duroc Jersey male hog, nine months old, weighs 225 pounds. Eligible to registry. Cheap. P. E. Farrell, Verona, Ky.

Dr. A. N. Jones and brother R. W. Jones spent part of last week at Louisville on business and visiting their brother Dr. R. M. Jones.

Rev. L. M. Ballentyne, of George town, Ky., passed through here Saturday enroute to Union where he held services Sunday as pastor of that church.

Mrs. Chas. E. Strother and daughter Miss Myra and their guest Miss Opal Holbrook spent part of last week in Cincinnati the guests of Dr. Meguire and family.

John Stamler, J. L. Vest, J. G. Tomlin and D. B. Wallace spent last Tuesday in Paris, Bourbon county, attending the session of the Bourbon circuit court as witnesses.

Rev. T. C. Stackhouse, of Lexington, passed thru here Saturday enroute to Warsaw where he is engaged as pastor of the Baptist church where he holds services monthly.

Walton Masonic Lodge will have work in the Fellowcraft degree Friday, Dec. 12th, at 7 o'clock p. m., when Rev. H. C. Wayman, Geo. E. Nicholson and Prof. J. L. Chambers will be advanced to the Fellowcraft degree.

R. F. DeMoisey, the rural mail carrier, has been granted a two weeks' vacation by the postoffice department and Dr. C. C. Metcalfe and his estimable wife attended to his duties part of last week and this.

John L. Vest, R. D. Stamler and Rev. A. K. Johnson attended the Masonic Lodge at Dry Ridge last Monday night and assisted in raising three members of the Dry Ridge Lodge to the sublime degree of master Masons.

The Young Women's No Name Culb was exquisitely entertained with a Rook party at the home of Judge and Mrs. J. G. Tomlin last Thursday night, when a very happy evening was spent by the guests to the number of about fifteen.

L. G. Cummings, a prominent and popular citizen of Kenton county, was here last week on business. Mr. Cummings has just completed a handsome residence on his farm, and nearly all of the material was furnished by Walton dealers.

W. L. Sturgeon and wife and Mrs. Louisa Stephenson had as guests last week the latters two daughters and granddaughter viz, Mrs. Joe Fisher, of Verona, Mrs. Ella Harris, of Covington, Ky., and Mrs. Goldie Stoehr and little son Edward, of Connersville, Ind.

A. M. Edwards purchased the tract of land now occupied by the G. W. Maines saw mill plant from Mrs. America Norman, P. S. Norman and Harry Norman. The tract contains several acres and possession is to be given next May, when the lease of Mr. Maines expires.

The Epworth League of the Methodist church will have a special meeting Sunday, Dec. 14, at 7 o'clock p. m. Several members will be received and Rev. C. J. Nugent will preach to the young people of the town. Special music. All are most cordially invited to be present.

Sunday evening, Rev. H. C. Wayman devoted the greater part of the services to the question of tuberculosis, which was discussed at length by Dr. G. C. Rankins, Dr. B. K. Menefee and Hon. J. G. Tomlin. The subject was well handled by these gentlemen and those who attended were amply repaid for their attendance.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. James Baird, at their home in Sadieville, Tuesday, Dec. 2nd, a fine daughter. Mrs. Baird has been dangerously ill with euremic poisoning and Dr. G. C. Rankins, of Walton, was called there in consultation with Dr. Baird, who has charge of the case. Mrs. Baird was formerly of this place, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Benson.

Walton Lodge K. of P. held their annual election of officers at their regular meeting last Thursday night. The following officers were elected:

C. C.—T. F. Curley;
V. C.—S. W. Bevarly;
M. of A.—W. C. Moxley;
Prelate—W. D. Kennedy;
Master of Work—E. Smoot;
K. of R. & S.—S. L. Edwards;
Master Exchequer—W. O. Rouse;
Inner Guard—C. Neumeister;
Outer Guard—E. M. Johnson;
Trustees—Wm. Dixon; D. B. Wallace, R. D. Stamler;
D. G. C.—E. McElroy.

(Walton news on 1st page.)

Walton Feed and Seed Company.

—o—

Why go to Cincinnati to buy your feed such as

Hay of all kinds, Mill Feed, Brand, Alfalfa, Chop Feed, Corn (shelled or on the ear,) Oats, Flour and Corn Meal.

We buy on Change and can give you Cincinnati prices; also handle Seed of all kinds at the Lowest Prices.

Write us. Will quote you prices on car lots or less.

DIERS & BEST, Walton, Ky.

FREE. FREE.

BRING THE CHILDREN IN FOR FREE CHRISTMAS CANDY.

GIFTS FOR Grandmother and Mother

Coats
Skirts
Silk Scarfs
Gloves
New Dress
Counterpanes
Lace Curtains
Kamonas
Blankets
Comforts
Neckwear
Handkerchiefs
Umbrellas
Hosiery
Shoes
Slippers
Handbags
Sweaters
Purses
Petticoats
Fancy China
Pretty Waists
Underwear
Napkins
Tablecloths
Auto Hoods
Combs Barrettes
Linen Towels

FOR BROTHER.

Gloves
Bathrobe
Sweater
Umbrella
Fancy Dress Shirt
Neckwear
Fancy Sox
Fancy Suspenders
Shoes
Underwear
Flannel Shirts
Cap
Rain Coat
Hat

Save Money and Trouble

DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING HERE.

H. Schanker & Son,

Cor. Lexington Pike & Garvey Ave., Erlanger, Ky.

Why go to town over Rough Roads and Muddy Roads when you can Find the Same Variety of Complete Winter and Christmas Merchandise HERE AT CHEAPER PRICES.

BELOW ARE SOMT OF OUR MANY SPECIALS FOR THIS CHRISTMAS MONTH

Many Gifts Here 10c

Glassware. Salt and Pepper. Aluminumware. Box Paper. Jewelry. Dolls. Vanity Bags. Purses. Childs Sets, Knife, Fork and Spoon.

UNDERWEAR.

Misses' and Boys' extra weight 38c value; sizes 2 to 14 ..... 25c

29c Ladies' Underwear, heavy fleece, all sizes 25c

Ladies extra heavy weight, bleached Underwear. 50c quality 39c

Children's Union Suits All sizes 25c

Children's Union Suits, extra heavy weight 49c

Ladies' Union Suits, 75c qualities 49c

Setsnug Union Suits, $1.50 qualities, all sizes 98c

SWEATER SPECIAL.

$1.50 Value, all colors for Men, Women and Children 98c

$2.50 Sweaters for Ladies or Men, all colors. A bargain $1.45

Special Flannelette House Dresses, all colors, made full, all sizes, all colors 98c

Many Gifts Here 25c.

Neckwear. Pictures. Sewing Sets. Jabots. Plates. Fancy China. Suspenders. Handkerchiefs. Gloves. Dolls. Pocket Knives.

MEN'S CLOTHING.

$10 Youths' Long Pants Suits, sizes 14 to 18 only, all wool, beautiful patterns $3.98

$15 Men's Suits in newest shades of Brown, Blue, Grey, strictly all-wool Worsteds $9.90

$10 Men's Suits, beautiful paterns, all pure worsted $7.98

SPECIAL PANTS SALE.

Boys' Corduroy Pants. $1 value 69c

$3.50 Men's Corduroy Pants. Special value $2.49

$3.00 Men's Corduroy Special $1.98

$3.00 Men's Pants, all wool, beautiful pattern. Special $1.98

$2.50 Men's Pants. Special value $1.49

1 Lot Pants. Special 98c

BOYS' SUITS.

$3.00 Value, all colors. sizes 4 to 16. Special $1.98

$5.00 Suist $2.98

Children's Rain Coats $1.39, $1.69, $1.98

Ladies' and Men's Rain Coats, guaranteed to turn water ..... $3.98 and $4.98

Many Gifts Here 49c.

Hand Bags. Purses. China Ware. Autohoods. Hosiery. Plates. Silk Scarfs. Wine Sets. Jewel Boxes. Neckwear.

SHOES.

Specials this month in all our guaranteed lines of Shoes.

Men's Shoes ..... $1.39 up
Children's Shoes ..... 25c up
Ladies' Shoes ..... 98c up

SPECIAL BARGAINS In Dress Materials.

19 and 25c Cotton Worsteds, makes dandy childrens dresses; specias this month 12½c

25c Materials, all colors for skirts and Dresses 18c

All Wool Serge, 1 yd. wide, all colors, yd. 49c

50 inch All Wool Serge, $1.50 value all colors; sponged and spot proof 98c

BLANKETS and COMFORTS

$1.00 Full Size Blankets 79c

$2.50 Wool Nap Blankets $1.69

$3.50 Wool Nap Blankets $2.49

$6.50 All Wool Blankets, full 12-4 size, all colors $4.98

G. D. Justrite Corsets.

FREE. FREE.

A Beautiful Bureau Scarf FREE with every $5.00 Purchase During Christmas Month.

GIFTS FOR Grandfather and Father

New Suit
Shoes
Hat
Dress Shirt
Sweaters
Flannel Shirts
Rain Coats
Gloves
Ties
Handkerchiefs
Cashmere Sox
Suspenders
Fancy Sox
Umbrellas
Cuff Buttons
Purse
Hat or Cap
Underwear
Hose Supporters
Felt Boots
Gum Boots

Gifts for Sweetheart or Sister.

Art Linens
Comb and Brush Sets
Fancy China
Silk Scarf
Hoisiery
Fancy Collar
Shoes
Dress
Rain Coat
Hand Bag
Bureau Set
Purses
Jewel Boxes
Shoes—Soft Soles
Sweater
Hosiery
Dolls
Hostery
Bootees
Caps

Free! Free!

Save Your Sales Checks.

A Beautiful Bureau Scarf FREE with every $5.00 Purchase During Christmas month.

We Carry A Full Stock of Pictorial Review Patterns.

H. Schanker & Son

Cor. Lexington Pike and Garvey Avenue,

Elsmere, Kentucky.

Free! Free!

Save Your Sales Checks.

A Beautiful Bureau Scarf FREE with every $5.00 Purchase During Christmas month.

USEFUL PRESENTS

A pair of our gold Glasses makes a useful and beautiful reminder for the holidays.

We also have Gold Eyeglass, Chains and Opera Glasses—all at reasonable prices.

N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,

613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

Phone, South 1746.

Union Creamery Company

UNION, KENTUCKY

Pays the highest possible price for Butter Fat in whole milk and hand separated cream. Honest tests and weights guaranteed.

A. L. Mallett, :: Manager.

Phone, Consolidated No. 40.

JONES' DRUG STORE,

WALTON, KENTUCKY,

Is "OLD SANTAS" Headquarters this time. The Newest, Best and Biggest Assortment ever of

Holiday Creations

Don't fail to see this Big Collection of Novelties, &c. The things that are just right for Christmas Presents.

You'll Find the Prices too, are Right.

Extraordinary Values

At DINE'S 530-32 Madison Ave. Covington, Ky.

During The Month Of December

Business Success for 28 Yrs There Must Be a Reason.

Here is an offer that should especially appeal to those who are going to furnish their home complete.

HANDSOME

Two-In. Post Brass Bed

Free With Every Purchase of $125.00 or More

It is handsome in appearance and is finished in a guaranteed lacquer, furnished in either satin or polished finish.

Dine's Sanitary Couch Bargain

Built of heavy angle steel, wire fabric and highly tempered Premier Helicals. Can be made large enough for two persons $2.98

This is a picture of our Auto Truck, which delivers your FURNITURE in perfect condition.

NO FREIGHT. NO BREAKAGE.

518-520 York Street, Newport, Ky.

DINE'S

FURNITURE HOUSE.

530-532 Madison Av. Covington, Ky

For Sale—Fresh cow and calf. Apply to Samuel Hall, Burlington R. D. 1.

For Sale—Two Jersey heifers, will be fresh in February. Apply to W. C. Weaver, Burlington R. D. 2.

For Sale—No. 1 Stevens breech loading double barrel shot gun. Apply to Lloyd Weaver, Burlington R. D. 2.

For Sale—Good cow boy saddle. Apply to D. E. Brafford, Burlington R. D. 1.

Tuesday was a most beautiful winter day.

Subscribe for Your County Paper.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXXVIIII. Established 1875. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1913. $1.50 Per Year. NO. 12.

Headquarters For Christmas Supplies!

Our every day prices are Special Prices. You get more and better Groceries here for your money than anywhere else you may go. Our Candy, Nuts, Oranges, Fruits, Etc., will suit your taste and your pocket book.

CANDY.

Assorted Chocolate Drops, delicious, like others sell for 15c to 20c per lb.....12c
Assorted Cocoanut Bon Bons, chocolate covered, red and white, the best you ever tasted, per pound.....12c
Honey Maples, wrapped with good maple and cocoanut, flavor—they are delicious, per pound.....12c
Molasses Kisses, wrapped, per lb.....12c
Grocers Mixed, good assorted candy, per pound.....6½c
Chop Mixed, hard, clear crisp candy, per pound.....8c
Taffy Mixed, those large pieces of good assorted varieties, peanut, taffy, &c., per pound.....8c
Large Gum Drops, per pound.....10c
Favorite Gum Drops, soft and good quality, per pound.....15c
Common Gum Drops, per pound.....6½c
Peanut Rock or peanut brittle per lb....9c
French Cream Bon Bons, per pound.....9c
3 pounds for.....25c
Princess Hand made Creams, assorted, very fine, worth 20c, per pound.....15c
Jap Mixed, Japanese designs, per lb...15c
Cream Dates, per pound.....15c
Plain Kisses, per pound.....10c
French Kisses, per pound.....12c
Mint or Wintergreen Lozenges, per lb..12c
Plain Stick Candy, 2 pound pkg.....15c
Twisted Stick Candy, 2 pound box.....18c
Fancy Chocolate Creams, per pound...25c
5 lb. Box Fancy Hand made, mixed, per box.....90c

This candy is all fresh, made and just turned out. No stale, summer goods. Call or mail your orders.

Best Groceries, Best Prices.

ARCADE FLOUR—the kind that people tell their neighbors about. You can buy other flour for less money but you can't get as good as this for any money.
Let us prove—
A barrel.....$5.50
24 lb. Cotton Bag.....70c

HARD WHEAT CREAM—
The Perfect Bread Flour.....$5.50

GOLDEN BLEND COFFEE—The thousands of pounds of this Coffee sold every month and its increasing popularity speaks louder for it than anything we can say A POUND.....25c

California Evaporated Peaches, 3 lbs...25c
25 pound box....$2.00
Fancy Dried Apples, 3 pounds.....25c
Fancy California Prunes, per pound...10c
Saur Kraut, 15 gallon keg.....$4.25
10 gallon keg.....$2.75
Granulated Sugar, per 100 pounds..$4.50
Navy Beans, 3 quarts.....25c per peck.....60c
Pure Italian Olive Oil, per quart...75c
3 Cans hand-packed Tomatoes for...25c
3 Cans Cornello Corn for.....25c
3 Cans Ohio Sugar Corn for.....18c
3 Cans String Beans for.....25c
3 Cans Sweet Potatoes for.....25c
3 Cans Baked Beans.....25c
3 Cans Early June Peas.....25c
3 Cans Pie Peaches.....25c
3 Cans Lye Hominy.....25c
Mignonette Extra Sifted Peas, 2 cans..25c
Farm Brand California Asparagus Tips.11c
Alto Tall Can California Asparagus, three cans.....50c
Extra Petit Pais Peas—very small and young, can.....22c
California Peaches, can.....15c
Heinz Mince Meat, a pound.....20c
Atmores' Mince Meat, 3 pounds for....25c
Sweet Pickles, three dozen for.....25c
Fancy Red Salmon, a can.....15c
Fancy Pink Salmon—best grade, 3 cans25c
Fancy Queen Olives, quart.....35c

Come in and look over our stock—we have the best of everything.

Nuts, Fruits, Etc.

Fancy Mixed Nuts—the good kind like we always have, per pound.....17c
Jumbo Pecans, 3 pounds for.....50c
Large Brazils, or Cream Nuts, per lb..21c
Medium Brazils or Cream nuts per lb..18c
Drake Almonds, per pound.....19c
Sicily Filberts, per pound.....15c
California Walnuts, per pound.....20c
French Walnuts, per pound.....17½c
Peanuts, per quart.....5c
Cocoanuts, each.....5 to 10c
Salted Peanuts, per pound.....15c
Fancy Florida Oranges, sweet and juicy, all sizes, per dozen.....10 to 30c
By the Box, small size $2.25 to $2.50
Fancy Wine Sap Apples, peck.....60c
Fancy Grape Fruit.....5 to 8c
Fancy Bananas, per dozen.....15 to 20c
Cranberries, per quart.....10c
Shelled Pecans, halves, per pound.....60c
Shelled Walnuts, per pound.....55c
Shelled Almonds, per pound.....60c
Beechnut Peanut Butter, jar...10, 15, 25c
14 lb. Pail Peanut Butter, per lb.....15c
Fancy Imported Citron, per pound.....20c
Fancy Lemon and Orange Peel, per lb.20c
New Persian Dates, per pound.....09c
3 lbs. for.....25c
Fancy Layer Figs, per pound.....15c
Fancy Layer Malaga Raisins, per lb...25c
London Layer Raisins, per pound.....12c
Dromedary Dates, per pound.....10c
New Seeded Raisins, per pound.....10c
Fancy Malaga Grapes, per pound.....20c

We guarantee everything to be just as represented or your money back.

Miscellaneous Items.

We carry a full line of Poultry Supplies—Pratts, Hess, Conkey's, Germozone, Roup and Cholera Cure, Grit Oyster Shell, Meat Scrap, Bone Meal, Alfalfa Meal, Lice Powder, Liquid Lice Killer, Bulbs, Gold Fish, Globes, also the largest and best selected stock of Field and Garden seed in Northern Kentucky. Our seeds this past year gave fine satisfaction. Alfalfa, Red Clover, Timothy, Blue Grass, Sweet Clover, Lime and Sulphur for Spraying per barrel.....$9.00
Deep Sea Oysters 3 cans.....25c
New York Full Cream Cheese lb.....20c
Best Oyster Crackers, pound.....08c
All 10c Cereals and Breakfast Foods, three for.....25c
Old Dutch Cleanser 2 for.....15c
Ivory, Fels Naptha, P. & G. Naptha—bar.....04c
Pure Cream Tartar Baking Powder, per pound.....30c
Hawaian Sliced Pineapple, large can..22½c
Dried Lima Beans, pound.....7½c
Sulphur, per pound.....05c
Epsom Salts, per pound.....05c
Glauber Salts, per pound.....05c
Pinkham's Compound, bottle.....74c
Costoria, bottle.....23c
Kings Discovery, bottle.....39c
Colgates Dental Cream, bottle.....19c
Sal Hepatica, bottle.....19c
1 lb. Bottle Peroxide Hydrogen.....20c
Quinine, one ounce Bottle.....50c
Bells Pine Tar Honey.....19c
Tetlows Swan Down, bottle.....13c
Diamond Dyes, package.....08c
William's Shaving Soap, cake.....05c
Papes Diapepsin.....39c

We Can Save You Money on Anything You Want.

Write, Call or Telephone Your Wants.

Phones South 335-336

Goode & Dunkie

WHOLESALE & RETAIL
Groceries-Flour-Seeds-Medicines
19-21 Pike St. or 18-20 W. 7th St.,
Covington, Kentucky.

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

ERLANGER.

Mrs. G. A. Holton and daughter Lelah are visiting friends in Dry Ridge.

A book shower will be held the 18th for the benefit of the public school.

Dr. and Mrs. Blackerby have as their guest Miss Mable Blackerby, of Falmouth.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Snyder, of Burlington, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gaines.

Miss Anna Mae Bugal, of Price Hill, spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Norma Geiger.

Dr. and Mrs. James Adams, of Ft. Mitchell, were Sunday guests of his mother Mrs. Wm. Adams.

Mrs. W. J. Mills entertained for the O. E. S. Sewing Circle. Those present were Mesdames George Roth, H. C. Collins, C. B. Slater, M. J. Mitchell, C. W. Gurney, Lon Victor, Fisher and Miss Anna Gurney.

PT. PLEASANT.

Pt. Pleasant S. S. is preparing for a Xmas entertainment.

J. A. Tanner and wife entertained with a big dinner last Sunday.

Thomas Ross has broken the ground for his next crop of tobacco.

Allie Walton and wife, of Hebron, were guests of his brother Phelps and wife, last Friday.

Mrs. Howard Tanner and daughter spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mrs. Malchus Souther.

Rev. Keller, of Lexington, preached a very interesting sermon at the Christian church last Friday night.

VERONA.

A. C. Roberts is shipping a lot of turkeys to the Cincinnati market this week.

Mrs. Whitley Preston and infant child are quite poorly of typhoid fever.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris Moore, of Elliston, spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Roberts.

Bob Roberts, four miles west of Verona, is confined to his bed with cancer of the stomach.

The Baptist Sunday school will give a snow house at New Bethel church on the evening of the 24th.

Geo. W. Roberts wants to buy 10 good mules that have just been weaned. Call him up or write him at Verona.

The music class of Verona school in charge of Miss Rose Whitson will give a recital in the M. E. church Monday evening, Dec. 22d. The program will consist of instrumental and vocal music interspersed with readings by Miss Irene Hudson. Admission 10 cents; Children under six free.

LIMABURG.

Hog killing was the order last week.

Mrs. A. G. Beemon has bought a piano.

Lewis Beemon contemplates going South this week.

Chester Tanner has purchased a farm from W. L. B. Rouse.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Davis and family have gone to their new home in Mercer county.

Mrs. Geo. Baker and Miss Mae Farrell spent Friday with Mrs. Baker's daughter, Mrs. Dora Weaver.

GASBURG.

This reporter and wife passed the 46th anniversary of their marriage Nov. 21st.

Bernard Berkshire had a very sick horse, Sunday. Dr. Martin, of Aurora, attended it.

Our old family horse "Dick" now in his 31st year, got entangled in a wire fence and was badly cut on one of his legs.

A very large crop of corn was raised in this vicinity the past season. A good part of it was bought by farmers in the upper Belleview bottoms.

This reporter and wife attended the funeral of Mrs. Bessie Weber Frasier at Aurora, Friday. She died at her home in Seymour, Indiana, on the 10th of heart trouble.

PETERSBURG.

Miss Lula Edwards was in Cincinnati, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ruth, of Cincinnati, are visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Jule Hoffman visited Mrs. Ben Hensley at Flickertown, last Sunday.

Mrs. J. B. Berkshire and daughter, Miss Lucille, shopped in Cincinnati, Friday.

Ray Edwards of the Ozark mountains, visited his sister Miss Lula Edwards, last week.

Mrs. E. T. Krutz and Mrs. E. L. Helms were shopping in Cincinnati one day last week.

The Ladies Missionary Society of the M. E. church met at the home of Mrs. Lewis Gesler, Sunday.

Miss Alice Berkshire has returned from Eaton, Ind., where she was employed the last two months.

Mrs. Eva McWethy and son Emerson have returned from Xenia, Ohio, where they were the guests of Miss Hazel McWethy.

Rev. Waggoner, of Lawrenceburg, preached a very interesting sermon at the Christian church, Sunday afternoon. The subject being "Christian Character." He was accompanied by Rev. Fred R. Davies, who also gave a very interesting talk.

FLORENCE.

Chas. Tanner's baby has been very sick.

Mr. Joe Lale is seriously sick, Mrs. Lale is better.

The Friendship Club met with Mrs. Lee Whitson Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Sydnor entertained Bro. Douglas Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Mallie Beemon and Miss Mae Ewing visited Mrs. Sallie Fulton, Friday.

Miss Nell Snow, of Devon, was a pleasant guest of Miss Coreta Tanner, Saturday and Sunday.

The Ladies Missionary Society of the Baptist church will give a pie and cake sale, Saturday afternoon, at C. W. Myer's store. Come and buy.

Lost—A gold bar pin set with three turquoise, between Florence and Erlanger. Finder return to B. Bramlage, Erlanger, and receive reward.

GUNPOWDER.

Mrs. J. P. Tanner is numbered among the sick.

L. H. Busby went to Erlanger on business last Saturday.

E. Tanner went to Covington on business, last Friday.

Mrs. J. H. Tanner was the guest of Mrs. Floyd last Monday.

Nearly everybody took advantage of the fine weather last week and killed their hogs.

George Miller came out from Erlanger last Monday and did some work on his farm.

Ernest Horton sold four hogs to Morgan Mitchell at Erlanger last week for 9½ cents per pound.

Dr. L. E. Rouse and family, of Ludlow, visited friends in the Union neighborhood last Sunday.

Geo. Hines and Edo Rouse are in Lawis county prospecting with the view of moving there in the spring.

The Cincinnati Grain Company is still delivering corn to parties at Belleview, a section of the county which use to produce an abundance of corn to sell to the outside world. What has become of the farming talent that use to be found in that bailiwick?

UNION.

Mrs. J. J. Garrison has returned home.

W. W. Conner has been very ill for several days.

Mrs. J. L. Frazier has been very ill the past week.

The many friends are sorry to hear of Mrs. Mat Allen's illness.

Lewis Beemon and family were guests of friends here Saturday night.

Miss Nannie Burkett visited friends in Cincinnati, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Asbury, of Petersburg, were guests of relatives here Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Graddy were the guests at J. A. Huey's last Tuesday night.

Clifford Ryle, of Rabbit Hash, was the guest of Harry Riley Monday night.

The lecture delivered by Rev. J. Ballentyne was well attended and a success financially.

J. B. Respass spent Tuesday night with J. T. Bristow, coming out to attend the Masonic meeting.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian church spent a day with Mrs. B. L. Cleek, one day last week.

Miss Abbie Stephens, of Kansas City, spent several days with her cousins, Mrs. J. T. Bristow and Miss Eugenia Riley.

Miss Fanny Smith and Joseph Wilson were married at the residence of Rev. J. S. Wilson in La-Grange, last Wednesday.

Union Masonic Lodge will give a box social on the night of the 27th. All are invited to come and bring well filled boxes.

The Masonic lodge here had the pleasure of entertaing the Grand Master and Grand Senior Deacon on the evening of the 9th, also the team of Covington Lodge, which conferred the Master's degree on Mr E. T. Rice. The Masons were then invited to the Hall where a delightful supper was served by the wives and daughters of the Masons.

A great many hogs were butchered during the past week, which was as fine weather as one should desire for that kind of work

IDLEWILD.

Boone Ryle is clerking for L. C. Scothorn.

Misses Lizzie and Bess Stevens spent Friday in Lawrenceburg.

Mrs. W. Lee Cropper and son, Carrol, were shopping in Cincinnati, Saturday.

Mrs. T. C. Masters' small son, Thomas Clark, is very ill with pneumonia. Dr. H. H. Hays is the attending physician.

Messrs. Ira Lee Thompson and Harry Carter and Miss Lela Thompson were the weeks-end guests of Miss Maud Asbury.

Mrs. B. B. Grant entertained charmingly Saturday at her pleasant country home in honor of her son, Mr. Chester Grant and bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Asbury went to Union, Tuesday, to see their kinswoman, Mrs. Rachel Rice, who is slowly recovering from the effects of a severe fall received several weeks ago.

Mr. Chester Grant and Miss Lucile May Cropper, only and charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Cropper, of Bullittsville, were united in marriage Thursday afternoon at the bride's home. After enjoying a delightful lunch the wedding party left for Cincinnati in a shower of rice, old shoes and good wishes.

FLICKERTOWN.

Chas. Akin is able to be out again.

Mr. Let Nichols is in a very feeble condition.

Hog killing is almost done in this neighborhood.

Denis Hoffman and family are visiting at Ben Hensley's.

James W. White called on his brother, Clay, at Lawrenceburg, Sunday.

The Black Leg has broken out again. Homer Grant host some animals of it recently.

Sam Johnson is moving his saw mill from Ashby to near Burlington. Wm. Hewitt is helping him.

Mrs. J. W. White and daughter, Alice, visited in Cincinnati and Newport from Friday until Sunday.

Get your ice houses ready to be filled at the first opportunity

The Man in the White House.

President Wilson's administration has proceeded far enough to enable the public to determine the point of view from which he examines public questions and, to his credit, it may be said that it is exactly the point of view from which he promised to examine public questions. First as to the matter of appointments. He has looked at applications for office with a view to securing efficiency. He has not been lacking in appreciation of political services rendered during the campaign; but, true to his theory that the welfare of all the people should be placed above favors to a few, he has insisted that no one should aspire to a position who is not able to fill it to the satisfaction of the public.

It is not always easy to turn down the application of a loyal and zealous supporter, but this is often necessary for obligations of support are not necessarily reciprocal; that is, a man does not necessarily earn an office by supporting one who exercises appointing power. It is only fair to assume that a citizen in casting his vote and in exerting himself on behalf of a candidate is actuated by a desire to advance the public welfare and to secure the enactment and enforcement of laws that will promote the general good. If that is true, he is fully repaid when the person he supports uses his influence to advance the principles and policies to which he was pledged. A man who would, before election demand the promise of an office before doing campaign work, would be regarded as unfit for the office. Why, then, should he after the election, make his commendation of the official dependent upon his receiving individual reward?

It is not meant to convey the idea that political services should not count; they ought to count. Appointees should, as far as possible, have fitness plus political merit. But this does not justify appointments where one has political merit without fitness. It is not to be expected that the president will be able to avoid mistakes in his attempts to combine political reward with a scrupulous regard for the needs of the public service. It must be remembered that the president can not know personally any large percentage of the great number of persons appointed. He must rely upon information furnished him, and even those who are most trustworthy may advise unwisely, first, because they can not be personally acquainted with all applicants, and second, because they may yield to the temptation to reward personal friends of personal supporters to the exclusion of more deserving men. As to appointments generally, it will be conceded that the president has succeeded as well as any well-informed person would have hoped.—Commoner.

Farm and Home.

In a few years the use of cement will greatly increase in the country districts. Fence posts, hog and chicken troughs etc, will be made from cement

Now is the time to get up the rock upon the land you intend to cultivate next year. Haul them off after the land freezes. Put them upon the ridges where they can be gotten at as they are becoming more valuable each year.

For several years past the poultry business has been one of the best farm money makers, but like the hog raising business preparation must be made to raise feed and to furnish grain fields, rape patches, etc, for forage and grazing.

Whether you make money out of poultry, hogs or cattle, one thing to learn first for success and that is that all must be well kept.

The State colleges of the nation have all decided that ground lime stone rock sown upon the soil inoculates it so that alfalfa may be grown. This is a pointer for the farmers of Kentucky who can raise alfalfa has solved the high cost of feeding.

Nitrate of soda used upon the corn crop this last plowing will cause it to ear out well. Sow two hundred pounds per acre but do not sow upon the corn.

A real good, clever, good natured neighbor is a fine thing to have but they are scarce.

The poor old orchard is the most neglected spot upon our farms. Unless sprayed, cultivated and pruned there will be no crop raised.

It has been decided that stock farms are the most productive when put to crop.

Lots and stalls for your stock will pay. Save grass for summer season. turn on it after it gets a good start.

Cattle bought in the spring and sold in the fall after being well grazed furnish a paying investment.

Large quantities of beef is being shipped in from the South American Republics but there has been no reduction in price in our home market.

Wanted—Bound copies of Godeys—Ladies Book in good condition and with colored plates complete. Anything before 1851 or after 1862, (except 1867,) is desired. Please state price and condition. Complete years if unbound will do, but do not want separate copies.

Mrs C. A. Winston,
5143 Cornell Avenue,
Chicago, Ill

Good breeding and good feeding are so closely related that they must go together; one is useless without the other.

Rats, What They Cost the Farmer and How to Kill Them.

Some statistician has figured it out, basing his calculation upon the fact that there may be from fourteen to eighteen young in a liter of rats, 13 of these additions in three years, the progeny from a single pair in the three years would be 656,808 rats! Of course it is not probable that these figures would be often approximated and yet it shows the possibilities, casualties not excepted. And when we consider that every young rat that lives becomes in six months a producer of its kind, the figures are well worthy of consideration.

We recently saw it stated that every rat consumes twenty-five cents worth of food annually. These figures may be high enough for the actual amount consumed, but a single rat will destroy many times this amount, if unmolested. It is not the bites of apple which he eats, but the quarts which it nibbles and chews and then leaves in the bin to decay, which makes the havoc. And so it is with every other eatable in its path. Refuse goes in its wake every time, destruction, and decay.

Various methods of eradication have been suggested, each in instances successful, and again dismally failing. It seems that vigilance is the only word which has working power, and even this is not always a complete success. Cement is a factor which it has failed to overcome; and if we can afford to use this as a fortress well. But a litte here and there only causes the rodent to barrow a little deeper and go around the obstacle.

Wire screening is another obstacle which defeats it, and the apples or potatoes placed in a bin enveloped in this material are safe. The old way of building high granaries set up on posts cased with tin was effective providing the steps at the entrance were always removed after use.

Cats are a wandering band. They come, and sometimes they go—if you see to it that they find nothing to eat, and make things generally unpleasant. Two or three good cats keep them so continually stirred up that they may leave in disgust, if the cats give them permission. A few may be trapped successfully, but the rat is the shrewdest of animals, and after one or two have been taken it requires all manner of scheming to entice others, unless they be very young and unsophisticated, into the same trap.

For bait, we have found nothing so alluring as pumpkin or squash seeds, and they have the additional merit that if the trap happens to be forgotten for a few days, the bait will not prove a decaying mass. Scatter a trail from the hole to the trap. Change the position of the latter frequently. If it is one of the wire cage affairs, throw a cloth over all but the entrance in order to darken it. Smoking it will often remove the human scent to which the rat objects.

Sometimes sulphur scattered in their haunts will cause the pests to decamp. Quick lime also serves a similar purpose, burning their feet. Spraying with carbolic acid and water is not exactly to their liking. Even kerosene is said to be detested by them. Copperas, chloride of lime, caustic potash, are other things sometimes used with success. But it seems as if each and all will fail sometimes, so long as the edibles are within reach. If grain can be placed in rat-proof bins, and fruit and vegetables put out of the way, cats, traps and all other disagreeable things focused upon them, they may usually be banished; and with them, the fear of disease which they too often carry.

B. L. Putnam.
Crawford Co., Pa.

The annual mild and open winter following the drought of last summer calls to mind so many weather observers that a mild winter and a big crop year have always followed a drought. Following the great drouth of 1854 fires were not required more than half the days of the winter and the people sat out doors in January and February. Following the drouth of 1881 the winter was so mild that no ice was gathered. Flowers were in bloom in January and in February the peech trees were in full bloom and it never got cold enough to kill the crop. Farmers pastured all the winter and the crops of 1882 were the largest ever raised. This winter following the drouth of last summer is starting off like the winter of 1881-82 and people are predicting another open winter with little or no cold.

The Kentucky State Board of Health has issued the following warning to the Health and Fiscal officials of the State:

"Smallpox has been stamped out over and over again in every county in the State in recent years, but official information is coming in to the Board almost daily that the disease has again appeared in many widely separated sections, as it has in adjoining States, and that, because of the lack of vaccination, and of its mildness, the disease seems inclined to break over official control so early in the cold season as to threaten a widespread and a costly epidemic, unless the officials, physicians and people are organized to recognize and meet the danger.

What about improving the county roads? The roads of Estill county during the winter months are almost impassable. Teams flounder and struggle thru the mud with greatly reduced loads. Horseback travel is hazardous at times and it is absolutely unsafe for women and children to use some of the roads. Who is responsible for these conditions? Think it over.—Irvine Tribune.

AT THE OLD STAND.

SHARPLES SEPARATORS.
PITTSBURG FENCE.
FARM TOOLS.
FEED ALL KINDS.
EVERYTHING FOR THE FARMER.

QUIGLEY & BEEMON
Limaburg, Ky.

FOR SALE

In Constance, Ky., large building lot on this lot is a building 58x48, built for a club-house. This is a very substantial structure, has a truss roof and not a post in the interior. This building can be carefully taken down and removed if necessary, or can be remodeled into apartments. I want to dispose of this property at an early date and will sell it at a sacrifice, in fact for one-half what the lumber cost to erect it. Apply to or address G. F. SNYDER,
4t 711 Plum St., Cincinnati, O.

WALTON GARAGE

C. S. Vallandingham, Prop.
Walton, Ky.
Repairing and Vulcanizing a Specialty.
Repairs and Fixtures.
Telephone Calls Given Prompt Attention.

It seems a bit strange that a man can't tell a man from a rabbit. Several men and boys have been taken for rabbits this season and shot to death in the woods. There is entirely too much carelessness in handling guns.—Murray Times.

Christmas Gifts
—THAT—
Mean Something

Whether you spend little or much for Christmas it is important that your gifts have lasting values.

You receive a gift or two every year that gives you more pleasure than all the others because of its perfect usefulness.

Make all your gifts useful, no matter how low the price.

Christmas prices here are mostly lower than at other seasons, because of our large purchases.

The quality of everything in this store makes it a worthy gift, whether the price you pay is large or small.

The entire range of your family needs is covered by the articles you find here whether they be gig or little.

Here Are A Few Suggestions.

For Sister.
A Pretty Chair for Her Room; A Mahogany Work Table; A Dressing Table; A Slipper Chair; A Dressing Stool; A Music Cabinet; A Writing Desk; An Arm Chair; A Box Couch; A Bookcase.

For Mother or Wife.
A Bed-room Chair; A Jardinier; A China Closet; A Rocker; A Magazine Stand; A Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet; A Davenport.

For Grandfather.
A Comfortable Arm Chair; A High Back Rocker; A Genuine Leather Rocker; A Foot Stool; A Book Table.

For Grandmother.
A Jardinier Stand; A Sewing Rocker; A Morris Chair; A Magazine Stand; A Work Table; A Book Table.

For Father or Husband.
A Morris Chair; A High Back Rocker; A Shaving Stand; A Leather Rocker; A Cellarette; A Revolving Chair; A Couch; A Card Table; A Foot Stool; A Bookcase; A Wardrobe.

For Brother Jack.
A Chiffonier; A Morris Chair; An Arm Chair; A Cellarette; A Blacking Case

We Pay The Freight.
Louis Marx & Bros.
Furniture, Carpets, Stoves.
516-522 Madison Avenue, COVINGTON, - - - KY.
840 Monmouth Street, NEWPORT, - - - KY.

The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO.
Erlanger, Ky.
Has come to stay and is ready for business and will keep on hand at all times a good supply of
Raymond City and Plymouth Coal
in yard and on car at the Lowest Prices Possible, and guarantee 80 lbs. to the bushel. Will also handle Cannel Coal, Kentucky Simi-Candle and Worley Block, and Peidmont strictly blacksmithing Coal.
Your patronage solicited.
The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO
Erlanger, Kentucky.

JONES' DRUG STORE,
WALTON, KENTUCKY,
Is "OLD SANTAS" Headquarters this time. The Newest, Best and Biggest Assortment ever of Holiday Creations
Don't fail to see this Big Collection of Novelties, &c. The things that are just right for Christmas Presents.
You'll Find the Prices too, are Right.

Subscribe for Your County Paper.

Wont you Let
MY CLOTHING DO THE TALKING FOR THEMSELVES?
Kindly come in and see them. I will do business with you without argument. You will find Quality and Workmenship.
MENS SUITS and OVERCOATS.....$5.00 to $18.00
YOUNG MEN'S SUITS AND OVERCOATS.....$3.00 to $15.00
Young Men, you must see these suits and Overcoats to appreciate their value.
Children's Norfolk Knickerbocker Suits well made and Durable $2.75, $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00.
Mothers you must see these to realize the bargains I am offering. A complete line of Corderoy and Duck Coats and Pants, the clothing out door workers need when disagreeable weather comes ou insures health and comfort.
Selmar Wachs
Successor to
Rolfes & Wachs,
NO. 1 Pike Street, Near Madison Ave.,
COVINGTON, KY.

Luncheon
AT
Neat Little Place
For Farmer, Workman, Merchant, Clerk and Professional Man.
R. J. DIBOWSKI'S CAFE
No. 6 Pike Street, - - Covington, Kentucky.
Commercial Plate Luncheon from 11 a. m. to 1:30 p. m.

Subscribe for The Recorder

FEEDING THE FARM HORSE.

Make The Most Out of the Feed In Winter.

The feed for the farm horse should be of as good quanity as that given to higher priced animals used in the cities or on the race track. The question of mode of feeding is an important factor in keeping the farm horse healthy. Most of the hay should be fed at night, when the horse has plenty of time to eat. The hay should be of good quality. All mouldy or musty hay should be rejected as unfit for feed. By selecting only good hay, the danger of heaves is avoided. The most natural grain for the horse is oats. The oats should be well matured and not mouldy. Bran has very little nourishment in it, but serves as a bowel regulator. If a quart of bran is fed each animal with the oats the danger of colic is lessened.

Whenever possible, one should make it a practice to feed the farm horse after it has had thirty minutes or an hour to rest, before trying to digest its concentrated food. In other words, let the farm horse eat a little hay while warm, and after it has entirely dried off, water and grain. During a resting period, feed more bran and less oats. There will be less danger of azotoria after the horse is put back to work.

A well regulated barn of modern type is equipped with watering trough in the barn. If possible all horses should have an opportunity of drinking pure water at any time while in the barn, if the horse is not too warm. Some ranchers find it a paying proposition to set a pail of water in for each horse before retiring. This gives the horse an opportunity to have water when it needs it the most, while eating the dry hay.

So many horses have inflammation colic from eating large quantities of straw during the winter. The horses keep in the shelter of the straw stacks and will not hunt water during severe weather.

C. L. BARNES,
Colorado Agricultural College.

Has Prepared No Such Bill.

Mr W. L. Riddell,
Burlington, Ky

Dear Mr Riddell.—The following article was published in the Courier-Journal of Dec 6th:

"Washington, Dec 5 (Special)—This session of Congress will be asked by Representative A. H. Rouse to authorize an increase of one per cent in the amount of interest paid on individual deposits in postal savings banks As Mr. Rouse is a member of the House Post-Office Committee, and as he expects his bill to receive the indorsement of Postmaster General Burleson, the chances of the measure are good Mr. Rouse had a long conference today with the Postmaster General on the subject and received certain assurances

"The Kentuckian is one of the authors of a bill recently favorably reported by his committee, raising the limit of individual deposits from $100 to $1,000 If this bill is passed and the rate of interest on individual deposits is increased, Mr Rouse and his colleagues believe that the postal savings systems will not only be self sustaining, but that it will become a money-making branch of the postal system."

The first paragraph of this article is absolutely incorrect. I made no such statement. I have prepared no such bill, nor will I, on the contrary, I will oppose any such measure in the Committee and on the floor of the House. Last week we had before our Committee the Assistant Director of the Postal Savings System, and he stated that since the inauguration of the Postal Savings System, which was thirty months prior to the first of December, the expenses of operating the System was nearly a million dollars more than the revenue. There was on the first of Dec. about thirty-three million dollars on deposit with the System.

I did favor the bill as referred to in the second paragraph of the article for the reason that the money deposited with the Postal Savings System, comes largely from foreigners and those people of our country who do no business with the banks. As you well know the money that is deposited with the Postal Savings System is turned over to the banks, and on which two and one-half per cent interest is paid to the Government. It would be foolish of me to ask the Government to pay three per cent interest on deposits and only receive two and one-half per cent from the banks. Again I would oppose such a measure because it would place the Government in competion with the banks of our country.

Yours Very Truly,
A. B. ROUSE.

It was a distinguished honor which W. Arthur Cook, a Daviess county boy, won in the corn-growing contest—champion boy corn grower of Kentucky—and Daviess county is certainly proud of him and his achievement. What he has done will be of inestimable wealth to the farmers of Daviess county of the future if not those of the present. It is an honor of which the winner is no doubt proud, because he has accomplished much for the boys, who, like himself, will soon be men, and the mainstay of the county's agriculture resources. He has taught them how to produce a large yield on a small acreage, and that is the greatest lesson necessary for the farmer to learn. It will not then be necessary for so many large farms, and there will be land enough for all, because each smaller farm will be yielding larger returns than the big farms do now.—Owensboro Inquirer.

The Election of President.

The New York Sun is disturbed because President Wilson, in his address to Congress, suggested a new method for electing the future Presidents of the United States The purpose of President Wilson was to bring the choice of this officer back to the people, which seems to the New York Sun a little short of treason The sun wants to know where President Wilson gets his authority for any such suggestion, and it intimates that the last word on the subject was said by our venerable forefathers who composed the Constitutional Convention

Our venerable forefathers were very like their worthy descendants If the Sun will take time to read again the discussions that disturbed that excellent gathering of men, known as the "Constitutional Convention," it will find that there was a wide difference of opinion upon almost every question that was brought before the convention It will find, moreover, that nearly every provision of the constitution is a compromise, representing the full conviction of nobody

The election of the President long engaged the consideration of the members of the convention The length of the Presidential term, the qualifications of the President, the extent of his power, his relation to the whole government machinery, and the method of selecting him, were changed frequently during the deliberations of this body, and the plan finally adopted was looked upon largely as an experiment, a tentative proposition No member of that body would have had the audacity to assert that they were capable of meeting all of the practical difficulties in the choice of a President which would arise during the next 150 years, in a country containing a population of from ninety to one hundred and ten millions of people scattered from ocean to ocean

Therefore, that body refused to settle any question finally In the original article it was provided that each State shall appoint in such manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, the number of electors equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives

Section 3 of this Article 2 established the electoral college, a rather cumbersome piece of machinery The college was intended to be a deliberative body to have an absolute freedom of choice, not in any way limited by the pledges of the members or their party relations

The twelfth amendment to the constitution proposed to the States by Congress December 12, 1803, was declared ratified by a sufficient number of States September 25, 1804, or 17 years after the adoption of the original instrument This article set aside section 3 of Article 2, and radically altered the relation of the electoral college to our scheme of government

Further, in 1877, ninety years after the adoption of the constitution and 73 years after the adoption of Article 12, Congress itself established an extra judicial body known as the electoral commission, which became a law unto itself to settle the disputed election, and then dissolved, never to be recalled

The people of this day have the same control over this election machinery When, in their judgment, a change is necessary they have the authority to make that change There is nothing revolutionary, there is nothing extra-constitutional, there is nothing beyond the reach of the people, proceeding in an orderly way, in the suggestion made by the President to Congress

This suggestion was due to difficulties that have developed under modern conditions it is a wise nation that alters the framework of government in accordance with changing conditions By so acting it avoids any necessity for revolutions or revolt It makes of the constitution, not a finished mechanical device, inflexible and unalterable, but a living organism growing with the growth of the people and changing with changing conditions

Through modern discovery and invention, through the growing controlman has secured over the forces of nature, some of which were unknown to our forefathers, there has been a centralization of power—a centralization of political power following a centralization of commercial power, of financial power, of mechanical power

This centralization has given to a few men political control that constitutions seek to distribute among all men Centralization has given to party organizations a position like unto to English feudalism

Having this power, these political leaders have used it at times remorselessly Only last year the political machine took from the Republican voters control of party affairs, and a partisan oligarchy named for the 2nd term a President who, during his first term, had lost public confidence

That course destroyed, temporarily, the Republican party The same influences that had sought to control the Republican convention came near controlling the Democratic convention, in which event the candidates of the two leading parties would have represented identically the same public policies and left the people no choice

President Wilson seeks to avoid a repetition of that dangerous complication To say that the people have no constitutional authority to amend their own constitution, accords with the usual views of popular government expressed in the columns of the New York Sun, but they are views not accepted by the American people —Louisville Post.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court.

J. G. Tomlin for use and benefit of Equitable Bank & Trust Co. Plff.
vs. Equity.
Robert S. Hood, &c., Defts

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale rendered by the Boone Circuit Court at its December term, 1913, in the above styled cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale to the highest bidder, at public sale, the real and personal property hereinafter described.

The said personal property will be sold at the store house and on the premises adjacent thereto, now occupied by the defendant, Robert S. Hood, in Constance, Boone county, Ky., near the toll house on the south side of the Bullittsville & Dry Creek Turnpike, said personal property will be sold on a credit of three months, purchaser to give bond with good security payable to the undersigned. Said bonds to have the force and effect of a judgment, and drawing interest from day of sale. This sale of personal property will be made beginning at 10 o'clock a. m.

Saturday, January 3rd, 1914,

The said personal property is described as follows, to-wit: A general stock of merchandise at Constance, Boone county, Ky., consisting of Dry Goods, Boots, Shoes, Notions, Hats, Caps, Tinware, Stoneware, Grain, Hay, Flour, Feed, Paints, Drugs, Oils, Medicines, Harness, Farming Implements, and all other goods, wares and merchandise now on the premises occupied by said Hood in Constance, Boone county, Ky., on the north side of the Bullittsville & Dry Creek Turnpike near the toll gate.

The said real estate or a sufficiency thereof to produce the sum of money so ordered to be made, will be sold at the Court House door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., on between the hours of 1 o'clock and 2 p. m., being county court day upon a credit of six and twelve months.

Monday, January 5th, 1914,

Said real estate is bound as follows: Lying and being in Boone county, Ky., and consisting of two several tracts described as follows: Tract No. 1 beginning at a large forked Sycamore tree on an island in Worlds Run, lower corner of Mrs. Lucretia Hood's dower; thence down Worlds Run n 61¼ e 9.50 chains, n 58½ e 2.08 chains, n 29¾ e 5.61 chains to a point on the bridge; thence s 47¼ e 40 links, s 49 e 1.43 chains, n 60¼ e 5.17 chains, n 73½ e 6.60 chains to a point in said turnpike a corner with the Constance cemetery; thence with a line thereof and with a line of M. Anderson in Mrs. Hood's dower; thence with the line of said dower n 61¼ w 2.21 chains to a stone; thence n 74 w 10.72 chains to beginning containing 18 11-100 acres.

There is excepted out of this tract about ¼ acre heretofore conveyed to Trustees of School District No. 30; also small lot heretofore conveyed to Bullittsville and Dry Creek Turnpike Co., for toll house and lot and being same property conveyed to said Robt. S. Hood by Ben F. Hood and others by deed dated June 30, 1909, and recorded in Deed Book No. 51, page 2, Boone County Records, at Burlington, Ky.

Tract No. 2 beginning at a corner on Worlds Run bridge 10 feet from an iron pin driven in the middle of the Bullittsville & Dry Creek pike, bearing n 50¼ w from said pin; thence n 54 e 405 feet to an iron pin; thence n 26¼ e passing through a Black Locust sapling on the river bank 647 feet to the river edge or low water mark; thence with the river s 55¼ e or with the low water mark of said river 492 feet to a corner of Montgomery Anderson; thence with his line s 22 w 605 feet to the middle of the said pike; thence with said pike n 72¼ w 429 ft; thence s 69 w 339½ feet; thence n 50¼ w 110 feet to the place of beginning—8 acres, 29 1-10 poles and being same land conveyed to R. S. Hood by W. R. Tanner and wife by deed dated Sept. 20, 1909, and recorded in Deed Book No. 51 page 1, Boone County Court Records at Burlington, Ky.

All show cases, measures, scales, and all furniture and fixtures in said store building will be sold as part of the real estate.

For the purchase price the purchaser of said real estate, with approved security or securities must execute bond, bearing 6 per cent interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a Judgment, with a lien retained therein until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with all terms. Amount to be raised by sale $4,810.75.

CHARLES MAURER,
Master Commissioner.

Believe Me,

By trading at Thomann's you can save the Middleman's profit on Harness, Trunks and Blankets.

Wm. Thomann,
56 Pike Street,
Covington, Ky.

B. S. O'NEAL,
AUCTIONEER,
VERONA, - KENTUCKY.
Your Order is Solicited.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.

All persons indebted to the estate of Elizabeth Muey, deceased, are requested to come forward and settle, and those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned properly proven.

J. T. JUDGE, Executor.

A Christmas Suggestion

It is impossible in an advertisement to give much idea of the great variety of articles our stock includes. A visit to our store will convince you that a pleasing gift for anyone, large or small, may be selected from our immense stock for any amount you wish to spend.

FOLLOWING ARE A FEW SUGGESTIONS:

FOR HIM

Solid Gold Cuff Buttons	$2.00 to $50.00	Solid Gold Scarf Pins	1.00 to 25.00
Solid Gold Signet Rings	2.50 to 30.00	Silver Match Boxes	1.00 to 5.00
Silver Shaving Sets	3.00 to 10.00	Silver Smoking Sets	2.50 to 6 00
Safety Gillette Razors	5.00 to 15.00	Fountain Pens	1.00 to 10.00
Monogram Watch Fobs	3.00 10.00

FOR HER

Solid Gold Brooches	$1.50 to $6.00	Solid Gold Handy Pins	1.00 to 3.00
Gold & Gold-filled Lockets	1.00 to 20.00	Fancy Back Combs	1.50 to 10.00
Solid Gold Brocelets	6.00 to 30.00	Fancy Hat Pins	1.00 to 5.00
Silver Toilet Sets	4 50 to 20.00	Cut Glass Dishes	1.00 to 5.00
Hand Painted China	1.00 to 5.00

FOR CHILDREN

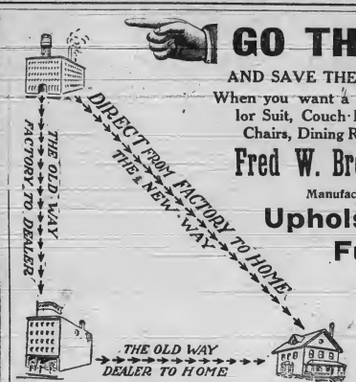
Solid Gold Rings	$1.00 to $5.00	Knife, Fork and Spoon Set	$1.00 to 3.00
Lockets and Charms	1.00 to 5.00	Single Teaspoons	1.00 to 2.00
Pin Sets	50c to 1.00	Boys' Watches	1.00 to 5.00
Bracelets	1.00 to 2.50	Girls' Watches	2.00 to 5.00

These are only a Few suggestions. Don't Fail to Visit our Store.
Open Evenings Until Christmas.

F. PIPER, Jeweler

616 Madison Avenue, Covington, Ky

Colds



should be "nipped in the bud", for if allowed to run unchecked, serious results may follow. Numerous cases of consumption, pneumonia, and other fatal diseases, can be traced back to a cold. At the first sign of a cold, protect yourself by thoroughly cleansing your system with a few doses of the old reliable, vegetable liver powder.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

Mr. Chas. A. Ragland, of Madison Heights, Va., says: "I have been using Thedford's Black-Draught for stomach troubles, indigestion, and colds, and find it to be the very best medicine I ever used. It makes an old man feel like a young one."

Insist on Thedford's, the original and genuine. E-67

GO THERE

AND SAVE THE DIFFERENCE

When you want a Davenport, Parlor Suit, Couch Rocker, Morris Chairs, Dining Room Chairs.

Fred W. Bremenkamp

Manufacture of

Upholstered Furniture

Factory and Sample Room

157 PIKE STREET,

COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

We Also Do Repairing and Refinishing.

Posted Against Hunters.

The undersigned hereby give notive that their land is posted against trespassing of all kinds and especially by hunting with dogs or guns and trapping thereon:

B. C. Graddy, Bullittsville.
J. S. Eggleston, Francesville.
Mary V. Gaines, Bullittsville.
Harry Walton, Petersburg.
A. L. Nichols, Burlington.
C. T. Northcutt, Belleview.
Everett Souther, Pt. Pleasant.
Julia S. Dinsmore, Belleview.
Mrs. I. T. McNaughton, Muncie, Indiana.
C. O. Hempfling, Taylorsport.
Jasper Sullivan, Waterloo.
W. L. B. Rouse, Limaburg.
Edward Farrell, Limaburg.
T. F. Grant, Bullittsville.
Geo. C. Barlow, Florence.
John Clore, Hebron.
John W. Ryle, Burlington.
Mrs. Mary Ryan, Beaver.
Mrs. E. A. Bedinger and daughter, Richwood.

IF YOU WANT A GOOD

AUTOMOBILE

CALL ON

B. B. HUME, Burlington.

FOR 1913 MODEL FORD

5 Passenger Car, $570. 2 Passenger Car, $520

These prices are for fall delivery complete and delivered at your door. If desired a man will be furnished without charge to teach you how to operate your car.

—ALSO AGENT FOR THE—

Oakland, Roadster, $1,150 Touring Car, $1,200 Fully Equipped

DR. B. W. STALLARD
with DR. SHOBER'S
QUEEN CITY DENTISTS
Nos. 43-49 W. Fifth Ave.,
CINCINNATI, - - OHIO.

F. J. HENN. M. M. HUSCHART.
LAWRENCEBURG

Granite and Marble Works

Manufacturers of and Dealers in

Fine American and Imported Monuments.

Cemetery Work of Every Description Promptly and Carefully Attended to.

Lawrenceburg, :-: Indiana.
D. M. SNYDER, Agt., Burlington, Ky.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

SCOTT CHAMBERS,
WALTON, KY.
Embalmer & Funeral Director,
LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.
First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.
Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.
Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

For Sale—31 acres of land near Gunpowder store—all in grass, house and barn and everlasting water. For furthere articulars inquire of R. R. Houston, Florence, Ky. tf.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

FOR SALE

Good Steinway Piano. Apply to Dr. B. A. DULANEY, Florence, Ky.

Take your County Paper.

BOONE CO. RECORDER
W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BULLITTSVILLE.

Mr. and Mrs. Menter Martin spent Saturday in Burlington.

Miss Alberta Gaines was visiting in Walton Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Cad Sullivan and son called on Mrs. Josh Masters Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Mat Graves of Covington, is visiting in this vicinity for a few days.

Joe Pappet and family were guests at Bluff Wingate's Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Corrine Riley spent last Friday with her son Edgar and family in Burlington.

Mrs. Josh Masters has been at the bedside of one of her son Tommie's children that is sick of pneumonia.

Mrs. Robt. Staffin and children returned to their home Sunday, after a week's visit with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Joe Birkle.

HEBRON.

Xmas exercises at the church Christmas day at 2 p. m.

Butchering hogs has been the order of the day here.

Clifford Tanner and wife entertained several of their relatives, Sunday.

Edward Baker and wife went to housekeeping last week in their new home.

Edgar Aylor and wife, of Florence, were guests of his parents here, Sunday.

The Helpers' Circle will meet with Miss Eva Getker, next Saturday afternoon.

Edward Heist entertained the young people with a play party Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Bullock entertained several of their friends at dinner, Sunday.

A Xmas and communion service will be held at the Hebron church next Sunday Dec. 21st. Let every member be present with an offering for benevolence. Reception of members at this service.

RICHWOOD.

Fernando Carpenter is ill.

Leonard Gibbs had a house covering Monday.

Little Daniel Carpenter has been very ill with tonsilitis.

Walter Grubbs and family spent Sunday at Thomas Rice's.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Holtzworth were Sunday guests of Leonard Gibbs.

Eli Carpenter drove a nail into his knee making a very painful wound.

F. F. Robinson is recovering nicely from an operation for throat trouble.

Kenneth Stephens has moved to Erlanger and will work with the Cincinnati Grain Company.

Robt. Stephens of the Dental College, was visiting his parents here Saturday and Sunday.

The first car load of corn arrived here and Lyman Rice soon disposed of it for the Cincinnati Grain Company.

Mrs. Kennedy and pupils of Mt. Zion school will give an entertainment at the Mt. Zion Methodist church on Christmas eve.

Do not forget the entertainment at Grange Hall, Tuesday evening, Dec. 23d, given by Miss Erma Stephenson and pupils of Frogtown school. Admission free.

A crowd went thru town Sunday in an auto at about 40 miles an hour clip, no lights and narely missed several rigs. They came to grief at the Frog road when a tire olew out.

A Mr. Pierce, a tenant on Ed. Stephens' place, sold his tobacco about a week ago, and went to help deliver it and has not been heard of since. He leaves a wife and six children here.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Local turkey dealers are paying 16 cents a pound.

Mrs. Elbert Roberts has been very ill of heart trouble.

Geo. W. Rice of Plymouth, Ill., is visiting at R. K. Aylor's near Waterloo.

The unsettled condition of the fur market has been keeping some of the local dealers guessing.

Hubert White did some very effective work with his drag on the East Bend road last Saturday.

Miss Eunie Stephens who is teaching at Locust Grove was quite sick several days last week of chickenpox.

Kirk Clore will move this week from Wm. Clore's place to L. S. Pope's place on Gunpowder Highlands south of Waterloo.

It has been found upon close examination that there is more spoiled meat throughout the county than was at first suspected.

Mrs. Connelly has been subbing on the Union rural route for a week while Mr. Connelly has been entertaining one of Job's comforters.

Old Kite the Waterloo merchant received his stock of Xmas goods the first of the week and is ready to supply all of Santa Claus' needs.

The Union and Hathaway telephone lines have erected a trunk line from Union to Waterloo and are now in direct connection with all of the other farmers lines in the county.

Ernest Ryle the Belleview R. D. carrier has been promoted to the position of clerk in the postoffice at Covington and Leslie Sullivan, of Waterloo is temporarily filling the vacancy on the route.

H. Kirk the Burlington fur dealer is keeping on the move gathering up the products of the trappers. He keeps thoroughly posted on all of the market conditions and his prices are always the highest consistent with fair and honest grading.

Having installed mills to do all kind of work I will grind meat and make feed for the people next Saturday Dec. 20, 1913.
W. E. Furguson
Petersburg Ky.

WE BELIEVE IN KEEPING THE
Quality Up and The Prices Down

You cant help but think of warm, dry feet these days. Now, just when you need good solid leather shoes and first-grade Rubbers to keep your feet dry and warm, the place to buy them is where you can buy them right. DAVIS, the Shoe Man, has these very articles, which will be appropriate, suitable and satisfactory as Xmas Gifts. Our aim is to give you the best Shoe and Rubber values at the Lowest possible prices.

DAVIS, The Shoeman.
Rising Sun, Ind.

WALTON.

W. H. Chapman, Jr., of Gallatin county, was here on business last Saturday.

Mrs. Wallace Garrison, who has been quite ill for some time, is somewhat improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gilpin, of the Big Bone neighborhood, were visitors here last Friday.

Mrs. Kate Rice, of Georgetown, arrived here last Saturday on a visit to Judge J. G. Tomlin and wife.

Hon. J. W. Kennedy of Union, was visiting his daughter Mrs. S. C. Hicks and family last Friday and Saturday.

R. O. Northcutt, a popular and prominent farmer of near Independence, was here last Wednesday on business.

Last week S. C. Hicks sold a drove of fine cattle on the Cincinnati market, for which he received $8.25 per hundred.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Bethel and three small children and Arthur Bethel, of near Verona, were visitors here last Saturday.

Dr. J. G. Slater and pretty little daughter Nell, of Ludlow, were the guests of friends and relatives here last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Rollins, of Carrollton, Ky., arrived here last Friday on a visit to Mrs. Rollins brother Judge J. G. Tomlin and wife.

Mrs. C. H. Young, of near Folsom, Grant county, was the guest of Misses Queen and Willeve Tillman last Friday.

Miss Lutie Miller spent part of last week in the Big Bone and Landing neighborhood the guest of relatives and friends.

Mrs. Lola Reed-Williams, formerly of near Glencoe, but now of near Georgetown, Ky., was here last Thursday the guest of her friends.

O. P. Morton, of Warsaw, who is connected with a large sash door and lumber company of Cincinnati, was here in the interest of his firm last Friday.

Mrs. Bella Whalen, of Arizona, who has been visiting friends and relatives at Verona, spent the past week here and visited Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Miller.

Prof. Chas. Chambers, writing professor in the Covington public schools, spent last Friday here attending the funeral of his grandmother, Mrs. Fannie Robinson.

Mrs. Myrtle Miller-Fields and baby boy, Robt. Miller, Field, of Ludlow, were visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Miller, of Big Bone Springs, and friends and relatives here last week.

Jas. H. Sleet, of the Beaver Lick neighborhood, was here last week delivering his large crop of tobacco to Wayland & Co. at $14.50 per hundred. It was a fine crop and well worth the money.

The Bazaar of the Baptist church held at the Walton Opera House this week was a success both socially and financially. The ladies in their usual artistic manner beautifully arranged the hall which made it very attractive.

Geo. L. Miller, of Big Bone, spent part of last Friday and Saturday here the guest of his son John C. Miller and family on his return from Cincinnati where he disposed of a nice bunch of cattle. He received 7½ cents per pound for them, the top of the market.

Clifford Rouse, of Louisville, who is employed on the L. & N. Railway as fireman on an engine, arrived here last week on a visit to his parents Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Rouse. He assisted in E. K. Stephens' store during the holiday rush.

B. B. Allphin, one of our hustling stock buyers, we regret to say is dangerously sick of pneumonia at his home. Last Monday he came from Cincinnati where he had been attending the stockyards sales, with a severe cold which developed pleurisy and then pneumonia.

McClure Chapter Royal Arch Masons, will hold its regular monthly meeting Friday evening, Dec. 19th, when there will be work in the Mark, Past and Most Excellent Masters' degrees. All companions of this and adjoining chapters are most cordially invited to be present.

Misses Mattie and Madge Miller, the two bright and energetic young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Miller, of Big Bone Springs, last week accepted positions with the Pogue Dry Goods Co., in Cincinnati, and will no doubt be successful in their new employment as they are two of the brightest young ladies of this section.

Walton Masonic Lodge had work in the Fellowcraft degree at their regular meeting last Friday night, when Geo. P. Nicholson, Prof. C. L. Chambers and Rev. H. C. Wayman were advanced to that degree. This lodge will hold their regular annual election on Saturday evening, Dec. 27th. All members are cordially invited and Henry Coates, of near Union, was here on business, Monday. Mr. Coates recently returned from a business trip to Louisiana. He has been importuned to establish a bank at Grosteete, that State, and in company with Wilton Adams, of Union, left for Grosteete, Monday evening, on a week's business trip to look up the prospects for starting the bank, in which case Coates will be the cashier. Mr. Coated is a fine gentelman and a good business man, and his many friends in this quarter wish him success in any business venture he may undertake.

Our worthy meat merchant, John M. Stamler, had the misfortune to fall into his icebox, last Saturday, and sustained a fracture of his right shoulder. Dr. A. N. Jones attended him and took him to Cincinnati, Monday, where an X ray was used on him to determine the location and extent of his injury.

Mrs. Robert Baker, of near here, in company with Dr. A. N. Jones, went to Cincinnati, Monday, to consult with a specialist. She has been suffering with blood poison for some time in one of her arms, and the disease has now attacked her right breast.

requested to be present on that occasion.

The entertainment at the Baptist church last Tuesday night—Mrs. Oranne Truitt Day of the Coit Lyceum Bureau, was one of the most enjoyable of the season. While entirely different from the former numbers it was as equally entertaining. It was a monologue of the comedy "A Nest Egg," and throughout the evening Mrs. Day acquitted herself with credit and received rapturous applause throughout the evening. The next number will be Marion Ballou Fisk, cartoonist, lecturer, Jan. 23d.

Jerome B. Respass, of Covington, was here last Wednesday shaking hands with old friends. Mr. Respass is a noted race horse man and is widely known in racing circles, owning a large stable of some of the fastest horses on the track. He was born and raised near here in the Bank Lick neighborhood and years ago began following the horses. He had unprecedented luck and soon amassed a fortune and purchased a string of good horses which have been good money makers for him and he is now considered one of the most successful horse owners in the racing circuit.

Mrs. Fannie Robinson, aged 82, died suddenly last Wednesday night at 11 o'clock of heart trouble. She had been up and about all day and there was no evidence that death was so near. She resided with her daughter Mrs. T. F. Chambers. The funeral took place Friday from her late home. Rev. Louis Kohler, pastor of the Walton Christian church, preaching an appropriate funeral discourse over the remains after which interment took place in the Baptist cemetery. Mrs. Robinson was born in the County Mayo, Ireland, and came to this country when a small girl. Her husband preceded her to the grave many years ago.

Walton Feed and Seed Company.
—o—
Why go to Cincinnati to buy your feed such as
Hay of all kinds, Mill Feed, Brand, Alfalfa, Chop Feed, Corn (shelled or on the ear,) Oats, Flour and Corn Meal.
We buy on Change and can give you Cincinnati prices; also handle Seed of all kinds at the Lowest Prices.
Write us. Will quote you prices on car lots or less.
DIERS & BEST, Walton, Ky.

Tobacco Growers

Bring Your Tobacco to the

Falmouth Loose Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Co.

(INCORPORATED)

FALMOUTH, KY.
TELEPHONE No. 87.

Best equipped and the largest loose leaf house in Northern Kentucky.

The best lighted house in the State, which enables us to show your tobacco to the best advantage.

We built this house for the growers of tobacco. The dealer did not need it, as he could ship to other markets; but not so with the farmer, because he could not pack for the old hogshead market to an advantage.

In this house the grower with a small crop has just the same advantage as the grower with a large crop, or the dealer, as each grade is put into a basket to itself.

We positively will have buyers from all the large manufacturers in the United States, and also buyers for the export trade.

We have a separate house with side track to receive tobacco shipped by railroad, so that the car tobacco and the farmers' wagons will not interfere with one another as in other markets.

We will be ready to receive your tobacco on December 1st.

Our openning sale will be on Saturday, December 6th.

We will have four sales days each week.

We Deliver to any point we can reach with this

Christmas Gifts that are practical and useful--buy them early and we will make future delivery.

Library Tables.	Magazine Racks	Princess Dressers.
Rockers in all finishes.	Davenports.	Kitchen Cabinets.
and numerous styles.	Chifforobes.	Card Tables.
Ladies Desks.	High Chairs.	Leather Rockers.
BooK Cases.	Medicine Cabinets.	Sectional Bookcases.
Tabourets,	China Closets.	Chiffoniers.
Pedestals.	Extension Tables.	Dinner Sets china
Hall Racks.	Sewing Tables.	Pictures.
Piano Benches.	Ladies Toilet Tables.	Baby Cribs.
Book Shelves.	Costumers.	Mantel Mirrors.

Specials This week 26 Piece Silver Set—Six tablespoons, six teaspoons, Sugar Shell, Butter Knife, 6 Knives and 6 forks in a satin lined oak case, Wm. Rogers make, guaranteed..... $6.50

Also large Ebonized Handsome eight day CLOCK, elegant ornament, $4.50.

O'Brien & Birnbryer

—DEALERS IN—

Good furniture, Rugs and Stoves

AT REASONABLE PRICES.

736 Madison Ave., - COVINGTON, KY.

Circuit Clerk Maurer has been busy ever since the adjournment of his court getting things back into their place. It takes as long to straighten up his office after a short term of court as it does to get the papers back into their places after a long term.

None of the Boone Co hunters got in bad with the grand jury

Wm. Litterell, who was fined $50 and ten days in jail by the circuit court, last week, surrendered himself to Jailer Adams, last Monday, saying he had come to lay out both the fine and imprisonment as that is the only way he has to pay the fine.

For Sale—Four large Bronze turkey gobblers. Apply to W. S. White near Hathaway.

FARM FOR SALE.

About 100 acres on Belleview pike, 1½ miles from Burlington, land all in high state of cultivation, well watered and all in grass except about 12 acres, good six room house, good cistern and well and necessary outbuildings in good repair. For terms and price call on the undersigned.
RICHARD WHITE.

Local Happenings.

Next Monday is the shortest day of the year.

Not many briar hogs are being put on the local market

Something you all know—Thursday of next week is Christmas.

The buyers will be busy the next few days collecting their purchases of holiday turkeys

Mrs Maurer and Miss Ruth Kelly's pupils are rehearsing for their Christmas exercises on the 24th inst

The Rabbit Hash communication was not received at this office last week until after the paper was printed

Mrs. Eliza Walton, who lives out on the Belleview pike, entertained the young people with a party, last Saturday night.

NOTICE—My five passenger automobile is now ready to hire for carrying passengers, prices reasonable, careful handling of machine, your patronage is solicited.
John C. White.

The children of the Christian Sunday school have prepared an exercise and will have a Christmas tree at the church Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock. A treat for all the children. Parents friends and all the children are invited.

W. T. Davis and his son-in-law Stanley Barker, and their families have moved to Bergin, Boyle county, this State, near which place Mr Davis has bought a fine farm Their many friends here wish them all the good luck imaginable in their new home

A horse looks so much more comfortable when it is covered with a good blanket when standing at the hitching-rack, and a blanket that will make the animal perfectly comfortable under such circumstances does not cost a great deal, and it is a p leasure to note that very few persons leave a horse standing when the weather is disagreeable without being protected by a good blanket

Among the four hundred and over names of Confederate soldiers and their widows, to whom checks were issued for pensions under the State law last week, appear the names of the following in this county:
Henry Florence, Walton;
Hogan Presser, Rabbit Hash;
Moses Scott, Rabbit Hash;
Robt. Sullivan, Hathaway;
L. L. Stephens, Hathaway;
Mrs. Alice Beall, Hebron.

Mr Marion Grubbs, of Richwood spent week before last in Alabama on a little hunting trip and had the chance of going with county commissioners over several miles of Good Road Improvements Mr. Grubbs was much interested in the cotton picking and saw the ginning and baling, he also reports Birmingham the great iron and coal center, as a wonderful growing manufacturing city with sky scrapers and some fifteen leading railroads and an up-to-date terminal R R. Station with underground passage

Walter E. Reed aged 44, died at his home in Louisville last Saturday night after an illness of several months of tuberculosis. He was a son of the late William and Charlotte Reed who for many years were residents of Burlington. Besides his wife and four small children he leaves two brothers Robert and Joseph, of Covington; and four sisters Mrs. O. J. Ryle of Los Angeles, Cala.; Mrs. Kate Ashburn of San Antonia Texas; Mrs. F. A. Hall, of Burlington and Mrs. Lottie Davrainville of Newport. The remains were brought to Newport last Tuesday and interred in Evergreen cemetery.

Sheriff B. B. Hume requests the Recorder to say that there are quite a number of people left on the delinquent list, who have failed to pay their taxes—more than usual, and as a penalty of six per cent. together with interest of six per cent. has already been added, he does not desire to add any more cost to same, but if not paid by the first of January, all delinquents will be advertised for sale. As his term of office expires with the end of the year, he wishes to make a full settlement as sheriff of the county. It can be said to the credit of Sheriff Hume that he has used every method to warn the people of the penalty and costs and if your property is advertised and sold, thereby attaching more cost, he can not be blamed.

Married—At the home of Mr. Hubert Cropper on the 11th of December, The beautiful wedding of Mr. Chester Grant and Miss Lucile May Cropper took place in the presence of the two families and a few well wishing friends. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Grant. He is a prosperous young farmer, who, by integrity and sterling work, has made for himself a place in the high esteem of many friends. The bride is the lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Cropper. She by her genial manner and superb qualities, has gained the love and friendship of all who know her. They have the good wishes of all. After the ceremony we repaired to the dining room where an elegant lunch was served. The bridal party in company with the attendants, Mr. Chas. Stevens and the bride's brother, Mr Raymond Cropper, motored over to Cincinnati. The undersigned had the honor to officiate.
J. W. Campbell.

Lewis M. Park,
Funeral Director and Embalmer
White and Black Funeral Cars.

First-class Carriages for family parties and weddings.
Auto or Horse drawn Ambulance service.
Telephone calls day or night given prompt attention.
Main Avenue, - Erlanger, Ky.

USEFUL PRESENTS

A pair of our gold Glasses makes a useful and beautiful reminder for the holidays.
We also have Gold Eyeglass, Chains and Opera Glasses—all at reasonable prices.

N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,
613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY
Phone, South 1746.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. Elmer Kirkpatrick is quite ill.

Mr. Henry Terrill does not improve very much.

Geo. G. Hughes was visiting in Ludlow a few days last week.

W. D. Cropper spent last Sunday with friends in the country.

Col. Graddy, of Petersburg, was a Sunday guest at the Boone House.

Mrs. C. C. Hughes spent the past week with her husband in Covington.

John C. White and family spent last Saturday night and Sunday in Hathaway neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Walton, of Petersburg, were Sunday guests of her father, G. G. Hughes.

Mrs. Cynthia Mason of Big Bone church neighborhood is spending several days here the guest of John C. White and family.

Wm. Bryan, who Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Blyth raised, went to Cincinnati, Monday, to take employment with the Campbell-Perkins Company.

Mrs. R. C. Conrad and two sons Robert and Paul and Mr. Allie Martin of Dry Ridge, Grant county were Sunday guests of A. B. Renaker and wife.

Last Sunday afternoon Joe Walton's automobile went over a ten foot embankment on the Florence pike at the Burlington corporate limits, and turned over once and a half. In the machine were Joe Walton, Garnett Tolln and Walton Dempsey, the latter being the only one injured to amount to anything, one of his shoulders being broken. Under the circumstances the accident was unavoidable and no one is to blame for it. Earl Smith who started out of town several minutes ahead of Joe Walton, stopped his machine near the fill at R. S. Crisler's shop, and when he was ready to start he was not aware of the presence of the Walton machine and pulled out into the road just as it was in the act of passing. To avoid a collision of the machines Walton swerved to his left and went over the bank. The injury to the machine was slight, a mashed top and few dents in the raiddor and fenders being the extent. It was a narrow escape for the young men. The occupants of the Smith machine were Earl Smith and Roll Dix and Misses Pauline Kelly and Carrie Porter.

Dr. Yelton took Mr. Dempsey to a Cincinnati surgeon Tuesday, and an X ray was used to determine the extent of the injury and it developed a fracture of the clavicle bone. The young man seems to be getting along very nicely.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at Belleview Baptist parsonage last Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m., the pastor Rev. H. B. Hensley officiating. The bride was Miss Mabel Smith the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Smith and the groom Mr. Dolpha Sebree youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sebree. After the ceremony the young couple with their attendants, Miss Fannie Presser and Mr. Lee McNeely returned to the home of the bride where an elegant dinner served in their honor was enjoyed by the relatives and intimate friends of the bride. The day following Mrs. Sebree the groom's mother entertained in a similar manner for his friends and relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Sebree were the recipients of many useful presents from their numerous friends with whom both are very popular. We extend our congratulations and best wishes for a future of happiness and prosperity.

There was such a demand for advertising space this week that it was absolutely necessary for the Recorder to omit many items sent in by its correspondents. It will do better after the holidays. Correspondents will confer a favor by getting their communications in early for next week.

Atty. O. M. Rogers of Erlanger, was elected president of the Kenton County Bar Association at a recent meeting of that body.

R. D. No. 3.

The sick are improving.

Miss Clara Davis of Cincinnati, visited her uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Scothorn last week.

Chas. Harold and Irma Utzinger visited their grandmother Mrs. J. W. Brown the latter part of last week.

Abe Moore of near Cheviot, O., spent from Saturday until Monday of last week with his daughter Mrs. Chas. Muntz.

Mr. Webster of Grant county and daughter-in-law of Covington spent from Saturday until Monday of last week with his daughter Mrs. Elbert Ryle.

DEVON

J. E. Bribtow, of Walton, was a pleacant visitor at this place last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Moller are visiting relatives and friends in Covington.

Miss Nellie Rouse an accomplished musician of Florence has several pupils here who are progressing nicely under her training.

Mr. and Mrs. Effie Hogriffe of near Independence were tendered a surprise Saturday by some of their relatives who gathered at their beautiful home reminding them that Dec. 13 was their 20th marriage anniversary. Each guest brought baskets well filled with all the delicacies of the season.

WALTON.

B. B. Allphin's condition is reported better this Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Robert Baker was very successfully operated on Tuesday at Christ's Hospital and is in a fair way to completely recover.

Walton Chapter Eastern Star had a very interesting and enjoyable meeting last Monday evening when Mrs. Laura Gaines was initiated into the mysteries of that order. Officers for the ensuing year were also elected and appointed.

An X-ray examination showed that the ball and socket joint of J. M. Stamler's arm was cracked across and it will be necessary for him to undergo a surgical operation so as to expose the injured bone and then lace it together with wire especially adapted for that purpose to join the injured bone an operation that will be extremely painful. He was operated on at Christ's Hospital Wednesday.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

Stubbers Gasoline Lighting machine four gallon tank, will sell cheap if sold at once. For further particulars write to
Hickeys Shoe Store
Madison Ave.
Covington Ky.

For Sale—Good driving and family horse. Apply to Mrs. John Decring Erlanger, Ky.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of Execution No. 2721 directed to me, which issue from the Clerk's Office of the Kenton Circuit Court, in favor of Ottawa Banking & Trust Co., against Ernest Hartman and John H. Aylor, I or one of my deputies, will, on Saturday, the 27th day of December, 1913, between the hours of 1 o'clock p. m. and 2:30 o'clock p. m., at Williams' Store, Gunpowder, Boone county, Kentucky, expose to public sale, to the highest bidder, the following described property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy plaintiff's debt, interest and costs, to-wit:

One Black Stallion, five years old, blaze face, levied upon as the property of Ernest Hartman and John H. Aylor. This stallion is a fine draft animal.

Terms:—Sale will be made on a credit of three months, bond with approved security required, bearing interest at the rate of six pecent per annum interest from day of sale and having the force and effect of a judgment. Amonnt to be raised by sale, $1,011.15.

B. B. HUME, Sheriff Boone Co.

So much foggy weather at this time of the year is unusual for this part of the country.

Have you a turkey ready for Christmas?

Extraordinary Values

At DINE'S 530-32 Madison Ave. Covington, Ky.

During The Month Of December

Business Success for 28 Yrs
There Must Be a Reason.

Here is an offer that should especially appeal to those who are going to furnish their home complete.

HANDSOME
Two-In. Post Brass Bed
Free With Every Purchase of $125.00 or More

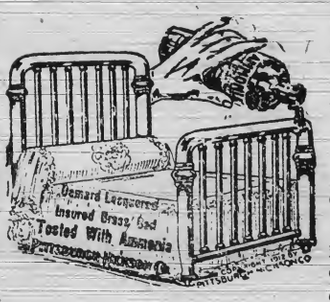
It is handsome in appearance and is finished in a guaranteed lacquer, furnished in either satin or polished finish.

Dine's Sanitary Couch Bargain

Built of heavy angle steel, wire fabric and highly tempered Premier Helicals. Can be made large enough for two persons..... $2.98

This is a picture of our Auto Truck, which delivers your FURNITURE in perfect condition.



NO FREIGHT. NO BREAKAGE.

518-520 York Street, Newport, Ky.

DINE'S
FURNITURE HOUSE.

530-532 Madison Av. Covington, Ky

A Nice Brass Bed

Can be furnished now, in either polish or satin finish, at the price you have usually paid for a good iron bed. Be sure and see our special---

$15.48

Other designs up to and including $75.

Thesebeds are all guaranteed for a period of 10 years. Another extraordinary value is the one above illustrated at $22.50 actually worth $30.00.

The Holiday Season is Near

and there will be many weddings during this time. Readers of the Boone County Recorder who are considering this step, should by all means call as early as possible and let us show you thru our handsome Furniture Store. You will be agreeably surprised at the beautiful, substantial household furnishings within your reach. We make a specialty of outfits to young couples just going to housekeeping.

Let Us Furnish The Home-To-Be?

We know just how to fix you up, to make your little home Cozy, Comfortable and Convenient at the Least Possible Cost to you. Don't fail to give us an opportunity.

THEO·HECK & CO

319-343 W. Fifth St., Cincinnati, Ohio. Between Central Avenue and Plum Street.

Make this store your headquarters when in the city. Leave your bundles here until train time. There will be no charge, and you will be relieved of the inconvenience of carrying them around all day. Feel at home here, we are all Kentuckians.

The Corn Club boys are raising 100 bushels to the acre, but the old farmers feel at this is all wrong, as their grandfather's did not do such things—Henderson Gleaner

For Sale—Mandolin Guitar Harp. Apply to Mrs. O. W. Sandford Burlington Ky.

For Sale—Highbred yearling Jersey bull; also high grade Holstein calf. Apply to August Drinkenburg Florence, Ky.

For Sale—About 15 bushels choice seed corn Johnson Co. White, $2.00 per bushel. First come first served. Apply to L. T. Clore Burlington, Ky.

Robert Nelson, of near Crider, killed a large wildcat one day last week It is the first wildcat killed in that section of the county in many years, and caused no little excitement in Mr Nelson's neighborhood The north eastern section of the county contains a great many wildcats At least severah have been killed la —Princeton Leader.

MAKING PROFIT WITH GEESE

Farmer Cannot Go Far Wrong in Selection of Breed If Fowls Are Given Proper Attention.

In geese there are seven standard varieties, and apparently the most profitable are the Toulouse, a gray goose, weighing: Adult ganders, 20 pounds; young ganders, 18; old geese, 18; young geese, 15. They are very easy to raise if you have plenty of pasture for them to graze upon, and are very thrifty, rapid growers and exceedingly good eating.

The Embden is a white goose, and in weight is about the same as the Toulouse and can be raised with about the same ease and profit, feathers being a very profitable part of raising both ducks and geese.

From all the varieties, no matter which you select, you cannot go far wrong; with the proper care and attention to the minutiae and detail you can come out a winner with money in your pocket from the poultry "crop" that you otherwise would not have had. Go at it slowly, put tact and business methods in the conduct of it and success will be yours. Failure is rarely if ever the fault of the fowls.

Profitable Flock.

Now having selected and purchased the stock with which you expect to lay the foundation of a profitable poultry undertaking, the next thing will be care, attention, feeding, etc., in order to produce the best results.

Keep in mind always, morning, noon and night, cleanliness and freedom from vermin. Both are absolutely necessary to success, and are easily obtained if you go at it right.

NO JOKE IN RAISING PIGEONS

One of Big Essentials, Experience, Cannot Be Learned From Books —Squabs in Demand.

Keep the pigeons' flying loft clear of poles, as the birds are apt to injure themselves by flying against them.

If you buy a homer that has large warts on its beak you may be sure that it is more than two years old.

Never buy pigeons unless the mating is guaranteed.

Squabs stay in the nest until they are ready to leave it for good.

It costs from 90 cents to $1 a pair to feed breeders for 12 months.

In the big cities the market for squabs is good for every month in the year.

One can learn many things from books, but one of the things one cannot learn all about is pigeon raising. That takes experience.

POULTRY NOTES

Disease lurks about filthy drinking vessels.

• • •

Confine the hen until the chicks are weaned.

• • •

Indian Runners are good foragers and light eaters.

• • •

Have some way of telling the oldest eggs and keep them sold.

• • •

The English breeds are, Dorkings, Orpingtons and Red Caps.

• • •

Powder the chicks occasionally during the first eight weeks.

• • •

When wet mashes are fed be sure they are crumbly and not sticky.

• • •

The Asiatics or meat breeds are, Brahmas, Cochins and Langshans.

• • •

Ducks are never troubled with lice; neither do they have cholera or roup.

• • •

The old hens, especially those older than two years, should be fattened and sold.

• • •

In order to obtain eggs it is necessary to have healthy, vigorous stock, properly fed.

• • •

The partial open front poultry house is conceded to be the best type for most sections.

• • •

Given the same care and feed pure bred fowls will make a greater profit than mongrels.

• • •

Keep only what males are needed for grading. All others are a needless expense on the flock.

• • •

It is easy to put off fixing up the poultry house, but to neglect it will give you a conscience which will be a disagreeable companion all winter—or ought to.

If You Get It at ..... JAYNES It's the Best and you buy It for less.

529-531 Madison Avenue, COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

Near Where Madison Avenue and Sixth Street Meet.

MERCHANDISE ORDERS ISSUED.
THESE ORDERS ARE THE BEST FORM OF Giving Holiday Gifts

A Man or Woman receiving one of Jaynes' Orders can select anything in any Department

PRACTICAL XMAS GIFTS

Prices, and not words, count. We do not fill pages of newspaper space with high-sounding phrases---rather we fill this store with beautiful merchandise, priced so low and beyond all competition that it is the best advertising we could have. This is proven by these prices:

Dependable Furs For Christmas Gifts

Our Fur Department is complete in every detail. We carry a stylish line of Natural and Red Foxes, Opossum and Black Coneys, Scarfs of every description, shawl and animal-shaped; large pillow or barrel muffs plain or head trimmed.

Separate Scarfs, $2.98 Up. Separate Muffs, $1.98 Up. Complete Sets Scarfs and Muffs, $4.98 Up.

Rain Coats Make Practical Gifts

Children's Rain Capes—Rubber Surface; gray striped with plaid hood; all sizes..... $1.48

Children's Rain Coats or Capes—Made of an extra good quality rubber surface, plaid lined or sateen rubberized with silk plaid hoods; in tan, navy and red; sizes 6 to 14..... $1.98

Ladies' Silk Hose, Special Value---39c, 50, 75c, $1.00, $1.25

Ladies' Rain Coats—Made of a double texture cloth, rubber surface, plaid lined; cemented seams; in gray or tan; all sizes..... $6.50

Umbrellas Make Desirable Gifts for All.

Umbrella Special---This lot contains Ladies' and Gents' Umbrellas, made of an extra good quality Gloria Silk; deep tape edge; handles of every description, in Mission, with gold or silver mountings, pearl and silver effects, plain natural wood or horn effects. Special..... 98c

Umbrellas—Made of an extra good quality of Taffatine, in a large variety of handles, including horn, plain or mounted Mission effects, with silk covers Special..... $1.49

Children's Umbrellas---Made of a good quality of cloth, good steel frame, plain natural wood or fancy handles; silver tipped or pearl effects. Special.... 50c

New Dressy Waists For Christmas Gifts

20 Styles of White Lawn and Voile Waists—Every style attractive, including all the latest models in plain tailored or lace trimmed effects; trimmed in every conceivable style; high neck, long sleeves. $1.50 values. Special..... 98c

$3.00 Waists for $1.98---The season's latest and most up-to-date effects in Voiles, Lawns and tailored styles; all neat and dainty patterns, trimmed with hand crochet and shadow laces or hand embroidered effects; high neck, long sleeves..... $1.98

Our Waist Department in Silks, Chiffons and Laces, a wonderful showing, from.... $2.98 to $5.98

Sweater Coats Bring Joy

Children's Sweaters---Made of good, all-wool yarns, in plain and fancy weaves; collars surplice or high button up to neck; in red, white and gray..... 98c

Children's Sweaters---Styles for boys and girls; button up to the neck, sailor color or Middy styles; plain or fancy weaves, in gray, white, red and color combinations..... $1.49

Silk Petticoats for Her

Messaline Silk Petticoats---Made with deep accordion cluster plaited flounce; these skirts are all colors and black. Special $1.98 to $6.00

TOYLAND

Thousands of Toys to delight the little ones, and you buy them here for less.

THREE FLOORS BRIMFUL OF CHOICE HOLLIDAY GOODS AT LOWER PRICES THAN YOU CAN BUY THEM FOR IN CINCINNATI.

TO BE SATISFIED GET IT AT--- JAYNES It's the BEST and You Buy it FOR LESS.

DAILY
Courier-Journal
AT HALF PRICE

DURING DECEMBER
JANUARY
FEBRUARY

The Boone Co. Recorder

has made a special arrangement whereby the Daily Courier-Journal can be furnished one year for $3.00, six months $1.75, by mail (Sunday not included) to all persons who will give their orders to us during the months named above. You can have the Daily Courier-Journal and the Recorder one year each

For Only $4.50

After February 28, 1914, the price of the Daily Courier-Journal alone is $6.00 a year. Take advantage of this special Bargain Offer at once and Reduce the High Cost of Living.

To Get Advantage of This Cut Rate, Orders Must Be Sent Us, Not to the Courier-Journal.

Peters
"ALL-FOR-WEAR"
THE BEST WORK SHOE IN THE WORLD

FOR SALE BY
W. M. RACHAL & CO.
UNION, KENTUCKY.

H. G. BLANTON,
Funeral Director and Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.

First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.
I Have a Nice White Funeral Car and Ambulance,

Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.
Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

Boone County Farms and Town Property For Sale.

165 acres on the Waterloo and Rabbit Hash pike 2½ miles from Rabbit Hash and 4½ miles from Belleview. One and one-half story house with nine rooms, two new barns 36x48 and 40x48, other out buildings, plenty of water, good fence, all in grass but 90 acres. Price $60 per acre.

—!!—

100 acres almost adjoining the above farm with no house but good barn 36x48. Fifty acres woodland, 75 acres of this land will grow tobacco. Plenty water. Five acres in cultivation. Price $30.00 per acre. The two above farms could be considered as one farm or can be sold separate.

—!!—

86 acres on the Waterloo and McVille pike ¾ mile from McVille and about 1½ miles from Waterloo or Belleview. No improvements except good fences. Plenty water. All in grass. Thirty acres will grow tobacco. Price $20.00 per acre.

—!!—

Good 5-room house and one acre ground in Burlington. Price $1000.

—!!—

Two houses and lots in Petersburg one for $600 and the other for $400.

Also have some farms for sale not listed above.

A. B. RENAKER,
Burlington, Ky.

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS

For Sale, stock from the flock scoring most points at State Fair last fall. Cockerels, $1.00 each; eggs in season. (dec 18)

MRS. B. C. GRADDY,
Bullittsville, Ky.

WANTED—A good, steady, farm hand by the month or year to begin work at once or soon as possible. Good house and good wages guaranteed to right party. Apply to or address J. W. EWBANKS, Brashear, Ky.

Look Here!

The Best Offer Ever.

The Boone County Recorder	All One Year For
The Weekly Enquirer,
Farm & Fireside, semi-monthly
Poultry Success, monthly	$2.10
Woman's World, monthly
Farm News, monthly

By Ordering the above separately the cost would be $4.25 for the Six Publications each one year.

This Big Proposition

is open to all New Subscribers to The Recorder and to those whose renewals will extend into 1914.

Those who have renewed up to or beyond Jany. 1, 1914 will be given the benefit of the above combination by sending to this office Sixty Cents.

Now is the time to secure your reading matter for the long winter nights coming on. Grasp this Opportunity.

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,
Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.
Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.
Office and Wareroom:
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
IRA POPE Agent, - - Grant, Ky

J. L. HAMILTON
(Successor to M. T. WILSON)

FUNERAL DIRECTOR,
Verona, Ky.

Telephone calls day or night given prompt attention. Mrs. M. T. Wilson is my assistant and solicits the patronage of the friends of her late husband. dec-1 12

CHAS. E. GARNETT.
AUCTIONEER.
Will go to any part of the county
Address.
R. D. 2, Ludlow, Ky.

A Splendid Clubbing Bargain
WE OFFER
The Boone Co. Recorder
AND
The Cincinnati Weekly Enquirer
Both One Year For Only $1.85
Subscriptions may be new or renewal.

What the Weekly Enquirer Is.

It is issued every Thursday, subscription price $1 per year, and it is one of the best home metropolitan weeklies of to-day. It has all the facilities of the great DAILY ENQUIRER for obtaining the world's events, and for that reason can give you all the leading news. It carries a great amount of valuable farm matter, crisp editorials and reliable up-to-date market reports. Its numerous departments make it a home farm or business man.

This grand offer is limited and we advise you to take advantage by subscribing for the above combination right now. Call or mail orders to

BOONE CO. RECORDER,
Burlington, Ky.

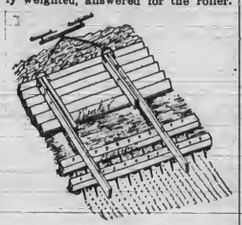
Union Creamery Company
UNION, KENTUCKY

Pays the highest possible price for Butter Fat, in whole milk and hand separated cream. Honest tests and weights guaranteed.

A. L. Mallett, :: Manager.
Phone, Consolidated No. 40.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.



Take your County paper.

GOOD HOME-MADE IMPLEMENT

Drag, When Properly Weighted, Answers for Roller and Harrow—Puts Soil in Fine Condition.

(By J. W. GRIFFIN.)

This is one of the best home-made implements; not the best made, but the best implement that I ever saw. I have been a close observer, and have given the greater part of my time in the last thirty years, to the study of farm, labor, improvements, and short cuts in practical farming. Under all conditions, when advisable to use the harrow, this implement comes in at first place. It has been some twelve or thirteen years since I first called attention to the draw and harrow combined. At first I made several with a roller attachment. The roller was hitched to the harrow. But after using this one season, I come to the conclusion that the drag, when properly weighted, answered for the roller.

Drag and Harrow.

Then the sharp teeth of the harrow left the soil in the finest condition possible.

With the accompanying pen drawing, it will hardly be necessary to go into details in regard to making one of these. Although I will give the dimensions of the timbers. For ordinary use, a width of six feet is sufficient. But, on perfectly level, or land that is practically free of trash and stumps or stones one as long as eight feet can be used to an advantage.

Material required:

Six pieces 1x10-inch plank, 6 feet long, planker.

Two pieces 3x3-inch hard wood, 6 feet long, beams for harrow.

Two pieces 2x6-inch cross beam for harrow, to planker.

Two pieces 2x6-inch cleats to which planker is made.

Twenty-three pieces five-eighths-inch square harrow teeth, 12 inches long.

Eight one-half-inch bolts, 10 inches long.

Two one-half-inch bolts 5 inches long.

Two one-half-inch bolts 7 inches long.

Two 4-inch clevices.

Two pounds 10 penny nails.

The beams that connect the harrow with the planker is worked on a bolt at (x. x.) which permits the harrow being raised to remove trash.

WATER FOR THE DAIRY COW

Good Tank Heater or Some Other Device Should Be Used During Winter—Helps Milk Yield.

It is very important that the water drunk by the cows giving three or more gallons of milk daily be warmed to about 60 degrees Fahrenheit. Otherwise the cows will not drink as much as they need to keep up a good milk flow. It does not take much ice water to chill a thin-fleshed dairy cow through and through on a cold winter day, especially when she is compelled to walk some distance through the snow or a cutting wind to get to the tank or pond.

Experiments made at the Missouri station show that drinking water is needed in proportion to the milk yield. That is, a cow giving six gallons of milk a day needs about twice as much water as a cow giving three gallons a day. If the water is too cold to be comfortable if drunk in large quantities, the cow will not drink enough, and as a result will drop considerably in her milk yield.

When Missouri Chief Josephine was giving about 100 pounds of milk each day last winter she drunk daily about 21 gallons of water. Imagine how she would have suffered if that had been ice water. It was warmed, however, and Josephine did not chill after drinking.

A good tank heater, or some other device should be used this winter to warm the water for the cows. It will pay.

EGGS EXTREMELY NUTRITIOUS

Contain All the Elements Required for Building Up and Support of the Human Body.

Hens' eggs contain 50 per cent. water, 16 per cent. protein, 33 per cent. fat.

Ducks' eggs, 46 per cent. water, 17 per cent. protein, 36 per cent. fat.

Goose eggs, 44 per cent water, 19 per cent. protein, 36 per cent. fat.

Turkeys' eggs, 48 per cent. water, 18 per cent. protein, 33 per cent. fat.

Protein, as is generally known, is the substance that goes to make muscle and blood. Fat, of course, is fuel for running the body-machine. Thus, it will be seen, eggs, though half or nearly half water, are extremely nutritious, containing all the elements required for the building up and support of the human body.

Dairy Calf Often Overlooked.

Many dairymen and farmers fail to appreciate the great importance of spending thought and feed in the development of the dairy calf during the first six months of its life.

Do Your Shopping Now-Get Busy, Holiday Shoppers

MUST BE SOLD AT ONCE!

Not a pair of this enormous stock of Holiday Shoes and Slippers will we carry over. See these magnificent and useful gifts. It's the greatest money-saving opportunity ever offered. GET BUSY! XMAS ALMOST HERE! DELAY NO LONGER!

Buy your Holiday Footwear here and the savings will enable you to enjoy many of the holiday luxuries you might not otherwise afford. A purchase of well-known advertised Slippers, made of the finest stock and by skilled workmen. See these magnificent holiday gifts, and you will realize why we outsell all other dealers in Covington and Newport Combined.

Ladies' Fur-Trimmed Juliets, with ribbon effect and beautiful ornament in every color all sizes; holiday special..... 75c

Ladies' Fur-Trimmed Slippers, in all colors; regular $1.50 values; holiday special..... 69c

Ladies' High-Grade Holiday Slippers made of the very finest stocks; this is far less than the other dealers must pay for these; a most beautiful assortment.. 99c

Ladies' fur-trimmed Felt Slippers, with leather soles. 75c values. Christmas Special..... 39c

Ladies' Custom-Made Footwear, made on this season's newest models, embracing all the pretty novelties; in all leathers and fabrics; $4.00 and $5.00 values..... $2.49

Ladies' Fine Shoes--In every leather and fabric; made on the newest models; worth every bit of $4.00; Holiday Special..... $1.99

Ladies' Fine Gunmetal Patent Kid—New styles, just received from the Eeast; great $3.00 values; Holiday Special..... $1.49

CHILDREN'S DEPATMENT

A new purchase of Children's Shoes just received. Make the kids happy with a new pair of Boots! They will appreciate this gift.

Misses' and Children's High-Top Derby Boots—In all leathers; a real $2.50 value..... $1.49

Children's High-Top Derby Boots See this great special; worth $1.25.. 50c

Men's Everett Slippers in tan and black; alligator; 75c values..... 39c

Men's Everett Slippers in tan and black vici kid; $1.25 values..... 75c

Men's Everett and Opera Slipper in black, tan and soft vici kid; $1.50 values..... 99c

Men's Comfort Slippers in vici kid, made of fine, soft stock and good rubber goring; a gift that is sure of being appreciated; all sizes; in tans and blacks; $1.50 values; holiday special..... 79c

$2.00 values in Men's Romeos, made of the soft kid; at..... 99c

High-Grade Romeos of the finest vici kid and best rubber goring; sold everywhere at $2.50 ..... $1.25

Boys' House Slippers; in tan and black; 75c values Holiday Special..... 29c

Men's Custom-Made Shoes—Just received, in gunmetal, tans and patent, in the newest English toes, the full raised toes and many medium and more conservative styles; over 60 styles to select from; made on the newest models; $4.50 and $5.00 values..... $2.49

Men's High-Grade Shoes—All leathers and styles; $3.50 values..... $1.99

Men's Fine Shoes—In all leathers; on special bargain table for the holiday shoppers; $2.50 and $3.00 values..... $1.49

Boys' Shoes—In all leathers and styles; $2.00 values..... 99c

Boys' Custom-Made Shoes—In tan, gunmetal and patent; $3.00 values..... $1.49

High-Tops and Rubbers at big price reductions. See our prices.

DAN COHEN,

Pike Street. Cohen Building, COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

Monmouth St., Bet. 9th and 8th, NEWPORT, KENTUCKY.

"FAGGED-OUT" WOMEN

Will Find Help in This Letter.

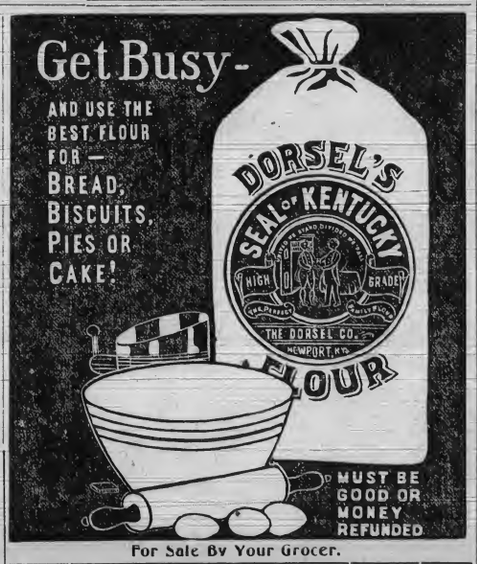
Overworked, run down, "fagged out" women who feel as though they could hardly drag about, should profit by Mrs. Brill's experience.

She says: "I was in a very weak, run-down condition. Life was not worth living. I could not sleep, was very nervous, stomach bad, and was not able to work.

"I consulted with one or two physicians, without benefit. I read of Vinol helping some one in a similar condition so I began to take it, and it simply did wonders for me. I gained in weight and I am now in better health and stronger than ever. I can not find words enough to praise Vinol."—Mrs. W. H. Brill, Racine, Wis.

Thousands of women and men who were formerly weak and sickly owe their present rugged health to the wonderful strength-creating effects of Vinol. We guarantee Vinol to build you up and make you strong. If it does not we give back your money.

P. S.—For rough, scaly skin, try our Saxo Salve. We guarantee it.



Robert W. Jones. Druggist, Walton

Rogers Bros. General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE. Coal Kept in the Yard.

Country Produce taken in Trade

For Sale By Your Grocer.

For Sale or Rent.

One Hundred and Eight and Two-Third Acres of Land, at the mouth of Gunpowder creek in this county; the best hog farm in Northern Kentucky. For further particulars call on or address Erastus Rice, Rising Sun, Indiana, or S. D. Rice, Grant, Ky., R. D. 1.

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN
DENTIST

will be at Burlington on the first and second Monday, and in Union on the third and fourth Monday of each month, prepared and qualified to practice according to the latest methods extracting teeth painless.

All work guaranteed.

Take your County Paper.

FIFTY-SECOND SEMI-ANNUAL STATEMENT OF THE

Boone County Deposit Bank

Burlington, Kentucky

At Close of Business December 31, 1912.

RESOURCES.		LIABILITIES.
Loans, Bonds, &c.	$170,858.50	Capital Stock	$ 30,000.00
Overdrafts	52.81	Surplus	45,000.00
Due from Banks	38,391.04	Undivided Profits, &c	7,581.49
Cash	7,711.80	Deposits	136,891.35
Banking House, &c	3,000.00	Due Banks	841.31
Total	$220,014.15	Total	$220,014.15

A Bank that is going after business, and going in the right way.

HOW? By promptness in serving its customers.
By courteous attention to their banking needs.
By readiness in meeting their requirements, and, above all
By perfect security of the funds intrusted to its care, having over $100,000.00 to secure depositors.

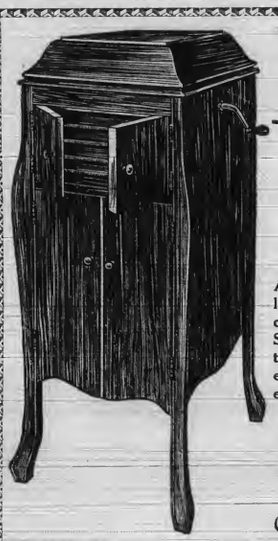
We have the largest Capital and Surplus of any Bank in this county, and are amply able to accommodate our patrons, and are willing at all times to afford them every accommodation justified by the rules of good and safe banking, whether their accounts are large or small.

N. E. RIDDELL, President. J. C. REVILL, Cashier.

J. F. KIESWETTER,

RUGS MADE of OLD CARPETS



Compressed Air Carpet Cleaning.

TELEPHONE SOUTH 21.

250 PIKE STREET,

Covington, - - - Ky.

M. RIDDELL, Agent, Burlington, Ky.

ADAMS

A New Victrola $75

A Cabinet Style Victrola combining a record cabinet for only $75.00. Same perfect, mellow tone quality of the most expensive Victrola, same elegant finish.

Easy Monthly Payments.

A. ADAMS,

15 Pike Street,

Covington, - - Ky.

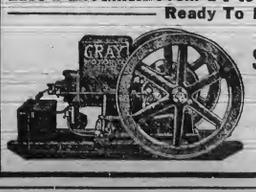
The Cincinnati Grain Co.

HAVE OPENED THEIR NEW HOUSE AT ERLANGER, KY.

FREE PHONE ERLANGER 49

Handle Hay, Grain, Flour and Feed of all Kinds. Will Also Buy Your Wheat, Rye, Etc.

Special Notice—We are selling at city prices, consequently can save you the long haul from Covington and Cincinnati.



GIVE US A TRIAL

FARM MOTORS

For Pumping, Operating Churns, Saws, Corn Shredders, Filling Silos, Etc.

Last a Lifetime. From 1½ to 25 h. p. $33 and up.

Ready To Run.

Direct Factory Representatives

SPENCER-HARTLIEB CO.

316-318 MAIN STREET

CINCINNATI, OHIO

Phone, 1810 Main

Read Our Big Combination Offer.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS

IT WILL BE FOR YOU IF YOU BUY

1863 — GROCERIES — 1913

FOR FIFTY YEARS

Northern Kentucky's Largest Grocery and Seed House.

Never buy until you get our prices. A postal card will SAVE YOU DOLLARS.

AT

HILL'S

Long Distance Phones S. 1855 and 1856

WE BUY GROCERIES

from the makers and Seeds from the growers, saving you retailer's profits.

Send your mail orders to us. Lowest Prices, High Quality Goods, prompt service guaranteed.

QUALITY THE HIGHEST.

Fancy Ohio Corn per dozen 70c; per can 7c
Fancy Illinois Corn per doz. $1.00; per can 10c
Solid Pack Tomatoes per doz. $1.00; per can 10c
Stringless Beans per doz. 90c; per can 8½c
Early June Peas per doz. 90c; per can 8½c
Fancy Sifted Peas per doz. $1.40; per can 12½c
Cal. Asparagus Tips per doz. $1.30; per can 11c
Lye Hominy per doz. 70c; per can 7c
Kraut per doz. $1; per can 10c
Sweet Potatoes per doz. 95c; per can 10c

Best Stick Candy 7c Per Pound
In Two Pound Packages.

Good Mixed Candy
Two Pounds for 15c

High Grade Mixed Candy
Two Pounds for 25c

High Grade Chocolate Creams
Two Pounds for 25c

Save Money on Flour

We are the leading flour dealers of this part of the country, representing two of the largest mills in the United States. WE PAY THE FREIGHT ON ALL FLOUR.

Rarus Flour Highest Grade Winter Patent.
$5.25 Bbl. or $2.85 Half Bbl.

VERYBEST FLOUR
The Cream of Hard Wheat--A Splendid Bread Flour.
$5.25 Bbl. or $2.85 Half Bbl.

Wichita's Best Flour
Made from the best wheat by the best mill in Kansas.
$5.50 Per Bbl.

ALPHA FLOUR
Highest grade made of Select Winter Wheat. It will make the whitest bread and biscuit you ever baked.
$5.25 Bbl. or $2.85 Half bbl.

When you buy Flour at Hill's you run no risk, as every barrel is sold on an absolute
MONEY BACK GUARANTEE.

PRICES THE LOWEST.

All New, Fancy Mixed Nuts 17c Pound
3 Pounds 50c

Fresh Roasted Peanuts
5c per Quart

25 Pound Box Fancy California Evaporated Peaches $2.00

Standard Granulated Sugar
$4.50 per 100 lbs

Atmore's Plum Pudding pound can 20c; 2 lb can 35c
Atmore's Con. Mince Meat 2 packages 15c
Atmore's Bulk Mince Meat 3 pounds 25c
Fancy Seeded Raisins 10c pound package
Fancy Cleaned Currants 10c pound package
Fancy Layer Figs 15c per pound
Dromedary Dates 10c per package
Leghorn Citron 18c per pound
Candied Lemon Peel 18c per pound
Candied Orange Peel 18c per pound
Layer Raisins 12½c per pound

It's Better to Drink

25c Pound Nobetter Coffee 25c Pound

A TRIAL CONVINCES
Largest Sales Because It Is Better.
Freight Paid on 20 Pounds or More.

Navy Beans.....3 qts. 25c
Red Kidney Beans...6c pound
Lima Beans.....7½c pound
Marrow Beans.....7c pound
Oat Meal.....8 pounds 25c
Rolled Oats.....8 pounds 25c
Green Peas.....3 qts. 25c
Hominy.....3 qts. 10c
Hominy Flake.....2 qts. 5c
Grits.....3 qts. 10c
Pearl Barley.....4c pound
Fancy Head Rice.3 pounds 25c
Choice Head Rice....6c pound
Choice Head Rice....6c pound
Cracked Rice.....4c pound
Write for prices on large lots.

New Crop N. O. Molasses
In Five Gallon Cans $3.00

Highest Grade New Kraut
In Fifteen Gallon Kegs $4.00

10 Pound Pail New, Fat Mackerel $1.00

20 Pound Box Best Oyster Crackers 6½c Pound

For Health's Sake Use

Hill's Pure Cream Tartar Baking Powder
30c Per Pound.
STRENGTH AND PURITY GUARANTEED

Sharp and Rich N. Y. Cream Cheese
20c per Pound

Full Cream Long Horn Cheese
12 Pounds each, 17c Pound

Five Gallon Pail Sour Pickles $2.75

New Pack Fancy Pink Salmon
90c per dozen

Fancy Evaporated Peaches 3 pounds for 25c
Fancy Sun Dried Apples 3 pounds for 25c
Fancy Large Prunes 10c per pound
Fancy Evaporated Apricots 20c per pound
Lemon Cling Peaches per doz. $1.65; 15c per can Bartlett Pears per doz. $1.10; 10c per can
Green Gage Plums per doz. $1.65; 15c per can Sliced Peaches per dozen $1.10; 10c per can
Fancy Hawaiian Pineapple per doz. $2.40; 22½c per can Bahama Sliced Pineapple per doz. $1.10; 10c per can

When You Buy Seeds at Hill's

You Reach Nearest the Grower.
Our Seeds are tested on the same model tester in use by the U. S. Government. We can give you actual test.
WRITE FOR PRICES.

Put your name on a postal card, mail it to us, and we will send you a 1914 Almanac, one worth having.

Poultry Remedies and Feed.

Agent for Jones' Brand Fertilizers and Perfection Sprayers.
WRITE FOR PRICES.

Geo. W. Hill & Company

GROCERS | 27 and 29 Pike Street or 26 West Seventh Street, Covington, - Kentucky | SEEDMAN

ESTABLISHED 1863

The Place to Get All Your Christmas Supplies

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXXVIII. Established 1875. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 25, 1913. $1.50 Per Year. NO. 13.

BOYS SHOW HOW TO RAISE CORN

Club Members Have Average Yield of Sixty Bushels To The Acre.

Nineteen Counties To Have Advice of Experts This Coming Year.

What intensive farming will do for crops in a season of drouth was demonstrated this year by the boys corn clubs, according to the report of Dr. Fred Mutchler, to Commissioner of Agriculture J. W. Newman on the progress of farm demonstration work in Kentucky. He said the 15,000 boys enrolled in the corn clubs made an average of 60 bushels of corn to the acre, as compared to an average of 20½ bushels for the State. Twenty boys raised between 90 and 100 bushels to the acre. Daviess county took first and second prizes. W. Arthur Cook leading with 131 bushels, 3 pecks on his acre, raised at a cost of 17 cents a bushel, with Homer Weatherholdt a close second, having raised 130 bushels, 1 peck.

Farm demonstration work thru the co-operative efforts of the Federal Department of Agriculture, the State Department of Agriculture, Ky. State University and the Normal Schools, was carried on in the following counties this year: Daviess, Metcalfe, Jefferson, Henderson, Mihlenburg and Warren. The Federal government gave $22,500 and the counties raised $11,925. Small tracts of land were devoted to demonstration work, and the demonstrators acted as consulting experts, visiting the farmers who sought their aid once a month, making soil tests, advising about crops suitable to the soil, fertilization and stock raising. Dr. Mutchler said that some of the counties reported that the year's work was responsible for hundreds of thousands of dollars increase in the material wealth of the farmers.

Next year the following additional counties will have demonstration farms, under the direction of an expert: Madison, Christian, Mason, Barren, Hopkins, Mercer, Perry, Todd, Woodford, Grayson, Pulaski, Lawrence and Logan.

TEXAS LETTER.

Renewing his subscription J. D. Gaines of Texarkana, writes:

Would like to be in old Boone to spend Christmas but am getting a little old and not overburdened with wealth. I suppose you remember Lewis Collins a brother of Ben Collins and my wife. He died Oct. 9th last, at his home near Covington Tenn., and was buried there. Ben and Ump Collins were with him when he died. You probably remember that his first wife was a Miss Clara Moore a niece of Clark Green and she had a son named William Collins that my wife wishes to locate in order to inform him of his father's death. If you know of anyone in Burlington who knows anything about him would you kindly let us know? Mrs. Clark Green if living could probably tell us something about him. Miss Moore I think came from North Vernon, Ind. and taught music in Burlington about 1872-73. Lewis Collins was mostly raised by his aunt Mrs. Harriet Brady, in Burlington his mother having died in his infancy.

With kind regards to you and all my old friends up there I remain.

Yours Truly
J. D. GAINES.

LIKES HIS JOB.

Covington Ky.,
Dec. 16th 1913.

Dear Old Recorder:—I had intended writing a letter to the old home paper ere this but have been so busy getting moved and settled that I have not had time. We arrived here safely Dec. 9th and I had to report for duty next day so you can see I have been very busy.

I like the work here and certainly have a nice lot of fellows to work with. Mr. Bowen the P. M. and his assistant have been very kind to me and I now feel as though I had taken the first degree as a P. O. Clerk.

To my friends and old patrons on R. D. 1 to whom I did not get a chance to bid good bye I wish to extend greetings and assure them that I will never forget their many kindnesses bestowed on me and to one and all of them I wish a very merry Xmas and a Happy New Year.

As for the old friend from home the RECORDER I just simply can not do without it, so am enclosing $1.50 for which please mail my old friend to yours as ever

ERNEST J. RYLE
1023 Huntington Ave.,
Covington Ky.

Postmasters are having considerable trouble with parcel post packages because in many instances they are not prepared for handling as required by postal regulations, and they have to repack them before they are mailable. Do your packages up good and strong.

LETTER FROM ILLINOIS.

The writer has been a citizen of Illinois for 58 years. At the time of [illegible] citizen of the great State it was not uncommon to find deer in the timber skirts. But the hunting of these animals soon gave way to the clearing axe of the new settler. The hills and valleys over which these fleet footed creatures once raced and capered have for a generation and a half been responding to the toil of the agriculturist.

The fame of Illinois as an agricultural state has gone into England Germany, Ireland and other kingdoms. A German coming to the United States for the pursuit of agriculture is almost certain to be directed to Illinois. In fact he has already heard of Illinois through his friends or relatives here. There are counties and districts in this state where four fifths of the population are Germans. The Germans are as a rule good farmers and many of them are good and kind neighbors. A frugal sober, German renter usually owns his own farm in a few years. It is probably true that during the last three or four decades that Illinois has settled more German farmers proportionately than any other of the Middle or Western states. But while this may be true agriculturists from other countries have largely taken to Illinois. But farmers here now do not have the advantage of the fresh virgin soil of the prairies as was the case sixty years ago. To raise a good crop here at that period a farmer had but to turn over his prairie soil plant good seed and this rich soil and nature with one or two cultivations would do the rest. As a matter of fact a fair crop of corn was in some instances gathered from a mere sod planting without any cultivation. In the period of which I am writing good new prairie land could be purchased at from $10 to $25 per acre. Then a farmer paid little or no attention to fertilizing. Little pains were taken to save manure. For three decades following the straw from grain was burned almost as soon as the threshing machine was out of the field. There has come a radical change. Farmers in this day burn little or no straw. Farmers in some sections are baling their straw and marketing it and it is now one of the farmers assets.

As to price of farming land now well—a farmer is almost afraid to price his land for fear he will be taken up. Central Illinois has one of the greatest corn belts to be found in the middle states. Farms in this belt have recently sold as high as $250 per acre. And this same land can hardly be said to be as productive now as it was 25 years ago when its commercial value was only about one third of the present valuation. With all the wear and gradual decrease in soil strength the price of land is all the while soaring upward.

But the Illinois farmer who does not now conserve all fertilizing constituents is considered extremely wasteful.

Illinois has great coal fields and other money making resources such as gas, oil, etc. Of these I may write later on.

In a future issue the Editor of the Recorder consenting I shall have something to say of my Old Kentucky Home.

ELDER J. E. MASTERS
Dorchester Illinois.

Prominent Covington Citizen.

After assisting in repairing a punctured tire of an automobile in which he had been a passenger, John R. Coppin, a Director of the German National Bank, and a well-known business man of Covington, suffered a stroke of apoplexy and died a few minutes later, Sunday evening. The scene of his death was near the Chase Bridge, on the turnpike that lends to Independence. With him in the machine at the time were his son-in-law, C. C. Herrick, and the latter's wife. Earlier in the afternoon the party had taken an auto ride through the suburbs north of Cincinnati. On the return trip they stopped a few minutes at the Coppin residence at Roger avenue and Twenty-eighth street, South Covington. Then came the suggestion that the pleasure trip be extended toward Independence. Mr. Coppin had entered the machine after the tire had been repaired when he collapsed. The attention of the Herricks, at the time, was attracted to another part of the machine and they were not aware of what had happened until they were well on their way toward Independence.

R. L. Roberts Dead.

Robt. L. Roberts, aged 71 years and one day, died at his home on Mudlick creek, last Friday, having been in bad health for several years. He is survived by one son, Benjamin, and his wife, who was Eliza Allphin, daughter of the late B. B. Allphin. Mr. Roberts was an old citizen of his neighborhood, and had a very large circle of friends everyone of whom has a good word to speak of the departed, as his kindly and neighborly deeds endeared him to all. He served his district many times as both constable and justice of the peace. He was buried at South Fork church last Sunday.

The schools have all closed for the holidays.

THE RECORDER WISHES ALL OF IT'S READERS AND PATRONS A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A MOST PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR.

LETTER FROM COLORADO.

Denver Dec. 10, 1913,

To my Friends and Relatives:

As I believe you have never witnessed anything in Kentucky like I have here in this country during the past week I will relate some of my experiences.

Sunday night Nov. 30th, it commenced snowing and continued almost incessantly for five days and ended with a terrible blizzard. The snow measured four feet deep on the level but drifted in places to the heights of ten to twenty feet. All traffic was stopped. The milkmen grocermen and mail carrier were unable to deliver anything but fortunately we had a very good supply of provision and coal laid in. We are in the city limits although five miles from the business part of town.

Our mail is delivered by R. F. D. but we have not received any mail for six days. We have two groceries and a postoffice in five blocks of us called Mont Clair Station but it was impossible to get to it through the snow.

Thursday evening when the cars stopped many people were caught in the city without anyway of getting home so every hotel was crowded and the auditorium was thrown open for the accommodation of the working class. Our boys were at the Manual training school in the city and had to foot it home. They walked seventy blocks four miles, against the strong wind sleet and deep snow. They were nearly frozen and almost exhausted when they reached home. This blizzard continued all that night and until Friday night. Our electric lights went out Friday night. The house we live in is brick and concrete of ten rooms but the wind was so strong we could feel the whole building shake. Old residenters told us over the phone they never saw anything like this before in this country. The boys made some skees or snow shoes and strapped them on their shoes so they were able to glide over the top of the snow. They have been having the time of their lives sliding up on rabbits and killing them with a long stick or hoe. Some times I count ten or twelve pheasants walking on the snow. The male bird is beautiful.

The weather is very cold now, below zero. I have not had a Recorder for two weeks and miss it so much as it is like a letter from my old home. I enjoyed the Diary of 40 years ago as it reminded me of yes olden times and spoke of the good qualities of my father.

DORA BANNISTER.

Christmas Weather.

Washington, Dec. 27.—Christmas week weather will be unsettled over much of the United States, the Weather Bureau experts say, and frequent rains are predicted for the Pacific Coast. Temperatures will be near or below the seasonable average generally and the skies will be overcast almost entirely throughout the week.

A disturbance now developing in the southwest, the weekly bulletin said to-night, "will advance northeastward, attended by rains and snows, and cross the great central valleys and the Eastern States Wednesday or Thursday.

"Another disturbance off the North Pacific Coast will cause general rains and snows on the Pacific slope during the next several days. It will reach the Middle West Thursday or Friday and the Eastern States near the end of the week and will be preceded by a general change to warmer weather and be followed by considerably colder weather.

"There are at present no indications of a severe cold wave during the week."

Wants Some Christmas Money

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 21.—If you were slumbering in a berth on a swiftly moving train and a cimex lectularius, alias bed bug, crept up and bit you, would you sue for $10,000?

That is what a Milwaukee citizen, who arrived from the West recently, has done. The defendant in the suit is the St. Paul Railroad and the case will be tried in Montana, where the offense is alleged to have been committed.

The Milwaukee man, W. P. Edwards, who is suing the road, declares that this cimex lectularius had gone the limit when he met him in the night. When the man arrived in Milwaukee he carried one arm in a sling, and he claimed that he had been made so ill that his business was interfered with.

Albert Conner has bought about 35,000 pounds of the 1913 crop of tobacco, about one-half of which he has shipped to a Cincinnati warehouse.

The Weekly Courier-Journal.

With the issue of the Courier-Journal of December 31, 1913, that publication will be merged into a monthly paper to be called the Farm and Family, the first number of which will appear about the middle of next month. Farm and Family will be a publication devoted to agriculture, education, good roads and the family, and it will cover these subjects as ably and completely as a modern organization equipped with every means of gathering information and intelligently editing same can possibly do. Mechanically, it will have every facility known to modern invention. The editor will be Mr. James Speed, well and widely known in connection with the movement for betterment in agricultural and educational circles in Kentucky and the South.

Naturally the magazine will have those departments which are usually seen in rural magazines; but there will be others which have been generally overlooked. For instance, it will be the policy of Farm and Family to devote some space in each issue to the Rural School. There will be no effort to theorize or discuss the school question from the teacher's viewpoint; but simply to learn where in the Southland there is a school that is really doing things that are of vital importance to the community and give the story to the readers.

To fill out the unexpired subscriptions of present paid-in-advance Weekly readers, the Saturday issue of the Daily Courier-Journal will be sent, in addition to Farm and Family.

Teachers Meeting.

Teachers Association, Division No 4, will meet at Hebron, Saturday, Jan. 10th, at 1 p. m.

Devotional Exercises—Supt E. C. Riley.

The Teacher as a Student—Miss Ruth Kelly

The Necessity of System in School Work—Mrs Nannie Maurer

Why a Course of Study is necessary in Rural Schools—Miss Edna Riley

Explain some of the courses of failure in teaching reading—Miss Lorena Hafer

Objects of Class work and recitation—Miss Sadie Reiman

Self Examination of a Teacher —Miss Katie Mendel

Character Building in School—Miss Hempfling.

Outline a brief course in Civics which you think would be really valuable—Prof. Ryle.

How time is Wasted—Miss Stephenson

Value of School Gardens—Miss Jessie Cloud

How is the rural school failing in preparing pupils for life—Prof Dix.

Duties of Sub-Dist. Trustee and County Board—Supt. Riley.

Conclusion—Round table talks

Patrons and trustees are earnestly requested to attend, as it is by their cooperation that we make our school work a success, and teachers please be prepared to answer your assignments.

H. L. Harrison,
Chairman

Big Coon Hunt.

Drs. Langdale, and Gordon McKim and his brother, Herbert McKim, of Cincinnati, came to Burlington last Saturday afternoon, where they were joined by Dr. Yelton and Garnett Tolin, when the party repaired to Omer Rouse's where it was reenforced by Lloyd Weaver and Newton York and their dog. Thus organized the party took to the hills and a big coon hunt was inaugurated. Weaver and York lead their companions a merry chase over the hills and hollows, thru briar patches and wire fences until about midnight, when, on account of the approach of the Sabbath and the near exhaustion of the entire command, the sport was discontinued. One big raccoon was captured but the amount of fun the boys had is beyond measure, and when Dr. McKim's auto was headed towards the city its occupants were in an excellent condition to enjoy the ride home. The McKim boys will never forget the sports they use to enjoy in their young days.

$10.000 Damages.

Warsaw, Dec. 20.—In the trial of the case of B. F. Egleston vs. The L. and N. Railroad Company, at a special term of Circuit Court, a jury today gave a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $10,000. Egleston was administrator of the estate of the late Lon S. Kenney, former merchant of Glencoe, this county, who was killed by a train on the L. and N. road in the spring of 1912.

What has become of the old fashioned woman who wove lincy and blue jeans?

Circuit Court.

Owing to the rush of matter at the last minutes last week the following account of the proceedings of circuit court had to be omitted.

The Boone Circuit Court adjourned late last Thursday afternoon after a four days session, during which considerable business was disposed of.

The visiting attorneys during the term were J. G. Tomlin, Jno. L. Vest and Chas. Strother, Walton; Hon W. W. Dickerson and Joel C Clore, of Cincinnati; D. E. Castleman and O. M. Rogers, of Erlanger

The grand jury returned three indictments, one of them being against Lou Phelps for the killing of Samuel Zurwella at Taylorsport, August 23, 1913, and the other two were against nonresidents who are charged with violation of the State's game laws. The grand jury reported the public buildings in good condition and well kept, except the public clauset which is in unsanitary condition and which the jury recommended be made more sanitery.

The petit jurors were discharged Thursday afternoon and was allowed pay for three days services and discharged

The grand jury concluded its work Wednesday afternoon and was allowed pay for three days services and discharged

Louis Phelps was indicted for the murder of Samuel Zurwella at Taylorsport, August 23rd, 1913 When the indictment was returned into court Phelps' attorneys suggested that the charge be reduced to manslaughter and their client would plead guilty To this the attorneys for the Commonwealth agreed and the charge was reduced to that of manslaughter, when the defendant entered the plea of guilty to the charge and was sentenced from two to twenty-one years at hard labor in the penitentiary Before the order was entered reducing the charge against Phelps the proposition was stated to the grand jury, every member of which thought that was the proper thing to do

Mr Steiger remained over until Friday at noon assisting Circuit Clerk Maurer to get his records in shape

The attendance during the term was unusually small

Two fines and forfeitures collected by the trustee of the jury fund and reported to the court amounted to a few dollars over two hundred The indications are the Commonwealth's Atty will have very short picking in this county for the next term at least

Commonwealth's Atty Howe remained at court until the grand jury had made its final report and discharged, something the Commonwealth Attorneys of the past had got out of the way of doing Mr. Howe's first appearance in Boone was entirely satisfactory to those who had business with him as well as with those on the outside who met him

Neither of the petit juries was called upon to try a case during the term It is scarcely worth while to summon petit jurors in this county any more

The rule against Mrs Reitman for taking her little girl out of the jurisdiction of the court was discharged, she satisfying the court that she had not gone with the child to Connersville, Indiana, with the intention of contempt of the court

Old men have disappeared from the juries in this county since the law fixing the age limit of a juror at sixty years

The heating plant in the basement at the court house makes it possible to keep the building comfortable all the time without the noise that use to disturb the court at frequent intervals when it was necessary for the jailer to replenish the fuel in the stoves

Road Building.

Road building in the State of Kentucky has a great future. Ten years ago Kentucky ranked fourth in the number of miles of improved roads in the United States, today she ranks tenth. This is because she has built very few miles of improved roads during that period. While Kentucky has thus been standing still other states have pushed forward with large bond issues and upto-date methods of construction, maintainance and supervision. The counties of Kentucky that have purchased modern road machinery have shown marked increase in the efficiency of their road system, and a decrease in the cost of construction and maintenance. In every case where accurate figures have been kept, giving due consideration for depreciation on machinery, it has been found that the cost of construction and maintenance has been reduced from 20 to 50 per cent.

Nearly Two Score Years.

Hon. A. B. Rouse wrote the Recorder under date of 19th inst.:

"Think the currency bill will become a law before the night of the 24th. Am very busy and will not be able to get home for the holidays. This will be the first Christmas morning during my thirty-nine years that I did not awake in Burlington. My very best wishes for a merry Christmas and prosperous 1914."

Umbrella weather is not desirable for the holidays.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. Elmer Kirkpatrick was quite ill several days the past week.

W. A. Gaines made a business trip to Frankfort the first of this week.

Mrs. Frank Rouse has been quite ill of rheumatism for several days.

Mr. Henry Terrill's condition is about the same as it was a week ago.

Dr. Blackerby of Erlanger, was a business visitor to Burlington last Friday.

R. S. Cowen and wife left Monday for St. Petersburg Florida to spend the winter.

Mrs. Lavina Kirkpatrick spent a few days last week visiting relatives in Ohio and Indiana.

A. B. Renaker and wife went to Dry Ridge, Grant county, to spend Christmas with his relatives.

Mrs. Eliza Rouse is spending the Christmas holidays with her sister, Mrs. F. P. Walton, in Covington.

Mr. and Mrs. Bohannon, of Versailles, are spending the holidays with their daughter Mrs. V. O. Keys.

Gene Long and wife, of Long Branch, were Saturday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Crisler.

Kirb Sullivan, of Covington, was a Sunday and Monday guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Sullivan.

Mrs. John C. White is visiting her mother, Mrs. Geo. L. Smith, of Hathaway, who is threatened with blood poison.

Misses Estelle Huey and Mattie Kreyliet are home from Georgetown college to spend the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. J. L. Frazier, of Union neighborhood, who has been quite ill of pneumonia for several days, is thought to be improving some.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Shearer and Miss Bessie Hall will eat Christmas dinner with Mrs. Shearer and Miss Besse's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hall.

Col. G. C. Graddy, deputy internal revenue collector at Petersburg, and his son-in-law, Courtney Walton, of Idlewild, were business visitors to Burlington, Tuesday. The Colonel appeared to be in a terrible rush, and was moving on schedule time.

Owen Blankenbeker from across Gunpowder creek, was transacting business in Burlington last Saturday. Had it not been for pressing business, he said, he would have gone fishing that afternoon. He is one of the most successful anglers who looks into the waters of Gunpowder creek.

Kelly-Chowning.

K. W. Kelly, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Kelly, who lives out on the Belleview pike, and Miss Ella Belle Chowning, 18, of Covington, were married at the home of the bride's parents, last Saturday. The bride and groom came to the home of the grooms parents that evening, where they were met by many friends and relatives. A bountiful supper was served in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, and a most delightful evening was enjoyed by all. Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Kelly returned to their home in Covington where the groom has a good position. They have many friends here who wish them a life of uninterrupted happiness and prosperity. The party who was present at the reception and promised to write it up did not get his copy in. It will appear next week.

Everything in Fine Shape.

Mrs. Maud Fowler has been very busy the past week arranging the accounts of her father Sheriff B. B. Hume for his final settlement with the county at the first of the year on account of the revenue he has collected in 1913. Mrs. Fowler has been her father's office deputy and has kept as neat and as correct a set of books as can be found in any Sheriff's office in Kentucky. Her father goes out of office the first of January and his office will be found in first class condition and a settlement will be no trouble to make owing to the efficient manner in which his books have been kept.

Civil Service Exams.

The Fourth Class Postoffice Examination for offices that pay over one hundred and eighty dollars per year, for the counties of Boone, Kenton and Campbell will be held in Covington on the 14th day of February. Blanks can be secured from the Postmaster or from the Civil Service Commission at Washington.

Rode the Goat.

The local Masonic Louge had another big meeting last Saturday night at which Albert Conner and Earl Cropper were instructed in the mysteries of the Master's degree. Several members from the Belleview and Hebron lodges were present and assisted in the work. After the lodge closed a lunch was served.

Feeling Confident.

Having made arrangements for electric lights the people of Erlanger feel confident that before another Christmas their thriving little city will have street car service to the city.

FARM FACTS AND THEORIES

Lamb Creep May Be Conveniently Constructed in Cattle Hurdle—Method of Drying Off Cow.

(By W. R. GILBERT.)

THE LAMB CREEP is an invaluable institution. It may be conveniently constructed in a cattle hurdle with rollers at the side so that the frisky lamb does not hurt itself during ingress and egress.

THE BEST method of drying off a cow is to feed her on dry food, and reduce the milking periods to once daily. Smearing the udder with tar is an old-fashioned method. Others used to bleed the cow, and give a dose of one pound Epsom salts.

Fortunately nature herself most frequently determines the length of the milk of the milking period. A cow begins to go stale, and good farmers do not consider it profitable to have cows that breed regularly more than ten months in lastation.

WHEN the cow is frisky with the tail at milking it is a good plan to tie it to the leg. Modern hygiene has no faith in a whisked tail during milking. It disturbs the loose hairs, and shakes the dust off the coat into the milk pail.

ACCORDING to Wolff, the food standard for milch cows of 1,000 pounds live weight is 24 pounds dry matter, of which 2:5 pounds is protein, 12.5 pounds carbonhydrates, and four per cent. fat. This is equal to an albuminoid ratio of 1:5.38.

THE LONGHORN is good for both the butchers and milk-production where quality is a main consideration. It is a good butter-making breed, and the best may be depended upon to produce from 14 to 18 pounds a week.

TROUBLE-MAKERS IN SPRING

Late Plowing Will Destroy Many of Over-Wintering Species of Destructive Garden Insects.

Very often the first pests in the field in spring are the ones that are most to be feared. With many species of destructive insects, the over-wintering individuals come out with the first warm weather and lay eggs for a host of destructive progeny later. One adult less in the fall may mean five hundred descendants out of the way.

Late plowing will do the work. It does not follow that it is always feasible or possible to fall plow all fields that have suffered from the ravages of insect pests. Weather conditions or the demands of crop rotation sometimes make it out of the question. But if it can be done, there is a great deal to be gained by it.

Potato Ruined by Wireworm.

Many pests may be subdued, partially at least, by this operation. The corn root louse is one of these. It is a tiny, soft-bodied, fragile creature and depends for its existence on the care given it by the little black or brown ants always found with it. Late plowing breaks up the nests of the ants at a time when they are sluggish and unable to gather together again. The colonies of lice, left without their keepers, cannot survive the winter.

Wireworms and white grubs spend the winter in the ground. The former are slender, cylindrical worms, yellowish or brownish in color, tough and wiry-looking. The latter are white and thick-bodied with one end somewhat dark and swollen. Cutworms winter in the soil as half-grown worms. Wireworms are also beneath the surface of the soil during the winter season. Grasshoppers are in the egg stage, forty or fifty eggs in pod-shaped masses, an inch or so below the surface. In the garden the squash borer is in a silk cocoon in the soil. All of these and many other insects, are disturbed by late plowing, buried deep or left upon the surface for birds to find or frosts to kill.

MAKING GOOD FEEDING RACK

One Described Herewith Is Adaptable to Needs of Sheep, Cattle and Other Live Stock.

Three or more stout posts are set on each side (as long as you wish to make the shed) firmly in the ground. About six feet from the ground board up the roof, like any other building, allowing a large window to each end.

Make the feeding rack of poles through the center like a V, the upper end of the poles resting on the outside plates.

This shed can be filled with hay, straw, or fodder, as fast as it is eaten from below. It settles down and can be refilled whenever necessary.

This rack is adaptable to the needs of sheep, cattle and other stock, as it provides good shelter and makes, too, a covered manure shed, for the waste pulled out will be trampled under foot and by the trampling converted into manure.

Kindness Pays.

Get the cow's good will and she will not hold up the milk. Kindness will accomplish what abuse never can.

DAIRY

REAR CALVES ON SKIM MILK

Production of Cheap Feeders by Pail Method Has Become Important Question With Many.

There has grown up a necessity for the application of economic methods in beef production. Though feeders may be produced from cows with calves at the side on large areas of cheap grazing land, it is doubtful whether this method can be successfully employed on the average farm operated under an intensive system.

In this case more revenue must be secured from a cow during the year than that produced in the feeder steer or heifer receiving the entire product of the mother rearing it.

It is true that the pedigreed animals, especially of the beef classes reared for sale, for breeding or for show purposes, can be profitably suckled by their dams because of the higher price they bring. The rearing of cheap feeders by the pail method has become an important question with the beef producers.

Dairymen, of necessity, have long practiced rearing calves on skim milk, supplemented by grain, hay, silage, etc., and some have even dispensed with skim-milk feeding in quite a large measure.

As a general thing the pail-fed calf suffers from neglect and want of sufficient feed of the proper character, but there is no secret to success in rearing calves on skim milk and supplementary feed when it is combined with judicious management.

DEVICE FOR MILKING COWS

Old-Style and Insanitary Methods Are Being Abandoned in Australia—Liquid Never Exposed.

In Australia the old-style insanitary and primitive methods of handling milk are being abandoned for appliances that perform the various operations in a cleanly and expeditious manner. One of these appliances is the milk releaser shown in the accompanying illustration. With this apparatus, which operates on a vacuum principle, the milk from each cow is collected separately. In operation, the attendant adjusts the apparatus to the cow, when the reversing of one air cock is all the attention necessary to milk the cow and discharge the contents of the receiver into a pipe leading to the dairy, says the Popular Mechanics. A graduated glass fitted to the receiver enables the attendant to record the yield of each cow, while drip samplers provide for collecting composite samples of each cow's yield, for analysis. At no time, between the cow and the can, is the milk exposed to the air.

Machine Does Work of Old-Time Milk Maid.

TREATMENT OF CAKED UDDER

Frequent Trouble During Cold Weather and Symptoms Usually Appear Soon After Calving.

(By E. T. BAKER, Veterinarian, Idaho Experiment Station.)

Caked udder in cows is also commonly called garget, of which there are two kinds—one, noncontagious, the other, infectious.

It is a frequent trouble, especially in cold weather, often due to "catching cold" in the udder. The symptoms usually appear soon after calving and many complications often ensue, sometimes leaving the cow with a damaged quarter.

Since cows are so high-priced, it is certainly poor economy to attempt home treatment in severe cases. If your veterinarian treats the case he can give you the benefit of a personal examination. If a veterinarian is not available, the general treatment is to give a purgative of Epsom salts, bathe the udder with warm water, to which has been added several tablespoonfuls of sodium hyposulphite. Dry completely and rub in carbolated lard of vaseline. Milk frequently.

Increase Dairy Profits.

One of the best ways to increase the dairy farmer's profit is to decrease the cost of production and that means that he must feed and handle his cows according to the most improved method.

Work at Disadvantage.

The farm that is overstocked with cows is working at a disadvantage. While prices are high reduce the herd to a size that can be profitably handled.

Increasing Farm Production.

The boys in the Kentucky corn clubs this year made an average of sixty bushels of corn to the acre as compared with an average of twenty and a half bushels for the State.

The 1913 corn crop in Kentucky was hard hit by drouth but twenty of the boys in the corn clubs raised between ninety and one hundred bushels to the acre and a number of them raised more than 100 bushels. Daviess county led the State taking both first and second prizes. W. Arthur Cook who is the State champion this year grew 131 bushels and three pecks on his acre of land. Homer Weatherholt winner of the second prize grew 130 bushels and one peck thus giving the champion a close race.

The value of intensive cultivation also was demonstrated by the tomato canning clubs. Bettie C. Davis a 17-year-old Henderson county girl canned 1,059 quarts of tomatoes put up thrify gallons of green tomato pickles and sold twenty-six bushels of the vegetables fresh off her tenth of an acre realizing a net profit of $118.75. Ruth Quick of Jefferson county canned 1,301 quarts of tomatoes off her tenth of an acre winning the $250 prize offered for the largest yield canned by a club member regardless of the net profit.

About 15,000 boys enrolled this year in the corn clubs as compared with some 9,000 in 1912. The tomato clubs were not numerous as the work was started this year. Next year clubs are to be organized in ten selected counties in Eastern Kentucky to emphasize the possibilities of tomato growing.

Dr. Fred Mutchler who is in charge of these juvenile activities is quoted in a dispatch from Frankfort as saying that the club work is "having a noticeable effect in improving the character of cultivation in the communities where it is carried on." Therein is its chief value and there can be no question that it is today the most potent force in the State for increased farm yield.

Another factor in this direction is the farm demonstration work of the county agents which has been only fairly entered upon. The counties of Daviess Metcalfe, Jefferson Henderson, Muhlenberg and Warren had demonstration farms this year. The counties of Christian, Madison, Mason, Barren, Hopkins Mercer, Perry Todd, Woodford Grayson, Pulaski, Lawrence and Logan will have the benefit of this work in 1914 and probably others will be added to the list.

Better methods of farming are an imperative need in Kentucky and it is encouraging to observe that there is increasing interest in these educational movements among the masses of the farming population.—C.-J.

THE THINGS NEEDED.

Matters the Next Legislature Should Attend to Without Delay In Next Session of Body.

Pass a new tax law which will make the rich half of our people pay taxes in proportion to the poorer half.

Get familiar with the laws in other States of working the convicts on roads and adopt from them the very best which will suit Kentucky.

Abolish a lot of unnecessary officers.

Cut down nearly all the appropriation bills and cut out entirely the $5,000 for the Childrens' Home.

Cut the salary of the members of the legislature back to where it was as the increased salary has not secured better men.

Appoint a commitee at the opening of the session to investigate the expenditure of all public money.

Investigate the cost of school books in Kentucky compared with the cost in other States.

Repeal the indeterminate sentence law.

Amend the code of criminal practice so that all murderers shall be speedily tried after the commitment of crime.

Adopt a criminal practice act like there is in the state of New York.

Stop the graft in pauper idiot claims in some parts of the State by requiring the counties to support their own pauper idiots.

Amend the State Primary Election law.

Provide for State aid to roads operative when the government appropriates money for the same purpose as that Kentucky may get its share.—Elizabethtown News.

U. S. Beats Germany.

Writing in the Review of Reviews, Ferdinand C. Inglehart, says: It is generally thought that Germany drinks more beer than any other nation in the world. This is a mistake. Germany comes second. The United States consumes 1,851,000 gallons of beer each year, which is 100,000,000 gallons more than Germany's consumption. Russia leads the world in its use of distilled liquors and the United States comes second with its consumption of 133,000,000 gallons. Altho the United States is first as a beer-drinking nation and second as a consumer of distilled spirits among the nations of the world, the liquor dealers of America are having a desperate fight for the life of their traffic.

WANTED

Farm hand, man and family, garden furnished, cow pastured. Apply to W. Lee Cropper, Burlington, R. D. 1. 3t.

Christmas Gifts
THAT
Mean Something

Whether you spend little or much for Christmas it is important that your gifts have lasting values.

You receive a gift or two every year that gives you more pleasure than all the others because of its perfect usefulness.

Make all your gifts useful, no matter how low the price.

Christmas prices here are mostly lower than at other seasons, because of our large purchases.

The quality of everything in this store makes it a worthy gift, whether the price you pay is large or small.

The entire range of your family needs is covered by the articles you find here whether they be gig or little.

Here Are A Few Suggestions.

For Sister.

A Pretty Chair for Her Room; A Mahogany Work Table; A Dressing Table; A Slipper Chair; A Dressing Stool; A Music Cabinet; A Writing Desk; An Arm Chair; A Box Couch; A Bookcase.

For Mother or Wife.

A Bed-room Chair; A Jardinier; A China Closet; A Rocker; A Magazine Stand; A Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet; A Davenport.

For Grandfather.

A Comfortable Arm Chair; A High Back Rocker; A Genuine Leather Rocker; A Foot Stool; A Book Table.

For Grandmother.

A Jardinier Stand; A Sewing Rocker; A Morris Chair; A Magazine Stand; A Work Table; A Book Table.

For Father or Husband.

A Morris Chair; A High Back Rocker; A Shaving Stand; A Leather Rocker; A Cellarette; A Revolving Chair; A Couch; A Card Table; A Foot Stool; A Bookcase; A Wardrobe.

For Brother Jack.

A Chiffonier; A Morris Chair; An Arm Chair; A Cellarette; A Blacking Case

We Pay The Freight.

Louis Marx & Bros.

Furniture, Carpets, Stoves.

516-522 Madison Avenue, COVINGTON, - - - KY.

840 Monmouth Street, NEWPORT, - - - KY.

AT THE OLD STAND.

SHARPLES SEPARATORS.
PITTSBURG FENCE.
FARM TOOLS.
FEED ALL KINDS.
EVERYTHING FOR THE FARMER.

QUIGLEY & BEEMON

Limaburg, Ky.

FOR SALE

In Constance, Ky., large building lot on this lot is a building 58x48, built for a club-house. This is a very substantial structure, has a truss roof and not a post in the interior. This building can be carefully taken down and removed if necessary, or can be remodeled into apartments. I want to dispose of this property at an early date and will sell it at a sacrifice, in fact for one-half what the lumber cost to erect it. Apply to or address G. F. SNYDER, 4t 711 Plum St., Cincinnati, O.

St. Sepulchre's.

St. Sepulchre's, the city church at the end of Holborn viaduct, London, England, whose churchyard is opened to the public, dates, as the name implies, from the time of the first crusade. Of the present edifice, which has suffered sadly from "restorers," only the first tower, one of London's landmarks, retains mediaval masonry. From the top of this tower "rich Dodington," the brother-in-law of Walsingham, threw himself to avoid a chancery lawsuit. "If I do break my neck," said Bacon to Queen Elizabeth, "I shall do it in a manner as Mr. Dodington did it, who walked on the battlements of the church many days, and took a survey where he should fall."

Lamented Her Great Loss.

The Atchison Globe tells of a pathetic sight on Main street the other morning. An old and very poorly dressed colored woman was in a frenzy of grief; she walked up and down the street moaing and wringing her hands and searching for something she had lost. When asked what her trouble was, she wailed that she had lost her "ticket to heaven." She explained that in her church each member who paid a certain sum of money was given such a ticket. This old colored woman believed implicitly in the power of her ticket; to her it represented a berth in heaven. She had paid for it with hours of back-breaking labor.

Why Worry about What to Give Dad or the Boys for

New Years

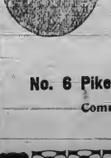
I CAN HELP YOU OUT.

What would be more appropriate than a nice Suit of Clothes, an Overcoat, a Rain Coat, a pair of Trousers, or a nice Wool Jacket, or Sweater Coat.

I have some wonderful bargains in Boys' three-piece long pants Suits at $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 and $5. Suits that formerly sold for $7.50, $10.00 and $12.00. You must see them to appreciate their value.

A large line of Corduroy and Duck Coats, and Corduroy and Jeans Pants, just the thing for those who work outside.

Any of the above articles will make a useful and appropriate New Year's Gift.



We wish all our patrons a Merry Christmas and Prosperous New Year.

Selmar Wachs

Successor to

Rolfes & Wachs,

NO. 1 Pike Street, Near Madison Ave.,
COVINGTON, KY.

Luncheon

AT

Neat Little Place

For Farmer, Workman, Merchant, Clerk and Professional Man.

R. J. DIBOWSKI'S CAFE

No. 6 Pike Street, - - Covington, Kentucky.

Commercial Plate Luncheon from 11 a. m. to 1:30 p. m.

Subscribe for The Recorder

PREPARE FOR COLD WEATHER

Bees Must Be Given Proper Protection —Hen House Should Be Made Snug and Then Whitewashed.

Where are the bees going to winter? In the cellar or out-of-doors exposed to the storm? If in the cellar, a place should be prepared for them now, so that when cold weather sets in for good the hives can be quickly placed in position.

Once more: Never set the hives flat on the floor of the cellar—as some people do. Bees must have fresh air, and be kept free from dampness.

Every stormy day in which the hens are allowed to wander about without shelter, adds to the discrepancy in the egg basket.

Of course we can wait until stormy weather sets in before making the chickenhouse snug and comfortable, but it will cost us something, in the loss of eggs, to do it.

After it has been made all comfortable for the winter, take the time to give it another whirl of spraying with whitewash into which two teaspoonfuls of carbolic acid to the pailful have been dropped.

If we will put the drag on the road after late rains, right up until the ground freezes, we will have very much better roads when the frost comes out of the ground next spring.

It takes some courage to weed out the poultry flock down to the very essence of good quality, but this is the month to do it. Why feed any old scrubs during the long winter months? Stuff them two weeks, and send them to market.

Many people do not know that the tops of turnips, sugar beets and carrots can be cut off without imparing their keeping qualities. This should be done before they are put into winter quarters.

Maybe it is too late to gather road-dust for the fowls. If you have neglected to do this, you can give them sifted coal-ashes, which is the next best thing.

A few dollars invested in storm-doors on the house will not only save fuel, but will prevent sudden blasts of cold air from reaching the occupants—a thing which is always attended by some danger.

If you will put storm-windows over the regular windows, be sure to provide openings in both for proper ventilation. It is a fearful thing to sleep in an air-tight room.

BUILD SUITABLE HOG HOUSES

Building May Be Cheap and Simple in Construction, but Should Be Convenient—Easily Arranged.

When hogs are handled in large numbers, or where twenty or more brood sows are kept, a hog house large enough to accommodate the majority of the stock is often found. This system has the advantage of enabling the breeder to handle his hogs with less expenditure of labor and time than is possible if they are scattered over a larger area.

When such a house seems desirable, it may be cheap and simple in construction, but should be convenient. It should run east and west, and is most easily arranged with a row of pens on each side of an alley way, which extends the entire length of the building. The walls may be of one-inch material siding, but should fit very close in order to prevent draughts. The roof should be moderately high, to provide sufficient ventilation. Quite a number of windows should be installed in order to provide sufficient sunlight to keep the pens dry and free from disease. The pens should be 7 by 8, or, for large sows, 8 by 10 feet.

Desirable Type of Sow for Producing Large Litters.

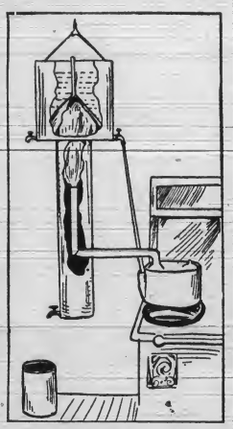
There are many things to be said in favor of individual houses. First of all the hogs can be scattered more, thus lessening the chances of disease spreading through the entire herd. Secondly, fields and pastures may be utilized regardless of their location or proximity to other farm buildings. Third, such buildings are quite inexpensive, and the number can be increased as the herd increases in size.

There are many types of these houses. For a single sow, the A type is usually built 6 by 8 by 6 feet high. The rectangular type is built 7 by 8 feet for one sow, or 9 by 12 and divided into two compartments. Those with the higher roof and with provisions for opening either the sides or the roof, have so far proven the most satisfactory.

Improving the Farm Home.



That farm homes are often unsanitary, and the scene of illnesses such as should be impossible in "the free, invigorating air of the country" is attributable, in probably the majority of instances, to the use of defective methods in the disposal of the waste and sewage of the house. The noisome cess-pool and the undrained privy—cold, malodorous and soil polluting—make such large additions to the rate of mortality as to rob the country, in a measure, of its natural superiority over the town in the statistics of health.

TO OBTAIN DISTILLED WATER

Device Described Herewith Has Advantage of Being Inexpensive and Is Easily Constructed.

A form of still, devised for the purpose of providing pure drinking water on the farm, is here described. This still, which has been especially designed for use with alkali water, has the advantage of being inexpensive and can be made by any tinner. It consists of a water boiler, on the range, having a capacity of about one and one-half to two gallons of water and a condenser suspended at the proper height from the ceiling.

A pipe, two and one-half inches in diameter, with separable joint, conveys steam to the condensing chamber, which is kept cool by water in the upper compartment. The distilled water collects in the lower part of the tank-like compartment, and can be drawn off from time to time or allowed to run into a vessel underneath. When the water in the top compartment becomes too hot for efficient condensation it can be passed to the water tank through the small pipe connecting, or drawn off at the faucet at the back and cold water added.

Convenient Water-Still for Farm Use.

The metal used in the construction of the still should be well-tinned copper and no solder should be exposed to the action of either the steam or the distilled water. If it is desirable for any reason to suspend the condenser at some distance from the kitchen stove, the steam pipe should be wrapped with asbestos paper.

ACCURATE POULTRY ACCOUNT

Of Much Importance That Record Should Be Kept to Ascertain Just What Flock Is Doing.

(By A. J. WILDER.)

An accurate account should be kept to find out whether the poultry is paying a profit, and just how much.

In doing this, don't forget to give them credit for the frying chickens, broilers, roasters and all the eggs used in the home. Quite often this is overlooked and the poultry receives no credit for saving us what would be a good deal of expense if we had to buy our fresh eggs and all the poultry we used.

This is not so hard to keep track of as one would imagine. I find that the easiest way to keep the egg account is to set down every day the number of eggs gathered that day. As a record is kept of all the eggs sold, the difference would be the number used at home. The hens should be given credit for the number gathered.

It is important that we should keep an account with the poultry and know just what they are doing. When all kinds of feed are so high-priced and can be sold, or fed to advantage to other stock, we can not afford to keep a large stock of poultry at a loss.

If poultry is not making you a profit, remedy the difficulty and get a profit, or else keep only enough poultry to supply the family.

SMALL FLOCK IS PROFITABLE

Costs Practically Nothing to Keep Few Sheep on Farms—Animals Eat Weeds and Enrich Soil.

For the encouragement of the farmer who thinks keeping sheep would be a fine thing if he could carry on an extensive business as is done on the big western ranches, a Texas wool buyer says:

"It would be a great thing for the country if every farmer owned a small flock of sheep.

"I buy a great deal of wool at points where there are no ranches near, the produce being grown by farmers who keep small flocks.

"I have been often told by such farmers that it costs practically nothing to keep sheep on farms. They require very little feed, they eat the weeds in the fields and at the same time enrich the land.

"I find that the owners of small flocks, as a rule, keep a better grade of sheep and the animals are healthier, than are those of the large rancher, the wools from the farms always classing higher than ranch wools."—U. M. B.

Abbreviated Blessing.

Another abbreviated blessing adopted by farmers, along with the horseless wagon and plow, is the barbless wire fence.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court.

J. G. Tomlin for use and benefit of Equitable Bank & Trust Co. Plff.

vs. Equity.

Robert S. Hood, &c., Defts

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale rendered by the Boone Circuit Court at its December term, 1913, in the above styled cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale to the highest bidder, at public sale, the real and personal property hereinafter described.

The said personal property will be sold at the store house and on the premises adjacent thereto, now occupied by the defendant, Robert S. Hood, in Constance, Boone county, Ky., near the toll house on the south side of the Bullittsville & Dry Creek Turnpike, said personal property will be sold on a credit of three months, purchaser to give bond with good security payable to the undersigned. Said bonds to have the force and effect of a judgment, and drawing interest from day of sale. This sale of personal property will be made beginning at 10 o'clock a. m.

Saturday, January 3rd, 1914,

The said personal property is described as follows, to-wit: A general stock of merchandise at Constance, Boone county, Ky., consisting of Dry Goods, Boots, Shoes, Notions, Hats, Caps, Tinware, Stoneware, Grain, Hay, Flour, Feed, Paints, Drugs, Oils, Medicines, Harness, Farming Implements, and all other goods, wares and merchandise now on the premises occupied by said Hood in Constance, Boone county, Ky., on the north side of the Bullittsville & Dry Creek Turnpike near the toll gate.

The said real estate or a sufficiency thereof to produce the sum of money so ordered to be made, will be sold at the Court House door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., on between the hours of 1 o'clock and 2 p. m., being county court day upon a credit of six and twelve months.

Monday, January 5th, 1914,

Said real estate is bound as follows: Lying and being in Boone county, Ky., and consisting of two several tracts described as follows: Tract No. 1 beginning at a large forked Sycamore tree on an island in Worlds Run, lower corner of Mrs. Lucretia Hood's dower; thence down Worlds Run n 6¼ e 9.50 chains, n 58½ e 2.08 chains; n 25 e 5.61 chains to a point on the bridge; thence s 47½ e 40 links, s 49 e 1.43 chains, n 60¼ e 5.17 chains, n 73½ e 6.60 chains to a point in said turnpike a corner with the Constance cemetery; thence with a line thereof and with a line of M. Anderson in Mrs. Hood's dower; thence with the line of said dower n 61¼ w 2.21 chains to a stone; thence n 74 w 10.72 chains to beginning containing 18 11-100 acres.

There is excepted out of this tract about ¼ acre heretofore conveyed to Trustees of School District No. 30; also small lot heretofore conveyed to Bullittsville and Dry Creek Turnpike Co., for toll house and lot and being same property conveyed to said Robt. S. Hood by Ben F. Hood and others by deed dated June 30, 1909, and recorded in Deed Book No. 51, page 2, Boone County Records, at Burlington, Ky.

Tract No. 2 beginning at a corner on Worlds Run bridge 10 feet from an iron pin driven in the middle of the Bullittsville & Dry Creek pike, bearing n 50¼ w from said pin; thence n 54 e 405 feet to an iron pin; thence n 26½ e passing through a Black Locust sapling on the river bank 647 feet to the river edge or low water mark; thence with the river s 55½ e or with the low water mark of said river 492 feet to a corner of Montgomery Anderson; thence with his line s 22 w 605 feet to the middle of the said pike; thence with said pike n 72¾ w 420 ft; thence s 60w 330½ feet; thence n 50¼ w 110 feet to the place of beginning—8 acres, 29 9-10 poles and being same land conveyed to R. S. Hood by W. R. Tanner and wife by deed dated Sept. 20, 1909, and recorded in Deed Book No. 51 page 1, Boone County Court Records at Burlington, Ky.

All show cases, measures, scales, and all furniture and fixtures in said store building will be sold as part of the real estate.

For the purchase price the purchaser of said real estate, with approved security or securities, must execute bond, bearing 6 per cent interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a Judgment, with a lien retained therein until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms. Amount to be raised by sale $1,310.75.

CHARLES MAURER,
Master Commissioner.

Believe Me.

By trading at Thomann's you can save the Middleman's profit on Harness, Trunks and Blankets.

Wm. Thomann,
56 Pike Street,
Covington, Ky.

Ex-Speaker Cannon, of Illinois, was in Washington a few days since and proclaimed that the business of the country had started to the demolition bow wows since the new tariff law went into effect. All the large manufacturing industries are shutting up shops according to Mr. Cannon, it is not hard to find witnesses by which it can be proven that "Uncle" Joe is very much mistaken and is quite reckless for one of his age in the statements he is making in regard to the effect of the new tariff law.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

A Christmas Suggestion

It is impossible in an advertisement to give much idea of the great variety of articles our stock includes. A visit to our store will convince you that a pleasing gift for anyone, large or small, may be selected from our immense stock for any amount you wish to spend.

FOLLOWING ARE A FEW SUGGESTIONS:

FOR HIM		FOR HER
Solid Gold Cuff Buttons	$2.00 to $50.00	Solid Gold Brooches	$1.50 to $6.00
Solid Gold Scarf Pins	1.00 to 25.00	Solid Gold Handy Pins	1.00 to 3.00
Solid Gold Signet Rings	2.50 to 30.00	Gold & Gold-filled Lockets	1.00 to 20.00
Silver Match Boxes	1.00 to 5.00	Fancy Back Combs	1.50 to 10.00
Silver Shaving Sets	3.00 to 10.00	Solid Gold Brocelets	6.00 to 30.00
Silver Smoking Sets	2.50 to 6.00	Fancy Hat Pins	1.00 to 5.00
Safety Gillette Razors	5.00 to 15.00	Silver Toilet Sets	4.50 to 20.00
Fountain Pens	1.00 to 10.00	Cut Glass Dishes	1.00 to 5.00
Monogram Watch Fobs	3.00 10.00	Hand Painted China	1.00 to 5.00

FOR CHILDREN

Solid Gold Rings	$1.00 to $5.00	Knife, Fork and Spoon Set	$1.00 to 3.00
Lockets and Charms	1.00 to 5.00	Single Teaspoons	1.00 to 2.00
Pin Sets	50c to 1.00	Boys' Watches	1.00 to 5.00
Bracelets	1.00 to 2.50	Girls' Watches	2.00 to 5.00

These are only a Few suggestions. Don't Fail to Visit our Store.
Open Evenings Until Christmas.

F. PIEPER, Jeweler
616 Madison Avenue, Covington, Ky

Worn Out?

No doubt you are, if you suffer from any of the numerous ailments to which all women are subject. Headache, backache, sideache, nervousness, weak, tired feeling, are some of the symptoms, and you must rid yourself of them in order to feel well. Thousands of women, who have been benefited by this remedy, urge you to

TAKE

Cardui

The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., says: "Before taking Cardui, I was, at times, so weak I could hardly walk, and the pain in my back and head nearly killed me. After taking three bottles of Cardui, the pains disappeared. Now I feel as well as I ever did. Every suffering woman should try Cardui." Get a bottle today. E-68

GO THERE

AND SAVE THE DIFFERENCE

When you want a Davenport, Parlor Suit, Couch Rocker, Morris Chairs, Dining Room Chairs.

Fred W. Bremenkamp

Manufacture of

Upholstered Furniture

Factory and Sample Room

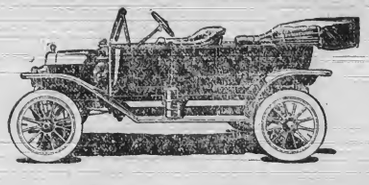
157 PIKE STREET,

COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

We Also Do Repairing and Refinishing.

Posted Against Hunters.

The undersigned hereby give notive that their land is posted against trespassing of all kinds and especially by hunting with dogs or guns and trapping thereon:



B. C. Graddy, Bullittsville.
J. S. Eggleston, Francesville.
Mary V. Gaines, Bullittsville.
Harry Walton, Petersburg.
A. L. Nichols, Burlington.
C. T. Northcutt, Belleview.
Everett Souther, Ft. Pleasant.
Julia S. Dinsmore, Belleview.
Mrs. I. T. McNaughton, Muncie, Indiana.
C. O. Hempfling, Taylorsport.
Jasper Sullivan, Waterloo.
W. L. B. Rouse, Limaburg.
Edward Farrell, Limaburg.
T. F. Grant, Bullittsville.
Geo. C. Barlow, Florence.
John Clore, Hebron.
John W. Ryle, Burlington.
Mrs. Mary Ryan, Beaver.
Mrs. E. A. Bedinger and daughter, Richwood.

IF YOU WANT A GOOD

AUTOMOBILE

—CALL ON—

B. B. HUME, Burlington.

FOR 1913 MODEL FORD

5 Passenger Car, $570. 2 Passenger Car, $520

These prices are for fall delivery complete and delivered at your door. If desired a man will be furnished without charge to teach you how to operate your car.

—ALSO AGENT FOR THE—

Oakland, Roadster, $1,150 Touring Car, $1,200 Fully Equipped

DR. B. W. STALLARD
with DR. SHOBER'S
QUEEN CITY DENTISTS
Nos. 43-49 W. Fifth Ave.,
CINCINNATI, - - OHIO.

F. J. HENN. M. M. HUSCHART.
LAWRENCEBURG

Granite and Marble Works

Manufacturers of and Dealers in

fine American and Imported Monuments.

Cemetery Work of Every Description Promptly and Carefully Attended to.

Lawrenceburg, Indiana.

D. M. SNYDER, Agt., Burlington, Ky.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

SCOTT CHAMBERS,
WALTON, KY.
Embalmer & Funeral Director,
LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.
First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.
Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.
Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.

All persons indebted to the estate of Elizabeth Huey, deceased, are requested to come forward and settle, and those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned properly proven.

J. T. JUDGE, Executor.

B. S. O'NEAL,
AUCTIONEER,
VERONA, - KENTUCKY.
Your Order is Solicited.

Take your County Paper.

BOONE CO. RECORDER
W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

Right Grading Sheep Essential to Success.

To make the best gains sheep when brought into winter quarters should be kept separate from the lambs rams and the feeding flock. Weak thin ewes, should be separately yarded so that they may get their share of the feed. The rams should be kept in lots of ample size so as to allow them plenty of exercise.

By taking these precautions and regularly providing the flock with suitable feed and an abundance of fresh water and by sheltering them in clean well ventilated quarters success in sheep husbandry is insured according to Frank Kleinheinz, shepherd of the Wisconsin Experiment Station flocks.

Choice of feeds depends to a large extent, upon the condition in which the breeding flocks enter winter quarters. If in good flesh and having access to good roughage, such as clover, millet, alfalfa hay and roots or corn silage, hardly any grain is necessary but if the sheep are in a thin weak condition, no time should be lost in supplying them with hearty grain rations. Otherwise results at lambing time will be disappointing. Pure water should be supplied the flock at all times, and salt should be kept where the sheep may have ready access to it. Successful flockmaster consider it a serious mistake to provide their sheep with salt but occasionally, for under these conditions they are apt to eat too much, which often times causes excessive drinking of water and a derangement of the digestive organs.

Currency Bill Passes House.

Washington, Dec. 22.—The House passed the conference report on the Administration Currency bill at 10:40 o'clock tonight by a vote of 298 to 60, and sent the report to the Senate, which had waited in session to receive it before adjournment for the night.

Prolonged and uproarous cheers from the Democrats greeted the announcement of the vote by Speaker Clark, and many members of the House hastened over to the Senate to see the report received there. Earlier in the evening the Senate had agreed to vote not later than 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and the leaders regarded it as certain that the completed bill would be in the hands of President Wilson for his signature before tomorrow night.

On the final vote thirty-seven Republicans, twelve Progressives and one Independent voted with the majority for the report, and two Democrats, Calloway, of Texas, and Witherspoon of Mississippi, joined the opposition.

Let Well Enough Alone.

Frankfort, Dec. 22.—Interviews with a large percentage of the membership of the next General Assembly disclose the fact that nearly all of them are coming to Frankfort with the fixed purpose of trying to remedy the financial condition of the State, and the outlook is not rosy for raids on the treasury. In fact, most departments are engaged in preparing biennial reports that will put their accomplishments and economical expenditures of funds in the best light for legislative scrutiny, and will be happy to "let well enough alone."

The auditing committee of the Boone Co. Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Company, was in session at the company's office in Burlington, Tuesday, making the annual audit of the company's books. The auditing committee were W. W. Conner and Robt. McGlasson. The secretary, Robt. L. Huey, and the treasurer, F. L. Utz, attended the committee.

In renewing his subscription to the Recorder, E. E. Fry, of New Albany, Indiana, writes:

"Keep the Recorder coming to my address. The paper is like a young fellow getting a long letter from his best girl every week. To me Boone Co. news is good news. I note also with regret a great many of my old friends have passed away."

Courtney Walton, of Idlewild, has the sympathy of his army of acquaintance in his misfortune. Unthoughtedly he undertook to drive his team of mules when they ran away with him, throwing him off the wagon and knocking out a handful of teeth, consequently he will be at a big disadvantage at the holiday feasts.

There will be nothing doing in this office from now until next Monday, when business will begin. Printers, as other people, like to have an opportunity to enjoy the Christmas holidays.

The Recorder is sorry that it has not a large, fat juicy turkey to send each of its subscribers as a Christmas present, and the mail carriers, doubtless, are glad it has not.

Wm. Wilson, of Waterloo, who has spent several days working on a Farmers' telephone line near Crittenden, Grant county, arrived home Tuesday.

Why not send the Recorder one year to a friend or relative as a New Year's gift?

The Joe Tinker rebellion in the base ball kingdom is equal to the civil war in Mexico.

The high cost of living will not cut much ice with the big Christmas dinners.

Waste in the Manure Pile.

One of the most glaring and most common of leaks on many farms is in the manure pile. In some localities it is common for the manure to be piled under the stable eaves until the farmer finds a convenient time to haul it out. Now, the authorities on the subject are disagreed as to the best practical method of handling manure; but all are agreed that the method of alternate leaching and fire fanging just outlined is the very worst possibel. Under such conditions the leak is serious indeed. It is as if the grocer had caved in the whole head of the barrel, so that nearly all of the vinegar could escape. The trouble seems to me that the matter of handling the manure is usually considered a side issue to be taken up when the pressurcof other work is lightest. The soil must be plowed and the crop must be harvested when it is ready; while the manure hauling can wait till a more convenient time, even though by so doing dollar after dollar is permitted to leach away with the rains or float away in the atmosphere. The care of the manure is of enough importance not to be set aside for other tasks. Adopt the method best suited to your conditions and follow it diligently. Stop the leak!

Wintering Stock In and Out of Stable.

Among recent reports of experiment stations received by the Department of Agriculture is one from the Canada Experiment Farms of tests made with live stock. In a comparison of feeding steers outside with feeding in stable 21 3-year old steers, chiefly Shorthorn and Hereford grades were winter fed five and one-half months. Lot 1 fed outside and amply supplied with hay and straw together with a grain ration made an average daily gain per head of 1.28 lbs., costing 9.5 cents per head. Lot 2 fed in the stable and receiving straw corn silage, and roots in addition to the regular grain ration made a corresponding gain of 1.31 pounds costing 8.9 cents per pound. Lot 3 also fed in the stable and similarly to lot 2 except that three pounds of the grain ration was replaced by 3 pounds of alfalfa hay a part of the period made a corresponding gain of 1.29 pounds at a cost of 8.1 cents per pound. Although slightly greater gains accrued from stalling and grain feeding the results show the profits possible from a better use of straw and coarse grains for fattening steers indicate that stalling is not essential and give proof of the great feeding value of alfalfa.

EXCHANGE ECHOES.

This county is certainly well stocked with varmints, judging from the number of pelts brought here court day for sale. They represented about all the species —raccoon, opossum, skunk, mink, muskrat, weasel and fox. And there are some few woodchucks, or groundhogs, in the country, several of which have been caught by dogs near Mt. Olivet within the past few years.—Mt. Olivet Tribune-Democrat.

—•—

"You can pick money off of bushes," provided you will grow fruit trees, for while they are yet but bushes they bear well. If half the meat consumed in Rowan Co. could be replaced by fresh fruit as a food we should have less dyspepsia and less disease, and if half the time spent in hewing cross ties out of the scraps of timber which are left could be spent in cultivating fruit trees we could have many times the wealth in the county that we now have. Better food and less disease! Less labor and more money, shurely these are worth seeking.—Morehead Mountaineer.

—•—

Mrs Rachel Rebecca Skelton, mother of Alex Curtis, was, so we are informed, 15 years old when the stars fell. An old book in the possesion of a Bracken county citizen contains an entry showing the stars fell about the year 1834. This would make Mrs. Skelton 105 years old, and possibly the oldest living person in Kentucky. She is a widow, was twice married, both husbands serving in the Federal army during the Civil war, her first husband being a member of the 5th Kentucky Cavalry. Mrs. Skelton is in fairly good health for a woman of her age. Her maiden name was Maybrier.—Mt. Oliver Tribune Democrat

—•—

Several silos were erected near Shepherdsville the past summer and fall, and so far as we can learn are giving entire satisfaction. The silo is the small farmer's friend. He can take fifteen acres of corn, convert it into ensilage and feed more stock than he could with thirty acres handled in the old way, and his stock will do much better. Everything eats ensilage, horses, hogs, cattle, sheep—no exceptions—and it is the best feed the farmer can procure. With a vastly larger yield of corn per acre under the new manner of cultivating that important cereal, and silos and other good improvements on the farm, we believe a brighter and letter day is dawning for the farmer. With better roads to the markets, good schools and churches; free delivery of mails at his door; means of sending fifty pounds of produce by mail and hundreds of other conveniences and blessings, the way is not so rocky as it was years ago.—Shepherdsville Pioneer.

President M. J. Crouch, of the Consolidated Telephone Co., made each of the switchboard operators a Christmas present of two dollars.

AUTOMOBILE HIRE.

Prices from Burlington, Ky.

Round trip to Erlanger (same day)	75 cts
One way to Erlanger	50 cts
One way to car line	65 cts
Round trip to car line (same day)	$1.00
Round trip to Walton	$7.50
Round trip to Covington	$6.50
Round trip to Petersburg	$4.00
Round trip to Belleview	$3.75
Round trip to Richwood	$4.00
Round trip to Florence	50 cts

The rates to the car line, Erlanger and Florence are based on two or more passengers the trip.

To agents and traveling men, $2.00 for the first hour, and $1.00 for each additional one hour and toll.

Yours for prompt service,
JOHN C. WHITE,
Burlington, Ky.

Fall and Winter Work.

The hunter when he sees the game throws up his gun and fires away taking very little sight, may bag some game but the chances are that he will miss many times. The farmer or business man who does but little planning, and studying conditions, etc., will have about as much luck as the careless hunter. We know of some farmers in our locality who make no particular plans for preparing for their crops and but little attention is paid to them until spring and then but little preparation has been made. In the springtime often we have rains and have but few days in which to plow and some of these are spent in getting ready so the plowing is done after it is too late. Plant beds are burned, sown and in many cases left to be washed by the spring rains instead of being properly ditched and cared for at once. So Mr. Carcless farmer has his ground in bad condition and no plants: in the fall after much trouble having been behind with his work all summer he has a small crop of everything except hard luck stories.

Had he taken steady aim with carefully laid plans, backed by inteligent industry, he would have had good crops and his land in much better shape of cultivation. Spend the fall and winter in preparing for next years work. Take nothing for granted that everything is well done. Have good tools and get them long before they are needed. Do not depend on borrowing anything, it is cheaper to buy than to borrow. Better hire a few days work done in the spring and fan even if you have to pay two prices, rather than leave the work undone. Take a fine sight upon your business and improve each year by hard work and study. Read books and papers and take a trip if necessary to improve anything.—Owen Democrat.

Tobacco By Parcels Post.

The tobacco growers of Sebree have successfully worked out a new plan for fighting the trust. Before the parcels post became effective some of the Webster farmers began to advertise that they would sell four pounds of natural leaf for $1. The advertising was very limited, but it brought results, and when the parcel post law went into effect the advertising was increased and this increased the business so much that a company was organized at Sebree to handle it. There is very little expense attached to putting up the tobacco—merely wrap it well for mailing purposes. As the natural leaf is sold, it does not have to be carried through any process of manufacture, which would entail heavy cost and add very materially to the selling price of the tobacco. So rapidly has the volume of business increased that the farmers see in it a way to get good prices for their tobacco by dealing with the consumers. They are receiving 25 cents a pound gross, and but a small part of this is necessary to meet the light expense, a price much higher than this is paid for any of the dark type of tobacco. They have let a contract for advertising their business in 598 newspapers and periodicals, and if the results obtained are as great as from the limited advertising done, it will bring on a big boom in the retail sale of leaf tobacco by the Webster county growers.—Owensboro Enquirer.

The race for U. S. Senator in this State will begin to take on considerable life with the beginning of the new year. The candidates will be nominated by a State wide primary election on the first Saturday in August, which, by no means, will be equivalent to an election for the Democratic nominee as Kentucky has acquired the habit of going Republican every few years, and that party will nominate its strongest man and poll its full vote at the regular election in November. The contest between the two parties after the nomination are made will be lively from the start.

W. M. Hudson, of Bardwell, the Carlisle county farmer with the record of 231 bushels of corn to one acre has just been presented with a prize of $100 in cash from a corn packing firm in Antwerp, O., for the biggest yield from a single acre in the country.

According to the latest official report the new winter wheat crop is in excellent condition and the average is considerably larger than that of last year. Another good crop is promised by all indications up to the present time.

The teachers of the local school gave their pupils a Christmas treat consisting of candy, etc.

The hunting season will be off in a few days.

Effect of Fall Plowing Upon Soil Fertility.

Plowing in the fall liberates more plant food for the spring crop and conserves more moisture. By loosening the surface soil thus allowing the air to penetrate the soil particles which contain phosphorus potassium, and lime are caused to oxidize which sets free these elements for the plant. The soil compounds originally are very complex and are practically of no benefit to the crop until they are acted upon by the air the solutions in the soil and plant juices, so as to decompose them and make them mush simpler. Fall plowing has a tendency to let the rains percolate into the soil better which tends to dissolve and break up the compounds for the use of the spring crop.

Bacteria which are found in the soil in countless numbers generally work better where oxygen from the air is readily available and these in turn break up the organic matter of the soil into simpler compounds liberating nitrates or nitrogen food for the plant. This is one of the most essential elements for the early growth of the plant. It is often noticed that spring plowing will not cause crops to lodge so badly as fall plowing. This is explained by nitrogen being set free to a larger extent in the loose porous, fall-plowed than in the more compact soil.

The moisture problem is also a valuable one from the standpoint of productiveness of the soil. As stated above by opening up the soil the fall rains percolate much more rapidly into the soil while there is a mulch formed on the surface which tends to prevent the water from the subsoil going directly to the surface and being evaporated. Fall plowing makes a reservoir of the subsoil storing the water for the crop in the spring. Often where the ground is a little rolling the water will run off before it has time to soak in when the soil is compact and hard. Those who have practiced summer fallowing know that it increases chances for a good yield the following season and this is largely due to the liberation of plant food in the soil and conservation of moisture. Fall plowing is very similar only the soil has not quite so long to bring about these changes as in case of summer fallowing. Where possible it is nearly always advisable to plow as early in the fall as possible.—W. H. Frazier Minnesota University.

About the best thing that Uncle Sam can do is to throw down the bars and furnish every man in Mexico with a gun and other necessary equipment and let the factions in that country wage a war of extermination.

We thank our friends and Customers for another year's patronage and may Prosperity and Contentment be your portion during 1914.

Goode & Dunkie,
Covington, Kentucky.

Go to Sullivan's
FOR YOUR HOLIDAY GOODS
WHERE YOU WILL FIND A COMPLETE LINE OF

CANDIES,
ORANGES,
NUTS,
RAISINS,
DATES,
FIGS,
CITRON,
OYSTERS,
CRANBERRIES

In fact everything for that Christmas Dinner, and many articles that will Make Useful Presents for Father, Mother, Sister, Brother or Sweetheart.

A Full and Complete Line of Groceries and General Merchandise.

Thanking you for past patronage and wishing you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Newton Sullivan, Jr.,
BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY.

Tobacco Growers

Bring Your Tobacco to the

Falmouth Loose Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Co.
(INCORPORATED)
FALMOUTH, KY.
TELEPHONE No. 87.

Best equipped and the largest loose leaf house in Northern Kentucky.

The best lighted house in the State, which enables us to show your tobacco to the best advantage.

We built this house for the growers of tobacco. The dealer did not need it, as he could ship to other markets; but not so with the farmer, because he could not pack for the old hogshead market to an advantage.

In this house the grower with a small crop has just the same advantage as the grower with a large crop, or the dealer, as each grade is put into a basket to itself.

We positively will have buyers from all the large manufacturers in the United States, and also buyers for the export trade.

We have a separate house with side track to receive tobacco shipped by railroad, so that the car tobacco and the farmers' wagons will not interfere with one another as in other markets.

We will be ready to receive your tobacco on December 1st.

Our openning sale will be on Saturday, December 6th.

We will have four sales days each week.

Local Happenings.

Fog and frost in abundance last Monday morning

Celebrate the Christmas holidays in a safe and sane way.

What has become of the old fashioned Christmas eggnog?

The holiday turkey crops has been harvested the past week.

The Recorder wishes all its numerous readers a happy Christmas.

Smart grain has not stopped growing this fall since it came up.

It looks as though night gets here about the middle of the afternoon.

Last Sunday was another ugly Sunday for which this fall has been famous.

Hubert White hauled a good many 16-cent turkeys thru Burlington the past week.

The students from the colleges have rounded in home for the Christmas holiday vacation.

The days are growing longer and in a few weeks the increase in their length will be noticed.

At one time last Thursday there were three large trucks from the city in Burlington delivering goods.

Don't spend all your funds celebrating Christmas as you will need some money later on in your business.

Rural mail carriers have been having their troubles this week, the rush of parcel post packages loading them to the guards.

There has been a great deal of fine weather for gathering corn this fall and there should be very little remaining in the fields.

What has become of the old fashioned Taylor Red apple that use to be so plentiful and palatable about this time of the year?

The Cason boys down on Middle creek delivered their tobacco to Albert Conner last week in time to get a large slug of Xmas money.

The Recorder wishes all its friends a merry Christmas and a big fat turkey for a Christmas dinner with all the necessary trimmings.

Temp Graves, of Bullittsville, was in Burlington, last Monday, looking like he was in prime condition for the holiday campaign of big dinners.

What has become of the old fashioned farmer in this county who use to raise corn enough for his own use and have some to sell to the booze factories?

Uncle Sam allows the rural mail carriers to remain at home today and feast on turkey and other good things which may find their way to their tables.

According to the report of an engineer Rising Sun's electric light plant was poorly constructed, and there are prospects of an interesting legal contest.

The hunting season is about out and no great amount of game has been bagged by the local Nimrods who usually derive considerable revenue from the sale of rabbits.

The boys began their shooting cracker celebration just a week ahead of the arrival of Christmas eve and for several hours the introductory exercises were fast and furious.

Circuit Clerk Maurer spent several days last week at Constance preparing for a big sale of property which he will make there Saturday before the first Monday in January.

The members of Burlington Masonic lodge are notified to meet at the hall in Burlington at 2 p. m., next Saturday to elect officers for the ensuing year.

N. E. RIDDELL,
Secretary.

A considerable area of land in this county has been plowed for next year's crops. The farmer who does a portion of his breaking of corn land in the fall always finds that he has a pretty good start for early planting the next spring.

The low price which furs have commanded this winter has not prompted the local trappers to make their usual efforts collecting furs and the local dealer is not required to have as long bank account as was necessary to meet the demands of the trade last winter.

William Kirkpatrick the local butcher has slaughtered a large number of fine hogs this winter the work being done for persons here in town and immediate vicinity. He has a force of expert hands who he puts on the job and everything is done in the best of style.

James M. Barlow, of Pleasant Valley, slipped and fell one day last week, besides bruising himself badly in several places, he sprained one of his ankles. He has the sympathy of this writer who sprained one of his ankles six weeks ago, and cannot get a shoe on his injured foot yet.

The city of Covington has faced a water famine twice in the past two weeks, the result of the breaking of large water main. If that city ever faced a beer famine the fact was not made public.

Nearly all the local merchants decorated their stores for the holidays. One evening the gas light in E. E. Kelly's store ignited some of the decoration and an ugly fire was narrowly avoided.

John Graves, colored, who farms with John J. Duncan out on the Petersburg pike, has been suffering severely for several days with one of his hands which he stuck a briar in a week or ten days ago. Blood poison is feared.

All kinds of livestock is in fine condition for the winter and thus far the farmers have done very little feeding owing to the open weather that has prevailed consequently the short supply of food for cattle etc., that was anticipated last summer will not prove an annoyance to the owners.

A turnip measuring twenty-eight inches in circumference and weighing ten pounds was grown on a farm near Coal Valley, Ill. Every turnip in the patch from which this one was taken grew to abnormal size, and few of them weighed less than five pounds each when taken up.

Reuben Hager's horse was frightened by the Cincinnati Grain Company's truck out on the Florence pike, last Saturday, and turned his runabout over, broke the shafts off and mashed down one of the front wheels. Had the young man been driving an auto it would not have been frightened by the truck.

When Ernest Ryle moved from Grant to Covington to take a position as clerk in the Covington postoffice the Recorder lost one of its best and most faithful correspondents whose place it would like to get someone to fill. If they can not cover the territory he did they may confine their items to Belleview and vicinity.

Hubert White is a great advocate of the split log drag on the public roads and he puts into practice what he preaches and the result of his work and that of some of his neighbors on the East Bend road shows good results. They have been using the drag long enough to prove its worth as an implement with which to work.

It is feared that a large portion of the nice weather which this month has furnished is only borrowed and that it will be paid back later on with big interest. Anyway it is now one month nearer spring when there is usually some good weather and all wish for no excessively cold weather during the next two winter months.

D. M. Snyder who has represented the Lawrenceburg Marble and Granite Works of Lawrenceburg the past year, will be that firm's representative in this county for the year 1914. During the past year Mr. Snyder did a considerable volume of business in the tombstone and monument business and hopes to increase his business next year.

The mail clerks have been a very busy set the past ten days their holiday labor having been increased several fold by the parcel post which has switched to them the handling of many packages heretofore sent by express and it is reasonably certain that the parcel post law would be repealed at once had the mail clerks the authority to dump it.

Sam Johnson brought his saw mill in from Ashby Fork last week and unloaded it on the public lot near Jerry Delph's saw mill. The boiler and engine was unloaded at Sam Hall's out on the Belleview pike where there is a large rick of stone at which Mr. Johnson will use his engine to operate the turnpike company's crusher while the stone is being crushed.

Gov. McCreary being one of the smoothest politicians in Kentucky and a man in whom everybody has confidence he will prove a factor in the race for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, and the other candidates will have to keep a close watch on the Governor or he will come down the home stretch in the lead. He has proven his ability to be a come-back in great shape.

Lewis Beemon of the Limaburg neighborhood left for Winter Haven Florida, last Wednesday. While in the State this winter he will visit all the principal cities and popular resorts and will have a good time generally. He has spent a couple of winters in the Land of Flowers and knows how to get the most pleasure out of a sojourn there. He is one who has a splendid opportunity for taking just such a trip as he has mapped out this winter and his friends here wish him the time of his life.

Mr. and Mrs. Elias Boyle request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Frances Martha to Mr. Lee Burton Gillespie Thursday evening, January first, nineteen hundred and fourteen at six o'clock. Hamilton, O.

The families of the betrothed couple are among the most respected in this community, and the young people are very popular among a host of friends.—Hamilton, (O.) Ex.

The bride's mother is well known in the Belleview neighborhood, this county, she being a daughter of the late John M. Moody.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

Stubbers Gasoline Lighting machine four gallon tank, will sell cheap if sold at once. For further particulars write to

Hickeys Shoe Store
Madison Ave.
Covington Ky.

Farming That Pays.

Figures given out by the federal Secretary of Agriculture Mr Houston furnish one excellent reason why the cost of living is high. Only 12 per cent of the cultivated land in the United States Mr. Houston says yields maximum returns while less than 40 per cent of the cultivated land is reasonably well cultivated.

This sustains the claims of the critics who assert that American farmers are as a rule mere soil miners. In other words they have been robbing the soil of its fertility because they have failed to use sound methods of crop production. Comparisons with the records of production in European countries are enlightening. The wheat crop of this country is raised on 50 000,000 acres with an average yield of 13.7 bushels to the acre. In European countries where the land has been tilled for a thousand years the yield is from 25 to 40 bushels to the acre.

Those who have studied scientific farming say that the three essentials for similar results in this country are restoration and maintenance of soil fertility right methods of cultivation and seed of the best quality. Possibly the interest of more farmers in improved methods would be aroused if this kind of argument offered by a student of the situation were more frequently advanced. "An eighty bushel corn crop for one year will make the farmer more net money than a forty bushel average for four years and one crop properly handled will do better than several farmed by the usual method."

Poor farming is too expensive to be engaged in profitably. Farming by right methods is the only kind that pays.—Chicago Daily News.

Resolutions of Respect.

Resolutions of the W. M. U. and Ladies Aid of the Big Bone Baptist church on the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Huey, better known as Aunt Lizzie.

On Friday night, Oct. 31, at 10:30 p. m., Aunt Lizzie passed to her reward after a long and useful life, "like a shock of corn fully ripe for the harvest." She was born Nov. 4th, 1829 in Boone Co. where she lived all her life.

She was the daughter of James and Virginia Gaines. She was married to Osker W. Huey, Aug. 20th, 1851. Since the death of her husband, 36 years ago, she has devoted her life to her church and her friends.

Aunt Lizzie joined the Big Bone Baptist church August 12th, 1853. From that day until her death she was a faithful, earnest and concentrated member. To know her was to love her. She brought joy and happiness into every heart she touched.

On the 4th of November she would have been 84 years old. Her work is done and the Father could well say "Child come home. Thou hast been faithful over a few things enter thou into the joys of thy Lord."

Resolve, 1. That we as a society deeply feel our loss in the going of Aunt Lizzie. She was one of our most faithful workers. She was our leader and guide.

2nd. That we bow in humble submission to Him who doeth all things Well.

3rd. That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our minutes and a copy presented to Thomas Judge.

Committee.—Mrs. T. A. Huey, Mrs. Wm. McMillan.

Back to the Farm Crusade.

We have heard much in recent years from pulpit and press from statesman and politicians concerning the necessity of people going back to the farm; but these preachers and teachers and agitators want to force somebody else back to the farm. They do not go back themselves; they prefer to live in town with all of the town comforts and with all of the food supplies the grocer and the commission merchant and expressman bring to their doors. They grow alarmed at times by the increase in price which testifies to the scarcity of food supplies. Then we have articles and addresses calling upon the whole population to go back to the farm.

The school census of Kansas just completed shows that the rural school population of that flourishing and flowering State has decreased 13 891, in the past five years whereas in the same period the city school population has increased 16 000.

So instead of the movement back to the farm assuming any great proportions the drift toward the city seems to be as great as ever. Fourteen thousand children in the past five years have been transferred from the country schools of Kansas to the city schools of Kansas and the country schools of Kansas are probably as attractive as any in America.—Louisville Post.

Only a few days now until the Kentucky legislature will be in session again, and it can be induced to turn its attention to business other than creating new offices and increasing salaries it may be of some benefit to the State. The time when a Kentucky legislature adjourned without having increased the State's liabilities is not remembered by any of her citizens.

Extraordinary Values

At DINE'S 530-32 Madison Ave. Covington, Ky.

During The Month Of December

Business Success for 28 Yrs

There Must Be a Reason.

Here is an offer that should especially appeal to those who are going to furnish their home complete.

HANDSOME

Two-In. Post Brass Bed

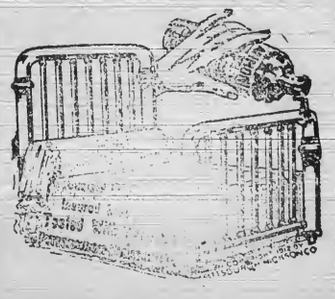
Free With Every Purchase of $125.00 or More

It is handsome in appearance and is finished in a guaranteed lacquer, furnished in either satin or polished finish.

Dine's Sanitary Couch Bargain

Built of heavy angle steel, wire fabric and highly tempered Premier Helicals. Can be made large enough for two persons..... $2.98

☞ This is a picture of our Auto Truck, which delivers your FURNITURE in perfect condition. ☜



NO FREIGHT. NO BREAKAGE.

518-520 York Street, Newport, Ky.

DINE'S FURNITURE HOUSE.

530-532 Madison Av. Covington, Ky

A Nice Brass Bed

Can be furnished now, in either polish or satin finish, at the price you have usually paid for a good iron bed. Be sure and see our special---

$15.48

Other designs up to and including $75.

Thesebeds are all guaranteed for a period of 10 years. Another extraordinary value is the one above illustrated at $22.50 actually worth $30.00.

The Holiday Season is Near

and there will be many weddings during this time. Readers of the Boone County Recorder who are considering this step, should by all means call as early as possible and let us show you thru our handsome Furniture Store. You will be agreeably surprised at the beautiful, substantial household furnishings within your reach. We make a specialty of outfits to young couples just going to housekeeping.

Let Us Furnish The Home-To-Be?

We know just how to fix you up, to make your little home Cozy, Comfortable and Convenient at the Least Possible Cost to you. Don't fail to give us an opportunity.

THEO·HECK & CO

319-343 W. Fifth St., Cincinnati, Ohio. Between Central Avenue and Plum Street.

☞ Make this store your headquarters when in the city. Leave your bundles here until train time. There will be no charge, and you will be relieved of the inconvenience of carrying them around all day. Feel at home here, we are all Kentuckians.

To the many friends who took such an active interest in my Canal Zone trouble I wish to extend my heartfelt gratitude and wish them a merry Xmas and a happy new year.

Respectfully,
J. Frank Houston.

The series of foggy mornings extended nearly thru last week.

FOR SALE.

White and Yellow Bloom Sweet Clover Seed.

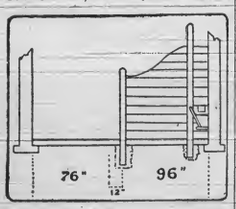
O. B. SLEET, Mason, Ky.

For Sale—34 good stock ewes and a buck. Write or call W. H. Rice, Deposit Bank, Florence, Ky.

FARM FOR SALE.

About 100 acres on Belleview pike, 1½ miles from Burlington, land all in high state of cultivation, well watered and all in grass except about 12 acres, good six room house, good cistern and well and necessary outbuildings in good repair. For terms and price call on the undersigned.

RICHARD WHITE.



GOOD FARM BUILDINGS

Materials for Cow Houses, Stables and Pigstyes.

Floor of Structure Intended for Accommodation of Live Stock Should Be Impermeable and Non-Absorbent as Possible.

(By W. R. GILBERT.)

Since the introduction of Portland cement concrete as a floor-laying material there has been no excuse for uncomfortable and inefficient floors at the homestead. To be efficient, the floor of a house intended for the accommodation of live stock must to as great a degree as possible be both impermeable and non-absorbent. If it be neither, it will be liable to become offensive itself, and will lead to the same condition in the soil upon which it lies as well. Flagstones of good quality and finish and flooring tiles may reach a high standard in these respects, but unless they are very carefully jointed liquid matter will leak through the seams and polute the soil underneath. If with such as these it is difficult to keep the subsoil wholesome, it need never be attempted with irregularly finished slabs, far less with small boulders, as paving stones. Concrete can, however, be laid without joint or crack in the whole area covered. It is impervious to water; moisture cannot pass down through it, nor can ground damp pass up. It can be worked into forms required in such places, and it wears well. A further advantage is its comparative cheapness. Another is the effective resistance that it gives to rats; these untiring "sappers and miners" are nonplussed when faced by a well-laid concrete floor.

Open channels alone are permissible in the buildings we are dealing with; covered drains can never be kept sanitary in these places—not, at any rate, under the treatment it is found practicable to bestow upon them there. Here, again, concrete comes to the front on account of the regularity and smoothness of outline it is possible to give them in that material. A concrete channel can be effectively swept or scraped with ease, and a bucket or two of water swilled along its course will leave it comparatively sweet and clean.

Limitations of Concrete.

But while concrete is eminently well adapted for flooring the parts of farm buildings that are liabel to be soiled by the tied-up animals, it is not so well suited for their stalls or lairs. It is all right as regards smoothness, but it seems to be too cold for both cows and pigs to lie upon unless abundance of bedding or litter is at the disposal of the attendants. When heavy horses come it is hardly durable enough; the pounding of their iron-bound heels are too much for concrete. The passages and channels of the three places we started with can have no better flooring medium than concrete, but something a little warmer and less unyielding is required for both cows and pigs to lie upon. Horses might be left to take advantage of its smoothness were it more durable against their heels, because they usually have more bedding afforded them and they have less time to lie down.

Brick Pavement

Makes a very suitable floor for the cow's stall, and it answers equally well for the pig's bed. Well shaped building bricks laid on a bed of lime or cement serve the purpose admirably. The cows can never soil their stall floors, provided the building is arranged to meet their requirements; neither do the bigs mess their sleeping place provided it is kept clear of the rest of the floor space. At this rate there is not much likelihood of the soil beneath the brick pavement ever getting contaminated by excretal matter, even when the bricks are simply bedded on sand or ashes and are not grouted. But when bedded on lime and grouted with cement, a firm, sound job is the result, and a surface of this sort will respond to a swilling with water as readily as the parts of the floor in concrete do.

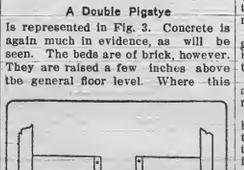
Stable Stalls.

Something harder than brick is of course required for the stable stall. "Setts" or paving blocks, either of granite or "whin," say 8x4x5-inch, suit very well. Bedding them in lime, and grouting them in cement, both as advised for the brick pavement, make a strong job. This pavement may be kept two feet or so back from the wall that the horses face against, but it should be continued to the one side or other of the channel behind the horses. Concrete comes in very suitable for the remainder of the floor. The narrow strip in front, if laid with it, keeps rats at defiance. Rats are always sure of something in the stable stalls, but they will not venture there unless they are free to shelter in the floor beneath.

Fig. 1 is a cross-section of a floor such as we are describing. It shows a building 18 feet wide inside. It may safely be more; to make it less is not advisable. The stable, as well as the cowhouse and pigstye, should, as we have already said, be without covered drains inside. As far as practicable, one should make an open channel serve to carry away liquid matter from the stable. There is never as much urine from horses as from the cows, however; but there is usually more fall given in the stalls of the stables than in those of the cowhouse, and the stances for the geldings have to be floored in such a way that the stalings may be readily concentrated and led to the gutter. It is sometimes necessory, however, to make use of short lengths of these.

Fig. 2 represents the cross-section of a good



Double Cowhouse.

The cows face the walls, their beds or lairs being 7 feet 3 inches long from the wall to the edge of the "grip." The beds are almost level in this direction. They have more or less incline the other way, in accordance with the general rake of the building, but as little as can be given. A glazed fire-clay trough sits on the floor in front of each cow. The troughs are kept back from the wall about the breadth of a brick, so that the animals, when in the act of using, may not damage their horns against the wall. The "grip" is 21 inches broad, 6 inches deep at the side next to the cattle stances and from 3 inches to 4 inches alongside the central passage. The bottom of the "grip" has a dip of 1½ inches from the one side to the other, and lengthwise as much fall as will quickly lead fluid matter to the outlet provided for its discharge. It sometimes happens that the cowhouse may be too long or admit of the channels being run continuously or on the same grade the whole length of the building. Were the floor in general given a good "rake" or incline from one end to the other there would be no difficulty in giving a fairly long stretch to the "grip." Its conformation and smoothness enable it to clear itself quickly of liquid matter. But as we have indicated, it is not advisable to give a building of the kind much of a hang lengthwise, else the cows will have a tilt that way when lying. Their beds we have advised to be made as level as is practicable from wall to "grip," and this holds good with regard to their cross-section, too. It will be noticed from the figure that the passage up the center of the cowhouse is a little lower than the cow stands on each side. This is in order to give the cows a better position when critics are about. The travises or divisions between stalls are of concrete, and between three and four inches thick. Each stall, we need hardly add, holds two cows. A cowhouse, finished as I have been describing, and properly ventilated, does not call for much improvement, one would think.

The cross-section of

A Double Pigstye

is represented in Fig. 3. Concrete is again much in evidence, as will be seen. The beds are of brick, however. They are raised a few inches above the general floor level. Where this method is adopted it will be found that the pigs rarely mess these "platforms." When feeding they vold excrement enough, but then it falls on the concrete floor between the trough and the raised bed. The liquid matter escapes either underneath or round the troughs into the channel alongside the passage; and the solid matter can easily be removed from where it fell with shovel or scraper, without leaving much trace behind it. The feeding troughs are of a glazed fire-clay. They are low in front, but have high sloping backs, tending outwards into the passage, over which projection the food can easily be tipped from bucket or ladle. Cross-pieces from front to back keep each snout from boring from right to left in the trough. The high back of the troughs help to make out the front barrier of each division or pen. Iron rods stretched above these, as the section shows, complete it effectually, while they admit of a clear view of the place. It simplifies matters when doors to the pen can be dispensed with at the passage side and be put in the back wall instead. This affords increased trough space, and is otherwise convenient enough. The semi-solid excreta can be easily removed by the back, a concrete barrow track being carried along one end of the platform to the doorway, if so wished, but a narrower strip will serve. A run of water from one end of the house to the other will do the rest of the cleaning effectually. The effluent will easily repay the cost of a tank placed where such can be conveniently intercepted. The figures, it must be borne in mind, are suitable only for small-ish pigs; for larger animals they must be increased proportionately. Lighted and ventilated as advised for the cowhouse, a place such as the above merits the name of pighouse in place of pigstye.

Look Here!

The Best Offer Ever.

The Boone County Recorder
The Weekly Enquirer,
Farm & Fireside, semi-monthly
Poultry Success, monthly
Woman's World, monthly
Farm News, monthly

All One Year For

$2.10

By Ordering the above separately the cost would be $4.25 for the Six Publications each one year.

This Big Proposition

is open to all New Subscribers to The Recorder and to those whose renewals will extend into 1914.

Those who have renewed up to or beyond Jany. 1, 1914 will be given the benefit of the above combination by sending to this office Sixty Cents.

Now is the time to secure your reading matter for the long winter nights coming on. Grasp this Opportunity.

Union Creamery Company

UNION, KENTUCKY

Pays the highest possible price for Butter Fat in whole milk and hand separated cream. Honest tests and weights guaranteed.

A. L. Mallett, :: Manager.

Phone, Consolidated No. 40.

TEACHERS HAVE BILLS

Favor Legislation to Discourage Independent Graded Schools.

Frankfort, Ky.—At a meeting of the legislative committee of the Kentucky Education Association, held here, it was decided to submit the following bills to the next legislature for passage:

1. The creation of a state board of education, composed of seven members.

2. That the powers of the state school inspector be increased so as to give him authority to file suits and correct abuses in the collection and expenditure of school revenue.

3. That the old trustee law, which was in existence prior to 1908 and which remains on the statutes, but now obselete, be repealed.

4. That graded schools be required to maintain a high school equivalent to that maintained by the county in order to exist as such.

5. That the county superintendent's salary be fixed at $1,000 for the minimum and $2,500 for the maximum.

6. That the law permitting graded schools to extend the boundary be amended so that they may decrease the boundary.

7. That the law may be amended so that a graded school may be abolished when desirable.

8. That the school district law be amended so that the salary of the teacher may be paid when the blanks have been properly filled by the subdistrict trustee.

9. That subdistrict trustees be elected for a period of four years instead of two years.

10. That the county board of education be elected for a period of four years, one half to expire every two years.

11. That the compulsory school law be amended so as to make warrants for its violation returnable before the county court, the police court or any magistrate's court.

12. That the law relating to teachers institutes be amended so as to require only those teachers who actually teach to attend.

13. That the 3d class certificate be abolished and that there be three county examinations instead of four each year, and also that the one examination annually for state diploma be abolished.

14. That the board of trustees of the Colored State Normal school be appointed in the same way and given the same powers as those of the State University and state normal schools.

15. That the county boards of education be authorized to employ teachers instead of the division board of education.

In Shoots.

When a brainy man marries a brainy woman the intellectual sparks generally fly.

Brevity often lends charm to an opinion.

A good many persons can never discover the halo of the self-made man.

If we could see ourselves as others see us we would never take the second look.

A man can generally acquire wisdom after marriage—if he gets the right kind of a woman.

It is impossible to make much progress going forward if you are continually looking backward. —Ex.

It has been ascertained after a long investigation that the juveniles luxury, the peanut, is not handled by a trust.

Boone County Farms and Town Property For Sale.

165 acres on the Waterloo and Rabbit Hash pike 2¼ miles from Rabbit Hash and 4½ miles from Belleview. One and one-half story house with nine rooms, two new barns 36x48 and 40x48, other out buildings, plenty of water, good fence, all in grass but 20 acres. Price $60 per acre.

—!!—

100 acres almost adjoining the above farm with no house but good barn 36x48. Fifty acres woodland. 75 acres of this land will grow tobacco. Plenty water. Five acres in cultivation. Price $30.00 per acre. The two above farms could be considered as one farm or can be sold separate.

—!!—

86 acres on the Waterloo and McVille pike ¾ mile from McVille and about 1½ miles from Waterloo or Belleview. No improvements except good fences. Plenty water. All in grass. Thirty acres will grow tobacco. Price $20.00 per acre.

—!!—

Good 5-room house and one acre ground in Burlington. Price $1000.

—!!—

Two houses and lots in Petersburg one for $600 and the other for $400.

Also have some farms for sale not listed above.

A. B. RENAKER,
Burlington, Ky.

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS

For Sale, stock from the flock scoring most points at State Fair last fall. Cockerels, $1.00 each; eggs in season. (dec 18)

MRS. B. C. GRADDY,
Bullittsville, Ky.

WANTED—A good, steady, farm hand by the month or year to begin work at once or soon as possible. Good house and good wages guaranteed to right party. Apply to or address J. W. EWBANKS, Brashear, Ky.

Farm lands in Central Kentucky are higher than ever known, with more selling and demand stronger than for years. Farms which two years ago sold for $80 and $100 per acre are now bringing from $115 to $150, and the demand is greater than the supply. W. Ed. Sledd has sold his farm, lying on the Grassy pike, to Robt. Howell. The farm contains sixty-one acres, with improvements, and sold for $175 per acre. John W. Boardman has sold his farm lying near Little Rock, containing 100 acres and improvements, to Thomas J. Fleming at $100 per acre. A well known real estate man was offered and refused $150 for an eighty acre tract and $200 per acre for a tract containing ninety-seven acres. The demand is mostly coming from Eastern Kentucky people who have sold coal and mineral holdings.

No Peanut Trust.

Washington, Dec. 18.—There is no Peanut Trust and the price of the peanut is largely determined by the size of crops in the United States and Spain, according to investigators of the Department of Justice, who have concluded an inquiry into the subject. Charges made to Attorney-General McReynolds that dealers in Virginia and North Carolina controlled the marked and fixed prices have not been borne out by the investigation, and a suit under the antitrust act is not now contemplated.

Take your County Paper.

DAILY

Courier-Journal

AT HALF PRICE

DURING

DECEMBER
JANUARY
FEBRUARY

The Boone Co. Recorder

has made a special arrangement whereby the Daily Courier-Journal can be furnished one year for $3.00, six months $1.75, by mail (Sunday not included) to all persons who will give their orders to us during the months named above. You can have the Daily Courier-Journal and the Recorder one year each

For Only $4.50

After February 28, 1914, the price of the Daily Courier-Journal alone is $6.00 a year. Take advantage of this special Bargain Offer at once and Reduce the High Cost of Living.

To Get Advantage of This Cut Rate, Orders Must Be Sent Us, Not to the Courier-Journal.

Peters "ALL-FOR-WEAR"

THE BEST WORK SHOE IN THE WORLD

FOR SALE BY

W. M. RACHAL & CO.

UNION, KENTUCKY.

H. G. BLANTON,

Funeral Director and Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.

First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.

I Have a Nice White Funeral Car and Ambulance,

Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.

Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,

GRANITE & MARBLE

MONUMENTS,

Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.

Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.

Office and Wareroom:

70 and 72 Main Street,

AURORA, IND.

IRA POPE Agent, - - Grant, Ky

J. L. HAMILTON

(Successor to M. T. WILSON)

FUNERAL DIRECTOR,

Verona, Ky.

Telephone calls day or night given prompt attention. dec-1-12

CHAS. E. GARNETT.

AUCTIONEER.

Will go to any part of the county

Address.

R. D. 2, Ludlow, Ky.

A Splendid Clubbing Bargain

WE OFFER

The Boone Co. Recorder

AND

The Cincinnati Weekly Enquirer

Both One Year For Only $1.85

Subscriptions may be new or renewal.

What the Weekly Enquirer Is.

It is issued every Thursday, subscription price $1 per year, and it is one of the best home metropolitan weeklies of to-day. It has all the facilities of the great DAILY ENQUIRER for obtaining the world's events, and for that reason can give you all the leading news. It carries a great amount of valuable farm matter, crisp editorials and reliable up-to-date market reports. Its numerous departments make it a home farm or business man.

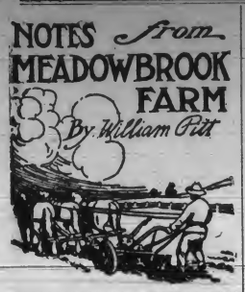
This grand offer is limited and we advise you to take advantage by subscribing for the above combination right now. Call or mail orders to

BOONE CO. RECORDER,
Burlington, Ky.

S. Gaines,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

Burlington, Ky.



Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

Take your County paper.

NOTES From MEADOWBROOK FARM

By William Pitt

Poultry relish skimmilk.

Duck raising is profitable.

Musty hay carries many ills.

Millet does not make good silage.

Timothy is a very expensive milk builder.

Get the pigs that are fit off to the early market.

If your hogs have cholera put up a sing, "Hog Cholera Here."

Burying is a satisfactory means of protecting winter cabbage.

If hogs bring $10 a hundred the feeders will come out even on $1 corn.

Alfalfa pasture and hogs make a combination that is hard to beat.

Beef cattle supplies at all the big northern markets are running light.

Better grow truck crops for workingmen than to ship grain to Europe.

A dairy properly managed brings in a steady income throughout the year.

If dry weather helps the soil we all ought to raise good gardens next year.

A pound of mutton can be produced at less cost than any other kind of meat.

A sheep will take cold in spite of its fleece of warm wool, if obliged to lie in a draft.

Barnyard manure is like the trigger of a gun—it releases forces far greater than its own.

When you pick fruit, be careful not to pull it from the stem. The stem prevents quick decay.

Do not keep cows for a side issue, make it a business like any other branch of farm work.

A bruised apple, if put into a barrel with sound fruit, will eventually destroy all of them.

Put off habits and success in handling anything connected with the dairy do not go together.

Use well matured sows for breeding purposes and keep them as long as they are good breeders.

Handle the brood sows so that the young pigs will begin to grow from the time of their birth.

Quality in dairy products is of extreme importance. It is always valuable, but here it is essential.

There should be no off years in apple orchards if the trees are properly cared for and cultivated.

Select seed corn early and thus avoid getting the late maturing ears. These ears are not safe for seed.

Be sure the sows have plenty of pure water to drink, aside from the slop they have. Slop is not drink.

I for no other reason a definite crop rotation should be followed for its systematizing effect on the farm operations.

A man can never tell the quality of his soil until he digs into it and watches its action with different crops.

Early and careful selection of seed corn will easily increase the prospective yields for next year five bushels per acre.

A ewe in good flesh almost invariably is a good breeder and a good suckler, things that thin ewe cannot very well do.

The advantages of cheap and even fertile lands may be readily counterbalanced by the distance from market.

In most localities the building should face the south, as this insures the greatest amount of sun light during the winter.

The Indian Runner grows very rapidly and begin laying early. They lay a large white egg. These eggs have a very fine flavor.

Can you afford a coat of paint for the buildings this fall? There is really nothing like it for brightening things up around the premises.

Feed small grain in plenty of clean litter so that the hens have to scratch for it. They need the exercise since there are not so many grasshoppers to chase.

Keep the grit box full.

Clean up the strawberry bed.

Keep the fall pigs growing.

Mature sows are best for breeding.

The fall-chosen seed is likely to be the best.

The cheapest way to get good cows is to raise them.

A fertile soil is a big item in economical milk production.

The eggs should be gathered daily and marketed twice a week.

In packing apples for market the less handling they get the better.

The question is not what kind of fences you have but how well they are kept.

A pot or box of parsley, growing in a kitchen window, is both useful and ornamental.

Strawberry plants should be covered to a depth of two inches with hay or old straw.

The cause of white specks in butter, in most cases, is due from oversouring of the cream.

Be sure the sheep barn has a tight roof, a dry floor and good ventilation with no drafts.

Hang up a bunch of alfalfa where all the chickens can peck at it as much as they please.

The poultry like fresh straw now and then just as well as the cow likes to be well bedded.

The patient mule is not much for speed, but he keeps going, and usually arrives on time.

Save money by having the old horses' teeth flattened so they can grind their feed.

In selecting future dairy cows from heifers, see that the milking organs are well developed.

Fertility can be built up faster upon the dairy farm than upon any other kind of a farm.

Prune out limbs and twigs of apple trees infested with blight. Disinfect tools after each cut.

The germ of seed corn lies in the tip of the kernel. Broad, well-filled tips indicate strong germs.

Sell all old and poor ewes and start your breeding season with a good, vigorous, pure-bred stock.

Time and care spent in the orchard is almost sure to pay for itself and a good rate of interest besides.

All eggs should be tested by the seventh day, which often makes it possible to rest some of the hens.

Don't keep a horse going after it begins to show signs of exhaustion. You will save him by resting a bit.

Sweet clover may be sown just before it freezes up, but, on the whole, it gives better results to sow early in the spring.

Do not forget that the fowls need green food. If a change of yards is not possible see that some is fed them daily.

The clearing up and burning of the garden rubbish this fall will mean a less number of insects to fight next season.

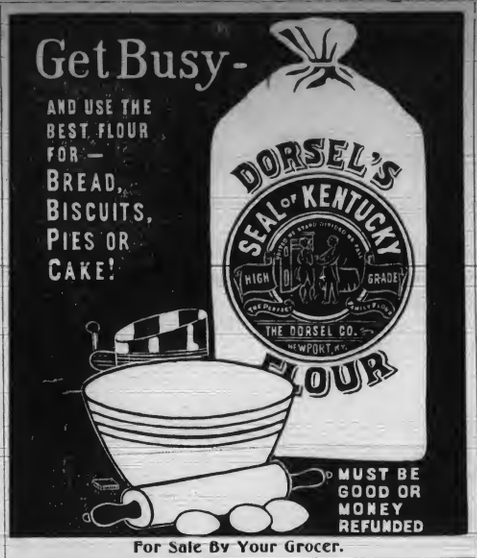
Breed for a purpose. This idea is being constantly brought to our attention among the different breeds of stock.

A mule never seems to be really frightened at anything. When he runs away he does it through pure love of mischief.

What is a farm? A piece of land does not make a farm. There must be fences, houses, stock, cultivation and a crop.

Large ears of corn are not necessary to large yields. Maturity is essential to satisfactory crops. Don't go after too large ears.

Docking lambs improves their general appearance and increases their market value, without retarding their growth to any extent.



The well-bred draft horse is always in demand, and the farmer who breeds it constantly is the one who makes the most profit in horses.

The spring chicken is one hatched not earlier than February nor later than May, and is of market weight at two or three pounds.

Collect the eggs regularly at least once, better twice, a day in moderate weather and more frequently in very warm and very cold weather.

A wash made up of washing soda and soft soap when applied to the trunks and limbs of trees will prevent lichen adhering to the trees.

The dairyman who looks after the comfort of his cows will get the most out of them. He will lessen the cost of milk production, which is the same thing as increase in price.

For Sale By Your Grocer.

USEFUL PRESENTS

A pair of our gold Glasses makes a useful and beautiful reminder for the holidays.

We also have Gold Eyeglass, Chains and Opera Glasses—all at reasonable prices.

N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,

613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

Phone, South 1746.

Feeding of Silage.

Farmers' bulletin 556 of the United States Department of Agriculture tells of the making and Feeding of Silage. The bulletin gives these points in favor of Silage.

Within the last thirty years silage has come into general use in the United States, especially in those regions where the dairy industry has reached its greatest development. Sialge is universally recognized as a good and cheap feed for farm stock, and particularly so for cattle and sheep. There are several reasons for the popularity of silage.

1. More feed can be stored in a given space in the form of silage than in the form of fodder or hay.

2. There is a smaller loss of material when a crop is made into silage than when cured as fodder or hay.

3. Corn silage is a more efficient feed than corn fodder.

4. An acre of corn can be placed in the silo at less cost than the same area can be husked and shredded.

5. Crops can be put in the silo during weather that could not be utilized in making hay or curing fodder.

6. More stock can be kept on a given area of land when silage is the basis of the ration.

7. There is less waste in feeding silage than in feeding fodder. Good silage properly fed is all consumed.

8. Silage is very palatable.

9. Silage, like other succulent feeds, has a beneficial effect upon the digestive organs.

10. Silage is the cheapest and best form in which a succulent feed can be provided for winter use.

11. Silage can be used for supplementing pastures more economically than can soiling crops, because it requires less labor, and silage is more palatable.

12. Converting the corn crop into silage clears the land and leaves it ready for another crop.

It is time to get away from the tobacco raising industry as an exclusive occupation for McCracken county. The crop is not large as a result of a poor season, one among many and to make their living expenses for the year farmers are forced to ask prices above the market figure. As a result buyers are remaining inactive, feeling that they cannot meet the advance and resting on their oars until thru necessity for turning their crop into money the farmers will lower their scale and accept, instead of a small margin of profit, a base increase, or an even break, and in some cases a distinct loss. Consequently in the holiday season when things should be moving rapidly and money is turning over, wheels are still and the average tobacco grower has cause to rejoice in his line of credit is good and his bankers accommodating in a tight financial period.—Paducah Sun.

Local hunters are bringing in very few quail this year and the indications are that they are scarce. Unless protected further by law, it would not be surprising to see the quail become extinct in this section. The hunting season ought to be made shorter or cut out altogether for a few years to give the birds a chance.—Flemingsburg Gazette.

There have been many miles of county roads worked by the drag this week, and the men who have used them are being blessed by every man who uses such roads.—Greenville Record

Rogers Bros. General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.

Coal Kept in the Yard.

Country Produce taken in Trade.

For Sale or Rent.

One Hundred and Eight and Two-Third Acres of Land, at the mouth of Gunpowder creek in this county; the best hog farm in Northern Kentucky. For further particulars call on or address Erastus Rice, Rising Sun, Indiana, or S. D. Rice, Grant, Ky., R. D. 1.

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN,

DENTIST

will be at Burlington on the first and second Monday, and in Union on the third and fourth Monday of each month, prepared and qualified to practice according to the latest methods extracting teeth painless.

All work guaranteed.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of Execution No. 2721 directed to me, which issue from the Clerk's Office of the Kenton Circuit Court, in favor of Ottawa Banking & Trust Co., against Ernest Hartman and John H. Aylor, I or one of my deputies, will, on Saturday, the 27th day of December, 1913, between the hours of 1 o'clock p. m. and 2:30 o'clock p. m., at Williams' Store, Gunpowder, Boone county, Kentucky, expose to public sale, to the highest bidder, the following described property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy plaintiff's debt, interest and costs, to-wit:

One Black Stallion, five years old, blaze face, levied upon as the property of Ernest Hartman and John H. Aylor. This stallion is a fine draft animal.

Terms:—Sale will be made on a credit of three months, bond with approved security required, bearing interest at the rate of six pecent per annum interest from day of sale and having the force and effect of a judgment. Amount to be raised by sale, $1,611.15.

B. B. HUME, Sheriff Boone Co.

Raw Furs Wanted.

I pay highest prices for prime pelts, all kinds. Hold your furs for me.

H. KIRK, Burlington, Ky.

For Sale—About 15 bushels choice seed corn Johnson Co. White, $2.00 per bushel. First come first served. Apply to L. T. Clore Burlington, Ky.

Take your County Paper.

FIFTY-SECOND SEMI-ANNUAL STATEMENT OF THE

Boone County Deposit Bank

Burlington, Kentucky

At Close of Business December 31, 1912.

RESOURCES.		LIABILITIES.
Loans, Bonds, &c.	$170,858.50	Capital Stock	$ 30,000.00
Overdrafts	52.81	Surplus	45,000.00
Due from Banks	38,391.04	Undivided Profits, &c	7,581.49
Cash	7,711.80	Deposits	136,591.35
Banking House, &c.	3,000.00	Due Banks	841.31
Total	$220,014.15	Total	$220,014.15

A Bank that is going after business, and going in the right way.

HOW? By promptness in serving its customers,
By courteous attention to their banking needs.
By readiness in meeting their requirements, and, above all
By perfect security of the funds intrusted to its care, having over $100.000.00 to secure depositors.

We have the largest Capital and Surplus of any Bank in this county, and are amply able to accommodate our patrons, and are willing at all times to afford them every accommodation justified by the rules of good and safe banking, whether their accounts are large or small.

N. E. RIDDELL, President. J. C. REVILL, Cashier.

Lewis M. Park,

Funeral Director and Embalmer

White and Black Funeral Cars.

First-class Carriages for family parties and weddings.
Auto or Horse drawn Ambulance service.
Telephone calls day or night given prompt attention.

Main Avenue, - Erlanger, Ky.

ADAMS

A New Victrola $75

A Cabinet Style Victrola combining a record cabinet for only $75.00. Same perfect, mellow tone quality of the most expensive Victrola, same elegant finish.

Easy Monthly Payments.

A. ADAMS,

15 Pike Street,

Covington, - - Ky.

The Cincinnati Grain Co.

HAVE OPENED THEIR NEW HOUSE AT ERLANGER, KY.

FREE PHONE ERLANGER 49

Handle Hay, Grain, Flour and Feed of all Kinds.
Will Also Buy Your Wheat, Rye, Etc.

Special Notice—We are selling at city prices, consequently can save you the long haul from Covington and Cincinnati.

GIVE US A TRIAL.

FARM MOTORS

For Pumping, Operating Churns, Saws, Corn Shredders, Filling Silos, Etc.

Last a Lifetime. From 1¼ to 25 h. p. $33 and up.

Ready To Run.

Direct Factory Representatives

SPENCER-HARTLIEB CO.

316-318 MAIN STREET
CINCINNATI, OHIO

Phone, 1810 Main

Read Our Big Combination Offer.

Read all the ads. in this issue. It will pay you.

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

WALTON.

Jas. R. Wallace spent the first of the week at Corinth on business.

Henry C. Diers spent the first of the week at Lawrenceburg, Indiana, on business.

Mrs. Addie Morris spent last Friday in Williamstown the guest of Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Black.

Judge and Mrs. J. G. Tomlin spent the first of the week in Cincinnati with friends and relatives.

Rev. C. J. Nugent, pastor of the Methodist church, spent part of the week in Louisville with friends.

Fred Wayland, of the firm of Wayland & Co., tobacco buyers, spent Thursday in Louisville on the tobacco market.

Prof. J. L. Chambers, principal of Walton Graded High School, left Tuesday for Gatliff, Whitley county, to spend the holidays with his parents.

John M. Stamler who fell and broke his shoulder recently, returned home here Saturday from Christs hospital, Cincinnati, where he underwent an operation, and he is not much improved.

A. A. Allphin, of near Ryle, Gallatin county, was here last Wednesday attending the bedside of his brother B. B. Allphin, who has been dangerously ill with pneumonia, but is much improved.

J. L. Vest was confined to his home with sickness part of last week. He had recently had a surgical operation performed in a Cincinnati hospital for a nasal obstruction which was very painful, resultant in his confinement to his home.

Mrs. Ed. Fullilove left for Louisville last Friday to attend the bedside of her sister Mrs. R. P. Holburn, who is critically ill at her home in that city with pertonitis. Mrs. Nicholas Sanning, another sister of this place, is also at her sister's bedside.

Robert C. Craig, who resides between Walton and Crittenden, recently passed a most creditable civil service examination for rural mail route carrier and takes the rural route out of Crittenden taking the place made vacant by the resignation of J. C. Heminway.

John M. Stamler, our meat merchant, who was taken to Cincinnati last week for an operation for a fractured shoulder, is getting along nicely. A surgical operation was deemed unnecessary the doctors being of the opinion that the injury will be overcome by nature.

Died—Mrs. Zach Durr, aged 88 years, died at her home near Fiskburg, Kenton county, Sunday, from old age. The deceased was a life long resident of Kenton county and was highly esteemed by a large circle of friends. The funeral took place at Goshen on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Tompkins entertained last Sunday Walter Pom dexter, of Houston, Virginia, and Thos. Strickland, of Atlanta, Ga., two southern representatives of The Graf-Morsback harness and saddlery manufacturers, Cincinnati, Mr. Tompkins represents the company in Tennessee and Kentucky.

Jno. L. Vest was in Cincinnati several days last week having an operation performed on his nose, when several small bones were removed. Mr. Vest has been suffering from nasal trouble for some time and the operation was necessary to remove the trouble, and he is now greatly improved in health.

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Baker, of LaGrange, Ky., spent the week here with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Thos. F. Curley, expecting to go to Sanders Saturday to spend several days with his parents. Dr. Baker is traveling for the sales department of the Burley Tobacco Company, and reports a good business.

T. E. Roberts, of Hume, Illinois, spent part of the week here with relatives. He was called to this county on account of the death of his brother, Robert L. Roberts, who died last Friday at his home near Hume on Mudlick creek, aged 71 years. The funeral took place last Sunday, the remains being interred in the Hume cemetery at South Fork.

T. Everett Dixon of Richwood, spent last Thursday here on business. His son Henry Dixon has resigned his position as Cashier of the Erlanger Bank, to take effect Jan. 1st, when he will return to the farm near Richwood on account of failing health. Mr. Gardner, station agent of the Q. and C. Railroad at Erlanger, has been selected as the successor of Mr. Dixon as cashier of the bank.

M. J. Worthington, of Rouleau, Saskatchewan, Canada, was here last week on business and calling on friends. He expects to remain with his parents Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Worthington near Elliston station until April, when he will return to Canada. He is well pleased with Canada and says it is a fine farming country and a good place to make money, but the only draw back to the country is the severe winter weather when the thermometer frequently goes over fifty degrees below zero. He says the seasons are too short for farming and last winter he hauled wheat when the thermometer registered 52 degrees below zero.

A. B. Tompkins, one of the directors of the Equitable Bank and Trust Company, very delightfully entertained the officials of that institution with a delightful luncheon and smoker at his residence Thursday night. Owing to illness and business engagements several were unable to enjoy the pleasures of the occasion. After luncheon the guests enjoyed the evening discussing business pertaining to the bank and matters for the advancement and betterment of Walton. They outlined a program from a business point of view to advance the interests of Walton which will be given to the public ere long. Those present were Judge J. G. Tomlin, D. b. Wallace, John C. Miller, A. M. Edwards, and J. R. Wallace, of Walton, and W. T. Loomis of Kenton county. Mrs. Tompkins and her two charming daughters Misses Brooking and Isabelle made the evening more pleasant by their attendance upon the wants of the guests.

At the annual election of Walton Chapter Eastern Star the following officers were elected and appointed: Worthy Matron, Mrs Hattie Metcalfe; Worthy Patron, E. M. Johnson; Assistant Matron, Mrs. Edna Vest; Secretary, Mrs. Helen Dickey-Tomlin; Treasurer, Mrs. Nora Edwards; Conductress, Mrs. Madge Grubbs; Associate Conductress, Mrs. Julia-Adams Rouse; Adah, Mrs. Emma Menefee Ruth, Mrs. Fannie Chambers; Esther, Mrs. Kate Ransler; Martha, Miss Tete Percival; Electa, Miss Lavinia Edwards; Chaplain, Mrs. Mary Johnson; Warden, Mrs. Myrtle Grubbs; Sentinel, I. T. Grubbs. Mrs. Katie Ransler, the retiring Worthy Matron, was presented with a handsome solid silver Eastern Star souvenir spoon and Mrs. Edna Vest, retiring Secretary, was made a similar present, both being slight tokens of the high esteem with which they are held by the members of the chapter and an appreciation of the very efficient discharge of their duties during the past year. After the exercise a nice spread of many good things to eat was served.

PETERSBURG.

Mrs. H. C. Hensley has been quite ill the past week.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Mahan, on the 19th inst., a boy.

Mrs. Stephens and daughter, Miss Ida, entertained relatives Sunday.

Mrs. Elihu Alden and daughter Miss Pauline, were in Cincinnati Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Grant, of Mt. Carmel, Ill., are guests of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Grant.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Walton came down to Petersburg last week to spend the winter.

Mrs. W. R. Gordon returned from Louisville, last week, where she has been with relatives.

Mrs. B. J. Crisler, Miss Lula Edwards and Miss Mary Roberts, shopped in Cincinnati, Saturday.

Mrs. Ben Berkshire has returned from Louisville, where she visited Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Berkshire.

Clinton Wunder of Cincinnati, will preach at the Woolper school house next Sunday morning and evening.

There will be a little entertainment at the M. E. church next Sunday morning at the Sunday school hour. Everybody invited.

Robt. Berkshire, who is attending Kentucky University at Lexington, is home for the holidays.

Misses Hattie Miller, Dorothy and Lucia Stockman, of Lawrenceburg, and Tom Howard and Goebel Stephens, were guests of Miss Anna Moore, Sunday.

Mrs. J. T. Blackburn is spending her vacation with relatives at Louisville. She will be joined by her son, Albert, who is attending school at Lexington.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

J. B. Pope and wife returned Sunday from a pleasant visit with relatives at Crescent Springs.

Jas. L. McAtee, who resides near the Beech Grove school house, has been in a critical condition of dropsy for several days.

It is reported that John Bachelor has sold his farm on the Florence pike and has purchased Henry Clore's farm on Gunpowder, opposite the Weaver mill.

Hubert White has kept that portion of the East Bend road from Burlington to C. E. White's dragged and it is in far better condition than any of the dirt roads leading from Burlington.

The Postmaster General has made a ruling that rural routes over roads that are not kept in reasonably passable condition all the year will be discontinued. How many rural routes will Boone Co. retain if an inspector should go over the routes at the present time? Would not it be a shame to deprive the rural people of such a blessing when Boone county is so abundantly supplied with material with which to build good roads?

President Wilson refused to accept the explanation of army and navy officers, who had charge of the recent dinner of the Military Order of the Carabao, that their humorous stunts on the Philippines and on Secretary Bryan's peace policy and "Damn, Damn, Damn the Insurrectos" song were all in the fun and should not be taken as reflecting a disrespectful spirit in the military branch of the Government.

No one was ever comfortable with wet feet, and you'll find the doctor a whole lot more expensive than

"BALL BAND" RUBBER FOOTWEAR

A pair will keep you warm and dry all winter, for "Ball-Band" goods have wear built into them from top to toe. Buy now while we have every size.

For sale by

W. M. Rachal & Co

Union, Ky

The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO.

Erlanger, Ky.

Has come to stay and is ready for business and will keep on hand at all times a good supply of

Raymond City and Plymouth Coal

in yard and on car at the Lowest Prices Possible, and guarantee 80 lbs. to the bushel. Will also handle Cannel Coal, Kentucky Simi-Candle and Worley Block, and Peidmont strictly blacksmithing Coal.

Your patronage solicited.

The J. C. BENTLER COAL CO

Erlanger, Kentucky.

GUNPOWDER.

W. P. Utz finished plowing for his next year's crop, last week.

There will be communion services at Hopeful next Sunday at 10:30 a. m.

L. P. Aylor is improving his farm by having a long string of wire fence built.

R. R. Houston was looking after his interests in this neighborhood last Saturday.

Miss Lizzie Aylor, one of our ideal farmers, had several rods of wire fence built last week.

G. W. Baker, L. C. Acra and H. C. Beemon did some important work at Hopeful church last week.

I wish the RECORDER, its correspondents and readers a merry Christmas and a happy new year.

E. A. Blankenbeker and family, of near Grange Hall, passed here last Saturday enroute to Covington in search of Santa Claus.

Mrs. J. P. Tanner, who we reported sick in our last has improved somewhat, but is still confined to her room.

L. H. Busby bought four hogs of J. H. Tanner and killed them last Thursday which about completes that line of work in this neighborhood.

In a recent letter from B. C. Tanner and wife they stated that they are very comfortably located in their southern home, and are making garden, fishing and enjoying a general good time.

RABBIT HASH.

C. G. Riddell is improving slowly.

D. R. Green, of Rising Sun, was transacting business here Monday.

Wilbur Rice, of Idlewild, was visiting his uncle, C. G. Riddell, last week.

Robt. and Sam Wilson went to Cincinnati with a bunch of cattle, Sunday night.

Grover Gardner and wife, of Scottsburg, Ind., are visiting Dr. and Mrs. Carlyle.

Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Scott gave the young folks a dance, last Saturday night.

Chas. Wilson and wife spent several days in Cincinnati and Covington, last week.

Mrs. Sallie Stephens is visiting her brother, Wallace Stephens and wife, at Lawrenceburg.

Joe VanNess, who is employed at Hamilton, Ohio, is at home to spend the holidays.

Joe Walton and Will Aylor delivered a fine bunch of cattle to Geo. Binger, of Rising Sun, last Tuesday.

Miss Abbie Stephens, of Kansas City, Kansas, returned home Tuesday after a visit of several weeks with relatives here.

Miss Mary Craig, of Rising Sun, came over Sunday to spend Christmas with the family of her cousin, Will Craig, in East Bend.

Miss Bettie Stephens and her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Scott, of Bowen, Illinois, were visiting at Lexington several days last week.

R. L. Platt and sister, Mrs. Lou Clements, had a fine monument placed at the graves of their parents in the M. E. cemetery in East Bend. Will Toohy, of Rising Sun, did the work.

Emmons Cofield, of Rising Sun, who recently purchased the John McConnell farm in East Bend, had a force of men at work last week moving his tenant house to a point above high water mark.

Harry Bell, of Cincinnati, and John Dugle, of Rising Sun, came over in an auto last Thursday and started to East Bend. Just below Dr. Carlyle's they stuck in the mud. After considerable trouble they got the machine back to Rabbit Hash and they continued their journey on horse back. While there they bought a mule of Chas. Bodie for a long price.

(The list of pensions were published in last issue of this paper—Ed.)

ERLANGER.

Mrs. J. W. Collins and little daughter, of Cynthiana, are visiting relatives here.

Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Noland have returned from a visit with Mrs. Noland's mother in Augusta.

Mrs. Harry Shearer, of Newport, and sister, Miss Bess Hall, are visiting Mrs. P. H. Shearer.

The Bible school of the Christian church gave a Christmas play Tuesday evening entitled "A Song in the Air."

Russell Victor is home from Bethany College, Va., to spend the holidays with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Victor.

Mrs. Burnside and daughter, Miss Marie, of Covington, were Saturday and Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Crowell.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Miller, of Big Bone, spent part of last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. Miller, of this place, and Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Fields, of Ludlow.

The Juvenile Missionary Society of M. E. church met with Mrs. P. E. Blackerby and elected the following officers: Russell Ranson, president; Nellie Corbin, 1st vice president; Imogene Miller second vice-president; Margaret Terrill, 3d vice-president; Rose Gale secretary; Flora Miller, Treasurer.

Owing to our columns being crowded with holiday news a few important things are entirely crowded out this week. Among them is the account of the wedding and reception of our popular young citizen Wilbur Kelly. Our best wishes are his and we will give particulars next week.

Wilber Kelly, son of Z. T. Kelly, of Rabbit Hash neighborhood, and Miss Ryle, daughter of Filmore Ryle, of same neighborhood, were united in marriage at the residence of Rev. Edgar C. Riley in Burlington yesterday, Wednesday afternoon.

The weather clerk stated Wednesday that the chances for a green or a white Christmas were equal, and of course, he could not say which would win out. At this writing it looks like it will be a muddy Christmas in the country.

It has been a long time since the Recorder carried as little neighborhood news as it contains this week. Its faithful correspondents are taking a brief respite to which they are certainly entitled.

Henry Dixon has resigned as cashier of Erlanger Deposit Bank, and W. B. Gardner has been appointed as cashier with M. J. Corbin assistant, to take effect January 1st.

The Christmas tree at Library Hall, Wednesday afternoon, contained no presents, only candy, oranges, etc., for the little ones.

Christmas day is not allowed rural mail carriers as a holiday, consequently they will make their usual rounds today.

Cincinnati and Covington each had a community Christmas tree this year, a new feature in each of the cities.

Carl Hunt, of Kansas, is here to spend the holidays with his sister, Mrs. Eliza Walton, of Commissary.

For some time the Times-Star and the Recorder have been going at $3.50 a year.

Everybody had a Christmas move on early Wednesday morning.

Did you remember the poor in your Christmas giving?

An ugly Christmas eve.

START THE NEW YEAR

SAVING MONEY

BUY

GROCERIES AND SEEDS

AT

HILL'S

You Save the Retailers Profit.

Write For Prices Before You Buy.

Rarus-FLOUR-Alpha

Highest Grade Winter Patent.

$5.25 Per Bbl.

Wichita's Best Flour

Highest Grade Hard Wheat Patent.

$5.50 Per Bbl.

You run no risk when you buy Flour from us, as every barrel is sold on a money back guarantee.

It's Better to Drink

Nobetter Coffee

25c Per Lb.

A Trial Convinces. Freight Paid on 20 lbs. or More.

Seeding Time

Is near at hand and when you are ready to buy Write for Prices

Hill's Tested Seeds Do Grow.

We Buy from the Grower Sell to the Farmer.

Geo. W. Hill Co

GROCERS AND SEEDSMEN.

27-29 Pike St., or 26 W. Seventh St., COVINGTON, KY.

Established 1863.

WE BELIEVE IN KEEPING THE

Quality Up and The Prices Down

You cant help but think of warm, dry feet these days. Now, just when you need good solid leather shoes and first-grade Rubbers to keep your feet dry and warm, the place to buy them is where you can buy them right. DAVIS, the Shoe Man, has these very articles, which will be appropriate, suitable and satisfactory as Xmas Gifts. Our aim is to give you the best Shoe and Rubber values at the Lowest possible prices.

DAVIS, The Shoeman.

Rising Sun, Ind.

Walton Feed and Seed Company.

—o—

Why go to Cincinnati to buy your feed such as

Hay of all kinds, Mill Feed, Brand, Alfalfa, Chop Feed, Corn (shelled or on the ear,) Oats, Flour and Corn Meal.

We buy on Change and can give you Cincinnati prices; also handle Seed of all kinds at the Lowest Prices.

Write us. Will quote you prices on car lots or less.

DIERS & BEST, Walton, Ky.

Wanted—Bound copies of Godeys—Ladies Book in good condition and with colored plates complete Anything before 1854 or—after 1862, (except 1874,) is desired Please state price and condition Complete years if unbound will do, but do not want separate copies

Mrs C. A. Winston,
5443 Cornell Avenue,
Chicago, Ill

MACON, GA., CHILD

Made Strong and Well by Vinol.

When we tell you that Vinol is the best remedy in our whole stock for making weak, puny, ailing children strong, robust and rosy we are only telling you what has been proved by hundreds of mothers.

J. L. Fickling, Macon, Ga., says: "My child was very thin and delicate, no appetite, nervous, and did not sleep well. Doctors did not help her. Vinol was recommended and the change after a fair trial was wonderful. She sleeps soundly all night, has a splendid appetite and has gained in weight. I wish every mother knew what Vinol will do for delicate children."

What Vinol did for this little girl it will do for every weak and ailing child because sickly children need the strengthening cod liver elements and the tonic iron that Vinol contains—that is why Vinol builds them up quickly and gives them a fine, healthy color. It is pleasant to take, and we guarantee that the results will satisfy you—money back if they do not.

P. S.—If you have Eczema try our Hyxo Salve. We guarantee it.

Robert W. Jones, Druggist, Walton